FRANCE GIVES BIG FAREWELL TO LINDBERGH

Sirens Scream, People Cheer As Aerial Hero Leaves For Home.

By United Press
CHERBOURG, France, June 4.—The United States cruiser Memphis sailed at 4 p. m. today for Washington with Captain Charles A. Lindbergh aboard. Lindbergh spent hours in the cockpit of his airplane, scattered tonight in which the lowly and those of high estate combined to honor the hero of the greatest sporting event of modern times.

The Memphis raised her anchor and sailed for Washington with Lindbergh aboard at 4 p. m. (11 a. m. eastern daylight time). The vessel has orders to reach Washington June 11.

A gigantic chocolate cake, bearing a replica of Lindbergh's plane, and large enough for every member of the Memphis's crew to have a slice, was put aboard the cruiser today.

Mother's Picture Her Hero.

A photograph of Mrs. Lindbergh was placed above the head of his bunk.

The crew was cautioned against making the flier for photographs.

Lindbergh may fly to his home during his stop in Washington. The Memphis is equipped with planes whose wings collapse and a catapult. The airplane has never been shot from such a contrivance so far as is known.

The "Spirit of St. Louis" aboard the Memphis is in perfect condition. The craft was delivered at Gosport, England, and shipped to Southampton, where the Memphis picked it up.

Declare Holiday.

Cherbourg declared holiday in Lindbergh's honor. The ferries took excursions to the Memphis, and thousands of people gathered to witness the families of Captains Nungesser and Galt.

The Memphis flier was escorted to the Cherbourg city harbor soon as he and the motor arrived from the Lehigh.

When Paris Welcomed 'Lucky'

These first actual photographs to reach this country from Paris give a hint of the acclaim with which the French capital greeted Lindbergh. Below are shown the dense throng below the lower balcony and a chain of French troops guarding his airplane, attached to it. (Copyright, 1927, N. E. A.)

COMBINED U. S. FLEETS ROAR OUT ASK CONGRESS HALT FLOODS

NORFOLK, Va., June 4.—President Coolidge, as commander-in-chief, today reviewed the nation's sea armaments, the combined Atlantic and Pacific fleets, from the bridge of the Mayflower, when he watched the signals of the Mayflower as she passed over Chesapeake Bay in the sea, their heavy guns rolling out brilliant, thunderous boom in salute.

It was the most elaborate review in the country's history. By ones and twos—for some of the smaller craft went by in couples, they paraded past in their bright uniforms. The bands playing, officers and crew, in resplendent dress uniforms, standing proudly at attention as they passed their commander-in-chief.

Two-hour parade. For over two hours they passed—battleships, cruisers, submarine fleet-carriers, auxiliary vessels, all the units of modern sea warfare, including marines and two F-1 levelled somewhat by the gay colored pennants which fluttered in the breeze; the brilliant uniforms, the flashing military music which rippled over the waters of the bay, in intermittent snatches.

The approach of the sea forces, the combined Atlantic and Pacific fleets, which suddenly appeared overhead the Mayflower, after noon, flying in battle formation, passing above the President, they were ordered to turn right, they cleared back towards their base, in a long line above the Mayflower, which were moving out to sea, occasionally blotted from sight by the Mayflower.

Thousands of persons were attracted to the scene.

IBABO
Weather report—Rain, combined with local heavy showers and rolls of thunderous applause to continue until Monday night.

In other words, Douglas MacLean's latest Paramount comedy, "Let It Rain," arrives at the Idaho theatre to a man and not the weather. "Let It Rain" is a slow, easy-going comedy, who believes in getting things done, and not going after them. It is a comedy that will be a hit and a thriller but does the same. Obviously, the woman's come unless he proves his worth and that's where "Let It Rain" sets off to a flying start.

"Let It Rain," with another "Doug MacLean," is said to be even better than the star's most recent success, "Hull That Lion," "Seven Keys to Baldpate" and "That's My Baby." Shirley Mason, recently known as "Kitty Kelly," plays the lone feminine part. Eddie Collins, director of some of Jackie Coogan's finest films, makes his Paramount debut.

ORPHEUM
Doris Reardon, Lloyd Hughes and Louise Fazenda, at their very best, in a rollicking First National comedy-drama, "Lover at Play," will have the bill at the Orpheum theatre to-morrow.

Billie McCollough, Virginia Lee Corbin, Hullah Conley, John Patrick, Edna Wales and Tom Ricketts will be in support.

The story deals with the inheritance of six million dollars by the heroine, who must marry a man that meets with the favor of her disinherited relatives before she can get the money. She shows a great ingenuity in devising ways of forcing their decision in favor of the man she loves—but gets herself into hot water through her efforts, right up to the climax, where she gives up the six million to get the man.

Wedding Tears
At last it has been determined why a girl cries at a wedding. It is because she wants the groom for her husband, she's glad she didn't get him, she's delighted that the bride got him, she's sorry for her sake that she did, or her aches hurt.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

OAKLAND CONQUERS ROUGH MULE TRAIL

Nerve, backbone, daring, have usually been regarded the traditional heritage of man. That may be so, or it may be that women, through the ages, have seldom had the opportunity to learn whether or not they possessed these qualities. Certainly in the last decade women, through their many daring exploits in industrial occupations and sports, have challenged the theory.

Miss Betty Teitel of Tulsa, Oklahoma, recently challenged this idea with a thrill all her own when she started out on a mule trail for the bottom states at the Drake under-riding party. This car, a popular scenic spot near Manitou, according to old timers, this car was the only one seen on the floor of Box Canyon.

The drive down the tortuous, twist-and-turn mule trail, a route used by tourists and thrill seekers on mule back, required half a day. The return was even more difficult than the descent. Miss Teitel says, "I was supposed when I was told by a man, whose identity I cannot say was a habit, that my car was the first one to ever make it to the bottom," she said. "Even then I didn't know for several days that I was the only person who ever made the drive, there had attempted they told me but gave it up before they reached half way."

CHRYSLER EXPORTS GROWING RAPIDLY

Evidence of pronounced improvement in world trade conditions is seen by Chrysler officials in marked gains which their recent export business has been registering over even the high totals it reached in 1925.

Chrysler overseas sales during March were the largest in any month of the company's history. It is announced, and the first three months of 1927 ran far ahead of any previous Chrysler quarter.

March gains represented an increase of 86.5 per cent over the same month last year, it is stated, while the first quarter of 1927 was 74.1 per cent above the first three months of 1925, which marked a high point in Chrysler exports until the present totals were recorded.

A feature of the export flurry, according to the Chrysler officials, is the fact that orders are being received in heavier volume from practically every part of the world, indicating an encouraging revival of prosperity on a widespread basis.

SPRAY MUST BE ON APPLES NEXT TUESDAY

Horticultural Inspector Urges Immediate Action to Destroy Pests in Orchards

Necessary for spraying to be finished not later than June 15 is strongly urged by Dr. V. Olipson, district horticulturalist who says that worms will be entering the apples about that date. In case early spray has not been used, he urges adding a one per cent oil to the spray to be applied now.

The statement of Mr. Olipson reads: "A careful check of the trees on the tract shows that the codling moths, which cause the wormy apples. This means that the eggs have already been laid and warmer weather will not only hasten the hatching of the eggs already laid but will stimulate the depositing of a large number of eggs by moths which have been practically dormant as to egg laying thus far on account of the unfavorable temperatures."

"Growers who have failed to apply the early spray, which protects the blossom end of the apple from worm invasion during the entire season, will undoubtedly gain some benefit by adding one per cent kerosene oil to this spray; this oil will not oxidize so well."

"Six gallons of lead arsenate to each 500 gallons of water in the if windy weather prevails, growers are urged to spray at least one side of the trees, the other side when the weather permits."

"Practically all orchards near the tract show some leaf hopper infestation. Many growers are not familiar with this small, light green insect, which spends most of its time under the leaves. They not only suck the juices from the leaves during the summer, but in the fall, unless checked, leave a deposit of unappetizing specks on the apples, the home beauties suffering most but other varieties in proportion. This same insect causes them to be rejected from the extra fine grade which requires a clean apple grade."

"These pests are very difficult to be controlled by the application of one half pint of nicotine and one half per cent of nicotine oil content to the usual lead arsenate spray. All foliage must

THE PROHIBITION SHAKEUP

The first step in the latest reorganization of the prohibition enforcement department was taken yesterday by Dr. James M. Doran, high commissioner of the powers back of the new drive to bring about general observance of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The first move in Mr. Doran's action was to name Mr. H. H. H. of California to succeed James J. James as deputy dry commissioner and he will have complete charge of all administrative work of the bureau.

Then came the announcement that the country would be divided into three districts with three supervisors in the field instead of five zones as at present.

There has been much speculation about what has caused the recent reorganization of the prohibition unit which followed the resignation of General Andrews from the post of Commissioner. It was said that Andrews was favored by the Anti-Saloon league and the drys. He gave as the reason for resigning that he desired to devote all of his time to private business. He will step out of office August 1.

Despite Mr. Andrews' denial of reports that there was friction between him and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who has the final word on prohibition matters, and who is reported to be none too "dry," these reports persist in Washington. Stories among newspapermen, who are nearly always on the "inside" of affairs, were to the effect that Mr. Andrews did not receive the kind of support he desired.

It is, indeed, regrettable, if Mr. Andrews really was putting forth every effort to make the country more dry, that he was not given real backing, if the reports were true.

On the other hand, there were many stories around Washington to the effect that Mr. Andrews was not as strong for full enforcement of the law as he said he was. Talk from these same sources was to the effect that Andrews was extravagant and wanted full enforcement of the law.

Which story is correct? The world probably will never know. It seems to be another division among politicians although all can earnestly declare that everything is harmonious.

The citizens at large, particularly the majority who favor complete enforcement of the law, are becoming weary of reading reports every two or three months of a "Big Shakeup" in the enforcement department. No sooner are the new officials confirmed and sent in their swivel chairs than they are jarred out of them and another set comes upon the scene.

Then there are revisions of the zones, the forces are rearranged and it is announced that a drastic, smashing, slashing campaign will be launched to stop border leaks and to drive the manufacturers of moonshine out of business.

What is the cause of all of this disturbance? Is not the prohibition law of our stiffest fibers and an amendment to the Constitution? Certainly so. Then why the trouble in enforcing the law? Why not enforce it? Why do commissioners, enforced agents and what-not beat around the bush?

The law is the law and should be upheld the same as the statutes against murder, felony, forgery and all other crimes and the official who fails to do so is committing just as much of a crime as the man who forges a check.

The claim is made that it is impossible to enforce the prohibition law in Chicago. The War City changed 1,000 chiefs several billion law. The same claim was made in connection with the wave of times but the hand of politics and other influences still carried on their work. Finally the situation became so grave that Chicago resembled a battle field instead of a city. Another change was made. The big Chicago battle steamer James disappeared from the front pages of the newspapers. There still is murder now and then but the number is below the normal average for a city the size of Chicago.

What happened? They moved a man with the backbone to chase the gunmen out of the city or to render them non-combative. The new man was given a free hand. He did what he said he would do when he took the oath of office.

The same thing can and should be done in connection with the prohibition law.

LINDBERGH'S LIFE

The story of America's Hero, the first man to fly from New York to Paris in a non-stop trip.

By MORRIS BELLEVUE CRAVY United Press Staff Correspondent. Copyright 1927 by United Press.

CHAPTER 7 To the people of Little Falls, Minn., the name of Charles G. Lindbergh is a name that has become a legend.

His flight to Paris was but a development of the days when he would scribble about the bottom of a note. He had made himself and it would take far more than any other boy could make one that.

Then, according to your layman friend, when Charles had moved the efficiency of his latest effort in the manufacture of parachute, he would do it by bicycle into a tree, make it fall, and climb onto it, sitting there for a few minutes.

Always Experimenting Charles Lindbergh was always experimenting. He was always trying to do something that was new.

His first airplane was a biplane that he had made himself. It was a simple affair, but it was his own work.

Never Nailed Girls He never paid any attention to the girls in school. He was a quiet, unassuming boy.

At high school Lindbergh was a quiet student. He was always interested in flying and in the mechanics of things.

His father, a farmer, bought him a bicycle when he was about 10 years of age. He soon became a familiar sight riding a bicycle up and down the hill.

His mother was a woman of many talents. She was a good cook and a good housewife. She was also a good mother.

His father was a man of many talents. He was a good farmer and a good businessman. He was also a good father.

Wide trimmed hair bits in black and in color are seen in numbers at the time of smart hotels.

To people of Little Falls it was interesting to note that the night before Lindbergh started for Paris, he was in the city.

Special Dispatch to The Times
OGDEN, June 4.—The Twin Falls Bruins received good pitching in the game here yesterday when the Gardeners won by a score of 5 to 4, but errors of the visitors in the fifth inning, which with the fact that they could not hit the local pitcher opportunity in the ninth, led to their downfall.

Twin Falls scored one run in the second inning to start the counting, but Ogden came back with four in the fourth and added another in the fifth. The Bruins made a big rally in the sixth but fell one run short by score three.

Hickok on the mound for Twin Falls held Ogden to five hits and struck out three men. Averkamp for Ogden allowed seven hits and struck out only one man.

The only extra base smash of the afternoon was gathered by Horton of Twin Falls on five hits and struck out three men.

Dundee Takes Welter Crown From Pete Latzo

By HENRY L. FARRER
 United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, June 4.—Hatting and punching with a devastating force, Joe Dundee of Baltimore won the welterweight championship here last night in a 15 round decision over Pete Latzo of Chicago.

Dundee started fast and scored over Latzo who is known to be a slow starter. Dundee sat stilled in the third and fourth rounds. In the fifth Latzo seemed to be feeding him from a bottle of armature pills.

From then on he was a weak and weaker, and in the seventh round Dundee landed a punch to the stomach on Joe that Latzo can't recall the time of, and before he came off the ropes.

Cleveland hit Pete hard in the first inning to score three runs which was sufficient margin for them to win over Philadelphia, 3 to 1. Miller kept the seven Atlanta hits well scattered.

The Chicago White Sox were out 13 to 8 but their hits came at timely points and they defeated Boston 5 to 1, raising on the New York Yankees in the American League race.

Tommy Thomas, pitcher for the Sox, hit a home run. It was Thomas' 10th victory of the year.

Twenty-six hits were registered in the 5 to 4 victory that the Boston Braves won over the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs outlast the Braves 14 to 10 but the hits were kept scattered. Chicago used four pitchers and Boston used two.

A REMARKABLE NEW SIX
by DODGE BROTHERS

A new line of Sixes by Dodge Brothers is presented to the public today.

It has been rumored, and hoped, for years that Dodge Brothers would ultimately produce such a line—more refined and, of course, higher in cost than their present car.

To combine the sturdy worth of Dodge Brothers standard product with those refinements which greater cost permits, could not fail, it was conceded, to produce a more car of unique distinction and finesse.

The Senior Line is Dodge Brothers answer to that demand—and Dodge Brothers have answered well.

These are remarkable cars. Brilliantly vital and lively—surprisingly quiet—impressively smart. And built, like all Dodge Brothers motor cars, for years of dependable service.

See one and drive it and you will marvel that performance of this quality and character could be provided at a price so low.

BUHL WAITS FURTHER WORD ON CLEAR LAKES SITUATION

Explanatory Letter Concerning Abandonment of Work By Development Syndicate Is Expected This Afternoon; Opinion Is Expressed That Bond Election Will Be Held Tuesday.

Special Dispatch to The Times
TWIN FALLS, June 4.—The local city council will await arrival of an explanatory letter promised in the telegraphic notification of abandonment of Clear Lakes development before deciding on what action to take relative to whether the bond election will be held on Tuesday, it was stated by Councilman L. J. Johnson today. The letter is expected to arrive this afternoon. Mr. Johnson said that in his opinion no action would be taken before the meeting Monday night, if any at all. Judge Chester G. A. Divis, who is acting as city clerk, the communication called for the hours of 2 a. m. and 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Text of Telegram.
The telegram referred to was received yesterday from Salt Lake City and reads as follows:
"This is to advise you that Clear Lakes syndicate finds it impossible to go ahead with Clear Lakes development. Please advise major and city council and others concerned the syndicate will reimburse the city for election expense. We are mailing letter confirming this."
—W. D. Spaulding.
—Darryl Dibble.

COST $100,000
The project has so far cost the Clear Lakes syndicate $100,000 instead of the estimated $25,000, and this if it followed here, is the cause for the calling off of the plans for further development. The development of Clear Lakes has been a subject of discussion for many years, during which time it has been a subject of discussion to the city of Twin Falls. It was not until the late 1920s that the project was seriously considered. The syndicate was organized in 1925, and it was not until the late 1920s that the project was seriously considered. The syndicate was organized in 1925, and it was not until the late 1920s that the project was seriously considered.

memories of a certain, such as another of his age and station ever has enjoyed.
Lindbergh's lonely flight from New York to Paris, selected upon the imagination of the people of Europe in startling extent.
Now Europe is waiting to see if Lindbergh's homeland can exceed the old world in its welcome to him.
Lindbergh landed at Chartres, France's launch for the Memphis at 2:27 p. m. (10:17 a. m. eastern daylight time). Greeting flags and acclamations had him a last goodbye.
It appeared that all the vessels in this port had had their sterns down. A score of hydroplanes flew overhead.

HERRIOTT WILL NOT DISCUSS SYNDICATE WIRE

George L. Herriott, attorney for W. C. Hazard, refused today to comment on the abandonment of the Clear Lakes power development, by the Clear Lakes syndicate, as indicated in the message received in Buhl last night. "I have not had time to go into the situation to determine just what conditions are," he said, "and am not prepared to make any statement at this time." He said he would discuss the situation at the meeting of the Clear Lakes syndicate, which is being held on the site.

According to one aviator who follows the Columbia out over Long Island sound.
Chamberlin flew straight across Long Island and headed out to sea instead of turning north along the coast, as Lindbergh did, George Welles, a motion picture cameraman, reported when he returned to the field after following the Columbia for "several miles."
Goal Depends on Fuel.
"We may go to Berlin, we may go to London," said Chamberlin last night before he left. "We may go to Paris, Rome or even Moscow. It all depends on our fuel supply."
The take-off of the Columbia was dramatic—even more dramatically, perhaps than Captain Lindbergh's start for Paris from the same runway two weeks ago.

Chamberlin, clad in khaki and a wind-breaker, was in the pilot's seat, and he began to appear he would emulate Lindbergh's feat of flying alone. Nothing had been said of who would accompany him.
Then, as the engine whirred up, Charles Levin, president of the company that owns the plane and sponsor of the flight, ran to the side of the cabin and climbed in.
He was in street clothes and did not even wear a hat.
Levin's wife, who was standing nearby, squeaked, "Is he coming?" and fell in a faint as the plane and its unexpected passenger started moving down the runway.

After taxiing 300 feet, the plane halted and was taken back to the end of the runway for a new start.
It set off again, and this time rose smoothly and gracefully into the haze amid a smattering of the morning air.
The craft easily cleared telegraph wires at the end of the field—wires which almost caught Lindbergh when he took off for Paris.
The Columbia had been fully prepared for the flight yesterday in readiness for a start in the late afternoon. Bad weather conditions forced a postponement but the plane was left with a full load of fuel, including auxiliary tanks and its engine had been checked up.
