LIQUOR WINS BALLOTTING IN SOUTH WALES

Australia Voted Against the Prohibition Law by a Heavy Majority in Referendum Held Today; All Electorates Favor Present System.

Sydney, N. S. Wales, Sept. 1.—New South Wales went today by a heavy majority, returns from the referendum on prohibition in the state.

Latest figures gave 676,000 against prohibition to 259,000 for. None of the 40 electorates in the state voted against prohibition. Returns from many districts were complete.

The election proceeded without disorder. First returns from the federal capital territory, which has been dry, showed a wet trend.

Sydney, N. S. W., Sept. 1.—The people of New South Wales today will decide by a referendum as to whether they will follow the example of the United States in the prohibition of alcoholic liquor in the state.

Those on the other side are opposed to prohibition on practical and ethical basis. They believe there is need for some reform in the liquor traffic, but are opposed to its total prohibition.

The act which necessitates the taking of the referendum is the prohibition with compensation. It is the compensation problem which makes a large section of the public opposed to the prohibition.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Public Minister Assures French There is No Cause for Opposition.

PARIS, Sept. 1.—Minister of Marine Georges Leygues, in an interview with the United Press, assured the American public that the Franco-British naval agreement contains no element which will arouse the opposition of Washington and merely completes the arrangements existing since the war between England and France.

It is evident that public opinion in the United States has been based on the wrong issue. Leygues explained that there were differences existing since the war between the French and British admiralty concerning naval policies.

Only questions of airplane carriers and battleships, but we were interested in other craft. Several conferences, including one conducted in London, led to such an agreement acceptable to both England and France.

GENEVA, Sept. 1.—The league of nations council called its reply to the demand for a referendum on the Monroe Doctrine. The council was unable to agree on a demand for a referendum to define the scope of the American declaration of territorial policy.

CORRUPTION IS FORESEEN ISSUE OF IMPORTANCE

Increasing Emphasis Being Put on Issue Following Talk by Robinson.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Increasing emphasis by Democrats on the issue of "corruption" was foreseen by politicians today following Senator Joseph T. Robinson's address at Hot Springs, Ark.

Robinson, accepting the vice presidential nomination, devoted the first 1,000 words of his speech to this issue. He carefully reviewed the cabinet and election candidates during the last two Republican administrations...

Robinson, in treating the corruption subject, cited the cabinet members, including former Attorney General Daugherty, former Secretary of Interior Parsons, former Secretary of War Woodrow Wilson, and former Allen Property Custodian Miller.

Previously Herbert Hoover, in his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination, maintained that Republican administration officials who served as a cabinet officer, could not be held responsible for the scandal.

Smith, in his acceptance speech, said: "The Republican party today is responsible for the widespread dishonesty that has honeycombed its administration."

Smith sought incidentally to emphasize the disclosure made in the federal trade commission report regarding public utilities publicly held, by promising the Democrats would substitute "truth" for "corruption."

He alone of the presidential and vice presidential nominees alluded to the utilities investigation.

SUPERIORITY OF AMERICAN GOLF CLEARLY SHOWN

Bobby Jones Will Defend Title at West Newton Tourney Sept. 10.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—The superiority of American amateur golf over that of the British has been demonstrated sharply by the results of the Walker cup matches at Westcott, where the United States team, captained by Bobby Jones, won by the count of 11 to 1.

Not accurate forecast of the outcome of the impending national amateur championship at Haverham was furnished by the contest for the International team trophy, which the United States won by the count of 11 to 1.

Bobby Jones, who will defend his title on the final at West Newton, Mass., in the tournament which starts September 10, overcame his opponent, P. Phillip Perkins, the British amateur champion, 13 up and 12 to play.

The rout of the British, was not unexpected. Rather, the unusual feature was that they who were a close match. The Chick Evans, the lone American loser, had his heart in his game, but which well have defeated Tony Foreman, the prizewinner, and his partner in the administration of a thorough cast of whitewash to the westward of British tees which ever challenged for the Walker cup.

If he goes as an amateur golfer to defeat Bobby Jones in the national championship, losing the choice.

Grief Stricken Mother Searches Disappeared Son

Arnold "Bud" Menchen, 17 is thought to be on the Snake River somewhere running gold, according to advice from the sheriff of Idaho at Salt Lake City. The woman man is wanted badly by his mother, who is grief stricken over his long absence.

She has offered a reward of $100 for any information leading to his return.

"Bud" left home June 19, 1928, and was going on a hike in the hills; but he has not been seen since, although the monthly mail of Salt Lake City have been searched by mounted officials, soldiers and Boy Scouts, fearing that he may be hurt or dead in the hills.

In his letter, her chief burlesque of Salt Lake City says: "If the boy is not found shortly it is feared that the mother may completely collapse, as she is hearing a nervous breakdown from this long anxiety and suspense following his disappearance."

BIBLE VERSES AND PRAYER DEATH AND BIRTH—A good name is better than precious ointment, and the day of death than the day of one's birth. Eccl. 7:1. PRAYER—When our call comes, we gladly run as children from school, to be at home with thee, our Father.

PARADE OF THE REAL AND FALSE IN EVERYDAY LIFE.

The desire of so many to attract attention, to appear prosperous, to sail under false colors, causes them to impose upon themselves the chains of slavery. Monthly payments in many instances are to be commended but so often they are entered into without due consideration of the ability to pay and are therefore ill-advised. The living above one's means is a jealous and inexorable task-master that demands days of drudgery, hours of worry that cause new wrinkles and shorten human life. The momentary and false satisfaction that comes from putting on a show is small compensation for the sufferings entailed and the gray hairs acquired.

The old-car does very well and meets all requirements until the next-door neighbor buys a new model with a modernly-shaped hood. The summer suit would do very well for another season but what would people say? The furniture looks great until the wonderful bargain sale is advertised in the newspaper. And when pay day comes, the embarrassment involved in not having funds in the bank to meet the obligations due.

When one pauses to think and observe, it is obvious that it is not necessary to cover the real thing with gaudy labels in order for its true worth to be known. It is a well-established fact that those who have means and are successful in trade, business or profession, care little for the appearance of wealth that others sacrifice so much to maintain. And should one care to investigate further, it will generally be found that those who are on "easy street" today were not averse to establishing a little nest-egg in years gone by and were willing to do without camouflage and gaudy paint.

Yet man's inherent enemies, jealousy, envy, false pride, the much talked of inferiority complex and other minor considerations lead deeper and deeper into a sea of bills until it becomes a constant struggle to keep the head above water. The little nest egg that was going to be put away in order to make a right start in life, never materializes. The laying of the foundation of success by establishing a savings account is put off until tomorrow and tomorrow never comes.

The ability to be independent, the joy of freedom from debt, the knowledge that you can look every person in the eye, knowing that you are square with the world and headed toward success, is often traded for a mess of pottage, a mirage that is productive of nothing but hopelessness.

It is a certainty that if dream castles are to become realities, one must make an early start at gathering the stones. And oftentimes those stones are heavy yet, strange to say, after the foundation is laid, the superstructure becomes lighter and lighter as the goal is approached.

A half hour spent in any local credit bureau would, if the facts were permitted to become known, startle and amaze the average man and woman who possibly give little thought to the realities existing around them on the streets and in the homes. And in this respect the credit bureaus are rendering a real service, not only to the merchants in protecting them against fraud, but to the individual whose tendency to spend unwisely, as checked by the knowledge in possession of the merchant that other obligations holding priority, have been neglected.

To be able to be honest with ourselves and to be content with the real instead of the pretended, is a genuine accomplishment.

A PEEP INTO THE BACK ALLEYS OF TWIN FALLS.

There never has been nor is there ever likely to be anything touching on the romantic or poetic about back alleys and it is doubtful if they have ever afforded subject-matter for editorial comment except on those occasions when newspapers have been engaged in some sort of program of civic clean-up.

So, in order to be a little bit different and to give credit where credit is due, we submit that certain back alleys in Twin Falls are worthy of special mention and favorable comment. The occasion for all this to do is the recent completion of new pole lines by the Idaho Power Company. Nor does it represent a corporation dream of the compliment The Times did pay, not the power company but those workmen who have erected the poles and strung the wires in accordance with the best modern practice in this special article of public service. There may not be anything artistic in telephone, telegraph or electric power poles but assistance a job has been done that is well-nigh perfect. The alignment is perfect, the wiring uniform and standard and the whole undertaking one that reflects credit on those who know their business. It is a bit of work beyond commendation and brings forth a word of commendation and brings forth a word of commendation because of the ability and ingenuity

NEWSPAPERS AND HUMAN BEINGS (Continued from Tribune) One thing that will forever mark the country newspaper is the human element which, just this day, so lacking in the metropolitan daily, subscribers to the country newspaper approximate a great family. The "milk human kindness" flows through the columns of the country newspaper while the metropolitan daily is a find example of the products of a highly mechanical age. One reads, for instance, this illuminating example of this thought: "The physician, in order to try a man committed suicide by leaping into the river. The editor of the country weekly in that town printed the story as a part of the weekly scribble of news of his community and he sent it to all of the subscribers of his paper. That is, it was read by all except one subscriber."

The aged mother of the suicide, who lives in a big city not far away, is a subscriber to the home town weekly. In one issue she read how her son had died of pneumonia caused by falling into the river. Hers was the only paper that carried that story. The editor had lifted the suicide by falling into the river, hers was the only paper that carried that story. The editor had lifted the suicide by falling into the river, hers was the only paper that carried that story.

The name of this editor is A. W. [Name obscured] and he is the publisher of the [Name obscured]. There are those who may contend that it is in this way wrong, that no national newspaper should run such a headline. But there is another explanation. It was, recently, the scene of a brutal murder of a school teacher by a negro. Her seventy-two-year-old mother was kept in ignorance of the circumstances surrounding the daughter's death. The local newspaper printed a special edition of one copy which was delivered to the mother who was a subscriber to the paper. This one copy told of the daughter's death and stated that she had been killed by an automobile.

The newspaper which acted in this kindly fashion was the [Name obscured]. The world, we think, is just a little bit happier because these things were done. Perhaps they do little to help with truth and perhaps they are somewhat unbecomingly instances of the human kindness marked in the conduct of the country newspaper.

THE WHEAT IS A POOR MEASURE (Dallas News) When a farmer drives into town with his wagoned full of wheat, the buyer comes out with his little brass tester and levels off the bucket of grain and solemnly weighs it to find out how much wheat he has in the load. The price is graduated so that substantially the buyer is getting the same amount of wheat. The farmer who drives the wheat to the mill is graded for weight and the farmer is asked to take a load on it as compared with the No. 1 wheat price. There is nothing dishonest about this. It is a trade custom which has been in practice for years. But when the buyer loads up his car with wheat and ships it down to Dallas, the examination doesn't stop with grade testing. The protein content of the wheat is tested. The significance of that is that the highest percentage of protein often is found in the smallest wheat. The protein content which makes No. 1 wheat look so good and fat and good to look upon is not so much in evidence in No. 2 wheat. But the protein element is there in greater proportion. And the mills are paying premium for protein content. It works out that the No. 2 wheat may be worth more to the mills than the No. 1 wheat. Wheat men say that this is actually the case in a considerable quantity of wheat grown in northwest Texas.

The farmer who grows the wheat which the mills are demanding and for which they pay a premium—protein content—is a little better off. Does he know the protein content of his wheat? He does not. The chance is that the street buyer doesn't know either. All he knows is to bring out his little brass scales and determine the weight of the wheat. The price of wheat is made to work out roughly on a pound basis.

It is a pity that the bushel measure is any longer. The thrasher and combines measure by weight. The miller weighs the wheat. The miller's measure by weight. Why go through the formality of a bushel price that has to be adjusted to the weight of the wheat? Why not buy the wheat by pound measure and grade it on its true acceptability for mill purposes? If the miller wants protein content, the man who raises the wheat ought to test and find out that at present somebody else gets paid for it.

A MODEST HERO (New York Telegram) When a woman passenger threw herself from the steamship "Saturata" at the foot of West 4th Street the other day, the stewardess heaved a life buoy to where they saw the woman. But the tide swept her into a sea of space between the liner and the pier.

Olivero Caterich, 16 years of age, was a clerk of the line, without hesitation dived from the pier to the water, forty-five feet below, saving

Lighter Side

A New York City school teacher tells about a little boy whose coat was so difficult to fasten that she went to his assistance. As she touched at the hook, she said: "Did your mother hook this coat for you?" "No, yes," the boy's astounding reply. "Who bought it?" "Children, The Magazine for Parents."

A Consultation. The old gentleman was very fond of golf, but his play seemed to get worse and worse. Finally, after missing the ball every time, he turned to his patient companion and remarked: "Dear doctor, there can't possibly be worse players than myself." "Perhaps there may be worse players," said the boy emphatically, "but of course they don't play." —The Western Christian Advocate.

Handicap. Before the women's golf championship was played, a certain course was for some days haunted by practicing ladies. Their waste baskets and an old gentleman who went out daily to have his hand up.

Insulted. "What's your name?" "Little Boy—Willie Smith." "Well, Willie, what's your address?" "Little Boy—it ain't a dress; it's a lunch." —Pearson's.

And a Nice Cover. "That's my latest book. What do you think of it?" "Say, that is nice paper!"

A Problem. Contractor: "Today we start building that roundhouse in Tanshadow, consisting of four wheels to lay the cornerstone." —Life.

The Difficulty. Two children had been trying to find their way home. "Finally, one of them said, 'I know where we live.'" "Hub," said the other, "I know where we are all right, but I don't know where my place is." —The Christian Science Monitor.

Insulted. Gentleman: "What's your name?" "Little Boy—Willie Smith." "Well, Willie, what's your address?" "Little Boy—it ain't a dress; it's a lunch." —Pearson's.

And the woman and swam with her to a straggler where they were hoisted to safety. Caterich, who has been in this country only a little more than a year, when commended for his act, said: "I did not consider it a heroic deed, but I was glad to be of any service to the attention of those of our borough presidents who recently compelled to hire a life preserver for the boat which they couldn't swim a stroke."

PLETHORA OF LAWS. (Buffalo Courier-Express) In Illinois there are fifty days of Roman law, says a vast array of, of course, that is today. But more the fact that the law is so complex is less than justification for the mass of laws under which we attempt to live in 1928. Perhaps it would help to curb the legislative mills if legislators were required, before enacting in the name of more laws, to familiarize themselves with the laws already on the statute.

Daily Poem

SEA-GULLS ISLAND—A flock of silver wings in the air. And I see, with divine surprise, Hero in the midland, quiet and dim. Sea-gulls up in the skies.

Sea-gulls, I am content no more, With lame little fields and woods. My thoughts are set in a track-bound store. The sea and the sea's wild mood.

God! for a headland far away, Haro to the autumn gale. Where the great waves rant, and the wind whirled spray. Drifts out like a torn white veil.

And the wild white horses too, their manes Par out as the eye may reach, While the sea-birds try in the wind and the rains. The sea-birds—moored high on the beach.

Back to the sea-nuth splendid and free! In rhythmic pattern flight. And my heart goes with them home to the sea. As I watch them; out of sight. —Terena Hooley.

ANOTHER YIELD REPORTED GOOD

"Some exceptionally good yields of grain from the Moorman tract have been reported. At Z. Stanzbury, who is farming on the David Itzes ranch, reports that he threshed 386 bushels of wheat on 18 acres, or an average of 21 bushels to the acre. Mr. Stanzbury also threshed ten acres of oats which averaged 31 bushels to the acre, or an average of 31 bushels for the plot.

"$14.98, As Advertised" "How do you spell 'financially'?" asked a college student of his room-mate. "F-i-n-a-n-c-i-a-l-l-y," said the room-mate, spelling out the word slowly. As an afterthought, he added: "And 'embarrassed' has two r's and two s's." How often have you talked to a salesman, "That's more than I care to pay"? If you had known the price in advance, you would have spared this little embarrassment. That's one of the great services rendered by newspaper advertising. By reading the advertisements before going to the stores, you know what you will have to pay for an article. You need not reveal your financial status to a salesman. You perhaps do not like to ask the price of goods anyhow. If the merchant has told you the price in his advertisement, you do not have to ask. Any way you figure it out, it pays you to read the advertisements. Regularly! The one advertisement you skip may contain just the news you would have welcomed. Read all the advertisements you can. Keep informed. The intelligent way to shop is to read the advertisements and then go to the stores that offer the best values. Make notes beforehand of the articles that interest you. That's the way to get the most for your money. That's the way to save time. When you know the price in advance, you can ask to be shown the goods "as advertised"

Thieves Loot Fruit Cellars At Hansen

HANSEN, Sept. 1.—Balls on the cellars of three residents have been looted in the neighborhood of Hansen, Idaho, where the thieves have been particularly active. This looting is a hardship on the home-owners because of their labor and their water supply of grapes. It is mostly reported since some of those looted can't afford the loss.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

By United Press. Yesterday's heroes: Paul Waner, whose home run in the fifth inning with Lloyd Waner on base gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the first game of a doubleheader. Ray Kremer gave the Cardinals four hits until the eighth inning when he weakened and was replaced by Burleigh Grimes. St. Louis won the second game, 2 to 2, Bottomley's home run clinching the game in the eighth inning.

White Wangberg pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to a 5-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox. This victory brings the Red Sox to within two games of the leading New York Yankees. MacFadyen on the mound for the Red Sox, allowed only four hits.

Although fourth, 16 to 14, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Reds 6 to 5 and are now only four and a half games behind the St. Louis Cardinals.

Curtis Walker, Cincinnati outfielder, was knocked homeless when "Red" Lucas' quick throw to first in the eighth inning caught him on the forehead.

The New York Giants dropped their eighth straight game by losing to the Brooklyn Robins 4 to 2. It was Dazzy Vance's fifth victory. Vance's Giants' game resulted in base's home run with Jackson on base. "Fire" hit a home run to Brooklyn.

Dan Howley's St. Louis Browns returned home to defeat Detroit 7 to 6, 5 to 2. Earl Whitehill was banished from the game for protesting a decision at the plate.

The Philadelphia Phillies and the Boston Braves divided a doubleheader. Philadelphia won the first game, 4 to 3 and the Braves the nightcap to 2 to 1.

INVESTIGATING SEEPAGE FROM BIG RESERVOIR

Survey of Water Level in Old Town American Falls to Be Made.

Seepage from the American Falls reservoir is causing some concern to residents of the old town of American Falls because of water damage should it occur.

Referring to this development the American Falls Press of last Thursday has this to say:

Acting upon instructions from the United States federal commissioner of reclamation, Dan Temple, associate engineer in charge of the old town of American Falls, is making a survey of the area in the old town of American Falls, Idaho, by means of the American Falls reservoir. Data which is collected will be incorporated in a report to the Washington office and will prove valuable for reference purposes, as it will furnish a basis from which may be determined and further spread of the ground water, and also the effect of increasing or decreasing the amount of stored water in the reservoir.

SMITH PROMISES NOT TO READ HIS CAMPAIGN TALKS

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 1--Gov. Alfred E. Smith's campaign for the presidency will consist entirely of stump speeches, he announced today. He will not read any speeches.

The governor revealed this when he was asked to confirm schedules which had been published purporting to indicate his speaking itinerary. There has been nothing decided in this connection, he said.

Smith said he would not read any speeches, but he would make a number of addresses through railroad officials who are very busy in arranging such a schedule.

This Is Your Fair!

"Earth is here so kind that just tickle her with a hoe and she laughs with a harvest."—Douglas Jerrold.

FAIR WEEK—Twin Falls County's proudest presentation of the fullness of its harvest; the fertility of its farms and fields; the flower of its flocks and herds; the prime products of its hatcheries and creameries; its ranches and ranges—Twin Falls County's contribution to a nation's prosperity and plenitude.

FAIR WEEK—(Sept. 4, 5, 6 and 7) a festival of fun, frolic, friendly contests and amusement features.

COME—lend a hand in the fostering of community accomplishment; encourage community co-operation; join in the spirit and in the sport of FAIR WEEK.

SPECIAL DAYS — Tuesday, Grand Opening
