AT THE THEATRES

THE DRAFT AT L'AVRAY THEATRE, FRIDAY, JANUARY 6

One of the more notable plays this winter at the L'Avray theatre has looked for production by many New York companies. The play "The Draft," the play written by Claude Faeton and in which he started with an unusual degree of success for more than a year, opening at the Morosco theatre in Los Angeles and then coming to New York, following equal success. In Chicago and other western cities "The Draft" shows the Wilkinson ramblings of a nameless child of the society institution who drifts into the chaos of a cheap musical show, is insulted and then called to the right court on a trumped charge. An author present at the opening of the play just now has been added to the horde of a new novel he is writing. He takes the distraught child to his home, shocks his aristocratic mother and arouses the angry resentment of Angela, his blue-blooded fiancee. From studying literature to failure in love and finally to a life of poverty and trouble, which she saves the author's brother who is about to commit suicide his love is reciprocated.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

STANFORD IS FAVORITE IN FEW WAGERS

Attendance Is About 300,000 and Alabama Is Asking Odds of 10-to-8 in Betting; Dixie Has Heavier Line but Stanford Knows Strategy of Game.

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 1.—National sports interest focused on the Pasadena Rose Bowl game, with Alabama, the Tide, champion of the old south, and Stanford's Cardinals, best in the west, clash in the post-season football classic of the country.

A record attendance of 63,000 have paid off witnesses this year. Tournament of Roses battle will be won by the "Tide," which has odds of 10-to-8. All four big bets, their odds, arrangements having been made to broadcast the contest on a national scale.

Normal Southern California weather which means a bairing afternoon, prevailed for the game. Neither team was favored by the climate, as the opposition players are equally exposed to sun and rain. Both schools completed training in the arroyo area, where today's football meet is being staged.

The Dixie-champions and the Palo Alto-warriors face each other on ever-term. Stanford's compiled a slight advantage on offensive with the Tide's on defense, but the two schools are evenly matched.

Alabama partisans were demanding 10-to-8 odd from Stanford supporters, but they were not getting it. There were few wagers placed and those at even money.

Thousands of persons thronged to the Rose Bowl early this morning. Highways were clogged with traffic with a radius of 100 miles.

The gorgeous floral festival which preceded the game attracted more than 600,000 persons from all sections of this and surrounding states. For many, the football games, despite its great interest, was merely incidental.

The GOLDEN RULE in PRACTICE

A series of articles by prominent leaders on the Golden Rule as a guide in International Relations.

DO AS YOU'D BE DONE BY

BY JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.

It is well worth while to set aside each year a Golden Rule Sunday, on which the people of all nations shall turn their thoughts to the power of love and its expression in brotherhood and service.

The late-war sought to demonstrate that force is the greatest thing in the world. If it would right all wrongs, cure all life's solve problems, what has been the result? Ideas, agreements, principles, the world! Does love will express the right of man to freedom to teach and to learn? Is there happiness, contentment and prosperity?

On the contrary, there never was more bitterness, disillusion and suffering than today.

What will not admit that force has brought the world's greatest suffering. But it is not the greatest thing in the world?

What, then, shall take its place, bind up humanity's racing wounds? Love, the real love, leading peace and happiness throughout the world? The answer is, Love.

St. Paul says that love is the greatest thing in the world.

Love is a simple, kindly quality.

Any one can practice it anywhere, at any time.

It is applicable in industry, where it abates the bitterness and antagonism which often prevail.

Golden Rule Sunday will be observed throughout the United States in December, on behalf of the New Era Better. This series of articles, presented by prominent speakers, purports great philanthropy, is designed to call attention to the background and purpose of the work and its need of general support.

NEW YEARS' EVE JOYFUL BUT PEACEFUL

Crowds Attend Theatres and Dances. Several Watch Parties. Religious Services Are Held. Two Churches Celebrate Anniversary of Naming of Jesus.

Under the surface of hilarity peace hovered over Twin Falls last evening and night. There were many on the streets, the pictures, bars, and dance halls, but the people were sober and the exuberance exhibited was the result of natural good feeling and good fellowship. It was a noiseless New Year's relatively speaking. The wild discord which sometimes distinguishes the closing of the year, was absent. The quietness was welcome, for a good time, and meant nothing but a law-breaking kind. The boys of the town entered into the spirit of their elders, and merrily refrained from acts of vandalism. In youth's ambitions includes "the efficient reporter," the editor, the author, the poet, the artist, the scientist, which often occur on the occasion of the closing of the year. Paul and Pearl Bowen, brothers, early in the night, reported that burglars had broken into their residence at 437 Second Avenue east, and had stolen a watch, camera and some jewelry. No other serious crime was reported. There was also a New Year's program at the Lutheran church and at Bethel church, and the Grange held New Year's exercises.

Today there were two masses at the Catholic church, and services by the pastor, with the significance of the day both as the beginning of another year and the anniversary of conferring the name Jesus on the Savior.

Weiser Planning Entertainment for Visiting Sheepmen

Plans for entertainment of the 700 sheepmen and wives who will gather at Weiser, are taking definite shape according to committee chairman.

The visiting women will be entertained at luncheon Monday, followed by cards with music and other entertainment for those who do not care for cards, says the Idaho Wool Growers Association. The visitors will be in shopping tour and visit in the Intermountain, and the other local points of interest.

On half Tuesday night will be at the Legion hall, and will last until the last couple leaves the door. Music will be furnished by Mason's Imperial orchestra.

It is expected now that the boxing bout will be between Clarence Geddeau and Ammon Potter with some lively preliminaries. H. H. Champff has offered the big Ford garage for this event.

Heaven has blessed us with Health and Happiness during the year which has just passed and we are grateful for all these good things. Idaho has enjoyed bounteous crops and the majority of the residents of the Twin Falls tract look upon the new year with great hope and fond expectations.

The past year has marked many great strides forward in the progress of Southern Idaho and the realization of these projects which have had their inception during 1926 will be the fruition of 1927.

That you and yours may enjoy even greater prosperity and happiness during 1927 than has come to you for the past year is the sincere wish of the Officers and Employees of THE TWIN FALLS DAILY TIMES.
