You Need Glasses

If your eyes tire easily. If you have difficulty to read or sew. If you have headache often. If your eyes are sore or feel as though there were sand in them or because they hurt. If your vision is hazy or blurred. If you have dizzy spells or pains in the back of the head. If you become sick from riding in trains. If your eyes smart or burn or "water" often. The eyes are often the cause of stomach trouble. Headache, and stomach trouble go together with eye strain, and the eye should be thoroughly examined for defects. Glasses are a great blessing to twentieth century people, who want to keep in the procession, be informed, and use their eyes for near work without a drain of the whole vital force that weakens the whole body.

You are only cheating yourself and allowing your body to age faster than necessary. If your eyes bother you and you fail to have them properly attended, if you want perfect eyesight you will consult

HOUSE RULES ADJUSTED.

Satisfaction Assured for All Factions in Congress.

Washington, June 15.—Out of the three-sided battle line to the house of representatives, which has been gradually merging for several days to form a mutual ground of conflict over the reform of the rules, there appears to be the probability of something like a mutually satisfactory compromise.

The rules committee, headed by the majority leader, Charles McNary, of the house, it looked tonight as though tomorrow might evolve a plan upon which practically all parties and factions can unite.

The rules committee, after a long and arduous session, wrote and drafted for hours over the Charles McNary resolution which seems to provide a way for a member to bring into the house a measure being "submitted" in committee. Chairman McNary and the other regulars of that committee joined with the Democrats in an attempt to formulate a rule that would work out the end desired.

The fact that the regular wing of the party exhibited a willingness to accept a "reform" movement was generally commented upon as indicating that a rule would be adopted before adjournment and that they had decided it the better part of valor to join in making it rather than to resist it.

The regular leaders, including Chairman McNary, Representative Payne of New York, Representative Dill of Pennsylvania and Representative Smith of Idaho, were in frequent conference over the proposed rule during the day.

The committee finally adjourned until tomorrow, when it is believed the rule adopted by the Democratic leaders and known as the Clark-Sheely rule will be adopted by the rules committee presently as originally drawn in the rooms of Minority Leader Champ Clark of Missouri.

The insurgents assembled in the office of Representative Leavitt and discussed the sort of rule they would vote for. It was the general disposition they should await the action of the rules committee and nothing decisive was reached. Many insurgents were opposed to the attempted removal of the speaker, although if the matter is forced to the floor they admitted they would vote that way.—Statesman.

ELECTRIC LINE TO HAGERMAN

Camp Established and Construction Work Commenced.

Hagerman Valley is to have an electric railway and Hagerman will have a railway outlet from that famous valley. The Hagerman Valley company incorporated under the laws of the state of Idaho for $200,000, has just let the contract for the grading of the road from the power plant, railway station from a point on the Idaho-Pacific O. & N. L. cut-off through the city of Hagerman on Main street and on to the famous Thousand Springs, the contract calling for twelve miles.

The contract has been let for the grading, camps have been established and actual work has commenced.

The road building has been financed by some of the leading business men and ranch owners of Hagerman valley. The power will be obtained from the Lower Salmon falls power plant which is now amply prepared to furnish all the power desired for this purpose.

Hagerman valley in Lincoln county is the most beautiful valley in all Idaho, and without a doubt one of the most favored spots for fruit raising in the country. Transportation facilities have been the only drawback the people residing in that section have experienced.

The Thousand Springs furnish the water for their irrigation project and this railway project will no doubt be the means of advertising that place as one of the greatest wonders in the United States—Gooding Leader.

HEALTHY HOGS PROFITABLE.

Cleanly Housing and Care in Breeding a Necessity.

The profitable hog is the one that is kept healthy and kept growing. If we keep him healthy he will keep growing. If we feed properly, we clean the following from an article submitted by Prof. Andrew M. Soule in the Columbia Rural World:

It is of the utmost importance that the parents, both male and female, should possess every evidence of health, for they are bound to transmit their qualities to their offspring, and if naturally weak and lacking in constitution, disease will take hold of them and their ravages will be more complete. The management of the parents is another matter of great importance. Too often they are confined in narrow pens, which prevents their taking the exercise necessary to development of the lungs and all other organs of the body. It is often a wonder that their cholera is not a more frequent visitor than proves to be the case, for the hog is frequently expected to live in a filthy wet pen, cleaned out three times a year, and rarely, if ever, properly supplied with bedding, and never disinfected so as to ward off disease.

The writer calls the above last statement an old story, yet it is not too old to be true, and we are glad to see more farmers providing pictures rather than pens for their swine.—American Farm Review.

WENT OVER THE GRADE

Wonderful Escape of Jerome Hile On Snake River Grade.

On last Thursday a team belonging to the Jerome Livery company, loaded with five sample trunks belonging to commercial salesmen, went off the Snake river grade on the south side of Snake river. A couple of hundred yards above the Terrell cut-off the driver could do the entire rig went over the hill, the driver escaping. The outfit stopped in the midst of a pile of slide rock some distance down the steep canyon side, and it is a remarkable thing that practically no damage was done. One horse was a little cut and the wagon bed slightly splintered. At any rate the same team hauled the same wagon with its load on into Twin Falls the next day when it was carried together back on the road.—North Side News.

CAUGHT MONSTER STURGEON.

Knappe Men Have Good Luck On Trip To Snake River.

Nampa, June 17.—Messrs. Townsends, Dymond and Fowler went to Turley, on Snake river, Thursday afternoon to fish for sturgeon, and they stayed one night, having success sufficient to justify their return to town the following morning. They arrived here Friday about noon with one big sturgeon that would make fish enough for 100 men. The fish measured six feet and three inches in length, and weighed 110 pounds. He was still alive when brought to town. Messrs. Fowler, where he is now on exhibition. The men caught a number of smaller fish of the same kind, but threw them all away when they found the big one was safely landed.—Statesman.

ANOTHER PAYETTE BOY DROWNS

Goes Swimming Against Parents' Advice.

After going swimming with a number of boy companions against his mother's wishes, Jay Fitch, the 15-year-old son of R. Fitch, a prominent real estate man of Payette, stepped off of a mudflat into deep water and was drowned in the Payette river near the Loveland place, just west of Payette Saturday morning. The other boys stood on the bank and screamed helplessly at the young Fitch rose and sank three times, imploring them to rescue him. A searching party of local men dragged the river for an hour before they were able to recover the body. The father was absent in Weber at the time. Mrs. Fitch is prostrated with grief at the loss of her only child because of the tragedy.—Nampa Leader Herald.

TWO MORE STARS IN FLAG.

Arizona and New Mexico Admitted to Union.

Washington, June 15.—After remaining in the senate calendar for almost three months, the bill providing for the admission of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona to separate statehood was taken by the senate today and passed after a debate lasting a little more than two hours. The measure was called up by Senator Beveridge, chairman of the committee on territories, and was passed after speeches by Senators Beveridge, Francis Nelson, Hughes and Stanford.

All the speeches were favorable to the creation of the two states but the Democrats favored the house bill.

When the vote was reached there was a division on the senate substitute for the house bill, but with that amendment accepted, the senate voted solidly for the passage of the bill.

The senate substitute was adopted as an amendment to the house measure by a strictly party vote, the yeas standing 42 to 19.

As intended the bill provides for the admission as states of the two territories, but not until after a constitution has been adopted by each of them, approved by the president and ratified by congress.—Statesman.

PROPAGATING GRAPE VINES.

Cuttings Should Be Made After Leaves Drop in Fall.

The best way to increase grape vines for a home vineyard is to make simple cuttings in the fall after the leaves have dropped. This may be done when the parent vine is pruned for the winter, the pruning of well-developed wood being cut in lengths so as to include two buds, one at the base of the cutting, the other just below the top.

The cuttings are then to be bundled with sharp-pointed knives and buried erect below the reach of frost, in a well drained, sandy or loamy soil. When spring opens they are to be set in drills six or eight inches apart and the drill cultivated like such crops as beets and peas.—Farm Progress.

Came to America at the Age of 107. Pardo, N. D., June 17.—Perhaps the oldest man who ever came to North Dakota to "grow up with the country" is Peter Hekel, who recently arrived from Germany and will settle on a farm in this state.

Peter is 107 years of age and is accompanied by his son, George, 85 years old; George's son, Frederick, 63 years old; Frederick's son, August, 41 years old; and August's son, William, 19 years old.

Old Peter, who has been a farmer in Germany, said that his family had been engaged in agriculture for many generations, but that as all his sons had done well in America and the rest of his family wanted to come he consented because he could not bear being left alone.—Capital News.

BELIEVE us, the man who clings to the idea that he is going to get something for nothing is sure of one thing--disappointment; Meyer & Co. make no such false pretenses--offers no such alluring inducements to its hundreds of patrons; we have built up the largest clothing business in Twin Falls along entirely different lines; we have won success, gained prestige and power and public confidence, by straightforward, honest, upright square dealing--by selling only the best clothes manufactured in America, and always at a saving price, due to our greater purchasing power.

Illustrative of Meyer & Co.'s facilities for underselling we offer for this week 150 men's fine suits, splendidly tailored by the foremost American makers, at an exceptional low price, we realize that it would be an easy matter for us to sell these suits for at least a fourth more, nevertheless we have placed them on sale at choice,

After some time Miss Brown brought out "The Revue of a Truancy," which was a very appropriate look for old muffs to read, telling us that each was to read a chapter and the last reader would receive the prize. Each tried, but only one could win, so the prize was awarded to Miss Anna Larson.

Then we were invited into the dining room where the finest of all wild things was served by the hostess. On leaving all wished the evening had been longer.

The trial between Gay Tranner and Mrs. M. Walters will be held in Rock Creek, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller went to Twin Falls Sunday.

Misses Anna and Ellen Larson gave a lawn dance Wednesday evening. Although more than fifty guests were invited, none who received an invitation were absent. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served. BIG POWER PLANT.

Work at Lower Salmon Falls Complete and Now in Operation.

The power plant of the Great Shoshone & Twin Falls Water Power company, at Lower Salmon Falls, has been completed and is now in operation, according to the announcement made yesterday by Samuel H. Hays, the well known attorney, who stated that a dam somewhat narrower than the fall of the river at that point, giving a total fall of 50 feet.

In discussing this important step, Mr. Hays said in part: "This is the beginning of the installation of one of the greatest powerplants in the west, as it will have an ultimate capacity of at the lowest of water, of 20,000 or at the highest of water, of 25,000 horse-power. At the present time a capacity of 2,000 horse-power is installed."

"Owing to the character of the power plants being installed, Idaho is destined to be the first where the greatest electric experiments of the future will be made. The Great Shoshone & Twin Falls Water Power company has already made extensive experiments in the way of furnishing electricity for heating purposes. More buildings are heated with electricity in Twin Falls and Jerome than in any other town of their size in the world."

"Heating by electricity" has been looked upon as being a practical possibility, and in most localities this will probably always be the case.

"This company has already made experiments which have considerably advanced the heating problem, and it is probable that southern Idaho will be the first locality where electricity is extensively used for heating purposes. The company offers every inducement to all people of Wendell, Jerome, Gooding, Twin Falls, Arden, and other towns in the Twin Falls district to use electricity, not only for heating but for household and power purposes."

"Considering their size, there are large miles of electrical transmission lines on the Twin Falls north and south side projects, including the Salmon River project, than in any other state district in the United States."

A GOOD SHOW.

The Idaho New One of the Most Modern Theatres in Idaho.

Twin Falls has one of the most complete, up-to-date little theatres to be found anywhere for a city of its size. This theatre is thorough and clean and dusted before every performance and one can drop in any evening and spend a pleasant hour in this clean little theatre.

The pictures are the very best to be had, and the singing by Miss Florence Fletcher of Gooding, Utah, is a rare treat. Prof. E. Warkentin has been engaged to furnish the music and it is certainly worth while to hear this pianist.

The Idaho theatre is under the able management of Mr. G. H. Wilson, who is the latest and best in pictures, songs and music by the best talent.

There is a continuous performance every evening from 7:30 to 11, with a special matinee every Saturday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00 for the benefit of children and people living in town who come to the city to do a Saturday's errand. The Idaho theatre offers every inducement to all people of Wendell, Jerome, Gooding, Twin Falls, Arden, and other towns in the Twin Falls district to use electricity, not only for heating but for household and power purposes."

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS IN CITY

Two Hundred Delegates at Attendance at Sessions.

TUESDAY EVENING OPENING RITE FOR THE PROGRAM.

Men's Banquet Largely Attended and a Most Enjoyable Affair at the Regerson Grill.

The first grand of the state Sunday school workers appeared on the noon train Tuesday and were speedily assigned to the places of entertainment by the committee in charge. Tuesday evening the opening exercises in charge of the state president were begun at 8:30. Two especially fine addresses by Rev. Mr. Pilgus of Portland and Rev. Mr. Merritt of Tacoma, were the features of the session.

Wednesday morning devotional exercises, lead by Rev. Barton, began a session devoted for the most part to reports of committees, routine business, the session closing with a comprehensive talk on the merits of the graded lesson system.

The afternoon session was marked by addresses by Dr. Merritt and Rev. Mr. Titus of Rupert, the latter talking on "The Sunday School's Share in the Evangelization of the World."

Conferences on the various phases of the graded work were presided over by departmental leaders.

Wednesday evening a disappointment was experienced owing to the inability of Judge Allsick to be present, but the program was filled to a large degree by Dr. Phylips.

The banquet for the men, held at the Regerson hotel Wednesday night, was one of the most enjoyable affairs of this kind ever held in the city. Rev. W. L. Markland of the Baptist Sunday school of this city, acted as toastmaster, who explained briefly that the general theme for the speeches of the evening would be "The Adult Bible Class," and his various relations to other branches of Sunday school work.

The following is the program of toasts and speeches, which was greatly appreciated by all present:

The opening selection, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," by the male chorists.

"Save the Day," by C. W. Helmer of Dolan.

"What the Sunday School is to the Business World," by E. C. Cook.

Closure by the Apollo club.

"The Relation of the Adult Bible Class to the Y. M. C. A.," by A. B. Richardson, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Pocatello.

"The Adult Class and How to Organize," by Prof. E. L. Wells.

The closing remarks by Rev. Rexford, of Pocatello, were especially forceful and to the point, and the simple but powerful speech will long be remembered by his audience.

President Bowler of Dolan, gave the "Fire and Polish," and the entire company standing, joined hands and sang "Hosanna to Thee." The affair closed with a prayer by the toastmaster.

Thursday morning the delegates visited the city and were served in a splendid luncheon by Land Johnson at the Falls hotel.

O. V. Allen, of Boise, is out as a candidate for state treasurer on the Republican primary ticket. Mr. Allen is a reliable and shrewd business man with an enviable record during his residence in Boise and should be sure of hearty support in Boise, particularly and all over the state when he becomes known to the voters. Mr. Allen who is a member of the Allen-Wright Furniture company, is becoming well known among the business men of this city and his candidacy will meet with a hearty reception in this city.

The funds of the Fourth to a certain extent are being spent in a way to bring permanent comfort and improvement, a happy change from the usual extravagant expenditures for non-essentials. The fund for rest rooms will be placed in such manner that in the park will be found seats permanent for the summer. Money was given to the hand which is going into the construction of the permanent and beautiful bandstand. Seats placed on Main avenue will be of permanent character for use on other occasions. Altogether the change from the old-time Fourth celebration will be appreciated by the ranchers and townspeople alike in the improvements which are for use days after the Fourth.

Governor Brady, during his recent trip to the Twin Falls country, made a good many votes by the frank, fearless manner with which he met the questions which are agitating the minds of the state circles concerning the land board matters. He has been frank in admitting the disgraceful conduct of some of the members and has in every case made promise of a keener inspection of the land board affairs. Investigation of the controversy between the settlers of this tract and the Land & Water company was one of the promises made to the settlers by the executive and such attitude would prove a vote getter for him anywhere on the tract. In all of his addresses he has not by a single word given the impression of failing to uphold the local issue and has given perfect guarantee that he is sincere. True, some of the men who supported him in this county in the last campaign, are lukewarm, but his attitude on the county question, very easily accounts for such lukewarmness. Brady has made good. He has rung true on the questions that count and can count a larger vote in this county today than during the last election.

Senator Heyburn seems very persistent in misunderstanding and misquoting the people of this state on the question of conservation. In all of his addresses and speeches in this state and in Washington, he has attempted to discredit Pinchot and bear Hallinger and has given the impression that the people are with him in such views. Nothing could be farther from the truth of the matter, however. Few people, while perhaps thinking Pinchot an enthusiast and some times mistaken in his well meant zeal, doubt his honesty of purpose and his patriotic attempt to stop one of the biggest frauds ever perpetrated upon the west with its vast resources. Senator Heyburn does not represent the people of this state in his attempts to stop the work of conservation. He does not represent them any more than he did in his disgraceful outbreak over the placing of Lee's statue in the hall of fame. He does not represent anything but Senator Heyburn, who is a dead issue as far as the voters of this state are concerned. Clifford Pinchot could come to the state of Idaho today and draw a crowded house where Idaho's senator, couldn't get a corporal's guard. Perhaps Idaho and right-minded citizens don't believe in conservation as promulgated by some of those who should be its chief defenders, Senator Heyburn among them. During his past few years in the senate he has steadily and persistently fought conservation regardless of his constituency, fought it from a purely selfish interest.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERIES RISPUTE.

Last week proceedings were begun before the Hague Court of Arbitration to deal with the Newfoundland fisheries question between Great Britain and the United States. The question dates back to Anglo-American Treaty of 1818. By that treaty we secured an unrestricted enjoyment of the deep-sea fisheries on the Atlantic north of our boundaries and renounced the shore fisheries except on certain coasts. For instance, we were granted the liberty to fish on equal terms with British subjects on the west coast of Newfoundland. But complications arose. Among others, two are especially noteworthy. The first concerns persons; the second concerns the coast. The privileges conferred on us by the treaty were given to the "inhabitants" of the United States. What is an inhabitant? The Newfoundland government holds that no fisherman may be thus considered unless he is a genuine inhabitant of our Republic, residing in this country, and shipping from American ports. Our government, on the other hand, contends that the designation should be construed more liberally. The second problem concerns the use of the word "coast." In the treaty. According to the contention of the Newfoundland and Canadian governments, the coast line, within which Americans may not fish, should be along a line, not following the sinuities of the edge of the land, as the American government claims, but drawn from outer headland to outer headland, no matter how wide the enclosed bays may be. In the olden days our fishing vessels were seized for fishing in the Bay of Fundy—sixty miles wide! The determination of this latter question may be especially interesting, as certain of the counties on either side, were also members of the Alaskan Boundary Tribunal, before which a similar question was presented.—The Outlook.

IDAHO VS. THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

The State of Idaho is again in news. Its senators at Washington are before reflecting the current opinion of Idaho as the recent legislation on the agricultural appropriation bill in general, and the forest service part of it in particular. The forest service was attached to the bill, first, because national forests include school sections, and second, because the forest include agricultural lands. The Idaho people intend that the school sections of these lands ought to be theirs. They say: "We went west as pioneers. We settled in Idaho, supposing that the federal government would be as liberal to us as it was to the other territories, now states." In 1890 our territory became a state. About the same time the federal government began its present aggressive forestry policy. To create national forests, vast tracts of the public domain were taken away from our settlers. There fore-are over three-eighths of our state. But this is not the worst. We are cheated out of lands the revenue from which was guaranteed to us. The federal government has allowed state education by giving to a territory, when it becomes a state, sections 16 and 36 in each township on the public domain. We claim (and our state supreme court has just approved it) that we became the owners of these sections, whether surveyed or unsurveyed. No, says the federal government. By the decision of Secretary Garfield, confirmed by Secretary Hallinger, you cannot have title until the sections are surveyed. The school sections, merged in the national forests, are thus lost to us because administered as part of a federal, not a state, system. The federal government, it is true, allows us to offset the expected revenue by collecting elsewhere on the public domain an area equal to that of the school sections. But suppose we find, no much revenue-producing area, we are cheated. We are cheated again, in being deprived hundreds of thousands of acres of agricultural lands included within the national forests, though the federal government had no authority to put anything but timber lands in forest reserves." The federal government is not unkind of these complaints. The school sections question comes in the jurisdiction of the department of the interior over the passage of title to public lands. The federal government is, of course, acting on the department's decisions. Congress, however, can, if it chooses, enact some measure of relief. If not of an actual grant of all the school sections, then, as Mr. Pinchot suggests, of a right to some more advantageous form of indemnity selection, or even of exchange for a solid body of present national forest land. As to national forests, they were established over so large a part of Idaho because most of the state consisted of unsettled lands. In this establishment there was no time to make detailed surveys. It was necessary to act quickly if public interests were to be conserved. Hence, some agricultural lands were inadvertently included. Where there have been found they have been eliminated to the extent of many thousand acres. If others are still included, we may expect their exclusion too. For the forest service exists not only for the benefit of the federal government, but also for that of Idaho home-makers.—The Outlook.

PRESERVATION OF EGGS.

Properly Placed in Water Glass Will Keep a Long Time.

It often happens that there is a time in early winter when fowls have finished molting that one is without eggs unless some provision is made for this beforehand; then, by keeping eggs one often gets a higher price for them, but they must be like fresh ones. I will, therefore, give a method of preserving eggs in water glass which is superior to packing in salt, lime water and brine, and, wrapping in newspapers or any other method I have ever used.

To prepare the solution, make one part of water glass in nine parts of boiling water and immerse the eggs in it. Eggs will keep from ten months to a year in this, and be better for cooking than most eggs purchased at the stores.

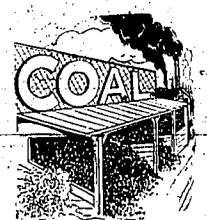

The eggs must be fresh when put in the solution and the shells clean. If required for hatching, a hole should be poked in the shell to allow the escape of gas, which would otherwise burst the shell. It will not cost more than one cent a dozen to preserve eggs in water glass. An earthen ware vessel is best for this solution.

In packing eggs it is most important that they be absolutely fresh and sound. Any eggs with flakes of lime which may scale off and leave the contents of the egg exposed, a cracked egg or an egg which has begun to deteriorate should never be placed in the preserving solution.

When grocers are reporting checks from eggs in baskets on the floor in their stores it is time to realize the importance of gathering the eggs twice daily. A few hours in the nest under a succession of hens is enough to start incubation and to take the first freshness from an egg.

The quicker the egg reaches the soation after it is gathered, the better flavor it will have when used. After a few weeks it will be noticed that a jelly-like substance is about the eggs in the water glass solution. This is all right, and is no sign of deterioration.—Farm Progress.
