BUSINESS METHODS AS APPLIED TO FARMING

Superintendent McPherson Blazes the Trail to Success for Kimberly Farmers—Gives Interesting Explanation of How the Twin Falls Soil Was Formed Out of Ashes From the Craters.

The Kimberly Farmers association held a quiet, sociable meeting in the Stockgrowers store on Wednesday evening. A number of ladies and young girls were present and the young men were more conspicuous. It was decided that the social feature of the meetings should be built up and a committee consisting of Alex Wilkins, Mrs. Burrington and Miss Wolfe was appointed to prepare a program for two weeks later. There will be music, both vocal and instrumental, possibly a reading of two and maybe some short addresses. The idea is not to go too strong on this feature at the start and thus waste too much ammunition. The purpose is to make the farmers' meetings attractive. There is plenty of excellent talent around Kimberly and it is hoped that the association meetings in that place will soon have the reputation of furnishing first class entertainment as well as food for thought. Once the reserve is broken and the members get in the habit of asking questions and saying something once in a while the association will forge ahead rapidly.

A. R. Moore called the meeting to order on Wednesday evening and remained in the chair until President Starr arrived a few minutes later. George Fraser acted as temporary secretary, that office not having been filled.

Mrs. A. R. Moore, James McMillan and Alex McPherson were appointed a committee on order of business. They agreed upon the following order: Call to order at 8:30 p. m.; reading of minutes; reports of committees; communications; new business; unfinished business; program; address; program.

Superintendent McPherson brought up the entertainment feature, saying he had found it very helpful in stimulating interest. It encouraged local talent, gave the boys and girls a chance to show their gifts as entertainers and made the meetings more attractive.

President Starr agreed with the superintendent. He suggested that the ladies might lend a hand. There were several talented ladies in Kimberly and vicinity, he added, and if they could be induced to help, the programs would surely be attractive. The appointment of the entertainment committee followed.

Good Roads Movement.

As no subject had been assigned for the evening, Mr. McPherson said he would serve some hash, seasoning it with good roads cats-up and other palatable condiments. He briefly described the good roads meeting in Boise, telling how the charts were used and saying that he hoped to have the charts here before long for use at the association meetings. Mr. McPherson described the famous "good roads" train of 40 cars, explaining that the government furnished all the machinery and sent experts along with it to build sample roads. A mile of sample road was to be built in Boise and another in Idaho Falls, he continued, and it would be a grand thing for Twin Falls if the train could be brought here. The sample roads were built of material at hand and all the farmers had to do was to furnish the men and teams, together with the material.

Mr. McPherson also called attention to the forthcoming visit of the congressional committee which, he said, would drive through the Kimberly district.

What is the Soil?

Taking up the question: "What is the soil?", Mr. McPherson said the earth was originally carbonic acid gas. Out of this were formed the rocks and later the soil. Nearly all soil was pulverized rock. In Twin Falls the soil was doubly refined rock, the richest soil in the world. The theory was that after the volcanic eruption, by which this entire section of the country was covered with molten lava, the ashes from the craters descended in clouds and was carried by winds until it found lodgment. It formed what was known as "Aeolian" soil, or soil formed by the action of the winds. The soil in the Dakotas and Minnesota was "Glacial" soil, formed by the grinding of the glaciers upon the rocks. Although there was not a single limestone quarry in the vicinity of Twin Falls, yet the soil was extremely rich in lime. It was also exceptionally rich in other plant producing qualities. All it needed was the legumes, such as clover, alfalfa, locust or like plants.

Frequently soil was 70 per cent gas, said Mr. McPherson. It was a teeming mass of life. Vegetable microbes permeated every inch and multiplied with wonderful rapidity. Without this bacilli no plant could live. It was the food upon which the plant thrived. There was no such thing as death in plants, they simply separated from their parts and returned to their original condition to reappear in another form.

Doing Business on the Farm.

When a farmer raised 30 bushels of wheat on an acre of ground, the speaker explained, he practically drew from the soil $8.15 worth of plant growth. The soil was like a bank. If you drew plant growth substance from it you should put plant growth substance into it otherwise the soil would become exhausted through lack of deposits, just like the bank account. In England, where farming had been conducted for centuries, the soil was richer now than ever. That, he said, was "doing business on the farm." The soil should be enriched by rotation of crops and the use of legumes.

In Rexburg, Idaho, said Mr. McPherson, the farmers used to summer fallow. By so doing they kept half of their soil idle. Soon they learned the secret of crop rotation and legume enrichment and now they have dropped summer fallowing altogether and use every inch of their land every year.

What Land Is Worth.

All land was worth was the return it would bring for the investment, declared the superintendent. It should pay at least 10 per cent. Mr. McPherson said he knew his own orchard was worth $10,000 because it netted him $1,000 a year. He knew this because he had kept careful account of the cost of maintaining the orchard and knew exactly what every tree cost to keep it up. Unprofitable trees were soon uprooted. This was also doing business on the farm. An unprofitable cow was just as bad as an unprofitable tree. The correct idea was to "do business." Keep track of the leaks and stop them. If anything was found unprofitable, drop it. Keep accounts as you do if you were in business. Find out what it cost you to raise your fruits and grains, then you will know exactly what your farm is worth. Watch the leaks.

Mr. McPherson said the man who neglected to level his land in the beginning would have to do it sooner or later with the shovel. He told of seeing a farmer near Kimberly who was trying to make the water run up hill. It wouldn't run and the farmer in his rage was slapping the water with a shovel and cursing the country. The country was all right, the water was all right and the soil was gilt edge. The farmer who tried to combat the law of gravitation was only to blame.

Value of a Reputation.

The superintendent told of an auction sale of fruit in Minneapolis at which a quantity of attractive looking fruit from Clarkston, Washington, brought fancy prices. When the crates were opened, however, it was found that the good fruit was all on top or at the sides. The rest was wormy and scabby. The buyers were naturally wrathful and when a carload of good Lewiston fruit was offered shortly afterwards they declined to buy it because it came from the same district as the Clarkston fruit. Thus the Lewiston fruit grower lost through the negligence of the Clarkston grower. The idea was to get a reputation. This could only be done through effective organization. Nobody hesitated to buy Hood River fruit because they knew it was good. The name "Hood River" was worth 50 cents a crate or box to begin with. Why should not the name "Twin Falls" be worth the same in the near future? It would be if the farmers got together and stayed together. They should do business with themselves, with their neighbors, with the merchants and with the public. If they did, nothing could hinder their prosperity. They would have good returns, good neighbors, good friends and a good reputation.

Insect Pests.

Mr. McPherson spoke briefly on insect pests. He said the wire worms and cut worms which were now appearing came from the roots of the sagebrush and grasses. Their former source of food was destroyed in the cultivation of the land and they turned to the growing crops for fodder. They would not remain as they could not feed on anything except that which nature intended they should eat. He described how to exterminate ants by the use of bisulphide of carbon in the manner described last week in the columns of The News.

The meeting adjourned at 10:30 p. m. While the attendance was not as large as it might have been, the results were very satisfactory.

MAY HAVE BEEN MURDERED BY TRAVELING COMPANION

Harmon S. Ensley has Not Been Heard of Since He Left The Dalles, Oregon, for Idaho last November.—Horses and Wagon Believed to be in the Hands of the Traveling Companion Who Was Last Seen at Milner.—Family Mourns Him as Lost.

Harmon S. Ensley, who formerly lived in Washington county, Idaho, has mysteriously disappeared and his wife and three children, who still reside in the county, mourn him as lost. Since he left The Dalles, Oregon, on November 15, 1904, with a four horse team and heavy wagon, no trace of him has been discovered. Ben. Cannon of Rosston, Idaho, saw a team and outfit at Milner last autumn which answered the description of Ensley's, but beyond this slight clue nothing can be learned of the missing man. It is suspected that he was murdered by a man who was traveling with him at The Dalles while he was on his way to Idaho and it is thought the murderer stole the team and outfit and drove through Southern Idaho last fall.

When Ensley left The Dalles on November 15, 1904, he drove a four horse team. His wheel horses were a bay gelding with a star on the forehead and a bay mare with a small strip on the face. They were both fine, large horses, weighing about 1200 and neither was branded. The leaders were smaller. One was a flea bitten gray mare, branded AH connected on the right shoulder and B on the left stifle. The other leader was a black mare, smaller than her mate, brands not known. The leaders weighed about 1000 each.

The wagon was a Studebaker 3 1/2 inch skein; sideboards, extension bed, wagon bows and covers. It had the firm name of Huddleson & Johnson, Cambridge, Idaho, painted on the sideboards.

In the wagon Ensley had a lot of household furniture, consisting of a bedstead, chairs, washing machine, bedding, pictures, canned fruit, one man's saddle, one lady saddle, two tables and a quantity of small stuff, among which was small tin-box or safe in which he kept his valuable papers at which contained notes, deeds and other papers of value.

A four horse team answering the description of Ensley's, was hitched to a wagon bearing the firm name of Huddleson & Johnson, Cambridge, Idaho, passing through Milner, Idaho, during the latter part of November, 1904, was seen by Ben Cannon of Rosston.

Any information regarding the missing man will be gratefully received by Lot L. Feltham, Weiser, Idaho, attorney, who is endeavoring to locate Ensley. Feltham states that Ensley's wife and children are heartbroken over his long absence.

CHOICE FARM LANDS TO BE SOLD BY THE STATE

Auction Will Be Conducted by Hon. C. D. Thomas in Twin Falls on July 5.—Liberalty of Terms Should Attract Buyers—Among the More Attractive Lots is the Townsite of Buhl.

An excellent opportunity to secure choice farm lands under the Twin Falls canal system will be afforded on July 5, when Hon. C. D. Thomas, local representative of the state land department in Twin Falls, will offer at public auction a quantity of state land, including some of the best parcels in the entire tract.

In accordance with its policy of encouraging settlement, the state land board has offered particularly attractive terms. On lands that sell for $25 an acre or less, one tenth of the purchase price and the first year's interest on deferred payments is all that is required at the time of the purchase. The balance is payable in 18 annual installments at six per cent interest. On lands which sell for more than $25 an acre, the cash payment is one fifth of the purchase price and the first year's interest on deferred payments. The balance is payable in 16 annual installments at six per cent interest. No residence is required upon state lands, the water right for which is $15.50 per acre. If the purchaser desires, he may obtain a patent at once by paying in full for his land. The absence of the residence requirement makes the state lands a particularly good investment.

Description of Lands.

The east half of section 15, township 11, range 18 east is a beautiful stretch of land. It slopes perfectly for irrigation and sun never shone on better soil. Section 17 of the same townships the inside 40s are choice. Strictly butte takes in a portion of eastern side of this section which cannot be watered. The north 40s of section 21 are No. 1. Sections 22, 27 and 28 there are some excellent land. Section is patchy and rocky in places. It contains fairly good lots. Section 35 lies in the foothills; cannot be reached with water. will become valuable in time, grazing purposes.

These lands are five to six miles from the townships of F. son and Kimberly on the rail and nine to 12 miles from the town of Twin Falls. With the exception of the high portions they are better than the university is further away from the city, averaged $36.60 an acre at auction sale in March.

The most alluring bargain the lot is section 36, township south, range 14 east.

This will be the new town of Buhl. It is a school section, of course, and although it will not be considered even fair farming purposes, it will bring a fancy price. Already land in the vicinity of 36 is taken, especially on the north, east and southern sides. To the southward there is a sweep of magnificent land, a city of which was filed upon a March drawing.

Buhl is destined to be a town, situated as it is on the way in the center of what will be a thickly settled district within months.

Organization.

The address of M. W. Neal, state lecturer and organizer for the state department of agriculture of Kentucky, which is reproduced elsewhere in The News, should be read by every farmer who aspires to be something more than a mechanical tiller of the soil. It has been true long. The Twin Falls farmers have an excellent illustration of the benefits of organization right at home at the present time. Hood River strawberries are in the market and they find ready sale at good prices. Why? Because the Hood River farmers are organized. They will not allow a single box of berries to be shipped unless the fruit is in good condition and properly packed. The same "Hood River" is worth 50 cents a crate to begin with. Just as good berries are grown elsewhere but the buyer has no assurance of the fact. He knows the Hood River berries are good, consequently he buys them and is ready to pay a higher price for them. It is possible for the Twin Falls farmers to acquire a like reputation for their fruit if they follow in the footsteps of their worthy brethren in Hood River. It is a good business proposition worth considering.

The delegates to the good roads meeting in Boise not only honored the Twin Falls tract but themselves likewise in selecting for their president Alex McPherson, superintendent of agriculture of the Twin Falls tract. Fully 95 percent of the delegates were personally acquainted with Mr. McPherson and his was the only one put forward for the leadership. The delegates knew they were electing a man who would never shirk his duty. Mr. McPherson has traveled over every county in Idaho twice a year for many years. Frequently he has used a bicycle and he knows the location almost every chuck hole in the state. He also knows where the good roads are and how they were built. Associated with him are men of vim and energy who will work together and from whom the public has reason to expect much. The movement is one of vast importance and with such good men behind it and Twin Falls in the van should sweep the state.

couldn't be a brilliant idea to run the streets of Twin Falls?

Farmers report that the wire worms are rampant. Wonder if that's what the long distance telephone service is all about?

body doubts Superintendent McCon's statement that the Twin Falls soil is "Acolian," or formed by wind.

the cheapest way to get a lot is to ask on a windy day and rope one. A wind is strong enough you may tie up a section.

laundryman—You might come out by saving the dust beaten from washed clothing. If you save it, you will soon have a lot.

litas—No, it will do no harm to a little water on top of the dust or bath tub. Many use no water but this brings the laundry bills up.

FIRST BLOOD FOR JUNIORS

First Team of Twin Falls Baseball Club is Defeated by the Junior Nine Seniors - Showed They Needed More Practice.

The Twin Falls Junior baseball nine defeated the first team last Sunday on the Bickel field by a score of 11 to 5. The seniors thought they had an easy game and they filled in with substitutes.

The Juniors, some of whom felt they were entitled to places on the first team, played with great determination and confidence. They surprised the seniors and the latter will doubtless get in and drill now. They had not been practicing to any extent and in the words of the game the Juniors "put it all over them".

The game was a much better spectacle than that afforded by the Albion and Twin Falls teams a few days before. The ground was in better condition and the ball bounded with more certainty. The regular members of the senior team showed the effects of lack of training but their play was steady and their batting strong.

They had some trouble finding Bradford after he warmed up. The Juniors' pitcher was going great guns at the end and the ball looked no bigger than an alfalfa seed as it whistled over the plate. Dunn pitched a steady game for the seniors. It was his first performance of the season and his arm was a little off. With a little work he will be able to keep any team in the southeast guessing.

The lineup was:

RIPPLES FROM CLEAR LAKE

Local Happenings at the Northwestern End of the Twin Falls Tract Where the Fish Bite Voraciously and the Quail Fly Like Bullets.

CLEAR LAKE, Idaho, June 15.—Samuel D. Briggs returned to his ranch at Taponis last Wednesday. Miss Georgia Eveleth was welcomed home from school last Tuesday by her many friends. The children of Mr. and Mrs.

John Chriswell are all down with the whooping cough.

Miss M. L. Ibbettis has returned from Glenns Ferry where she went as a delegate from Hagerman to Rebekah lodge, No. 45.

George M. Lamb has been visiting Twin Falls. He took a few juicy cherries with him.

Will Sawyer was a Clear Lake visitor last Friday.

The Snake river is creeping up the banks as usual this year, despite the prediction that there would be no high water because of the lack of snow. The grand old river has never failed to produce a spring freshet and although the Twin Falls tract is drinking a lot of water there is still plenty left.

A sharp thunder shower broke over Clear Lake last Wednesday.

Several ranchers are busy cutting their first hay crop.

The state horticultural inspector visited Clear Lake this week. So far as known he found nothing to arouse his professional ire.

Charles and Robert Ingersoll, have caught several sturgeon which they have in a corral where the fish will be kept until they are killed.

Don't overlook those odds and ends in hardware and furniture at Stott's Shoe Store.

MICHIGAN CAPITALISTS FAVOR TWIN FALLS

President J. Frank Brand of the Commercial National Bank of Saginaw, Who is Interested with Ex-Governor Bliss in Shoshone Falls. Power Co., Ltd., Thinks Well of the Country.

President J. Frank Brand of the Commercial National Bank of Saginaw, Michigan, who is interested with H. L. Hollister of Chicago, I. B. Perrine of Blue Lakes, S. H. Hayes of Boise, R. M. McCollum of Twin Falls, Ex-Governor Bliss of Michigan and others in the Shoshone Falls Power Co., Ltd., has returned to Saginaw after making a careful examination of the company's works at Shoshone falls, Twin falls and Auger falls. The following, which is taken from the Saginaw Courier-Herald, shows what Mr. Brand thinks of the project in which he is interested and of the Twin Falls country in general:

"J. F. Brand returned Sunday from a western trip made for the purpose of inspecting lands and water and power propositions in Idaho. He is enthusiastic over the possibilities of western development, as are all clear headed business men who carefully look over the new sections of the west where irrigation development is being backed by ample capital.

"Mr. Brand is interested in the Shoshone Falls Power Co., Ltd., that is preparing to operate at Twin falls, Shoshone falls and Auger Falls, Idaho. This company has valuable water rights at the three falls named and is erecting buildings and equipment to develop power for electric railway and manufacturing purposes. This is in the great Snake river valley, which will be one of the richest agricultural sections on the continent when water is distributed over it in irrigation canals.

A Progressive City.

"The history of Twin Falls, now only six months old, is the history of hundreds of towns and cities of the new west and the example is being repeated everywhere where water is available for application to the thirsty desert.

"Six months ago the site of Twin Falls was a portion of the surrounding desert. It was covered with sagebrush and cactus and its population consisted of jack rabbits, prairie dogs and rattlesnakes. There was no railroad within 26 miles. Today, although not yet connected by rail, Twin Falls is a beautiful, busy city of 2000 people, good schools, banks, churches, stores, hotels, business blocks, symmetrical streets properly laid out, shaded by 4000 shade trees. It has two weekly newspapers, will have a daily paper in a short time, has a baseball club, business organization and fraternal societies. A national bank organized there and opened four weeks ago, now has deposits of over $200,000, and no crop has yet been raised there.

Clearing the Land.

"The desert land, said Mr. Brand, is being cleared up by great machines that clean up 25 acres a day each. These have great wheels with a traction width of four feet each. They force through the earth, at a depth of six or eight inches, great knives that shear off the roots of the sagebrush. This is then gathered in winrows with heavy horse rakes and burned. The land is immediately planted to wheat and other crops and irrigated. The raw land, with water, which was obtained under the Carey act for $25.50, is now valued at from $100 an acre up. The land without water is valueless. The water is now available through an elaborate irrigation system that cost over $2,000,000. Land in fruit orchards will bring as high as $500 and upwards when these are planted and at a productive age.

The Pioneer Settler.

"The earliest settler near Twin Falls was I. B. Perrine, who went in there 20 years ago. He secured a small piece of river bottom with valuable water rights, planted it mostly to fruits and now has bearing orchards that make heavy returns. He also raises grains and alfalfa, for which there is a local demand beyond the possibilities of local supply.

Michigan Capital Interested.

"A number of leading Saginaw capitalists are becoming interested in power, irrigation; ranching and fruit raising projects in the west and the returns now being enjoyed and prospective indicate that such investments, where judiciously made, will be extremely profitable."

WHY THE FARMERS SHOULD ORGANIZE

Powerful and Practical Argument by M. W. Neal, State Lecturer and Organizer for the State Department of Agriculture for Kentucky on Beneficial Effects of Organization

M. W. Neal, state lecturer and organizer for the state department of agriculture, Kentucky, read a paper on "Why Farmers Should Organize," before the Farmers Institute at Clinton, Ky. He said: "Sometimes the mere statement of a proposition carries with it the truth of the conclusion so plainly and simply that extraneous argument to prove its correctness hardly elucidates the proposition more clearly. For instance, when we say that a straight line is the shortest distance between two given points, its truth is so self-evident that the average man is at a loss for a course of reasoning to demonstrate it. It is true some scientific man, with a special analytical turn of mind may go through a long, metaphysical, geometrical demonstration which he says proves the truth of the proposition, but to us, plain people the simple statement of the proposition carries conviction more clearly than did the elaborate demonstration. So I feel that in this age of the world, with the present existing conditions, when it is stated that 'farmers should organize.' It is such a self-evident truth that arguments to prove it or to attempt to give reasons for it seem almost superfluous. To start with I might say that to everyone who is at all familiar with the drift of business methods in other occupations, it is plain that unless farmers do organize, 'they will be left.' There is hardly another business in the world, from the gigantic railroad combinations down through the tobacco trust, the beef trust, the oil trust, the various mercantile trusts down to the carrier and boot black, that is not organized. The farmer alone is unorganized. He is attempting, single handed and alone, to deal with each and all of these organizations. Anyone with half an eye can see what a one sided contest it is. Our farmers' clubs, which we are trying to organize in every county in the state, and the farmers' institute which these clubs are holding with the assistance of the state bureau of agriculture, may be classed as the preliminary or foundation steps to other and more final organization of the farmers. These farmers' clubs and institutes are primarily educational in their objects. Until we can get farmers to studying their business and its conditions we can have little hope that they will take any united effectual steps toward remedying the evils with which they are confronted. It is only through such meetings, when the business of the farmer, with all its ramifications and the problems which confront him can be freely, frankly and intelligently discussed, that the farmer can be brought to fully understand and appreciate his position in the world's business.

"The subjects for discussion in our institute programs, such as 'How to Grow Better and Larger Crops,' 'How to Raise a Better

Class of Stock,' 'How to Restore and Preserve Worn Out Lands,' are all valuable and important. I would not detract one straw from their value and importance. But when the farmer replies to me, that we are already raising and growing more than we can sell at profitable prices, I confess that he strikes a condition that needs thoughtful and earnest consideration. The only reply that I can make is, that unless farmers meet organization with organization; combination with combination, the great trusts which now buy and handle their products will continue to have the farmers at their mercy. If it was possible to have the farmers of the United States organized into one compact harmonious body acting together as one man, the great multi million combinations would tremble from turret to foundation stone. While such a general organization may not be hoped for at present, much good may be accomplished by the organization of sections, communities and neighborhoods. As a simple example, on a very small scale I published a few weeks ago a photograph showing that the fruitgrowers of a certain neighborhood in Tennessee, none of whom raised enough fruit to have a carload ready for shipment at any one time, and who had suffered excess freight rates on small shipments, banded themselves together and agreed that for this season they would pool their fruits; have certain days for shipment and thus make each shipment a carload. This is a very small item, but the amount saved in freight rates will yield them a fair profit on their fruit.

"All of us are familiar with the old fable, told or read to us in our boyhood days, where a father called his six boys into the wood shed and showed them a pile of small sticks. He had each of them, to take up a single stick and break it, which he could easily do with his hands. He then took six of the sticks and bound them firmly together and had each of them try to break the package. Of course they failed. This was simply to teach the boys that, united and acting together they would be strong and powerful, but that acting separately and independent of each other they would be susceptible to the attacks of the world and easily broken. So I would say to the farmers, separately and individually, you are mere twigs in the hands of great trusts, but bound together as the father bound the sticks and the trusts may strain and struggle and their attacks will only bind you closer and make your strength and power more invincible.

"So in conclusion I would say to farmers to let your motto be, 'Organize! Organize.' Write the word in letters of fire, paste it on the front door of your house and your barn, paper your walls with it, teach your children to repeat it, let the atmosphere of your whole farm breathe the word, 'Organize.'"

The surprising suit sale at the C. & B. Clothing Co.'s is attracting the attention of the entire city and any one watching the store crowded with customers, will realize that they are fulfilling their promise of good goods at money saving prices.

TRUSTEES ARE HARD AT WORK

Will Be Prepared to Commence Construction Work Immediately After Fate of Proposed Bond Issue is Settled—Many Applicants for Positions.

At a meeting of the board of school trustees of Twin Falls, held on Tuesday afternoon, it was decided to pay the principal a salary of $1000 per annum. At this salary, it is believed, a thoroughly competent principal may be engaged. The trustees have applications in hand from about 15 teachers who aspire to the principalship. Among them are several noted educators who are desirous of coming to Twin Falls. No difficulty will be experienced in securing a capable principal.

The trustees are determined to secure the services of a first class primary teacher of experience and especial training. To this end they have decided to pay the primary teacher $5 per month more than other grade teachers. This offer, it is hoped, will bring forth a large number of applications from which a good selection may be made.

James H. Richardson, the Twin Falls architect, has been engaged to prepare plans for school buildings in order that no time may be lost in getting to work on the structures in the event that the bond issue is carried. Should the proposal to bond the district for $30,000 receive a two thirds vote in the affirmative, the trustees will be in position to begin construction work on the day following the election.

PROPER WAY TO CARE FOR TREES

J. A. Waters Gives Members of Farmers Association Some Valuable Information Regarding this Important Feature.

J. A. Waters was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Twin Falls Farmers association on Saturday evening. Mr. Waters is an authority on tree culture and he gladly gave his neighbors the benefit of his experience. President W. C. Godard occupied the chair.

Mr. Waters said this was the proper time to care for trees. He advised cutting them back, but not too much. Mr. Waters did not believe it was advisable to rub the leaves off the trunks at present. The trees had to breathe, he said, and as they breathed through the leaves, it was best not to strip them at present. The better way was to wait until the little branches attained a growth of eight or ten inches. Trees should be cultivated after every irrigation, Mr. Waters declared.

Mr. Waters advised the farmers to plant locust trees for fence posts. The locust was a good grower, he stated. It was beneficial to the soil and very hardy. If every farmer were to plant a grove of locusts they would not have to wait many years for a good supply of fence wood. To insure a quick sprout Mr. Waters said he would advise the soaking of locust seed in water at a temperature of 180 degrees. This stimulated the rapid growth of the seed. The trees should be set in rows six feet apart and five feet in the row.

A general discussion followed Mr. Waters' remarks in which a number of members joined.

IDAHO'S EXCELLENT SHOWING AT FAIR

Governor Gooding and Members of His Staff Well Pleased With State Exhibit at Portland—University Regents to Test Law Authorizing Bond Issue—Dr. Miller Resigns.

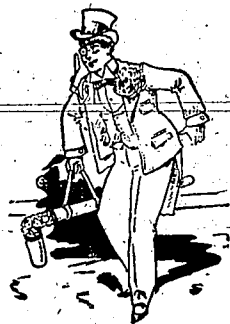

Governor Gooding and members of his staff, who have just returned from the opening of the Lewis & Clark exposition in Portland, were exceedingly well pleased with the showing and impression made by Idaho at the big fair. The exposition, they say, is certain to be a grand success. It has a fair western flavor to it that is very pleasing. The managers of exposition, being western men, understand the best means of bringing out the magnificent resources of this section in a proper light, while the east is given full play, the Lewis & Clark exposition is distinctively a western undertaking and it is gratifying to know that Idaho is prominent in the foreground. Executive Commissioner McBride is making every dollar of the fair appropriation count. In those departments where it was possible to make an early showing the display is said to be unsurpassed. As the fruit season is earlier on the coast than in Idaho, the Gem state is naturally a little behind in this particular. Commissioner McBride and his capable assistants have their grappling hooks out for an early supply of fresh fruit and when it comes in Idaho will close ranks and maintain her position in the vanguard. Efforts are also making to obtain a creditable display of wood and timber exhibits. It was not to be expected that the members of the commission should shoulder axes themselves and invade the forests in search of choice timber, nor was it possible for them to go out and clip sheep. By right these exhibits should have been donated. The mineral exhibit will also be built up by the addition of several excellent cabinets and exhibits from some of the large working mines in the state. The Idaho building, which is designed in the form of an exaggerated Swiss chalet, is greatly admired. The coloring is particularly harmonious and the location of the building is said to be the best on the exposition grounds. During his western trip Governor Gooding witnessed the driving of the last spike at Celilo on the portage road between Celilo and The Dalles by which navigation was opened from Lewiston to the sea. The board of regents of the state university have applied for a writ of mandate to compel the board consisting of the governor, secretary of the state, attorney general and state treasurer, to issue bonds authorized by the last legislature to provide for the construction of a domestic science building. The bonding bill, which called for an issue of $12,000 in 20 year bonds, provided that such bonds, both principal and interest, should be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of university lands. Attorney General Guheen is of the opinion that the bonds are unconstitutional for the reason that under the act of congress granting lands to the university it was provided that the fund from the sale of these lands should be irreducible and the earnings of the fund should be used solely for maintenance. At a recent meeting of the university regents it was decided to accept the resignation of Dr. Miller, who for 10 years had been head of the mining department. His successor has not been chosen and his place will be difficult to fill. LAND CONTESTS ARE DECIDED State Board Finds in Favor of Contestants in Three Cases and the Reverse in One—O. D. Thomas to Take Final Proofs. The state land board has rendered decisions in the Twin Falls land contests, involving entries under the Carey act in the big Cassia county tract. The entries of four locators were attacked, upon the ground that they had filed upon the land before it was thrown open for entry. The contest was held to be based upon valid grounds in three cases, while the entry was approved in the fourth. The land in question was filed upon after the lands under the low line canal had been thrown upon for entry, but before the opening of the high line canal lands. The ground filed upon was crossed by the low line canal, part being irrigable from it and part from the higher ditch. In each instance an entire legal subdivision was located, while only a portion had in reality been thrown open for entry by the public. The board laid down the rule that it was necessary for a major portion of the land filed upon to have been thrown open for entry in order for the filing to be sustained. In some cases only a few acres of the 160 acre tract lay below the low line canal, or was subject to entry at the time the filing was made. The entry was cancelled in such instances. The greater portion of the entry that was sustained was below the canal, and the board held that the fact that the corner of the ground extended above the canal should not interfere with the rights of the locator, who had evidently acted in good faith. Cases Decided. The different cases decided, with the land involved and the decisions in each, are as follows: Alfred O'Brien and James A. Martin vs. Albert S. Bibbins et al., involving the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 33, township 10 south, range 17 east, and lot 1 and the south half of the northeast quarter of section 4, township 11 south, range 17 east; application and water contract not approved and entry cancelled. A. L. Havens vs. Twin Falls Land & Water Co. et al., involving application of C. O. Ellingwood to enter the northwest quarter of section 9, township 10 south, range 17 east; contract approved and certificate of entry ordered issued. Crassus Stewart vs. George F. Sprague et al., involving the southwest quarter of section 33 township 10 south, range 17 east; application and water contract not approved and entry cancelled. Eva V. Barstow vs. L. L. Ormsby et al., involving the west half of the southeast quarter of section 33, township 10 south, range 17 east, and lots 2 and 3, section 4, township 11 south, range 17 east; finding that the application was made and filed prior to the opening of the land for entry. O. D. Thomas was designated by the board as agent to receive and take final proof under the "Carey Act" at Twin Falls. The register was directed to formulate rules governing final proof under the "Carey Act" and the consideration of the board at the earliest possible date.—The Statesman. Flowers and Lilies. Rose bushes at 12 1/2 cents apiece. BREVITIES

H. L. Brandt of Nampa is visiting in Twin Falls.

C. E. Cole and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Baker near Mr. Stott spent a pleasant afternoon at Shoshone falls Sunday.

Dr. W. Mack, the Salt Lake optician, is making a professional visit in Twin Falls. He is registered at the Twin Falls house.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cole and family moved into their new home Wednesday. Their many friends will always find a hearty welcome at their residence.

Mrs. C. Arkosh of Bellevue will open a store opposite the postoffice, some time in the near future. She will carry a complete line of ready made garments.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church have recently organized an aid society, with 25 members. With such an excellent beginning good results are anticipated.

Thomas J. Rauch has been appointed postmaster of Hanson, the new townsite, eight miles east and one mile south of Twin Falls and seven miles north of Rock Creek.

Frank Byrne of McKee, Byrne Co., went to Pocatello early in the week to meet his wife and children who came from Pledmont, Wyoming. He has rented the Bailey residence.

James McMillan of Kimberly went to Shoshone on Friday to meet his family. He has built a snug home on his farm and has placed the latching where it can be easily reached.

Services will be held in the school house Sunday, at 10:30 in the morning and 7:30 in the evening by Father Verbrugge, of the Catholic church of Shoshone. The evening service will be a lecture.

M. D. Scott and T. W. Scott are preparing to open a drug store at Kimberly in a building which is being erected by George F. Peterson. The Kimberly restaurant is also making preparations to begin business.

"The Carnival of the Flowers," a pretty cantata, will be given by 25 children, on the 26th of this month. The entertainment will be in charge of Mrs. C. A. Camp. As yet it has not been decided where it will be presented.

A large consignment of equipment for the Shoshone Falls Power Co., Ltd., has arrived in Shoshone. The equipment reaches Twin Falls the company will begin to put up its pole lines and copper in this city.

Among next week's arrivals will be Mrs. Paul S. A. Bickel and children, who are coming from Helena, Montana. Chairman Bickel has created a comfortable home and is preparing to forsake the "camp" in which he has been the leading spirit for so long.

Settlers in the vicinity of Hanson have petitioned to the county commissioners to create a school district in that section. A large number of families are settled in that district and it is proposed to erect a school without delay.

O. H. Barber went to Boise this week to attend the wedding of his niece, Miss Lee Barber, to Will Council of Missouri. The bride is a daughter of Ira Barber of Boise. The ceremony was performed by E. I. F. Rauch on Wednesday evening.

The Friday Afternoon Card club met at the home of Mrs. Wisely last week.

Mrs. Davidson was the successful player, and for a prize was given a beautiful silver salad fork. Dainty refreshments were served by the hosts. Mrs. McCollum will entertain the club next Friday.

I. A. Walters, of Hope, Idaho, has been appointed marshal of Twin Falls to succeed Arthur Snodgrass, resigned. Mr. Walters is an experienced man. He has very little to say and much to do. He is playing no favorites and from the way he commenced work there is very little doubt that the people will know the city ordinances are in force.

Peter Doris of Payette was in Twin Falls during the week. He first visited this section of the country in 1862 and had not seen it since. Mr. Pence declared the Twin Falls project was a magnificent enterprise. He was astonished to see the number of settlers and equally surprised to observe what they had accomplished in so short a time.

C. O. Meigs is unloading a carload of wagons and a carload of buggies at Milner for Twin Falls. Mr. Meigs, who handles the Studebaker vehicles, was the first to attempt shipment over the Minidoka & Southwestern and was determined to get his vehicles in promptly and will save time by moving them by way of Milner.

Mrs. S. T. Hamilton arrived on Wednesday from Colorado Springs, accompanied by her two daughters. Mr. Hamilton, who has been one of the guiding spirits in the "Homeless Twenty," immediately renounced the decimated crew, declaring he would henceforth be one of the entertainers. Instead of one of the entertainers, the Hamiltons are snugly settled in their comfortable adjoining the house of R. M. McCollum.

W. A. Childers is marketing a quantity of lettuce grown on his farm one mile northeast of the city. The lettuce attained wonderful growth and is as tender as a mother's love. Mr. Childers had a hard time preserving it from the ravages of the jackrabbits but the results repaid him for his pains. He said the rabbits destroyed 700 cabbage plants for him in a single night. A rabbit fence was put up without delay and he had no further trouble.

M. G. Robison of the Robison-Tage Hardware Co., Twin Falls, and Miss Ella Jones of Albion, were married at the latter place on June 14. The bride was a graduate of the Normal school and the ceremony was performed on the evening she graduated. Mr. and Mrs. Robison came to Twin Falls after their marriage. They will shortly occupy a home which Mr. Robison is preparing to build. Both bride and groom have a multitude of friends who wish them all the joy of life.

Inspector Thomas J. Clark of the postal department has been inspecting the Twin Falls office which he found in very satisfactory condition. Clark has always taken a lively interest in this city and is using all his influence to obtain for Twin Falls the best postal service possible. Through his instrumentality the handsome lock boxes formerly used in the Boise post office were obtained for the new office now in course of erection here.

The entertainment given by the Twin Falls Minstrels, under the auspices of the Cassia County Social club, was in every way worthy of the excellent patronage. The program mixed with true professional glide and without exception the numbers were exceptionally good. Director Melrose had every thing adjusted to a nicety behind the curtain and the performers did their parts with effervescent snap. The end men, Messrs. Epp, Cole, Frankel and Abbott, fairly coaxed Ethiopian mirth. The solos and ensemble numbers were all meritorious and the farce was exceedingly humorous. As many were unable to gain admission, the performance was repeated on Friday evening.

R. M. McCollum has returned from a visit in Boise and Halley. While in Halley he met Colonel N. J. Sharp and W. A. Hodgman, both of whom own property in Twin Falls. They were particularly anxious to know when the railroad would reach Twin Falls as they wanted to come down and look over the sagebrush metropolis. Colonel Sharp said he heard the wind was blowing so strong in Twin Falls that this lot was in danger of being blown into the Snake river. Mr. McCollum assured the colonel he would put a mortgage on the lot if necessary in order to hold it down until the veteran Republican leader could ride into Twin Falls in a bus or car. When the colonel does come he will not find himself among strangers, as he has a great many warm friends in this city who will give him a Roosevelt welcome.

A construction outfit, belonging to Slick Bros. of Salt Lake, passed through Twin Falls last Friday en route to Auger falls where the contractors were to begin work for the Shoshone Power Co., the Salt Lake corporation. The owner of the land on the south side of the river west of the road at Blue Lake, decided to allow the outfit to pass through the property, through which a temporary road had been used of late. Sheriff Hanson was appealed to and refused to permit the outfit to pass through the gate without a permit from the district court. After waiting for several days, the order not being forthcoming, Slick Bros. disposed of their supplies and removed their outfit. It was predicted that Slick Bros. would tear down the gate and force their way through to Auger falls. In anticipation of such a move Sheriff Hanson had a force of armed deputies on the ground day and night. During the blockade the contending forces enjoyed themselves the best they could, dining with each other and exchanging reminiscences.

A large number of delegates to the Knights of Pythias convolve in Shoshone made a side trip to Twin Falls on Thursday. They were given transportation to Twin Falls and return by I. B. Perrine and the citizens of Shoshone. The party were Mr. and Mrs. Arch Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts, Dr. R. S. Gregory and Colonel Sam E. Meyer of Boise; Mr. and Mrs. W. N. McKee, Mrs. Ella Grete, Mrs. William Mills and Mrs. Nogaata of Silver City; Mrs. A. W. Gordon of Kendrick; Mrs. J. E. Nickerson of Lewiston; H. S. Simmons of De Lamar; Col. G. A. Hannaford, E. O. Townsend and J. T. Thorak of Pocatello; B. F. Edlin of Weiser; L. G. Warrick of Warrenton; E. D. Danforth of Rathdrum; N. G. Hunsberger of Oro Fino and S. G. Curtis of Moscow. Local Knights were not notified of the coming of the party and were not prepared to entertain them. The visitors were taken to Billy's Lunch Place where they were welcomed by the citizens. They protested against any formality and declared they were delighted with the cordiality of their reception.

Final Proofs.

No less than 22 notices for publication for final proofs appear in this week's issue of The News, although the land board only decided to accept proofs a few days ago. This shows that the farmers are well advanced with their work; sufficiently so to make final proof at any time.

Those who wish to make final proof on their land may obtain the necessary blank forms at The News office, or the office of Hon. C. D. Thomas, representative of the State Land Department, Twin Falls.

Proposal for Bids.

Sealed bids will be received by the Shoshone Falls Power Co., Ltd., up to noon on Monday, June 26, for the excavation of all ditches and the site of the company's power house at Auger falls, Idaho. Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of Cookinham & Hayes, Hall Building, Twin Falls, Idaho. The company reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Contractors whose financial responsibility is unknown to the company will be required to furnish a guarantee bond. SHOSHONE FALLS POWER CO., LTD. 34-2 Twin Falls, Idaho.

ed in Twin Falls on Tuesday. Besides the commanding officer, there were in the party Lieutenant Simmons of Salt Lake, Brother Charles Mitchell of Nampa and Brother A. Adams of Weiser.

The Army workers came in a comfortable four horse wagon. They left Boise on Thursday, June 8, and made calls at Mountainhome and Glenn Ferry, arriving in Twin Falls six days after leaving the state capital. They had some experience en route which they will not forget, but nothing whatever of an unpleasant nature occurred.

In Twin Falls the visitors had two excellent meetings. Captain Chase said he never addressed more orderly or appreciative audiences than those which listened to the services in Twin Falls. There was an absence of rowdiness, the party were Mr. and Mrs. Arch Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts, Dr. R. S. Gregory and Colonel Sam E. Meyer of Boise; Mr. and Mrs. W. N. McKee, Mrs. Ella Grete, Mrs. William Mills and Mrs. Nogaata of Silver City; Mrs. A. W. Gordon of Kendrick; Mrs. J. E. Nickerson of Lewiston; H. S. Simmons of De Lamar; Col. G. A. Hannaford, E. O. Local Knights were not notified of the coming of the party and were not prepared to entertain them. The visitors were taken to Billy's Lunch Place where they were welcomed by the citizens. They protested against any formality and declared they were delighted with the cordiality of their reception.

It was the intention of Captain Chase to deliver an illustrated lecture in Twin Falls but he could not secure a hall. Captain Chase confirmed the report that an Army corps would shortly be established in Twin Falls. He inspected the lot donated by the Towns Ferry company for a barracks and was well pleased with the location.

Captain Chase and his comrades disposed of their horses and wagon in Twin Falls and continued eastward.

There are still a few bargains in hardware and furniture, at Stott's Shoe Store.

CELEBRATION OF "CHILDREN'S DAY"

Joint Services Held by the Sunday Schools of Twin Falls.

On Sunday evening last "Children's Day" was celebrated by union services held in the school house by the different Sunday schools in the city. The room, beautifully decorated with flowers and draperies, was very attractive. Rev. Osterhout delivered an address which was interesting throughout. James Russell, Sunday school missionary of the Presbyterian church, gave a talk on the origin of "Children's Day". His remarks were instructive as well as entertaining.

The children sustained their parts in a creditable manner, and looked sweet and dainty in their light colored frocks.
