

FARM RELIEF IS BROUGHT UP IN SENATE

McNary-Haugen Bill Comes Up Suddenly for Consideration by Senate; Agricultural Depression Is Great Unsolved Problem.

Continuity of Agriculture Are Much Worse Than During Previous Year and Something Must Be Done It Is Said by House Committee.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18.—Unexpectedly, the senate republicans today began consideration of farm relief measures, receiving first a proposal for insuring cotton farmers against low prices and then plunging into the consideration of the controversial McNary-Haugen bill.

Senator McNary, republican Oregon, announced he expected to complete his report today and tomorrow on the revised bill which he introduced before the senate, where action will be brought before the house takes up the measure.

Agriculture depression is the country's greatest unsolved problem and it is growing increasingly serious, the house agriculture committee declared today in its favorable report of the McNary-Haugen bill.

The committee said enactment of the measure would result in "potentially" to the industry at large although it will not directly benefit all branches.

"The bill is not a subsidy and the farmers desire no further extension of credit," the committee emphasized.

"The general situation is worse now than it was a year ago," the report said. "During 1925 the condition of agriculture passed from bad to worse. The fact that no doubt of the existence of a grave agricultural problem that concerns not the farmers alone, but all who are interested in the country, is a sound national life in this country."

"There is little difference of opinion as to the necessity for prompt action by congress to secure stability, and a fair share of the national income for agriculture."

Miller, of Portland, Ore., merchant, convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to 15 months in the state penitentiary as a result of the death of Alma Hall, a pedestrian, on a public highway, with a legal 30 mile speed limit. Miller contended the law was unconstitutional because of its uncertainty, and his sentence would deprive him of liberty without due process of law, but the court today affirmed his conviction without opinion.

Japanese Minister States That American Immigration Against Orientals Remains Unadjusted; U. S. and Japan Are for Peace.

TOKIO, Jan. 18.—Discrimination by the American immigration law against Orientals is a question which "still remains unadjusted" in the opinion of the Japanese government, foreign minister Shidehara told the Tokyo diet today. The text of his speech was given out by the Japanese embassy here.

In discussing the immigration problem, Shidehara referred to "the evident welcome facts that on this and all other matters of common interest the true knowledge and sympathetic understanding of Japan has grown considerably in the United States in recent years and that world reports circulated at one time denigrating Japanese Pacific intentions are now receiving the general condemnation of an enlightened public opinion there."

After expressing sympathy for the Chinese, the minister stated that the United States and Japan as "guardians of the peace of the Pacific will stand side by side for all their friendly accord."

"Human-Japanese relations," he said, "continue gratifying, the nations having no aggressive designs, military, political or otherwise," he said.

SEVENTEEN FACE MANSLAUGHTER IN BIG CHURCH ROW

Death of Housekeeper of Pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church Charged to Mob, Who Manhandled Her.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—A small town church row here has culminated in the indictment of 17 persons on the charge of manslaughter.

Those indicted are prominent in local church affairs, are charged with responsibility for the death of Mrs. Anna Rieland, housekeeper for the Rev. Bishop Jan Nawakowski, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church of Chicago, who is indicted as a member.

"The grand jury, in voting the indictment," said J. W. in the opinion that "Mrs. Rieland died of shock superinduced by being manhandled and thrown bodily from the parsonage by an angry mob of parishioners, among whom were the defendants."

In telling of the beginning of the trouble, the Rev. Nawakowski said it was caused by an assessment placed on the church members.

"We are a poor church," he said. "Recently we have had to have money to run our parochial school or else close it. I placed a $15 assessment against the church members who could not pay it."

"Immediately a fierce resentment arose which divided the parishioners into two warring factions. I was threatened with being kicked out and soon the animosity of my enemies was turned on Mrs. Rieland, my housekeeper."

INSURRECTION IN MEXICO IS CHARGED TO CATHOLICS

First Time in History of Rebellion Catholic Church Voices Opposition to Mexican Religious Laws.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 18.—The centered insurrection prevailing in 12 Mexican states, today took its most ominous turn as the Mexican government prepared to enact the law which it charged was being organized by Archbishop Francisco Orozco Y Jimenez.

For the first time since the Catholic church voiced its opposition to the religious laws, the banner of rebellion has been raised over the insurrectionists. It was charged by the government, which has not hesitated to show its extreme concern.

The labor newspaper El Sol said that after "nearly more than 200 men under his banner 'Jesus Live, Christ, our King,' Archbishop Jimenez, one of the most beloved prelates in Mexico, declared a revolt against the Catholic government and in maintaining his forces to drive federal troops from their garrison in the central province of Jalisco."

The government apparently was concentrating on Jalisco, fearful that a victorious revolutionary movement there might be the nucleus which would throw the revolutionists, now mostly isolated bands, into a general revolt.

A strong force of cavalry, to augment the federal forces now serving in Jalisco, has been ordered in pursuit of the archbishop and his band. The government was in constant communication with the chief of operations there, who has been given orders to report each movement of the archbishop to the war department.

Despite the reports, however, issued for by the newspaper and the war department, Catholics in close touch with the episcopate insisted that the archbishop was in no way involved in the revolt.

They were confident that he would not break the orders of the episcopate by heading a revolution.

After the departure of the archbishop, El Sol said, this city was plunged into confusion by the people were assured he had banished together a large force of armed men and that he would wage against the government under the campaign slogan used by the Mexican Catholics.

Only six votes were cast against the measure.

A strong force of cavalry, to augment the federal forces now serving in Jalisco, has been ordered in pursuit of the archbishop and his band. The government was in constant communication with the chief of operations there, who has been given orders to report each movement of the archbishop to the war department.

Despite the reports, however, issued for by the newspaper and the war department, Catholics in close touch with the episcopate insisted that the archbishop was in no way involved in the revolt.

State Grange Master Gives Annual Address

W. W. Deal Gives Account of Stewardship for Last Year; Many Matters Are Covered in Summary by Head of Organization for Idaho.

The following is the text of the state master, W. W. Deal, covering various activities and suggestions and touching conditions and also a complete summary of the recommendations of the national grange: To the Officers and Members, Idaho State Grange:

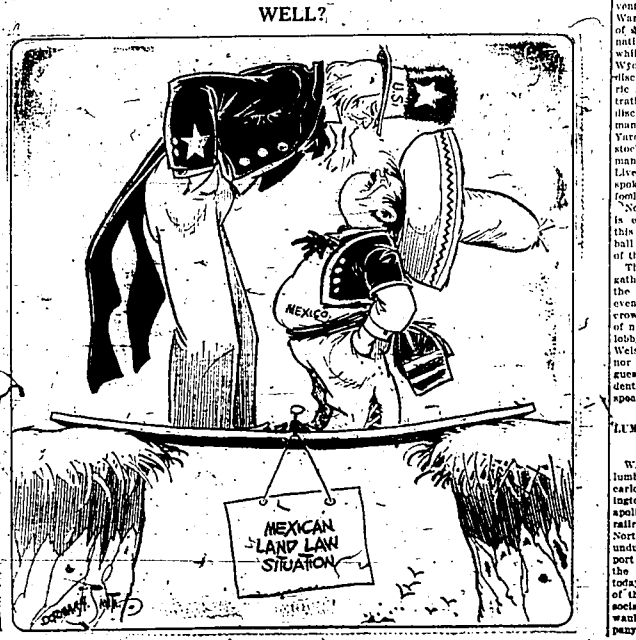

The Idaho State Grange in its annual session in the year 1927 comes before the public to render its account concerning the part it has taken in all matters pertaining to agriculture, the betterment of the home, school and common farm business. In rendering this account it might be well to state that the Grange position in carrying out its time honored principles is challenged by none.

It seems the Grange is expected to be the spokesman for organized agriculture and the farm folks in our fair state, and to fall to do so would be a tragedy of great joy that our magic city, Twin Falls, should so graciously invite us here and open her doors to us and our associates, especially for this 30th annual session of the Grange. Only a few years ago did the Grange begin its extensive organization in this high productive county of our state. When we did start, however, it was not long until these farmers realized the value of organization and they promptly proceeded to make Twin Falls county the banner Grange county in the state. There is yet but two or three communities in this county not now covered by the grange organization. No visitor to this session can possibly have a shadow of doubt as to quality and size of the welcome we have here; and our coming is like that of a victorious legion returning to receive honors of a gracious home folk.

Condition of Agriculture. The agricultural people are more critical managers of those who are responsible for amending 37 existing taxing systems seems difficult to understand. It has been suggested that the farmers act as though they are abandoned whether relief in this matter is proposed. We contend, however, with an increasing intelligence and interest in public affairs on the part of the farmer it is sure to come, and a more equitable taxation system established. The foundation of this readjustment many direct the best of those that pay who are most able and taxes shall be levied upon the plan of income is evident. We recommend a readjustment stand at a year ago, that the sources of profit in mines, developed water power and other natural resources should be borne by the people of the burden of government and education. It is a step forward in the equalization of our burdens to consider a tax on the land that will reduce and a reduction of the dead weight load on property. It could be none

GERMANY IS ADMITTED TO LAWN TENNIS FEDERATION

U. S. Lawn Tennis Association Announced Today That International Sport Has Been Furthered by Admission of Germany to Tennis Meets.

(By HENRY L. PARRELL.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The cause of international sport has been furthered by admission of Germany to the International Lawn Tennis Federation, with the result that Germany will participate in Davis cup play during 1927.

The United States Lawn Tennis association today announced that an official notification of the federation's favorable vote on the German application had been received, although the expected Davis cup challenge has not been forwarded.

German tennis players have not participated in the international cup challenge for more than a decade. Prior to the world war the Teutonic net stars were beginning to take active interest in the game and to show promise of developing.

"The" in connection, taking place at Pittsburgh, saw Otto Froitzheim and Otto Krenner meeting Norma E. Brooks and Anthony Wilding, the famous Australian pair. The Germans were eliminated but played magnificently exhibiting strength of their opponents and the strain of realization that a war had been declared. Many of the sets went to Duca, because of the war. Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria dropped out of the international federation and from Davis cup play.

One by one these nations have been readmitted until only Bulgaria and Turkey remain outside the federation. It is possible that before long the former enemies of the world of tennis will become strong competitors on the tennis court.

Idaho Supplies Much Butter for Los Angeles City

MOSCOW, Jan. 15.—One-fourth of the butter consumed in Los Angeles during the first six months of 1926 was supplied by Idaho producers, according to figures issued by D. L. Fourn, field salesman of the university extension service.

The Los Angeles market has been developing very rapidly, Mr. Fourn believes, because of population increase and the use of more local milk for the purpose rather than in the form of butter.

In 1925 nearly 37,000,000 pounds of creamery butter was manufactured in the Great State, more than three times the amount produced in Idaho. Idaho, however, produced only about one per cent of the butter of the United States and ranks about 18th among states in butter production.

Most Idaho butter now goes to Pacific coast markets. Mr. Fourn points out, however, that when production in Idaho and other western states increases above coast and inland market needs, the extra expense of shipping to the east would not in itself be a handicap. The freight rate on New York on butter from Idaho is only one and one-fourth cents per pound greater than the rate from Idaho to Los Angeles.

Idaho now has 17 creameries, 22 cheese factories, 23 ice cream plants, one condenser, and a cheese cooperage plant. Dairy production is reported nearly one-fourth of the total annual milk in the state in 1925.

WEST WANTS MORE IDAHO HOGS

A cry that should be heard and heeded comes from the big markets on the coast, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, and Spokane, for more Idaho hogs. Idaho can produce them. These markets want them and are willing to pay a price that will leave a big profit in the pockets of the producers.

These markets are paying prices that yield profits to farmers in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri, to produce hogs and ship them half way across the continent at heavy expense for freight and shrinkage. Yet Idaho, where hogs can be produced more cheaply than in ANY middle western state, with less than one-third the distanced to these markets, is permitting a million dollars a week to go through Idaho to these states for hogs shipped through Idaho from these states to Idaho's markets.

Are not we overlooking a matter of vital importance? One brood sow on every farm in Canyon county will pay the taxes on all the farms of the county. We howl about high taxes and we honestly believe we "have a howl coming"—to use a slang phrase—yet these taxes could be paid by one brood sow on every farm in the county.

Ben Ross, mayor of Pocatello, who was born on a Canyon county farm, has been figuring up what the hog business could bring to Idaho and he has stated that two brood sows on every farm in Idaho (and that means all of the little farms of two, five or 10 acres) will pay the taxes of the entire state and leave $1,000,000 a year surplus. And we, of Idaho, are permitting $1,000,000 a week, $52,000,000 a year, to pass through our state to the swine producers of the middle west, who ship their hogs through our state to our markets.

Cannot we, of Idaho, get and keep a lot of this money if we use our heads? We are hiring the farmers of Nebraska to grow corn for us and are paying them a profit for growing it and the railroad a big profit for delivering it to us, and we are permitting those corn growers of Nebraska and neighboring states to supply our markets with hogs. It looks like there is bad business some where along the line when such conditions are permitted to continue year after year.—Exchange.

IDAHO POTATOES WIN

Idaho is now in third place in the production of potatoes, being exceeded by Maine and Minnesota. It has forged ahead of Colorado, Michigan, and Wisconsin and left California behind. In number of cars shipped they stand as follows in a report issued by the government this week: Maine, 38,880; Minnesota, 23,233; Idaho, 18,271; Wisconsin, 15,422; Wisconsin, 15,344; Michigan, 14,193; California, 6,102.

According to E. R. Bennett, extension horticulturist of the state university, the value of Idaho potatoes which are sold to out-of-state buyers amounts to $20,000,000 annually, which means that this amount of money is a balance of trade in our favor and goes far in exchange of articles purchased outside the state.—Exchange.

THE NATIONAL GRANGE OPPOSES

Any weakening of the present prohibition law or of Federal or state enactments for the enforcement of same. Any change in present immigration restrictive laws. Further appropriations for new reclamation projects until an end appears of present conditions of more farm products than can be profitably marketed.

All Federal regulation of motor busses and trucks upon the public highways. Return of income tax surplus to tax payers; favoring instead the use of such surplus to reduce as rapidly as possible the public debt.

Concentrated control of the Federal Farm Loan system under the Treasury department. Continuation of "daylight saving" in any state or municipality, as inimicable to the general welfare. Invalidation of the Packer Consent Decree.

Lowering any tariff duties on foreign vegetable oils or fats which compete with American animal, vegetable and fish oils.

Any form of the sales tax. Putting rural mail delivery routes under a contract system.

COURT DEFINES ISSUE

BY JAMES D. WHILAN.

July 20, 1925, while the Scopes case was pending the writer took occasion to insist on the constitutionality of the law, while not approving some of its precise terms; and calling attention to the fact that many, including a leading legal magazine, took up space abusing fundamentalists, instead of discussing the legal issue, "which is whether the legislature has a legal and constitutional right to say that a certain line of study shall not be followed in public schools supported wholly by public funds."

The district trial court vindicated the criticism referred to, and now the supreme court of Tennessee has ruled the same way. The wisdom or unwisdom of the statute as enacted is still a live issue, but the constitutionality of the law on the ground stated seems pretty well vindicated.

Normally, the simple life is the strong life.

STATE GRANGE MASTER GIVES ANNUAL ADDRESS

and more a part of an organized husbandry, who will learn, work and think in the aggregate, and who have learned, that hard and costly lesson, that to strive alone is defeat and final failure.

In the past we had plentifully organized business and finance become the mind and voice of agriculture, but now find it behooving us to do our own thinking and incidentally speaking as well.

It seems necessary to again refer to the fact that the prosperity so recently heralded in the newspapers, is not ours and seemingly will not be so long as the products of the farm cannot be marketed in a market above cost of production or that the producer cannot so finance himself that he can take advantage of a "better" market or ready market, instead of the dumping prices of the present.

A correction of the present plight of the farmer, if it is to come, is a better financed and orderly marketing of our staple products. The success of agriculture depends greatly upon the personal conduct of the farmers by which the farmer develops his products to the consuming stage, the farm by his own efforts.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon Idaho's great possibilities in domestic dairying, poultry raising, and raising of eggs, including the problem, the grain problem, the forage problem, and an understanding of the hog and sheep on every farm. That saying of the National Grange which a century stands thus today: "We are not a nation of farmers, but we are a nation of farmers" is more true than we can cultivate, to enhance the weight of exports, selling in bulk and store on hoof and in fleece, less in the wool, and sheep and wool; to systematize our work, and calculate intelligently on re-investments, to disseminate the system, the fashion system and every other system tending to productivity and "wastefulness."

It is worthy of our best endeavor a working action on the part of our legislature and our own hearty cooperation that we complete our well begun work of making our Idaho dairy and poultry products more valuable in order to do this a law should be enacted whereby the state will bear at least one-third of the loss to those who have invested annually. It is worthy of note that the federal government has a law whereby they will pay one-third if the state will pay one-third. This will reduce the loss of the unfortunate owner to one-third instead of the entire loss as a most cases at present. The basic value of interest and value should be the market value of the animal in good health.

Husband and Wife

My husband ate apples and leaves the cores all over the house. — Jennie W.

WHAT DOES YOUR HUSBAND DO?

other than the maintenance of good jobs? If Idaho farmers could be more level of the excessive taxes they now pay, they would be able to produce more nearly just portion of the burden.

We should also consider at this season a situation which for the support of the public safety and improve the legislature to take immediate action in this matter.

It would seem the danger of killing the goose that laid the golden egg in the matter of increasing the tax on coal for highway purposes.

The wonderful success of the Ad. Con. P. Grange fair and a large number of other fairs in the state, either held or in part under the supervision of the Grange, prove the value of this worthy forward movement for agriculture conducted by agricultural organizations.

It is already being the success of last year may be but the beginning of greater advancement in agricultural production and the Grange may be "the state" by a consideration of the Grange wherever present in Idaho.

The National Grange continues to increase in its force and recognition as the spokesman for organized agriculture in America. Its offices at Washington are being constantly answered calls of legislators or government as to the needs and desires of the farmers in any section of the world.

The sixteenth annual session was held in Portland, Maine, in November last and was a telling effort of Grange solidarity. During part of the session the attendance of Grange members reached an high of 12,000, a record of 7,000 were held in the highest degree of the order.

The pronouncements at Portland were the most outstanding, clear and far-reaching ever given by the organizers of farmers of the nation.

Among the most outstanding were: Unabated efforts to secure a 70th extension of cooperative marketing principles.

Development of merchant trade, group ownership as far as possible.

System of taxation based upon ability to pay and benefits received. It is urged that stand in favor of direct primary.

Declares no liquor laws to be opposed on any ship beyond the 12-mile limit—anywhere else.

Thorough investigation of the entire railroad rate structure and a demand for re-organization of transportation.

Vigorous measures to stamp out tuberculosis in cattle.

Strict laws to restrict sale of imitation dairy products.

Declares for conscription of wealth and labor in time of water famine, and conscription of men for army service.

The National Grange is a timely opposition to the weakening of constitutionality of the laws, national and state for the enforcement of the same.

Declares federal government should keep its hands off the regulation of motor trucks of buses.

Opposes the return of surplus income tax to taxpayers, but the surplus should be used to pay the war debts.

Says—Keep farm loan system out of treasury department and leave it where it is.

Says—Don't reduce tariff on vegetable oils for other ingredients of foreign production used in the manufacture of dairy substitutes.

Says—No raise in parcel post rates or curtailment of service, but use foreign production used in the manufacture of dairy substitutes.

Says—No new reclamation projects until an end appears of present conditions of more farm products than can be profitably marketed.

Says—No department of education in federal government.

Says—No monopoly of water power rights granted to any one, either timber lands, or other natural resources remaining to all the people.

Says—No cancellation of foreign contracts.

A Body Sweetness that Even Perspiration Can't Spoil

All the trick laxatives in the world can't tempt people who understand the properties of cascara. A hundred different drugs will purge the bowels but a little natural cascara purifies the system also through the pores of the skin.

Don't get in the habit of taking Cascarets for constipation—or even for the relief of the bowels. If you have the delightful form in which to take Cascarets: children love them and the taste tempts most grown-ups to take "more." # Buhl Meeting Breaks All Previous Records

All records were broken yesterday in the attendance at the Christian church Bible school in Buhl. It was stated today by J. Elliott, Sunday school superintendent, that the attendance was 209 and when the count was taken there were 346 persons and before the school closed there were more than 200. Teachers at the last Bible school perhaps that ever assembled at Buhl. Our aim for next Sunday is 400. There were 23 additional pupils the day. The home was liberally packed for the morning and evening services. Dr. Straub is one of the greatest Bible preachers in the northwest. Prof. F. L. Cook endeavored to lead a large effort. This revival meeting promises to be the greatest that Buhl has ever experienced. The subject of the session for tonight was "A Washday in Samaria." There were more than 100 cars parked at the Christian church Sunday morning at the Bible school home and every particle of space was taken Monday night and many standing. Come and bring your friends and attend a real revival.
