E. M. Wade succeeds Judge James H. Ballwell as president of the Twin Falls County Bar association. Dr. E. Davies takes over the vice-presidency.

President-elect, Paul Thom, is secretary-treasurer for the fourth successive time, a result of the association's election of officers at a meeting at a downtown hotel at the first hearing.

The election of officers was not, however, the main event of the evening, as the members were also present for the annual dinner.

The newly elected president, E. M. Wade, presided.

Torner K. Hickman gave a talk on "Expanding Our Work." With him was George W. Johnson, who discussed the limits and manners of expediting the supreme court's work.

Judge W. A. Bingham followed with a talk on "The Supreme Court." The Judge said, "I am convinced that the indeterminate sentence law in the state, and the law as to parole by the prison authorities, are practice that should be discontinued."

Congressman Addison T. Smith spoke briefly, saying that he was sorry that he did not follow law after graduation from law school, but that he had learned his lesson.

John W. Graham favored either a temporary intermediate court of appeals or a circuit court.

Others, while E. V. Larson and Harry Bonati planned lawyer-themes for much of the debate.

R. P. Kirby, attorney for the state, got up to say that the supreme court of Idaho should hear cases only in Boise; another that oral arguments should be eliminated; and another, that the supreme court should...

After all the discussion was over it was attempted to pass a resolution advertising certain plans for expediting supreme court work, but none was for the moment. It was agreed, however, to call another meeting of the committee to discuss further the coming state meeting of lawyers in Boise, August 12 and 13.

Twins Have Judges Stumped

When the Misses Wilson and Borrelli, known as "the Misses," entered on the city's beauty contest at Kimberly yesterday, the judges were at a loss.

"The culprit has been in our office ever since he was arrested."

He admitted that he knows about Crawford.

"The man has a bad record," declared the chief.

Enters Residence to Steal Diamond

Someone, apparently versed in the ways of the underworld, last night and a stately diamond ring had a stately stone on each side of the diamond.

Mr. and Mrs. Helen Wolfe were out at the time the robbery occurred. There were two rings in the pocket of the trousers from which the diamond was taken.

The loss was reported to police headquarters immediately, but no clues have as yet been discovered.

More than 11 arrests were made. They ranged from driving without lights to head lights, to failure to stop at buttons around town and to drive recklessly during bad weather.

There were 12 more arrests made, except that a couple of the offenders were guilty of wrong park.

Fines for the offense ranged from $1 to $50.
