HEAVY EXPORTS OF GOLD

From the Monthly Bank Letter of August Issued by The National City Bank of New York

Loss of Bank Reserve Tightens the Money Markets—At the close of the month the Reserve of Wall Street Money

THE exports and imports of gold from the United States in the period September-February inclusive, are shown by the following table:

Table with columns for EXPORTS OF GOLD and IMPORTS OF GOLD, listing countries and amounts in millions of dollars.

The Changed Credit Situation

Notwithstanding all the publicity which the current gold movement has received, the public does not seem to be impressed that the movement involves any change in banking and credit conditions in this country.

An Analysis of Brokers' Loans

There appears to be a general impression throughout the country that the New York City banks supply most of the money loaned for stock exchange operations.

There is another question to which attention should be given in this connection. Not one dollar of new credit is created by bidding up the rate, but can be created without addition to the reserves.

MILLE LENGLER TO QUIT GAME; IS OVERWEIGHT

"She's Played Enough for Entire Lifetime," Says Father.

PARIS—Suzanne Lenglen has no illusions about her future. She knows that her heyday is past and has decided that in the future she will play tennis only for her friends and papa.

"Papa" Lenglen, perhaps the greatest teacher of tennis in the history of the sport and the man who taught her daughter to become a world champion by ordering six hours' work every day, today said: "Suzanne has done up her racket and finished with tennis. For three months she has not played and has turned down many attractive propositions."

"Suzanne has had enough tennis for her whole lifetime," "Papa" Lenglen said.

"From time to time she may play for the pleasure of her friends or her mother and myself, but I don't think she will ever play before the public again. It is not a question of a revenge match between my girl and Miss Wills. Such a 'battu royal' is unfortunately out of the question."

"Whether she won or lost, Suzanne would bring ridicule on French sport if she opposed Miss Wills. The girls are not so hard up that Suzanne has to accept such a match."

"Professional tennis is not a serious good player cannot make a good living in that sport as a professional football player or skater could make. But Suzanne does not regret having left the amateur ranks, for she had an excellent income through America."

What "Papa" Lenglen did not say, but what French tennis critics have discovered is that Suzanne is about 35 or 40 pounds over her best playing weight, and it is doubtful if she could ever again get down to the poundage at which she plays best, 114 pounds, at Cannes, 1928.

RISKO - ROBERTI BATTLE TONIGHT IN TEN ROUND GO

Risiko to Try and Strengthen Claim to Title Vacated by Gene Tunney

BY GEORGE KINNEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Roberto Risiko, who has whipped Tony Bruno, Ureudino, Jack Sharkey and George Gaddy, will risk his heavyweight practice in a ten-round bout tonight at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, against Roberto Roberti, the Italian champion.

Not content with having the best claim for any of the heavyweights in the title vacated by Gene Tunney, Risiko plunges back into action tonight, and his foe is the toughest man in the unutilized division.

A little more than a week ago, a victory over Roberti developed him as a serious contender.

No man has beaten Risiko since Tony Bruno won the title in Detroit last fall. Since that defeat Risiko has defeated Sharkey and Gaddy, two of the outstanding contenders.

Roberti weighs 204 pounds and is six feet six inches tall. The Italian's size is not apt to prove any handicap to Risiko. The Cleveland boxer has won 107 prize-fights, including 110 knockouts in weight and almost six inches in height and beat the big men.

Harry Mills, the former "black menace," has been coaching Roberti. Mills was one of the best fighters to have made an improved fighter out of the big Italian.

Roberti has an iron jaw, and has taken the best shots of some of the hardest hitters since coming to this country. There is little chance that Risiko will stop him. If there is a knockout, Roberti may be the one to put over the fighting public, but that is a remote possibility.

SALT LAKE AND OGDEN TIE FOR LEAGUE SECOND PLACE

OGDEN, Aug. 15.—Salt Lake and Ogden tied for second place here yesterday when the Bees won the game in two. Walters, formerly of Twin Falls, pitched the nine innings for the Bees. He held the Gammers to three hits but walked four batters, four times to the plate for himself.

Both teams failed to present any fight baseball, making four errors. Kinney, Ogden pitcher, had a hard time as his offerings were pounded for 11 strikes. One of Walters' hits made the honor of the day.

The score: R. H. E.
Salt Lake 5 9 3
Ogden 5 9 3
Batteries: Walters and Ham; Kinney and Laybourne.

Kills Self When Forbidden to Play

By United Press
OAKLAND, Aug. 15.—In his denunciation of punning and photographs of athletes, Charles Wilson, 17-year-old high school kid, brooded because he could not take part in the sport of his choice.

An ardent lover of athletics, Charles was left from participation because of a weak heart from which he suffered for two years.

As the new school term approached, with the call for football applicants, Wilson's condition grew worse.

Last night he withdrew to his den, where each day recently he had spent some time reading by himself.

When his mother went to call him he found his body hanging from a chair.

HUNTER, REEKS TO PLAY
By United Press
RYE, N. Y., Aug. 15.—Francis T. Hunter, partner of William T. Tilden and No. 2 in the national ranking, has refused to play in the East-West match scheduled for Friday and Saturday of this week unless Tilden plays.

Tilden always has played in this important event. According to a player's union official, Hunter's refusal to play is a protest against the union's invitation because the management might succeed in using him as a box office attraction to swell the gate receipts despite the professional charges pending against him.

PRAYER—Teach us, Lord, how best to honor Father and Mother.

MONEY PROBLEMS UNSOLVED BUT BUSINESS STILL GOOD.

In a general sense business conditions throughout the United States continue to be good although there are some spotty conditions here and there due to local conditions. Of course the great center of interest in the business world is the New York market theoretically controlled by Wall Street. And lately the Federal Reserve System has had something to say about the matter, more particularly since the program was introduced of holding down speculation to a sane and reasonable level through increase in rates of interest on loans to brokers. But the strange thing about this plan has been that high interest rates have failed to check a marked advance in the sale price of industrial, rails, motors and other substantial stock issues. The war is still on and threatens to continue indefinitely.

The outstanding features of the past week have had to do with the crop prospects and traffic conditions. Crop reports in practically all sections of the country indicate bumper production. Wheat is especially strong and the farmers of the United States may possibly be up against rather stiff competition by reason of the vastness of the Canadian wheat crop, augmented by reported large yields in Russia. However those who profess to know about the situation believe that the wheat farmers will not lose money.

And the crop that is showing up well is cotton in the South. Unless the recent tropical storm did considerable unreported damage, the government estimate of 14,291,000 bales will probably stand. This means that the farmers of the cotton area will have real money in their pockets when the harvesting season is over.

In railroad circles there is an optimistic spirit fostered by reports from the Class I railroads covering the first six months of the current year. These reports show that the gross operating revenue during the first half of 1928 was only 3.9 per cent below that of the corresponding volume, the total of which is very little below the corresponding period of last year. Railroad earnings therefore are holding up exceedingly well, the gross operating revenues for the first six months of 1928 being reported at $2,906,856, 367 as compared with $3,024,939,350. While this shows some falling off, it is to be noted that operating expenses were more than proportionately reduced, the respective figures being $2,205,665,746 as compared with $2,315,550,185. This means that while there was a decrease of 3.9 per cent in gross operating revenues, there was also a decline of 4.5 in operating expenses.

ANOTHER MARVEL OF AN ERA OF GREAT MARVELS.

A remarkable recording of Secretary Hoover's acceptance speech was effected Saturday when it was transmitted by radio around the entire world, a broadcast which extended literally to the four corners of the globe.

However, a still more baffling accomplishment was the recording in New York theaters, less than twenty-four hours after the Republican nominee had spoken in the California stadium, of the picture and the voice of Herbert Hoover delivering his acceptance address at Palo Alto. Such an illustration points out only too plainly the possibilities of the movietone as an improved method of recording news events. And with the further development of its companion, the radio movie, when the next presidential nominees take their places before the microphone in 1932, not only their voices, but their images, their gestures as well, will be flashed on screens and broadcast generally.

With the movietone's coming into general use, what an added thrill it will be to witness public processions, to hear the sound of martial music played by nationally and internationally famous bands; to review sporting events amid the cries of the enthusiastic spectators, and even, perhaps, to hear famous prima donnas when landing on the home shores from trips abroad, to fairy carol, "Home, Sweet Home."

From the way these oil and fuel pipes go bloomy we figure what the trans-Atlanticks need most of all is a plumber.

One Mamma says she will see to it that her noisy boy is kept under "observation" at tomorrow night's band concert in the city park.

Our memory goes back to the time when, if a neighbor woman told how many quarts and pints she had put up, you knew she meant fruit.

A radio doesn't keep you broke buying records. On the other hand, a phonograph doesn't keep you broke buying tubes.

Other Viewpoints

A WARRANT FOR BLACKIE

THIRTY-ONE Henry Blackie, former chairman of the board of the Midwest Refining company, acted the efforts of the United States attorney to take him out of this country as a witness in naval oil reserve cases, civil and criminal. Unfortunely the senate committee was opposed to the idea. He has been in France where he sought refuge from the senate committee's investigation of the oil losses. Like other principals in the "continental oil deal," he has been "sincerely" kept to tell what he knows.

It is a long time since Blackie's support was cancelled. Property of his has been levied upon as a step toward collecting fines for refusing to appear as a witness. He is being held in custody by the navy and other agencies charged in connection with his income-tax returns. His holding could indicate that he will return for his own country. It may be different now that Blackie is an outcast from the "extradited" and a warrant for his arrest in France has actually been forwarded still as a man of principle, Blackie can not be expected to surrender tamely. Something has to be done to get him out of the country of money to buy clever attorneys to delay his extradition; and if necessary, to buy a "strong" judge, his conscience, as a self-respecting American citizen, may prompt him to do something to get out of the "United States" when he saw trouble ahead?

Blackie is one of the offshoots of world-wide reputation, has a self-imposed duty to perform. "Fugate" from the country has undertaken to demonstrate that his law can not touch him. It would be a sight on his journey to be brought some other under arrest on a mere charge of pedlary.

HOSS IN THE RACE

After and commensurate with the mayor of Pocatello, it is said to have finally made up his mind to test his mettle in the political arena as Democratic aspirant for the governorship.

Beyond everything else, Mr. Hoss is a man of the people. He is a well-known faculty of keeping his own in close proximity to the ground where actual campaigning are being done. He is a public figure. If Mr. Hoss has decided to enter the lists this fall; it is a fair chance that he could carry the state.

The situation which Mr. Hoss' candidacy will create is unusual. Personally, Mr. Hoss is an ardent dry. So is Governor Haldrup. But Al Smith is Governor. Honor is dry. And age can not nullify concrete law. Mr. Hoss can consistently make himself feel at home in the South camp.

Mr. Hoss is a campaigner. He is selling into the campaign literature that he has come the time when he can win. And we can promise even now that Mr. Hoss will have plenty of money to buy the real battle in Idaho.

HAM, LAMB, SHEEP AND MITTON

We are developing into a race of "sheep eaters." If statistics are to be believed, we are likely to believe that they are about all the real facts we have. In any event we are developing a strong and ardent liking for the sheep, to the fortune of the sheeping and the corresponding decrease in the number of the shepherds.

"There is a reason," as the sheep-eater man tells us, "the same reason we give for the sheeping of criminals, though why animals is another reason, having that, however, the reason is that the shepherds through their organizations have been advertising, getting a lot of publicity and creating the public to eat more of the sheep products."

We are told sheep flesh is better as food as it is. It is a matter of taste probably, and their death probably it is one of the "delicious" meats. Many of the things a few years from now we will desert so much milk, head beef, kidney and green peas and eat more of the less "caw meat" diet. It depends upon who influences us and how, and on the number of the shepherds having his business with the consumer suffer.

AIRPLANE VICTIM TO BE BURIED IN CLEVELAND

PAUL ALTO, Cal. Ann. 15—Funeral services will be held in Cleveland next week for Harry E. Higgins, 37, Detroit, retired steel manufacturer, who was killed here Saturday in an airplane accident, according to articles in this paper. The cause of the accident was a result of "an unavoidable accident," according to the coroner's jury.

Mrs. Higgins also was injured in the accident but will be recovered sufficiently by the latter part of the week to be discharged from hospital attendance.

Daily Poem

These lines I best of simple things—
Sun-dappled woods near water
Pine-scented paths, green lichen
And early shadows after dark;
And under gold of butternuts,
Glow moonlight on wind-chilled
And far sides where lust sunsets glow.

Wind, sky and tree I love full well,
The sun and moon and stars, the
Fur-cloaked snow window nooks,
Old chairs, pictures, hours of night,
And freckled red freckled;
Would I might not be a ship;
Each lonely heart-yearning soul;
Molly Bevan.

Lighter Side

Keep Him Indignant—Homebody (holding up a dog) to her neighbor: "What I found in my garden. What are you going to do about it?"
Neighbor: "I'll take care of it." "How, papa, if it ain't claimed in six months, it's yours!"

The Suit Answer—The plaintiff went through the witness stand and testified that the defendant took to their heels. "But can't the lady testify to their feet?" a good chase, managed to catch one of them. Puffing and blowing, she answered: "Yes, your honor, but my witness, didn't you?"
"Yes, sir," said the magistrate inter-rogator, "and I was running home, but I could not get the money to pay for it."

A Gentle Hint—The man looking in a girl's eyes just what she thinks of me.
The flow among the answers:
Well, Solome (blushing) will I applaud I ordered the look, waiter?

And a Whitebarrow—Murdock (before a lawyer's clerk): "How'd you like to lose a dog?"
Lawyer: "I'd sooner have my shivvel—answers."

Marriage Priests Finding Favor in Some Parts France

PARIS, Aug. 14.—French Catholics, in fact, a new outburst of propaganda in favor of the church, a result of a somewhat voluminous former project on the subject, reported in a bulletin of the conference who were excommunicated for having followed the dictates of their hearts is attracting considerable attention. It has been condemned by the ecclesiastical authorities of Paris as unjust and unwarranted. There are now several hundred married priests in the vicinity of Paris. It is reported that they are a church in one of the industrial suburbs, and survive all the tests and the tests of the Roman Catholic church, with the exception of the order, that they enjoy celibacy. Many of them have children, and most of them their living as writers, or spiritual advisors.

A few may be found at benches of important factories. The married priests, yet they continue to wear their religious garb, have been condemning for a time the formation of a new branch of the Roman Catholic church. In this they have been promised the support of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the French Senate and Chamber of Deputies, and an report says that the law has been passed in the national assembly for the creation of new centers in provincial cities.

Trout Are Dying at Magic Dam As Water Goes Down

Magic dam has but 44 feet of water left in it and is lowering at a rate of 18 inches a day, according to reports. As a result a shipment of southern Idaho are endeavoring to discover some means of preserving the trout in the lake which are shut off from escaping. Jerome sportsmen met there Monday evening to discuss the matter. A committee was appointed to investigate the situation and error and the game warden, being that something be done about the matter.

The water, in being drawn from the bottom of the reservoir, becomes frothy and muddy with silt, mud and trash so that the fish are unable to live in it or make a escape from the lake. At the upper end of the lake the water is muddy and choked off the fish. The trout are already coming nearer the surface to find freshly aerated water. As the level of the lake sinks they will become soft and flabby die. It is necessary to drain the lake to end the break in the control flow.

Sixteen planes of passenger fish have been suggested as being used to dig a tunnel through the control tower and to the upper part of the lake. The water is being pumped to the dam and through to the fresh water below the dam. Another suggestion is to use a pump to pump water overland to new waters, but it is deemed impracticable if cause of the great loss in transshipping. Fishing has not been allowed the trout are looking for air more than they are for food.

Tribesmen Again Making Trouble In Area Near Jordan

By United Press
LONDON, Aug. 14.—Whirlwind tribesmen, mostly those under command of Faisal Ed Dowish, again are on the war path and in a recent raid on the encampment of an Arab tribe killed every one in the village, the Arabic press correspondent of the Daily Express said today.
The Dowish tribesmen have been aided by those of the Muan, Trans-Jordan district and are all closely allied with the Emir 'Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, and the British air force are keeping alert with arms.

Went informed persons the correspondent said, are of the opinion the new measure is due to the failure of the present administrative regulations, governing removal of the Iraq government to demobilize military units.

PARIS—The Avenue du 14-Juillet was originally intended as a "promenade" similar to the Champs Elysees, but may yet see the dream fulfilled. SOUTH LOOKED UPON AS KEYSTONE TO SUCCESS IN DEMOCRATIC BATTLE TO LAND SMITH IN THE WHITE HOUSE

Cannot Afford to Take Any Chances in Holding Group Intact

Editor's Note Following is the third article in the series by Thomas L. Stokes telling of the political situation in the South as affected by Governor Smith's nomination.

By THOMAS L. STOKES United Press Staff Correspondent (Continued from Page One) Democratic political organizations in the South will be least of all in the coming presidential campaign to keep their States in line for Gov. Alfred E. Smith, but they go into the test eagerly for the rewards will be satisfying if the New York governor becomes president.

Leaders there believe Smith has the presidential candidate's best chance for election in the next year, because they think there is a chance for him to crush the former Republican incumbents in the North. By the same token, of course, the South must be kept in line, and which in the last analysis, may depend upon this.

Political machines are built on self-interest. Politicians of the rank and file who have labored at their small party posts through the long years since the Wilson administration, are hungry for the rewards that come with them in jobs and salaries, or preference, if Governor Smith were elected.

This will be a motivating influence in the campaign. The more important leaders are thinking of the better jobs, as cabinet officers, or members of the cabinet, or members of other positions which carry prestige and influence. To those down the line, they are holding out the lure of federal court jobs, postmasterships, and other posts of minor importance in the vast government machine, either at Washington or in the States.

There is much talk of the probability that the machine will be beginning to function. It usually is necessary to do much hard work for Democratic candidates in the South. But Smith must have the South. The loss of one or two States there would offset the gains in the regular States, and he would probably mean a Democratic defeat.

The task is the more difficult this year, too, because Smith's leaders must get out more than the normal regular vote of presidential years. Many Democrats in the South do not vote in presidential elections. Their interest stops with local primary fights. The regular vote, which usually carries a large part of the vote that turns out for presidential elections, because of at least a number of actual "boycotts" this year and of many stay-at-homes, is a serious menace.

While it would be too much to suppose that the South will be organized, yet a new and important factor—responsibility and honor—has been introduced into the picture.

Mr. Cullidge sketched an optimistic picture of the future of the South because republicans rather than "classical" party monarchists, respecting each other's territory and co-operating to the benefit of the people, are in power.

would result in temperance, instead of the present orgy of bootlegging, with the younger generation drinking because they think it smart. They also are attacking the enforcement work of the Republican administration.

The religious issue will lack the dramatic character that formerly in the Ku Klux Klan. This organization does not now wield the influence it once did, and has been the political power once centered into its ranks.

A brief reception was held at the station and when the presidential party was escorted to the Marathon county fairgrounds, Mr. Cullidge was introduced by Mr. Schaeffer, State League commander.

FLAMES FAITH IN FACT WAUSAU, Wis., Aug. 15.—(United Press.)—The Wisconsin state convention of the American Legion here today elected a new national committee, about to be elected in Paris, is the greatest step toward international peace in the 100 years since the World War.

"This agreement proposes a revolutionary policy among nations," he said. "It holds a vision of a peaceful relations than ever known in the world. It is a vision that will finish it. Its provision will provide one of the greatest blessings ever bestowed upon the world by the consummation of the first decade of peace."

The president expressed the hope that the new national committee would carry out the proposal to make a repetition of the world war impossible.

He said: "We have secured the consent of 14 nations to the negotiation of a treaty. The Kellogg agreement is a recourse to war, recognizing it as an instrument of national policy, and that it is a necessary evil."

"By taking a leading position in securing this agreement, which is a step toward the progress of humanity, we have demonstrated that when we have said 'no' to war, we have said 'yes' to peace."

"While it would be too much to suppose that the South will be organized, yet a new and important factor—responsibility and honor—has been introduced into the picture."

Here are two views of the American team on the opening day of the IX Olympiad at Antwerp, Belgium. The team is seen marching on the field of the stadium where the parade of nations was held. Below the United States representatives are massed behind their national colors.
