OLD SPANISH MINE DISCOVERED NEAR SILVER CITY

Network of Slopes and Raises Shows Workings More Than Century Old.

TELLURIDE, Colo.—Discovery of an old Spanish gold mine in the Central mining district, three miles north of Silver City, N. M., has been disclosed by W. C. Martin and George Bonner, old time prospectors and mining men.

They found the shaft opening some 1500 feet while tracing a contact of porphyry and lime, but had not known until assays completed that dirt scooped up from the deepest shaft ore running from $17 to $20 per ton.

First appearances of the mine resembled an underground mine, but exploration revealed it was a network of slopes and raises leading in all directions from the central shaft.

At least three or four miles in diameter indicates a hidden tunnel on the north side of the mountain on which the mine is located, Martin and Bonner said.

It is believed by them that ore taken from the mine was carried out on the backs of the miners, as no hole is large enough for the operation of a hoist, thus indicating that the hole is at least 100 years old. No dump is in evidence, they said, this apparently having eroded away.

Mount Vernon Gets A New Dress

A perfect example of the best in Colonial architecture, the wood exterior always shining with white paint, and its interior woodwork, elegantly carved from the rafters of time by hand painting or "scrubbing" at free intervals, the old mansion still opens hospitable doors to thousands of visitors every year, from all parts of the world.

A house like a "city" that is not on a hill cannot be hid. From its eminence above the river Mount Vernon commands a view of the public square, plains white in the sunlight and is visible for miles. Surely, in no more fitting way could the home be paid to the memory of the nation's first President than by keeping in a state of preservation and beauty the old house he loved so well.

President Receives Three Feet of Idaho Onions

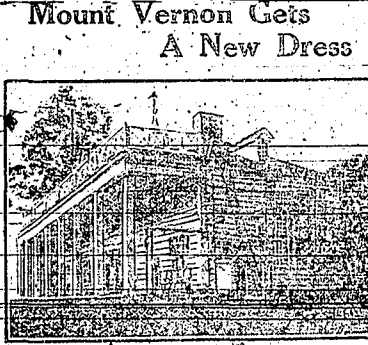

It takes just eight of these big Spanish onions grown in the irrigated sections of southwestern Idaho to measure a yard and they're sweet, too. A fair yield is 700 sacks of No. 1's to the acre. The net, shown above was recently presented to President Coolidge with compliments of the Chamber of Commerce of Nampa, Idaho.

NAMPA, April 18.—For many years, sweet and with truly a vegetable delicacy, either supply or produce has been in demand in the irrigated sections of the south-western part of the state.

Idaho soil, climate, sunshine and water, have combined to produce an excellent reputation for the American house who have learned the quality of Idaho potatoes and these that all nations are not alike. Such has been the variety obtained in Idaho, when prepared, is said. Not only does Idaho produce high quality onion but the yields are heavy. It is not surprising for the harvest in 1927 was 200 sacks of No. 1 sweet onions to the acre. One 14-acre field produced 1,500,000 pounds in 1927. Smaller crops made even heavier yields. Given an acre of half a mile above sea level Idaho onions have remarkable keeping qualities and reach the consumer in good form, condition.

The size is uniform and large. Heavily packed in 100-pound crates, when placed side by side, measured slightly over one yard.

Idaho is credited with being the best onion growing area in the United States and there is enough room in the various valleys to produce all the big, well onions that the entire country can use.

People of Washington Irving Country Claim First 'Uncle Sam' Lived There

By United Press

Washington Irving Country people know that their peaceful Hudson River village is the birthplace of one of the most famous Americans and that makes the world his country.

Uncle Sam, who was largely responsible for the feelings of the American forces during the War of 1812, was a native of Catskill, according to Charles A. Elliot, a grand-nephew of the famous "73 Sam."

According to Elliot, this is the story of the origin of the nickname:

There were Samuel, Nathaniel and Edward Wilson, of Catskill, who were engaged in the most profitable business in the Hudson valley early in the eighteenth century. The country people knew them as Uncle Sam, Uncle Nat and Uncle Ned.

Samuel, who lived to 100, came to Catskill during the War of 1812 to take active part in the firm's business. He was then 70 years old and was labeled by the soldiers as "Uncle Sam" because of his age and his friendly ways toward the British soldiers, who were drawn to his camp from Greenburgh, New York, and other central New York counties.

Many of the people, however, from the Catskill deck boys the government mark "U. S." upon them. The nation was young then and the abbreviation of his name was not uncommon in that day and in this.

So one day, when a lieutenant asked the man who was handling a pork shipment what the two letters represented, the lieutenant replied, "Why, they mean Uncle Sam, the senior partner of the firm."

The lieutenant thought it was a great joke. He carried the jest down the river, telling it whenever opportunity afforded.

Thus, Uncle Sam, the American, came into being a character unintentionally created by an unknown boatman but destined to rank with the world's greatest figures of history and fiction. Thus, also, a nation was called Uncle Sam's already sufficiently large family.

Cartoonists took up the idea, and have been drawing ever since, in the likeness of Uncle Sam—Wilson himself.

Much of the nervousness in older children can be traced to the over-stimulation during infancy, caused by being doted as a sort of national top for the amusement of parents, relatives and friends. Baby may be played with, but not for more than 15 minutes at a time, and not more than once a day. Beyond that, being handled, fussed, carried, or taken out of bed, is invariably result in irritability and invariably causes irritability, crying or sleeplessness.

Restlessness, crying and sleeplessness from this cause can easily be avoided by treating baby with more consideration, but when you just can't see what is making baby restless or upset, better give him a few drops of pure, natural Castoria, it's amazing to see how quickly it calms baby's nerves and soothes him to sleep; yet it contains no drugs or opiates. It is likely to be the best medicine on the wrapper. Leading physicians prescribe it for colic, cholera, diarrhea, constipation, gas on stomach and bowels, feverishness, loss of sleep and other "upsets" of babyhood. Over 20 million bottles used 25 years shows its overwhelming popularity.

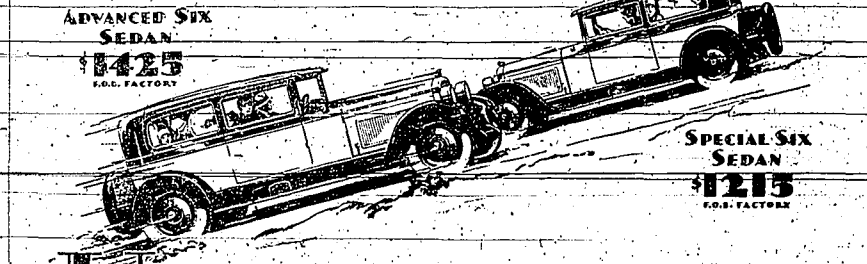

With each bottle of Castoria, you get a book on Mothering—worth its weight in gold. Look for it on the wrapper. It's the signature of Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. You'll get genuine Castoria. There is no other.

NEW EVIDENCE UNCOVERED IN DOME SCANDAL

Hays obtained the book, the story adds, at the same time that Sinclair returned to him $50,000 mentioned by Hays in his appearance before the committee here.

Hays at that time said Sinclair paid $75,000 to pay off the 1920 Republican campaign debt and an additional loan of $50,000 for the same purpose. Hays returned the $125,000 loan—paying $65,000 in interest—back to Sinclair, who then used the $60,000 when Hays was hard pressed for money.

Thompson and McKinnis, his New York brokers, are collateral to his story, the story says.

"Credit was given," Chairman "S" of the public lands committee to Joseph G. Taylor, editor of the Indianapolis Times, for information used by the committee investigators in connection with the new discovery.

The exact information supplied by Taylor was not disclosed.

One hundred and fifty special subpoenas are being installed at Miami for the Shirie convention, May 2, and 5. Fifty special subpoenas are being especially trained to answer all of the material calls which they will handle during the convention and to help strangers over the "difficulties" of the flat system.

BUHL CONSIDERS MUNICIPAL POWER PLANT

Quite interesting is the announcement from Buhl that practically unanimous approval has been given by the residents of that town and surrounding country, a proposal to purchase and operate an electric light and power plant.

Appointed by authority of the city council, a special committee said to have canvassed the situation thoroughly, comes back with a report that almost without exception, those interviewed are in favor of the town of Buhl investing in an oil fuel plant for the generation of electricity.

There is nothing startling about such a move. Scores of towns and cities throughout the country are believed to be making a nice margin of profit through the process of home ownership of public utilities. Objection is invariably raised by those opposed to municipal ownership, that because of political influences, waste and inefficiency are sure to result. That is some times true, but in the case of a community the size of Buhl and with a high type of citizenship such as prevails there, that objection would not hold water.

If Buhl shall decide to go into municipal ownership and operation of an electric power plant, the procedure will be watched with more than a passing degree of interest in Idaho since other communities are contemplating taking a similar step.

TARIFF PROTECTION IS INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE

From a recent government report the information is forthcoming that the beet sugar industry of the United States employs 220,000 people in the production of beet sugar and that the industry further involves, directly and indirectly, more than a million people including growers and their families. More than $280,000,000 is said to be invested in over one hundred sugar beet factories, the industry distributing $150,000,000 a year in actual cash, $28,000,000 to factory workers, $50,000,000 to growers of sugar beets and $72,000,000 for freight charges and other incidentals.

So we have here a tremendously important industry the life or death of which is dependent to a considerable degree on tariff protection. In this, as in innumerable other instances, a sensible and reasonable tariff schedule keeps out foreign commercial sugar domination, without which the industry in Idaho and elsewhere would languish and die. Tariff protection is therefore industrial insurance.

WHERE THE FACTOR OF INTELLIGENCE COUNTS

The Western Colorado Beet Grower, farm journal, expresses a world of truth when it says "the man who invests in sweet clover, manure and commercial fertilizers, better drainage, better cultivation, better irrigation and better labor, rather than buying or renting more land to farm under old methods, has small need to worry about increased tonnage or larger returns.

And we are bound to agree with the statement that "the farmer has enough handicaps to overcome in the way of unfavorable weather conditions and other variable factors beyond his control without further handicapping himself by neglecting the very essential things which are under his control and which to a large extent help him to control the variable factors of weather, insect pests and plant and livestock diseases."

THE POWER OF LOCAL EFFORT IN A GOOD CAUSE

Those who have recently visited the Twin Falls fish hatchery have had visible demonstration of the force of civic pride and interest in things worth while. Men prominent in the local business circles are giving up valuable time, hours of recreation and other comforts to render a laudable public service. Reference to this has been made in these columns more than once but it will do no harm to repeat the statement that the incident merely goes to show what great things are possible for any community possessing men of this character, willing to make sacrifices for the public good.

In the case of the city of Twin Falls such community action could mean creation of a park Reserve in Rock Creek canyon surrounding the fish hatchery, it could mean an extensive program of beautification that would result in the disappearance of everything unsightly and ugly. In fact there is no limit to the total of accomplishment.

That which is true of Twin Falls as a community is equally true of every town in the State of Idaho and else-

Other Viewpoints

WHY BINGH THAT TPI?

The Idaho Citizen is calling for the newspaper to aid him in determining what shall be put on the 1929 auto license plates. This is a pretty big order for the newspapers. To begin with, no two will agree on what would be the most appropriate slogan. Some would want a picture of the state's most famous product; Senator Borah; but politics would be charged in that instance. The Citizen would like to print its readers to make suggestions. It may have them.

At first blush, it occurs that specific plates are also given for the purpose of revealing a moral character. The one of the year issue. To have this information cluttered up with potatoes that would be confusing.

Then it is, the plate this year has attracted much publicity in out-of-state newspapers, but whether or not the plates themselves have actually been of benefit to the potato industry is the problem.

Advertising is a great business, and this idea of putting names and shapes of Idaho's products into the license plates, is a business proposition.

Just because a thing is unique, it does not mean it is good. Advertising is a business, and it is not to be taken for granted.

One reply to Mr. Lukens' suggestion is to ask the license plate manufacturers to make the license plates for the newspapers.

Is the roof.
For the tree,
Those will be stars, down which
The brooks come stealing,
With baby laughter making earth
And air
And little birds whose throats pour
Fourth their love,
And every autumn, and the White snow lying
Patched with shadows of bare Trees.

And here comes sunshine through
The green leaves straying,
And shadows from the storm-cloud
Overthrown,
And every autumn, "hills, when
Mother earth is praying,
So late that her moon-cadence burns
Till dawn.

Sweet house of God, sweet earth of God,
I enter at thy gates in storm or calm;
And every autumn is a joy and treasure;
And every cloud a solace and a balm.

Rid the Scalp of Dandruff, Which mars the Beauty and Sheen of Your Hair

Before Applying the Tonic Massage the Scalp for Five Minutes to Invigorate the Circulation of the Capillary System.

Continue the Massage to the Back of the Head, Using a Nicotinic, Quinine, and Iron Tonic. Until You Feel the Scalp Tingling with Refreshed Energy.

Part the Hair With a Comb, Apply the Tonic and Rub It In Briskly. Make a New Part a Half Inch Lower Than the First and Repeat the Combing and Rubbing Until the Entire Head Has Been Treated.

Next in importance in clearing the scalp of dandruff is that a tonic be used systematically. It is not a drug that seems to conquer the dandruff germ, but a tonic that prepares the scalp to resist its invasion.

DANDRUFF can be cured with in a surprisingly short period of time if its source is approached with a "topical" treatment. I've known of many cases where all trace of it has been eliminated within two weeks, but only because the prescribed treatment was followed faithfully, no matter how extreme some of the directions seemed to be. It may be well to explain that dandruff is not a disease, but a condition, indicative of a highly nervous condition or a letting down of the physical forces known as "vitality." Naturally the cause must be removed, but while the proper methods are working out their health problem the scalp can be cleared so that by the time the body is well again the dandruff will be gone. Of course the correction of the cause is a matter for the competent doctor to attend to, but the following suggestions will help you to clear up the condition.

Of dandruff. Dandruff is "itching." Once you realize this you will understand why it is necessary to sterilize the combs, brushes and other articles that come in contact with the head. To do this mix a sufficient amount of some good disinfectant to one quart of water and, placing the combs, brushes and any ornaments used by the hair in the antiseptic water, permit them to remain submerged for half an hour. Rinse in hot water and let them dry in the sun. This should be done daily. The amount of disinfectant used to each quart of water depends entirely upon what brand you select. All such preparations give the amount needed in their directions for sterilizing.

Keep copper coils clean on gas water heaters by brushing out burned particles once a week. Clean gas appliances a tender before use. Select your cooking pans with care. The tip of the flame should just reach the bottom of the pan. Aluminum tin plates are canceled over are best for baking. They absorb heat quickly and distribute it evenly.

After the scalp has been entirely freed from dandruff, comb against its recurrence by tacking sanitary glass to the lining of all hats worn before the cure. This will prevent the old lining from coming into contact with the scalp.
