CITIZENS WANT MORE PAVING

Council Discuss the Extension of Paving Territory.

PLANS UNDER PREPARATION FOR ALL OF MAIN AND SHOSHONE.

The Wholesale and Warehouse Districts Will be Included in the District.

The citizens are in the midst of a hot hot paving campaign at present, over the paving of the balance of Main and Shoshone, clear to the downtown boundary. East, West, South and North. Besides the paving in the district above mentioned the new Jasper precinct district will embrace most of the district south of Main avenue where the heaviest traveling is being done and with only the connecting with the present district for the most part, the intersections being but few. The new district would include the O. S. 1. tract of way north of the depot and in this respect give good hard paving for all of the freighting to and from the depot clear to the business section of town. While the matter is under discussion and no steps have been taken toward creating the district, it is highly probable that the matter will be brought to a vote of the citizens in a bond election as soon as sufficient action can be had.

Flier People Become Boosters for the Big Show.

Last Tuesday night two automobile loads of Twin Falls enthusiasts attended the smoker given by the Flier Commercial club, in behalf of the industrial fair proposition. This talk was further commented upon by J. F. Stultz, secretary, and S. H. Dufon, who has charge of the venetian department.

The Flier people are the importance of such an exhibition of agricultural products, as an advertising proposition, and are responding very nicely by giving their hearty cooperation to this work in every way possible. The Twin Falls party consisted of Geo. Smith, J. F. Stultz, S. H. Dufon, H. E. Powers, Del Sprague, Phil Crow, Herman Dykes and Mr. P. F. McAtree. SADIE RICHMAN DISCOVERED IN DYING CONDITION MONDAY.

Deceased Was Daughter of John Buchanan of This City, and Highly Respected by All.

The friends of Miss Sadie Buchanan were shocked to hear of her death Monday morning from accidental poisoning of poison. Miss Buchanan, who was twenty-one years of age, had been ill but a short time, and it is supposed that she took a dose of poison by mistake in the place of medicine prescribed. When found Miss Buchanan was still alive and for sometime the doctors called by the family attempted to counteract the effect of the poison, but were unable to give relief. The funeral of the unfortunate young lady took place yesterday from the residence under the direction of Charles J. Walker, with the Eulogies acting as escort of honor for the remains.

The deceased, who was twenty-one years of age, who has been a resident of this city for several years, has made friends by her estimable character, and her sudden death was a great grief to those friends. Owing to the nature of the case no inquest was deemed necessary by Coroner Walker.

INDIANS MAKE IT THREE STRAIGHT

PACATELLO BALL TEAM PROVES TOO STRONG FOR LOCALS.

All Three Games Featured by Fast Playing and by a Few Rugged Errors.

Twin Falls' Comets were defeated in the first series of games of the season by the fast Pacatello team in games which would satisfy the most fanatical bleacher in the land. The scores, 5-2, 5-2 and 7-2 respectively for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, tell the story of three very clever exhibitions the worst of them. The games Friday brought out a big crowd and Manager White's smile was distinctly visible. Twin Falls with the nucleus of a winning team did not put up the game which will be expected later, but under from a few errors gave away all of the legs except for a few errors, which proved costly. The Pacatello players without exception, proved themselves' knowledge and the whole exhibition was pleasing to the spectators even if Twin Falls could not win.

Saturday's game was poorly attended, due to the high wind which prevailed, making a seat in the grandstand very uncomfortable and the crowd of spectators was impossible. Sunday's crowd again filled the grandstand and grandstand overflowing, and the game which was a Waterloo for the locals, was warm enough to be highly interesting clear to the end. The feature of the game was a long clean hit over the fence by one of the Pacatello players.

James McCoy and E. A. Richardson came in from Jarbidge Tuesday. They have started development on their mines, which are situated in the head prairie region of this property.

The John at this point is very strong, standing 20 to 30 feet above the surface and carrying values similar to the conglomerate on both the Houtan and Paylak. Very rich flat and some rich ledge material has been discovered and will have been seen the property agree that, besides developing a very large body of milling ore, there is every reason to believe that, with a little extension of the depth, very rich grades of deposits will be found. Considering these facts, everyone interested in Jarbidge is delighted with the news that the Hunter group will now be developed.

The company is an especially strong one. The original holders of the ground, Mr. Paylak, T. Thournt and M. J. Prunty, are heavy stockholders. These same gentlemen located and sold the Paylak group.

James McCoy, E. A. Richardson and associates, all experienced mine men and geologists, have done and will have done the property. The company owns the ground outright, the Hunter group, the Jarbidge group and the Hunter group. In this issue will be found the full text of the direct primary law, which is published for the information of the voters of this county. The law which has been held to be the rich man's law (by the politicians) will not impress anyone who reads it as being of such nature for the reason that by every constitutional right the law guards against just such contingency. Any man who desires to be a candidate is certainly sure of getting his name on the ticket and in this respect the measure is directly opposed to the old convention method of choice which practically debarrd anyone but the ring candidates from ever getting recognition before the voters.

The Hallinger investigation still drags on and the evidence continues to be piled up to show that on both sides of the conservation question much bitterness was expended with plenty of evidence of unfairness on both sides. If Pinchot was in the fire, dismissal; it would seem that Hallinger should have been slated for the same route out of the government service. Of the two men the evidence of sincerity to the government would rest with Pinchot who, as his record is shown, needed no commendations in the service, while Hallinger's record even if clean filled by the investigating committee, will still have the stain of suspicion which has not been dissipated by the evidence introduced before the committee.

The resignation of Barney O'Neil from the Republican state chairmanship removes all doubt as to his intentions. O'Neil will put every ounce of energy he possesses into the contest for the governorship. Brady's trip to the north has had the desired effect of bringing his opponent out of the woods into the open and from now on there will be no quarters given by either. Brady, with the local option veto behind him, and O'Neil with the veto to a war-making him, brings the liquor question to the front as the paramount issue of the primary campaign. There is no doubt as to where Brady stands on the liquor question and there has not been a single word brought forth to show that he has been carrying water on both shoulders as has been claimed by some of the O'Neil supporters. The Times was not in favor of Governor Brady in the former campaign, but it is compelled to admit that he has made good in the office and that of the two candidates now in the field he is the logical choice of those who desire to have the local option law given a full and fair test.

NEWSPAPER VS. CIRCULAR ADVERTISING.

We don't wish to encourage any means of advertising as J. W. Watkins, editorially, in his paper, the White City (Kan.) Register, but we cannot for the life of us understand why a paper which goes into the majority of the homes thrifly to the town where it is published is turned down for little or circulars. When frequent business men will not do this. We positively can't understand it. A business thought ought to suffice to convince such a person it is a losing proposition. It is a mistake for a merchant to think that people are dying to read his ads. They are not. Men are not out, round the ads, and you must ask it to have your ads reach that class. They can see a bargain at a glance, where a man wouldn't recognize one if he met it in the road. Here is where the newspaper ad scores over bills. Let the average man get an envelope out of the office or box and let opening it find it a bill and he will read it and throw it away. The widow of his doing so is a question. If it does reach the house perhaps not more than one member of the family reads the cumbersome thing until it is destroyed. How about the newspaper? It would be a sorry day for any hubby, on getting up out of the office or box to find it up and down the chimney. In fact he would have a disposition to do so. He takes it home, reads the news and the ads meet his every gaze. He can't get away from them. He reads them purposefully or inadvertently. Then the wife, the girls and boys, the hired help in their turn.

But why more. The newspaper advertising costs less and brings far greater results. It is the dignified way of getting your wants before the people. Any other way is ant.

THE GRAND ARMY.

As May 30th comes on Monday this year it brings Decoration day and Memorial Sunday together. Forty-five years have elapsed since the close of the war and an even half century ago occurred the presidential campaign that placed Abraham Lincoln at the head of the American republic and led him on the greatest civil war in history.

Only the younger members of those enrolled in the armies of the north and south to try conclusions on the field of battle remain to form in line on Decoration day and march with faltering tread to plant garlands of flowers on the graves of departed comrades.

The ranks of the living can never be recruited but it is otherwise with the dead. The slaughter of war first filled its ranks to overflowing and the passing years are but adding to the number.

The years are few till the last member of the Grand Army of the Republic will have gone to join his comrades and his erstwhile enemy will also be sleeping in the quiet repose of death. "Under the sod and the dew, waiting the judgment day, under the hallowed blue, under the willow the Gray."

The automobiles employed by the Civil war have faded away never to return. "The boys in blue" were the first to forgive their enemies because actual contact in the field taught them to know the worth of their opponents. The strife of war over, the soldiers of both sides lay down their arms and returned to the avocations of peace.

The custom of strewing flowers over the graves of departed heroes as exemplified by the observance of Decoration day should be continued, while in the Republic lasts. It keeps fresh in the minds of the young the principles for which the veterans fought, the sacrifices they made, the sufferings they endured and the valor they displayed.

In after days when the youth of the land form in line of march on Decoration day and march at the cemetery to stand with beautiful flowers the graves of heroes of the great war they will realize that they are paying tribute to the deeds that have made immortal "Our Grand Army of the Dead," Shoshone Journal.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S SOUSHNE LEGATURE.

The address on "Citizenship in a Republic," printed in full in The Outlook last week, was received by the press of Paris with comment showing that the impression made by the speaker was one of sincerity and force. Thus the "Temps," to quote one such expression only, says that the effect produced was all the greater because Mr. Roosevelt did not present theories that he conceived, but theories that he lived. The "Temps," finds many lessons for France in the lecture, and concluding with an appeal to France, to take "the advice of an honest man whose deeds and life during thirty years qualify him to speak." An account of the occasion received from The Outlook's staff correspondent may be added as a postscripture of a worthy occasion: The soushne address was a complete success. The occasion was great, the oratory great, great also was the evidence of the power of good ideas to interest and inspire. The soushne amphitheatre was filled with a representative audience numbering three thousand, while many hundreds were unable to get admission. Around the hall were strung the great masters of French intellectual life—Pascal, Descartes, Lavater, and others. On the wall was a beautiful mural painting by Paul de Chavannes. The group of university officials and Academicians on the dais from which Roosevelt spoke gave an appropriate university atmosphere. The speech but perfectly arranged decoration, the French and American flags back of the speaker, gave an international atmosphere. The speech was an appeal for moral rather than for intellectual greatness. It was received with absorbed interest and marked approval; the passage ending with a reference to "old and tried souls who know neither victory nor defeat" was delivered with real eloquence and aroused a long-continued storm of applause. Occasionally an interposition in French was interjected by Mr. Roosevelt with quickness and belligerence. His speech as to vested interests was not in the printed address, but was written the very morning of the lecture. It was enthusiastically approved. It was as follows: "My position as regards the moneyed interests can be put in a few words. In every civilized society property rights must be carefully safeguarded; ordinarily, and in the great majority of cases, human rights and property rights are fused together in the long run beneficial; but when it clearly appears that there is a real conflict between them, human right must have the upper hand, for property belongs to man and not man to property." This he gave first in English and then repeated in French. With characteristic courage, Mr. Roosevelt attacked the moneyed interests when speaking to a race whose property is diminishing, and he was loudly applauded. I am more and more impressed with the fact that Theodore Roosevelt is everywhere recognized as a great leader of international influence in practical social and political morality."—The Outlook.

SUBSTITUTIONS FROM THE RAILWAY BILL.

In the public interest, the laws regulating railways need amendment and expansion. Two subjects under this general head are traffic agreements and mergers. As to these the Republican Insurgents and Regulars in Congress seem at loggerheads. Last week, in both the Senate and the House of Representatives, a coalition of Insurgents and Democrats had its way with these Railway Bill subjects. In the Administration's bill, now pending in both houses, they eliminated the sections providing for traffic agreements and mergers. Traffic agreements by which two or more railway companies agree to maintain specified rates for the transportation both of passengers and freight are necessary if the complicated duties of our railways are to be successfully fulfilled. Despite the present law forbidding them, "contingent agreements" have persisted, and apparently cannot be prevented. Why should they be secret and surreptitious? Why not have them open and lawful and their terms filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission? This has been favored by Presidents Roosevelt and Taft, was distinctly promised in the Republican party platform adopted nearly two years ago in Chicago, and found place in its Presidential candidate's speech of acceptance. The bill submitted by the Taft Administration to Congress allowed such agreements, but only if approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. But it did not provide for the Commission's approval of the agreements in advance of their being made. An amendment making such approval a prerequisite was introduced by the Insurgents, who represent the farmers and Democrats, with possibly the secret aid of certain Regulars, brought about the rejection of the entire section. Then they did the same thing with the requirement of competitive lines, except where a railway company already owns half of the capital stock of

Hendricks Sagebrush Grubbers IN THE LEAD.

The Hendricks Grubber is the best on the market today. Our many years' experience in the field with other machines has put us in the lead. We guarantee the Hendricks Grubber in any and all kinds of sage brush. It makes no difference how thick or how large or how difficult it is for the horse to get through, the Hendricks Grubbers do the work. Every owner of a Hendricks machine is more than satisfied. We have never had a single word of complaint from any purchaser of our machine.

The Hendricks Grubbers with six horses will clear six or seven acres per day in any kind of sage brush, and cut it out clean. The all steel machine at the price is equal to two ordinary machines.

We have manufactured the Grubbers from original designs in this section until the 'acme of perfection' has been reached in the machines now placed on the market. The eye of the first machine shows the solidity of the parts and it is a matter of pride with the maker that not a single purchaser has been dissatisfied with the work of the Grubbers.

The working principles of the machine are simple and strong, so that there is little chance of even an inexperienced man having trouble. The knives are placed so as to cut below the soil surface, thus taking out the tender sage brush roots and leaving the land ready for plowing. ### RAILROAD BILL PASSES.

Republicans Voted to Save Tail's Tail Measure.

Washington, May 10.—Without a single dissenting Republican vote, the house today passed the railroad bill, one of the chief measures President Taft wished enacted at the present session of congress, by 203 to 125. Fourteen Democrats joined the majority.

President Taft tonight said he was deeply gratified over the passage of the measure. He was especially pleased with the comfortable margin by which the commerce court was kept in the bill.

Referring to the clause providing for the physical valuation of railroad, Mr. Taft pointed out that power now practically rests with the interstate commerce commission and that the difficulty in carrying out such a plan always has been found in the enormous cost of the undertaking.

When all the amendments adopted by the house while in committee of the whole had been agreed to, Mr. Adamson of Georgia, the sponsor of the bill, moved to recommit it with instructions that it be reported back with the commerce clause stricken out. This motion was defeated 127 to 174.

The bill and many changes in the existing law that, if accepted by the senate, will greatly affect interstate commerce. The court of commerce is created in addition to the existing court of commerce.

It is provided that the court shall be organized by the justices of the supreme court, future appointments to membership on the court to be made by them.

Stock and bond issues of railroads are controlled by the bill. Under this clause a railroad, before issuing any additional stock, must obtain an order from the commission which must, among other things, fix the price at which the securities of the road may be sold.

A similar provision is carried in respect to railroad organized through the courts. A provision is made that upon the re-organization of a railroad through court proceedings stocks and bonds cannot be issued for more than a fair value of the property.

The long and short haul clause of the measure provides a railroad cannot, without first obtaining permission, charge more for a shorter than for a longer haul over the same line.

The interstate commerce commission also is given authority whenever a new rate is proposed to suspend the taking effect of that rate during consideration of its reasonableness.

As announced by the bill proposed to bring the telegraph and telephone companies under the control of the interstate commerce commission. It provides for the valuation of railroad property to aid the commission in the consideration of railroad rates, and gives the commission authority over classifications, regulations and practices of railroads.

Under its terms a railroad company must quote a freight rate accurately upon demand of a shipper and the shipper is given the right to route his freight wherever it passes over more than one railroad.

Speaking of the bill as it passed the house today, Mr. Mann, chairman of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, said:

"Under the conditions, through the non-disclosure of the long and short haul clause, a very large proportion of the freight of the country is carried by the long distance route instead of being carried by the most direct route, whereas, if the railroads are compelled to cease doing that, each would carry the same amount of freight by the most direct route and be able to save expense and reduce railroad rates."

Champ Clark, leader of the Democratic majority, explained the Democratic course in opposing the bill on final vote, said:

"The Democrats who voted against the bill did so because they considered there were more bad features in the bill than there were good ones. When it was first brought into the house, it was a railroad bill, pure and simple. It was drawn in their interests. Not a railroad lobbyist appeared in opposition to this bill, which says more eloquently than many volumes could do, that the railroads were in favor of this legislation. Every amendment adopted in the house helped the bill, but there were enough of them."

"Had the court of commerce feature and some parts of sections 12, 13, 14 and 15 been stricken out, I would have voted for the bill."

WORK THAT TELLS.

The Kind Twin Falls Readers Appreciate.

Cures that last are cures that tell. To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine, you must investigate the cures and see if they prove permanent.

Dean's Kidney Pills stand this test, and plenty of proof, both direct and indirect, is at hand. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now declare that relief was permanent and the cure perfect. Can any Twin Falls sufferer longer doubt the evidence?

Or a E. Long, of Jerome, Idaho, says: "I began to have trouble from my back and kidneys about a year ago and as time passed, the dull ache across my loins became worse, every day and night. I was a physician and I also wore plaster, but received only temporary relief. Having my attention called to Dean's Kidney Pills, I was led to try them and they helped me so greatly from the first that I continued their use. The contents of three boxes entirely removed the pain in my back and disposed of a kidney difficulty which had cured me much annoyance."

Mr. Long says he has the above statement on February 11, 1907, and confirmed it on February 2, 1908, adding that his cures had been permanent.
