Hines in Hilarious Comedy at Orpheum

Posing in a series of graceful groups, depicting such artistic subjects as "The Graces," "Music," "The Dancers," "The Last Drink," "The Rosary," "The Runners" and "The First Barling," the living statues in bronze incalculable the vaudeville road show bill at the Orpheum theater last evening—Miss Johnson and company have an offering which is particularly pleasing. Mary O'Brien, the most and shiest girl; Leroy and Lacey, the Blue Belles, singers and dancers, and Fulkerson and Wagner, comedians, are clever in their lines.

"The Hilarious situations arise as Johnny Hines, in the role of the young happy-go-lucky inventor, tries to get the living statues to work together with his ingenious, blotter-like ink.

Each excitement, thrill and laugh are offered in the scenes. There is a daring race at midnight with all lights extinguished and the captain and crew holding the passengers as well as others. There is also a humorous and dramatic finish to the picture with Johnny Hines saving the situation.

A splendid cast of players to support the comedian, with Louie Lorenzo playing the leading feminine role and including Edmund Bruce, Walter James, Fred Kolby, Henry Harvey, Henry Roberts, Charles Gilbert, George Irving, Blanche Craig, Betty Egan and a score of others, Charles Hines directed the picture.

Idaho's License Plates Creating Much Interest

Mrs. Martha Hummel of St. Anthony state president of the Daughters and Professional Women's Club spent Tuesday in Twin Falls, Idaho, on a road following a trip over the state visiting the amateur club of the colony. Mrs. Hummel traveled overland to Iowa in June and to New Orleans in July to attend the national meeting of the club held in that city.

Much comment was elicited over the entire route, she reported by the Idaho license plates and interest shown everywhere in the resources and possibilities of this state. Invariably the "good" was whether Mrs. Hummel's party came from Twin Falls, and they reached the conclusion that this is one of the Idaho communities which is known outside the borders of the state.

Julie Says--

FOR the petite or small woman a thin little frock of light crepe satin was especially designed. For the part few years there has been a special line for a few designers who could successfully meet the problem of eliminating any possibility of the small woman looking grotesque in the same style of costume her taller sister could wear. Notice that this frock is all one color, the trimming being the dull side of the material. The band from the shoulder to the bust about the bird which is slightly rounded at the front and the points on the tiers at the sides of the skirt all make for light.

FARMERS HOLD UPPER HAND OVER POLITICIANS AT PRESENT TIME

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Farmers hold the upper hand over politicians just now. More articulate than ever in their appeals for relief, they have threatened to use this new weapon to get what they want, and for the first time in many years they are a considerable factor in a presidential campaign.

Numbering several millions, and normally Republicans, many have expressed discontent with the treatment under two Republican administrations.

Now they have many promises, closely parallel in some respects from both sides. And as to their decision would seem to depend on whether they think Herbert Hoover or Alfred E. Smith would be more likely to meet the farmers' needs.

Each nominee has pledged a three-pronged solution of the farmers' troubles. Each has promised to take the matter with him, if he is elected president.

Each has held out the hope of relief through tariff revision.

Each also has favored the completion of water transportation systems, inland waterways and a shipway from the Great Lakes to the sea, to reduce freight rates on agricultural products.

On the remainder of their program, the nominees are in variance.

Hoover, backed by the Republican platform, pledges "the creation of a federal farm loan bank, representative farmers to be clothed with authority, and resources with which not only to aid with further farm cooperation, but also to assist generally in the solution of farm problems, but especially in the fields of credit, finance, farmer-owned and farmer-controlled stabilization corporations to protect the farmer from seasonal and periodical surpluses."

Smith pledged "the creation of a federal farm loan bank, representative farmers to be clothed with authority, and resources with which not only to aid with further farm cooperation, but also to assist generally in the solution of farm problems, but especially in the fields of credit, finance, farmer-owned and farmer-controlled stabilization corporations to protect the farmer from seasonal and periodical surpluses."

Senator Gore Says Campaign Will Be One of Surprises

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Aug. 28.—Thomas P. Gore, former United States senator from Oklahoma, today expressed his Democratic campaign for the position of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, as president of the farmers of Pennsylvania.

Senator Gore was the principal speaker at the Democratic rally held in Williamsburg today with the annual summer meeting of the Pennsylvania State Farmers' Tomorrow Charles Curtis, Republican vice presidential candidate, will speak at a similar meeting.

In his address this afternoon Senator Gore declared that "This will be a campaign of surprises. The unexpected may happen anywhere."

He expressed himself as very optimistic concerning the chances of the Democratic nominee, explaining that Governor Smith has been elected in Pennsylvania. He expressed his opinion while Hoover is being hand-picked by opposition in the farming belt of the middle west.

Pennsylvania, Gore said, is worth twice as much as the Democratic vote. He said that the Democratic vote may be the time for the voters to go back to the old order has come.

Gore declared that the Republicans' claim priority of debts itself in their budget figures.

Republican property is a myth, a sheet of water, he said, and the success of what the Harding and Coolidge administrations have meant in American history, Gore said.

Death Toll Mounts From Dengue Fever

ATLANTA, Aug. 28.—Hundreds of a single million people through the metropolitan districts of Georgia today were reported suffering from dengue fever, which has spread rapidly over the nation in the past few weeks.

The most acute suffering is in Atlanta and Macon, the two major cities, where reports today said that 80 per cent of the people either were ill or recuperating slowly after having been afflicted with the disease.

Turkish authorities have taken precautions to prevent a spread of the disease from Greece across the Turkish border.

Address to London newspaper yesterday said that the entire population of Athens had been stopped by the spread of the disease.

Gamblers Driven Out of 'Nation's Most Widespread Town'

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 28.—New Orleans, the nation's largest gambling town, renowned as the country's "slot machine open" town is apparently facing a long siege of reformist administration which bids fair to shut down the gambling life.

Heretofore apathetic campaign have been waged against open gambling since it was outlawed a week or ten days and the luxurious appointed game pieces of the city and its precincts should be sent along forth in all their gayness. This time, however, it was different. The announcement was made a month or two ago that local business men backed by the Association of Gamblers, Voters, Merchants, Clergy and the American Legion, were free of gambling and would see that the name of change, Mark, and the city.

This announcement was followed by a warning to restaurateurs from the city hall and from Superintendent of Police Thomas lively with subsequent widespread raids. Never before in these campaigns have the licensed clubs come under such level of police largeness. This time, however, they too, were included in the campaign of "clean up" and today virtually every one of the 200 or 300 "slot clubs" are shuttered and dark.

The "clean up" had down gambling was taken to Boston Street by leaders in the New Orleans campaign. These leaders fought the Louisiana governor in shutting up the industry and Jefferson and St. Bernard parishes within New Orleans.

The governor's response was that New Orleans should first clean up its own area and then come to him with "clean shirts" and he would do the rest.

The fight was on. The merchants of the two parishes ahead mentioned were given orders to clean up. This resulted in the closing, at least temporarily, of gambling palaces in Jefferson and St. Bernard. Meanwhile New Orleans police carried on a vigorous campaign within the city, but not before Governor Leche had ordered to send national guard here to clear out the gamblers.

A prominent hotel and civic leader recently told the United Press that New Orleans today was free of the gambling "red" that of any time.

EDUCATIONAL ENDOWMENTS MORE THAN ONE BILLION DOLLARS.

The statement will probably come as a surprise to a great many people not conversant with the situation that endowments of all types of schools in the United States in 1928 exceeded one billion dollars. These figures are authentic inasmuch as they come from the Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior.

The total valuation of all school property in that year, according to the report, was approximately $8,125,085,472 and the grand total of enrollments in all types of schools was about 31,037,786. The total amount of endowments reported by schools in 1928 is as follows: Colleges and universities, $987,012,929; teachers colleges and normal schools, $19,425,113; private high schools and academies, $67,151,000; which make a total of $1,061,589,042.

The State departments of education report a total value of public elementary and secondary school property for 1928 of $4,616,603,589. Private high schools report $511,544,000. Teacher-training institutions, including endowments, have a total valuation of $202,630,512, and colleges and universities of $2,334,307,421. If the private elementary schools have property valued at as much as $400,000,000 this would make a total value of these institutions of $5,120,685,475 for grounds, buildings, contents and productive funds.

In this same year the States reported 256,104 public school buildings. A total of 215,439 of these are designated as elementary school buildings and 9,538 as high school buildings.

There are approximately 21,700 public high schools, 2,500 private high schools, 386 preparatory departments of colleges, and 125 secondary departments in teacher-training institutions. The teacher-training institutions number 402, of which number 101 are teachers colleges, 102 state normal schools, 27 city normal schools, 108 county normal schools, and 64 private normal schools. The colleges and universities number 975, of which number 153 are junior colleges.

As these figures are read the vastness of the educational activities in this country is realized to some extent and it is obvious that the need of a Department of Education with a Secretary in the President's Cabinet to furnish information and conduct research as to the best methods of administration is a vital one.

RAMSAY MACDONALD ON THE EVOLUTION OF THE CIVILIZED WORLD.

In a recent address before an enormous audience in the city of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Right Honorable Ramsay MacDonald, first Labor Premier of Great Britain, now on a tour of Canada, made the statement that through a process of steady evolution the civilized world is approaching a state of socialism which, in its broadest sense tends to serve and uplift mankind.

"Whether we like it or not," the former premier is reported to have said, "we are inevitably headed toward socialism and he cited the progress of the Dominion of Canada has made in that direction through government ownership of railways, radial electric lines and hydro-electric development projects through control of water power rights. He also called attention to the action of the Western farmers in combining in giant wheat pools for the control and marketing of the enormous grain crop of the Northwest.

In any event the great British labor leader and statesman has given his hearers and those who read the newspapers, something to think about and consider seriously. Certainly Canada is setting an example with regard to public ownership of public utilities, a program yet more or less in its experimental stage. How far we on this side of the line are prepared to go in that direction is problematical but there are indications that the people desire a reasonable control of natural resources that will not throttle private enterprise and cause business depression.

Perhaps Premier MacDonald is right in a general sense; we are more or less Socialists, in degree, especially as relates to the newer conception of fair play and justice in the field of economics and business. A new day is here in the matter of human relationships and while all the selfishness has not by any means been squeezed out of human nature, there is at least an attempt to be decent, liberal and, to some extent, unselfish.

There's Fun For All the Family In This Basement

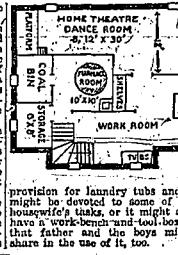

COMPACT ROOM FOR MAKES LAYOUT FOR RADIO AND MOVIE

"Tune in the radio—and on with the dance!" is the order of the evening in the home that has a combined music-room, radio-room and movie-theatre all fitted up in the home basement.

No rugs have to be rolled up nor furniture moved, nor are the more serious members of the family disturbed in their reading or serious conversations upstairs. But every one who knows the latest steps, or would like to hear the most popular music or see the latest movie—perhaps an amateur movie of members of the family—finds his way down to the chamber of pleasures that was once just a neglected half of the basement.

Just how this can be worked up in a few minutes is best indicated by the accompanying basement plan prepared by the staff of the Indiana Institution of Technology as an example of what can be done in utilizing basement space that usually is neglected.

relative importance of stabilized rail and highway traffic will then be determined. And if the railroads find they are coming out losers, they need not quarrel with fear. They may follow the example of the Union Pacific on the Lovelock-Yardland run—let the field themselves for the favor—and money—of those who prefer to travel rather than travel.

Three Crashes In City on Tuesday

Three slight automobile crashes occurred in the streets of Twin Falls yesterday.
The car of Mrs. E. J. Fuller going north was hit by a truck going south at the intersection two miles north from the east end of Main street. A front back fender and hub cap was the only damage sustained by Mrs. Fuller's car.
Parlier Richards' sedan was struck while trying to park in the 200 block on Main north by a car driven by E. Mason. Little damage was done.
A coach driven by Chas. Parker of Ellor collided with the car back-coming from the cutting on Main north, driven by Roy Cox. There was considerable damage done in the bending of fenders and denting of bodies, but the two drivers scolded the damages between themselves.

RADIO NEWEST ENEMY FACING RUM RUNNERS

Coast Guards Equip Fleets With Sets; Retaliation Promised.

BUFFALO--Radio sets are being used by the Buffalo coast guard fleet in the latest offensive against rum runners.
Powerful radio transmitting and receiving sets are being installed on each of the 75-foot coast guard boats that call Buffalo the home port, and liaison boats out through Lake Erie and Ontario to track down the contraband smugglers.
The ships will be in constant communication with strategic coast guard points along the American shore.
The ships equipped with radio will patrol the lakes most frequented by the smugglers who have the element and the coast guard boats to keep Americans supplied with wet goods.
The patrol boats will radio in information on shifting rum runners and the smaller and faster craft.
These stations will not be dispatched in an effort to force the wet goods but, according to rumors here, the boatmen refused to be stopped.
The rumors have it that they intend to contest radio with radio.
Way House News.
An increasing number of Canadian ships have been recently received as a site for an interference station, it is rumored. However, the station is not yet ready to be turned out. Then, too, there is the question of the Dominion navy's unit, and it is more than likely that the government officials will from upon each point of the interference type of station.

Provided a permit is obtained to operate an interference station, the station may be able to draw out all messages sent by the rum runners to shore points. The coast guard side will carry only 100 miles even when equipped in its best.
However, the building of such a station by a syndicate of rum runners is extremely unlikely and it becomes to look as if they will have to change their shipment areas to the American side the same as bootleggers.

BELIEVES BRITAIN WILL LINK WITH AMERICAS BY AIRPLANES

Sir Samuel Hoare Thinks the Long Trips Will Be by Dirigibles.

(Copyright, 1928, by United Press.) LONDON, Aug. 29.—Sir Samuel Hoare believes that Britain will be linked by air routes to the South America and with a number of her dominions beyond the seas, by regular trips of giant airships like the R-100 and R-101.

Sir Samuel expressed this opinion to a United Press correspondent during a conversation in his office at the air ministry in Whitehall.

"The minister who stated this belief that air travel in the future would employ airships for long distances and airplanes for short trips, at the same time he concluded that already he himself had deserted and may travel for the airways and told me that he kept appointments with tennis partners by dirigible."

"In speaking of the future of flying," said Sir Samuel, "one must not mind the expense of the dirigible. For short distances with frequent landings the airplane has great advantages. But for long distances I favor the airship. This is because dirigibles have a greater cruising range than airplanes and because of their more comfortable accommodation to passengers than can be obtained in the case of an airplane. "No doubt, of course, planes will be able to make regular trans-Atlantic flights in the future but they will have to be boats or seaplanes."

Sir Samuel spoke enthusiastically of flying as an important mode of transportation of the future. He said that flying had already attained such a degree of safety in England that it is now considered that even the Prince of Wales can fly without taking "unpleasant risks."

Asked whether or not he thought that air taxis would be a probability of the future, Sir Samuel declared that, in his opinion, this depended upon whether or not a machine could be perfected which could easily arise vertically from the ground or rise from the roof of a house.

"We purchased the rights to De La Cava's machine for this purpose," explained the minister.

"At present," he continued, "we are building several of these machines but we have not yet succeeded in producing a model of the required perfection. The experiments are proceeding normally, but there are inherent difficulties, and it is taken for granted that it will be some time before the difficulty is got to the right spot coupled with the proper degree of safety. As soon as we have proved one, the other development seems to be seriously hindered."

Sir Samuel is a confirmed flying enthusiast.

"For the past five years I have accomplished all my long journeys by air," he said, "and when I don't fly I use an automobile. I find it quicker than to wait for railroad trains."

Asked how he spent the time during his long flights, Sir Samuel explained that he both read and wrote books. Sometimes he took a nap to make up for the sleep he lost while engaged in politics.

"If I had not entered politics," declared the minister, "I should be playing Wimbledon."

Finally he explained his favorite sport. In connection with this he told the correspondent the story of how he "long ago, at an early function of note, he beat one of the most famous continental girl players of the world."

"I would rather you would not give away the secret of her name," cautioned Sir Samuel with a mischievous smile. "You see she most likely met me and after Wimbledon my opponent might resent it."

Sir Samuel carries a tennis racket with him on all his long flights.

This, he explained, was so that, as soon as he arrived at the terminus of his journey, he could "stretch his legs" in a fast game. The minister recalled one occasion when he was arranged by cable to play a game with the British tennis star, Mrs. Shepley Barron. Sir Samuel was scheduled to fly from London to Karachi. Before he left he notified Mrs. Barron by cable of the day he was expected to arrive at Karachi. On account of severe headwinds, however, his plane was delayed and he arrived one day late for the match.

When the minister finally reached the Indian airport, Mrs. Barron awaited him with a disappointed look on her face.

"I had a splendid game all arranged for you," she said.

"Never mind," replied the minister, adding despite the fact that he had just flown several thousand miles, "let us have it now."

Better Prices For Eggs Is Assurance

EDEN, Aug. 29.—The egg markets are showing a decline and we believe will show a gradual increase from now on for some time. The present statement of "The Hatchery," a bulletin issued every month for the benefit of members of the Idaho Egg Producers' Association, shows that the present prices show an advance of one cent per dozen over the previous year. The new contracts for 1929 are now ready for signature at the Twin Falls station and members are asked to save expense by calling at the office and signing when convenient.

All the poultrymen in Eden who are interested in the present situation with the service after a fair trial and hope that others may join with the "club" of home-bred raisers, and bring a truck in this district to collect eggs. The bulletin states that the number of orders of poultry raisers has been reported at the office from various sections where the association operates. The members of the association are co-operating to prevent the loss of their eggs to the outside market.

TODAY'S GAMES

Table listing today's games for American League, National League, and other leagues with scores and locations.

FIRE CONSUMES FILER BUILDINGS; LOSS IS ESTIMATED AT $35,000

Fire of unknown origin, breaking out at 2 o'clock this morning, completely destroyed the entire town building, which had been built by the Idaho Filer, shortly consumed the Reynolds Brothers' garage and the Reynolds Roof Garden, the loss being estimated at $35,000 by H. A. Reynolds of Twin Falls, and Charles Reynolds of Idaho Falls.

The dance hall on the upper floor, which but two hours before had been the gay scene of well-dressed couples, was completely destroyed. The entire building, of brick construction, collapsed during the progress of the fire.

Practically the entire town turned out to assist in fighting the flames this morning, but succeeded in bringing the flames under control and preventing the fire to the Reynolds building.

All mail and government property in the postoffice adjacent to the burning structure were saved. Damage to the postoffice quarters was estimated at $250, remodeling on which will begin at once.

H. A. Reynolds this morning stated that it was not their intention to rebuild. The dance hall, which has been occupied by P. J. Hall for several years, was one of the most popular pleasure places in this vicinity.

Rebelle Nurses Settle Troubles

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 29.—Thirty-one rebel nurse women, who resigned admission "strike" restrictions at Hillman hospital here today, capitulated in plans for a walkout when Dr. E. H. Hagan, superintendent, refused to listen to their ultimatum.

Just as differences with the nurses were settled, however, it was learned that 25 nurses had called an indignation meeting for this afternoon to discuss a proposed "strike" over dismissal of Dr. D. D. Carr.

The nurses had voted to strike because hospital authorities limited their number of night-out work to two and because they objected to giving the nurses' destination and purpose of every date.

SMITH CONSIDERS SPEECH SCHEDULE

By THOMAS I. STOKES (United Press Staff Correspondent) SEN. HOWIE TO SYRACUSE WITH GOVERNOR SMITH, Aug. 29.—Speaking schedules for his Democratic presidential campaign called the attention of Governor Alfred E. Smith as he sped across New York today en route to the state fair at Syracuse.

The Smith train was due in Syracuse at 3 p. m. It was unlikely that the governor will deliver an address although he will make at least one appearance before the thousands of persons gathered there for the state exhibits.

Three tentative speaking schedules were in the nominee's brief case when he left New York, one calling for a tour of the Pacific coast as well as the farm centers of the northwest. He may decide to accept one of the schedules—returning to Albany tomorrow night.

Hines in Hilarious Comedy at Orpheum

Posting in a series of graceful groups, depicting such artistic subjects as "The Graces," "Music," "The Banquet," "The Last Drink," "The Robbery," "The Runners" and "The First Burial," the Hines act in a brilliant and hilarious comedy at the Orpheum theater last evening. Miss Johnnie Hines and company have an offering which is particularly pleasing. Mary O'Brien, the song and dance girl; Leroy and company, the comedians, and Miss Johnnie Hines, are clever in their lines. The feature picture is "The Wright Idea," an original story by Jack Townley, directed by Johnny Hines, who was aware of the fact that a great deal of comedy occurs every day amongst the sober routine of a business office.

The hilarious situation arises as Johnny Hines, in the role of the young happy-go-lucky inventor tries to get to the inner office of the big boss with his tampons, blisterless ink. Much excitement, thrills and laughter are offered in the scene. There is a scene in which the inventor's plans are extinguished and the captain and crew holding the passengers as prisoners. There is also a humorous and dramatic finish to the picture with Johnny Hines saving the situation. A splendid cast of players in support the comedian with Louise Lorraine playing the leading feminine role and including Edmund Brown, Walter James, Fred Kelsey, Henry Barrows, Henry Hebert, Charles Giblin, George Irving, Blanche Craig, Betty Beau and a score of others. Charles Hines directed the picture.

Julie Says --

FOR the petite or small woman this little frock of black crepe satin was especially designed. For the past few years there has been a special field for a few designers who could successfully meet the problem of eliminating any possibility of the small woman looking grotesque in the same style of costume her taller sister could wear. Notice that this frock is all one color, the trimming being the dull side of the material. The band from the shoulder to the hand about the hips which is slightly rounded at the front and the points on the flairs at the sides of the skirt all make for femininity.

BOBBY PICKED TO WIN TITLE

English Have Forlorn Hopes of Capturing Walker Cup-Thursday

By United Press
CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The eve of the sixth battle for the Walker cup, which will start tomorrow, with two ball foursomenes over the picturesque links of the Chicago Golf Club, took Captain Tweedie of the British, who leading a forlorn hope against the strong arm of American amateurs under the captaincy of Bobby Jones.

The outcome is taken for granted for the British amateurs do not even represent the full strength of their native links, and appear hopelessly outclassed by the defender.

With the national amateur championship in which Jones will defend his title, now only little more than two days away, Atlanta's Bobby appears likely to capture his fourth championship of the British Isles.

Last year in Minneapolis, nothing craves thought that Jones had perhaps reached the peak of his brilliant career. Bobby took his golf and left it alone this past winter.

But when Bobby arrived at Woodmont, it abruptly became apparent that the winter's rest had in no wise impaired his game.

Jones demonstrated once more that there is no limit to what he may be expected to do with a ball. In the forthcoming matches the battle which Bobby will put up against his old and oft-conquered enemy, par with more interesting to most golfers than the outcome of the Walker cup matches.

Bobby yesterday shot his ninth consecutive round under 70 when he went over the difficult Blossom course in the Warren Wood Memorial contest in 57-30-67.

So startlingly good was the Atlanta game that one of the British players remarked:

"It makes every course look easy."

The Boston Red Sox beat the Philadelphia Phillies in the first game, but Bob Gray pitched masterly in the pitcher's box. Pirate Come-Back May Upset League Race for Pennant

By United Press
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The comeback of the Pittsburgh Pirates may upset all calculations on the National League pennant race.

A few scattered defeats flung the 1927 National League champions were back in the first division today, hung on to the lead with the Cincinnati Reds. The Pirates, the day in and day out, have been in a club which was playing, instead, last to June and July, and the Pirates may be the team the St. Louis Cardinals have to beat to win the pennant.

Although tied for fourth place with the Reds, the Pirates were only six points back of the New York Giants in second place and two points back of the Chicago Cubs in third place.

The comeback of the Pirates today can be for the fourth place to second place.

The Pirates have come back today and collected 10 hits in the last seven games, an average of more than 14 hits a game. They made 11 hits yesterday in beating the Philadelphia Phillies, 9 to 2, and 16 to 7.

EARLY NEW ENGLAND MAPLE NOW DOMINATES ANTIQUE HUNT

DEMANDS for colonial interiors which for more than a decade have sent antique hunters scurrying about the Eastern and Western States are at present directing attention toward the native hardwoods of New England, probably used for the first purely American furniture.

The New England woods worked early with maple, and when the art of cabinet making developed new woods were found in a material that for lightness and freshness adapted itself readily for interiors. Maple is a colonial interior which for more than a decade have sent antique hunters scurrying about the Eastern and Western States are at present directing attention toward the native hardwoods of New England, probably used for the first purely American furniture.

Maple is sought at present not only because it is somewhat rarer in old-trees than some of the other woods, but also because of the demand for a touch of brightness in the treatment and maintenance of the trees.

FIRE CONSUMES FILER BUILDINGS; LOSS IS ESTIMATED AT $35,000

Fire of unknown origin, breaking out at 2 o'clock this morning at Filer, later consumed the Reynolds "filing" building, the Reynolds Roof Garage, the Reynolds building at 355,000 by H. A. Reynolds of Twin Falls, and Charles Reynolds of local owners of the building. It was a total loss, neither the building nor the automobile in the building, the first floor of the building which was also destroyed, being covered by insurance.

The dance hall on the upper floor, which but two hours before had been the scene of well-attended dance was completely destroyed. The entire building, of brick construction, collapsed during the progress of the fire.

BELIEVES BRITAIN WILL LINK WITH AMERICAS BY AIRPLANES

Sir Samuel Hoare thinks the Long Trips Will Be by Dirigibles.

(Copyright, 1929, by United Press)

WEDNESDAY, Aug. 29.—At a meeting, Sir Samuel Hoare believes that Britain will be linked by air with North and South America and with a number of the world's dominions by means of regular trips of giant airships like the H-100 and H-101.

Sir Samuel expressed this opinion to a United Press correspondent during a conversation in his office at the air ministry in Whitehall.

The minister also stated his belief that air travelers of the future would employ airships for long distances and airplanes for shorter trips.

At the same time he confided that already he himself had deserted rail travel for air travel, and told of how he kept appointments with tennis partners by air.

"In speaking of the future of flying," said Sir Samuel, "it is not to be in mind the question of distance. For short distances with frequent landings the airplane has great advantages. But for long distances, I favor the airship. This is because dirigibles have a great advantage over airplanes in that they are more stable than planes and, because of their large hulls, can give far more comfortable accommodations to passengers than can be obtained in the cabin of an airplane."

"No doubt, of course, planes will be able to make regular transatlantic flights in the future but they will have to be built or equipped."

Sir Samuel said that the possibility of flying as an important mode of transportation of the future. He said that flying has already attained such a degree of safety in England that it is now considered that even the Prince of Wales can fly without taking "inland risks."

"Asked whether or not he thought that air taxis would be a probability of the future, Sir Samuel declared that in his opinion this depended upon whether or not a machine could be perfected which could carry articles vertically from the ground or from the roof of a house."

"We purchased the rights to De Cievre's machine for the purpose of experimenting along these lines," explained the minister.

"As regards the dirigibles," he continued, "we are building several of his machines but we have not yet succeeded in producing a model of the required perfection. The experiments are proceeding normally, but there are inherent difficulties and it is taking longer than we expected to overcome them. The difficulty is to get the right speed control with the proper degree of safety. As soon as we improve the one, the other development seems to be automatically hindered."

Sir Samuel is a confirmed flying enthusiast.

"For the past five years I have accomplished all my long journeys by air," he said. "And when I don't fly I use an automobile. I find it quicker than to wait for railroad trains."

"Asked how he spent the time during his long flights, Sir Samuel explained that he both read and wrote books. Sometimes he added he took a nap to make up for sleep he lost while engaged in politics."

"I had no non-entired politics," he claimed the minister. "I should be playing at Wimbledon."

Tennis, he explained, was his favorite sport. In connection with this he told the correspondent the story of how not long ago, at a private function at not the best of one of the most famous continental club players of the world.

"I would rather you would not give away the secret of her name," cautioned Sir Samuel with a tactful smile. "You see my wife might not like it and after Wimbledon my opponent might resent it."

Sir Samuel carries a tennis racket with him on all his long flights.

This, he explained, was so that as soon as he arrived at the terminus of his journey, he could "stretch his legs" in a fast game. The minister recalled one occasion when he arrived by cable to play a game with the British tennis star, Mrs. Shepherd Barron. Sir Samuel was scheduled to fly from London to Karachi.

Before he left he notified Mrs. Barron by cable of the day he was expected to arrive at Karachi. To his surprise, however, his plans was delayed and he arrived only a day late for the match.

"When the minister finally reached the Indian airframe, Mrs. Barron was waiting with a disappointed look on her face."

"I had a splendid game all right," he said, "but I was a bit out of hand."

"I have," replied the minister, "and I was a bit out of hand."

WAVE FAREWELL TO GOVERNOR

Alfred E. Smith Given Ovation as He Leaves New Jersey After Visit

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Governor Alfred E. Smith returned here Tuesday through lanes of old-fashioned "free" in New Jersey's industrial cities as Democrats of that state waved him farewell in a more colorful demonstration than any accorded him in his four-day visit.

The governor was pleased with his New Jersey welcome and state officials leaders told him the greeting he would carry the state.

The farewell demonstration for the candidate, which was inspired by Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Democratic leader in northern New Jersey, began at Perth Amboy about 11 o'clock. The governor's car was halted there by eager crowds which started about waving torches and shouting "HITTING AT."

It was difficult to climb over the car again. Children clattered over the back. Others blocked it in front. Finally the car was cleared and the automobile moved forward.

Crowds remained up until nearly midnight after waiting for three hours to see the governor.

The climax came in Newark, as it did on the governor's entry into New Jersey last Friday. Thousands lined the streets. The candidate's car met

PRESIDENT IS PLEASED WITH ANTI-WAR PACT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—President Coolidge has congratulated President Doumergue of France upon the successful conclusion of the anti-war treaty negotiations which resulted in the signing of the treaty in Paris.

Mr. Coolidge's message said: "It gives me great pleasure and satisfaction to extend to you and through you to the representatives of the nations assembled in Paris, my cordial congratulations on the successful outcome of the negotiations inaugurated by France and the United States for a treaty renouncing war as an instrument of national policy and pledging the signatories to seek only by peaceful means settlement of differences which may arise between them."

"The treaty had its inception in the proposal submitted last year by the government of France to the government of the United States; the idea of Monsieur Briand has been made world wide. I am confident that the simple provisions of this treaty will be accepted by all nations because I am sure there is everywhere a yearning for peace."

"It is a great forward step in the preservation of peaceful relations between the nations and therefore will, I know, prove in a historic document in the history of civilization. It has been a privilege to the United States to contribute to the success of this movement, a satisfaction to have been associated with France and other peace-loving nations in the signing of the most important law of the deepest aspirations of the human conscience."

To Prevent Mildew

To prevent clothes from mildewing in a dark closet during warm, damp weather keep them on shoe trees or stuffed with paper and placed in a well ventilated, dry, light place. If any mildew is found wash it off with warm water and soap, or simply wash off and dry the clothes well afterward.

The Best Woods Tool

An axe is useful a hundred times a day, besides its regular capacity of getting in woodwork. It provides test stakes and poles. It clears ground for your camp, removing saplings and brush. It makes your sawing easy. Stuck into a log, it makes an arrow for such minor timbering and blacksmithing as one may have to do. Fish heads, ribs of game and small bones are cut most easily with the axe than with the hunting knife.—Field and Stream.

Fault Not His

"We don't understand some of the things you said in that speech of yours," remarked a constituent to the member of the legislature. "Then," replied the member gently, "you should not find fault with me. What you do not thoroughly understand you cannot intelligently disapprove of."
