Sinclair Oil Interests Have Filed Suit for Injunction Against Government and Thousands Are Being Thrown Out of Work; Fail to Comply With Law.

TAMPICO, Mexico, Jan. 15.—Cancellation of all drilling permits issued to petroleum companies which have failed to comply with the provisions of the protected Mexican petroleum laws which went into effect January 1 has been decided upon by the Mexican government. It was reported today. Persons notified in this petroleum circles stated that this had been confirmed in official sources.

The cancellation of these permits is likely to have an unprecedented effect upon the industry, as it will result in thousands being thrown out of work and will cause the government to suffer a great loss of revenue in oil production taxes.

The Sinclair Oil company, subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, already has received a message from the Mexican City officials advising that the permits granted since January 1 have been cancelled. It was reported.

The Sinclair Oil interests have already filed a suit for injunction against the government as a result of letters refusing to grant exploration permits in the Toluca district, which during the entire last year has been exploited by the Sinclair company.

All oil companies operating on nationalized lands since January 1 are affected by the order. It is not known yet what losses will be sustained as a result of the government's action. The majority of the companies affected is listed under the Group Producers' association which failed to comply with the new law.

The Huasteca Oil company is reported to have suspended work on forty derricks.

The government agency here is silent on the subject, but it is generally believed that the order refusing to grant permits will become effective immediately.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 15.—With a score of more women friends and hundreds of curious men, women and children at the station to greet her, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, now famous Los Angeles evangelist, arrived here on the first leg of her eastern-harlem-tour. Three women secretaries and two publicity men accompanied her.

Men doffed their hats, women cheered loudly as the fiery proponent of the four square gospel alighted and was handed a large bouquet of roses.

"Oh, how lovely," she exclaimed, flashing a smile at the crowd which jammed forward for a sight of her. "My welcome with joy."

A path was formed through the crowd and Mrs. McPherson with her secretaries and publicity men posed for cameras here. She wore a black traveling suit, brown fur coat and a large picture hat which partly concealed her Auburn tresses.

U. S. REJECTS BORAH'S PEACE PROPOSAL FOR LATIN AMERICA

Flat Rejection Was Voiced Today in Washington to Senator Borah's Peace Suggestions and Opposition to His Nicaraguan Policies.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The administration will reject without comment the Borah Latin-American peace plan, a republican spokesman at the capital told the United Press today.

Marling will remain in Nicaragua as long as leaders think it is necessary to protect American lives and property there, and the Mexican dispute is not considered suitable for arbitration now declared this official, who is in a position to reflect the opinion of President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg.

This policy was affirmed in the face of congressional attacks on the Coolidge-Kellogg policies while both defenders and opponents moved for decisive action in the controversy which has stirred the nation to the possibility of Kellogg is understood to be completing his review of testimony he gave before the senate foreign relations committee Wednesday with a view to making public certain portions of it. The review certainly is expected to be held before next week.

Legislative action in the case is held up pending definite reaction of the country to the Borah plan, Budd suggested that rejection of the Diaz, Nicaraguan government should be withdrawn and an election held by the Nicaraguan people. He proposed that the Mexican oil lands dispute be submitted to arbitration.

SCOPES CASE REVERSED IN SUPREME COURT

Tennessee Law Prohibiting Teaching of Anti-Evolution Theories Upheld by State Supreme Court; Scopes Case Reversed and Teacher is Not Guilty

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 15.—Constitutionality of the law which forbids teaching in public schools or universities the theory that man descended from a lower order of animal was upheld today in a decision handed down by the state supreme court.

The test case was taken before the supreme court by John Thomas Scopes, Dayton school teacher, convicted for the violation of the law. Although the law was upheld, the verdict against Scopes was reversed on the grounds that he was illegally fined $100 when the maximum penalty for a misdemeanor in this state is $50. The law under which he was convicted provides that violation is a misdemeanor.

"We are not sure to see how the prohibition of teaching the theory that man was descended from a lower order of animals gives preference to any religious establishment or mode of worship," said the decision. "All of us agreed," said Justice Green, who read the verdict, "that nothing is to be gained by prolonging this bizarre case."

Justice McKenney, who dissented on the part of the decision which upheld the constitutionality of the anti-evolution law, held that the law should be invalidated on the grounds of uncertainty.

Justice Interpore differently. Justice Cook and Green held the law to be constitutional and interpreted it to mean that the teaching of any theory of evolution evades the law. Justice Chambers, in his opinion, held that the law was constitutional but that only teaching of "materialistic" theory of evolution is unlawful, under his provision.

Dry Law Will Celebrate Seventh Birthday Sunday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The anniversary of prohibition, which will take place tomorrow, finds the dry law as much a controversial subject in America as the day it went into effect. Prohibitionists make no point in the repeal of the law as it attesting to its success while wet leaders declared that it is unwarranted and that they would continue to demand for a modification as the only solution of the difficulty.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Linton B. Anderson in charge of prohibition enforcement, plans to make the eighth year of the Volstead act the most effective in its history. He proposes that the prohibition of industrial alcohol, run gambling, by sea and across the borders, and illicit breweries would be completely eliminated during the year.

Only Bourbon Elected from Twin Falls

SENATOR W. F. PIKE.

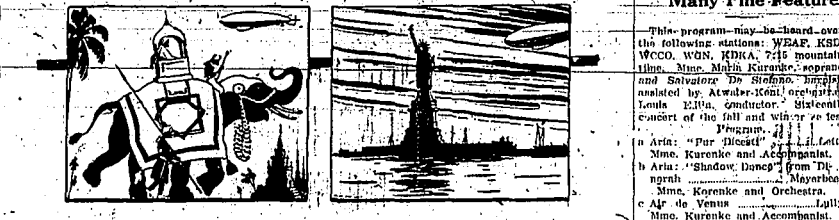

W. F. Pike enjoys the distinction of being the only democrat ever elected to the senate from Twin Falls county. He is a native of Idaho, having been born in the town of Victory 16 years ago. Nor is this the senator's initial term in the upper house, as he represented the same constituency in 1925.

Senator Pike was born in Illinois, where he attended the public and normal schools. After a short experience as a school teacher, he entered the University of Denver, Colorado, and after graduation studied medicine at the University of Colorado, getting his M. D. degree in 1914.

He moved to Twin Falls last year, but returned to Denver in 1916 to get married. After his honeymoon, Mr. Pike and his wife came back to Twin Falls, where they have made their home ever since. Mrs. Pike and their son and daughter have accompanied the senator to Boise and they have taken a house at 432 Jefferson street.

Senator Pike is particularly interested in farm finance, and has offered to introduce a bill of this nature, providing the interest rate below the present customary 10 per cent. Capital News.

AMAZING AIRSHIP FOR BAPTIST CRUISE

Northern Baptists are all astir over an aerial world tour scheduled for January. When the denomination was first invited to circle the globe in an airship and visit all Northern Baptist mission fields on the continent, the announcement was received by all church members with interest, not unmixed, in some cases, with alarming visions of the perils of navigating the air. However, "back the benches" because that inspiration built and equipped the Baptist aircraft and will propel it around the world, the most cautious of travelers are looking passage.

The airship, invented for the occasion has been christened the "Evangel." It is of a design unknown to the science of aeronautics and will certainly engage the engineering profession for it is described as a dirigible of elastic frame, whose expansive cabin can be made to reach out and unfold you and your family and friends and the house in which you dwell. In preparation for the cruise everything is done in due form, with looking agents in the churches, a passenger list and an official-looking ticket.

That the "Evangel" appeal is strong with people of all ages is shown by an extraordinary manifestation of interest. It is doubtful if so many Baptists were ever before called for a denominational affair—enrollment being the only condition necessary to be able to qualify first-class passage.

The world tour is in fact a novel plan to induce a wider study of Baptist tasks and to do this, not offering dry facts and statistics, but by letting typical examples of work done under the denomination's cooperative program speak for themselves. This is to be accomplished by the daily reading of the Log of the Evangel, an illustrated publication in form and size like a travel guide. It is a complete departure from former methods of presenting missionary information as the Log consists of a succession of brief word pictures, throwing into high light striking aspects of Baptist missionary activity, but making no attempt to cover the mission fields in detail.

As an experiment in fixing attention upon church problems in their broad aspect, the Baptist plan will be observed with attention by other denominations. It is not to be denied that there is an attraction to anyone with a spark of imagination, in the thought of planning a world cruise absolutely devoid of material obstacles, with a ship which in its details each passenger contrives for himself, a course that permits of unlimited size trips, company of one's own choosing and all the comforts of home drawn in.

giving a constant impetus to nation. As a result, production this year should compare favorably with the output of 1926.

"Replacement of old cars in the United States will require approximately 2,000,000 units in 1927. Export millions did fail to take close to one million cars and trucks of American manufacture. New owners coming into the markets in this country during the next twelve months will require a million cars or more. In addition, there is a rapidly growing tendency toward the ownership of two automobiles in the same family."

Good Business Is Forecast for 1927 Chevrolet Manager

By ROY C. HAYES.

Increasing good business for the first half of 1927, as forecast by R. H. Grant, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, who declared that there is every reason to believe that the country will continue to introduce a bill of this nature, providing the interest rate below the present customary 10 per cent. Capital News.

There is no evidence on the industrial horizon that would indicate anything but a promising outlook for the early months of the new year," Mr. Grant declared. "Labor continues to enjoy the most favorable conditions in the country, and the agricultural outlook is improving and banks are acknowledging more cash than ever."

"The motor industry is preparing for an unusually active year. The recognized advantages of automobile ownership has been emphasized, and the motor car offers the greatest dollar value in the history of the industry."

The quarterly business meeting of the Knoll Baptist church was held at the church on Saturday afternoon. Rev. W. J. Shurtz of Bluff will be at the Knoll Baptist church Thursday evening to give the moving picture of the Missions of California. C. B. King is moving to Twin Falls.

As the swimmers approached the opposite side of the open sea, the swim started to spread out. They were swimming in little groups and several were lost for to the rear of the pack.

Some of the swimmers were showing signs of distress in the chilly water, the temperature of which was announced as 53 degrees before the start of the swim. It was apparent that many more would soon follow the first one to give up.

Genevieve Estess wore a heavy suit of flannel underwear and refused to remove it. The official starter refused to let him participate officially, fearing his clothing might draw his life.

The purpose of the dinner was to ingratiate the group with the guests so that certain contracts would be easy to secure, Mackay testified.

TWIN FALLS DAILY TIMES

Published Every Evening Except Sunday by The Times Publishing Company, Twin Falls, Idaho. I. H. MASTERS, Editor and Publisher.

Worry is the mental message that you've got poison in your veins.

No woman reaches a higher point than to be wise and womanly at one and the same time.

It is safer to leave a snake alone than it is to step on him. It is known beforehand that he will strike back and strike to kill.

Like the pup chasing the flying express, some folks are pursuing ideals while others are wondering what they would do with them if they were overtaken.

It is so easy to be true when no strain is brought to bear upon your confidences. And then it is so easy for some to be false when the strain brought upon them.

Are you able to draw the line that runs between a mere wish and a pure doggedness? After all, there's a big chance between desire and determination. Somehow, we like the fellow that's going to do it anyhow.

Manhood has no higher altitude than to be a man to whom some sort of work is indispensable. A real man's highest aim is not the accumulation of wealth beyond the necessities and comforts of life, but the building up of a character that will insure his own ultimate happiness.

WHO PAYS THE FREIGHT FROM THE FARM?

The theory that the ultimate consumer pays the freight is not entirely a correct one, according to the view of James E. Boyle, professor of rural economy at Cornell, who in the current issue of the Nation's Business outlines the economic effect of rates on prices.

Professor Boyle's conclusions are: The consumer pays the freight. But any change in agricultural freight rate has two effects on the land owner distant from market—decrease lowers the value both of his crops and his land; decrease raises the value of both.

The competing farmer close to the market is an earnest advocate of freight increase on the agriculturist at a distance. His reasons are obvious. Not only can he undersell in his adjacent market, but he can keep the price level high enough to assure a good return even while doing it.

The farmer's share in the freight bill is largely due to the fact that there is no immediate application between price charge and freight rate charge. The latter usually comes well after the first and may encounter a radically altered market—readjustments in production are painful.

The Cornell savant simmers down the proposition to its most serious element as the change in rates. "Changes in freight rates or changes in the transportation service," he says, "will often make or break the section affected thereby."

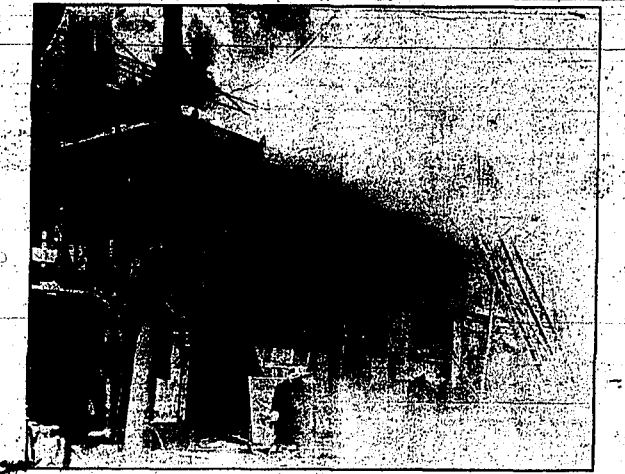

Dr. Boyle urges that the alignment of economic thought, or the results of increases and decreases should be recognized by the interstate commerce commission and that, once a freight rate is in effect, it should be changed only for serious and weighty reasons.

What more interesting, important and uplifting topic upon which to converse with our friends? The last thing upon which the mind should rest before going to sleep should be the truth.

This was literally done by the Jews or portions of the Scriptures were worn upon their foreheads as frontlets between their eyes.

Montreal Fire Where Seventy-Seven Children Perished

A panic brought on by a child's frightened cry after a thin wisp of smoke was discovered caused a rush for the exits in the Lanier Palace theatre, Montreal, that cost the lives of 77 children. The fire itself was extinguished with small damage. This photo, taken a few minutes after the blaze was discovered, shows fire apparatus fighting the fire and smoke in front of the theatre.

YOUR PRINTER—

Do you make him your partner or your victim?

RAINY MEN—men whose abilities would net them greater profits in other industries—spend their lives as printers because, each day they learn something new about the work they love. These printers, just as other notable men in other professions, are sometimes timid.

What is the result? Very often it is poor printing, a dissatisfied buyer and a disliked printer. Why should the printer, of all persons, be the craftsman whom everybody feels qualified to tell how to run his business?

Why will many buyers of printing continue to think that printing is philanthropy? "You can't get something for nothing" is as true in printing as in any other business. And it is more evident, because nothing shows its cheapness quicker than cheap printing.

But if a printer does turn out a good job, even in face of difficulties, what is his reward? Isn't it often only an opportunity to hand in a competitive bid on the next job?

Why is the printer so seldom allowed to feel a spirit of partnership with the buyer—to feel that he is working WITH him instead of FOR him? Why is the spectre of a rejected order or a lost account hung ever before his eyes?

Buyers of printing should remember this: The first step toward better printing is to make your printer your partner.

SHRINKAGE REDUCTION IS SOUGHT

Idaho Woolmen Will Seek to Secure Improvements on Yards So That Lambs Will Lose Little of the Way to Market. Will Be Taken Up at Convention.

Lamb marketing will furnish one of the most important questions to come before the sheepmen of Idaho at the thirty-fourth annual convention of the Idaho Wool Growers Association which opens in Vernal next Sunday for a three day session. It was stated by T. Clyde Bacon, president of the association, who stated that the woolmen are endeavoring to find ways for sheepmen to increase the gross revenue from the product fine in the shipping of lambs. It is stated that a total could be saved on lambs which are marketed in Idaho would be saved from the loss of many hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

Years ago, Mr. Bacon continued, five or six pounds shrinkage between the shipping point and the market was a matter of course. In later years we have been making a special effort to get our lambs to market with as little shrinkage as possible.

Much Shrinkage. In doing this we have discovered most of our shrinkage was due to poor feed and water conditions at the various points to which the lambs were shipped. An experienced shipper who was familiar with every yard and the pens usually the yards, we finally got down to a system whereby we were usually able to obtain a proper fill at the various feeding points with the result that we are now shipping our lambs with an average shrinkage of about two pounds per head.

Here is the point we will consider most particularly at our convention. If these lambs were marketed five pounds, and by improving equipment in the yards, that is providing ample water trough and hay rack space, in the yards, this shrinkage could be cut down to two pounds, a saving will be effected from thirty to forty cents a head on every lamb shipped, or on the two million lambs marketed annually each year from Idaho, there would be a saving to the Idaho wool growers of conservatively a half million dollars a year.

The convention committee members who will handle the lamb marketing problem at the state convention next year is composed of the following: Chairman, A. H. Bradford, Harman, Id.; C. W. Heckman, Boise, Id.; F. J. Farmer, Pines, E. E. Oberhol, Boise; O. E. McConnell, Gooding; H. H. Albert, Orem; Charles A. Carlson, Hayden and Charles W. Abbott, Hammond.

BAKER HOLDS CONTEMPT IS NOT INVOLVED

District Judge Says He Is Unable to Find That Rate in December in Howland Is Same as That of Former Date, and Commissioners and Superintendent Were Not Guilty.

Declaring that he is unable to say that the order of December 23 is the same as the original order issued which was involved in the injunction with the unattached case, Judge Hugh A. Baker in a decision handed down today held that the old board of county commissioners and the superintendent of the Twin Falls county hospital, were not guilty of contempt of court in issuing a last order. Copies arrived here on the noon train.

Dr. D. L. Alexander, complainant, claimed that the last order was in substance the same as "Fred," which was issued by the board of county commissioners and the superintendent of the hospital was to care for indigent, the commissioners had a right to make the rule. His associate, F. W. Taylor, argued a parallel line. Mr. Taylor contended that the commissioners were right and that the attitude assumed had been in the interest of the county.

SEED JUDGING LOVING

The first prize, a silver loving cup donated by twentieth century teachers, was won by the Twin Falls team for seed judging at the Emmett seed show last week here. According to word received from Prof. John S. Robinson, the cup was won last year by Idaho.

AUTOS AND ROOMS FOR GRANGE MEET ARE IN DEMAND

Emmett high won seed identification, Nampa in commercial grading. All who can spare cars to drive to the depot to meet the train Monday afternoon on the afternoon are asked to do so in order to welcome delegates to the State Grange and bring them to headquarters. The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce is co-operating with the Twin Falls County Grange in this work of registering delegates. All who have more than one car are asked to report the same to the Chamber of Commerce.

Further plans concerning the details of the State Grange meeting have been worked out. It was announced last evening. In view of assurance of an attendance which probably will be in the neighborhood of one hundred, it was determined to hold two banquets simultaneously. The first will be at the Hotel Howland, and the second at the Hotel Howland. The dinner will be the headquarters of the organization. Aside from the regular train there will be a special train which will come in at about 7 o'clock and it is hoped that there will be enough cars on hand to take care of all delegates. This was arranged last evening at a meeting between representatives of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, and the chamber of commerce.

There will be an open ceremonial at which A. S. Gibbs of the Washington state grange will give the address of welcome. Welcome speeches and responses will be at the banquet. To Submit Resolutions. Various resolutions will be submitted for consideration by the grange early in the meeting and these will be acted on by a committee on resolutions. The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce will be in charge of the entertainment in favor of the grange. A reading will be held for a certificate of strict weed law enforcement, announced by a measure for the initiation of a federal highway law.

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce will also ask that the grange arrange to be present at meetings of state and county taxing and levy making bodies representing the farmers.

Higher degrees of the order will be conferred during the state meeting. This will be conferred by the women of the Russell Lane grange; the fifth by the women of the Palouse grange and the sixth by the W. W. local state grange master.
