RADICAL PLATFORM OF EX-PRESIDENT

Leaves no Doubt as to His Position.

FOR GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF UTILITIES.

Roosevelt Declares Federal Law the Only Effective Weapon in Stopping Corruption by the Trusts.

St. Paul, Sept. 6.—Theodore Roosevelt's speech on conservation delivered today at the National Conservation congress was received with the wildest applause. It was several minutes after he arose to speak before he could make himself heard, so persistently did the throng cheer him. Col. Roosevelt outlined his ideas as to conservation, saying that the reckless and uncontrolled waste of the past must be stopped. He declared himself in favor of rapid steps to preserve the country's natural resources for the benefit of the whole people and to check the power of monopolistic corporations.

SOME LATE HOUR CALLERS.

Prudent development and full use of national waterways with adequate terminals and laws to compel riparian owners to keep their lands free of obstructions and under reasonable regulation is urged.

Drainage of swamps and overflooded lands by the government advocated. Full and adequate protection of the forests is declared an imperative national duty.

Factors federal bureau of health to co-operate with state and city health officers in lifting barriers of disease from the people.

Government, instead of state, control of water power to prevent monopoly and to regulate special interests and predatory corporations is vigorously urged. Because of the interstate features of these subjects governmental jurisdiction with federal laws with the federal executive are declared the only effective weapons.

True conservation of resources is the full use for people of present without waste and with care and development for coming generations—development.

SOME BIG APPLES.

F. C. Polzin Picks Some Speeches—Twelfth Dinner Affair.

F. C. Polzin brought in the first of the week two enormous apples grown on his ranch three and a half miles southeast of town. These apples weighed twelve ounces apiece and were expressed by Mr. Polzin to his former home in Kansas.

Mr. Polzin came to Twin Falls last January and bought the old Carlin place. He will market $500 or more of these apples from trees planted in 1905.

CELEBRATION OF LABOR DAY

A Very Large Crowd Turns Out.

MISS BAUMGARTNER WINS PRIZE FOR HANDSOMEST WOMAN.

Much Credit Due the Laboring Men For An Excellent Program—Hall Gained a Feature of the Day.

The Labor Day celebration held Monday was one of the most successful in the history of the tract, and was attended by one of the largest crowds ever assembled in Twin Falls on such an occasion. The entire program was pulled off with great credit to the unions, and the committee in charge.

The ball game between the Building Laborers and Carpenters was won by the former by a close score, who also won the tug of war.

Miss Marie Baumgartner won the $25 prize for the handsomest woman in Twin Falls, and is considered to have won it deservedly.

SOME LATE HOUR CALLERS.

Prize, the Jeweler, Miss Experience Monday Evening.

About two o'clock Monday evening two young ladies, coming at W. R. Prieb's, who had just returned from the Labor Day dance, heard some one step upon the back porch and say, "Hello, Prieb." Next the visitors shook the door, attempting to see if it was locked. By this time the young ladies were thoroughly alarmed and called to Mr. Prieb, who immediately investigated and found two men leaving the rear of the house, snatching off, talking very earnestly about something in which Mr. Prieb's name was several times mentioned. The night watchman was called over the phone but was given the wrong street directions and did not get to the scene until too late to get any sight of the men. As the lateness of the hour would preclude any honest intention on the part of his visitors, Mr. Prieb is desirous of getting a life size turret gun in order to receive them properly next time.

MORE HIGH GRADE.

Jarboide Park Co. Strife $1,000 Ore In a Wagon on Their Property.

On Saturday evening the Jarboide Park Co. struck extremely high grade ore in the bottom of a wagon sunk from the tunnel on their property. The vein is about four feet wide and occurs in the neighborhood of $1,000.

The Park tunnel is now in two hundred and fifty feet, evidence of water have been encountered and the company has commenced tunneling.

GIVE LIBERALLY TO FAIR FUND

Commissioners Vote $1000 Toward Industrial Fair.

COMMITTEES GETTING BUSY ON DETAIL OF BIG EVENT.

Committee on Grounds and Privileges Having Many Demands for Space for Exhibits.

The crowding effort in the campaign for the fair fund was reached when the board of county commissioners this week voted to give $1,000 for the industrial fair to swell the guaranty fund. The action of the board is giving the impetus to the fair fund, and with general and hearty approval and is giving the needed impetus to make the fair a success from the start.

While the financial outcome has not been in doubt, yet the general committee decided to expend only what money was paid in and so on further, with the result that some sympathy was felt on the part of members of the sub-committees. This doubt having been removed all around by the handsome gift, has caused every person to take an interest.

The next two weeks will be very busy ones for every member of the general committee and for the sub-committees upon buildings have about completed their arrangements for getting the exhibits housed and will push the work on actual construction as fast as possible.

Demands for space for exhibits have been coming in rapidly from all of the towns in the Twin Falls country and there is reason to believe that whoever walks off with a premium will do so over strong competition.

Provision for the fair grounds are in great demand and the committee will have no trouble in selling every available space.

Amusements for the week are in the hands of a committee which is getting action on some stellar stunts for the occasion, and the Club or Maria Gras festival for the evening evening is sure to prove very popular.

CITY COUNCIL MEETS.

Short Business Session Held Tuesday Evening.

The city council met Tuesday evening in regular session and under the allowance of bills transacted very little business. Petitions from citizens in two different sections of the city for are lights were read and referred to the proper committees for investigation. A building permit was granted to Harry Hebers for a building on lot 28, block 123.

BALL PLAYER INJURED.

West of Blackfoot Team, Ill By Pitched Ball.

Lewis West, center-fielder on the Blackfoot team was hit by the lead in Saturday's game with Twin Falls, and very seriously injured. He was taken to the Twin Falls hospital, and on Monday evening he was placed in a bed on the Pullman and his friends left with him for Blackfoot.

SCHOOL DISTRICT ELECTION TUESDAY

J. A. Waters and J. S. Keel Elected as Directors.

LARGE NUMBER OF VOTES CAST IN AN EXCITING ELECTION.

W. H. Eldridge, One of the Retiring Members, Refuses to Serve Another Term.

The annual school election of the Independent school district No. 1, which was held Tuesday afternoon, caused as much excitement as a general election, owing to an attempt formulated to disorganize the present board in its conduct of the school affairs.

At two o'clock the names of J. A. Waters for re-election, J. S. Keel, H. O. Miller and John Costello were placed in nomination and a merry race was on for the voters of the district. Automobiles were brought into play by both sides and a heavy vote secured by the energetic combined efforts of school board adherents and the anti.

J. A. Waters and Mrs. W. H. Wolfe were judges of the election appointed by the board.

The result of the election were as follows:

J. S. Keel.....246
J. A. Waters.....241
H. O. Miller.....135
John Costello.....123

The four men running for the offices were all admirably fitted for the position and aside from the question of endorsement of the school board which entered largely into the matter, the vote would have been very close.

Mr. Eldridge, whose term expired with that of Mr. Waters, positively refused to serve again because of the injury to his business from participation in the school affairs. The members elected will serve three years.

ABOUT PISA'S TOWER.

The "Leaning Tower" Is Overdoing It.

The sword-swallower, the lion-tamer, and other daring performers who finally come to grief by carrying their specialties too far, seem likely to be joined soon by Pisa's leaning tower, which has lately shown a tendency to lean more than ever. Frightened Pisa has appointed a commission to look into this alarming inclination, and the commission reports that a new foundation must go under it if it is to stand any longer. Otherwise, after serving to illustrate the stability of inclined structures to generations of school-boys, it would doubtless give one final and demonstration of what happens to such structures when the center of gravity falls outside the base line. Says a writer in Cosmos (Paris):

"The leaning tower of Pisa, renowned throughout all the world, is leaning more and more and is causing anxiety; it has even been necessary to stop ringing its bells. At the opening of the nineteenth century its inclination was 3.6 per cent. of its height; to-day it has reached 5.2 per cent., and what is still more disquieting is the fact that this increase of departure from the vertical has taken place almost all the once.

"A commission has been appointed to study the situation, and its report is most pessimistic. It states that the foundations, instead of consisting, as a large, massive base, as has been believed since the studies of Grassi in 1831 and those of Fabiani de Fleury in 1855, are formed only of a ring exactly the size of the walls, and go down about ten feet below the ground—a depth absolutely insufficient for a monument of this importance.

"The examination has made it possible to clear up the familiar question—was the tower built intentionally with its present inclination, or is this due to settling?

"Both hypotheses have elements of truth in them.

"The construction was begun in 1170 and was not completed until 200 years later. It was to have been carried up vertically, but the work was interrupted after some time and not begun again until 1288. It was then seen that the part that had been built had taken a certain slant. To preserve the existing structure the work was resumed by modifying the mode of building. The line of inclination was followed, but the horizontal level of the stories was kept by gradually increasing the height of the arches on the lower side. The artifice, odd though it appears, does great honor to the architects who dared to apply it to so important a structure. Besides being very bold, it gives to the edifice, an aspect all its own, much surpassing in picturesqueness and harmony that of a regular tower, slightly inclined.

"The slanting is attributed to undermining by water and also to human imprudence, which opened drains, and even excavated a cistern, at the foot of the tower.

"Happily, the modern engineer's art furnishes the means. If not of correcting the fault, at least of arresting its development. It is well known that in America a substructure was built under the celebrated Washington monument, a structure whose importance is due to an entirely different reason."

A slightly different version of the situation is given by Mr. A. Battelli in Nature (London, August 4), after describing the investigations of the commission, he concludes as follows:

"In spite of these serious conclusions, the commission is nevertheless unanimously of opinion that the famous tower of Pisa still possesses good stability, and that the present condition of the same is not such as to give rise to excessive apprehension for the future."—Translation made for The Literary Digest.

IDAHO APPLES LEAD.

Show Up Well In Comparison With Other States.

Apple growers in the Pacific or box group, taking in Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Montana, California, New Mexico, Utah and Colorado, will this year have the largest crop ever harvested in these states and the fruit promises to be of exceptionally good quality, according to a report on the condition of the yield in the United States and Canada, received from C. F. Rothwell, secretary of the International Apple Shippers' association. The report says in part:

"The Pacific group shows a decline in but one important state—Colorado. There are heavy increases in Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Utah, and the state of California shows a moderate increase of 15 per cent, and for the whole group an increase of 50 per cent over a year ago is provided.

"The output of Idaho and Washington will be 200 per cent better than in 1909, while Oregon's crop will be 75 per cent ahead of last year. Montana and New Mexico are 10 per cent under a year ago; Utah 100 per cent better, California, 15 per cent increase, and Colorado, 30 per cent less than in 1909.

"In accordance with the practice of our association for several years," Mr. Rothwell explains, "we make last year's crop in each state the basis for this year's estimate, increasing or diminishing the percentage as the crop is correspondingly lighter or heavier. For illustration, if a given state is rated at 50 per cent, it means the crop of this year is equal to four-fifths of the crop of a year ago, or if it shows at 200 per cent, the crop in that state is just twice as large as a year ago.

"Appended is the crop estimated, with percentage of yield, as compared with 1909:

Pacific Group.	State and Quality.	Per Cent.

"Upon the important question of quality I will say that it is decidedly better than in 1909. New Zealand, New York and Ohio all promise a much better quality than a year ago, as does all the southern group, while the Pacific group, with Idaho and Washington leading, promises exceptionally good quality for the entire group, which will be the best ever harvested.—Nampa, Sept. 16 Herald.

Red Cross Will Pay Hospital Expenses.
Washington, Sept. 2.—After a conference with the forestry service officials today the officers of the American National Red Cross announced that it would pay the hospital expenses of the government employees injured in fighting the forest fires in the northwest. It is estimated that the expense will amount to about $1,000 which will be paid out of the contingent relief fund of the Red Cross.

Had it not been for this decision on the part of the Red Cross, the employees would not only have lost their wages during the time of their confinement in the hospital but would have been required to pay their own hospital expenses as well as government funds were available for these purposes.

Sample of Peat Brought to City.

Great bodies of peat are believed to underlie certain portions of the Snake river valley in the vicinity of Walter's ferry, according to information brought here this morning by John Dale of Silver City, who brought over a large ore exhibit for the later-mentioned fair from the Idaho-Maryland mine in Florida, mountain and on coming out stopped at the ferry and obtained a fine specimen of peat, discovered there early last winter by Edgar Meek, who has developed a four-foot vein and has used the mineral ever since for fuel, having a large amount for all domestic purposes.

The deposit of peat was discovered quite by accident by Mr. Meek, who had no knowledge of its existence in that locality and the big vein was discovered while he was drilling, first water near his place. When he first discovered the peat, he found it in a strata, he was not sure of its nature, but made a thorough examination and finding that it was peat, he decided to use it for fuel. Finding its value for burning better than two-hundred rods of coal, he has since been mining the peat and finding the vein increasing in size he is now considering developing the mine for its commercial value, believing that in his section of the country he can easily sell the product at the mine for 85 per cent on wood is very scarce and coal hard to obtain and very expensive.

The ferry at which the mineral was discovered, lies some 10 miles northwest of Murphy and is a section where there is no coal. The discovery of the mineral near his place has been a great boon to Mr. Meek as his special branch fuel supply was getting exhausted.

Peat is a mineral which has been found extensively in England and Ireland where it is common knowledge. There are a number of large peat beds in the northern part of this country and in Newfoundland, but as far as known none has been discovered before this far south.

The mineral is a deposit formed in bogs by the decay of vegetable matter, frequently consisting almost entirely of sphagnum or bog moss. In composition it differs from coal only in the relative proportion of its constituents, near 90 per cent of its constituents being carbon, while coal contains 85 to 87 per cent. Peat is much lighter than coal and being dried and burned more readily, yet it holds fire for a longer time.

Since the discovery of the mineral it has been found that a great deal of soil of a similar character to that in which the mineral was found exists in sections along the Snake river and it is believed other bodies will be uncovered.—Capital News.

Idaho Offers Complete Agricultural Course for Boys from Grade Schools.

Moscow, Idaho, Aug. 20, 1910.—"We have just received word here ready for distribution the catalogue of our new School of Practical Agriculture," said Dean W. L. Carley of the Agricultural Department of the Idaho University, today.

"The same problem is everywhere," continued Dean Carley, "how to keep the boys interested in and make them contented and prosperous on the farm. We are trying to solve that problem. It will be the aim and purpose of our Practical School to show the boys the attractive side of farm life, to point out the little crooks and tares by which time, labor and money may be saved, and to teach them better and more practical farming."

Early in the course the boys will work at the forge, learn to weld, temper, etc.—things that many men, a dollar on the lot in less time than it takes to tell it. The fire was discovered in the buggy shed by Foreman Kelly, who once gave the alarm and went at it with the hand chemical. He succeeded in putting out about half of the blaze when the chemical gave out and the yard was soon a mass of flames. The cause of the fire is not known and no one can figure it out.

A large crowd was attracted to the scene in an effort to do something completely gutted the office building before it blew from the lot. The Consolidated Wagon & Machine Company, and as this is covered with iron there was little likelihood of its burning. It was closely watched, however, by Messrs. Vincent and McCarty and little fires which started in the weeds along the railroad track were quickly extinguished.

This is the third fire of a series of fires within twenty-four hours, the other two which were at the harness shop and printing office consisting of trouble with gasoline lamps and doing an damage more than to scare the owners, but let us hope it is the last that will fall to the lot of our prosperous little city.—Pioneer Record.

A PLATFORM.

By M. J. Sweeney, Republican Candidate for State Senator.

To the Voters of Twin Falls County: As the primary is over and the make-up of the tickets is known, I insert a few lines to the voters in the campaign for the election.

I am fixed in the opinion that political platforms should not be made by either committee or candidates, but should be framed by the people. To that end I urge upon the new county committee of my party that a convention of Republicans will be held at Twin Falls on Thursday, September 23rd, for the purpose of preparing a party platform. It is earnestly hoped that the people of the county will, in the meantime, give consideration to public questions so that by the time the convention meets sentiment will be crystallized that a platform may be constructed on which our party can readily unite and which will be approved at the November election.

Both by way of suggestion and an indication of what may be expected of me in the event of my election, and just to the combined wisdom of my party as it may be expressed in its platform, I shall favor the following: The creation of a State Land Board separate from the present elective office, which shall have control of the public lands and water of the state to the end that they may be fully and properly conserved and developed for the greatest benefit to the people. Our lands and water constitute our chief assets and they should be under the management of a thoroughly competent body which can give to them their entire attention.

2. A public utilities commission for the proper regulation of rates of service of railroads, express companies, telephone and telegraph companies and other public service corporations throughout the state.

3. A Carey Act commission to have charge of all projects under that Act to avoid the expense of the number of officers that might be called for by separate boards, as many of the foregoing matters as possible should be placed under one management.

4. A law giving to cities and towns the right to participate in the fixing and regulation of rates and tolls to be charged and the service to be rendered by telephone companies and other public service corporations to their patrons within such municipalities.

5. Amendments to the primary election law to make it more practical by removing its uncertainty and incongruities, especially the provision requiring a second choice vote.

6. Amendment of our election laws making registration less onerous.

7. The retention of the principle of county option in dealing with the liquor traffic, with no backward movement and with only such amendments to the existing law as the wisdom gained by experience demands.

8. The creation of a State Agricultural College and its location in southern Idaho.

9. The semi-annual payment of taxes whereby payments will be made easier and money kept longer in the hands of the people instead of being tied up in public vaults or the banks of the state.

10. A law requiring the destruction of noxious weeds shortly after they are first drawn and advocated at the last session of the legislature.

11. A law against the pollution of the waters in irrigation canals and ditches which are used for domestic purposes, similar to the bill introduced by me at the last session.

12. A change in our road law which will permit boards of county commissioners to establish and adopt local public highways of less than fifty feet in width.

13. Legislation through amendment of the constitution if necessary, providing for the use of convict labor in the construction of public highways.

14. Legislation which shall leave equal water right among the several land owners of the South Side Twin Falls River, without regard to the locations of their lands or dates of their entries.

15. A substantial state appropriation to improve and beautify the public park at Shoshone Falls.

Some of the foregoing have no proper place in a party platform for concerning them there should be no division of opinion. They are put out here in order that public attention may be directed to them so I intend discussing them fully during the campaign.

M. J. SWEENEY.

The big stick is in evidence in the west with the peerless Roosevelt, and in every city where he has visited his welcome has proved that he is still the idol of the people. His speeches throughout have rung with sincerity and he has convinced even his enemies that he is in the campaign with an influence enhanced rather than decreased by his lack of official position. His clear-cut statements on the vital issues cannot be mistaken. He has not taken a backward step in any particular. Call it progressive or insurgent as you please, his policies stand primarily for the measures which will protect the interests of the people against the corporations. His stand for government control places him in the ranks of the agitators, perhaps, but nevertheless gives him prestige as an exponent of Americanism. Forest reserve policy came in for his share of attention and Mr. Roosevelt's stand on that should make Richard A. Ballinger sit up and take notice. Likewise a number of hard grabbing men who control newspapers in the west and who have been constant in their abuse of Pinchot and the Roosevelt forestry policy. If the reports from the primaries are any indication it is high time for the present administration to get into the game with something real and something vital to the voters' interest.

of the present stand upon a rather shaded past. Roosevelt has sounded the note of a better Republican party controlled by the people rather than the interests, that centers about Washington and the congressional lobbies.

During the past two weeks it has been extremely noticeable the number of men on the streets who are in a sense knocking the business interests of the city who are constantly knocking about the quiet business conditions. It is just such talk that puts towns out of commission as live towns. If any man does not like the city it is his privilege to pack his duds and get out. Walking is good right now, it won't improve later. Twin Falls merchants are looking forward to splendid business conditions, likewise the other men who make up ninety-five per cent of the business firms of the city. They are not yelling at a quiet period in the quiet summer months, but have been quietly pulling up the fall goods upon their shelves and are now getting ready to reap the benefit of their sagacity with the use of some printer's ink. The other five per cent of the business men it would seem should fall into line and "blast" with every breath instead of wasting it in knoeches. Wet or dry The Times has hoisted for everything and will do so under all conditions. It does not intend to go around furnishing material for business-trucking knoeches at any stage of the game and is going to help in every way the optimist in the business world. Twin Falls is better off today than any town from which the afore said knoeches have come and is going to get better with every turn of the old world. If the men think their good old knoeches towns are better than Twin Falls let them move back, back, back to the woods. The financial depression in the east and the slump in irrigation bonds is to blame solely for the conditions in this city and not any local condition. Twin Falls has had its financial support from eastern money for the past five years and with the irrigation bond slump came a slump in the sale of realty in this section and smaller amount of money in circulation. The two go hand in hand and no man of sane, sober, common sense is prone about attributing that slump to anything but conditions outside of the control of any man's hands in this city. The Times regrets greatly that this much spirit should creep into this community to disintegrate the once-cold ranks of our knoeches who have carried the town on to success to the east. There is nothing the matter except in the minds of a few disgruntled men who are in their feeble way trying to block the progress of this truly wonderful little city.

THE CRISIS IN THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The acute controversies in the Republican party which have made the political affairs of states like Ohio, California, Kansas, and Iowa of national as well as of local interest, have now brought the state of New York into a similar prominent position in public interest. A deep-seated antagonism between two groups of the Republican organization in New York state has developed into an open fight, which is bound either to reform or to disrupt the party. On August 19 the state committee held a meeting at which there was chosen a temporary chairman for the Republican state convention to be held in September. The temporary chairman is an officer of importance. He generally has large influence in shaping the platform, and is supposed to make a speech which sounds the "key-note" of the campaign. The New York state committee is divided between a group of men who are known as the "Old Guard" and another group who have supported the progressive legislation of Governor Hughes. The "Old Guard" is made up of men actively engaged in machine politics of the old type, and is dominated by Mr. William Barnes, Jr., of Albany—a "boss" of the school of the late Senator Platt. Mr. Lloyd Garrison, chairman of the New York county committee, came to Mr. Roosevelt before the state committee meeting, and, on behalf of the progressive wing of the party, asked him to permit his name to be presented as a nominee for temporary chairman. The conditions upon which Mr. Roosevelt assented have already been stated in the daily press, as well as in these columns. He said to the progressive leaders that if they really wished him to act as temporary chairman he would do so, but that he had some strong convictions as to what should be done, and that while it was possible that his speech would help if the party nominated the right kind of man on the right kind of platform, he would be useless as a chairman. If the platform and the candidate did not correspond with his speech, "which would wrap the principles for which he is known to stand—principles which are clearly set forth by Mr. Roosevelt on another page in an article entitled "The Progressives, Past and Present"—Messrs. Sherman, Aldridge, Barnes, and Woodruff, and those who sympathize with them, decided that they did not want Mr. Roosevelt in the position of temporary chairman on such conditions. They accordingly chose Vice President Sherman, and the "boss" element on the party joyously treated Mr. Roosevelt's failure of election as a blow, not only to him, but to Governor Hughes and the political reforms for which Governor Hughes has stood.

Of course they had a perfect right to exercise the honest power of the majority and elect the candidate of the majority. What they did not have a right to do was to obtain their majority by trickery and deception. It soon began to be rumored that in bringing about the election of Vice President Sherman and the defeat of Mr. Roosevelt the cheapest tricks of machine politics had been employed. At first the rumor was unwilling to credit these rumors. It was alleged that Mr. Sherman had himself suppressed an important telegram from President Taft, and had given some of the members of the committee the impression that Mr. Roosevelt's defeat was desired by President Taft and his administration. The public at first hardly credit reports of such political chicanery on the part of a man holding one of the most distinguished positions in American political life. The "Old Guard" so persistently circulated the idea that Mr. Taft and his administration were behind them and opposed to Mr. Roosevelt that Mr. Taft made public a letter to Mr. Garrison, in which he not only disavowed any support of the "Old Guard," but stated that a telegram had been sent to Mr. Sherman advising him to consult with Mr. Roosevelt, and that he himself had no knowledge of Mr. Sherman's candidacy until the fact of his selection had been published in the newspapers. What the political future of Mr. Sherman can possibly be, in view of Mr. Taft's very clear but very strong repudiation of him and his works in this matter, it is hard to conjecture. At this writing it is not known whether Mr. Sherman will insist on assuming the temporary chairmanship of the convention, but Mr. Roosevelt has announced that if he goes as a delegate to the floor of the convention, he will there make a speech which will open the principles and methods which are followed in Republican politics by "old guards," not only in New York, but in all parts of the country. Mr. Barnes has made a statement, drawn out by the letter of President Taft, but no adequate reply to it. He asserts that his position is one of defense of capital and industry from the attacks of portly theorists; the inference being that the real enemies both of their party and of the country are those who favor direct nomination and freedom of the party from the oligarchic rule of a few strong but self-constituted bosses. It appears to be the general opinion throughout the state that this episode has very much weakened, if it has not destroyed, the political influence of Messrs. Barnes, Aldridge, Woodruff, and Vice President Sherman, and very much strengthened the position of Mr. Roosevelt as a leader of the political thought and action of the state. The action of Mr. Barnes and his associates in this matter, which, as they made it only too evident, they regarded as a showed political move that would give them control of the party in the state and eliminate Mr. Roosevelt and Governor Hughes as party leaders, turned out to have been a piece not only of bad sense but of laughably feeble "politics." The whole country will regard exceedingly that the vice president of the United States should be involved in a scheme to change a transaction.

This contest in New York state between Mr. Sherman, Mr. Barnes, Mr. Aldridge, and Mr. Woodruff on the one hand, and Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Garrison, and Governor Hughes on the other, is not a local or factional fight. It is a contest which has now assumed national proportions. It had its beginning in an attack in the house of representatives upon Speaker Cannon and what is now known as "Cannonism," but it is now a part of a general revolution which has for its purpose the overthrow of those men who wish, by means of a closely bound organization, to manipulate party machinery for their own political or financial ends. The true progressive was first applied to those representatives or senators who were arrayed against the principle of oligarchy; the movement has now grown until the title of progressive may fairly be used to designate any man who is determined to see that no man in this country is a government which is really representative of a genuine democracy; that is, to use Mr. Roosevelt's words, "against the domination of the party and the public by special interests, whether these special interests are political, business, or a compound of the two."—The Outlook.

Mr. Editor:—It was my fortune or misfortune, whichever you may prefer, to hear a pair of old politicians deliver a speech which was delivered, with manifold and impressive gestures, in the streets of our beautiful city last Saturday evening. Now I am standing alone the sidewalk and looking the crowds my attention was arrested by the word "Socialism." Now I have always heard that Socialism, like the quack doctor's remedies, was the cure for all human ills, so I naturally stopped to listen. The speaker was talking about a man who made three pairs of shoes do the work of twelve. He interested me immediately as I am land on shoes and wanted to know how he did it. But when the orator went on to say that some manufacturers of shoes were making 200 per cent profit out of the poor, down-trodden working man, with a mental direction to him to "sell that to the market," I journeyed on in search of a picture show.

Now the would-be governor of the great state of Idaho is a thoroughly honest and conscientious man and one for whom I have a great deal of respect, but a few more such statements and there will be a tendency to cause people to lose their confidence in his reasoning powers. He has probably read that in some paper that makes a business man's interest-statement and in the innocence of his heart he has taken it for granted that the statement was true. Had he stopped a moment to think, the extreme absurdity of the proposition would have been apparent.

There are millions upon millions of capital invested in various enterprises which are paying from 7 to 8 per cent and there are millions more that cannot get even just now. Why, if it was 200 per cent profit in making shoes or even half or even one-sixth of that amount was would soon have a shoe factory upon every hill-top and in every valley. Common sense is a great thing but it does not seem to be in much demand among Socialists orators. It is amazing to hear Socialist orators heretofore Republicans and Democrats for patting the laboring man on the back while they are doing the very self same thing and then come.

Stewards Skate on New Plaza.
A new use has been found for the Chelsea piers, said to be the finest in the world, and also for those opened in recent years in Hoboken for German fleets. They are proving the finest kind of skating rink, and stewards of the ships arriving here have been providing themselves with roller skates.

Passengers who have been departing recently on ocean liners have been surprised to find stewards glibly up to them on skates and take their handshakes. Between sailings races and athletic games have been held. One ship that arrived recently had its stewards who had roller skates.

It is explained that the length of the new piers had made the problem of getting from the street to the waiting ships a hard one to deal with, and the skates have solved the difficulty.

As far as can be learned the idea of "skating" on piers began when a steward of the Hamilton-American line went to a rink in Hoboken recently and was given a pair of roller skates as a prize. He tried them on the pier with such success that the cruise spread to other lines.—New York American.
