AMERICAN DOG DERBY PLANS ASHTON RACES

Ashton Is Making Extensive Preparation for Big Race; First Prize of $1000 Was Offered Last Year and This Year Purses Will Be Larger; Dog Derby Is Scheduled for Feb. 22.

ASHTON, Idaho, Jan. 21.—The first dog race held in Ashton was held at Ashton yesterday when Dr. Harry C. Walker, American dog derby official veterinarian, passed five teams on official inspection. Officials of the Dog Race association, to ascertain that each team is free from disease before racing, will inspect all teams within the city limits for the big event on February 22. Dr. Walker has been dog race men for a number of years and watching the condition of the dogs that take part in this race very closely.

While in this section he inspected the team of Bill Trent last year's champion; Tom Kent's brand new team, Sam Taylor's racing Irish setter, Warren Corbridge's dog, and a number of police dogs and Harry Kennedy's Labrador, which are being used on the game warden's sled.

Kent Enters New Team. Present indications are that dog race fans will witness one of the best races this year that has ever been held. "Bill Trent's victory in the first half a dozen races, will enter a new young team, every dog of which is reported to be a speed demon. Kent has always made his best race with a new team and has a happy faculty of getting the most out of youngsters.

McCall Led Headly. Young Warren Brown of McCall, holder of second place in last year's race, has sent the information that he has a better team than the one he entered last year and that he needs to take home the first prize money this year.

Prize Money. Prizes money has not been announced yet this year, but it is understood it will be an large or larger than last year, when the first prize was $1000, second $500, third $200, and fourth $150. Snow conditions are ideal with no drifts and about sixteen inches of hard, packed snow for the running track.

Ashton itself is silently making preparations for the biggest race in its history. All vacant lots are being opened for monthly meetings, and the different concessions will have an opportunity to show their wares. Hereafter there has always been a number of vacant lots, buildings in the city which, club ladies and others have used as emergency eating houses, but this year all vacant lots will be cleared and eaters will have to look elsewhere to feed the public. This latter condition is evidence of the dog business now enjoyed by the dog race town.

CONFISCATORY LAND LAWS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—With the new displaced Mexican alien land law, increasing the tax, increasing the tax on United States-Mexican relations over oil and Nicaragua, unofficial efforts for an arbitration settlement were made.

Under Senator Doherty's severe criticism of the administration's present Central American policies, the senate foreign relations committee will consider the Robinson resolution for arbitration of the Mexican dispute. Secretary of State Kellogg is studying the proposal but so far refuses to commit himself to action. The Mexican government has not formally submitted the arbitration settlement originally made by President Calles. The alleged confiscatory land law, companion to the prototypal petroleum law, does not permit disposition of alien land with the case of individuals or for the benefit of corporations. But this coverage of the maintenance of the existence of the law is prejudicial to American properties.

High on Roll of Fame. According to Dr. Charles W. Elmer, a list of men prominent in education, the most illustrious in the world would include Adam Smith, Michael Faraday, John Stuart Mill, William Ellery Channing, Herbert Spencer, Charles Darwin, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Louis Pasteur.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Ban Johnson, president of the American League, a powerful figure in baseball for many years, seems certain to meet defeat when he encounters Commissioner K. M. Landis here Monday.

By HENRY L. PARRELL. NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Ban Johnson, president of the American League at $45,000 a year, will be removed from office next week, when the club owners of his circuit meet in Chicago to refer a suit brought by Johnson and Commissioner Landis.

While Chicago has been the recipient for the exposure of all the recent baseball scandals, the plans for the meeting of the veteran American League president have been discussed and decided upon in New York.

Up to a certain point the National League president, who has been the principal talk involved only the American League but when Johnson, with his heated attack on the committee of recent years, has been on a world series between the New York Giants and the New York Yankees, the National League owners swung to the drawer for their own.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Irron Hancock Johnson, president of the American League today denied that he had made statements that T. G. Crockett, former manager of the Cleveland club, and T. G. Cobb, former manager of the Boston club, had conspired for his competency.

FLYWEIGHT IS TWO TO ONE BET TO WIN FIGHT

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Phil Lahti, flyweight champion, was a 2 to 1 favorite in the betting today when he fought Clark, the 160-pound champion, when they meet tonight in McLeod's garden.

In compliance with the rules of championship boxing, Lahti, the world champion, and Clark, the challenger, will have to make the division weight of 112 pounds at the office of the New York boxing commission at 2 p. m.

Some of the older and better was placing a hope in the chance of the title on the belief that Lahti would have to weaken himself to make the weight.

Clark spent the night at his training camp in New Jersey and Charley Harvey, his American manager, said he could make the weight easily and would be at his best.

ASSESSORS OF IDAHO

The Bureau of Taxation should be re-organized, and that sufficient money shall be appropriated for the efficient maintenance of this bureau to the extent that two or more field men be employed by the state, and given power to co-operate with the county assessors in their work of assessing.

Whereas the said findings and assessments as made therein and after completing such investigation they later report their findings to the state board of equalization, to render such aid and assistance as may help said board in arriving at a better equalization of values as between the various counties of the state.

List Oppositors. And be it further resolved, that to any be referred as being opposed to the proposed amendments, and prevent laws on personal property from becoming a law upon real property.

And be it further resolved, that we recommend a constitutional amendment providing that the assessor be made the collector of all unsecured personal property taxes, thereby eliminating the large amount of delinquent and unpaid taxes which exist under the present system.

Whereas the said findings and assessments as made therein and after completing such investigation they later report their findings to the state board of equalization, to render such aid and assistance as may help said board in arriving at a better equalization of values as between the various counties of the state.

Re-organization of state equalization. It is recommended that the present organization of the state equalization be amended to define the equity in state lands for assessment purposes, so as to provide for an equal assessment of the same, thereby equalizing as compared with other lands of a similar nature in the district which it is located in, and that we believe it would be expedient to draft a law and present it to the legislature.

Wheat Oldest Food. Wheat no longer occurs in a wild state and its origin remains obscure, although it is known to have been an important food crop in ancient Egypt and in Palestine, also among the lake dwellers of Switzerland, wheat grains are found in numerous localities throughout the world. The earliest record of wheat ever known is present to the present by Great Britain, although the United States exceeds all other countries in the total annual output.

Radial Pipe Smoking. An ordinary pipe cannot be smoked in eighteen minutes, although Finnish pipe smokers who have craved the best of the pipe fill of a peculiar grade of tobacco have been known to smoke it in seven minutes.

Getting Best Out of Life. Those who put the least into life receive the least out of it. They are content with what they get out of it. Yet it is to be believed that you owe the world than anything else, and that there is greater joy to be given the best life is in you.—Ort.

Improved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for January 23 PRAYER IN CHRISTIAN LIFE. LESSON TEXT - Mark 11:18; 12:13-14. GOLDEN TEXT - Ask and it shall be given you; seek and ye shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you.

1. Jesus Praying in a Solitary Place (Mark 1:35). After a series of most strenuous oratory He retired to a lonely place to pray. He who the day before had shown His mighty power in casting out devils and healing diseases now privately weeps in His solitude.

2. His Prayer in Gethsemane (Mark 14:32-42). At this time of crisis He took with Him Peter, James and John. He prayed for an hour and sweated blood.

3. His Resignation (Mark 14:49-51). He knew that His death on the cross was the will of God. He accepted His fate with a calmness that was the result of His faith in the Father.

4. The Disciples Rebuked (Mark 14:52-54). He singled out Peter since he had been the loudest in proclaiming His resurrection.

5. Watch and Pray lest ye enter temptation. The only way to be able to stand in the time of trial is to be watching and praying.

6. The Lord's Prayer (Matt. 6:9-13). This model prayer for the disciples, it is believed, was given by Jesus to His disciples.

7. The Lord's Prayer (Matt. 6:9-13). This model prayer for the disciples, it is believed, was given by Jesus to His disciples.

BUILDING OF PROSPERITY ON A FIRM BASIS

Purchasing Power of the People Basis of National Prosperity—Present Unscientific Tax Laws Make for Business Depressions and Unemployment.

By CHARLES JOHNSON POST
CHARLES T. ROOT

PRODUCTION is the basis of national prosperity; and production and manufacture cannot exist unless such goods are purchased; they cannot be purchased unless there is in existence at the same time a purchasing power; and purchasing power is dependent upon the amount of value of production that is turned back to the nation in the form of wages. This is fundamental.

There are three fundamental problems confronting the business life and prosperity of this nation," said Mr. Root, President of the American Association for Taxation. "One, the maintenance and development of the purchasing power of our nation; Two, the vital necessity of reforming our present hodge-podge unscientific tax laws that are not only considerably diverting the annual purchasing power of the United States but are actually attacking it; Three, the getting rid of the vicious doctrine that unthinking business men and manufacturers often accept, that we must go through recurrent periods of business depression as normal incidents of business life."

Let us refer to the last mentioned at once. "Solomonly business men will talk of business depression as due to 'over-production' while at the same time the country is full of men and women who at least may buy the goods that the manufacturer makes. The term 'over-production' is misleading. As Professor Sumner of the Department of Economics at Yale said years ago, 'there is no such thing as over-production of goods; there is such a thing as over-production of goods at a price.' So the problem is, certainly, not one of over-production; it is one of under-consumption, or, to put it in a more business-like form, the problem is one of purchasing power. The purchasing power of the nation, not only of maintaining it but also of extending it. So far as we do this we shall stabilize the nation, and prevent the dying down of business in recurrent depressions.

"The common sense, and the needs of the people of the United States have been supplied. There can never be such a thing as over-production."

No Wages—No Buying

"But there can be such a thing as loss of purchasing power through the stipulation of wages, and through the short-sighted avarice of certain types of incompetent employers and the curious indifference of many of the lower-minded business men and even business groups, to the importance of preserving the purchasing power of the nation."

"If people cannot buy because wages are low, or there are no jobs at all through the depression of farm products bring small prices, and farming is depressed, or what use is the best of a nation's purchasing power to a manufacturer or business man? So he retroacts, and still further reduces the nation's purchasing power. It is so important that the business shall keep its chin above water in order to prevent total drowning; but to run the economic machine swimming on the basis that every now and then we must expect to be drenched or nearly so, is a sure way to swimmer ever won a race who was taught to swim on the theory that he must naturally expect to drown every hundred yards."

Ford's Great Book

"I want to say right here that I believe very emphatically in the book with Henry Ford's latest book, 'Today and Tomorrow', in which he advances the claim that the remedy for hard times is to raise wages and reduce prices. To raise wages is to raise the purchasing power of the country; and to reduce prices is to increase the amount of goods consumed and thus causing a greater volume of production. To lower costs in manufacturing that quantity production invariably develops. I believe that this book is one of the most important books that have been published in the field of business in recent years. It is a book that is destined, thinking business men can afford to pass it by."

Why? The only thing that has kept the United States prosperous since the Great War has been the fact that we have kept up our purchasing power. The only thing that with the high war-time wages, and this in turn has reacted to the manufacture of more goods—wilk stock, dresses, automobiles, and every form of necessity and luxury. What an absurdity! To say that pur purchasing power—the higher the (taxes) and the lower proportional by six purchasing power.

Destroying Taxes

"But our unscientific tax system does worse than this. For it not only leaves heavily the farmer who is able to do more purchasing power for the manufacturing markets of the country, but it favors with the premium of lower taxes the less industrious and less efficient farmer. Our unscientific tax system thereby puts a premium on inefficiency as well as a penalty of effective industry! Could anything be more unscientific or destructive to our national purchasing power?"

"And, from still another angle, this same unscientific tax system of ours is destructive of our national purchasing power for our unscientific tax system operates quite as destructively in cities whenever our purchasing power is diverted to pay for our taxes, against it and so weaken it. Observe the process. When any man erects a building or a place of property his taxes are levied against the building according to the local tax rate—approximately about 10 per cent per year. This makes the rent higher if it is a rented building, or the price higher, if it is built for sale, and thus leaves the market for its sale."

"But this is not the whole story of our present unscientific tax system in relation to that building. In the erection of that building a vast variety of products of manufacture have to be purchased and placed in every item that goes into the manufacture of those products—upon the buildings, machinery and corporation, producing the manufacture of every item that goes into the building. The building companies who have taken out of the ground the iron, lead, zinc, copper and tin that go into the beams and plumbing and various fixtures have paid a tax upon the process of their manufacture. Every item that goes into the building and factory, their buildings and factories, upon their income also and upon their franchise, and upon all productive processes of their industry. Then there is the lumber—a tax upon manufacturing, upon the health and safety, and their income and industry. And this tax is levied every year upon the manufacturing power of the nation. It is levied upon the manufacturer, upon whom he contributes to the complete house has had a tax levied against it at every stage of its manufacture through the unscientific tax levy against the business that fabricates it."

us man man to solemnly denounce the working men, or women, who revel in luxury above their earnings. "Phonographs," "Rugles" he exclaims. "Silks" is one of "under-consumption," or, to put it in a more business-like form, the problem is one of purchasing power. The purchasing power of the nation, not only of maintaining it but also of extending it. ing and purchasing power of the nation. No wonder we have recurrent business depressions; we have them whenever the vast consuming power of the nation is directed to the advantage of one—except the person who does not build. The trend in taxation is to restrict it. We place the premium of lower taxes upon those who do not develop industry and who do not assist in developing our national manufacturing power. The highest taxation is levied upon those who constitute the great market and purchasing power for our national business and manufacturing."

Let me illustrate. A farm, a dirt farmer's farm, has as its basic ratio, fertility. Fertility farms are the original fertility still existent gone. Each year the farmer, with his labor and by the purchase of fertilizers out of the savings from his past labor—must have his fertility renewed. The owner of a farm and value is composed of two elements—site or location value and productive or fertility value. The fertility value is often the part of the farm that is most valuable, and the condition in which the farmer has kept his buildings, herds and orchards and equipment.

"Well, what do we do under our present unscientific tax system? We levy taxes against the farmer's crops and taxes them, and we thereby leave him that much less to go into the purchasing power of the nation. The harder he labors in order to improve his annual changing power of this labor, while the tax on the location value of the land in the production of which labor is involved, does not lessen any, purchasing power, it would seem just for the benefit of business to revise our tax system so as to take the undesired tax burden from the farmer, leaving him each year to buy goods with, and to transfer this burden to city land, which can bear it without lessening the value of anyone's labor."

84 Per Cent Taxation!

"Could any system of taxation be less scientific or more hurtful to our national business? The tax percentage of these taxes negligible? I will refer you to an authoritative statement by Roger Babson in Forbes Magazine. The tax percentage of these taxes paid out by agriculture and related industries is 64 per cent and each year has in mind, in mining and quarrying, 44 per cent, in construction, 38 per cent, in finance, banking and insurance, 25 per cent. In wholesale and retail trade, 14 per cent, and in manufacturing as a whole, 14 per cent."

"These figures are startling. For, as a large business man knows, taxes are paid out of surplus, and not out of gross income. In other words, these present unscientific taxes take up the surplus income of individuals—upon that portion of their earnings which form the basis of their savings and investment in our national markets. Our present tax systems strike directly at our annual purchasing power, and they do so by taking at the surplus that is added to the capital fund by which business expands and greater economic efficiency is attained."

"It is no wonder that Roger Babson, one of the most widely known and respected business men in the world, has also recently said with emphasis that our tax systems are 'woolly-witted' and 'short-sighted.' He points out the serious danger of the fact that 'directly or indirectly, the cost of government surplus is a heavy proportion of earnings of the individual and thereby vitally affects recreational and educational life, investment, building up of savings, and the attainment of financial independence.' For, as he specifically points out, 'Taxes are paid from surplus rather than from income, and the more it goes on, the more every business man would do well to read and think over the question of which I have given. I cannot help looking at our increasing local taxation as extremely ill-advised in its economic effect, and as a serious obstacle to the public's career and neglectful in its early stages of this economic danger and like many a patient who has been told to stop the medicine is far advanced. Everything possible about taxation, be done to improve upon the people's real facts about taxation—that it menaces both rich and poor, the well-to-do and those of the middle class. Some economic evils but only a part of the people part of the time. But short-sighted and narrow, the tax system is a scourge that preys upon all the people all the time."

Scientific Taxes Needed

"Certainly these are important facts. The present tax system is being in impractical idealisms. Roger Babson is a business analyst whose counsel is sought by many of the nation's leading economists and business matters."

"And again, we have the hand of the Department of Economics of Yale University, Professor Irving Fisher:

"'Drumhough, says Professor Fisher, 'of Yale, is so important a change should not be made abruptly.' I favor the gradual reduction, so far as possible, of the tax burden on industry and labor, taking instead the economic trust of the bare land."

GREATEST MEET OF THE DAHO GRANGE - DEAL

Executive Committee Meets Today to Frame Legislation Based on Recommendations of State Convention, Which Closed Last Night.

The executive committee of the Idaho State Grange met this morning at the Rockwood Hotel, presided over by Chairman George B. Fletcher of Turley, to pull into shape the resolutions to legislative bodies of the organization of the various resolutions adopted by the state convention which closed last night.

Grange Resolutions. The substance of resolutions, in addition to the electric and milk tax, included recommendations that the tax be distributed among counties and highway district, on the following basis: one-fourth for each county, one-fourth for population, one-fourth for assessed valuation, and one-fourth for number of farm units.

The legislative committee suggested by the Idaho State Dairyman's association regarding oleomargarine and truth in advertising farm products was endorsed. The committee also endorsed the resolution of the Snake river and the Twin Falls Pomona resolutions relating to an agreement between growers and dealers and the resolution of standardization and grade rules were endorsed. These resolutions favor the retention and enforcement of the three grade plan, U. S. No. 1, 2 and commercial. Resolutions favoring a law making it trespass to hunt or trap on lands without written permission of owner were passed.

Farm Relief Plans. A. S. Goss spoke in favor of the debtors bounty plan and G. P. Mix in favor of the debtors' exemption bill which he helped draft. The Grange as such did not go record in favor of either.

The Grange also went on record in favor of state-wide campaign under direction of the state commissioner of agriculture for eradication of weeds and insects. Legislation to provide penalty under the criminal statutes for failure on the part of landowners to put forth reasonable effort to eradicate and control such weeds. It also endorsed a bill for legislation to require counties and highway districts to control weeds on highways. The state grange action in this regard was an endorsement of resolutions lately adopted by Twin Falls county stockholders and Twin Falls county Pomona members.

The next meeting will be held in Boise in 1925. At that time the biennial election of officers will be held.

Blue Moon to Shine on School Piano

"Once in a Blue Moon," the high school opera to be presented on the evening of February 4 at 8:15 in the high school auditorium, and for which extensive preparations are being made, will be in the nature of a benefit, the proceeds to be used in aid to purchase a new piano for the school.

Miss Eva M. Dunagan, vocal instructor in the high school, is directing the entertainment and Mr. Matthews and the orchestra will furnish instrumental selections as well as the accompaniment to vocal numbers. Solo groups of the high school are endeavoring to make this one of the featured activities of the school year.

The opera is characterized as a romance melodrama and is dramatically expressed, and comprises a cast of more than forty young artists and fellows who are fast in speaking and delineating roles or chorus groups.

SECURITY TAKES SIBBEN TENDS TO ONE BELOW

Merely on his famous journey to the bottom of the sea, he indulged in song and story, had nothing on the mercury as a soft descender last night. Started to pull into shape the resolutions to legislative bodies of the organization of the various resolutions adopted by the state convention which closed last night.

Former Twin Falls Man Helped by Pull of Son with Court

How little Gabe Star, son of a former Twin Falls man, got his father out of payment of a fine for breaking the traffic regulations, is told in the San Francisco Examiner, which makes a feature story of the event, and publishes the picture of the younger Star with his mother. The story reads: "Baby Gabe Star, 2-year-old son of Gabe Star, a hooligan at the Fairmont Hotel, 'talked' the judge out of his fine on a speeding charge yesterday morning in Police Court. Incidentally, he talked himself into a 'charismatic' present, and this is how it happened. The story reads: 'The father had been arrested for driving his car thirty-five miles an hour and was scheduled to appear in Police Court on a speeding charge yesterday morning. He was also due at work that morning so Men Star and Baby Gabe went to court.

The judge had many cases. 'Next case, Gabe Star, charged with speeding,' he said in crisp judicial tones. 'My husband is working and cannot appear so I am here to plead guilty for him,' said a young woman, stopping forward with an infant in her arms.

Here Baby Gabe took a hand. 'Goo,' he chattered, reaching a chubby hand for his mother's 'Goo.' and then smiled at the judge. The judge had a great deal of his judicial dignity. He even smiled. The fine is $10, but I will let you off if you do not promise to buy that baby a Christmas present with it,' he said.

'You can just let Gabe will be his present,' intoned Mrs. Star. 'Therefore, Santa Claus, not a deaf gentleman with whiskers, but a deaf old woman, is sending a present, will make Baby Gabe jumpy on Christmas.

Patience. It is the virtue of doves, saints and cats, consisting (according to the dictionary) of a patient and unobtrusive persistence. And hope, in a future time, is a belief in a future time. In a German book I read lately: "To lighten your burden, and patience to make this man, in Los Angeles Times."

THREE BUSHELS OF SPUDS A PIECE

With another short potato crop in 1923 and high prices, making two profitable seasons for the grower, there is danger of an excessive acreage and overproduction in 1924, says the Sears-Robuck Agricultural Foundation in a review of the potato situation. The crop of 1923 totaled 37,000,000 bushels, averaging 85 percent in quality, as compared with 325,405,000 bushels produced last year, averaging 82 percent in quality. The five-year average crop amounts to 39,422,000 bushels and the ten-year average quality has been 87.5 per cent, the present crop is not only short in quantity, but below the average in quality. A little over three bushels per capita is produced in the present crop. Total average of 1923 was 3,163,000 against 3,222,000 in 1922, an increase of 2.2 per cent. The average acreage for the past five years has been 3,027,000, so that the 1923 average was only 8.6 per cent of the average. The average yield was 11.1 bushels per acre against 10.6 last year. Due to the short crop of last year potato prices rose to $3.20 per hundredweight last April, but the heavy crop of early potatoes forced a decline that reached $1.35 per hundredweight in July, a decrease of 58.5 per cent. Since July prices worked irregularly upward and winter prices promise to be satisfactory to growers, the Foundation states, although they will not average as high as last season. Weekly crop shipments declined to 2,704 cars in April, but in October the average in the new crop movement was reached, a weekly record of 3,000 cars was made.
