RAILROAD EXTENSION TO BE RESUMED AT ONCE

Short Line Commences Work on the Rock Creek Bridge at Twin Falls on Completion of Which the Road Will Be Extended to Buhl and Probably Continued Westward to the Main Line—Gap Between Malad and Burley is Now Being Cross-Sectioned.

The work of constructing the railway bridge across Rock creek at Twin Falls has commenced and the structure will be completed in four to six weeks. The company will then start on the extension to Buhl which, it is predicted, will not stop there but continue on to the main line at Mountain Home. Two crews of engineers are engaged in cross sectioning the line between Malad and Burley. One crew is working from each end and they will soon come together. This is taken as an indication that the road between Malad and Burley will be built at once and the extension from Buhl to the main line west would necessarily follow. With the gaps between Malad and Burley and between Buhl and the main line closed, the mileage from Salt Lake City to Portland would be reduced about 75 miles and the two worst grades on the line, Medbury and King hills, would be cut out.

The bridge work at Twin Falls is in charge of Mr. Trout of the Short Line engineering department. Full crews will be worked on the bridge and no time will be lost in getting it in. Crews for the construction work between Twin Falls and Buhl are also being assembled and will be ready by the time the bridge is finished. With the exception of Cedar draw, there are no cuttings between Twin Falls and Buhl which will require heavy bridge work, consequently the rails should reach Buhl in about three months. Twin Falls will be the construction headquarters.

It is stated on good authority that construction work will begin at Malad at an early date, probably when the engineers have finished cross-sectioning. Under these circumstances, there is reason to believe that Twin Falls will be on the main line of the Oregon Short Line much sooner than has been anticipated. This will be of vast benefit to the trade recently enhanced the value of property.

CLEVER KIMBERLY CHILDREN

Furnish Entertainment at the Farmers' Meeting.

KIMBERLY, April 5.—The weekly meeting of the Farmers' association was in charge of the school on last Wednesday evening, and a very interesting Arbor day program was rendered by the pupils. The entertainment was very largely attended and enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Jarvis was featured—presented and furnished considerable merriment. Songs and recitations made up the remainder of the program, which spoke very creditably for the workings of the school along rhetorical lines. Mrs. W. S. Starr returned Wednesday from Twin Falls, where she has been under the doctor's care for the past three weeks. Though still suffering from the results of an operation, a rapid recovery is hoped for.

Mrs. Orange Pomeroy and family arrived in Kimberly Monday and will be located in their new home on the telephone line directly north of town. The young people enjoyed a very informal dance at the school house Thursday evening, which was well attended.

Henry Scott is in town again, after having worked some weeks on the high line canal.

The Twin Falls team of the Modern Woodmen met with the local lodge in the school house last Friday evening when several members were initiated.

IMPORTANT RULING.

The Twin Falls Land & Water company has ruled that in cases where fillings are made upon land for which water was available before the filling was made, the water notice will date from the time of filling and interest will begin at that time. No maintenance charge will be made for the first year. In other words, if an entryman should fill today upon land for which water was available last June, his interest would begin on the day on which he filled and he would not have to pay any maintenance charge this year. He would also have six months time in which to settle on his land.

WAVELETS FROM CLEAR LAKE

Newt Uhrhau Has Recipe for Making Bees Work Overtime.

CLEAR LAKE, April 3.—The unexpected and heavy frost on Sunday night will, it is feared, prove damaging to the fruit crop. In the case of many fruits, the buds had begun to swell. The extent of the damage will not be known for a time.

Mrs. F. N. Uhrhau and daughter passed through Clear Lake last week on their way to Abby.

T. W. Snodgrass has taken most of his cattle to Twin Falls as hay was not obtainable here.

Otto E. Sytner has finished putting in 10 acres of wheat. He has also seeded his alfalfa fields to clover and timothy.

SHOSHONE FALLS POWER IS PROMISED IN JULY

Company Preparing to Resume Work on the Plant at the Falls, Which Will Be Finished in Ninety Days—Transmission Line to Be Built from Lower Salmon Falls to Burley and Pumping Plant for Irrigation at Latter Point Will Be in Operation by August 1.

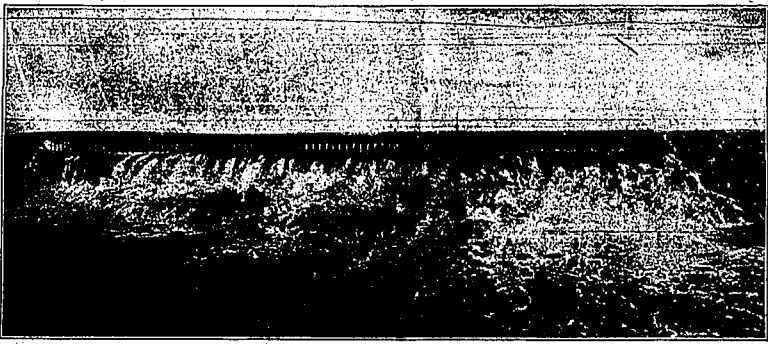

Buhl he bided his time for a business opening, which culminated in the Wade purchase. Mr. Eldridge is a graduate of the Middlebury, Vermont, college, and has been engaged in business at

The Shoshone Falls Power company has completed the survey of its transmission line from the lower Salmon falls to Burley. Stakes are set every 400 feet. It is an air line from the lower Salmon falls to a point 1 1/2 miles north of Shoshone falls. It takes an angle slightly to the southward, crossing the Snake river about a mile below Malad. On the south side of the river the transmission line will follow section lines straight to Burley.

The work of completing the Shoshone falls plant will be commenced in less than three weeks and will occupy about 90 days. It may be authoritatively stated that power from Shoshone falls will be available before August 1.

While work on the plant is going on, the transmission lines to Burley and the lower Salmon falls will be built and ready for current when the whole begins to revolve at Shoshone falls. The pumps for the irrigation of 2500 acres at Burley will be in position by the time current is available and the Burley tract will be watered, if all goes well, about the latter part of July.

The transmission line from Shoshone falls to the lower Salmon falls will also be completed in time to permit of its use when the generation of power commences at Shoshone falls. This will furnish power at the lower Salmon falls for construction work on the big plant which will be built there and also on the plants at the upper Salmon and Malad falls. The Salmon falls transmission line will be tapped opposite Auger falls to supply power for the plant under construction there. Later a similar tap will be made for the construction of the plant at the Twin Falls. The plans of the company contemplate the construction of five plants, those at Shoshone falls, upper Salmon falls, lower Salmon falls, Malad falls and Twin falls. As before stated, the Shoshone falls plant will be completed in July. At that time work will begin on the upper and lower Salmon and the Malad plants, and later the Twin falls plant will be constructed. The project is so big as to be almost staggering and the resultant benefits to the Twin Falls tract will be so great that they can scarcely be foreseen.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Prothro entertained Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wright, who expect to move shortly and make their home at Rock Creek. One of the most enjoyable evenings imaginable was spent by all present. Cards were played until a late hour, when delicious refreshments were served. The invited guests included Messrs. and Mesdames Johnson, Brose, Osborne, Dunkin, Wright, Prothro, Messrs. McMullan, Ray, Dunken, A. J. McMullan, F. Prothro, F. Prothro, Jr., E. Johnson, W. Blackburn, Clyde Dupken, Misses Dunkin, McMullan and Jessie McMullan.

Messrs. Stacy, Rees and Harris of Coalville, Utah, were among the home-seekers visiting Kimberly this week. All were favorably impressed and expect to return soon and make their homes in this vicinity.

Frank Prothro returned Thursday from the high line canal, where he has been at work for the past two months. Twin Falls visitors the past week included Mrs. E. Lewis, Mrs. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Johnson, Mrs. E. Cleary, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Prothro and E. F. Tucker.

S. Perkins arrived Wednesday and expects to make his home on his land southeast of town during the summer months.

Robert Brose of Rock Creek was a Kimberly visitor Thursday.

HOMESEEKERS VISIT HANSEN

Several Valuable Tracts Have Recently Changed Hands.

HANSEN, April 5.—Nick Smith and family visited in Twin Falls last Monday.

Mrs. E. L. Ricks was the guest of Mrs. E. G. Cowles last Wednesday.

Ralph Woodhouse left last Saturday for Idaho Falls. Louis Oliver took the position vacated by Mr. Woodhouse. Invitations are issued to a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Roberson next Friday evening.

The Twin Falls visitors of the past week are: N. H. Nichols, F. Van Vleet, F. B. Baker, Wm. Baker, T. J. Hatcher, G. W. Redhead, Henry La course, A. A. Fouts and A. Commings. Isaac Divino has been busy engaged this week in fencing his yard and orchard. Mr. Divino has one of the best improved farms in this part of the tract.

Nearly every day brings newcomers to this part of the tract. Among the recent arrivals are: Mr. Folks from Tacoma, Wash.; Chas. Uhden and family from Spokane, Wash.; J. E. Gleason from Goldendale, Wash.; Mr. Babcock from Shoshone, and A. La Monte.

J. E. Gleason has purchased the ranch of Wm. McKenzie one-half mile west of here. Mr. Gleason foresees the great future of the tract and is prepared to invest heavily in real estate.

J. R. Hinton, principal of Shoshone high school, was a visitor in Hansen last Friday and Saturday. Mr. Hinton is the owner of a valuable 160-acre ranch one-half mile north of the town site, and has engaged Mr. Babcock of Shoshone to put in the spring crop. At the close of the Shoshone school Mr. Hinton, with his family, will return and take up his residence upon his ranch.

Landseekers in this community have begun to be familiar personages. A number of ranches have changed hands within a few miles of this place but taking the public as a whole, the landowners are well pleased with the future outlook and the majority are not anxious to dispose of valuable and rapidly advancing property.

rape vines. He has quite a large vineyard.

O. P. Johnson has a force of men at work cleaning out his ditch on the mark grade. He intends to sow more alfalfa this year.

Will Sytner and J. McEvoy are busy replacing their water pipe across Snake river. Through the breaking of the supporting cables the pipe was dropped into the stream last fall and they had a hard time fishing it out. They hope to have the pipe across in a few days and will begin to work their place claim.

Samuel D. Briggs moved to Cassia county last week. He is located on Warm creek.

F. N. Uhrhau has announced his intention to try a new and novel experiment this year. So great is the demand for Riverside honey that Mr. Uhrhau's busy bees are unable to keep up the supply without working overtime. Like the chicken, the bees labor during the day and lay off at night and in order to overcome this hereditary defect Mr. Uhrhau will try crossing the bees with lightning bugs.

VILLAGE CASE UNDECIDED

Judge Budge Overrules the Demurrer of the Defense.

Judge Alfred Budge has overruled the demurrer of the defense in the case of Truman O. Boyd et al. vs. the trustees of the village of Twin Falls. In his notice to counsel for the defense Judge Budge said: "I have not written an opinion in this case for the reason that I hardly think it would be proper at this time. When the case is finally submitted and the writ granted or denied, it will be proper to doubt to set out in detail the reasons for the action of the court." The action was brought to obtain a writ of mandate compelling the trustees to take steps to raise Twin Falls from a village to a city of the second class. The writ sought has neither been granted nor denied, it being necessary for the defense to submit proof in support of its allegations to the effect that the trustees could not legally take the steps necessary to make the village a city of the second class.

VALUABLE INFORMATION FOR THE NEW BEGINNERS

Superintendent McPherson Gives Wholesome Advice to Those Who Have Never Farmed by Irrigation and Are Now About to Make Their First Attempt—Tells Them What to Plant and How to Plant It in Order to Get Profitable and Quick Returns From Their Land.

"Supposing a man who had never farmed by irrigation came out from the east to establish his home on the Twin Falls tract, grubbed the sagebrush from his land, dug his laterals and was ready to begin cultivation, what kind of a crop would you have him to put in?" was asked of Superintendent, McPherson.

"That would depend upon how he was fixed financially and what he had been accustomed to raising where he came from," was the response. "I am in favor of diversified farming because I believe that no country was ever permanently prosperous without it. Conditions in an arid country are somewhat different from those in the rain belt in several respects and a man who has been accustomed to running a very large farm should not attempt to follow the same rule here. He should put in a smaller area and give it more attention, bearing in mind that his crops are sure and that the results will be just what he makes them."

"With a farmer who is not an experienced irrigator the first year's work is necessarily primitive, unless he employs an expert to assist him. That is why the Twin Falls Land & Water company is engaging experienced men to coach the farmers and is seeking in every way to make the preliminary work of the entrants easy and pleasant."

"What crops will do well in this section of the state?"

"We can raise nearly everything that can be grown in the temperate zone, but some crops are more profitable and easier to raise than others. I should say that the first crop should be alfalfa or clover, just as much as the settler can handle. Alfalfa and clover are really the basis of successful farming in this section. They open up the soil, add needed humus and nitrogen and the decaying roots act as reservoirs for moisture, materially reducing the labor of irrigation and making the soil in the best physical condition. On account of the great depth of the soil and the climatic conditions, intensive farming is preferable to extensive farming. Every farmer has stock, and feed for the stock is a first consideration. For early feed I have recommended crimson clover, millet and feed peas, the latter especially. Crimson clover, when sown after the danger from frost has passed, will in 90 days make very good hay and furnish most or less pasture for the rest of the season. Millet will do the same but is not as good feed nor is it as good for the soil. Field peas answer a dual purpose. They will mature as quickly as crimson clover and can either be cut for hay or allowed to ripen and used as concentrated food for animals.

"Wheat and oats are both paying cropland, while corn and corn wheat as hog food, both as regards production and results, are equal to the best eastern corn." This was demonstrated on the Twin Falls experimental farm last year. Of course we used corn which had been acclimated in Cassia county, and I advise the use of Cassia county corn until such time as we have bred other varieties for this climate. Potatoes and onions will give immense yields and are very profitable. The potatoes on the experimental farm last year ran as high as 330 bushels to the acre; corn, 20 1/2 bushels. Not enough onions were raised to demonstrate what the yield would be, but a number of farmers raised splendid crops of onions although they planted very late. In fact, everything we grew last year was planted out of season."

"What effect will the present moisture in the ground have upon irrigation?"

"On account of the heavy snowfall and rains this year it will not be necessary to irrigate before planting unless it be late in the season before planting is done. In fact, I would give this advice to a newcomer: Clear off as much land as possible and follow up the clearing with the planting of wheat, barley, oats, crimson clover, cow peas. This will furnish hay for horses and cattle at an early date and a good crop of wheat and oats for next winter's use. From the latter part of May until the first of August all his spare moments should be employed. He should plant corn up to the middle of May and the balance of the time he should use in getting in just as much clover and alfalfa as he possibly can. This will make his planting season the first year five months in length. Alfalfa or clover planted about the first of June should give one cutting in the fall. Planted later than that it will furnish fall and winter pasture and give a good stand the following year. It should be understood that straight alfalfa hay is not the best food for animals. It should be mixed with oat or wheat straw to get the best results. It is always dangerous to pasture cattle upon alfalfa so long as it is of sufficient height to give them large mouthfuls. The best way to handle alfalfa for hay is to sow or cut it with straw."

"How about sowing oats with alfalfa as a nurse crop?"

"In Idaho oats sown with alfalfa do not give a nurse crop but a robber crop. The alfalfa sown with oats will not amount to much the first year. Ordinarily it will come out all right the following season. I would never advise sowing alfalfa with any grain crop. If the advice I have already given with respect to planting is followed it will not be necessary.

"I would sow all grains with a drill. Of course broadcast sowing is ideal under certain conditions. When you sow broadcast, at least half of the grain lies very near the surface. If the surface contained sufficient continuous moisture to sprout all the grain at the same time, all would be well. But in this country where the dry winds sweep the moisture from the surface, quickly, experience will show that the grain which is harrowed in deeply will come up first and that which lies near the surface will not sprout until it is irrigated. The result will be an uneven ripening period, consequent loss and a poor grade of grain. Grain sowed with a drill is planted at an even depth and will all come up together. In my opinion drill sowing is preferable under the conditions which we find here."

"Plow deeply for everything except grass. It is preferable to plow deep for grass also, but disking will do if the evenness of the ground surface will permit."

"All these questions are taken up at our farmers' meetings and I would strongly advise strangers who are in doubt as to how they should begin their work to come to these meetings and find out. We are always glad to have them attend and to assist them in every way possible. It is easy to make mistakes when you begin learning to farm by irrigation and the best way to avoid them is to come to the meetings and post up. Don't be afraid to ask questions."

Remainder of the lots will be sold by drawing, to-wit: The names will be placed in a box and at beginning of the sale a small boy will draw the names from the box. Remember that lots in Twin Falls which sold for $500 at the opening have since sold for seven times that sum.

Buhl offers an opportunity for investment which is rarely presented. Don't miss it.

Washington Gossip.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 29.—A number of railroad men have been seen on our streets the last week.

Half a dozen members of our senate Sunday in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Longworth had a "night" night. Nick is a great entertainer.

Some rowdies from the west were driven off by the marshal yesterday just as they were about to stomp the Chinese minister's house. Their excuse was that they saw several Chinamen enter the house and supposed it was a Chinese luncheon. Have a care, visitors are always welcome in Washington, but they must conduct themselves as gentlemen, no matter whether they are from New York or Kansas.

Secretary Taft had some "out-of-town" guests the other day, and he spread himself to give them a good time. And you know what it means when Mr. Taft spreads himself.

George Dewey, who was quite prominent about the time of the Spanish war, is out in an interview in an eastern paper on his birthday. George is considered quite an authority in his line.

A road story is told about one of our senators who shall be named. A guide was escorting a number of sightseers through the capital when Senator Blank was seen.

"Where," said the guide, "is Senator Blank?"

"What state does he represent?" asked one of the sightseers.

"I don't know what state he represents," replied the guide, "but he comes from New York."—Chicago Journal.

"So your engagement is broken off?" said the girl in gray.

"Yes," replied the girl in brown, frowning at the recollection.

"What was the cause?"

"He badly deceived me. You see, it was this way. I asked him once, to promise me that he would never again smoke cigarettes. He promised. Then I asked him to refrain from the use of tobacco in any form. He promised to do that. Later, I told him I had a horror of any one who touched liquor, and he agreed never to touch it. After that I suggested that I thought the clubs had a bad influence on young men and I should expect him to give them up, and he said he would. I also took up the subject of gambling, and made him promise that he would stop playing cards and betting on horses."

"Well, you didn't ask him much! I suppose he deceived you in the matter."

"Oh, no! I could have forgiven that. But just when I was congratulating myself that I at least had reformed the one young man I found that he didn't need any reforming. He positively was not addicted to any one of the bad habits I made him promise to abandon."

"He was a terrible shock, and I broke off the engagement right away. There was no longer anything in it to make it interesting!"

"How shall we spend the Sabbath?" asks Johnny Rockefeller. Well, one good way would be to spend it in handing back the money Johnny took away from the other fellows during the week.

There was a fire in the Postal Telegraph building the other day. On the floor above the Postal's offices is located the bureau of a New York newspaper, says Harper's Weekly. In this office sat a lonely journalist pounding away at the typewriter of the editorial below. To him there entered an extremely English Englishman.

"Oh, I say, old chap, I beg your pardon, don't you know," said the arrival, "but are you Mr. — (the head of the bureau?)"

"No," replied the other, "I am not," replied the subordinate politely.

"Oh, I'm very sorry, very sorry, indeed. I had something I wanted to say to him. Do you think he will be in soon?"

"Don't believe he will. Anything I can do for you?"

"Well, really, don't you know, I believe you will do as well. Might I ask your name?"

"Certainly," and the journalist gave it.

"I am Mr. Hands, correspondent of the London Daily Mail."

"Delighted to meet you, old chap. The two shook hands. Then the American said: "What can I do for you?"

"Why, it's a very small matter," said Mr. Hands. "I just came up to tell Mr. — that the building is on fire."

An Atlanta minister tells this in his own experience. He had employed as a general utility man a country negro named Jace, and found him a very satisfactory servant, except for the habit he had of asking for rather long vacations every little while. One day he came to the minister and made his last request.

"Ah, yes, Jace, I beg your pardon," he said. "Ah, but don't let me hear from you with what I'll do you in in country, any more, say. Ah, butter come home an' help pick cotton."

"Folken all you get your letter?" the minister asked.

"Yes, yes, yes," said Jace, "I had one from home yesterday in which she said that, after all, she thought she could manage the cotton and for you not to come. How about that?" asked the minister, who had a rather well-developed sense of humor, and who was a little amused.

"That so?" the man asked, in surprise. "Don Ah reckon Ah won't go."

As he was leaving the room, he turned and said:

"Mars Jace, Ah reckon Ah daughter 'less dat Ah war tellin' a lie—Ah nobber had no wife in mah life!"—Harper's Weekly.

A Griddle cow at Lawrence, Mass., has just given birth to seven calves, but a stranger still is the fact that no one thought to put the present Roosevelt—Philadelphia Telegraph.

"Mayor Two-Bits." Descants Upon Early Rising Habit. (By Mayor Two-Bits.)

Long ago some one wrote, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." The farmer is the type of man who lives exactly according to that rule. Census reports show that the farmer is not healthy.

Those old proverbial makers, overlooking the fact that the earlier catches the early bird and gets the worm, and all that, and that the dog that howls all night probably catches the cat before going to breakfast.

I remember the first time I ever tried getting up early as a regular thing. It was on a farm. We got up about 4:30 in the morning, and had done a day's work by breakfast time. By 10 a. m. I was so sleepy I was worthless. At any time during the afternoon any one could have beaten me in a bargain.

I have wondered since if I could have done as well if I had not tried to get up so early. I was so sleepy I was worthless. At any time during the afternoon any one could have beaten me in a bargain.

Reliable information regarding the city and county generally and especially concerning all communications to The News Publishing Company, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Entered as second-class matter, December 12, 1904, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under 106 Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

COUNTY DIVISION.

The welfare and development of the Twin Falls tract demand the creation of a new county which will include that portion of Cassia county west of Milner. The majority of the voters and taxpayers in the east end of the county, who hold the balance of power, are in favor of division. All they ask in return for their co-operation and support in the divorce proceedings is the assistance of the Twin Falls voters in the removal of the county seat from Albion to Burley. Without the consent of the majority in the east end county division is impossible. With their consent it is a certainty. The removal of the county seat from Albion to Burley as an accommodation to the east end is not a matter of moment to the people of Twin Falls, except that it would place the county seat of Cassia county within easier reach. Albion is not on the railroad and at times during the winter it is almost inaccessible. If the county seat is not moved this year it will remain where it is for another six years. Those who wish it moved could roll up the necessary two-thirds votes in the east end but they would have the Twin Falls tract to reckon with. The county convention will be controlled by those who want the county seat moved to Burley. They are willing to divide the county and legislative tickets with the west end, selecting a senator or representative from the east end who will be pledged to work for county division and allowing the delegates from the Twin Falls tract to name their senator or representative. They are also willing to pledge themselves not to bond the county for the cost of county buildings at Burley until after the new county has been created. It is a plain business proposition and politics should be eliminated. At the primary election the voters on the Twin Falls tract have the right granted them by law to select their legislative representative, and it is just that the east end voters should have the same right. The constitution limits the number of counties in the state and already there are movements on foot to create additional counties in excess of the constitutional limit. It is imperative that Cassia county should go before the legislature with a united front. Otherwise division will surely fail. The leaders of the majority party in the east end, those who hold the balance of power and can, if they desire, send to the legislature two members who will oppose county division, have given their pledge that the Twin Falls tract shall have an equal share of both legislative and county officers and have free rein to nominate whom they please. This leaves the field open and the way to county division unobstructed. The welfare of the Twin Falls tract should be placed above political aspirations and there should be no jangling. The way is clear and ghost dancing will only work mischief.

The news that the railway company has commenced work on the west end extension will be joyfully received by settlers in the vicinity of Buhl, many of whom were discouraged by the prospect of having to freight their goods, lumber and implements from Twin Falls. As the settlers have six months from the date of water notice in which to get on their lands, they will profit by the railway.

The illustrated edition of the Burley Bulletin, which appeared on Friday last, is the most pretentious publication of the kind ever attempted in Cassia county. The entire county is covered impartially and fully and the issue contains a wealth of hitherto unpublished information regarding this section of the state. The edition will be particularly valuable to those who are not familiar with Cassia county as Professor Barber, the editor of the Bulletin, has compiled his facts with extreme care and they are absolutely reliable. The cuts and press-work are excellent and the "make-up" creditable to the extreme.

A LETTER TO MEN AND BOYS

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, April 7, 1906.

DEAR SIR:

Today is the day we take title to the whole outfit of the WADE CLOTHING & TAILORING CO., and although this announcement is made especially to Men and Boys, we feel sure the Women folks will read the letter, too. They usually do.

We are glad to say that Mr. Wade will remain in our employ for the present; long enough, we trust, to introduce us to his many friends. It is our purpose to continue his policy of a "square deal," and we invite you to come in and get acquainted. Always room for one more around the stove.

The popular "Suit Club" will be continued, and every Saturday night some member will draw a $25 Suit in the same old way. Better put your name on the waiting list before it gets too long. When you get a Suit under the Wade system of measurement it fits. Any member can tell you that.

We now have the newest and biggest stock of our line of goods in town and mean to make it bigger. We are daily expecting a big line of Bags and Suit Cases; any price to suit your case. A lot of swell 2-piece Suits on the way.

The prices on our up-to-date line of Spring Suits run from $8 to $22—the lowest ever. Bargains in Boys' Suits, 75 cents to $4.50.

Stetson Hats in all the latest shapes.

Nice new line of Shoes just in. We are agents for the W. L. Douglass Shoe. You know what that means.

Better handle your sagebrush with Gloves. You can't afford to wear out your hands when we've 75 dozen Cotton Gloves at 3 pairs for a quarter. Or we can lay you down a nice Gauntlet at $2.00.

Quite a few Quilts and Bed Blankets remain that we will close out to make room for a new line. They are a good investment for the money, and you will need them all right when the wind whistles through the cracks of your "shack."

Very respectfully yours,

ELDRIDGE CLOTHING & TAILORING CO.

BREVITIES

James Waters of Cheney, Wash., is now a resident of Twin Falls.

Mrs. Truman O. Boyd left for Indian on Wednesday evening. She will be absent for a few weeks.

E. E. Hoston, of Blackfoot, Utah, has established residence on his farm near Filer.

J. H. Dauer of Heyburn spent several days in Twin Falls last week. Dauer contemplates opening a store at Buhl.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church will hold an Easter bazaar and a social on Wednesday, April 11, from 2 p. m. until 10 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. F. Pike. A cordial invitation is extended to the public. The next regular meeting of the society will be held at the home of Mrs. Davis on Wednesday, April 18.

M. T. Records, who left Twin Falls several months ago to visit in the northwest, has returned. During his absence Mr. Records spent some time at Hot Lake, Oregon. He also visited in Spokane and other northwestern cities. Everywhere he went he found great interest manifested in Twin Falls. The growth of the city during his absence greatly surprised him.

The Red Men will give their first annual ball at the skating rink this evening. Refreshments will be served after the dancing ceases. In other Idaho cities the Red Men are distinguished for their ability to entertain and the Twin Falls camp is certain to uphold the reputation of the order. To miss the dance this evening is to overlook a rare opportunity for enjoyment.

Hardy Bros. will open their store on the corner of Ninth and Shoshone avenues on Monday with a complete line of wallpaper, paints, oils, etc. Their stock has been carefully selected and is right up to the minute. This is the first establishment of the kind in Twin Falls, and it is in keeping with the building movement. The Hardys are experienced men and their work will soon establish their reputation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Poland have the heartfelt sympathy of a large circle of friends in the loss of their little son, Ralph Lester, who passed away last Friday. The funeral took place at the Christian church on Monday, Rev. J. H. Schenck officiating. Ralph Lester was born six years ago and was an unusually bright child. Four of his former playmates, all about 12 years of age, acted as pallbearers.

The Modern Woodmen of Twin Falls sent their team to Kimberly last Friday evening to assist the lodge in their initiation ceremony. Those who went were Messrs. Giddings, Meyer, Hainsworth, Lewis, Newberry, Koppinger, W. T. Smith, Frank Burlington, J. F. McGraw, Dr. Ross and Dr. E. K. Meadams. Burlington, Smith and Pike accompanied their husbands. A dance in honor of the visitors was given after the lodge meeting and a splendid time was enjoyed.

At a meeting of the farmers' association of Twin Falls, March 31, Ellen Nelson discussed various matters pertaining to the use of irrigation water on the farm, the right of cultivation as supplemental to irrigation and warning against the irrigation of any crop just out of the ground or while cold weather was in the air. The farmers' association was recommended for all crops at the outset, its advantages discussed and the system explained. Mr. Meyer, chairman of the committee on the proposed tree planting. He advised running water into the holes in setting the trees to settle the soil about the roots. J. A. Waters recommended that more than Rome Beauty and Winesap apples for commercial or orchard planting. He spoke of the benefits as well as the price, and though an inferior apple is nevertheless of fair quality when properly stored and not contaminated by unpleasant odors.

The wind blew great guns and the snow slanted across the range like lightning flashes on Sunday, but the disturbance did not prevent the shooting of faithful shooters from lining up at the Twin Falls Rod & Gun club traps. Targets thrown to the left were carried by the wind at such terrific speed that they could scarcely be seen through the snow. Two squads were teamed and two events contested. The first event, a 20-target handicap, resulted: George Fraser 15, H. J. Holman 16, C. L. Parsons 15, D. J. Holman 14, H. B. Johnson 14, H. F. Allen 13. Parsons and Allen struck their first in the second event at 10 target. Will Burton came in at the eleventh hour with a straight string. Score: Burton 10, Allen 9, Parsons 8, J. L. Holman 8, Johnson 8, Fraser 8, Maxwell 8. John Maxwell had a hard battle with his foreign gun, which absolutely refused to shoot. American built and practice. At 10 target, Parsons broke 47 out of 60 targets. Fraser started off like a winner and ran into a streak of 50 targets. Don Hays and Will Burton had a splendid work. Fred Harris had some trouble in heading the fast ones at first but he finished strong. There were five shells left for Don Hays and he made all of them count. Captain Holman is coaching the raw marksmen and they are all picking up nicely. Another shoot will be held on Sunday afternoon.

VALUE OF A GOOD EDUCATION MAJOR REED'S COMPLIMENTS

Computed at $10 per day to the Average School Boy.

The vital need of educated men and women in every line of work nowadays and the tremendous impetus given to it through the influence of the press has awakened young people everywhere to the necessity for thorough educational equipment. Both public and private schools all over the country are crowded, and perhaps no other school in the state has had a greater increase in attendance than the Academy of Idaho. The influence on the future is interesting to contemplate. One thing is certain, that the young man who expects to succeed in life must have at his or her command a broad training to meet the demands of an ever-ascending standard of efficiency. In connection with this it is interesting to note what the "cash value of an education" really is. One of the former school commissioners of Pennsylvania, with a penchant for reducing things to figures, has worked out the cash value of an education to a boy, in dollars and cents. His explanation of it is as follows:

"You find the value of a boy's time in school by subtracting the earnings of a life of uneducated labor from the earnings of a life of educated labor. 'If an uneducated man earns $150 a day for 300 days in the year he does very well, and if he keeps it up for 40 years he will earn $1,500,000x40, or $18,000.

An educated man is not generally paid by the day, but by the month, or by the year. If you will strike an average of the earnings of educated men, beginning with the president of the United States, who earns $50,000 a year, the presidents of insurance companies and of large railroad companies and run down the scale until you come to the lower walks of life, in point of earnings, you will admit that $1000 a year is a low average for the earnings of educated labor. For 40 years you have $40,000, and the difference, or $22,000, must represent the value of a boy's time spent in school in getting an education.

"You will admit that the man that works with his hands at unskilled labor puts forth as much effort as the man who earns his livelihood by his wife and education. Now, if $22,000 represents the value of the time that a boy spends in school in getting an education, what is the value of a day spent in school? The average school life of every boy and girl in the United States is seven years of 200 days each. Let us say that it takes four years more to get a good education. Reckoning 11 years of 200 days each you will find that the 2200 days at school are equal to $22,000, and a simple division on the blackboard will bring it home to the comprehension of every boy that every day at school properly spent, must be worth $10.

These figures represent merely the "dollars and cents" part of the proposition—the money earning capacity of the educated person. No estimate could be placed on the satisfaction that comes to the individual from the increased power an education gives, the happiness it brings to him, the broadness of his scope of mental vision, his powers of enlightenment of others, the enjoyment he gives to others, the good the educated man brings the commonwealth—all these advantages cannot be estimated in money, but they are priceless in value nevertheless.

The Academy of Idaho at Pocatello offers unequalled facilities for a thorough preparation for business or college. Most of the courses require four years work upon the part of the students. The college preparatory course admits students to most of the colleges throughout the country. The course in commerce, requiring four years' work, thoroughly equips the student for a business career, or to apply business principles in the conduct of his professional work. The course in domestic science includes besides the technical studies a very comprehensive course in cultural studies. The work in mechanic arts fits students for entrance to schools of technology, or enables them to do practical work if they are not able to pursue their studies further. The course in shorthand and typewriting may be completed in two years, and besides the technical subjects, requires a very broad training in English, composition, commercial law, etc.

Whitlaw Reid, in speaking of Horace Greeley, said that the day after Greeley's leaving his office he put a card in the door reading: "Will return at 3 o'clock." Happening to return at 1:30 o'clock, and seeing the sign, he sat down in the hall and waited for himself till 3 o'clock.

To the Dilatory and Vacillating Reclamation Service.

"Yes, I seem to have matched a fight against the whole reclamation service with the entire press bureau at once. I have been indicted by the grand jury of the Capital News Reporter, but as it is a fight in the interest of a large number of American citizens, who have been misled by the representation of the American government, I shall continue the fight until something is accomplished. For there is right in my side in the controversy. 'That tract of country embraced in the Mindoka project consists of upwards of 125,000 acres of land, through which Snake river runs. All this was first withdrawn from entry when the project was first proposed. Private parties wanted to irrigate the land, but the reclamation service took it away from them and advertised to the world what it was going to do. They have opened the country to settlement and the people accepted—the invitation of the government and went in there, taking in the farm units of 80 acres each, with the understanding that the lands on the north side of the river were to be watered by the gravity system, while those on the south side, except about 10,000 acres, were to be supplied through a pumping system. The great engineers of the great government represented that the plan was feasible and that the work would be done, and $1,500,000 was set aside for this purpose.

"After the settlers had taken the lands and made improvements, spending all their money, ranging from $600 to $1000 each, they are suddenly informed that the reclamation engineers have changed their plans, and that these 'foolish settlers' can have no water for many years, if ever.

"Because I didn't suppose that such a lunge game on the part of the reclamation service, and have endeavored to do something in the interests of the farmers who endeavor to have faith in the government project, Mr. Newell and his press bureau accuse me of trying to use this means of blowing a town for the purpose of selling town lots.

"This is about as logical an argument as the head of the reclamation service is capable of making. Most men would refrain from publishing statements that the settlers surrounding their town were to fall through the action of the government in failing to carry out its agreement with them, until they could dispose of their holdings. We secured the Burley townsite on some patented lands, and are making a town there regardless of the government water. We are preparing to water the town through a pumping plant, a large carbide factory is being established that will give employment to a great many men; a railroad is to be built this season from Burley to the county seat at Albion; the Short Line engineers are surveying the new cut-off to Malad, which will shorten the distance to Salt Lake 72 miles. These and other projected enterprises will make the city, regardless of what the government does, and the town, which is now only second to Twin Falls, will take care of itself.

"Neither I nor any of my kindred have any claims on the lands which the reclamation service have robbed of the water promised when the settlers were invited to go there, so they can not say that this is a personal fight. It is one of principle. In the interests of the settlers who have been betrayed by the officers of the government which they have been raised to believe in.

"The reclamation service, located three towns east of the north side of the river, which will be built, soon time. That we presumed to go into a decided land and start a town outside of their jurisdiction seemed to have brought down their wrath, but that can't be helped.

"A clerical from the general land office of January 25 states that all of the entries in the Mindoka project have been settled upon by bona fide settlers, but half of these can receive no water within any reasonable time, nor will the reclamation service give any information on the subject. In fact, if anyone has ever received the first bit of reliable information of any kind from the reclamation service, that fact has escaped me. All that I have ever heard of their accomplishments has been in the way of bankruptcies, blue prints and bull con. They have never reclaimed an acre of land, and there is no telling whether or not they eventually will. The department has been placed in the hands of men who are competent to make practical plans and carry them out in a practical way. If this can be brought about, the deserving settlers who no longer are misled into sacrificing all that they have in their efforts to secure homes, and we will all see some good results from the efforts I am making against the unbusinesslike, over-theoretical methods so far pursued."—Hulse Capital News.

I, Arthur T. Darby of Twin Falls, Idaho, who made entry No. 461, under the provisions of an act of the legislature of the state of Idaho, commonly known as the "Carey act," approved March 2, 1899, which embraces the SW¹/₄ of section 17 E., B. M., do hereby give notice of my intention to make final proof to establish my claim to the land above described, and that I expect to prove that I have resided on, reclaimed and cultivated said land as required by law, before C. D. Thomas, representative of the State Land Board at Twin Falls, Idaho, on April 28, 1906, by two of the following witnesses: W. B. Doran, S. B. Camp, C. A. Camp, C. W. Mann, all of Twin Falls.

BULLDOG WORRIED THE MAJOR

Belligerent Canine, Fracturing a Warm Friendship.

Dr. Messing, physician, boxing devotee and admirer of canines, came down Clark street, towing a burly bulldog, which was being exercised, with the world and all upon its vast circumference.

English Woolman, millinery officer, before him, came, accompanied by a plumed and martial mustachio, came upon the street and greetings were exchanged.

"Captain," quoth the doctor, "I have some business in this building and the dog has been riding in elevators. Would you mind holding him till I come down?"

"Why, with pleasure," said the owner of the dog, "I'll take good care of him."

The dog vanished and the captain, looking over to the curb, stood holding the bull pup with one hand and twisting that dear mustache with the other. A moment later a portly man in a dark coat, halted at the captain's side.

"Fine dog."

"Yes."

"Watch him for him?"

"Not for sale."

"Then watch him for him?"

The captain gave the full-sized one a martial glance and he faded into the distance. As he went a fat woman stopped in front of the dog.

"Isn't he just too lovely? Does this man want to sell him?"

"Yes, justissima to death."

The dog growled and sprang, and the captain huddled in on the chain.

"In time to have the fat woman's life."

A tall, thin man with a somewhat ungainly figure patted the dog's thin neck.

"Give you $25 for him."

"He isn't my dog."

"Oh, I see. The owner sells you."

The captain fumbled madly for his sword, but the tall man was on his way.

"What's the price?" This from a man with a red beard.

The captain froze him—or tried to—with an lex stare.

"For a man for the dog, not for you."

"To thousand dollars," roared the captain.

"Give you 75 cents."

The captain swung, but the red beard was not to be taken.

A group of brilliantly attired women flung up their hats.

"Isn't that a shame, Maude?"

"To sell, dear! A handsome, distinguished looking gentleman reduced to having to act as groom for a dog."

"What a funny uniform."

"The dog is a real beauty. He is a dog, and the women departed. Two minutes later the dog tried to eat a policeman, and the officer said some words to the dog, and the dog said a white-matter having no business on the streets. Then the dog tried to start a fight with another dog out in the street.

The dog said three times round the captain's shins.

By this time a large and critical crowd had gathered, and the dog had something new and original to say. And just as the captain was whirling the seven-foot of wooden fence for the dog, the dog appeared.

"So glad you held him for me, captain," said the doctor, "he does hate to ride in the elevators."

"I said the dog."

The doctor looked surprised.

"Whatever's Right"

APPROVES GOVERNOR'S COURSE

Colonel S. E. Meyer Talks of the Steunenberg Case.

Colonel S. E. Meyer of Boise was a guest at the Perrine on Tuesday. Colonel Meyer is a member of the Falk Mercantile company and his business takes him all over the state.

"Are you never going to have a setback in 'Twin Falls'?" asked the colonel. "It is only three weeks since my last visit and I'll swear I counted a dozen new business buildings on my way up from the depot. There is no use talking, this country has the backing. You have the right kind of farmers and the right kind of business men."

"How have you found prevailing sentiment with regard to the arrest and detention of Meyer, Haywood and Pettibone?" the colonel was asked.

"In every community I have found a spirit of fairness. There are a few radicals, of course, who seem to think that the Idaho authorities had no right to apprehend these men. These radicals have no regard whatever for the evidence in the possession of the authorities. They seem to think that Meyer, Haywood and Pettibone should be in hiding with Stumpkins. The masses are right behind Governor Gooding and I find that the course he has pursued has met with universal approval. Occasionally I meet a man who for personal or political reasons allows his better judgment to be warped but these are few. The overwhelming majority approve of the governor's actions. In fact I have met a great many who were formerly opposed to the governor politically but are now openly endorsing him because of the sagacity, energy and fairness he has shown in the Steunenberg case and the administration of state affairs. I have always noticed that politics govern sentiment to a large extent but in this instance sentiment seems to overshadow politics. I was always a Democrat but I voted for Governor Gooding and I am proud of the fact. I hope I will have an opportunity to vote for him again. Like many other have a high regard. Like many other former Democrats, I frankly admit that Governor Gooding is filling his office with great credit to himself and the state. All this graft talk we always hear. It was the same when Hunt was governor and I voted for Hunt. We heard it during the Morrison administration and what did it amount to? It is a case of the out and the in, that's all. See how the fuss about timber sale up north has fizzled out. The governor is doing the right thing and the people are with him. The Steunenberg case is by far the most important in the criminal history of America in many decades and I am convinced that it is being conducted fairly, intelligently and vigorously. Governor Gooding is an aggressive and vigorous man. When he sets out to do anything he stays with it. He is just and honorable and from what I have observed in my travels he has the support of the masses in his trying position."

EXPERIENCE IN BEET GROWING

Fremont County Farmer Tells How He Has Succeeded.

In view of the peculiar adaptability of the Twin Falls tract to the growth of sugar beets, the following letter, which relates the experience of C. W. Rockwood of Iona, Fremont county, is worthy of careful perusal:

Possibly a few words of encouragement to some who look with distrust upon the growing of sugar beets might not be amiss at this time.

I first became interested in trying to establish this industry in this valley through Mr. Tresco, who with others visited our village with the Son-Hansen contract.

The possibilities of the industry were forebly brought out by Mr. Tresco and co-workers, so much so that I contracted to grow beets, under this contract, with a haul of eight miles looking me in the face, and further offered to furnish, for a period of five years, 10 acres of good land to anyone, free of cost, who would grow that amount of beets for five years. Later, when the proposition came closer home, I contracted for 40 acres, and when the proposition was made to build the factory I made an additional contract for one year of 18 acres.

The 18 acres in 1903 averaged 14 1/2 tons per acre. In 1904 I planted 26 acres, a part of which was on the same ground, and averaged 18 tons, and after paying all my labor, which included seed, planting, plowing, cultivating, water hauling and Japanese labor, it netted me $1 per acre, and was after paying the hand labor (having done the rest ourselves) twice the money we took from 95 acres of other crops. From 29 acres in 1905 I delivered over 70 tons, and received after paying $780 for hand labor, $2380.

This crop of beets, together with 90 tons of hay and 1400 bushels of grain, was taken care of by 18 young men, with an additional man to plow the beets and pile the tops at time of digging. The beet tops for sheep feed were fully worth what it cost to plow them.

For the planting of 1906 I have 50 acres prepared, and I see no reason why my crop should not be fully up to any I have raised. These results have not been obtained by sitting gently down and growing at the sugar company, nor trying to convince my neighbors that there is nothing in raising beets at $1.50 per ton. But I have bought what manure I could from the other fellow, fed what hay I could raise, and plowed the second crop of alfalfa under. Or better still, plow the first crop under, and call it summer fallow.

The first year's experience in Iona was not altogether the success we had anticipated. About half of our farmers made money out of their beets. Of the rest, some came out even, and got nothing for the use of their land; and yet a few lost money. The second year we profited by the experience of the first year, and our contracts are out we will bury the factory in beets and beet contracts will be at a premium. Since the advent of the factory our farms have doubled, and in many instances tripled in value. Many who were borrowers have become lenders. Beautiful homes are being built, and farms are putting on tidy and prosperous appearances. Our farmers are doing a large and increasing business, and we are looking to our beets as our cash crop. And others have become beet raisers. For instance, one of seven farmers in Iona who are not growing beets. What can be done here can be done in every town in the Snake river valley, for what village would be willing to say: "Our land is not so good as our neighbors."

Vegetable Beautifiers.

For many hundred years the products of flowers and plants have been used in the toilet, and perhaps nothing yet has been found that is superior for the purpose. Benzoin, our common spice wood, is nature's beautifier, and has no superior as a cosmetic. It is used in a great many perfumes, and is said to be the article that Cleopatra used.

Cucumber is another natural cosmetic. Every pool should be saved, and boiled, and the water used as toilet water. A slice of cucumber rubbed upon the face cleanses and clears the skin.

The advantage of rose water and violet water are well known to the trade. All are produced from flowers. Elder flower water is famous for its cooling properties, and is an exquisite wash. Lemon juice cures tan and freckles. Watermelon juice makes a refreshing wash. Lavender is not a cosmetic, yet a few drops in the toilet water are refreshing, while lavender is a most "cleansing" agent and keeps clothes or linen in a state of freshness. All spices purify and cool the air. It is a well known hygienic fact that where spices and perfumes are numerous, epidemics are not common. A room perfumed with spices and eucalyptus remains cool in hottest weather. The best antiseptic in the world is musk—the real musk. Myrrh is a good dentifrice, and is of great value in fatigue and exhaustion. M. D. S. Charles in the Journal of Agriculture.

The Moral Wave.

What is called the "great moral wave" that is rolling over the country is simply the result of education, because its scope includes everything. Back to the days of the slavery, the blacks it was considered worse than criminal to teach a "nigger" anything that would cause him to think for himself, as knowledge is a foe to slavery.

The same principle applies to the farmer. Ignorance makes him a slave. The bought-and-sold-kind—but of the thinking kind. The noblest occupation on earth and the only one that can sustain its life is held in bondage. It was not always so, but a gradual assimilation of knowledge by the holding of knowledge by a self-constituted upper class, and a yielding, patient spirit that always comes to those who are closest to the heart of the great Mother Nature brought it about.

It will require no great rebellion to rid the earth of this bondage, for the seed has long been planted, has germinated, and is sprouting. It is springing into a vigorous plant under the steady showers of knowledge that will soon grow strong enough to claim its true place in earth. The farming element will never be a menace, only to oppression. This awakening, these spring showers of knowledge that are sweeping over the land, is giving us breath. We already realize that we are robbers, and are beginning to make restitution to mother earth. We soon will realize that we are being systematically robbed and the remedy is in our own hands, but we are beginning at the wrong end of the row, by fighting the great corporations on general principles, instead of enlisting them. It would be no great presumption to say this fight was instituted by the corporations themselves to encourage the ignorance—these selfish, perpetuated, for organization and incorporation is the true base for economical production and distribution. The great institutions of the country were not organized with robbery intent. They simply take what we hold out to them. We have held out too much, and must make a few demands. The persistent clamor of a few brought the rural delivery of the mails. The strong demand of the many will bring the parcels post. The expressed wish of the entire farming class will bring any needed reform or correct any existing abuse of power. We don't need a close organization. We must have a vastness of purpose, breadth of conception and depth of knowledge. Then we will be together on all important questions, and for the balance of our lives, which our calling eminently fits us to hold, and even handed justice will be meted to all—Old Farmer in Indiana Farmer.

Tongue Twisters.

Some elocutionist has made a collection of more than 200 "tongue-twisters." Here are a few of them:

"A growing green glowing green." "The black breeze blighted the bright brown blossom."

"Flesh-of-freely dried-flying fish." "Six thick thistle sticks." "Explosion tried to try to Tedbury."

"Give Grimes Jim's great gilt-gilt whip." "Strick, strong Stephen Stringer snarled stately stately stately stately."

"She stood at the door of Mrs. Smith's fish sash shop welcoming him in." The first three are the gems of the collection. It is said to be impossible for any one to repeat them rapidly.

"The impudence of that young brother of mine!" exclaimed Mrs. Nugget. "He just told me I was no chicken when I married you."

"Well," replied her unsympathetic husband, "that's true enough. You weren't a chicken, were you?" "No, I was a goose."—Philadelphia Catholic Standard.
