The new Buick is the New Style

Graceful contours instead of straight lines... the gleam and sparkle of brilliant colors and chrome plating instead of drab effects... the most beautiful bodies ever built... Buick's masterpiece bodies by Fisher

At a time when motor car beauty was practically standardized—when imitation was the vogue—when there was a glaring lack of originality in body design—Buick has swept far beyond the commonplace and achieved a style which the entire country is acclaiming as the most distinctive and beautiful ever shown!

Fisher, the world's foremost builder of automobile bodies, has cooperated with Buick, the world's foremost builder of fine cars, to create a new mode—a new fashion—and so luminous is the result and so eagerly is the public welcoming it, that Buick's great factories have reached new production levels in an effort to keep pace with an ever increasing demand!

Inside and out, the new Buick bodies by Fisher are the most beautiful ever built. Together with the wonderful new standards of performance introduced by the Silver Anniversary Buick, they are winning the greatest demand and the greatest preference ever enjoyed by any fine car!

The new Buick is the new style! And by that is meant, not merely a new type of beauty—not merely a thrilling turning point in body design—but a great, countrywide voguel!

Bruin Warriors Out For Practice This Morning At Field

A small tyro of the Bruin football warriors were on the field this morning going through a line of plays and fundamentals. Coach Johnson's intent for a large number of men that he might work out some signals and formations. As only a few were out work was of a limited nature.

During the past two days the men have been going through signal and play work with emphasis at center, Bradford and Lincoln at guards, Streiff and Assenpatt at tackle and Martin and Taylor at ends. In the backfield, where material is rapidly developing, Ward, Prater, and Shumaker, Puffer and Kempton are showing a wonderful show for positions. Shumaker, a new man this year, is making a name for himself.

Wheeler and Vance are putting up some stiff competition for the line and many replace any of the men now in. Wheeler is hefty and may learn how to handle his weight to great advantage.

The first game for the Bruins will be with the Phillips on the 20th.

BIBLE VERSES AND PRAYER

A GREAT INVITATION—Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool.—Isa. 1:18. PRAYER—O Lamb of God! I come to thee.

AUTUMN, THE GRACIOUS, APPROACHES

AUTUMN has begun to smile benignly again on all of us. To be sure, the gracious season of the year has not yet come completely into her own. Her sun is a kindly orb, marked by a less intense glow with more of caress and less of smiting strength than we are accustomed to in summer, and summer still competes with autumn; but autumn gains in this silent battle, and we understand, and watch the change and smile in happy satisfaction.

Soon now, autumn will be supreme. Her couriers are abroad, spreading the message of the approach of their mistress in ways that those who love the season may understand.

The very air carries the burden of the newer dispensation—An easy languor, satiety and fullness of contentment are subtly in evidence to those who would appreciate. A softening haze, replacing the glare of summer we may expect from time to time. It will temporarily dim the outlines of our mountains, perhaps completely obscure them, but we care not, for autumn is not her beautiful self without a touch of Indian summer's haze.

And the fields and the beasts and birds that linger there tell autumn's story in their own ways. Grain fields that only a little while ago carried their burden of ripened wheat and oats and barley now have bare carpets of stubble, sometimes sprinkled with the green of newly seeded alfalfa or clover. Beans have changed the color of their leaves from brilliant green to brown and gold, and often now we find the crop in shock, rows of subdued color against the gray, clean soil, complacent in the sun.

In cotton fields green tops have mostly fallen, their work done, and in the rows, fat bolls lie exposed, pushed from the ground by their own eager growth as they competed with their fellows for a place. The potato vines are browning, an augur of harvest soon to be realized, and when we look more closely we may find occasionally a too forward tuber that has pushed his way through the soil. The red clover blossoms are brown now, almost black, and many a field has been harvested. If we daily a moment to crush a head or two in the palm or our hand we most certainly may expect to be rewarded by a sight of plump seeds, clothed in the purple of royalty.

Here is a flock of sheep, back on the ranch to clean up fall pasture after a summer spent on the ranges. They are industrious in the taking of their sustenance, these friends of men, and waste little time, for autumn is here, and they sense the need of surplus fat and longer wool to make life easier in the days when there will be a less balmy air.

Autumn is lovely in Idaho. She is a queenly matron, ripe in experience, the lines of character in her comely face, hair touched with distinguished gray. Her children are grown to maturity, past need of all the care demanded during the passionate days of spring and summer. Now they require little and are happy to give much in love, respect and adoration. They have done well, these children of Mother Nature. Some have not made all of themselves that autumn might have wished, but there is compensation in the fact that others have more than fulfilled the promise given in earlier days.

Autumn is ever a lovely season to those souls who can thrill to her accomplishments without being saddened by her melancholy, and when she makes poetic announcement of her near approach to those of us permitted to be a part of the Greater Twin Falls Empire in Idaho, then are we made aware again of some of life's raptures.

THE TIME FOR ACTION

YOU HAVE heard, of course, that obedience is one of the primary virtues. But did it ever occur to you that there are times when a willful, reckless disobedience is one of the finest qualities a man can exhibit?

An Italian submarine, maneuvering off the coast of Spezia recently, got stuck in the mud at the bottom. Officers and men tried to work it loose, failed, and prepared to die in the unpleasant way the crews of sunken submarines must die.

There was another submarine in the vicinity, and its commander discovered what had happened.

Now Italian naval rules provide that no submarine commander may try to salvage the wreck of another submarine. Submarines are too costly and fragile for that sort of work; all that a commander may do is radio for help from the nearest naval base.

But this commander knew how to break a rule or two when the time came. Instead of calling help, he went down to the disabled submarine. By careful maneuvering he got the nose of his own ship against the sunken hull of the other, and pushed it loose. After an hour of ticklish work he freed it, and both submarines came safely to the surface.

If he had obeyed the rules, rescue ships would have arrived in 24 hours or so, and the divers would have gone to work. Probably they would have raised the sunken sub-eventually; but, as sometimes happens in these cases, her crew might have been dead.

So the Italian navy department, after starting to punish the disobedient commander, thought better of it and restored him to his command, heaping him with honors.

There are many rules in this complicated modern world, and most of them exist for our own good. A prudent man will obey them.

But there are many times when prudence is a miserable virtue, and when rules exist only to be broken.

For prudence is the opposite of daring. And no matter how settled and orderly we may become, we still have an especially warm spot in our hearts for the man who can conquer fear. What if that does sometimes involve the breaking of a few rules? It may take a good man to be obedient; but to know when and how to be disobedient is sometimes a great deal better.

The Hoover Side Of The Case

FARM EDITORS FOR HOOVER

Personal endorsement of Herbert Hoover by the editors of farm papers, some of which are as follows: "The Hoover side of the case is the one that the representatives of agriculture are entitled to have heard. It is the one that the world of affairs, as a whole, is entitled to have heard. It is the one that the school, college, university, and the like, through reading, study, and the like, through taking notes and being examined in all these subjects, should be made to know. It is the one that the school, college, university, and the like, through education, should be made to know."

"WHAT IS EDUCATION?"

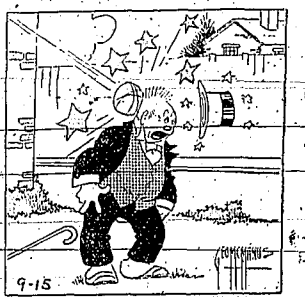

This is a question to which the answer may be given in many ways. It may be defined as the process of preparing a person for the duties of his life. It may be defined as the process of preparing a person for the duties of his life. It may be defined as the process of preparing a person for the duties of his life.

Chevrolet Production Passed Beyond The Five Million Mark September 8

Marking for the second time within the last month, the passing of a world's largest automobile manufacturer, the Chevrolet Motor Co. today today that the five millionth Chevrolet was produced at the Flint, Michigan, plant, September 8. The four millionth car was built January 11, following strictly on the spectacular national wide reception accorded the present Chevrolet motor coach.

The early arrival of the 5,000,000th car was in response to a demand that has kept the Chevrolet plant on a day and night basis since the first of the year when it required the setting of new monthly production records every month this year.

Production for the year promises to well beyond the million mark, and will show more than 1,000,000 cars in excess over 1927 when 77,000 were produced.

The special five millionth car was a Standard coach and came off the line amid the cheers of a vast army of enthusiastic mechanics who gathered momentarily to see the record-making model ride off the line under its own power. Exciting scenes followed as the car rolled out of the plant.

darkness and swept by high winds, followed by torrential rains, which flooded streets in the northern section of the city and delayed traffic during the rush hour. In the evening, one woman was reported killed by a falling lightning bolt.

Amsterdam Women Collide With Horses

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 15.—Hilja Neale, nine-year-old girl, of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Neale of 1011, sustained serious injuries Tuesday evening when she was struck by a horse while riding her bicycle. The horse was owned by Mrs. Neale and was being ridden by her son, John Neale, who was riding with her. Mrs. Neale and her mother, who was returning with her from Twin Falls, escaped unhurt, but the car was rather badly damaged.

Mrs. Neale was traveling toward Amsterdam and struck the horse, which was running at the corner at the Charles Greave canal six miles southwest of Twin Falls, when she had riding his horse out of the driveway from the residence occupied by Mrs. Dulles Gordon and Mrs. Blanche Gardner of Pleasant View school, riding in front of the on-coming machine. Apparently rather frightened in the machine, the boy was wakened by the car's approach.

It was impossible for Mrs. Neale to stop her car at such a short distance and the bumper of the machine struck the horse, toppling it over on the right-hand side. The boy was thrown clear of both the horse and the car, landing in the weeds at the side of the road. Mrs. Neale, who had been traveling at a high rate of speed, the accident would have been much more serious if all concerned. The frightened animal, in striking about, demolished the radiator, the engine head, and made numerous scratches on the body of the car.

Hansen Onion Crop Brings Good Price

HANSEN, Sept. 15.—Hansen, clover and onion are all being harvested. Beans and onions seem to be yielding very well, but crows are very "strange." Some appear to be going to have a fine yield while others will not yield their opportunity. This barn is laid upon the apple which appears to thrive in the kind of weather conditions that we carry in the season. The fields sown to ripen, seem to have the advantage.

A number of corn of various varieties have been shipped from this station. The price of corn is about 10 cents, but attractive. Onions are a very profitable crop this season which does not always hold good.

Jerome Fair Ends Tonight; Receipts Balance the Outlay

JEROME, Sept. 15.—(Times) has been dedicated to Governor and the Jerome county fair in expectation of the visit of Governor H. C. Bradburn, who spent last evening in the vicinity and will speak in Kimberly this evening. Plans are to be made for the state executive on the afternoon program, if he finds it possible to be present.

Estimates of Friday's attendance placed the figure at approximately 8,000 persons, the crowds being thronged from early in the morning until midnight. Continuation of the fine weather which prevailed is predicted for today, closing the annual event.

Westfield received the highest award for agricultural products in the community awards, having been finished late in the afternoon by M. L. Dean of the state agricultural department, assisted by L. D. Bawdwin, field agronomist.

Leading sports feature of the forenoon today was the Jerome-Vendell high school football game played on the fair grounds. Both afternoon and evening race programs were carried in historic new offerings, in recognition of the annual attendance on the last day. Additional interest attached to the races by the participation of several local stables.

High Club Demonstrates During the afternoon the crowd was entertained in the products building by a canning and sewing exhibition by the girls of the club, the only club of this sort in Jerome county. It has been sponsored during the summer months by Mrs. Wilma W. Brown and Mrs. Ray Cochran, and includes girls between the ages of 10 and 14 years.

Donna and Blanche Johnson participated in the prune canning demonstration and Grace York and Dorothy Sweely in the sewing demonstration. Since May the group has been the "winning" team in the county high school domestic science course and each member has earned a quarter of a certificate in the quarter of fruit, using the cold pack method, while the youngest member, Doris Ann

MANAGEMENT.

"Long-Prof" Tires are Short-Mileage Tires

That is why we never sell them

A "long-profit" tire is a tire of little or no merit or reputation on which the dealer gets an extra 5, 10 or 15 per cent profit. But the customer doesn't get that in extra mileage—and doesn't come back.

That's not good business. And for that reason we never sell "long-profit" tires. We plan to hold our customers on value, rather than on promises.

We Sell Extra Mileage
The tires we sell are Goodyears! And we're proud of it. Because Goodyear means leadership in tire design, construction, appearance and mileage, as evidenced by the fact that for ten years people have bought more Goodyears than any other kind.

On an extra mileage basis and cost-per-mile basis "bargain" tires and "long-profit" tires can never compete with Goodyears. Mileage is the only determining cost factor. That's why we sell Goodyears. Ask twenty-five friends their experience with tires. Look at the new cars. Why such a preponderant Goodyear preference? Again, mileage.

Good Business Logic
We want your tire business; but only on a good-business basis. We believe in the axiom that "the business that stays is the business that pays."

That's only good business logic. We help ourselves by helping you. And to help both we've got to have the right tire. That's why we sell Goodyears.

And, please don't feel that because Goodyears are high in quality they are high in price. See the prices listed below—honest prices for extra mileage.

Jerome Races Take Political Nature

If the outcome of the busy expression of the Jerome county fair may be accepted as a criterion of the outcome of the political battle now being waged, Al Smith is due to make a poor showing. According to announcements from the grandstand, the race track represented the Smith candidacy; Stump, the Hoover force; and Jack, the pseudo candidacy of Will Hoover. In the exciting race, not without a threatened disaster to the "Hoover" rider, Rogers made a triumphant finish, with Hoover coming in a close second, while Smith made a poor third.

Results of the afternoon races were as follows:
Hunting race, once around three-mile track, first, Firefly, Brewer, owner and rider; second, Royal, Brewer, owner; Moonshine, Henry owner, Allen up.
Tuning race, quarter mile: First, Polly, Hack owner; Brewer up; second, Lex, Henry owner, Stanfield up; third, Jimmy, Walker owner, Woods up.
