ROGERS HORNSBY HAS AN ELASTIC VALUE ON MART

Second Baseman—Price Raised and Wrigley Sets $200,000 as Bitter's Worth.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (UP)—Rogers Hornsby has the most elastic value of any player in the National League.

Just a few years ago, at least two National League clubs were reported willing to pay more than $200,000 for the big heavy-hitting second baseman.

In 1926 he led the Cardinals to a world championship and was voted to the All-Star team.

Players whose total worth certainly didn't approach a quarter of a million dollars. A year ago he was rated by New York to be worth far more than $200,000 as a star.

And today William Wrigley, the millionaire owner of the Chicago Cubs, set $200,000 as a starting point and had a successful year at it.

With Boston last year Hornsby was placed higher than $100,000.

Ten thousand people gathered to see the reception of the crew. The crew was welcomed by the city at the city hall. The crew was welcomed by the city at the city hall.

With The Politicians

(By United Press) Governor Smith, after speaking in Seattle, N. C., last night and calling the republican prosperity a myth, today was en route to Chicago. He will make short stops at Bloomington and Springfield, Ill., during the day. Herbert Hoover turned his attention today to the speech he made in New York last Monday. He said that he was pleased to make his personal appearance before the people of the class of the campaign.

Stanford Getting Ready for Vandals

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif. (By United Press)—Stanford will meet the field against University of Idaho at San Francisco next Friday, without a regular in the lineup except Frank Wilson and Sam Hittner. It was definitely decided today. Coach Pop Warner has given up hope of having either of the two in the lineup ready for the Vandal game. Both have been out of the game with bad knees and the coach said he does not see a chance of having them by game time. He said that he does not see a chance of having them by game time.

Meet the weather man is so funny that way and occasionally talk they and acts funny.

"Who," asked the old three, dipping in a restaurant, "is this a spring chicken all right. I buy it into one of the springs."

Pipe (to friend who has not had financial difficulties)—I see you still travel first class.

Other—Yes, but man if I travel second class I meet all my creditors.

PHILOSOPHER

Highways don't have much in common with the rest of the world except that they are not happy at the same hours.

No executive is a real executive unless he can keep busy.

Next conclusion that an illiterate man is necessarily an unwise man.

Reflection that may be allowed to emerge from the above is that while enacting laws for 8 hours of work, why not substitute laws for 8 hours of sleep.

Prosperity creates more fools than adversity.

You can't raise the world by giving it to another.

Contentment was a good word and gave him a terrific headache.

and an advertisement inserted with some.

Think back experience you'll find plenty of it in your past but take for yours.

"After all, matrimony is the greatest of all things," said the man who had been married until they came up against a practical problem.

A woman came last, fifteen minutes without a word, "I don't know" at least five times.

"Now a woman," remarked the man who had been married until they came up against a practical problem.

"I don't know," said the man who had been married until they came up against a practical problem.

CURTIS HECKLED IN HIS SPEECH IN NO. CAROLINA

—By Williams

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 17 (UP)—Gov. Curtis returned to the northern shore of the Adirondack park today, escorted by the demonstration he received on the southern side last night that the world south is about to be broken.

Speaking before a Match, N. Y. audience on farm relief, prohibition, and other subjects, Gov. Curtis' public life pre-arranged schedule received one of the greatest ovations of his campaign. Almost 500 persons heard and cheered his speech at the Adirondack auditorium.

Most of his audience had appeared sympathetic, but a few hecklers concluded him that there still are some staunch democrats in North Carolina.

Attacks Smith.

Curtis' speech which finished abruptly because of a fire-trouble was largely an attack on Gov. Frank P. Ramsey's attitude toward the three issues he discussed. The New York governor's prohibition stand was his particular target.

"The law made an effort to enforce the prohibition laws in his own state," Curtis said.

Her Educated Feet Didn't Need to Go to School

Thinking toes were not intended to rest idly beneath a textbook, a pretty face never shows to best advantage behind a school desk. A little shoe should be equipped by the ultra-modern woman of an exclusive boarding school. At least, that is the back that the feet of a fashionable woman should have to dance out of her classroom into a star's dressing room of a musical show. And there's nothing speaking, it's a good one.

Our Reputation Is The Best Used Car Guarantee

Our used cars are trustworthy because we are—

Which is simply another way of saying that our reputation is the best used car guarantee.

Our used car man is twice as particular as the fussiest buyer that ever came into our place. When he okays a car—it's got the goods!

And it will deliver the goods to you—thousands of low-cost miles, fine performance, comfort and pride of ownership.
