NATIONS NOW MUST ARRANGE THEIR RESOURCES TO STAND BURDENS OF PREPAREDNESS

Today the first issue of the Times to be published by its new owner is being read by the residents of Twin Falls and southern Idaho. From this day on the Times is under different management—different personnel and methods—different aims and purposes—different in feeling, policy and principle.

We ask the public to carefully scrutinize the NEW Times—many changes have been made and many more will be made which cannot be effected in a day. We are making these changes to keep in step with and abreast of the constantly improving methods of journalism.

In our faith in Twin Falls and the surrounding country, with its vast resources and remarkable opportunity for newspaper expansion, may be found our reason for choosing this location. The changes you see in your paper have been made with an eye open to development and the production of something finer. We believe Twin Falls and southern Idaho have a future and a promise in any section of the country. Our sincere desire is to give the public not only a paper which it reads, but one in which it believes. Hand in hand with attainment of this objective will come success for this newspaper.

A fixed editorial policy on matters political can not be announced. Our opinions and sympathies on such matter will be given as the question arises—after a careful consideration of its merits and with the sole object of public weal and the mass of heart. The Times will henceforth be an independent paper in action as well as name.

With a lack of any motive other than the establishing of a permanent business and aiding in everything that makes for progress and development, and with the total lack of the necessity for us to cater to any person or organization, it is our belief that with these tenets of a foundation we can offer the public a newspaper which it may honestly call its own.

The daily newspaper is essentially a part of the life of every individual in this highly progressive age. It is virtually the only medium through which the general public may become conversant with happenings all over the world—its editorial columns are the most widely circulated medium through which opinions are set forth on matters of general interest.

Any newspaper which through selfish reasons or required allegiance to some financial interest distorts the news or through its editorial columns endeavors to serve solely the owner's desires or the desires of those with whom he is affiliated—such a newspaper has violated its trust.

We hope to make the Times honestly democratic, dedicated to the cause of the public, in brief a paper which will work for the people in all sincerity of purpose.

That was the way a completed conference finally outlined the situation today after the first 10 days' sessions of the League of Nations preparatory disarmament conference here. The fact, they explained, was not with the League, but was that of the nations who refuse to disarm.

"HATPIN HULLER"

Butler Keaton's new super-comedy "Hatpin Huller," which comes to the Orpheum theatre today and tomorrow, was produced for Joseph M. Schenck. A dominant figure in the motion picture industry and whose name for years has been regarded by exhibitors throughout the world as a synonym for cleanliness, decency, low per cent entertainment and unexcelled box office values, Mr. Schenck, who also produced the "Garden and the Garden" pictures and is the chairman of the board of directors of United Artists, whom indulges in recollections of the past, says that "Hatpin Huller" is his greatest comedy triumph and recommends it without reserve.

Like the last clear note of a violin solo the perfect finish of a flawless succession of entrancing melodies, "The Garden" is the last of a series of memorable stories by that beloved writer, the late Gene Stratton-Porter. The most remarkable of all the famous author's books has been ordered by P. B. O. and may now be seen at the Idaho theatre where it is playing. But the last theme touched and tomorrow's matinee and evening. The engaging characters with their tremendously interesting problems have been fitted with fully by one who knew intimately the hearts of the late writer, namely J. Lee Meahan, Mrs. Porter's son-in-law. Mr. Meahan is also responsible for the most faithful screen reproductions of the author's works, "Bird of the Lumberland," "The Keeper of the Bees," and "Ladies," which was just recently released. "The Garden" surpasses these worthy predecessors and achieves a new mark in excellence.

After calling attention to the many things taught the boy in camp life, Mr. McLaughlin summed up his talk by pointing out that much effort is being put forth to develop boys who are cheerful, brave, resourceful, physically strong, mentally alert and morally straight." Guests of the club were: Ralph H. Miner of Twin Falls and George H. Parker, director of the Bureau of Forestry of the State Department of Idaho.

Strange Food

A popular table delicacy in China is "pidan," which is made by preserving fresh ducks' eggs in a paste made from soda, strass ash, table salt, boiling water and shelled lime. The pidan is stored for a month before being used. Experimenters have shown that there is as much vitamin A in pidan as in fresh eggs, but vitamin B is entirely destroyed by the process.

UNITED STATES FLEET'S MOCK WAR CONTINUES

WITH ENEMY STATES FLEET IN CARIBBEAN WATERS, April 1 (UP)—The United States fleet and its imagined enemy, in reality another section of the fleet, will were locked in mock combat today in the western Caribbean sea, neither side able to gain an advantage after four days of mimic naval warfare.

The strategical problem has developed into one of the most largely and valuable in naval history. Units of the opposing forces are acrobatic for and while jockeying for an advantage which would scanalize a perfect victory.

The U. S. S. Seattle, flagship of the fleet, is located today about 125 miles southwest of Jamaica.

The inability of either side to maneuver into a key position has aroused keen rivalry in the opposing forces, and is regarded as reflecting great credit on the commanding officers.

SPORTS

CHANCES FOR ATHLETICS ARE GOOD THIS YEAR

By HENRY L. FARRHILL.
(United Press Correspondent)
NEW YORK, April 1.—Demand chances of the Philadelphia Athletics in the 1932 American League race would be stronger if Connie Mack had the greatest infield in history, the strongest outfield of all times, a pitching staff that was certain for ten games and the pick of all the catchers in captivity.

But competent observers who have seen the team in camp and studied the possibilities of the eleven players Mack is near a club to win with what has as any club can be in this year, even without the stars of superlatives.

The strength of the Athletics rests principally in the quantity of good players and the quality of the team is stronger than its reserves" can be applied.

With the exception of first base, Mack has two great ball players for every position on the team and the first basemen are not slouches.

He has two great ball players for first base; Collins and Hibbard for second base; Haley and Galloway for shortstop; Dykes and Hale for third base; and Ty Cobb, Zach Wheat, Lamar, French, Simmons and a couple of others for the outfield.

It is true that Cobb, Collins and Wheat are past the years when they can be counted on for daily work but they will not have to be used in every game and the value as pinch hitters would be great for them around Ebbsie, Gray, Rommel, Graves, Quinn, Walberg, Patz and other young and less tried pitchers are an impressive company.

The catching staff, Cochran, Perkins, and Fox, in perhaps the strongest in baseball. There ought to be sufficient high powered thinking and strategy from a board consisting of Mack, Ed Gleason, Cobb, Collins and Wheat. Perhaps there will be too much thinking for the best interest of the club, but it is in keeping with the facts to figure that Connie Mack will be the chief thinker and he has been in baseball long enough to be a fair master mind.

Alsike and Soy Beans Good as Protein Feed

Many farmers are needing a hay crop and have turned to alsike and soy beans. These are also good as a protein feed. Both will grow in a relatively dry soil, and both are able to hold their own in a wet soil. Alsike is financially able to supply enough lime so that the soil will raise sufficient protein for its feeding needs.

Fortunately, there are two good legumes that will help out a farmer who finds himself in this fix. These are alsike clover and soy beans.

Both will grow in a relatively dry soil, and both are able to hold their own in a wet soil. Alsike is financially able to supply enough lime so that the soil will raise sufficient protein for its feeding needs.

DISCUSS U. S. ACTING WITH OTHER POWERS

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The cabinet will discuss today whether or the United States shall act alone or jointly with the powers, in protesting the recent Nanking riots and demanding future guarantees from the Chinese national government.

American minister John Van A. MacMurray, as reported yesterday exclusively by the United Press, has submitted to President Coolidge joint draft demands to the nationalists, which he prepared with the British and Japanese ministers in Peking.

In the face of complete State department silence on the matter, it is not known whether Secretary Kellogg will advise the president and cabinet to approve joint diplomatic action.

The draft submitted by MacMurray at the secret Tokyo conference is understood to have been less sweeping in its demands than the British draft and the joint form now being considered here is said to have MacMurray's approval.

Copies of the joint draft demands have also been submitted in the London and Tokyo governments.

Great Britain is understood to favor a foreign blockade on the Yangtze river and other international territory unless the nationalists make a suitable indemnity for Nanking and enforce protection of foreign lives and property in the future.

Whether Great Britain is prepared to take such action alone is not known, but it is known the London government, if necessary, will sacrifice alleged extreme territory measures as a price of obtaining joint action by the powers.

President Coolidge is described as determined to support present American naval and military precautionary measures with diplomatic action covering indemnities for past outrages and adequate guarantees but as unwilling to take any action which might tend to alien this government on one side or the other.

Farm Hints

Get a stump a day, it will help make the farm pay.

Good care and regular overhauling will materially extend the life, and add to the usefulness of farm equipment.

Head lettuce cannot stand hot dry weather, so the plants should always be started early in a holed or cold frame, hardened off by leaving the glass off during mild weather.

From a soil-fertility standpoint, not much dependence could be placed on any beans grown in corn. For such purposes they would probably not be worth the corn they would displace.

Took Rich Territory
On September 25, 1868, Gen. Zebulon Pike, at an Indian village of the Pawnees, Kansas, caused the Spanish flag to be lowered and the United States flag to be raised. This was the actual act of possession of the country west of Missouri.

WEED CONTROL ADVICE ASKED OF BROSSARD

Colorado Man Asks Information About Controlling Weeds; Montana County Agent Wants Wheat Samples.

That the fame of Twin Falls county as a center of up-to-date production and modern agricultural methods is widespread is indicated by two letters received today by the county agricultural agent, R. E. Brossard; one from Montrose, Colo., asking for information regarding methods of weed control, and the other from Missoula, Mont., asking for certified Federation and Dickow wheat.

W. M. Oliphant, county extension agent at Missoula, wants both Federation and Dickow wheat for experiments there, saying that Twin Falls certified grain has received the endorsement of the state agricultural department. Considerable quantities of both of these wheats have been purchased by farmers in Wyoming, Utah and Idaho, and the demand is increasing steadily.

The Twin Falls county agent, R. E. Brossard, is taking steps to comply with both requests.

Do You Know All the Legend Behind April Fool's Day?

This is All Fool's day, a celebration in which we are all supposed to take part in spirit if not in fact, by reason of our day being April. It is not because of stupidity.

The origin of the custom of deceiving folks on the first day of each year is not definitely known. During the eighteenth century it was contended in England, but merely popularly, but in the Middle Ages, the custom of the "Lauding Father" (Father) that the custom had its genesis at the time of the Spanish deluge, and that those sent on foot's errands were lured into the traps which Noah sent forth to find land before the earth had dried and which brought back the flood. It was said that the custom was a reminder of the preservation of the human race from the inundation. It was further held that the smaller customs prevailed in other continents than Europe, for instance, in India, where pranks are played on the first day of the year.

The victims of April Fool jokes in France are called "April fish," meaning that they are easily caught. It is from this that we have derived our popular expression, "You poor fish."
