INTEREST IS REBATED WEST OF ROCK CREEK

Formal Announcement to This Effect Made by the Company—Entrymen Between Rock Creek and Cedar Draw Who Have Paid Interest Will Receive Their Money Back—Policy Decided Upon—Some Time Ago—but Announcement Deferred Until Effective Means Could Be Ascertained.

upon the company. We have found the entrymen fair and square. There are kickers in every community, and others who will stand by and take the worst of it. Our kickers are few and far between. The vast majority of the entrymen have shown a disposition to do what is right and we can do no less. If any entrymen west of Rock creek got water to raise a crop, well and good; he is that much ahead. We wish him good luck. If any man had not had sense enough to take and use it we will investigate the case. Every man has the right to protect his own interests and we demand the same right.

(The headgate and lateral proposition is now in the hands of the state engineer. We will handle them on a fair and square basis. This is not a touch-and-go proposition with us. We are here to stay and the best advertisement we will have will be our patrons on the south side of the Snake river. If we do the square thing by them they will encourage their friends to come here and buy water rights from us. We will be here for years to come, and the friendship of the farmers is worth something to us. Everything is working out nicely. We have found the farmers' associations reasonable and fair and we cannot afford to be otherwise. We are deeply interested in the prosperity of the farmers. If they fail, how are we to get our principal and interest? We are doing our best to promote their success and I am glad to say I believe we have their co-operation and good will. The Twin Falls project is the best in the land and results are proving it every day.)

MANY NEWCOMERS AT HANSEN

Plowing, Seeding and Gardening Operations in Full Blast.

HANSEN, Idaho, March 29.—Ivance Divine journeyed to Twin Falls last Friday, returning Saturday.

Charles Timblin, an instructor at Pullman college, Wash., was in Hansen last Saturday and Sunday.

George Doughty returned last Monday from Armstrong, Iowa, where he has been visiting for the past two months.

Mr. Young of Twin Falls was in Hansen last Monday with a landcock.

From Washington, D. C., who is endeavoring to locate on a ranch in this

A recent real estate transfer is the sale of the ranch of Amos Hodrick, one mile east of the townsite, for $35 per acre bonus.

Mrs. Charles Cline was a passenger Wednesday for Halley, where she will visit her mother, Mrs. W. H. Halley, for a number of weeks.

Miss Gertrude Rauch entertained a number of friends last Thursday evening in honor of Miss Elva McCollum of Twin Falls. The evening was spent with games and guessing contests, after which refreshments were served.

Recent newcomers are John Holman and C. F. Williams and family from Goldendale, Wash., who are residing on their ranches near here. Mr. Williams shipped in a car of furniture and farming implements from Goldendale and intends adding extensive improvements to his ranch in the near future.

The farmers in this vicinity are busy plowing, sowing grain and making gardens. Many are preparing to plant orchards this spring. Several hundred acres of land in this part of the tract will be planted to orchards. J. T. Barnes, E. L. Ricks, D. V. Beck and Iva Divine are a few of the many planting extensive orchards. A. D. P. Keith is preparing to plant ornamental trees, including walnut and elm, around his entire ranch.

FILER OPENING ON APRIL 14

Thriving Young City Ready to Take Another Spurt.

"To be right in saying Filer will have an opening on April 14, when the best business and residence lots in the town will be placed on the market at reasonable prices. Since the town was first planted Filer has grown like a weed. It could not help growing because every acre of ground for miles in all directions has been taken up and settled. The land is magnificent and a finer class of citizens do not live anywhere. Being so well located, Filer is bound to prosper. In fact, it has prospered and is prospering. The business men there are kept busy getting in stock to supply the constantly increasing demand. There is a splendid opening for a drug store in Filer and the first druggist in the line will strike it rich. Other opportunities are waiting in the new town for the men. With the backing it has Filer is a sound investment."

GIGANTIC POWER DEAL FINALLY CONSUMMATED

Involves the Investment of $10,000,000 in Power Plants on Snake and Malad Rivers in Vicinity of Twin Falls—Trust Deed for That Amount Has Been Recorded and Work Will Be Pushed at Once—Tremendous Impetus Will Be Given to the Twin Falls Tract.

A trust deed for $10,000,000, in favor of the Chicago Title & Trust Co., covering the entire holdings of the Shoshone Falls Power Co., Ltd., has been filed in Cassia and Lincoln counties and in the office of the secretary of state in Boise, S. H. Hays will leave Boise for Chicago on Monday with certified copies of the filings and on his arrival in the Windy City the big deal will be closed.

This means the construction of immense power plants at August falls, upper and lower Salmon falls, Malad falls and Twin Falls, and the immediate completion of the Shoshone falls plant. It means that more power will be generated on the Twin Falls tract than in any other section in America, excepting Niagara falls. It means manufactures on a huge scale and the Twin Falls tract will receive the benefit. The rich land will furnish the raw material and the cheap power will do the rest. The only remaining problem is transportation, and this will soon be solved.

It is doubtful if any section of country in America is so favored. Power plants at Spokane and other large cities, and it will build Twin Falls. The tract will be the most modern in the country. Every here will count. The construction of a network of those agents of prosperity, electric railways, is made possible. Sugar beet factories, flouring mills, packing houses, breweries and other industries will spring up. The prospect is so alluring and so substantial that it cannot fail to send pleasurable shivers through the fortunate landowners.

The capitalists behind the power and the project are interested in manufacturers elsewhere and they will bring their time to sow spring wheat. —Boise Capital News.

Falls. It will be to their interest to do so. Home market for the power will be created.

Deals involving $10,000,000 are not consummated in a day and it required time and patience to close the power deal. The plans of the company have not been announced but it is known that the Shoshone falls plant will be hastened to completion in order that it may furnish power for the construction of the others. A power line will be built to Burley on the north side of the river and current supplied there to pump water for the irrigation of tributary land. The pumps have been purchased and the transmission lines surveyed and it is more than probable that thirty miles of water before the reclamation works on the north side of the Minidoka tract are completed.

Big things are in sight for Twin Falls. Some are nearly ripe, others are not yet ready to pluck. There is no hot air behind the power project. It is all solid cash. The News will soon be able to make encouraging announcements.

Mining Sage Brush.

State Mine Inspector Robert Bell was recently reported on his farm at Twin Falls doing a big stunt as a sagebrush extractor. His first plan was to drive a tunnel under the brush, put in an upraise to reach the vicinity of the roots, then explode a heavy charge of giant powder. His method was entirely new to the farmers and attracted much attention. After comparing notes with the sagebrush expert, Mr. Bell made the discovery that surface work, such as upraise, was a better plan. He expects to have to areas cleared elsewhere and they will bring their time to sow spring wheat. —Boise Capital News.

SOMETHING STIRRING IN RECLAMATION CIRCLES

Government Investigating Conditions Under Which Settlers Were Induced to Make Their Homes on the South Side of the Minidoka Tract—No Relief Promised but the Battle for Right Has Only Begun and Dislosures Will Probably Lead to an Embarrassing Climax for Somebody.

A Washington dispatch says: Secretary Mitchell is making an investigation of charges against the officials of the land office at Halley. It is alleged that they were very anxious in inducing settlers to go on the south side of the Minidoka tract, the assurance being given that the lands would be watered immediately.

On this assurance it is claimed many settlers took up lands on the south side and are now without immediate prospect for getting water with which to irrigate their property.

The charge is made that the officials were thus active in inducing settlers to go upon those lands in order to swell the receipts of the land office and thus increase their own fees.

The charge is directed principally against Register N. J. Sharp, though Receiver Hodgman is said to have been concerned in the work and has profited from the results.

The terms of both officials will expire in December, but if the charges are sustained, Senator Heyburn will probably request their removal, and the successor for Colonel Sharp at least.

W. E. Draper and Fred C. Bradley of Halley and O. McMahon of Shoshone are candidates to succeed Sharp. The terms of the latter officials at Halley will expire in May.

It is understood that Senator Heyburn is dissatisfied with Register Thomas, but it is expected he will recommend the reappointment of Receiver Robinson.

Colonel Sharp stated he had not feared that any such charge had been preferred. No information whatever had reached him from the department on the subject. The news came to him, he said, as an entire surprise, as he had never had any intimation of such a charge having been entertained by any one.

Colonel Sharp added that, when the department sent out a circular warning settlers not to go on the south side lands at Minidoka, as water would not be available for some years, he caused it to be widely distributed and he had never sent out any letters or circulars urging people to secure land on the south side, he said.

He had not sent anything to encourage settlement on either the south side or the north side. He had never issued a circular of any kind on the subject. He had been interviewed on the subject by the press and had been misled, but he had never sent out circulars or done anything else intended to urge people to go upon the tract.

The colonel stated further that he had been no investigation of any such matter, so far as he knew. There had been an investigation of alleged dealing in relationships by a son of his fellow official, Mr. Hodgman. The son was appointed commissioner by Judge Beatty for the Minidoka tract, and it had been charged that he had dealt in relationships. The colonel doubted that the young man had done anything wrong, but because of the circumstances of the case he had urged him to resign the position of commissioner.

Evidently something is stirring in the reclamation world. The dark colored clouds can be seen through the streaks but the perspicacious gentleman of the interior department have not yet recognized the brand. They will in time.

In an official communication, dated June 3, 1901, Commissioner Plimpe of the general land office at Washington issued an official circular calling attention to the proposed reclamation by the government of lands under the Minidoka project, including those on the south side. Mr. Plimpe, in this circular, instructed the register and receiver at Halley to notify prospective settlers that the charge for water would be $25 to $25 per acre. Nothing suggestive of the abandonment of the pumping project was contained in this circular, which was reproduced in the Twin Falls News on December 29, 1905.

Under date of July 8, 1901, a month after Mr. Plimpe's circular was sent out, Colonel Sharp addressed a letter to the Shoshone Journal in which he said: "This land will not cost the settler much more than $12 per acre. Water might be turned on these lands in two years, but there will be some provision made for the protection of the settler as the government has invited by legislation the settlers to go upon these lands and make their homes." In another paragraph of the letter the colonel said: "The government will not require a settler who they have permitted to settle upon these lands to do an impossibility and sell property at a loss." The colonel's letter concluded: "If you will kindly give this article space in your paper I am sure you will do a great general public a great favor and will encourage the settlement of many homeseekers."

It is improbable that Colonel Sharp caused the publication of his letter for the purpose of swelling the receipts of his office and increasing his own perquisites. Close investigation will likely disclose another motive and show that the colonel was imposed upon.

Deceives Its Own Promises.

The statements contained in the following dispatch from Washington are correct, the interior department is guilty of a gross breach of faith.

WASHINGTON, MARCH 24.—It is announced by the interior department that it cannot afford any relief for settlers who have taken up lands on the Minidoka tract south of the Snake river under the suggested pumping system for irrigation. They have asked for leave of absence from their claims until such time as the system shall have been put in, but this cannot be granted.

A large number of complaints have been sent to the secretary of the interior, the major part of them being from Burley. In those it was represented that the land had been taken up with the understanding that the pumping system was to be put in. Further, it was set forth that, as that system is not to be put in at once, the settlers must have an opportunity to go off their property to earn a livelihood. They therefore ask that they be given leave to do so without forfeiting their entries and losing improvements in cases in which improvements have been made.

Akron O'Fallon was sent in there to make an investigation of the entire matter. He found that about 150 settlers had taken up land on the south side. Many of them had been induced by land agents to go upon the lands. In the absence of water for irrigation these settlers are unable to cultivate the land or meet the requirements of the homestead act with respect to residence. They are therefore desirous of securing permission to absent themselves from their claims pending construction of the works by the government.

There is abundant proof that the government did encourage settlers to take up land on the south side and the pumping plant was held up as a bait until every acre was filed upon. The Washington dispatches indicate that the system is working and that justice will yet be done.

Construction of the works is so remote that the department will not grant leave of absence to the settlers, and it cannot offer them any relief whatever. This ruling arises from the fact that the settlers took up the lands upon their own responsibility, and not because of any promise made by representatives of the government.

The first complaint in a series of eight actions already begun by the Mutual Life Insurance company against former President Richard A. McCurdy, his son, Robert H., and the firm of Charles M. Raymond & Co., also would be constructed. Under this the company's former Metropolitan ruling, settlers wishing to leave their claims until such time as the works shall be constructed will forfeit them. They can hold them only by meeting the requirements of the law as to residence on the claims.

Just one year ago, after every farm unit on the south side of the Minidoka project had been filed upon, Senator Heyburn was assured by the interior department that the rumors concerning the abandonment of the pumping project were "absolutely groundless."

There was no reason to believe that the pumping project would be delayed beyond the time for the completion of the works on the north side. Congressman French received similar assurance. Was the interior department misinformed by the reclamation service? It must have been or else the secretary made misrepresentations to the Idaho representatives in congress, which is improbable.

There is abundant proof that the government did encourage settlers to take up land on the south side and the pumping plant was held up as a bait until every acre was filed upon. The Washington dispatches indicate that the system is working and that justice will yet be done.

The sixth cause seeks to recover the sum of $225,000, embracing the $50,000 alleged increase of annual salary drawn by the former president since June 1, 1901, without authority, as is claimed.

The seventh cause seeks to recover $600,000 as the aggregate of the respective sums of $25,000 drawn quarterly from the company for the last six years of McCurdy's presidency on the voucher of the committee on expenditures, and under circumstances detailed in the testimony before the Armstrong committee. The eighth cause deals with the relations of Louis A. Thibaud, non-in-law of ex-President McCurdy, with Raymond & Co., and the gratuities and the rates of commission received by the firm.

The final cause of action deals with the sum of $1,282,841 received by Robert H. McCurdy as commissions from 1886 to November, 1905, as superintendent of the foreign department, and charges that by reason of unfaithfulness and neglect by the former president, the commissions had been allowed at rates which the enormous increase in the foreign business had rendered exorbitant and unnecessary.

Finally, the company demands judgment against ex-President McCurdy for the sum of $3,370,312, with interest, as damages for alleged unfaithfulness and neglect.

BUHL TOWNSITE OPENING
BUHL Townsite will be Open for the Sale of Lots on APRIL 17, 1906
TERMS—One-fourth cash, remainder in one, two and three years at six per cent interest. First two corner lots will be sold at auction. Remainder of the lots will be sold by drawing. To-wit: The names will be placed in a box and at beginning of the sale a small boy will draw the names from the box. The first name drawn will have the first choice of lots; the second name drawn will have second choice of lots, and so on until all names have been drawn from the box.
Each person drawing will only be entitled to purchase two business lots and two residence lots. One person will not be allowed to sell his chance or number to a second party.
The center of Buhl is 17 miles west of the center of Twin Falls. Buhl is surrounded by a large territory of choice lands, all of which will be covered with water for this season's crop. A fine $25,000 hotel is already constructed and will be ready for the accommodation of prospective investors. Buhl will be the supply point for Three Creek, Roseworth and Butte, each of which is in the center of an immense stock country; also the market point for the fruit farms at Kanoka.
Buhl will be one of the best towns on the Twin Falls tract, and being such a distance from Twin Falls, will in no way be affected by the Electric Power City. The Shoshone Falls Power company will at once construct a line to Buhl for light and power purposes.
Remember that lots in Twin Falls which sold for $500 at the opening have since sold for seven times that sum.
Buhl offers an opportunity for investment which is rarely presented. Don't miss it.
Material for the Buhl townsite has been ordered and is now on the way. It will be a gravity system with fire pressure and fire hydrants, aeration, filtration and reserve supply. Engineers are now at work and the plant will be ready for installation when the material arrives.
Buhl will have telephones, electric light, electric power, an experimental farm, shade trees, park and other improvements without delay. Be wise and get in on the ground floor.

Reliable information regarding the city and country promptly and cheerfully furnished. Address all communications to The News Publishing Company, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Entered as second-class matter, December 12, 1894, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

More than 22 years ago, long before Lincoln county was carved from "Old Alutara," people had visions of settlement along the Snake River. At that time Malheur was only a "dime," Alutara county, which embraced the territory now included in Blaine, Elmore and Lincoln counties, was the most prominent county in the state. It was very top heavy, however. Halley, Ketchum and Bellevue were the smoking towns and all eyes were focused northward. Shoshone claimed some prominence for a time as the western terminus of the Oregon Short Line and Junction point of the Halley branch, which was built in 1883. The Goose Creek country was also attracting considerable attention. Shoshone falls had already been recognized as one of the scenic wonders of America and a postoffice, bearing the classic name of Naples, was located there.

In 1884 the Malheur tract was a famous stock range. Old timers still speak of the time when the grass was "boldly high" on their horses. In winter time it was a favored spot for antelope and deer, immense numbers of which browsed in the vicinity of the river. Nobody paid any attention to the south end of Alutara county. Canyons, prairie was the coming agricultural section, according to popular impression. The rest of the county was supposed to be desert. Travelers looked at the map, saw the words "Desert Sage Plains," and passed on. The country traversed by the Oregon Short Line looked bleak and inhospitable from car windows and when Idaho was mentioned to western travelers they merely snorted and looked at their watches.

Irrigation has worked a remarkable transformation. What was once the "Desert Sage Plains," included in Alutara and Cassia counties is now the most conspicuous section in Idaho. The Malheur and Twin Falls tracts are already the most densely settled agricultural sections in the state. They will support an immense population in the near future, and contribute more than their share to the prosperity of Idaho. The "mines" which made old Alutara county famous are still producing and no doubt other mines equally as good, if not better, will eventually be opened up. But the greatest and most productive mine of all is the "Desert Sage Plains," which will produce for centuries to come, growing richer as the years pass. It took 20 years to demonstrate the worth of the "Desert Sage Plains," but the results are worthy of the effort.

The Portland, Ore., Daily Journal says: Determined to maintain the claim of having the shortest line from Portland to the east, E. H. Harriman has met the North Bank project of the Hill companies with a plan to build a cut-off from Malad City to Mountbain in Idaho, reducing the Oregon Short Line by 134 miles and cutting the running time of the Chicago-Portland special five hours. Two surveying parties have been placed in the field, one working from Malad City and the other from Burley, to find a feasible route.

The proposed cut-off joining the Twin Falls line at Burley will use the same track west to Twin Falls, the terminus, and then continue along Snake River.

This is cheering news. Furthermore the Rio Grande has had men on the Twin Falls tract for some time and it is hinted that this tract will shortly extend its surveys through the foot of the mountains of the Rio Grande have just completed an inspection of the west end. They gave out nothing but from their talk it is surmised that their report will be very favorable. It is officially announced that work on the Rock creek bridge at Twin Falls will begin at an early date. The bridge has been ordered for some time.

Many farmers are building their stables on the banks of draws which are used as laterals. This is wrong and should be discouraged through the medium of the association meetings. Laterals should not be polluted as they furnish water for domestic purposes.

Twin Falls now ranks third in the revenue-producing towns on the Idaho division of the Oregon Short Line, being exceeded only by Boise and Pocatello. At the present rate of increase it will soon pass Pocatello and crowd out the heels of Boise. This is what tells the tale.

Interest has been whetted west of Rock creek by the Water company but it is sustained east of Rock creek by the Rod & Gun club.

Why go to the expense of a sea voyage, when a trip to Buhl over the undulating road will answer the purpose.

The lumber dealers are reported to be scrapping. Oh joy!

FEMININE ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Comparisons Favor the Woman Who Excels in Practical Things.

Who is the most accomplished woman? Is it she who plays the piano well, who sings delightfully, who is familiar with light literature, dresses in exquisite taste and who can talk on all subjects like a book? Such a woman undoubtedly makes a charming social companion and they are frequently princesses of entertainers by reason of their diversified talents. But is this all and is it the best? We could get along without music and without a great deal of learning. These are luxuries and they possess much value, but are there not other things still more important? It seems to us that she is the most accomplished woman who does and does well those things which must be done in order that the practical affairs of life may proceed. While it is not necessary to know music or to be acquainted with the fine arts in order to fill one's sphere in life, every human being has to eat and it would seem that the woman who knows how to cook well and to prepare a number of appetizing dishes would rank high among the useful, is not skill in cooking, therefore, really the greatest accomplishment that any woman can have, whether regard be had to the useful or the ornamental?

Second only to cooking, especially for women on the farm, is skill in those lines of work which contribute to success in the agricultural pursuits to which women are adapted. First among these is the art of butter-making, and few will deny that she who has a just claim to be considered the most accomplished woman in the rural regions would be the one that could prove her title clear as a mistress of all the secrets of the dairy. In this connection it is pleasing to notice that scores of young women, married and single, are taking advantage of the instruction offered by the agricultural colleges in the art of butter making. During the past fall classes were taught at the Illinois college and at Purdue in Indiana, in addition to many other schools devoted to this branch of the live stock industry. The agricultural colleges of the central west are making butter on a large scale. What a few years ago were miniature plants are now extensive establishments handling hundreds of pounds of cream a day and churning thousands of pounds of fine butter.

Students in butter making are taught a great deal of tacking care of the machinery that is now employed in the work. There are a score or more of separators. The students are taught how to take any of the ones most used apart, clean and oil them and put them together again. There are also a great variety of churns and butter workers, with all of which the students are made familiar and taught how to manipulate. The lesson begins at the door where the cream is received and weighed, heated, pasteurized, cooled and converted into butter. Men and women who want to go into the creamery business are taught how to produce butter on a large scale by actually doing the work. That is the reason that the colleges go into butter making.

making so extensively, for the process cannot be illustrated unless they do so. The use of all of the most modern machinery of the creameries is taught from the beginning to the end. If we were looking around for the most accomplished girl or woman, we should inquire at one of these up-to-date schools of dairymen. There is no reason why in addition to all this practical knowledge, these expert dairy women may not have all of the other accomplishments. After making a beautiful print of butter for the dinner table she may step into the parlor and play in the highest style of the art one of Beethoven's symphonies or Strauss' latest waltz. There is no reason why this lady, who is an expert butter maker and an expert cook, should not be well versed in all of the best literature besides being reasonably conversant with current events and all questions of an intellectual nature. This combination would make the ideal woman, but if we have to put up with only a part of the qualifications above enumerated, few will hesitate to say that we could get along better after the elimination of the requirements purely musical or literary than we could by sacrificing that knowledge in the useful arts which comes under the head of cooking, dairymaking and other duties of a strictly household nature. BREVITIES

Rev. J. Armstrong of the Baptist church will preach at the old school house Sunday, April 1, at 2 o'clock. Everyone welcome.

The Episcopal guild will meet with Mrs. J. C. Combs, Tuesday, April 3, from 3 to 5 o'clock. A 10-cent tea will be served. All Twin Falls ladies invited.

These portions of the city park on which the frame did not stand a good stand last year are being re-seeded and the trees are being looked after. The park will soon present a refreshing appearance.

Episcopal church services will be held at the old schoolhouse on Sunday, April 3, morning prayer, communion and sermon at 11 a. m. Evening prayer and sermon at 7:30. Sunday school as usual at 10 o'clock.

John Graf has arrived from Lane, Idaho, and established residence on his farm on Coeur d'Alene ridge. Mr. Graf is an experienced farmer and has premises operations which will put Judge McKinlay in the shade. He brought a curlew of effects with him.

C. H. Taylor, has arrived from DeKalb, Montana, and established residence on his farm near Buhl. Mr. Taylor was very much surprised at the appearance of the town and it far better than he expected, although he knew great progress had been made.

The Union Sunday school has presented the organ in the old school building to the public schools of the city. The instrument will remain in the building until the summer of the present. The gift is highly appreciated and very appropriate.

Superintendent McPherson will go to Boise tomorrow to attend a meeting of the State Dairy and Pure Food commission of which he is secretary. Mrs. McPherson will return with him and remain on the farm adjoining the townsite.

City Marshal Dyer has received a telegram stating that W. W. McNair, who committed suicide at Pomona, California, on March 24, had relatives in Twin Falls. Thus far the marshal has been unable to obtain trace of them. He will be glad to receive information on the subject.

The work of putting in stone cross-ings on Main street and Shoshone avenue has commenced. The trustees propose to put Shoshone avenue between Main street and the depot in first-class condition. Main street will receive a thorough overhauling, the low spots being filled in and the center of the thoroughfare well crowned.

Frank L. Osborne is preparing to put in a stock of dry goods, groceries, notions and rents' furnishings in the Babcock building next to the Hotel on Main street. Most of his stock has arrived and the work of installing it will begin in a few days. Mr. Osborne will have a very nice store building and an excellent location.

Joel W. Craven, treasurer and general manager of the Pioneer Storage & Commission Co., is making a tour of Oregon and Washington in search of hay and is also purchasing headlands and potatoes. He brought a 10-ton stack of alfalfa and immediately put bales to work so that the shipment might not be delayed. The company is purchasing 127 tons of hay last fall which was to have been delivered some time ago as one-third of the purchase price was paid down. However, the contractors were unable to make delivery. Hence Mr. Craven's hurried trip to the coast.

At the meeting of the Farmers' association of Twin Falls tomorrow evening, March 31, at the old school house, Elias Nelson will speak on the subject of "The Use of Irrigation Water on the Farm" and Mr. A. J. Waters will discuss "Power for Farming." Mr. Nelson has been stationed at Twin Falls by the U. S. department of agriculture and placed in charge of irrigation and drainage investigations in Idaho, which will be very largely conducted on the Twin Falls tract. Mr. Nelson was formerly on the staff of the Wyoming experiment station and now comes from Oregon, where he was superintendent of the experiment farm of the Deschutes Irrigation & Power company.

Miss Sally L. Iron, who died on March 10 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Iron, three miles south of Twin Falls, was laid to rest in the Twin Falls cemetery with simple Christian service. Though the weather was very inclement, a large number of friends and neighbors attended the funeral. Miss Iron, who was 15 years of age, was ill for some time but she never lost heart. Her fortitude was a source of inspiration to her parents who have the sincere sympathy of the community in their bereavement. It is such and touches that bring people together and bonds of sympathy. The response in this instance showed the deep regard in which Mr. and Mrs. Iron are held by their friends and neighbors.

The Idaho Lumber Co. of Blackfoot has purchased four lots on the corner of Fourteenth and Shoshone avenues and will at once begin a large lumber yard. One of the lots faces on Shoshone and the other three on Fourteenth avenue. A two-story building, 20 feet high, will be erected on the first lot, lumber shed, 125x125, will occupy the others. The deal was closed by A. D. Quantrell this week. The building will fill a very large gap in the appearance of that section of the city, which bids fair to build up rapidly. Incidentally it will give Twin Falls another lumber yard, making seven in all. No city in the state can boast of so many lumber yards, a sure indication that there is something in the Twin Falls lumber trade here.

T. J. Woods has gone to north Idaho and Washington on business.

P. J. Holahan is building a nice residence on Ninth street, facing the park.

J. E. Combs has arrived from Oakesdale, Wash., and is located on his farm at Elletts.

J. G. Grainger, the jeweler, has moved his stock into the Tobin building where he is nicely located.

Messrs. Brink and Evans have purchased the Baldwin property adjoining the townsite on the west and will, it is announced, open an addition shortly.

Bonham & Peters are figuring on putting up a two-story building on their lots on Main street opposite the Jones block.

J. P. Stott has purchased his lot adjoining the Jones block on the southeast and proposes to erect a substantial two-story concrete block building on the property.

Postmaster F. W. Elkhoff of Buhl has been elected to the office of deputy city clerk in the city of the setting sun. Farmers are coming in by the score and buildings are going up in every direction.

Price & Eastman, the attorneys, have rented the office adjoining that of General Manager Parks of the Land & Water company in the Hotel Pomona and will immediately move into their new quarters.

George S. Parks of the Jordan Valley Mercantile company has purchased through Hill & Taylor the lot opposite Sprague & Perney's drug store on Main street and lot 19, in block 102, on Twelfth avenue, behind the Hotel Pomona. Mr. Parks came here on the recommendation of Paul Newman and he was not long in investigating.

The members of the Twin Falls Rod and Gun club held an informal shoot Sunday and surprising scores were made. Although the trap was speeded up, every marksmen found the blue rocks. Captain Holahan was very much pleased with the work of the men and predicts that Twin Falls will soon have an excellent team. Another shoot will be held next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the annual meeting of the club will follow on Monday evening at the office of the Land & Water company. The trap works perfectly and the background is very satisfactory. Several new members joined the club this week and the outlook is promising.

Clifford M. Barrett, for many years manager of the Kumfort Shoe Co. of New York and recently of J. L. and L. E. Co. of the New York brokers, has accepted the position with the Twin Falls Land & Water company made vacant by the return to Boise of Mr. Root, who held his position with the company. Although a long distance from Brown, Mr. Barrett finds Twin Falls a very pleasant place and he and his wife are now better friends than ever.

M. H. De Long left for the east on Tuesday afternoon. He will join his family at Detroit and later visit his home in Utica, New York. It is probable that Mr. and Mrs. De Long will spend the summer in Europe. During his long tenure of office as secretary of the Twin Falls Land & Water company, Mr. De Long has made many sterling friends to whom his departure was a source of great regret. A dozen pioneers dined with him at the historic hotel on Sunday evening and as many more joined him at dinner the following evening at Dr. Hies' home. Throughout the bustle and rush of the pioneer days, Mr. De Long never lost his poise and the day never dawned on which he was not "right." Modest, affable and "square" every minute, he left behind him a memory of those who knew him well enough to appreciate his manifold good qualities.

Instructive, profitable and entertaining was the program given by the Owl club at Mrs. Wolfe's on Wednesday evening. Numbers of the character rendered are rarely encountered at high priced entertainments. The piano selections by Miss Dyer and Miss Manker were gems which the fortunate ones present will long remember. The historic play in making his memory of those who knew him well enough to appreciate his manifold good qualities.

The first "Pythian Evening" on Tuesday was a conspicuous success. Hospitality beamed from every corner of Craven's hall and the bonds of sympathy. The response in this instance showed the deep regard in which Mr. and Mrs. Iron are held by their friends and neighbors.

R. W. Jones has returned from southern California, where he spent several weeks. Mr. Jones said he carefully inspected the alleged roads in that section of California and he is convinced that they would be a success here. He drove over many magnificent highways constructed at a cost far below the expense of paving.

Sam Woolf of Salt Lake City was in Twin Falls last Saturday, Sunday and Monday in the interest of Sol Block & Grif of Kansas City, wholesale liquor dealers. Sam had been off the road for nearly two years and he was afraid that the trade might have forgotten the Westchester club but it had not. He did some tail figuring while in Twin Falls and it is possible that the establishment of a wholesale house may follow. Mr. Woolf said that next to Roosevelt, Twin Falls was the liveliest town of its size in Idaho.

PROVE UP.

Entrymen who made their filings at the first opening and to whom water was delivered last week, are requested to make either annual or final proof on or before Friday, April 6. Failure to do so will render their lands subject to contest or forfeiture. Residence upon the land and compliance with other legal requirements will not suffice if proof is lacking. The law is explicit and it requires that either annual or final proof be made within one year. A large number of entrymen have overlooked this requirement. They must attend to it without delay.

FILER

Clear Title to Land Guaranteed.

An Abstract with Each Lot.

FILER has more fertile acres tributary to its boundaries than any other town on the Twin Falls tract. It is located half way between Twin Falls and Buhl, on the direct road, and is to be the only railroad station between these points. The town stands square with the world, streets and alleys running due north and south, east and west. Midway avenue, the main thoroughfare, is 100 feet wide, all other streets 80 feet, and alleys 20 feet.

It will be the shipping point for a radius of five or six miles; the land is peculiarly adapted for the location of a townsite, the slope being perfect, toward the northeast; water and sewage systems can be installed at less expense than at any other town in Idaho; telephone connections with all parts of the world will be completed within six weeks.

LOTS will be sold, one-third down at time and place of sale, balance in four annual payments, at 6 per cent interest. The prices range from $50 for choice residence lots (50x125 feet) to $350 for the very best corner business lots (25x125 feet). No auction, no by-bidders to push up fictitious values upon the unsuspecting public.

VERY ONE has the same chance; now is the time to get a home at the right price; here is the opportunity and the opening you have been waiting for to establish that business. FILER already has a postoffice, hotel, hardware and grocery stores, schoolhouse, lumber yards, blacksmith shop, barber shop, etc., but its present needs demand a lot more.

REMEMBER the date, SATURDAY, APRIL 14, 1906. "WATCH FILER GROW" is not enough. Get anywhere in the neighborhood and you can "FEEL IT GROW." Why, it's all about you; ask any one in the vicinity, and catch the fever. Get in on the ground floor. Applications for all lots must be made to the

TO REMOVE SMUT FROM OATS REFORMING RECLAMATION LAW

Inexpensive Solution of Formalin is Recommended.

The farmer who raises oats is very likely to sustain a considerable loss of his crop from the presence of smut in the field. Oat smut is a fungus that starts when the seed germinates, grows inside the stalks, using part of the nourishment of the oat plant, thereby preventing the stalks attaining full height, and winds up its career by turning the grain and often the chaff into a black powder, which is made up of the reproducing spores of the fungus. If this black powder gets upon the seed grain sown the following year, the resulting crop will be correspondingly injured by smut.

Oat smut is very common throughout the country. Unless preventive measures have been taken, almost any field will show from a few per cent to 10, 15, 25 or even 50 per cent of smut. Any amount under 10 per cent attracts little or no attention because the affected stalks are for the most part so much shorter and less conspicuous than the healthy ones, due to the dwarfing action of the fungus. There is abundant literature to substantiate these statements in reports made by the various state experiment stations (see Indiana bulletin No. 35, for 1904).

If any farmer doubts that he is losing from one to 10 bushels or more of oats out of every 100 that he harvests, let him go into his field and count every stalk, little and big, to the extent of 500 or 1,000 in different parts of the field, making note of the number of those blasted with smut, and he will be surprised at the result. He should not be deceived into thinking that some of the stalks are too small to be worth counting, for if it had not been for the attack of smut they would have been as large as the others and borne full sized heads of good oats.

The method of treatment is simple, requiring no special precautions. Sprinkle the seed oats with a solution of formalin of the strength of one pound of formalin to 50 gallons of water until nearly moist enough to pack into the hand, shovel into a pile and cover. After two hours or more the oats are ready to sow, or can be spread out and dried and kept for future sowing.

Formalin is a gas dissolved in water, and the reason for covering the oats is to keep it confined and give time for the gas to penetrate between the chaff of the grain, and thus reach every spore of the fungus and kill it. After the spores are killed it is immaterial whether the grain is sown at once or dried and sown after a time. If sown without drying, a little more per acre should be used to allow for swelling.

The efficacy of this method has been fully tested and is beyond question. Its cost is about one and a half cents per bushel, or less, for the material. Formalin can be bought at almost any drug store. The time and labor required are not great, and the returns are ample. The trouble in getting about an unfamiliar piece of work is probably the greatest obstacle in the way of making this a regular farm practice for every thrifty farmer who grows oats.

There are already a number of grain elevators in Indiana, and probably in other states, fitted with machinery for this work. Some of them will treat seed oats for any farmer without additional charge, and the expense in any case will amount to little more than the time of going to the elevator, while the profit to the farmer may be considerable.—J. C. Arthur, in Farm, Field and Forest.

They have found a new use for corn. When you lick your stamps now remember that it is not gum arabic that you are coming in contact with, but a new substance discovered by the Illinois experiment station and extracted from the kernels of corn. This should add, if possible, to the already supreme importance who rules over the corn belt with such glory for himself and his subjects.—American Farmer.

Henry county, Indiana, boasts of a young Miss who has grown up a regular Hotty Green in the business world, though we hope she will prove a better model in some respects than the celebrated millionaire. When seven years old a neighbor gave this child a tiny pig, which she reared with care and sold it at maturity for $7.50. This money she invested in a full-blooded Jersey calf, and during the past seven years her original investment has netted her property worth about $500. She now owns five head of first-class Jersey cows, which were all purchased with the money obtained from the sale of the pig, and it is pleasing to learn forward to the time when this bright little girl will own and control one of the largest and best appointed dairies in the state.—American Farmer.

CONGRESS WILL HEREAFTER HANDLE THE RECLAMATION FUNDS.

In its general operation, the national reclamation law has proven quite as effective as its framers expected; indeed, the general work of national irrigation is progressing satisfactorily. In the administration of the reclamation service, however, there has been some slight friction which has resulted in delays that have been bothersome, if not tingling.

No one, perhaps, knows more than the chief of the reclamation service, Mr. Newell, and the director of the geological survey, Mr. Wolcott, to what these delays in the reclamation service have explained the situation to the president, he has approved their recommendations, and at the joint request of these officials a bill has been introduced in congress which will, if enacted, prove of very material benefit to the reclamation service.

Most of the friction and delay complained of is the result of red tape that exists between the reclamation office and the interior department proper. The dealings between the reclamation service and the secretary are not direct, and in the roundabout course they follow many delays are likely to occur. The bill that has been introduced before the house by Representative Cooper does away with this red tape by providing a more direct means of communication, at the same time giving the reclamation service more leeway. The director of the geological survey is made the director of the reclamation service and he goes ahead with his plans, merely submitting them to the secretary for approval and not for review.

Another important change is made by the bill in the manner of appropriating and expending money for reclamation works. At present this money is entirely under the control of the secretary. At this time there is a very strong sentiment in congress against allowing cabinet officers to handle such funds in a free manner, and the tendency is to restrict lump appropriations and stipulate the various purposes for which the money is to be used. The Cooper bill permits the reclamation service to send to congress each year a statement of the expenditures which it proposes to make during the following 12 months, so that congress shall specifically authorize the various expenditures. Thus, within the reclamation service will retain the right to say how the funds shall be apportioned, their expenditures are always subject to the approval of congress.

FARMERS GETTING TOGETHER

Are Forming Protective Association in Snake River Valley.

The farmers of the Snake River valley are organizing under the name of the Farmers' Protective association for the purpose of bettering their conditions in a number of ways.

The first object will be to procure better seed, potatoes and grain, and better stock so as to produce more and better articles, and then to find the best markets and sell the produce in order to procure the market values and not have so many middle men living on their labors.

The farmers of Greeley, Colorado, formed an organization of this kind eight or nine years ago for the purpose of bettering their condition in the culture and marketing of their potato crop; and at the present time their products may be found selling at retail prices in the Snake River valley at $1.25 per cwt. by the side of the Idaho potatoes at $1.10, or a discrimination of .15c in price against our product.

They expect to overcome this difficulty and to put their representatives on the markets to sell the produce direct to the consumer, in order to get the profits of the business and make some money out of the crops they produce. W. D. Treco of Blackfoot is heading the movement and reports that they now have over 600 good farmers who have subscribed for stock, and that they will elect a board of directors and compile the organization in the near future and that they expect to begin to do business during the month of April.

Doctors Are Puzzled.

The remarkable recovery of Kenneth Melver of Vancouber, Mo., is the subject of much interest to the medical fraternity and a wide circle of friends. He says of his case: "Owing to severe inflammation of the throat and congestion of the lungs, three doctors gave me up to die, when, as a last resort, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery and I am happy to say it saved my life." Cures the worst coughs and colds, bronchitis, tonsillitis, weak lungs, hoarseness and a cripple. Guaranteed at $1.00 and $2.00; trial bottle free.

GOVERNMENT SEEDS ARE PURE

Any Attempt to Curtail Distribution Should Be Opposed.

The United States government is doing a great service to the people in protecting them from food adulteration and from seed adulteration. It is putting an effective stop to the slaughter of diseased animals and to the transmission of such across state lines. It is protecting the people by stringent regulation against adulteration of canned goods, whether meats, vegetables, fruits or fish. It is doing possibly an equal service in protecting the people against dishonest seed men whose habit is to mix, and thus adulterate and cheapen the quality of seeds. It is claimed that the seeds supplied by the government are genuine. It is a service which is a vast benefit to the masses of agriculturists and they are in no way in sympathy with the clamor against the department made by dealers and seed producers against governmental competition. The department of agriculture should take no back steps and make no compromise in response to this clamor. The people believe in the service and will sustain the government in rendering it. The fact that it costs the government enormous sums of money to render this service is not a valid reason for its discontinuance. There is no service of the government, aside from the postal department, so far reaching and which brings a better return in actual benefits rendered. It is not an agreeable thing to see that whenever there is a cry of reform there is a suggestion of reforming and curtailing the service rendered to the farmer. Retrenchment can better be accomplished in other lines.

The farmer should show no countenance to any demand for curtailing governmental expenses legitimately made, in extending postal service in rural mail delivery, and in the distribution of seeds and in experiments in the interest of better methods for the farmer. Let Uncle Sam have free course and be glorified. We are his children and are ready to defend his claims at home and abroad. And we are willing that the service shall be mutual.—Journal of Agriculture.

EARLY DAY LIES FROM KANSAS Whoppers Related by Sunflower State Boomers.

The Kansas City Journal quotes from the files of the Kanopolis Journal, Kan., of 1887, merely to show that there were artists in those days in the art of exaggeration. After claiming that the region around Kanopolis was the site of the Garden of Eden, the Journal points out the modern wonders of the neighborhood. "Sunflowers can be seen that will make a dozen fence rails and a whole lot of card wood. Potatoes grow so big that they can only be roasted by building a fire on the windward side, and when one section is done waiting for the wind to change. Cabbage leaves are used for circus tents and hoop poles, are planted out of timothy stalks. Jack rabbits grow as large as horses and the tall feathers of a wild goose make excellent fence posts. The wheat is larger than the corn in most states, and it is dangerous to plant rye, as the roots have to be grubbed out before the ground can be planted again. A man planted a turnip one mile from the railroad last summer and the company sued him for obstructing the track before the middle of July. Pie plant makes excellent bridge timber and the pumpkins are in demand this winter for houses and barns. Pea pods are used as ferries on the Arkansas river, and onion seeds are much sought after for stuffing wells and terrace work. Rye straw, properly connected, makes superior pipe for drainage, and the husks of the berry, where provided with rockers, make unique baby cradles. North of Kanopolis are several lakes of strained honey, and we often have showers of rosewater and cologne in the early spring. This settlement of western Kansas is restoring Eden to its primitive glory and men to their first estate.

If you drink, drink Yellowstone.

ANNUAL SHOOT AT IDAHO FALLS

Marksmen Will Assemble There on May 8 and 9.

The fifth annual shooting tournament of the Idaho Falls Gun club will take place on their grounds, May 8 and 9. To the shooting enthusiasts of the Snake valley this tournament comes as a welcome event, being in fact the only opportunity in which the shooters of the valley have a chance to mingle together, shoot bluebirds and explain the reasons why "I missed the last six on my first 25 birds," discuss angles and pistol grip stock and the necessity of using only a certain grade of powder and one size of shot. The local members are working hard, and are determined to make this shoot a winner. Recently the localities organized and intend to hold regular shoots and tournaments. Their first tournament will take place May 11 and 12. Several of the members of the local club will go down to the Gate City to compete and bring back if possible the trophy lost on Washington's birthday.

The two days of shooting here will be well taken up by the different events. Tuesday, the opening day, 10 events will be shot and Wednesday 11 events will be shot. The local club extends a general invitation to the "lovers of the trap." Two hundred and fifty dollars will be the added money, while a gold medal will be given to the shooter fortunate in possessing the high average. These two shoots will in a sense be a period of preparation to the members of the local club, as they are affiliated with the Montana State Sportsman's association which holds its annual shoot May 18, 19 and 20 at Anaconda, Mont. The Montana tournament is always looked upon as the principal shoot of the year and consequently is closely contested by the local marksmen, who strive mightily hard to bring back part of the medals from the neighbors on the north.

MURTAUGH'S BIG PROSPECTS

Big Butts North of Station Is to Be Reclaimed.

MURTAUGH, March 29.—The Oregon Short Line carpenters are building a section house here. The Japanese workmen are digging the trench for the pipe line which will be laid four feet underground from the Dry creek well to the Murtaugh tank.

The Murtaugh postoffice is doing a business far in excess of anticipations.

A large quantity of government seeds received through the courtesy of Congressman French have been distributed among the grateful gardeners.

The Twin Falls Land & Water company has furnished Mr. Veloholmer with a good team of horses to replace the team which one of the company's employees let out of his field last fall and lost. This action has convinced the Murtaugh farmers that the company wants to do what is right by them.

The last meeting of the farmers' association was well attended. Mr. McPherson delivered a very interesting talk on dairy and beef cattle. The ladies will have charge of the next meeting.

The Land & Water company's engineers are surveying the big butt between Murtaugh and Rock creek with the view of installing a pumping plant to irrigate this choice piece of land. The prospect is very cheering to the people of Murtaugh, and in the near future there will be another town on the Twin Falls tract worth watching.

J. N. Rowdy of Cottonwood was a Murtaugh visitor this week.

The Murtaugh Sunday school is progressing splendidly and, it is believed, can show a higher percentage of attendance than any district school on the tract.

Rufus Hanson is suffering from a severe attack of influenza.

J. I. Tolman has moved to his ranch near the reservoir.

Mrs. M. A. Bacon accidentally stepped on a nail a few days ago and sustained a painful wound which, however, is healing rapidly.

GRAND SNAKE RIVER SCENERY

May Be Viewed From the Deck of a Gasoline Launch.

F. N. Uhrhuth, the hospitable and energetic owner of the famous Riverside farm, has ordered a gasoline launch which will ply on the placid bosom of the Snake river on that magnificent stretch of water between the upper and lower Salmon falls, nine miles from Buhl. There is not a ripple on the surface of the water between the Salmon falls and the trip five and one-half miles each way will take in Bardum's island, the matchless Thousand Springs and the beautiful Box canyon. The Thousand Springs and Box canyon afford the finest trout fishing in the state and their scenic beauty is unexcelled. The 11-mile trip will be so arranged that tourists may have all the fishing they want and it is certain to become very popular. It is always cool and refreshing in the Snake river canyon, and with the additional attraction of superb fishing and impressive scenery the water journey will make a hit. Mr. Uhrhuth's farm is worth a long trip to see. He grows peaches and apricots in abundance and is the most advanced and successful bee farmer in the state. Milk and honey literally flow at Riverside and when this fact becomes generally known Mr. Uhrhuth will have all the guests he can care for.

MISS CHAMBERLAIN RESIGNS

Because of Her Candidacy for State Superintendency.

Miss Belle Chamberlain has resigned her position as assistant state school superintendent at the request of Miss Scott, the state superintendent. Miss Chamberlain is a candidate for the position now held by Miss Scott and she and her supporters state that Miss Scott, although not a candidate for re-nomination, favors the nomination of another candidate, thus causing friction in the office and resulting in the request for Miss Chamberlain's resignation. Miss Scott denied that this was the reason she asked her assistant to resign. She said Miss Chamberlain had

The Buhl townsite is laid out on the same lines as Twin Falls. It slopes to the northwest and in order to irrigate the lots the streets are run at angles with the world. The big hotel stands on the southwest corner of Broadway and Main streets, in block 99. The corner lots in blocks 33, 34 and 100 are to be sold at auction on the opening day, April 17. They are supposed to be the most valuable lots in the townsite. As will be seen by the plat, the railway passes only two blocks from the hotel, and there are business lots on both sides of the track. From the lower right hand corner of the townsite to the junction of Main and Broadway there is a fall of 50 feet. The waterworks main comes in at this corner and runs down Broadway. The main pipe, six inches in diameter, runs to the extreme northwest corner of the townsite, being tapped at all intersections by four inch pipes.

Buhl commands a magnificent view of the Sawtooth range on the north and the Owyhee mountains on the west. It is within a short distance of the famous Thousand Springs, which afford the finest trout fishing in Idaho, the picturesque upper and lower Salmon falls, beautiful Box canyon, Glass Lake and other scenic gems. There are several hot springs near Buhl. Tributary to the townsite is a vast tract of land, every acre of which will be taken up before fall. The rich Three Creek country will use Buhl as a distributing point. All things considered, Buhl is very fortunately situated and seems destined to become a large city in a short time.
