

IDaho Bonds INVALID SAYS U.S. DECISION

Oregon Short Line Wins Important Decision in U. S.
District Court Which Invalidates Millions of Dollars Worth of Idaho Road
Bonds; Work Held Up.

BONNIE, Jan. 6.—Millions of dollars worth of Idaho bonds are invalidated by the decision of the United States district court, handed down in which the railroad company was entitled to an injunction to prevent the commissioners of the Clark county highway district from disposing of a $1,000,000 bond issue for road construction.

Tuesday morning's session of the highway commission ended without a decision concerning the decision. R. W. Kastenbach, representative from Clark County said that it was a decidedly fortunate thing that the decision came at a time when the legislature was in session. Otherwise, he declared, it might have been necessary to call an extraordinary session of the lawmakers.

He indicated that legislation would be provided by the nineteenth session to remove the flaw that the federal court found in the Idaho highway district law.

Mrs. McPherson, attorney for the railroad company, who had harried himself with

Evangelist Announces
Itinerary for Nation-Wide Revival Today

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—Almae Signe McPherson today announced a partial and temporary itinerary for her nationwide revival tour.

The evangelist plans to leave here next Tuesday on an evangelistic barn-storming, carrying her message of the Four Square Gospel to leading cities throughout the country.

The cities in which Mrs. McPherson expects to speak other than Los Angeles are New York City, Chicago, Washington, Denver, Kansas City, Providence, R. I., Baltimore, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, New Orleans, Miami and Tampa, Fla.

MACHINE GUNS ARE READY FOR USE AT PENN.

Governor Morley of Colorado Hopes to Dust Warden of Penitentiary If He Has Harried Himself With Gun.

CANON CITY, Colo., Jan. 6.—Giant machine guns will be kept ready to prevent any invasion of the state prison, according to Thomas T. J. Morley, who Governor C. J. Morley is seeking to oust.

The situation today was barely the same as that of yesterday. After the news of his defeat seemed to have sunk in with suspension orders, Warden Tyner indicated future attempts would be made in a like manner.

"The railroad company's argument conceives that all steps taken for the erection of the highway district have been legal and the only question on which the company stands is the valuation of the property," he said. "On this question the company asserts the recent decision of the supreme court of the United States in what is sometimes referred to as the 'Archer County' case, is controlling in its favor. On the other hand the state has asserted that the property involved is substantially distinguishable from the Idaho law and that therefore the decision is not conclusive."

In discussing the question further, Mr. Morley, who represented the district in its defense, said that the decision strikes very hard at the Idaho highway district law and in the broad sense of the word, as a means of getting consent of persons interested and no provision for assessment of benefits before taxes or bonds are issued.

County Board and Hospital Manager Named for Contempt.

The county board and F. W. Beck were cited to appear Jan. 12 to answer charges of contempt two days after the board's term expires.

As foreshadowed in The Times yesterday, steps had evening taken in regard to the action of the county commissioners in issuing a new rule, which it is contended violates the terms of the recently applied injunction of Judge Hugh A. Baker in the anesthetist case. The steps taken constituted application for citation of the board and Sup't. F. W. Beckwith for contempt for alleged refusal to comply with the writ of prohibition in the case.

In this case, it was made by Bothwell & Chapman, attorneys for Dr. D. L. Chapman, attorney for Dr. D. L. Hodges, who made the application for the original writ.

YALE ATHLETIC EXONERATED JOE WOOD OF CHARGE

"Smoky" Joe Wood is immediately signing with Yale Athletic Association. He is due to play in Detroit in 1928.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—"Smoky" Joe Wood, Yale baseball coach and former Cleveland player, is immediately signing with Yale. He has been connected with the leading annual involving the Cleveland and Detroit clubs of the American League, so far as the Yale Athletic association is concerned.

After an all-night session of the association board, Professor George H. Nettleton, president of the University of Connecticut, made this statement:

"No action has been taken or is now contemplated by the board of control of the Yale University Athletic association in alter its existing relationship with Joe Wood, though his terms of service at Yale have been terminated. The board is unanimous in its judgment that Wood is an able coach. The board of control possessed no evidence which, in its judgment, discredits the honesty and integrity of his past record."

A serious handicap in and part of the reason why Yale coach could not speak definitely on the University's side, Omaha, five days being ranked as one of the best performances in the history of the Yale football team. Last year he averaged 14 victories, while in 1926,

BILL TILDEN BEGINS WORK FOR TOURNEY

Tennis Champion Plans to Train For European Matches, but Elmira Returns.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—"Big Bill" Tilden, former national tennis champion, will leave for California Monday to begin training for his invasion of Europe. In May as a member of the team to be sent abroad by the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Tilden also will play in Florida tournaments before sailing for France and England. He has abandoned his intention of participating in the International tournament.

The former champion's decision to forsake the States probably will hurt that tennis queen financially. Club owners who had intended to construct extra seats to take care of the crowds expected to watch Tilden meet French tennis stars in both men's and women's tournaments have run out of seats, French stars.

Frank T. Hunter probably will accompany Tilden abroad, although another member of the American team has been chosen.

*Ancient Ideas Concerning World.
Ages on ages of the growth of human wisdom passed before there was any record of it. There were the wisest of mankind of the remotest of earth. Other ages were submerged in the unmeasured past before there came the cruelest of scientific assertion of this rotteness. The greatest of all the records of man, in the most distant believed the north was flat; that it had this or that for a foundation; that foundation having this or that monster animal for its foundation, or that the whole rested on the sea.*

*Painting Points.
When preparing paint, remember that better results are obtainable from several applications of thin paint than from heavier coats. If you can't take time to do this, work out a plan to cut on the costs and allowed to dry, lasts much longer and will not flake off as often as this case, when heavier coats are applied. When very fine results are wanted roll down each coat after it has thoroughly dried.*

The Wonder Play of a Decade

"THE BRAT"

Featuring America's Daintiest Actress JEAN ROSE

A $2.00 PLAY FOR 50 CENTS

Joe-K Says:

The following would be a good Biblical epitaph for Mussolini: "The wind ceased." Eh, what?

An Open Letter

Dear "Movie" Fans and Friends.

"God Gave Me 20c," the much discussed picture that opened the three-million-dollar Paramount theatre last month in New York City will have its final showing tonite at the JAMAO Theatre. A special comedy in which Lillian Rich plays the lead, and the Idaho Pic-O-Grams are also shown.

This feature picture is the one we want to tell you attention to, it deals with a so-so boy loved by two girls, one good and one bad, and the tricks played by destiny in their lives, resulting from the coming of two counterfeit dimes in the mix. And we guess it'll fit in from these dimes that the picture "GOLDCAKE, INC. 20c" derives its name.

We booked this picture on short notice and for that reason did not have time to advise you of the fact that it is one of the PARAMOUNT SUPER-SPESIALS, and that we are showing it at ROGUE'S PIAFS.

"GOD GAVE ME 20c" is one of the BEST PICTURES shown in Twin Falls for a long time and for both our sake avail yourselves of this opportunity and COME TONITE, for TOMORROW WILL BE TOO LATE. REMEMBER: REGULAR ADMISSION PRICES and the SHOWS START at 7:30 and 9:00 P.M.

Yours Merrily,

JOE-K

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

THE IDAHO DEPARTMENT STORES BIG ECONOMY BASEMENT

The trade journals of the eastern cities claim that our basement holds the national record for volume of business in towns of the size of Twin Falls. The people of this section well know that the word "Economy" as applied to the basement is not merely a word but an actual description of what this basement does. Try to estimate the actual savings this basement produces annually to the people of the Twin Falls empire. While our regular basement prices are sale prices every day, on the occasion of this Clearance Sale we are cutting "till it hurts." I hope you liked my basement service the past year and I will do still better if possible in 1927.

Respectfully, CECIL BOYD, Manager Economy Basement.

THE BIGGEST FISH STORY EVER TOLD

Salmon Industry Saved and Water Power Projects Insured as Fish Are Taught to Climb 250-Foot "Ladders"

SHADES of Isaac Walton! His "Compleat Angler" was not "compleat", after all, for here is the biggest fish story ever told: And, unlike many yarns spun from the nimble imagination of river-bank philosophers, it's true.

It's true, but it cost $75,000 to prove it. It's true, yet it concerns fish—big fish—that climb ladders 250 feet high!

The droll will salute this statement.
"Applesauce!" they'll chorus. And who wouldn't?
But it's true. The tale discloses an amazing battle of human ingenuity with an invader that battle of human ingenuity with an impulse that was old long before our "arboreal ancestors" came down out of the trees.

Here's the story. Last year, when spring came to the Pacific Northwest, Hook-Nose had not yet earned his name. He was as he had always been, since the summer of six years ago. Then, a darting silver of silver, he had come down to the sea with a million others of his kind. Alone out into the uncharted

That was six years ago. Now he was larger, stronger, hungrier—35 pounds of hard, firm flesh in a cuirass of silver that shivered under the drive of his powerful mind and tail. In the six years Spring had meant only to him a season of increased food, food more easily caught. Always food.

True, each Spring had seen the beginning of a mysterious movement toward the north, caused by the old instinct of the animal, but this year it was to settle; the roving habit disappeared, there was no further need of continuing in any particular direction. In this he had always been of one mind with others of his size and age. Each year they had gladly and gaily deserted the "northern" host, with but one pang within them—food, more food.

卷之三

'But this spring was different. Something in the taste of the slightly warming water perhaps came through those unknown miles and brought the big follow in as the electric-magnetic current batches and draw steel.' It turned him toward the north, toward the coast and toward the end.'

The same spell-panic upon the hundreds of houses of his glittering companions. It came upon Hook-Nose gradually. One day, the vapory dullness of fazing through the darkened depths. The next day, that strange swelling "pull" toward the north. He still played big fool, endlessly, tirelessly; but every now and then, innumerable instances, far light found him an appreciable distance farther up. Many of the tiny flocks were under the same spell.

"Days and months of this, weeks of constant, steady progress to the north, with the speed never increasing, less time to play, even less time at eating. And gradually the younger ones began to lag and fall away from the main body of their brothers, whom they would never again

Everything changed. As Hook-Nose neared the coast the cold clear water of a hundred rivers began to dilute the sea. No more food was taken. And here Hook-Nose got his book. His powerful upper jaw developed a book hold like the beak of a parrot—a hook sharp enough; that fitted down over his lower jaw. He could now turn his mouth only change in the big fish. The silver on his upper body began to tarnish to a rusty red with a tiny lustre. His round whiskers hardened down to straighter, swifter blades.

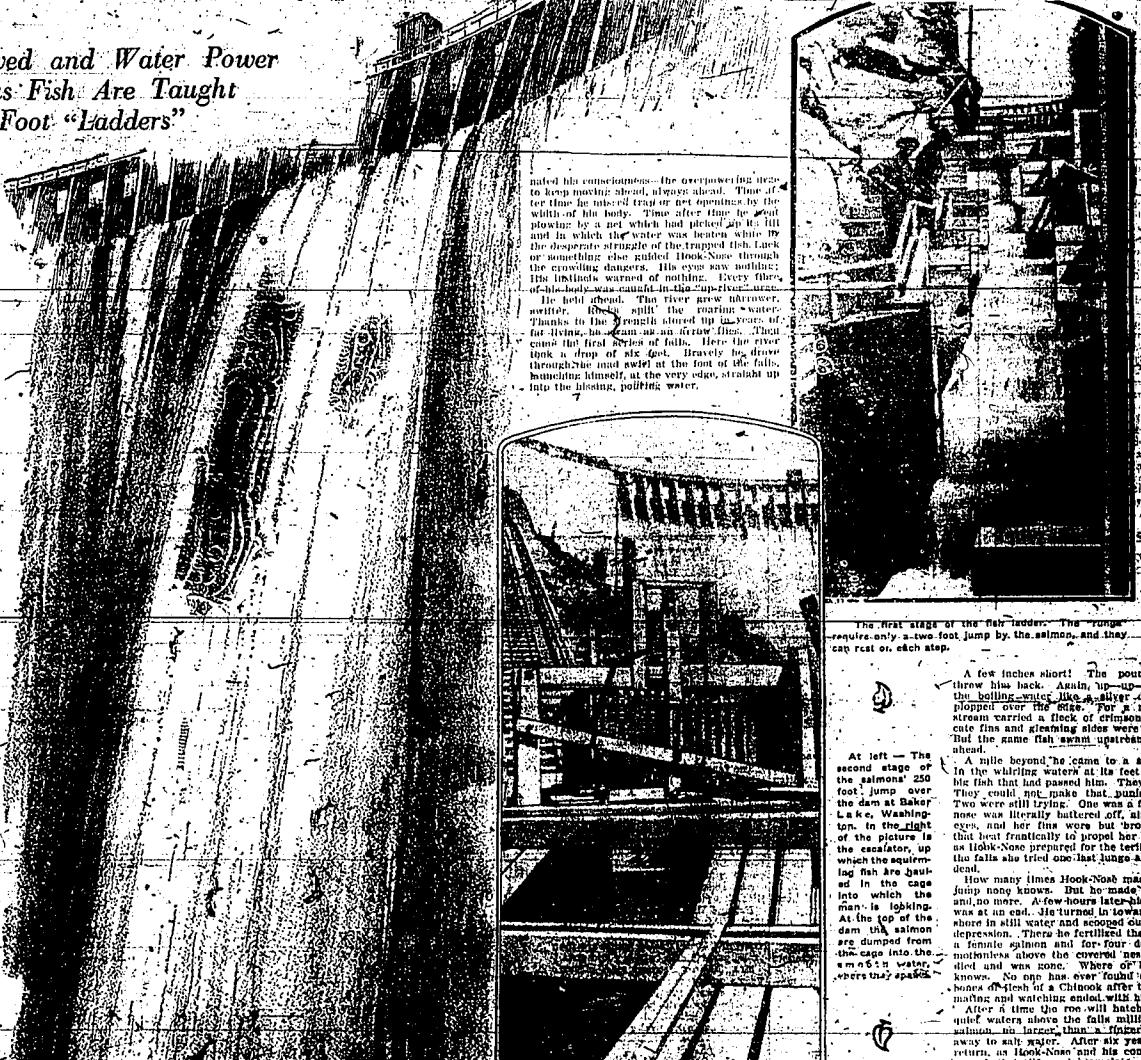

A Monster Fish.

New dangers came to the swimming horde. A giant of a fish, three times the size of Hook-nose, leapt savagely from a glistening, moving thing that danced along the surface one morning. A short, fierce struggle and a hundred of Hook-nose's brothers were jerked clear out of sight aboard a sunken drawer! The bigger fish seemed particularly mad at the time the vanguard had come within a day's travel of the

They were now at the mouth of the river which five or six years earlier, they had come sprawling and tumbling, puny imitations of themselves, about the length and thickness of a pencil.

"The salmon are running," these men said.
The Chinook are here."

Hood-Nose escaped them all, but by no good judgment of his own. "One thousand" only remai-

The first stage of the fish ladder. The rungs require only a two-foot jump by the salmon, and they can rest on each step.

A few inches short! The pounding flood threw him back. Again, up—up—he staggered, the boiling water like silver degrees. He plumped over the edge. For a moment the stream carried a flock of crimson. His delicate fins and gleaming scales were rasped raw. But the game fish swam upstream. He had known. No one has ever found skin or bones of flesh of a Chinook after they have mated and watching endow with his death.

In recent years the buildings of huge dams across the rivers visited by Hook-Nose and his winter companions for spawning suddenly presented a tremendous problem of assessing the effect upon everything else in the river system and its supply. The dams were necessarily built for power and irrigation. "So were they built," said Hook-Nose. "Not even the biggest fish could jump over them." And he was right. If the animal could not get up the river as it swam where was next year's salmon going to come from? What would become of the salmon?

CONGRESSMAN TO BLAME FOR POISON LIQUOR

WASHINGTON. Jan. 6.—Chester P. Mills, New York prohibition leader, is responsible for the diversified poison alcohol "and the resulting disaster," he charged yesterday before Congress. New York, charged in a speech in the house today. He said he planned to prefer charges against Mills.

LaGuardia attacked the treasury department for permitting poison to be placed in alcohol-and-water diversions in the city, and not by means of the knowledge. If not, the advancement of the very public officials charged by law to safeguard public health and to supervise the use of industrial alcohol."

He said the secretary of the treasury ought to have checked up on the secretaries of the director of supervising alcohol.

"The department," LaGuardia said, "has placed a man in charge in New York who does not know local conditions, who has no experience, who cannot possess a grasp of the conditions, and who is not interested."

"There can be no doubt that this poison alcohol—whiskey was used for beverage purposes was diverted from legitimate use" and "could not have been diverted to such an extent unless the official in charge of New York is hopelessly incompetent or criminally dishonest."

LaGuardia said he understood most of the diversions were made from Thompson factories and other industrial paving industrial alcohol plants. He said:

"The result of this is that the schools on the job market are directed towards a sell-silkies war and nothing after the rabbits and causing embarrasmants to twelve of them who are already case," LaGuardia said, "the diversion could have been checked."

Great Northern Will Spend Huge Sums If Present Plans Go On

CHICAGO. Jan. 6.—The Great Northern railway will spend $200,000 during the year of 1927, Ralph H. Smith, president of the road, said today. The equipment, materials and supplies, including locomotives, will be purchased by the railroad.

Electric locomotives of the motor generation type will be placed in service over the Cascade mountains during the year, he said.

The road is still experimenting with the electric power plant, he said, and during the year it will be in operation in its electrically powered and the performance of the engine will determine its future value.

Spokane Interurban May Merge With Railroads

WASHINGTON. Jan. 6.—The Spokane, Couer d'Alene and Pend Oreille interurban, which applies to the internal revenue department for permission to acquire the Spokane and Inland Empire Interurban, which operates two electric lines in Washington, The proposed sale of the lines, which will change it a part of the Great Northern railway, $1,160,000.

BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS

First dose of "Papo's Cold Com- pound" relieves all grippe misery.

Don't stay sicked up!

Quib blowing and sniffling! A dose of "Papo's Cold Compound" taken every hour or so until three doses are taken, will end grippe misery, and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, or in the lungs.

It promptly opens closed-up nostrils and air passages; stops nasty discharge of nose running; relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness. Besides, it is an effective expectorant, keeps the bronchial carrying off cold particles that are making you sick.

"Papo's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known, and costs only fifty cents at drug stores. It is a safe, non-narcotic, non-stimulating and causes no increased tension. Don't accept a substitute.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Governor H. C. Baldwin in his annual message makes many suggestions, some of which are new and therefore require careful consideration. He declares for constructive program of development following out party platform recommendation.

Favors practical plan for statewide advertising and immigration.

Encourages agriculture and development of greater markets.

For present unified educational system.

Suggests oiling of state highways and stricter motor vehicle traffic regulations.

For creating salaried office of law enforcement commissioner.

Wants independent status for state purchasing agent.

Urges more reservoirs and greater water storage.

Would remodel present penitentiary.

Suggests four year terms for state and county elective officials and convening of legislature on even dates, 12 months after state officers take office.

Wants life sentence for habitual criminals and suggests commission to make recommendations for change in criminal procedure.

The state's chief executive praised the progress agriculture has made and said the present markets of Idaho products can be retained by maintaining a high standard and to this end it is essential that strict regulatory rules and close inspection of experts be enforced. He said the state should have more uniform motor vehicle laws and that there should be created the office of commissioner of law enforcement that greater revenue now being lost come into the coffers of the state.

Many of the things suggested would be capable of abuse, though properly administered might do good in some cases. The plan for the four year term with a legislature convening a year after the state officers were inaugurated, or 14 months after election, would, of course, require a change in the constitution of the state. It is directly opposite in purpose from the Alan suggested regarding congress, which would have the body meet two months after election. Legislators and congressmen are selected to carry into effect the will of the people as expressed at the polls, and to leave them 14 months without action does not seem reasonable. It would give state officers a year to "frame up" on them. His suggestion relative to water power and electricity is wholly without intelligible meaning, since he has not taken the people into consideration in regard to the objective of this plus aspiration, which reads:

"The future industrial development of the state depends to a large extent upon the availability of hydroelectric power. Idaho has an enormous undeveloped resource in this commodity which should be jealously guarded. No dissipation or improper use of this resource should be permitted."

TAKE LID OFF LAUSANNE
BY JAMES D. WHELAN.

In view of the criticism levelled at President Wilson by republican senators for failure to secure immediate worldwide consideration of all international covenants in all nations, openly, there is food for thought in the dispatch from Washington that the consideration of the Lausanne treaty with Turkey, favored by republicans, led by Senator Borah, and opposed by democrats led by Senator King, would be conducted behind closed doors in opposition to democratic wishes.

Resolutions offered by Senator King inquiring into the truth of charges relative to this treaty are pending, and whether they are all true or not, some of them are, and they are things that the American people ought to be permitted to understand through open discussion.

The charges are that after the World war the United States and allied powers agreed that Greece should have control of Christian territories and that Christians should be protected; that this result was specified in the treaty of Sevres, which was endorsed by President Harding; that Turkey repudiated the treaty and joined Bolshevik Russia, after which she murdered hundreds of thousands of Armenians and drove nearly 2,000,000 Christians from their homes. It is charged that although the conditions set forth in the Sevres treaty were placed before the American delegates at Lausanne, many conditions were eliminated, and that it is charged that oil interests were involved, and essential American rights sacrificed to get oil concessions for several groups. It is charged that former oil concessions were cancelled and new groups received them, including the Standard Oil company which is said to have received one-fourth of all; and that immediately the Standard Oil company became an enthusiastic protagonist for treaty. It is said that Turkey still maintains a contemptuous attitude toward treaty obligations and that many victims of religious persecutions are at present supported by American and European Christian aid. It is charged that Kemal Pasha has directed all Americans doing business in Turkey, or who have business interests there to urge the senate to ratify the treaty, with an implied threat attached.

The facts regarding the Sevres treaty, the change in terms at Lausanne and the massacres of Christians are notoriously true. Oil activities are harder to prove. But if such conditions exist, the American people should know it. If they do not exist, the people should be informed regarding facts. Why not consider this treaty as openly as the treaty of Versailles was considered?

WHEN Senator Frank L. Smith of Illinois arrived in Washington as a reporter at a petting show.

The senator-elect from Illinois has refused to climb into a cyclone car, has been unable to ride the tornado which threatens him might subside to zephyr proportions.

This is the most recent instance of the eccentricities of the representatives of the majority of Republican senators who have addicted Smith's primary campaign fund record to two exteriorists.

Insurgents and Democrats unanimously lined up against

Smith to become a senatator, and inclined to welcome his arrival in the Senate with opportunity for some very high-powered oratory.

At this writing it appears that for the time being the majority will allow Smith to remain in the Senate.

There is no slight on whether or not Smith will be allowed to take it or whether the Senate will return to allow him to come in.

ONE school of thought favors the former course, if only on the theory of overhand and identity.

But whether the unfortunate bucked down the front steps so soon as he flung the door open to the chamber to enter the parlor and then given the "bum's rush," the result apparently will be the same.

The Senate's decision is up to Smith's primary campaign fund,

by Samuel Insull, the Chicago public utilities magnate, represents the bar minister which has members of his party in the Senatate to turn against him in his hour of need.

Smith was the head of the ill-omened utility combine and

and the question of favoritism is incredible.

It seems likely that the Senate will refer his case to Senator

Franklin D. Roosevelt's investigating committee, which first brought out the charges against

Smith. Senator Aspinwall of Arizona is drafting a resolution to that end.

IDHO SEED SHOW TO OPEN IN EMMETT

IDAHO SEED SHOW TO OPEN IN EMMETT

First Day Will Be "Dusty Day and the Second Seed Way and the Last Home Improvement Day."

DOISE, Jan. 6.—The sixteenth annual state seed show will open at Emmett, Wednesday, January 12, and continue through Saturday, January 13.

The first day will be dusty day, Thursday, January 13 will be seed day and Friday, January 14 home improvement day.

The governor of Idaho, the representative of the United States and state departments of agriculture and the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, members of the agricultural extension and experiment station workers, directors of the seed show, seed growers and others interested in the Idaho dairy industry, seed development and the improvement of the home and home surroundings will attend and discuss problems of mutual interest. Problems of seed production, adaptation on marketing will receive special attention. The seed show will be unique this year in its practicality and will appeal to all who are interested in quality of seed, the grower has for sale. All of the certified grain varieties will be on display and entered in competition for state honors. In addition, other samples and the samples returned from Chicago will be entered.

An opportunity is offered the farmers to display their best work and to compete with each other in the quality of products produced in field sections of Idaho.

A twenty-foot Idaho educational exhibit set up at the International Grain and Hay show, Chicago, featuring Idaho average yields per acre, compared with United States average acre yields, will be on exhibition at Emmett and will be viewed with profound interest by many visitors.

The Idaho-Montana-Utah educational exhibit of pedigree cattle, featuring uniform grades and types for the three mountain states, which was also placed before the public at Chicago, will be featured at Emmett.

The citizens of Emmett are making extensive preparations to care for the visitors. This display is the show window of Idaho seeds. Emmett, Idaho, January 12, 13 and 14.
