Mother Honoree At Bridge Party

Mrs. Robert Benson was hostess Friday afternoon at a deliciously arranged bridge party, complimenting her mother, Mrs. Mary Gustafson, who is her son's mother. Guests were artistic arrangements of ephedrinum and sweet peas. Three tables were at play, and Mrs. Gustafson won the high hand price. Misses Dorothy, second, and Miss Lillian Bryson, low.

The guests list included the Messrs. Carl Benson, Harry Mulder, Mr. and Mrs. George Clegg, Mr. and Mrs. Casey, Robert Haller, R. E. Broadhead, Harry Dinkelacker, and the Misses Lillian and Katherine Braxton.

Lawn Party Marks Eighteenth Birthday

Miss Elizabeth Stevens observed her eighteenth birthday with a party on the lawn of the ranch home near Hailey Thursday, when she was hostess to 12 girl friends. The afternoon was spent in games and the evening was the recipient of many pretty gifts. Miss Stevens and Mrs. W. H. Hersey served refreshments at the close of the afternoon. * * *

Tenth Birthday Marked by Party

Barbara Gandy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gandy, observed her tenth birthday on July 5 with a festive party at her home in Steamboat Springs east. The decorations motif was "The Little Red Riding Hood" which were used in the floral and conventional table appointments. The guests were Martha Hayes, Dorothy and O'Neill, Mrs. and Miss Fern Henderson and Evelyn Gandy. * * *

Kimberly Society Meets Twin Falls

The Women's Missionary Society of the Kimberly Christian church met at the home of Mrs. J. Elliott Clark. Tentatively east, Twin Falls, Idaho, was the meeting place. The program included a short service, a craft and a dance program under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Regen was given. Miss Violet Thorne, a piano soloist, and Misses Virginia and Caroline Sverdrup presented piano solos. Mrs. William Herford gave a talk on "Service and Prayer in the Kimberly Circle," with a violin solo electric hot plate. The afternoon was one of particular enjoyment.

Mr. Stimp and Mrs. Sverdrup also sang. Misses Virginia and Caroline Sverdrup presented piano solos. Mrs. William Herford gave a talk on "Service and Prayer in the Kimberly Circle," with a violin solo electric hot plate. The afternoon was one of particular enjoyment.

Camp Fire Group Plans Camp Trip

Tataponish Campfire girls will plan the trip of the guardians, Mrs. Phil and Mrs. John Evans, the two assistant campers, Mrs. Alice Clegg, and Mrs. Mary also present. The meeting opened with the singing of "Chinatown Charlie," and the girls divided into four sections for the discussion of arrangements for the summer camp which the group plans to hold at the Methodist camp grounds near Bear Lake.

The camp will consist of two weeks beginning July 10. The meeting closed with the singing of "Taps." Refreshments were served by the committee.

JUNE BUSINESS SHOWS INCREASE NEARLY MILLION

More Than $850,000 Increase in Business Over June of Last Year

Business in Twin Falls showed an increase of $850,000 over the same period in 1927, according to the bank clearing for June of the two years just passed by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

The total bank clearings for the month of June 1928 were $4,199,848.52. This compares very favorably with the total of June 1927, the total of which reached $3,328,933.55.

According to the comparisons of these figures, the growth and development of business has been steady on an upward trend for the month.

White House today made their annual extended auto trip through the country.

The clearing also dispelled the theory that business is always slowest in July.

With a fixed destination, the President directed the course of his car along the most direct route to develop a number hours to his tour.

A fishing expedition with John LaRoupe, his Indian guide, was taken to the Snake River.

The President and family were entertained at the Congregational Church at Brule, where John Taylor, ordained blind pastor, conducted services.

BIBLE VERSES AND PRAYER

DO THE RIGHT. To do justice and judgment is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice.—Prov. 21:8.

PRAYER—Lord, we would give our hearts to Thee and then we cannot but do that which is right and well pleasing in Thy sight.

WHAT A STORY HOLE IN THE WALL
COULD TELL.

"No roof for his head."

No phrase epitomizes the diametrical opposite of wealth.

When a bank account is nil, when pockets are empty, then there is no place to shelter. Houses are closed. A man is dead-broke. But nature is kind, or carelessly generous at times, and leaves here and there, places where one may warm himself and find shelter from the storms. Such is the "Hole in the Wall." Only a cave open to the weather as well as to the southern sun, arched ceiling and rocky walls, black with the smoke of many fires—but it has sheltered scores, hundreds of drifters as they drift through the upper Snake river valley.

Situated in the north wall of Rock creek canyon, mid-way down, it is easily accessible to the tenants who seek shelter, whether from the hard necessity of poverty, or from the more tragic need of avoiding the eyes of other men. Here they may stay for nine nights or for a season. Life is reduced to its lowest common denominator.

Straw on the floor, and a few gunny-sacks that provides the luxury of sleeping quarters. One photo-artist possesses a single soiled comforter and a pillow which is a gunny sack containing a coat. No personal possessions litter the place, for either the owners are chary of risking their chattels without protection of locks and keys, else they have nothing to lose.

One thing alone—a magazine, clean and new, lying face down on the pillow.

It is the current number of Harper's Monthly, opened at a poem entitled "Farm Wife." The closing lines are deeply pained.

"How once she loved the wild lake

And clover sweet with rain."

Below, on the creek bank, is the primitive camp kitchen where in cans and pots the provisions are cooked over a rusty grate. Not particularly different from the camp that men and boys are beginning to make all over the country at this season—except that this one is permanent.

It is as near being a home as many of the drifters ever have—or ever want, perhaps. It epitomizes a state of existence for many men which seems far from what existence should be for any man.

It is the custom of the local police to keep watch of the shifting guest list in the "Hole in the Wall," and from time to time they are brought up for investigation concerning possible connection with riflemen. In a few instances that connection has proved to be real, but for the most part, they are the drifting laborers of the inoffensive incompetents who live—how no one knows. They may beg or pilfer small food supplies, but this usually brings swift accounting and the order for everyone to move on. During the harvest season, the S. R. & G. sign is out. But one lone tenant kept the place "open" all last winter.

Little is known of the history of "Hole in the Wall" before the irrigation of the Twin Falls tract. Perhaps it was a shelter for the Indians, perhaps the pioneers laboring over the plains knew of it and built their fires in the mouth of the cave so applying the first ebony coat of soot to the walls. Perhaps the coyotes or bobcats found it good quarters.

With the coming of the construction crews—it was a safe and ready-made powder house, answering this purpose as long as needed. For a short time it was used as a city jail, and there is no record of prisoners escaping therefrom. Still later it was used as a pound for stray dogs.

But for the past few years it has been a hobo-camp, a home for the homeless, an unofficial rooming house, an uncertain refuge from the avaricious eye of the law—just "The Hole in the Wall."

And though it is not included in the official advertising which is spread in the pages of many newspapers and periodicals, it is an "attraction" which is well known by hundreds all over the Northwest.

THE BATTLE OF 1928 IS ABOUT TO BEGIN.

With the nomination of Governor Alfred Smith of the State of New York as Democratic candidate for president of the United States, the battle is definitely on between Governor Smith and Herbert C. Hoover, secretary of commerce in the cabinet of President Calvin Coolidge.

Of course it is too early to even make forecasts as to what is likely to happen within the succeeding four months during which a campaign expected to be among the most spirited in the history of this country, will be waged.

There is much to be said in advance, that the interests of the nation will be best served if bitterness and misrepresentation can be eliminated. But under the peculiar circumstances prevailing, there will always be danger of the injection of two factors into the battle, that of the wet and dry issue and religion. Either one is charged with dynamite.

It may be left to the good sense of the American people to insist on the observance of rules of decency and fairness.

ALFRED E. SMITH

Idaho State Journal, Pocatello
The virtue of moderation in the "wet-and-dry" convention does not in the least surprise those who have been watching the course of events for several weeks past.

Those who are still clinging to the moderation who could obtain the votes of two-thirds of the delegation, or for that matter of a mere majority, for that matter, will be disappointed. The tactics of four years ago have been pursued, it would have been possible to bring more white socks for the delegation. In fact, the white socks for the delegation is the result of another dark horse, unfortunately for the groups opposed to Governor Smith, they lacked a majority.

COLEMAN LEADS BRUINS TO WIN OVER GUNNERS

Pitches Winning Ball and Has Perfect Day at Bat in Last Series,

OGDEN, July 7.—Holding the Gunners to four hits, Coleman led the Bruins to a 10-2 victory in the second non-league yesterday in the first game of the Bruins' final series in the league. At the plate Coleman grabbed three doubles and two singles.

Ogden's lone tally came in the first inning when Prather doubled and the next three men walked.

Both teams had two hits in their three scoreless halves, getting two hits in four trips.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES SOUGHT

Chamber of Commerce to Join in Action to Reduce Rates on Fruits.

An effort will be made to add to the obtaining of a reduction of freight rates on fruits and other fresh products, etc., etc., it was decided at the meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon.

A meeting has been called by the chamber of commerce to be held at the capitol building, Boise, to discuss the matter and gather circumstantial evidence before the interstate transportation bureau, was authorized to represent the Twin Falls chamber at the meeting of the directors of the National Chamber of Commerce July 10th. Mr. Masland can find it possible to go. The chamber of commerce will also endeavor to get the chamber of commerce of Idaho Falls to jump from the seven-cent frame bridge placed in the seven-cent picture of Idaho scenes and industries. This time, it must be released by the state, but just now no information has been received.

Decision to make further investigation into road conditions and also on the oil. Greatly appreciate the information received. The chamber of commerce has informed that the contract for improving the road from Jerome to the bridge road, was being considered and will be let in the fall. The chamber of commerce has been in touch with the transportation bureau, for construction of the 4½ mile stretch of road between improved roads south of Rogerson, for better ad-

Growth Travel To Yellowstone Park Shows Increase

WYOMING PARK, Wyo., June 29.—The people who have toured Yellowstone National Park in the past year increased 10 per cent, or more, in every country they visited for a total of 1,600,000 people, according to Mr. E. Haynes, director of park publications and acting director of the Yellowstone Park museum.

Mr. Haynes has prepared a table of travel statistics for the 1922 season to show the increased number of visitors to the great playground facility, a national one as the increase in number of visitors has been converted to indicate the degree of national welfare and national distress.

Mr. Haynes places the number of annual visitors prior to 1922 at 1,400,000, based on his own figures and travel reports for the year of 1922.

For the 1922 season, which shows an increase of 10 per cent, the following table gives the number of visitors to the park:

To Idaho—Mr. and Mrs. Don Hailey and son, Mrs. Don Hailey, wife relatives. They expect to bring home their older son, Don, Jr., who has spent the winter with his grandfather.

Mother Honoree At Bridge Party

Mrs. Robert Halleck was honored Friday afternoon at a deliciously arranged bridge party, complimentary to her mother, Mrs. Harry. The floral decorations were artistic arrangements of gypsophila and sweet-peas. There were 12 tables.

The hostess was the high society princess, Mrs. Robert Halleck second and Miss Lillian Bryan, 16, third.

Lawn Party Marks Eighth Birthday

Miss Virginia Stevens observed her eighth birthday with a party on the lawn of the ranch home near Berger Thursday, when she turned 12. The party, which began in the afternoon, was spent with games and Miss Virginia was the recipient of many birthday gifts. Miss Stevens and Mrs. W. Bert Dinkelacker, parents of the birthday girl, were present.

Tenth Birthday Marked by Party

Beth Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Collins, observed her tenth birthday on July 5 with a picnic party at her home near Berger. The decorations and gift were found in the fourth of July colors, which were used in the floral and conventional table arrangement.

Guests included Mrs. George

Wade, Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Hause,

Tom Headstrom and Evelyn Buet.

Kimberly Society
Meets Twin Falls

The Women's Missionary Society of the Kimberly Christian church met at the home of Mrs. C. E. Miller Saturday afternoon. About 20 ladies were present and a fine program under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Reiter was held. The program included singing, a solo vocal, a solo piano, a solo guitar, a solo violin, a solo flute, a solo trumpet, a solo piano solo. At the close of the program the ladies served refreshments. Mrs. C. E. Miller, president, Mrs. S. S. Smith, who is president of the Kimberly circle, and a twin hole electric hot plate. The afternoon was one of particular enjoyment.

Johnny Hines Is Thrill Comedian
In Latest Film

If you want to laugh so hard that you'll shake the buttons off your clothes and travel in a fit of狂笑, then the charming Jimmy Hines is now performing, hurry to the Orpheum theater tomorrow, where the comedian is starring in "Chinatown Charlie," produced under the personal supervision of C. B. Davis.

You might know this new phenomenon as a hilarious harlot, as it is a film adaptation of the old movie extravaganza by George Davis, given a new comedy flavor by the man, Jimmy Hines.

Jimmy is at his funniest in the title role of "Chinatown Charlie," the Barker and Fink. A New York showman who has surrounded himself with the mystic mazes of Chinatown and the Underworld.

The comedian's most hilarious and riotous role to date is the continual aerial act in the picture.

Trapped in a Chinese laundry house, he is a human helio of five active bats, who swing across the Chinatown street from one around string to another, the basket on his head, the ring on his feet, the baton in his hands, the ring on his head, balancing himself with a parson. The last, he thinks, is the best, so he has surrounded his comedy with an exceptional cast, with Louie Lorraine, Eddie's "dumb blonde," as the title girl; and little Scooter, Fawny & the laughs, a precious kid. Others scoring high are Anna, Anna, Anna, Kohler, and Burdette, and a host of others. Take this hard-boiled comedian, and you'll laugh until you drop—death and pain.

He'll be installed Saturday night at the theater of the Pacific. The boys will take a number of the local members from Twin Falls to the west end of Los Angeles.

Youthful Burglars To Face Charges

Complaints were filed this morning by Prosecutor Fred P. Matteson against the two juvenile offenders arrested on charges of burglary of the High Merchantile company in Twin Falls. The boys, ages 14 and 15, both 18 years of age and three feet six inches tall.

The boys were taken into custody while the district attorney was in town, and were held in their cells "not taken until this morning."

The complaint against the older boy will be first degree burglary, and the younger boy will be second. The younger boy will be turned over to the Juvenile Court for action by that tribunal. Mr. Matteson said the boys were found guilty they would both probably be committed to the state reformatory at St. Anthony.

Coming to The Idaho Tomorrow

Miss Virginia Stevens observed her eighth birthday with a party on the lawn of the ranch home near Berger Thursday, when she turned 12. The party, which began in the afternoon, was spent with games and Miss Virginia was the recipient of many birthday gifts. Miss Stevens and Mrs. W. POSSE HOT ON
TRAIL FLEEING NEGRO PORTER

By United Press

OGDEN, Utah, July 5.—The United States Marshals' office here held a hearing after the posse which seized fugitive Negro porter Fred Shugborough yesterday.

It was decided at a meeting in Pocatello last night when the Idaho Falls and Twin Falls clubs withdrew. League officials said the clubs had been forced to do so because the league is on a good financial basis and that no effort will be made at present to get other clubs to withdraw.

Chief Justice Fred P. Matteson, of the Idaho Falls club, said the club had been given a vote of thanks for its promptness.

The club will sever relations with the league after the trial of Shugborough.

Shugborough, accused of robbing and severely beating her employer, and seriously wounding her, was

BURLEY AND MINIDOKA DISTRICTS WANT GOVERNMENT POWER PLANTS

(Burley Bulletin) Construction of the power plant at American Falls is provided in a clause in the water and power contract between the Burley and Minidoka Irrigation districts, dated March 22, 1928, and re-issued in telegram from the two districts to the Bureau of Reclamation at Washington, D. C., on Saturday.

The same telegram, dispatched after the previous one, also asks for the proposed contract with the Idaho Power Company not to proceed. This proposed agreement with the power company would provide for the utility's commercial electrical needs of the project, and pay an annual fee of $31,000 for use of surplus water in the American Falls reservoir.

The districts, in asking that the government go ahead with construction of the power plant, pointed out that they were unable to submit a proposal to underwrite the undertaking. Their inability to finance the construction of the plant, however, was due to the fact that Washington, in the fact that the government had failed to submit an estimate on the cost of increasing the capacity of the irrigation system, the districts' original proposal was not adopted by the Minidoka district.

At present, the Burley office of the Bureau of Reclamation has completed its estimate on the expense necessary to increase the capacity of the irrigation system, the Denver office has so far failed to complete the report by making an estimate on the cost of "modernizing" the irrigation system.

The districts' original proposal, which the Burley office of the Bureau of Reclamation has completed its estimate on the expense necessary to increase the capacity of the irrigation system, the Denver office has so far failed to complete the report by making an estimate on the cost of "modernizing" the irrigation system.

The meeting last Friday night of the Burley and Minidoka Irrigation districts was adjourned without any suggestion from D. W. Bentz, executive director of the D. W. Bentz-Sacramento committee of reclamation for suggestions.

The wire from Denver follows:

"Referring to American Falls contract, you will advise the districts with which you are in agreement on which prompt action is desirable if district has any suggestions and should be submitted along with suggestions referred to in the telegram from Washington, including the proposal that the districts assume the responsibility of connecting the American Falls power plant. The contracts with the United States and the Burley and Minidoka Irrigation districts, providing for the con-nstruction of the power plant, are in the hands of the districts, the expense,

the districts believe. This interpretation was set forth in the communication to the Washington office, and the interpretation of the two districts that under subsection D, section 8, Burley contract,

and section 12, Minidoka contract,

the districts believe, is the obligation to construct power plant at American Falls."

Appropriations of $1,250,000 have been made available for the construction of building the American Falls power plant. If this appropriation is not used by July 1, 1939, it lapses back into the general fund of the state, excepting the Burley Irrigation district. If this provision recommendation should be executed, this money will be used to build the first unit of the power plant, and the remainder for the remaining three units. The first unit will take care of the commercial electrical requirements of the remaining units until the second unit of the remaining unit will be delayed until the North Side pumping project is built. The power will then be taken from the North Side pumping project, and the power will then be taken from the high lands on the North Side pumping extension.

Former College Youths Live to Learn New Lesson

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, July 7.—Two bright college students at the local university collaborated in writing a pamphlet entitled "The Case for Social Security," which was presented to the members of the National Education Association meeting here this week.

The students' experiments, also with some of the first four-cylinder cars which were then being built, between the complexity of "handling four small horses instead of one big, powerful animal."

The one cylinder or four, the young essayists condemned the entire charlatanade idea as unsound, impractical and doomed to certain failure.

Today, a quarter of a century later, both of the former Lehigh students are active in politics, and one of them, an architect, one of them has just graduated in operation a $2,000,000 addition to a $1,000,000 group of automobile factories. He is the president and general manager of the Oakland Motor Car Company. The other is Paul Gerhard, president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, who sells the Oakland and Pontiac cars which the former college church manufacturers.

Vandals Destroy New Road Sign On Gooding Highway

(Gooding Leader)

A recently repainted road sign at the junction of the highway at the top of the Blue grade, directing traffic from the west to the east, was destroyed by vandals on Gooding and other north-to-south towns and over the rimrock bridge, was destroyed by fire on March 3. October, Manager of the Game, whose thrill ride in a motor boat, is believed to be the work of the same individuals who damaged the irrigation structures along the opposite route.

The fact that the sign was burned from the top and that the supports were not marrred, would preclude any possibility, that the fire was accidental, as the result of the use of gasoline and kerosene in the vicinity.

Local chamber of commerce officials are at present trying to find out what extent it was feasible to enlarge the irrigation system so that the amount of water available for irrigation could be determined.

The meeting last Friday night of the Burley and Minidoka Irrigation districts was adjourned without any suggestion from D. W. Bentz, executive director of the D. W. Bentz-Sacramento committee of reclamation for suggestions.

The wire from Denver follows:

"Referring to American Falls contract, you will advise the

districts with which you are in agreement on which prompt action is

desirable if district has any suggestions and should be submitted along with suggestions referred to in the

telegram from Washington, including

the proposal that the districts assume

the responsibility of connecting the

American Falls power plant. The

contracts with the United States and the Burley and Minidoka Irrigation districts, providing for the con-

nstruction of the power plant, are in the hands of the districts, the expense,

the districts believe. This

interpretation was set forth in the communication to the Washington office, and the interpretation of the two districts that under subsec-

tion D, section 8, Burley contract,

and section 12, Minidoka contract,

the districts believe, is the obligation

to construct power plant at American Falls."

Appropriations of $1,250,000 have been made available for the construction of building the American Falls power plant. If this appropriation is not used by July 1, 1939, it lapses back into the general fund of the state, excepting the Burley Irrigation district. If this provision recommendation should be executed, this money will be used to build the first unit of the power plant, and the remainder for the remaining three units. BIBLE VERSES AND PRAYER

DO THE RIGHT.—To do justice and judgment is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice.—Prov. 21:3.

Pray hard; we should give our hearts to Thee and then Thou cannot do that which is right and well pleasing in Thy sight.

WHAT A STORY HOLE IN THE WALL COULD TELL.

"No roof for his head." No phrase epitomizes the diametrical opposite of wealth.

When a bank account is nil, when pockets are empty, then there is no place to shelter. Houses are closed. A man is dead-broke; but nature is kind, or carelessly generous at times, and leaves here-and-there places where one may warm himself and find shelter from the storms.

Such is the "Hole in the Wall." Only a cave, open to the weather as well as to the southern sun, arched ceiling and rocky walls black with the smoke of many fires—but it has sheltered scores, hundreds of derelicts as they drift through the upper Snake river valley.

Situated in the north wall of Rock creek canyon, midway down, it is easily accessible to the tenants who seek shelter, whether from the hard necessity of poverty, or from the more tragic need of avoiding the eyes of other men. Here they may stay for one night or for a season. Life is reduced to its lowest common denominator.

Stay on the floor, and a few gunny sacks that provide the luxury of sleeping quarters. One plutocrat possesses a single soiled comforter and a pillow which is a gunny sack containing a coat. No personal possessions litter the place, for either the owners are chary of risking their chattels without protection of locks and keys, else they have nothing to lose.

One thing alone—a magazine, clean and new, lying face down on the pillow.

It is the current number of Harper's Monthly, opened at a poem entitled "Farm Wife." The closing lines are deeply penciled.

"How once she loved the wild lake."

And clover sweet with rain."

Below, on the creek bank, is the primitive camp kit, where in cans and pails the provisions are cooked over a rusty grate. Not particularly different from the camp that men and boys are beginning to make all over the country at this season—except that this one is permanent.

It is as near being a home as many of the drifters ever have—or even want, perhaps. It epitomizes a state of existence for many men which seems far from what one should be for any man.

It is the custom of the local police to keep watch of the shifting guest list in the "Hole in the Wall," and from time to time they are brought up for investigation concerning possible connection with offenses. In a few instances that connection has proved to be real, but for the most part they are the drifting laborers or the malfitient incompetents who—how no one knows. They may beg or pilfer small food supplies, but this usually brings swift accounting and the order for everyone to move on. During the harvest season, the S. R. O. sign is out. But one lone tenant kept the place "open" all last winter.

Little is known of the history of "Hole in the Wall" before the irrigation of the Twin Falls tract. Perhaps it was a shelter for the Indians, perhaps the pioneers lumbering over the plains knew of it and built their fires in the mouth of the cave so applying the first ebony coat of paint to the walls. Perhaps the coyotes or bobcats found it good quarters.

With the coming of the construction crews, it was a safe and ready-made powder house, answering this purpose as long as needed. For a short time it was used as a city jail, and there is no record of prisoners escaping therefrom. Still later it was used as a pound for stray dogs.

But for the past few years it has been a hobo camp, a home for the homeless, an unofficial rooming house, an uncertain refuge from the rigors of the law—just "The Hole in the Wall."

And though it is not included in the official advertising which is spread in the pages of many newspapers and periodicals, it is an "attraction" which is well known by hundreds all over the Northwest.

THE BATTLE OF 1928 IS ABOUT TO BEGIN.

With the nomination of Governor Alfred Smith of the State of New York as Democratic candidate for president of the United States, the battle is definitely on between Governor Smith and Herbert C. Hoover, secretary of commerce in the cabinet of President Calvin Coolidge.

Of course it is too early to even make forecasts as to what is likely to happen within the succeeding four months during which a campaign expected to be among the most spirited in the history of this country will be waged.

There is much to be said in advance, that the interests of the nation will be best served if bitterness and misrepresentation can be eliminated. But under the peculiar circumstances prevailing, there will always be danger of the injection of two factors into the battle, that of the wet and dry issue and religion. Either one is charged with dynamite.

It may be left to the good sense of the American people to insist on the observance of rules of decency and fairness.
