Yank Youngster Breaks Up Game with Home Run

By United Press
Yonkers, June 10.—A 16-year-old youngster named Yank broke up the home run within the park in the seventh inning, ended a close game between New York and Chicago.

It was the third straight victory for the Yanks over the Cubs. The final score was 8 to 3. Chicago had a three-run advantage going into the sixth. In that inning New York answered two runs. Then in the seventh four batters a walk, Walter Johnson's home run and a triple and feat of stealing home gave the Yanks six runs and the ball game.

The Chicago Cubs won their first consecutive victory over the Yanks in the third of the present season, 2 to 1, as a result of an eighth-inning rally. After Brooklyn had come into the lead in the eighth, a walk, an infield out, a stolen base and two erroring chances gave the Cubs the victory.

MORE GOOD NEWS FOR THE FARMERS

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine says he holds hopes that higher prices for wheat will prevail in the near future. The secretary bases his belief upon the fact that the yield this year will be lower than last year's and he estimated that the decrease would be approximately 100,000 bushels.

Mr. Jardine's statement was made yesterday previous to the announcement of the official government figures as of June 1. The crop shortage, he said, will naturally tend to increase wheat prices.

A few hours later government statistics indicated that the condition of winter wheat on June 1 was 72.2 per cent of normal indicating a production of 337,000,000 bushels compared with 629,920,000 bushels last year.

Spring wheat was reported at 86.6 per cent of normal.

The condition of other crops with the percentage of normal and the total production was given as follows:

Oats, 79.9 per cent, no estimate on production; barley, 81.5, with no figures on production; rye, 77.5, and 48,025,000 bushels; all other hay, 88, and 1,000,000 bushels; pasture, 88.3; apples, 57.2, no estimate on production; peaches, 31.4, with no estimated crop of 45,230,000 bushels, and pears, 55.9, with a total crop of 15,277,000 bushels.

These figures show that Idaho is in a better position this year than for some time. The condition of crops, particularly in the southern part of the state, is the average for this section undoubtedly is far beyond that of other producing areas.

With a general shortage in crops and the resultant increase in prices, the outlook for south Idaho is, indeed, encouraging.

With a fair amount of luck Idaho this year should profit both in an agricultural and business way.

PERHAPS THIS WAS AN OVERSIGHT!

Copies of an advertisement which the state of Idaho, under the direction of Gov. H. C. Baldwin, chairman of the state board of publicity, has caused to be placed in many of the nation's largest newspapers, with the idea of attracting more tourists, farmers and industries to the state, were received here yesterday.

These advertisements, published as they are in newspapers with millions of circulation, undoubtedly will do the state. They are cleverly composed and are attractive. That part of the committee's work is not the far criticism.

People of the southern part of the state, particularly that area between American Falls and the Hagerman valley, which includes the Twin Falls tract and others of the same resources and beauty, seem to have just cause for complaint in connection with the advertisements in that they do not specifically mention this area.

The wonders of the upper Snake, the Idaho Falls, Blackfoot and Pocatello sections, northern Idaho in particular, mines, forests, etc., are set forth in detail but personal of the advertisements fail to reveal other than a general mention of the state's agricultural possibilities, mining and other industries, some of which are mentioned in the Twin Falls section of the state.

Inasmuch as mention was made of Boise, Pocatello, Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Payette and numerous other cities and sections, it seems only proper that the advertisements should have contained some specific mention of south Idaho as above outlined. The Times recommends such action be taken in the advertisements and criticism forwarded to the committee in that connection for the present campaign.

WISDOM OF JUSTICE HOLMES

Every calling is great when justly pursued.

To have doubted one's own first principles is the mark of a civilized man.

Certainty generally is illusion, and repose is not the destiny of man.

The advice of the elders to young men is very apt to be as unreal as a list of the hundred-thousand books.

Certitude is not the test of certainty. We have been deceived many of many things that were not so.

WHY DO YOU LIKE SOUTH I D A H O?

Believing that a general discussion of the advantages, future development plans, conditions relative to health, prosperity and other good points about southern Idaho will promote the feeling of interest and pride in this part of the state, The Times is starting a daily column, "Why I Like Southern Idaho."

Everyone, under the plan is eligible to write about this subject. The only rules will be that replies should be of not more than 200 words, free from harsh or objectionable language and that the writer sign either his full name or initials to the letter. What replies are published only his or her initials. The desire will be compiled with the material in the letter. The writer may sign their full name and address under the initials. These will be kept by the editor.

Replies may be made in any writer to the suggestions or proposals contained in a previously published letter.

Write why you like southern Idaho in 200 words or less. Send to: Mrs. Nellie Hunter, Editor, Twin Falls Daily Times.

LINDBERGH'S LIFE

The story of America's Hero, the first man to fly from New York to Paris in a non-stop trip.

By MORRIS H. HAVEN THACHY (I'll send the correspondents) (Copyright, 1927, by the United Press)

CHAPTER TWENTY
During the winter of 1925-26 Charles A. Lindbergh, flying night after night through rain, snow and sleet, twice saved his life by dropping in parachutes from his disabled planes, banking descents which stand among the most remarkable adventures in aviation.

On one occasion his plane cleared five times close to his parachute, once coming within 200 yards of it, threatening each time to collide as it parachuted his descent.

On another occasion he came down first through snow and then through rain. Lindbergh was a lurching, unsteady figure while the wind, pulled away from his parachute threatening injury. But Lindbergh was not as much as scratched.

That winter probably stands next to the Spring of 1927 when Lindbergh flew to Paris, as the most thrilling of his life.

It was on the night of September 16, 1925 that Lindbergh took off from Lambert Field at St. Louis, with his eight-month-old son, Charles, in the plane. Lindbergh, with the motor running, was about to start when he noticed a fire in the engine. He tried to stop the engine, but the fire spread over the ground. By the time Lindbergh, Ill., was passed this fire had spread from an engine to the fuselage, and possibly obscured the earth. He attempted to fly under it, but could not, and fell, where he was seen by a farmer, who by stopping, was determining a safe landing place by his light, failed to fly. He proceeded on to the right side of the engine, the air mail station for Chicago, but the fire was so thick he could not locate the station. He was not of the fire, but could, the beams of the Transcontinental air route.

At last his fuel ran low. He had enough left for seven minutes only. Lindbergh wrote in his log book that to abandon the plane in the parachute—although he could not see the ground.

Engine Dies
"At 5:00 feet the engine sputtered and died," Lindbergh wrote in his log book of what was to him merely an incident in the life of a flyer.

"I stepped out on the engine and cut over the right side of the cockpit, pulling the rip cord after about a hundred feet. The plane was falling head downward when the rickler jerked me into an upright position and the chute opened. The plane was falling head downward when the rickler jerked me into an upright position and the chute opened. The plane was falling head downward when the rickler jerked me into an upright position and the chute opened.

"I pulled the flashlight from my belt and was playing it down toward the top of the fog when I heard the plane's engine pick up. When I looked I had practically stopped dead and I had neglected to cut the switches. Apparently, when the plane opened up, an additional supply of gasoline drained to the carburetor. Some one came into sight about a quarter of a mile away headed in the general direction of my parachute.

"I was descending the mountain, the parachute out of the window if necessary. The plane was making a left spiral of about a mile diameter and paced approximately 300 yards away from my chute, leaving me on the outside of the circle.

"I was wondering as to whether the plane or I was descending the mountain rapidly and glided my chute away from the spiral path of the ship and as I could.

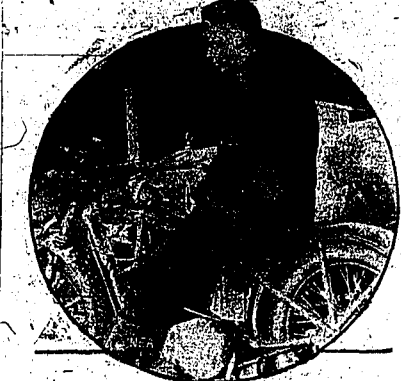

"The ship passed completely out of sight, but reappeared again in a few seconds, its rate of descent being about the same as that of the parachute.

"I counted five spirals, each one a little farther away than the last, before reaching the top of the mountain. When I started into the fog I knew that the ground was within 1,000 feet and reached for the flashlight and found it to be unobtainable.

Lindbergh folded his parachute and stepped in search of his plane. He was unable to find it until the next day, when he located it from another plane within a quarter of a mile of the place where he had landed.

None of these experiences seemed to daunt Lindbergh. He said little of his adventures. He said little of his adventures. He said little of his adventures.

Lindbergh and His Bike, in 1921

The trans-Atlantic flight wasn't the first distance that Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh ever accomplished. Above he is shown with the motorcycle on which his record of 2,400 miles was made in 1921, when he rode from Wisconsin. He made the trip to enter the B. O. T. C. at Camp Kauka.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS ABOUT SUMMER COLORS

ABOUT SUMMER COLORS
By HEDDA HOYT (United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, June 11.—Seasons come and seasons go but about thirty years ago and seasons were no longer to be forgotten. Men no longer wore hats and when an abbreviated hat appeared in front of them, they were called "hat boys" and "hat girls." The boys who hung their caps over their heads were no more and those who wore hats were no more. The hatless ladies board a street car or bus pushing their heads in order to get a seat. There has become a drug in the market.

Nevertheless, smart skirts have been coming out of the closet. One can be distinguished nowadays for the matrimonial market if one thrusts one's knees and calves at the world. The middle-aged school matrons of other days who wore long, buckramed skirts clinging about their bodies might have made pretty good grades had they exposed their shapeliness. The same type of ladies today are getting away with a great deal more because they are in step with the great big parade. There's no doubt that the legs have made the modern female a more interesting creature, despite the fact that legs themselves have ceased to promote interest. A middle-aged woman in short skirts, a pair of knobby knees or lank shins, gets by where the skirt-flicking sister doesn't cross the room for a moment unless she refuse to stand for friends who wear high-heeled skirts. One must be young in skirt length if it is to years. It goes on in circles, it is said, and if this be true, we may again revert to long skirts. I doubt very much whether ankle-length middie-waists ever come into fashion again or.

As for boots, they are a demand for boots. A small stack and two or three more expensive boots, the fashion book. Louis XIV. who wore the high, curled-up horn lambert foot, St. Louis, considered his mode of his best customers particularly for "his do."

"I just can't imagine Slim Lindbergh being any different after all this fame, money and fame. He's bound to change his mind."

GRADE PUPILS READ PUBLIC LIBRARY BOOKS

Lists of grade pupils who have read the most books so far as can be ascertained, have been prepared by Miss Jessie Frost, librarian, and given publicly, with the request that the children who are named call at the library soon. Speaking of this Mrs. Frost said:

"The grade schools at the beginning of the school year, cooperated with the library in making lists of available books for the children of each grade."

"During Children's Book Week each grade was given a talk on books, and the lists for the grade was posted in the room. Copies of these lists were kept at the library, also for the children to use in selecting their books."

"From the time the lists were given out until the end of the school year, the teachers had a record of the children's reading. As nearly as we can ascertain the following children have read most books on the list for their grades:

Washington school—grade 1, Shirley Joy Hill; grade 2, James W. Murray; grade 3, Vincent Smith; grade 4, Jean Stotler; grade 5, Harry Lyon and Eugene W. Johnson; grade 6, Margaret Reynolds; grade 7, Gladys Sommers, Donna Thomas, Fred Alciaya, Guy H. Jones; grade 8, James W. Murray; Lincoln school—grade 1, Lester Hintz; grade 2, Albert Peterson; grade 3, James W. Murray; grade 4, James W. Murray; grade 5, Ellen Lettelcher, Ann Henderson; grade 6, Curtis Williams.

"GASSING" FRUIT TO BAR MATURING CALLED TRANSPORTATION SOLUTION

By United Press
LONDON, June 10.—Fruit to prevent its maturing too soon, in the latest experiment being conducted by fruit shippers, in their endeavor to have their produce travel thousands of miles without depreciation.

According to a recent report published by the department of scientific and industrial research here, the ripening process of fruit is retarded considerably by replacing the carbon dioxide part of the oxygen in the air in which the produce is stored.

This, it appears, amounts to restricting the breathing activities of the fruit, which in turn delays maturing. Fruit in storage, when normally during its storage, as soon as it is brought out of its traveling quarters in its normal course, and when displaced in its own growth of fruit, keeps just as well as fruit which is transported according to the methods in use.

CONGRESSMAN PROTESTS ADVERTISING OMISSION

Representative Smith Sends Telegram to Governor Baldridge Calling Attention to Failure to Mention Twin Falls, Jerome, Cassia, and Minidoka Opportunities and Scenery in Space Paid for by State.

Vigorous protest against the omission of all possible reference to Twin Falls, Cassia, Minidoka, and Jerome counties, with their vast agricultural and livestock development, still water possibilities, and their wonderful scenic beauties from advertising space in the state newspaper paid for by the state, was contained in a telegram sent today by Hon. H. C. Smith to Governor Baldridge. Mr. Smith, when his telegram was called to the attention of the governor, expressed a story of which he was proud in the Times. The telegram was also voted by Secretary-Newell S. Midgett, of the Twin Falls Realty Board, in behalf of the organization to the attention of the governor, and to the magazine character of the magazine put out by the public department of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, which leaves an entirely erroneous impression of the products of the county, it is contended.

Mr. Smith said Congressman Smith speaking of the omission in the advertising matter, "that people overlook important matters unintentionally, but the advertising matter is not a serious oversight on the part of someone. The legislature voted $100,000 for advertising in the state, which is the third largest amount in the country. I fully agree with what was said about the resources of the county, around Idaho Falls and Blackfoot, in agricultural and other ways, but the territory omitted in the advertising, Twin Falls, Jerome, Cassia, and Minidoka counties, contain the largest body of irrigated land in the state, and one that which there is none first in the world. I have no objection to the praise given to the vast mineral resources of the state, but I do have a moderate capital looking to know all about our agricultural resources and when the territory between American Falls and the Hagerman valley is let out, it is a very serious omission. It is a no less serious omission relative to striking scenery. The river, the bridge, connecting Twin Falls and Jerome counties; Blue Lake, which have been favorably compared with the best scenery in Italy; great Shoshone Falls; Twin Falls and other attractions are second to none in Idaho."

The objection to the mineral part is that, while it does not mention anything other than mineral wealth in any county, it places this county and Jerome county in the same mining area, which they are not and, regarding, leaves a false impression as to the character and topography of the country, it is contended.

Only one of the advertisements paid for by the state has run so far and the first of the series relative to most of Idaho, so the omission can be corrected by prompt action. He is believed.

MEREDITH WINS DEMOCRATS, IS SMITH'S VIEW

Congressman Smith Says That Chance of Former Secretary of Agriculture and Brother of Buhl Man Look Good.

E. T. Meredith of Iowa, secretary of agriculture under President Wilson, and brother of Earl C. Meredith, of Buhl, apparently stands the best chance of getting the democratic nomination for congress from Jefferson county in the next, in the opinion of Congressman Addison T. Smith. "The chances so far as we can judge now lie between Governor A. Smith, Senator James A. Reed, and E. T. Meredith," said Congressman Smith today. "Two-thirds rule should be abandoned, Governor Smith would get the nomination in my opinion," he continued "but I do not believe he can get two-thirds of the vote in the convention. Mr. Alden, who is quoted as saying that he is not a candidate, would support Meredith, who is dry, and as the town man has few enemies would be a person on whom the opposite element could unite. He stands a good chance of nomination in the opinion of many democrats."

Mr. J. R. Barlow and daughter, Maxine, have returned from Jerome where they attended the state convention of the Christian church in southern Idaho.

CHINESE PROBLEM PUZZLES POWERS

U. S. IS EXPERIENCING DIFFICULTY THROUGH SMALL LEAGUE AGENDA

Observers Analyze Conditions, One Declaring That America Should Protect Lives and Property of Its Nationals At All Costs.

Editor's Note—The following statements of Charles James Fox, editor of the North China Star, and H. G. Woodhead, editor of the Peking and Tientsin Herald, give the present conditions in China, particularly as they affect the interests of the United States in the Orient. Mr. Fox declares that the powers are trying to cope with the situation of the "Miyin" of a "Little League of Nations" and in view of the fact that the United States is not a member of the real league, who is having a difficult time in co-operating with other nations in the work of the league program. He terms the so-called "Red Peril" as a joke.

By CHARLES JAMES FOX (Editor, The North China Star)

Two of the numerous causes of the present un satisfactory condition of Sino-American official relations ought to be especially emphasized at this time, in the hope that publicity will bring the matter to the attention of the United States government. First, the Protocol Powers in Peking are attempting to function as a Little League of Nations in which one or more of the predominant powers try to use organization to further their own individual ends.

Second, the present "Bolshevik Peril" out here is causing such fear among the Chinese as to have several of the Protocol Powers in regard as a joke, or "Bolshevism" by large sections of the Chinese public. The S. O. S. of the League on the Red Peril, throughout China in general and in the German Empire in particular, has apparently been received in the United States in the same spirit in which the American public laughed at the famous "Red Flag" on the White House" warning of former Secretary of State Hughes several years ago.

Here is Pilot Clarence D. Chamberlin, first man to fly an airplane from New York to Germany. He inherited his pioneering from his father, E. C. Chamberlin of Denison, Ia., who was the first man in that town to own an automobile.

Comet and Eclipses of Sun and Moon Visible In Sky During Month of June

Luna's Total Darkening Can Be Seen on All This Hemisphere

June will be an auspicious month for science and superstition. First the moon will be darkened, the moon will be obliterated and a great ball of fire, with an enormous tail, will appear to threaten us in the sky.

CLAIM DOUBT IS CAST ON THEORY OF RELATIVITY

By GERRARD D. McLEAN (Full Page Staff Correspondent)

(CLEVELAND)—While plans are being made to bring together a jury of the master-minds of physics experiments are under way here and in Chicago to throw into the discard the life work of Einstein and his theory of relativity.

Generally accepted by scientists for years, Einstein's theory says all motion is fluid and that an observer will reveal the motion of the earth through the ether of space, or, as scientists term it, "the ether drift."

Meanwhile, two University of Chicago scientists, working six feet under ground, have started experiments to test the Einstein theory. They are Professors A. A. Michelson and Henry Gordon Ives, who claim to have already obtained negative results and are now engaged in a second series of tests.

The world's leading scientists will meet in Chicago this year to hear reports of the Cleveland and Chicago experiments and to definitely decide whether Einstein's life work is to be cast into the discard.

Second, he revealed the direction in which the sun is moving. (The earth and all the planets are carried with the sun at the same speed.)

Since his positive test on Mount Wilson, Professor Miller has conducted experiments annually. His estimated white shining apparatus has walked 100 miles while making 100,000 scientific readings.

It will have no longer than 50 seconds to study this phenomenon. That's the longest the eclipse will last in totality.

English Roast Beef Threatened by Autos

LONDON.—Because they claim British housewives prefer Sunday joy-riding to the cooking of the traditional family roast, a number of enterprising butchers are trying to have Nottingham Cattle Market day changed.

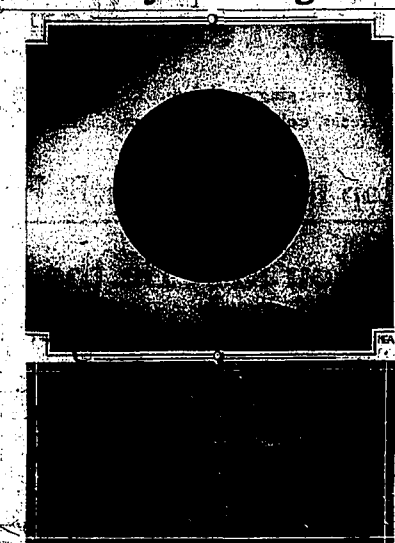

Especially since the war, it is said the number of cars has increased and spending their Sunday mornings in the kitchen preparing the weekly feast of roast beef, veal, or the popular leg of mutton.

Prisoners Institute Jail Reign of Terror

By United Press

GEVEER, Wis.—Lawlessness within the prison gates of Geveer has resulted in the arrest of twenty-five prisoners who are now in a court of law and re-sentenced.

The group consisted of the oldest inmates at the penitentiary and they terrorized the newcomers, making their fellow-prisoners dread the word "prison."

Approved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for June 12 PETER DELIVERED FROM PRISON

LESSON TEXT—Acts 12:1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—Many are the afflictions of the righteous; but the Lord delivereth him out of all tribulation.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God Takes Care of Peter.
TOPIC—God's Answers Prayer for Peter.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—New Deal God.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Power of United Prayer.

1. Peter's Imprisonment (vv. 1-4).
By whom (v. 1).
Herod, the grandson of the wicked Herod who slew the innocent children of Bethlehem.

2. The reason (v. 5).
It was to gain the favor of the Jews. Herod was not a Jew, but an Edomite, therefore knew that his success was dependent upon his being the good will of the Jews. Herod for the sake of popularity manifested a deep sympathy for degenerate Judaism. It was but the sympathy of the politician. Since the church had developed so as to be a successful rival of Judaism, indeed was already displacing it, he saw an opportunity to curry favor with the Jews by putting forth his hands against it.

3. The method (v. 6).
He was arrested, put into prison and guarded by four quarters of soldiers. A quarter is a guard of four soldiers. Humanity sympathizing, they made one fatal mistake—they left out God.

4. The Church of God in Prayer (v. 7).
The church was at a crisis. Her situation was most grave. James, one of the brethren of the church, was dead, and Peter, the most prominent of all, was in peril. In this desperate strait they did the wise thing—they besought themselves to prayer. It was necessary to pray.

5. It was unto God, not into men, nor to be heard of men. This is a very common fault today. All true prayer is unto God.

6. It was united prayer.
There is peculiar power in the united prayer of God's people.

7. It was an intensely earnest prayer.
It was more than incessant prayer. It was the earnest desire of the soul as it stretched itself out toward God.

8. It was a definite prayer.
They specifically offered prayer to God for Peter. Their prayer was concentrated, definite and specific.

9. Peter Delivered by an Angel (v. 7, 13).
Peter sleeping (v. 6).
This shows that he was not greatly disturbed over the matter. The Lord keeps in perfect peace those whose minds are stayed on Him. (Isa. 26:3).

10. Peter leaves the prison (vv. 7, 10).
A heavenly light shone in the prison. The angel, smote Peter on the side; the chains fell off. Peter put on his clothes and passed by one guard after another through the iron gate out into the city.

11. The effect upon Peter (v. 11).
Although the matter was so wonderful to Peter, even outside his consciousness, when he came to himself he was assured beyond peradventure that God had miraculously delivered him from Herod's wretched hands.

12. Unconscious Unbelief (vv. 12-19).
1. Behavior of Peter and the church (vv. 12-17).
Peter went to the house of Mary and knocked. The knock was answered by Rhoda who was so overjoyed that she forgot to open the gate, and ran in and told them that Peter was at the gate. The disciples were not prepared for such good news, and even accused her of madness. She, undaunted, insisted. They offered as an explanation that perhaps it might be Peter's guardian angel in his likeness. They got more than they expected. Peter revealed unto them the Lord's dealing with him, and in-

Iowa Woman Found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Always Helpful!

Viola, Iowa.—When I was seven years old I had to stay at home from school. I really had to quit school. I was so weak I suffered for about two years before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, then I picked up and went to school and road it. I began taking the medicine. Now I am a housekeeper with a family and I have taken it before each one was born. I can not tell you all the good I have received from it. I read all of your little books I can get and I tell you I know what the Vegetable Compound does for me.—Mrs. Pearl Strazze, 510 7th Avenue, Viola, Iowa.

Many girls in the fourth generation are learning through their own personal experience the beneficial effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mothers who took it when they were young are glad to recommend it to their daughters.

Where men have failed to grasp the psychology of the flapper, Miss Weber has succeeded with rare feminine insight and has converted her thoughts admirably to the beautiful Billie Dove who plays the leading feminine role. Miss Dove performs intelligently and gives a characterization of rare depth. Standing continents with many changes help give the aura of

"There is much to commend in 'The Country Beyond.' Fox Films screen version of James Oliver Curwood's widely read novel, which had its first showing yesterday at the Orpheum theater yesterday.

A fine story of absorbing interest, containing pathos, humor and action, in just the right proportions with a star whose winsome beauty captured the hearts of yesterday's audience, this latest Fox feature proves a splendid entertainment. Olive Burden plays the part of Valanda Curwood, a bewitching girl of the Canadian wilds. And both as the unappreciated child of Nature dancing in the moonlight, and as the heroine of a romance, she later as a premier dancer on the New York stage, she is equally delightful.

"Protected Swans Multiply"
Wild swans are protected under a federal law prohibiting killing them. The birds are increasing under this protection and are numerous along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts.

Pack your tank with extra miles!

WHATEVER the capacity of your gasoline tank may be, it stretches when you fill it with Conoco Gasoline. Its actual space doesn't increase—but it holds more miles because every tankful of Conoco is crowded with extra miles.

So remember that when you order ten or fifteen gallons of Conoco, you are ordering a bonus of miles—not just gasoline. A check-up on your speedometer will prove this to your complete satisfaction.

That explains why thousands of motorists use Conoco—and Conoco only. They know what they can expect from Conoco. They know that the very name Conoco stands for dependability, quality, extra miles—the result of over forty years of experience and of keeping the faith with the motorist public.

So drive up to the Conoco sign. You'll find it at the better service stations and garages.
