Cabinet Alarmed at Condition; Marx Asked to Return to Berlin.

By United Press

BERLIN, May 15.—The German cabinet, Gustav Stresemann, who has diplomatic restored Germany from an "enemy" nation to a friend's status among world powers, was critically ill yesterday, the eve of Germany's national elections.

A physician's bulletin at 10:30 a.m. said Stresemann's condition was unchanged. He was suffering from gastritis, which caused him to feel faint, but was not feeling his heart. His condition was complicated because of kidney trouble.

Alfred A. Stresemann's condition, the cabinet telegraphed Chancellor Marx to return to Berlin from his vacation at Annen, Switzerland. Marx replied that he would arrive tomorrow.

It was regarded as certain that, if he recovered as his doctors hoped, Stresemann would return to Berlin from Switzerland tomorrow.

If Stresemann is forced to retire, it is regarded as certain that his successor, possibly Dr. Ludwig Kaus, a Jesuit priest from the Rhine-land.

Germany's foreign minister, Hitler, proposed that he attack the foreign policy that made him the outstanding European diplomat. "Policy of this policy," Hitler said, "is to bring about World War."

Marx, the German Foreign Minister, has repeated the Dreyfus variations plan, with evident efforts to effect their realization in Germany's favor in the participation in the League of Nations affairs.

SPRINGFIELD, May 15.—Hilda Sipes, 20, Shelia, Ohio, was burned to death, and five other students of Wittenberg college were injured when a fire swept through the girls' dormitory here yesterday morning. Miss Sipes was found dead in a bathroom.

In addition, Troy, Ohio, was severely injured in escaping from the burning building.

Twenty girls lived in the dormitory, and the fire, started in a bedsheet, spread rapidly. The girls were forced to slide down sheets from windows on the second floor.

Origin of the blaze has not been determined.

JONES-REID FLOOD CONTROL BILL
SIGNED BY PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

By United Press

WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Coolidge signed today the $325,000,000 Jones-Reid Mississippi flood control bill, designed to curb the mighty river which broke into its most disastrous flood a little over a year ago.

Signature of the measure released immediately $10,000,000 made available under its terms, which will enable the new special flood board and the Mississippi river commission to begin plans for the gigantic project, the largest engineering feat since construction of the Panama canal.

Additional funds for the first year's work probably will be included in the defense bill now being prepared in the house. The rest of the $325,000,000 authorized will be appropriated from time to time as needed during the ten years which it is estimated will be required to complete the project. Much more than this amount may be needed before the work finally is completed.

Nippon Explains Necessity of Sending Forces Into Shantung Province.

By United Press

GENEVA, May 15.—For "purely informational purposes," Japan has sent to the League of Nations copies of two declarations made by the government of Tientsin.

One explained the necessity for sending military garrisons into Shantung province, China. The other affirmed Japan's intention to withdraw the forces when they no longer were needed.

The Japanese declaration stated that the beaten but still powerful Chinese crisis like the Chinese national government's appeal for intervention.

TOKIO, May 15.—Japanese officials today maintained a careful watch on the Chinese frontier, particularly the Manchurian border and those of the northern fiefdom, which may fall before the southern, with Peking or no opposition.

The capture of Peking is expected momentarily and it was questioned whether the Japanese, who have been fighting the Chinese in Manchuria and those of the northern fiefdom, would oppose strenuously the occupation of the central government capital.

It was decided to refer to the Chinese and later to withdraw, said the northern forces were retreating slowly.

A truce between the Japanese and Chinese was quiet today. From Tientsin came reports that the Japanese general had arranged with the Chinese for mutual peace. It was reported that the northern forces recently attacked wings in which there were a number of casualties. The Chinese, however, had withdrawn and continued their drive towards Peking.

At Tien Tsin already there are a number of troops including many Japanese marines.

Latest reports here were that the nationalist leaders indicated the return of General Liang Tsing-tao, the Japanese general, to Tientsin for the purpose of concluding a truce with the northern forces.

MARKET CONDITIONS A PUZZLE TO THE EXPERTS

Those versed in the ways of Wall Street have been predicting for many weeks that the end to the present orgy of trading must inevitably be near. Yet another week has gone by with the market showing even wilder tendencies. Admittedly financial conditions have continued as unprecedented as ever, the enormously high turn-over of securities tending to excite the public, to the extent that investments are being made "on a scale never known before." Of course there are irregularities and reactions but on the whole the leading stocks show a soundness that is truly amazing. The public goes ahead unmindful of warnings and danger signals, seeming to feel sure that there is no limit to values.

Turning for a moment from conditions of stocks and bonds, the general volume of trade remains good both in the foreign and domestic fields. Export figures for March show a total of $420,700,000 as against $408,900,000 in February. Spring trading is bringing with it increased freight car loadings, the latest report showing something like 17,000 cars above the preceding week. Iron, steel and copper continue to show strength because of brisk inquiry and order filling.

With reference to the copper market it is stated that foreign consumers are now buying copper at the rate of anywhere from 1,000 to 2,500 tons daily, this of course does not take into account the domestic demand.

Automobile stocks along with rails and radio continue to show strength and the only unsettled conditions are reflected in oil stocks, public utilities and tobacco shares.

There is bound to be some further unsettling conditions as the crux of the political situation draws near because the country cannot help but react to such important measures as those affecting farm relief, shipping subsidies, flood relief and irrigation projects. In the meantime the government is endeavoring to reduce taxes co-incident with reduction of the war debt, progress of a substantial nature being made in this direction.

ITALY FACED WITH A SERIOUS SITUATION

The breach is said to be widening between Premier Mussolini and the Roman Catholic Church. The cause of the rift is the recent decision of Mussolini to have the State educate the Italian youth while the Pope takes the attitude that the Church is supreme in civic as well as in spiritual affairs. Mussolini dissents from this view and has already made plans to enforce his order. According to dispatches to the Chicago Tribune, a death struggle is imminent over this intensely interesting situation.

Not content with inspiring the young men of that country with a love of and belief in war the Duce encourages the young women to engage in marksmanship contests, these being one of the features of a recent athletic meet held in the new Fascist stadium and participated in by 3,000 Italian girls.

Pope Pius wrote to Basilius Pompili, vicar of Rome, protesting against the nature of this meet and especially the fact that the girls were trained to shoot and engage in marksmanship contests. The Observatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, continued the fight by favorable comments on the Pope's view.

The order of Mussolini, that all Fascist papers keep silent in the controversy over the Fascist assumption of all educational prerogatives, being lifted, they made ironic replies. For instance Impero states:

"A warlike nation, such as Italy, must accustom its women to the sight and use of guns. We do not want our young women, who will bear future Italians, to faint every time they pass the window of a hardware store which sells rifles and revolvers. They should be used to the sight of guns and know how to use them."

That man George J. Smith of the Smith family, chairman of the Board of Examiners of the New York Board of Education, had better stay out of Idaho, at least until after the State meeting of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. Doctor Smith told a New York gathering the other night that the world would crumble in fifty years if affairs were turned over to the hands of the women. "Dog, how could you say such things!"

A news note says several Englishmen are to shortly have conferred upon them the Order of the Bath. That's a common occurrence in this country every Saturday night.

Duluth and several other cities on the upper shores of Lake Superior report a rain of mud. As election time draws near such phenomena are to be expected.

JUST IDAHO

By GUY FLEMNER

Superintendent of Banks,
The Financial Underwriting of any community is not strong unless its banking institutions are in command of their resources. No bank can develop to its greatest helpfulness to the community if it is debilitated. This is true of the banks in the rural communities, cut off from the terrible handicap of impoverished banks. It has delegated to the controllers of finance a number of choices in the exercise of that power the committee must consider not only the case of the particular bank, but the preference which would go to all others.

With that as a premise we come to the scene of an Idaho town of 1,000 population, having two banks with capital deposits of approximately $100,000 each. Both are of citizens whose integrity and competency are not in question, asked for a charter for a third bank. W. W. Porter, committee chairman, came to me for my opinion after considering it and all its facets.

His first thought was for the committee to let the existing two prevailing facilities were ample, than no new institution would likely attract deposits going to neighboring towns to a greater extent. The committee was sufficiently liberal within the bounds of safe banking, having in mind that great experience had been gained by those who believe that another bank there would merely split the business and perform no useful work in the town and the request Over-lending Curse.

Many communities have suffered the reverse—over-lending so many banks that the public has lost confidence in the community. A bank is a public institution. It must be maintained by the public. If not, it fails. The community which has lost faith in the community recovers only after a long period of stagnation and suffering. That fact, and many others, rendered his decision. If he had allowed another bank to be instituted there he could not, on a comparative basis, have given the same charters for Boise, nor buying them with impunity at about $100,000. As the commissioners pointed out, such persons would have had the desire to move later to Kellogg, Burley, Weiser and Payette, two more at Nampa, three additional at Caldwell, etc. Then increase again, 10 or 20 smaller and less able. But that result might be a lot of banks incapable of giving the safe and serviceable functioning of a bank than its stockholders, as the deposit would exceed 10 times the assets.

"Competition between banks may seem pleasant to the public," says the commissioner, "until the price is paid in the form of a dark tragedy of failure, which destroys the economic morale of the people, wastes the accumulations of the people, wastes work and living and stifles the life of the progress of the community through destruction of confidence and justice."

We have no knowledge as to any pressure applied to the commissioners to induce him to adopt a policy of over-lending, but the result, naturally, was such. The result is that he stood firm for safety, soundness and community stability and growth is distinctly to his credit.

Joe, and the Orange. The Union Pacific may be out of luck in California to get most people, but many have been attracted to an Idaho industry. It is entitled to a pony for trying, but we beg to suggest that its publicity experts must have been much to blame that might be made tantamount "principally to the requirements of the human system" and "the needs of the brain." When one goes to California to consult a doctor he is usually put on a strict orange juice diet for 10 days. The result is that he gets fat. There are at least 100,000 people there all the time drinking orange juice and taking orders from a human physician.

Others, who are physically well, follow the example, with the result that the orange industry does a tremendous amount of advertising. Doctors know the vitamin values in the juice. If they could only be interested to tell all it would be much better for the public business in general. The orange juice is a most healthful food, but it has been the butt of boarding house jokes to jolt its influence has been overdone. Advertising is not proper dilution and for health's sake, a difference is a different matter. It might even become a national fad.

CALLED THE BOUNCER. It is not a good idea to call women by one of them.

"You know," she cried to her audience, "that our present style of advertising has reacted adversely on trade, training and buying by at least 50 per cent."

She paused to let this sink in, when a voice from the rear boomed forth,

"But why not do away with accidents altogether?"—Answer,

WOOF! WOOF! Witt: I'm wedded to my divorce Witt: Well, it ought to divorce you for cruelty, Judge.

SWEET DADDY! Guler: This is one of the greatest number of Cuba.

Dumber Dora: How nice it is where all the sugar daddies come from.

The Friend-Maker

Advertising plays no favorites—it makes friends of you and for you. It is constantly offering kindly assistance by introducing worthy merchandise to you. It tells you of the best foods; of the newest time- and labor-saving devices; of opportunities to save money by making certain purchases at certain stores on specified days. It even points the way that enables you to keep yourself physically fit and mentally alert.

Advertising is, unconsciously to you perhaps, your steadfast friend. It has established an era of good feeling between you, the stores, the manufacturer and their products. RECALL EARLY LIBRARY DAYS IN TWIN FALLS

Growth of City Marked By Paralleled Progress in Institution.

Twin Falls should have a library. So many of the old-timers believe, and particularly in those early days of the city when there were no books in which pioneer women allowed themselves to indulge. But it remained for Mrs. H. W. Harriet, wife of one of the founders, to recall the early days of her project—herself a Wesleyan graduate and fresh from the cultured fields of Boston, to take the initiative in the library movement.

Being an excellent cook, she decided to bake and sell bread with which to secure the needed funds. Smith Brothers volunteered to make the bread, and the small bakery which they conducted at that time, and thus the new land of sage brush and dust storms started its first library. It was the beginning of the imperious Boston culture imported by genuine Boston baked beans. That country should later build much of its financial prosperity upon the same principles.

Mrs. Barnes drove about town seeking donations of books, and these donations, plus those of the present collection of 321 volumes, Mrs. Augusta Packard gave splendid support. Volunteers—women workers, kept the library open every day, and the collections each week. From the beginning the growth was steady and the interest unflagging.

But the support was erratic until the Legislature of the State of Idaho sufficient to induce the city commissioners to place a library appropriation on the budget. For the past several years the sum of $1,000 has been added to the $700 of the tax money being spent to support the public library.

The institution was opened in 1906, and while there are now other libraries in the city, there are still three more, 15 which have been organized since. Miss Jessie Fraser has been head of the staff for the past four years under her guidance the library has made marked growth in every direction. Miss Jessie, a young assistant and the staff is recruited from the high school. The students are drawn from the high school students, school credit being given for the work done. Miss Jessie's personnel are now 12, and the library has made marked growth in every direction.

About a year ago the present commodious quarters were taken in the Elks building, the previous Shoshone street location being too cramped for the needs.

The population of the city in 1906 was 8,254, the number of books on the library shelves being, however, the same figure, and the number of books in circulation last year were 84,737. The room is open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., except Sunday, when the library is closed, and privileges are granted to all.

Compared with other State libraries in the number of volumes, Twin Falls ranks sixth in the State of Nevada, second in circulation, fourth, Boise, Paraclete and Idaho Falls showing larger expenditures than ours.

But four libraries of the State afford their service to all others giving the same service to the community.

Each year, Twin Falls serves a small area, Twin Falls, a series town and school district with an annual fee of $2 to borrowers outside the school districts.

There are now men connected with library work in the state.

There are a few of the interesting facts printed out during the two sessions of the State convention of librarians which will close in a few days this evening. Miss Jessie Fraser discussed the needs for a library in the State of Idaho, and spoke of the value of newspaper publicity. The forenoon session was given to the round table discussion of public relations. Visitors were taken on a sightseeing trip during the late afternoon.

Miss Edna Gilligan will this evening speak on the value of reading and the importance of library numbers which will be followed by another full discussion of books—useful, clever, dramatic, humorous and distinctive. The opinions of the librarians will be registered on the question of whether there has during recent years appeared an epoch-making book.

Wednesday will be given to children's library news. All meetings are open to the public.

Our local librarians present are Mrs. M. A. Mallory, Hatley; Miss Marion C. Orr and Mrs. Irene Fuller, both of Boise; Mrs. S. Olive Hess, Caldwell; Mrs. Anna La Rue, Blackfoot; Mrs. Anna La Rue, Rupert, and Mrs. Anna R. Parks, Burley.

ALL WEEK 3 LOAVES 15c

Think of it—35 cents worth of bread, if figured at the prices charged generally, for only 15 cents, and besides there is no bread on earth you'll like so well as the O. P. Skaggs System-baked bread. If you'll use it just one week, and that's why we are making this big sacrifice for all this week.

1 Full Pound 10c Loaf Nutty White Bread

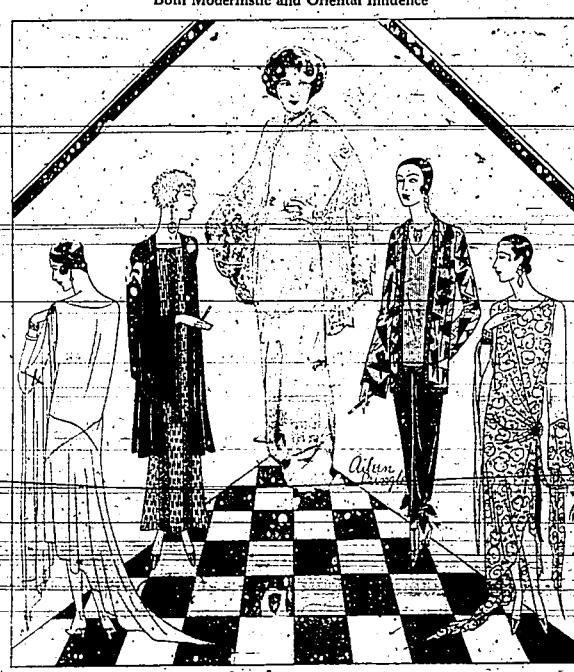

1 Full Pound 10c Loaf Brown Health Bread

1 Full Pound 15c Loaf Rich Raisin

5c and 10c

You will be expected to take one loaf of white, one of Health and one of Raisin in order to secure 3 loaves for 15 cents. We want you to taste them all and buy them for a whole week at about half our regular price for the three loaves. Our regular price on our own baked full pound (16 ounce) loaf will be as follows after this week, although the flour price has gone way up: White and Health Bread, 7 cents per loaf, and Raisin Bread, 10 cents per loaf. Be sure to get our three loaves assortied every day this week for only 15 cents. Then you will always use our bread. This offer good at all O. P. Skaggs System Stores in this territory.
