TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1905

NUMBER 40

"RAILROAD DAY" PROGRAM TO BE A RECORD BREAKER

Distinguished Speakers—Grand Barbecue—Athletic Carnival—Fireworks and Dancing—Liberal Prizes for Field Sports and Exhibits of Agricultural Products Grown on Twin Falls Tract.

The railroad is completed to Twin Falls. The railway company is prepared to receive shipments for this city at regular tariff rates, conditional only upon the charges being prepaid until the road is turned over to the operating department. The day of the uncertain freighter has ended. No more waiting, telephoning and bootless trips to Shoshone in search of freight. No more gasoline, butter and egg famines. It scarcely seems possible but it is. The road reached Twin Falls on Friday, July 28, the telegraph preceding it by one day. Work on depot and warehouse will begin at once.

Under such circumstances it is not surprising that the citizens of Twin Falls should be prepared to celebrate "Railroad Day" on Monday, August 7, in a way which will delight the residents and give the visitors a fair idea of Twin Falls progress. The celebration committee has everything well in hand. The citizens have subscribed liberally and the program will be as unique as it will be impressive. Hospitality will be written on every leaf of sagebrush. The sun bronzed hand of welcome will be stretched out to city's guests with true western flourish and August 7, 1905, will be written in red on Twin Falls calendars for years to come.

The committee on celebration consists of S. T. Hamilton chairman, C. D. Thomas, C. E. Cole, R. W. Jones and M. M. Murtaugh of Twin Falls, James McMillan of Kimberly, John Hansen of Rock Creek and Thomas J. Rauch of Hansen. Each committeeman is chairman of a sub-committee in charge of a particular feature. The chairmen are:

Refreshments—Jones.
Sports, Printing and program—Thomas.
Dance—McMillan.
Speaking—Hamilton.
Soliciting—Cole.
Grounds and tables—Murtaugh.
To meet the guests of honor at Milner—Rauch, Hansen, Murtaugh and Hamilton.
Mrs. M. M. Murtaugh has charge of the decorations and Mrs. C. A. Camp will supervise the musical program.

Distinguished Guests.
United States Senator W. B. Heyburn, Congressman Burton L. French, Governor Frank R. Gooding and Major Fred R. Reed and staff will be the guests of honor. An invitation was extended to Senator Dubois but he is at present in Honolulu.

Senator Heyburn will deliver an address upon "Idaho." The senator has always been a warm friend of Twin Falls and has done much for the advancement of this section. He believes this is destined to become a densely populated and prosperous district and he will tell why he thinks so.

Congress French has favored Twin Falls in many ways. Like Senator Heyburn, he has taken pains to obtain concessions for this city and district from the departments at Washington and has done his full share in the upbuilding of the city. His topic will be "Irrigation."

Governor Gooding has lived in this section of Idaho for many years. He was one of the first to take up land under the Twin Falls canal system and there is no more firm believer in the future of Twin Falls than the state's chief executive. In Governor Gooding Twin Falls has a loyal friend, who has demonstrated his friendship scores of times. The interests of the farmers are always uppermost with the governor and he has shown his good faith by granting the farmers every concession they asked of the state land department and many they did not expect to receive. The governor will speak upon "The Future Industrial Development of Twin Falls."

Major Fred R. Reed of Burley is godfather of the "Homeless Twenty." He is of the west and for the west, and on many an occasion he has plundered the dictionary of adjectives in describing the glorious future of the Twin Falls tract. The celebration would be incomplete were the name of Major Reed not on the program.

City Attorney E. B. Critchlow of Twin Falls will deliver an address on behalf of the Twin Falls Land & Water company, the corporation which made the development of the Twin Falls tract possible. Mr. Critchlow showed his faith in the tract by taking up a farm, on which he has a cozy home and splendid growing crops. He is capable of recounting what has been done and what will be done on the Twin Falls tract, and his address will undoubtedly be listened to with keen interest by the visitors and residents alike.

To S. T. Hamilton has been assigned the task of delivering the address of welcome. Mr. Hamilton has braved the inconveniences incidental to pioneer life since Twin Falls was nothing but a jackrabbit runway. He has watched and assisted in the making of the city and he will tell how it was accomplished.

The speeches will be delivered from the veranda of the Hotel Kimberly, which will be suitably decorated for the occasion.

Sports and Entertainment.

The Pocatello band has been engaged for the celebration, and in addition to an open air concert it will furnish music for the two dances in the evening. These dances will be held in I. O. O. F. hall, on Twelfth avenue, and the Tubbs & Wilson building, on Shoshone avenue. The dances will be free to all and abundant refreshments will be served.

R. W. Jones, chairman of the committee on refreshments, is preparing a spread which will make the feast of Lucullus look like 15 cents worth of Hamburger steak. Huge pits will be dug for the barbecue and railroad rails laid over them to hold the meat. Two beeves and six sheep will be roasted and served free. The beeves were donated by Mr. Terrell of Dry Creek and Jones & McComb of Rock Creek. They are the choicest product of the range. Fred W. Gooding of Kimberly donated the six sheep, selecting the pick of his magnificent flock. Baker Harder is cooking 400 loaves of bread for the occasion, and if this is not enough he will make another batch. The bread is Harder's best and fit for any palate. Barrels of lemonade will be set on every corner of Main street.

Field Sports.

The Pocatello and Idaho Falls baseball teams, the leaders in the state league, have volunteered to play a schedule game in Twin Falls and arrangements have been made to give them a place on the program. This would be a sterling attraction, and there is little doubt that it will be secured.

The following program of sports has been arranged:

HOW FREE TIMBER MAY BE OBTAINED

Detailed Information in regard to the Cassia Forest Reserve—Resources
Are First of All for the Home
Builder.

In response to a great many inquiries made by farmers who are vitaly interested in the timber question, The News this week reproduces the regulations of the forest service which bear upon the
"free use" privilege.

A letter from the acting forester to the editor of The News reads
in part:

"You are right in assuring the local settlers that they will not be injured by the creation of the Cassia forest reserve, but that the resources are for their use. Settlers will be allowed a small amount of timber for personal use, free of charge, on application to the supervisor."

P. T. Wrensted of Pocatello is the supervisor in charge of the Cassia reserve, to whom all communications should be addressed.
Forest Guard F. H. Critchfield is in local charge. Mr. Wrensted will come to Twin Falls to confer with the farmers at the meetings of the associations and fully inform them in regard to the proper methods of procedure.

It will be observed in Regulation No. 6 that "all supervisors are authorized to grant or refuse free use permits up to $20 in value". At the rates charged elsewhere by the government, $20 worth of timber per year would be an ample supply for a farmer owning 160 acres and more than enough for a smaller farm.

The regulations below are printed in the larger type, the special instructions to forest officers being printed in the "smaller type" for the information of farmers and others interested in knowing how the regulations are interpreted.

Forest Reserve Policy.

The following general policy with respect to forest reserves was laid down for the forest service by the secretary of agriculture in his letter of February 1, 1905, to the forester:

"In the administration of the forest reserves it must be clearly borne in mind that all land is to be devoted to its most productive use for the permanent good of the whole people, and not for the temporary benefit of individuals or companies. All the resources of forest reserves are for use, and this use must be brought about in a thoroughly prompt and business-like manner—under such restrictions only as will insure the permanence of these resources. The vital importance of forest reserves to the great industries of the western states will be largely increased in the near future by the continued steady advance in settlement and development. The permanence of the resources of the reserves is therefore indispensable to continued prosperity, and the policy of this department for their protection and use will invariably be guided by this fact, always bearing in mind that the conservative use of these resources in no way conflicts with their permanent value."

used for the benefit of the home builder first of all, upon whom depends the best permanent use of lands and resources alike. The continued prosperity of the agricultural, lumbering, mining, and live-stock interests is directly dependent upon a permanent and accessible supply of water, wood, and forage, as well as upon the present and future use of these resources under businesslike regulations, enforced with promptness, effectiveness, and common sense. In the management of each reserve local questions will be decided upon local grounds; the dominant industry will be considered first, but with as little restriction to minor industries as may be possible; sudden changes in industrial conditions will be avoided by gradual adjustment after due notice, and where conflicting interests must be reconciled—the question will always be decided from the standpoint of the greatest good of the greatest number in the long run.

Relation of Forest Officers to the Public
The administration of forest reserves is not for the benefit of the government, but of the people. The revenue derived from them goes, not into the general fund of the United States, but toward maintaining upon the reserves a force of men organized to serve the public interest. This force has three chief duties: To protect the reserves against fire, to assist the people in their use, and to see that they are properly used.

Forest officers, therefore, are servants of the people. They must obey instructions and enforce the regulations for the protection of the reserves without fear or favor, and must not allow personal or temporary interests to weigh against the permanent good of the reserves; but it is no less their duty to encourage and assist legitimate enterprises. They must answer all inquiries concerning reserve methods fully and cheerfully, and be at least as prompt and courteous in the conduct of reserve business as they would in private business.

They must make every effort to prevent the misunderstanding and violation of reserve regulations by giving information fully and freely. The object should be to prevent mistakes rather than to have to punish them. Information should be given tactfully, by advice, and not by offensive warnings.

Forest officers will be required to be thoroughly familiar with every part of this book, and to instruct the public and assist in making applications for the use of the reserves.

Free Use Privilege

The following regulations bear directly upon the free use privilege:

REG. 4. The free use privilege may be granted to settlers, farmers, prospectors, or similar persons who may not reasonably be required to purchase, and who have not on their own lands or claims, or on lands controlled by them, a sufficient or practically accessible supply of timber or stone for the purposes named in the law. It may also be granted to school and road districts, churches, or co-operative organizations of settlers desiring to construct roads, ditches, reservoirs, or similar improvements for mutual or public benefit. Free use of material to be employed in any business will be refused, as, for example, to saw-mill proprietors, owners of large establishments or commercial enterprises, and companies and corporations. The free use privilege will not be given to any trespasser.

Whether an applicant is entitled to free use or not must be decided by the forest officer who receives the application. In all cases not clearly covered by the letter of the regulations he should be guided by their spirit, especially as expressed by the term "those who may not reasonably be required to purchase," and by the distinction between personal and commercial use. A member of a corporation is not necessarily debarred from free use of fuel for his own home, although his ability to secure it from another source should be considered if the reserve supply is limited and in demand by more needy applicants. other hand, although a settler may receive a liberal allowance for his own use, he is not entitled to free material for sale or profit. There is no more reason for giving a keeper or a merchant timber without charge, solely to build or warm his hotel or store, than for giving him a stock of goods, yet it need not be refused the proprietor of a small establishment when it will be used chiefly by himself and his family. Prospective should be assisted to develop their properties, but owners of revenue producing mines should be required to buy.

Free Timber Allowance.

REG. 5. Except in cases of great and unusual need, no applicant will be given more than two free use permits in one year, nor may the aggregate amount of material granted in the two permits exceed $20 in value, except in the case of schools or road, districts, churches and non-commercial cooperative organizations, when the supervisor may, in his discretion, extend the amount to any value not exceeding $100. The duration of any permit will be fixed by the issuing officer, and will not exceed six months. In cases of unusual emergency, however, it may be extended by the supervisor, or, if for $20 or less, by a ranger authorized to grant free use.

REG. 6. All supervisors, all forest rangers and deputy forest rangers, and such other forest officers as the supervisor may designate, are authorized to grant or refuse free use permits up to $20 in value under these regulations, and to make such restrictions as to quality, amount, location, and removal as they deem necessary to protect the reserves. It is their duty to furnish cheerful assistance to applicants, to act promptly on all applications, and, in general, to follow as liberal a policy in the matter of free use as the interests of the reserves and the proper performance of their other work will allow.

The free use business of forest reserves may be conducted mainly by the rangers. Subject only to general restrictions, instructions, and supervision, they will decide the rights of applicants to the privilege, assign, and direct the removal of material, and be responsible for results.

How to Obtain Permits.

REG. 7. No free use material may be taken without a permit. Application for a permit may be made verbally or in writing to any officer authorized to grant it. If it receives his approval he will see that the applicant understands the regulations governing the privilege, and will fix the amount, kind, and location of the material, and the terms under which it must be taken.

Both the forest officer and the applicant will sign an agreement to these conditions up in the prescribed form, which will be forwarded at once to the supervisor as a part of the records of his office. The permit will be filled out, signed, and delivered to the applicant by the forest officer who will also record it upon the form in his notebook.

No map, estimate sheet, forest description, or report need be made unless desired by the forest officer for his own notes. The agreement forwarded to the supervisor should contain sufficient information to enable the latter to record the case properly. Any additional facts may be stated in a letter. The forest officer issuing the permit unless he should be the supervisor, who may instruct a ranger to do so, should deal the timber to be cut by the most practicable means, not necessarily uniform in every case. Living timber may be marked. Dead timber may be marked off, if practicable, an area may be blazed or defined by natural boundaries, and the class of trees to be taken specified. The procedure should be made as simple and economical for both the user and the forest officer as is possible without danger to reserve interests.

Although simple methods and the exercise of judgment are encouraged, there should nevertheless be no tendency to underrate the importance of free use business or the necessity of considering the good of the reserve. The use of dead material should be encouraged and the assignment of green timber, when really necessary, must be where it can best be spared. Low stumps and full use of all trees cut must be required, as well as careful disposal of refuse. Officers in charge of cutting will be held responsible if unnecessary damage is done to young growth or standing timber, or if the reproduction of the forest is not properly considered. The violation of any of the regulations governing free use or of the terms of permit constitutes trespass and should be dealt with accordingly; but there should be no failure on the part of the forest officer to make all points clear to the applicant before the permit is granted.

IDAHO IS ATTRACTING ATTENTION AT PORTLAND

Commissioner McBride Reports That Large Numbers of Visitors Gail at State Building Daily—Wagon Road Commissioners Approve Two New and Important Highways Which Will Open Vast Tracts.

R. W. McBride, executive commissioner from Idaho to the Lewis and Clark exposition, is in Boise from Portland, but expects to return in a few days. Mr. McBride expresses himself as very highly pleased with the effect of the state's efforts to advertise its resources and advantages at the world's fair. He said the building was crowded daily, there often being a thousand or more visitors registering in a day. Nearly every day there were 150 to 200 Idaho people registered. It was noticeable that the people from Idaho who visited the fair came away entirely satisfied that their state had the handsomest and cosiest building, the most artistic agricultural exhibit, the finest exhibit of lead-silver ores ever shown in the United States, and as fine an educational exhibit as is shown by any state participating in Portland.

There was one feature in which Idaho had apparently excelled all the other states, and that was in the unassuming hospitality displayed. This had been noted by the newspaper men who were doing the fair for the Portland and other papers, and also by many of the visitors from other parts of the United States. The matter of dispensing hospitality was under the direct charge of Mrs. Scott, who was assisted by four hostesses. Two of these assistants were always in attendance, the day being divided in that way.

V. D. Hannah has been appointed horticultural commissioner for central and south Idaho, and will have charge of gathering fruit, vegetable, and grass exhibits for the Portland fair. Mr. Hannah was the agricultural commissioner from Idaho at the world's fair in Chicago, and is generally regarded as the most competent man in the state for the work. It is expected that a commissioner will be put at work in North Idaho at once, and a third in the southeastern portion of the state.

days trip in the Stanley-Basin region on Salmon river, where they will inspect the proposed wagon road from Sheep mountain to the Gray-Hound mine. This is reported to be a very important road, as it will open up a very rich mineral district, and is regarded as one of the main links in the road ultimately to be built connecting the Wood and Salmon river regions with the Thunder Mountain mining country.

An important meeting of the wagon road commission was held on Saturday. Commissioners Lewis and Wheeler had just returned from a two weeks trip of inspection of proposed roads in Lemhi, Bear Lake and Oneida counties. They reported favorably on the road from Indianola to Shoup in Lemhi county, and recommended that $2500 be appropriated for the building of the road, the section benefited having raised as much more. They also reported favorably on the road connecting Franklin and Paris in Oneida and Bear Lake county, and an appropriation of $1250 was made for this road, that being half of the cost of the proposed road. An appropriation of $500 was also made for the road between Kooakia and Syringa in the Clearwater country.

POWER TUNNEL IS ALMOST FINISHED

One More Blast Will Break it Through—Machinery Nearly All on the Ground and Work of Installation Will Proceed Without Delay.

The power tunnel at Shoshone Falls is practically completed. One more blast will break it through and once this is done no time will be lost in installing the plant. Most of the machinery is already on the ground and the power house will be constructed with a rush. Faris & Keel have the contract for the concrete work and this is sufficient guarantee that Twin Falls will not be without light and power one day longer than is necessary.

At the lower end of the tunnel there will be what might be called a concrete fill, through which the pipes for the different units will lead down to the power house, being supported half way by a point of rock which juts out just far enough to answer the purpose.

To get the heavy machinery in from Shoshone was a difficult task but it was accomplished without mishap. The order of the United States court and the commissioners of Lincoln county, opening the road to the power-house greatly facilitated matters and left the way clear for quick work.

Nearly all material for the plant is now available and with the force of men employed it will be possible to further the work without delay. Just when power will be generated it is impossible to tell at present, but 60 days hence would be a good guess.

A surprising amount of power has already been contracted or spoken for in Twin Falls and there is every reason to believe that the home market will consume much more than was expected. It is the purpose of the company to supply current at the lowest consistent figure in order to encourage manufacturing, and there are indications that Twin Falls will consume a greater quantity than had been predicted by the most sanguine.
