Honolulu dispatches stated that "Blackard" turned his attention today to news measures from the search plane news from Oakland, Calif., that Captain William P. Erwin and A. H. Schwabert, his navigator, were preparing to take off on the "Hullas Spirit" for Honolulu.

Hurst Breaks Bad Luck and Defeats Salt Lake Bees, 3-2

WALTERS' HOMER, HITS AND ERROR ALLOW BRUINS TO CHALK VICTORY

Tight Game With Every Player of Both Teams Putting His All Into Battle Thrills Large Crowd; New Local Hurler Gets Chance Today.

Hard Luck Hurst was determined that his "bad breaker" would keep him from victory yesterday as he went out and whiffed five Bees, allowed only two hits, only two of which came in one inning, and took one of those heart-stopping battles from Salt Lake 3-2, giving the Bruins their third straight win and their fourth consecutive triumph.

There was no telling which way the game would go yesterday. It was one of those times in which the outcome is not settled until the last man is out. But when Nelson hit a high fly ball to right field, the Bruins on third and two away everyone knew the game was theirs. Nelson's ball club had run away since then. Everyone felt safe that the fly in question would be the coroner's ball. Nelson who has run his consecutive game, assist mark without an error to 11, and would be expected to say that the hurler deserved to lose, for he tossed a very long game. He actually pitched responsible for only one run, but because of a homer by Johnny Walters he was touched for 11 consecutive batters. More than two of them came in one inning.

Both the hurler and batter had considerable difficulty in getting into lines on ball and strike swinging.

Selections for Davis Cup Team Not Surprising

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Selection of the American team to defend the Davis cup in Philadelphia next month, a matter of some moment, did not cause anything of a shock.

It wasn't even a surprise to hear that William T. Tilden, William Johnston, Slickland, Norris, William and Francis T. Hunter were named as the first choice.

The Committee entrusted to select the defending squad tried out a number of good players, but the committee knew well enough that international tournament and cup defending performance are as much to be depended upon than juvenile skill and youthful stamina.

Before youing your Dean Bees, Beemles, California of Tilden and Hunter. We were gratified by the opportunity of quoting, The Twin Falls Flour Mills.

Pennant Scarecrows

They flag that they were not better in the garden. In August, we need to frighten birds away, thus protecting the garden. A path ought to be placed about every 20 feet, and a cord carried from post to post. On the cord strips of paper and cloth are tied. The fluttering pennants are therefore, a graceful adaptation of the scarecrow idea.

TWIN FALLS AND BURLEY SUGAR PLANTS TO OPERATE THIS YEAR

District Manager Announces That Both Factories Will Be Opened to Handle Crop Estimated at 120,000 Tons for District.

Estimating the near best crop in the district, including Burley, the Twin Falls mill will handle approximately 120,000 tons, W. G. Swendsen, district manager of the Amalgamated Sugar Company, announced today at the press conference that both the mills at Twin Falls and at Burley will be open for business this fall.

At the present time repairs are being made on the plants to put them in shape to handle the big crop. Asked how many men would be employed in the district, Mr. Swendsen said that 315 employees would be used in the factory and outside during the campaign.

The district manager's announcement follows: "An excellent crop of beets in the Idaho territory of the Amalgamated Sugar company, can be expected in the coming year. It closes a splendid condition and promise of an excellent yield. It is reasonable to expect that the crop is not sufficient to warrant the operation of three mills located in the territory. After considering the economic and other factors involved, a definite conclusion has been reached to operate the Twin Falls and Burley mills. Immediate steps are being taken to put these in operating condition.

"With the excellent beet crop anticipated, the increased cost of beet price for growers will obtain a good financial return, thus bringing confidence and added output to the industry in the future.

"Persons desiring employment in the sugar industry should apply to the company at its offices in Twin Falls and Burley. Prospective will be given to persons who have had previous experience."

Results From 40 and 80-Acre Idaho Farms Are Given in Report to Agriculture Head

MINIUMS NOTE—Byron Hunter spent four years, studying irrigation in southern Idaho and after his careful study wrote the following article for the secretary of agriculture's 1926 report to President Coolidge. The figures are authoritative and reveal the importance of the size of farms on irrigated land.

Size of farm materially influences the effectiveness of irrigation. Irrigation and labor can be used in the most efficient manner on 40-acre farms. On this subject by a four-year study of irrigated farming in southern Idaho, which makes it possible to compare groups of 40-acre and 80-acre farms.

The two groups were classified as "general cash crop farms." Very little of the income being derived from the sale of livestock and livestock products, and the majority of the total farm land of the two also groups that was tillable or was in crops of different crops. There was some variation in the percentage of the crop area that was devoted to the respective crops during the four years of the study, 1919 to 1922.

This, however, is not sufficient to account for the differences in the crop areas handled per acre used by the two groups.

The following are some of the outstanding points of interest brought out in comparing the results obtained on the 40-acre and 80-acre farms during the four years of study.

The 40-acre farms had, in round figures, an average of 5 per cent more of the total capital tied up in buildings and equipment than had the 80-acre farms. In other words, a greater percentage of the capital of the 40-acre farm was in land that could be used for producing crops.

The average yield of all crops for the four-year period for the two groups of farms differed but little, the 40-acre farms ranking a trifle the highest. The yields of alfalfa hay, sugar beets, dry field beans, and alfalfa-clover seed averaged highest on the 40-acre farms, while the yields of wheat, potatoes and rice were lower. A few illustrations should suffice to make this clear.

Much less time is consumed per acre in turning, while performing the cultural and harvesting operations on 40-acre farms than on those of 80 acres. It requires about the same length of time to repair the harrowing equipment and assemble a hay-making crew for 15 acres of alfalfa on 40-acre farms as it can be done on one of 80 acres, because the 40-acre farmer can use the various factors of production to better advantage than can the 80-acre farmer.

GRID TREES
Eight of the large trees surrounding the front and side of the Church of the Ascension Episcopal, have been gridded, so that they may be killed. The trees had grown over the sidewalk, branches hanging low and the trees hung so close together that they obstructed the view of motorists approaching the corner.
