

Dead in Hurricane Zone Estimated at 250 Much Damage Done to Property

ACCURATE DATA NOT AVAILABLE

Property Loss Is Roughly Placed at $30,000,000 Today

HAVANA, Oct. 22.—Officials at the presidential palace today estimated that 250 persons had been killed in Cuba during Wednesday's hurricane, and that damage to property had amounted to approximately $30,000,000. Accurate statistics were still unavailable, owing to the interruption of means of communication.

HAVANA, Oct. 22.—(By N. P.) The human toll within a 20 mile radius of Havana today was estimated at 250 and relief officers told the United Press that there was a strong possibility that as many as 1,000 lives in the three western provinces which were exposed to the hurricane.

A dispatch from Matanzas in the newspaper Matanzas said that three persons were known dead there and that population of the city, on the southern coast, was 100,000. It also said that about 2,500 of the three western provinces which were exposed to the hurricane.

Mexican Laws Provoke Wrath; Will Send Note

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The state department is preparing a note to the Mexican government, protesting alleged retroactive and confiscatory provisions of the Mexican land laws, which is sharper in tone than previous communications. No reference is made to the Mexican Caudillo dispute.

Though President Coolidge is holding out against a belligerent attitude toward Mexico the note will make concessions to the former policy advocated by American Ambassador James H. Sheffield.

The present intention is to dispatch the note before Sheffield sails for Mexico two weeks hence.

This government is displeased by Mexico's delay in concluding negotiations initiated by Mexico's failure to answer the American note of July 20.

TWIN FALLS DAILY TIMES

Published Every Evening Except Sunday by The Times Publishing Company, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Entered at the Twin Falls Postoffice as Second Class Matter as a Daily Publication, April 11, 1918.

Parade (Ips) celebrated in Twin Falls, Idaho, in the presence of a large crowd. The parade was given by the Cosmo Hamilton, author of 'SCANTINIA' and 'BURNING 4 VILLERS'. Published by arrangement with First National Pictures.

"The town of Apia," continued Pollock, speaking freely, "is picture perfect and fairly lively, a mixture, as all such places are in these waters, of the new and old. Its traditions, like its giant trees, have withstood both the spoiling hands of travelers and the sapping bands and devastating bruits of persistent missionaries. But the business section of the town can be recognized at once by the gabled iron stores that hurt the artistic eye and by innumerable copra warehouses.

The beautiful Ips entered the broad channel passage to the Bay of Apia.

And several other givers, which are useful but hideous, as nearly everything is useful here. The houses of the natives, hidden off distinctly unhygienic, scattered about among the coconut trees on the flat, while those of the Europeans, estate houses and cottages, are built on the slopes of the mountain. The spacious Government House, room and furnished, stands alone, of itself, from the common herd in the midst of the well-kept gardens. Higher up, through rifts of encompassing verdure, glimpses may be had of the broad picture of the old home of the missionaries, the one which which missed and probably another private Samoan name the gentle Robert Louis Stevenson was known to his adopted people.

"The only Stevenson that means anything to me," said Lady George, "was Frank—him as sang the hymn at Apia's and visited his life for a little while in the leading country. Took on a very funny smile at when he missed his at Gallipoli, I tell you."

"He had his way," remarked Pollock, somewhat pointedly, "your glass will presently reveal to you the exact of a vertical path that leads to the cloud-circled summit of the mountain that towers above Apia. Up that path I have never seen it, the shrine of the Master, the rest resting place of a "wise and noble pilgrim who set on many millions of exhilarating beauty on his road to death."

"I was interested in what was the smaller islands that we had gazed at on the map, one of which must be their future home. The elderly man in the foreground, Tony, out of his "Kitty Cornish" voice, if it is indeed of Apia in this strange situation, she had been drawing water and nearer to the tale of Wick, and so back once more to Southampton, with her beloved "Kitty Cornish" and a little girl, a little girl who would not have been able to reach the mountains of Apia, the old familiar sounds. "How good they had been and how good they were," he murmured. "But I must cut with her. She is dead, Tony. "Remember, and forget all that, while it is here, what it matter so that "with Tony? Home is where home is. Two rooms a small apartment, a native but out under the sky. It's all the same if Tony's because he loves me and I him."

"And something of this daily hymn of peace must have touched the sensitive chord in Tony's spirit, because he put his arm round Christine's shoulder as he stood at the mark ahead.

"And after a while he translated himself into mere "Amazing," he said. "Amazing. All the way back through the years, is it true? Only a few weeks ago Apia and the man's island were as completely out of it as the moon and stars."

"Sherwood came up, wearing a practical expression. "I've just been talking to the Captain," he said. "He knows Apia very well so I thought he's not going to send a wireless asking for a pilot. He advises that we sleep aboard because he thinks very small beer of the height of the so-called boats. What does he say you got on the matter, Tony?"

"Well, I think the Captain's right so far as you're concerned, old boy, so and the others. But if it's all right with you, Christine and I will 'nd and take a room. To set things going at once, I shall have to see the Commodore find the man my father placed in charge of the island, if it's still alive, and get into my job as soon as I can. There's lots to be done and I'm as keen as mustard to get at it."

The State of Idaho owns 111 automobiles, of which 43 are Buicks, 3 Cadillacs, 36 Fords and the balance are numerous other makes. This, however, does not cover all automobiles used by the State departments. Many automobiles belong to the employees and they are paid at the rate of approximately 10 cents a mile for use of such cars. And this fleet of state and privately owned but publicly maintained automobiles is in constant use, supposedly on state business, but also in the interest of retaining the strangle hold the machine has on Idaho.

Idaho leads the world in bean production per acre this year, according to a report just issued from the Federal crop statistician of the Gem State. The average yield this year is twenty bushels per acre, which is higher than any other state. California comes second with 16.2 bushels per acre. However, Idaho's bean crop is not as large as last year, according to estimates made on October first. The crop is estimated on that date by O. S. Jacobsen at 1,320,000 bushels and last year's crop was 1,584,000. The United States bean crop is about 16,970,000, or nearly 300,000 bushels less than the September estimate. The crop in 1925 was 2,564,000 bushels more than this estimate for this year in the U. S.

Evidences are accumulating that the big slush fund for Gooding's election which The Times predicted exclusively in Idaho has begun to arrive and its effect is telling on the so-called independent press of the state. Those predatory editors and politicians who were "standing by Nugent" and lambasting the record of the junior senator have had a change of heart and have been christened by the shower of gold and are now shouting, "Gooding is a wonderful statesman." In the estimation of these "pushers" their hero of a few weeks ago is all wrong and the gold has begun to spurge through the till and the marring editors are growing as gentle as the romping kitten, and any Progressive or Democrat who has put up his own hard dollars and hopes to get the support of said newspapers is a sucker. The fellow who is crooked in small things will be still more crooked in bigger things and the predatory element will all gather to the slush pot as certainly as ants collect at the molasses pitcher.

ECONOMY AND TAXES IN IDAHO

H. C. Baldridge is making his campaign for election as governor of Idaho on the alleged reduction of state expenses. If he is successful in putting it over, he should be liable to prosecution for obtaining an office under false pretenses. There has been no reduction, and, on the contrary, if all the facts were known, there is good reason to believe that there has been a decided increase.

Mr. Baldridge points to the difference in the amount raised by direct taxation in 1919 as compared with 1925. The figures he quotes are $3,554,000 in the former year and $2,550,000 in the latter. Considering the fact that the argument on which the figures are accurate, Mr. Baldridge is not candid. He neglects to tell his hearers that the state tax for road purposes, which was formerly levied on property, is now raised by a tax on gasoline and that the people of the state are paying considerably more than a million dollars a year in this form of taxation.

Mr. Baldridge could, if he had been fair in his argument, told how the state insurance department showed net profits last year of almost a half million dollars, which went toward the support of the state. The two items here mentioned fully cover the amount he claims is being saved to the taxpayers. And they are only a sample of the amounts being raised by so-called "indirect" taxes. The same people who paid the larger sum in 1919 have not been relieved one penny from taxes. The only difference is that they are levied differently and taxpayers don't realize it so readily. It is safe to say that instead of a decrease in state expenditures of a million and a half, there has been an increase of that much, and an examination of the books of the state would disclose the fact.

Now, this paper has no complaint to make at this indirect form of taxation. It would go further, if it had the power, and relieve the taxpayer of Idaho of all direct property taxation for state purposes. It is convinced that the proper system would be a levy on incomes, whereby the individual possessing the largest income would pay the heaviest tax. Other states have such a law and it has been found to work most equitably and satisfactorily. At least it is well worth trying. If elected to the senate at the coming election, the writer pledges himself to work for the passage of such a law.

But, if such a law should be enacted, it would not be telling the truth to say that the people had been relieved of paying taxes for state purposes just because the tax had been shifted from property to incomes. Neither is it the truth to say that people are paying less taxes now because the tax has been shifted from property to gasoline and automobiles and insurance and corporations and all the multitude of other sources which were fastened on the state by a Republican administration under the false promises of making Idaho a "taxless state."—Camar County Courier.

No Secret Where Mazola Comes From This Will Interest Women

THE source of Mazola is no secret. It is an absolutely pure vegetable oil—made from the hearts of full-ripened corn kernels. In other words, Mazola itself is as good to eat as the corn from which it comes. As every modern housewife knows, Mazola is equal to the most expensive imported oils for all Salad Dressings—

And for Shortening, it is equal in richness to butter, making a lighter, better-grained cake that costs you less— And for Frying, Mazola is superior to animal fats, in that it gives you better flavored and more easily digested foods. Really—you owe it to yourself to give Mazola a trial—now. You can get Mazola at all grocers in pint, quart, half-gallon and gallon tins.

Lesson for October 24

JOSHUA, ISRAEL'S NEW LEADER
LESSON TEXT—Num. 1:18-26; 1:27-45; 2:1-9.
SOLDIER—A man strong and of a good courage. In the Bible, by God's command, he is a man of war. (1 Samuel 17:45.)
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Task of Joshua, INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Story of a Hero and Faithful Life.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Preparation for True Service.

The book of Joshua, from which our lesson is taken, is a history of the conquest of the promised land and its division among the tribes of Israel. It takes its name from its principal character, Joshua.
1. Joshua, the New Leader of Israel (Num. 27:15-20).
The people were not to be left in doubt as to a leader when Moses was gone. The leader was to be appointed and given recognition before all the congregation.
During the wilderness journey Joshua was Moses' minister and the captain of his army. When Moses was denied the privilege of going over the Jordan, Joshua was appointed to the leadership of Israel. Moses the representative of the law, brought Israel to the borders of Canaan. Joshua was the man chosen to lead the people into the place of rest. The name "Joshua" has the same derivation as the name "Jesus."

1. Joshua commanded to Take Charge (Josh. 1:2-2).
Moses was dead, but God's work must go on, therefore God issued the command for the new leader to assume his duty.
11. God Renews His Promise to Israel (Josh. 1:2-4).
This promise had been given to Abraham and renewed to Isaac, Jacob and Moses. It is now renewed to Israel as they were about to enter upon its possession. The borders of the land were "from the wilderness and the Jordan even unto the great river, the River Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, and unto the great sea toward the going down of the sun." The promise of this territory was ever possessed was during the reign of David and Solomon, though not then fully realized. The land will belong to the Jews, and in God's own time they shall possess it. Their possession of this land was due entirely to themselves. God promised them that wherever their feet stood upon the land it was theirs.

1. God's Presence, Promised (Josh. 1:5).
Joshua was entering upon a perilous and difficult enterprise, but the Lord said as he was with Moses, so he would be with him. The difficulties before him were:
1. The Jordan river (v. 2). This river was now at its flood (Josh. 3:15), making it impossible for armies to cross.
2. The people were living in walled cities (Num. 13:28).
Notwithstanding this, God was ready to assist success.
(1) "I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee" (v. 5).
(2) "There shall not any man be able to stand before thee."
(3) "As I was with Moses, so I will be with thee." Joshua had been with Moses throughout their forty years' experience from the Egyptian wilderness to the time of his death. Because he believed that God was with his master, he was willing and ready to cross the Jordan at its floodtide and courageously meet the enemies on the other side.

V. Conditions of Blessing in the Land (Josh. 1:6-9).
1. "The strong and of good courage" (v. 6).
His mission was to go in and divide the land among the tribes for an inheritance. It required strength and courage to do this.
2. "Unwavering obedience to the Word of God" (v. 7).
In a land of idolatry it required much courage to be true to God. Prosperity and success were conditioned upon unwavering obedience to God's commands. To all his work he must conform his life to the law of God. To save the path outlined there, he would bring disaster and ruin in order to accomplish this law of the Lord must be in his mouth continually. It was to meditate therein day and night.
Joshua rendered prompt obedience. He did not stop to cavil, but at once gave order for the march, and made the plan, and gave the directions.

And Bricks Were Imported

Crop Rotation
The folly of growing the same crop on the same land for several consecutive years was noted by the Romans, but the attention was first called to the value of crop rotation in 1777 in a treatise by J. B. Solon of Edinburgh, Scotland.

You can be sure of coffee the way you like it every time you make it.

FOLGER'S coffee-meter measures accurately uniformly and without waste

Thanks to this wonderful invention, coffee brewing can now be made a certainty. This FOLGER Coffee-Meter insures the same delicious, full-strength drink every time—in every cup.
It saves coffee and flavor. No spilling. No lost lids or upset cans. Coffee fresh to the last grain.
It saves time and steps. Coffee always in full sight. You can see when to order another can.
So simple to operate. One flip of the lever per cup. If you like it stronger, add another measure. If you like it milder, use one less. But use the same amount per cup each time.

Made of heavy crystal glass and nickel-plated steel. Nothing to rust or stick in operation. Nothing to get out of order. No wear-out to it.

Time for Newspaper Selling—

IN the Evening, when quiet reigns, is the "Time for Newspaper Selling." In the Evening, when the dishes are washed, the kiddies are in bed, asleep, Mother and Dad both feeling restful and relaxed after the strenuous day, the mind receptive to new impressions, new ideas—that's "Time for Newspaper Selling."

In the Evening is reading time. Folks can't read when they're asleep, and won't read when they're at work, and they haven't time, any other time, except in the Evening.

In the Evening is when buying is really done; when folks cultivate new tastes; develop new desires and figure out ways and means to gratify them.

The new car, junior's bicycle, daughter's new dance frock, the new davenport or bridge lamp, ideas for lawn or garden cultivation, the new heating plant, the next day's menus, the thousand-and-one things, that make life what it is, are studied over, thought about and planned for in the Evening, when there is time for study, planning and buying.

It's this same study and planning, in the Evening, that has made yesterday's luxuries today's necessities—raised our standard of living; widened our field of employment and enjoyment and added to the zest of life.

Evening Papers dominate the "Time for Newspaper Selling" because they are delivered or carried into the home in the Evening—in greater quantity and with a greater news, feature and advertising message.

It is a policy of wisdom to present your advertising message in Evening Papers in time for the next day's "ACTION"—

"Time for Newspaper Selling"

The POWER of

Evening is Planning Time
—heaviest Evening advertising volume always precedes broken sales records

Women want Evening Papers
—they spend ninety cents of every good American Dollar and heaviest Retail Advertising Volume, planned to interest that Dollar, runs in Evening Papers.

Home Readers
—Evening Papers are homeward bound when purchased.

Twice the Action
—swift, modern transportation permits full coverage of both city and suburban fields today for tomorrow's sales, with an Evening Paper.

The Proof of the Pudding
—department stores, chain stores and markets distribute the BULK of the Nation's merchandise; their heaviest advertising campaigns are launched in Evening Newspapers.

GOVERNMENT IS THEME OF TALK AT LEAGUE MEET

Meeting of the League of Women Voters was held last evening at a meeting of the Catholic church. The speaker was Mrs. J. W. Wilson, who spoke on the theme of government. She declared that every citizen has the right to be heard and that large number of members of other parties will support the democratic ticket.

Times Press Run Thursday, Oct. 21 3375

In the minutes prior to the declaration of independence. He said that the idea that we get our rights from the Constitution is wrong, we already have the rights and considered part of them to the general government. He urged more intensive study of public law and show all for all citizens to vote and vote intelligently and honestly. He represented the teachers to get away from individual responsibility and show every citizen and showing how people without exception have to show off in their public life. They should perform their duty. He said that the law is particularly true in the matter of raising children.
