

CRY DISTRESS FROM ARCTIC GETS ANSWER

FINNISH AIRMAN TAKES OFF FOR ITALIA. CREW'S ICE CAMP OFF COAST OF NORTHEAST LAND, DETERMINED TO BRING BACK AT LEAST THOSE MOST SERIOUSLY INJURED OF DIRIGIBLE'S SURVIVORS.

(Copyright 1928 by United Press.)
VIRGO-BAY, Epizherg, June 30.—Lieutenant Carlo, Finnish rescue aviator, took off tonight at midnight in his ice-equipped airplane for the Arctic ice-camp off Northeast Land, immediately after receipt of a radio message saying the camp was in imminent danger of being swept into the open sea.

Lieutenant Carlo, before he left, had, regardless of difficulties, he was determined to land on the treacherous ice where the camp was located and rescue Natalia Coccone, wounded engineer of the Italia.

The appeal for immediate help came from Finn-Paul Lundberg, Jami, bore, Swedish naval aviator, landed at the camp and rescued Finn, Noble, commander of the last polar dirigible.

Lieutenant Carlo took off Wednesday night on the first to rescue of the men in the camp. Lundberg's plane crashed and was destroyed.

Lundberg had landed previously that the ice floe, 600 by 900 feet, on which the camp was pitched, was breaking. Today he said that help was needed urgently if he and the five others were to be saved from almost certain doom.

Sarkis volunteered for the job at once, and he was to be saved from a companion from the camp.

LOCATING ARKUNSHEN
HARSHAD, Island of Hennes, North Norway, June 30.—The Norwegian government, it is believed, has decided to send a search party to locate the missing Arctic explorer, off South Spitzbergen.

The following was reported from the government: "The missing Arctic explorer, off South Spitzbergen, was reported to have been seen on the evening of June 18, at the Cape of South Cape, Spitzbergen."

NOBLE'S RESCUE IN DANGER
ABOARD STEAMSHIP QUEST, June 30.—The man who rescued Finn, Noble, and the other survivors of the Italia, today, they were on an ice floe drifting rapidly into waters where the ship would be lost.

Lieut. Finn-Paul Lundberg, the Swedish aviator who was reported to have returned to rescue the five remaining members of Noble's party, today, they were on an ice floe drifting rapidly into waters where the ship would be lost.

A Declaration

"WHEN in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth their separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation."

—From the opening paragraph of The Declaration of Independence.

JUST as our forefathers back in 1776 removed the shackles that bound them to the tyrannical nation, so do we cast off those fetters in our battle for commercial freedom.

These institutions are recognized by their absolute freedom from those handicaps derogatory to the interests they serve. They stand as pre-eminent leaders in their respected field today and to-morrow.

They "serve and deserve"—ever mindful of the spirit that guides and animates their concerns. And as long as they maintain the confidence of the great public, so long will they continue to serve—willingly and well—to do more than is expected—for their patrons' any time—all the time.

A Declaration

"WHEN in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation."

The Declaration of Independence.

JUST as our forefathers back in 1776 removed the shackles that bound them to the tyrannical nation, so do we cast off those fetters in our battle for commercial freedom.

These institutions are recognized by their absolute freedom from those handicaps derogatory to the interests they serve. They stand as pre-eminent leaders in their respected field today and to-morrow.

They "serve and deserve"—ever mindful of the spirit that guides and animates their concerns. And as long as they maintain the confidence of the great public, so long will they continue to serve—willingly and well—to do more than is expected—for their patrons any time—all the time.

FORMER BRITISH PREMIER DOES SOME PLAIN SPEAKING.

David Lloyd-George, former British premier during the period of the World War when the Liberal party was in power in England, has always been noted for speaking right out in meeting and saying what he thinks.

Only last Sunday, in addressing the congregation of a Welsh church in the city of London, he launched a bitter attack on failure of Christian churches to prevent wars and force disarmament, making the declaration that unless Christian nations act definitely and positively, the Kellogg proposal treaty for the outlawry of war will be useless. "Christian monarchs, statesmen, soldiers and ministers were responsible for the World war," he said; "not atheists, pagans, infidels and agnostics."

"Look at Europe today. After that last terrible experience, there are more youths in the prime of vigor and life being taught and trained to kill each other than at any time since the foundations of the earth were laid."

"I say as British minister of war when the World War broke out—that if all the churches in Christendom had said in 1914, 'halt, this murder must not begin' not a monarch nor minister in Christendom would have dared to start it."

"You have now the declaration of one Christian country to other Christian countries of the outlawry of war. They are all going to sign. And the same people who are going to sign will attend meetings of cabinets in America, in Great Britain, in France and throughout the world to determine how to spend millions of dollars on the mechanism of slaughter."

"If the Christian churches of the world were united they could force disarmament. You never will get peace by declarations outlawing war. What better declaration could there be than that of the galaxy of angels on Christmas morning."

"Peace among us; good will among men."

That is better than anything Kellogg or Chamberlain ever said."

Here we have an outspoken presentation of the war situation as it really is, based of all hypocrisy and cant. Lloyd-George, we fear, is right when he predicts that the same statesmen who will sign the peace proposals of the United States Department of State will proceed forthwith to sit-in at national councils called to consider expenditures of tax money for battleships, armies and all the other accessories of war.

Worse than that, the British statesman calls attention to the fact that there are more young men throughout the world being trained in the science of killing human beings than at any other period in the world's history. He probably has in mind the present program in Italy where Mussolini has hundreds of thousands of the pick of Italian boyhood and young manhood ostensibly undergoing physical training but in reality being skilled in the art of warfare.

So there is new food for thought and fresh incentive for definite action. The Kellogg proposals are quite in order and admittedly a step in the right direction so far as mechanics go but it will be necessary to go a step further by awakening the masses of the people to cold-blooded facts as regards the inner workings of the war machine.

SCENIC CURRENCY FOR PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES.

The average American citizen is fond of pictures of scenery in which this country so richly abounds. With this in mind, the government at Washington is about to turn out a new type of paper currency on which will be printed pictures of places of historic interest. And the statement is also made by the Bureau of Printing and Engraving that these new bills will offer a difficult problem to the counterfeiter who will have much trouble in reproducing the work of the government artists.

Orders for new types of bills call for a picture of Monticello on the two-spot, the Lincoln Memorial on the $5 certificate, the Treasury Building on the $10, the White House on the $20, the Capitol on the $50 and possibly Independence Hall on the $100. The face of George Washington will continue to grace the $1 bill.

HOW LOS ANGELES IS SOLVING STREET-CROSSING CONGESTION.

Los Angeles, always progressive, is spending $350,000 for the construction of pedestrian tunnels at important street intersections where traffic is the most congested. There will eventually be forty-five of these tunnels; those already completed and in use have demonstrated their value, particularly in providing added safety for children.

Credit for this innovation and safety measure is due in great part to the Automobile Club of Southern California, which organization led a fight for a bond issue that is proving a blessing. School children are compelled to use the tunnels while adults find the safer way the better way, especially during rush hours when surface crossings are a menace to human life.

HOLLERSON HAS NO MERCY FOR BRUIN BATTERS

Leads Senators to Victory 15 to 1 Over the Twin Falls Mer.

Today's game: Bolso vs. Bruin, at 2:30.

Tomorrow: Double-header at 2:30.

Though Hollerson had the Bruin batsmen at his mercy throughout yesterday's game, it wasn't a shut-out. Twin Falls got one hit in the first inning. This is how it happened: First man up drew a walk to first. Dwyer went on to Mollie to Crowley. Fitzgerald singled and Allen scored. That was all over so far.

The Bruin started out with beautiful rallies four times, but each time the Senators pulled beautiful double plays and ended the frenzy. Waters had the tough luck to hit into three of these double-plays, all at them batted through Mollie and Crowley.

The sensation of the game was the splendid hitting of Charles King who led the hitting of the Utah-Idaho league last Sunday when his average was .425. For the fourth consecutive game King failed to get a safe hit.

After his final try he went over and at down by the right field fence. This error should be out to see him get his next hit.

Hollerson held the Bruin to seven hits, allowing but five in the first eight innings. Robertson started for the Bruin but suffered a dislocation in the fourth. The change stopped the Senators for three innings, but then they went wild again.

So far as the benefit part of the game went, the Bruin were benefited financially as there were 200 people out to the game, but the Senators benefited by standing percent age in the league.

Oh, well, there are three more tries at the Senators coming this season, one this afternoon and two tomorrow—if it doesn't rain.

GIANTS NOT TO BELONG TO TEX

National League Owners Are Opposed to Tex Rickard in Baseball Field.

By Frank Getty

(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 30.—The National League owners

are opposed to Tex Rickard's proposal to purchase

the New York Giants.

However, it is not certain that the owners will have the famous fight promoter

out of a major league club.

Tex is not what the psychological

yes would call "baseball mad."

To his native way of looking at things

the highest races as in present conducted are rather silly. For one thing, there are the New York Yankees, an out-of-control team that audience at American league parks is showing a marked decline. Rickard, in his wisdom, would remedy

that, if permitted.

At least five National league club owners were reported today to be unfavorably opposed to Rickard's ownership of the Giants. Charles A.

Stenheim, the present president of the club, has declared that as far as he knows, Tex will not buy into the league.

Tex has admitted that if he could buy the Giants, the first thing he would do would be to turn the team grounds into a sports arena and have the local National league club play at Yankee stadium. To Rickard's intellectual way of thinking, it is ridiculous to have a big ball park empty

just because the team is away from home.

Organized baseball, while it has prospered during the past two seasons

and is drawing a comfortable revenue this year, is by no means on any ground as far as the affections of the cash customers are concerned. The very suggestion that

Rickard was the owner of one club

would lead to suspicion of his interest in others.

YACHTS START JUNE RACE

NEW YORK, June 30.—Four

yachts start today on an ocean

race of 2000 miles to San Pedro. Sunday will leave San Pedro at noon

and are expected to be three weeks

on their perilous voyage across the Atlantic.

The Queen of Spain is offering a cup to the winner.

Bannocks Take One From Idaho Falls

Idaho Falls, June 30.—Before an enthusiastic crowd the Bannocks took a fast and exciting game from the Spuds here yesterday 11 to 8. Both teams hit freely but the Bannocks got four more hits and three more runs during the game.

Sum of the Bannocks' net only home run of the game. Bannocks went wild in the fifth inning to win the game.
