EARTHQUAKE DESTROYS CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO

Hundreds of People Killed—Thousands of Homeless Are Now Threatened With Death by Starvation and Exposure—Entire City Consumed by Fire, Which Followed Shocks—Residences Now Being Destroyed by Artillery to Check Flames.

Hundreds of people were killed, thousands were injured and the city of San Francisco was laid in ruins by an earthquake shock which shook the California coast on Wednesday morning. Fire broke out on all sides after the earthquake and as the water mains were destroyed the flames could only be checked by the use of dynamite. The entire business portion of the city and the greater portion of the residence districts were devastated. People, scantily clad, fled to the hills and panic prevailed. Federal troops were placed in control and looters were shot down without mercy. Fires are still raging in different parts of the city. The number of dead is unknown but several hundred bodies have been recovered and many more were consumed in the flames. At daybreak this morning the artillery batteries were shelling the palaces on Nob Hill on an effort to check the flames. Fires are still raging despite all efforts to control them. Thousands of people slept on the hills last night and the suffering is intense. Food and water are not to be had and help is urgently needed. Supplies are being rushed in but it is feared that great loss of life will be caused by exposure and hunger. The earthquake occurred at 5 o'clock on Wednesday morning. It was general all along the coast, Los Angeles being the only city to escape serious damage. Stanford university was practically demolished and one student was killed. The University of California also suffered the loss of several buildings which are deemed unsafe. At Ballinas damage amounting to $5,000,000 was wrought. The big Breckels sugar factory, costing $1,500,000, was completely destroyed. Word from Santa Rosa is to the effect that the city has been ruined and between 200 and 300 people killed. The state hospital at Milpitas was wrecked and Dr. Kelly, the superintendent, killed. The Moreland academy at Watsonville was destroyed by fire and several buildings collapsed at that point. Shocks were felt at Monterey and Pacific Grove. At Monterey three chimeys of the Hotel Del Monte fell through the roof, killing a bride and groom and one of the domestics. At Hollister the Grangers' union warehouse was destroyed; a Mrs. Griffith was killed and her husband went insane from the shock. The state insane asylum at Agnew crumbled to ruins. Many inmates were killed and others are in large

The superintendent and his wife were killed. Ruin in San Francisco. The famous Cliff house was tossed into the ocean and not a vestige of it or the Sutro baths remains. Although it withstood the earthquake, the Palace hotel was destroyed by fire. Flames consumed the Call, Chronicle and Examiner buildings. The three papers are getting out a joint issue in Oakland. The city hall, a structure which cost $7,000,000, is a total loss. The first shocks wrecked the new postoffice and the county building. All the big department stores on Market street were ruined. The offices of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies and the Sunset Telephone company were blown up by dynamite in an effort to check the flames. Martial law has been declared and General Funsten is in command. No passengers are permitted to land in San Francisco. The earthquakes opened great fissures in the principal streets of the city. Street car tracks were twisted and demolished and traffic suspended. Long sections of the Southern Pacific tracks north and south of San Francisco disappeared completely. Communication is maintained principally by means of automobiles. Chief Sullivan of the San Francisco fire department was killed by the falling of an engine house. The Grand opera house, in which the Metropolitan opera company of New York had just opened an engagement, was destroyed and all the costly scenery and costumes burned.

NEW ARRIVALS AT MURTAUGH

Farming Operations Are in Full Blast in District.

MURTAUGH, April 18.—S. J. Heckman and family of Michigan Valley, Kansas, are here visiting J. E. Stegour and wife. They expect to spend the summer here for their health. Mrs. Ida Stephenson has her goods in hand will move her store ready for business in a few days. Mr. Pratt of Kansas was visiting W. F. Jacks last week. He speaks highly of the country. The farmers are pushing their work very rapidly. Some are seeding, plowing, clearing, etc. Mr. Nelson, of the department of Irrigation investigation, gave a very profitable talk at the last farmers' meeting. J. I. Tolman brought his wife and child into the district last week. Robert M. Russell, who had been visiting in the east since Christmas, came back last week. In comparison he chose Murtaugh and her people.

GOOD PRICES FOR STATE LAND

Tract Four Miles from City Sells for $50.50 per Acre.

The auction sale of state land on Monday last, drew a large crowd and without any less acres were disposed of, the prices were very satisfactory. The apparent absence of information regarding the quality of the land accounted for the lack of bids. Prospective buyers found it impossible to examine tracts located some distance from the city, consequently they hesitated to bid.

The top price was paid by Senator A. Page of Warden for 80 acres in section 36, township 9, range 16, for which he paid $50.50 an acre. Mr. Sage bought the entire section, paying $18,120. P. J. Holohan and John Graf purchased 80 acres in section 36, township 9, range 15, for $34.30, and Mr. Ferguson secured section 36, township 10, range 13, for $35.50 an acre. The total amount realized from the sale was $74,080, of which $11,930.40 was cash.

BREVITIES FROM CLEAR LAKE

Survey Work in Progress at the Power Plant There.

CLEAR LAKE, April 18.—A pleasant shower on Monday evening settled the dust and cleared the atmosphere, besides aiding the crops.

George M. Lamb has returned from Ogden. He came by way of Twin Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs of Warm Creek spent Sunday with the mother of Mr. Briggs at Clear Lake.

Charles Dilatush and other members of the power company are busy supervising at their plant in the valley.

J. H. Howe and Miss Alma Anderson of Abney were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Snodgrass on Sunday.

A. G. Madonia made a trip to Heppington on Monday for a shipment of fruit trees which he will set out on his ranch.

Mrs. S. L. Wilson and daughters of Clark's grade visited friends in the valley this week.

Henry Christwell, who owns the Hot Spring ranch, intends to try potatoes this year in preference to other vegetables. He expects an early crop.

A number of people from this section attended the Buhl opening on Tuesday.

MEETING OF MEDICAL SOCIETY

Occurred Yesterday and Proved Enjoyable and Interesting.

The meeting of the South Idaho District Medical society, which occurred in Craven hall yesterday, was well attended and exceedingly profitable. As is frequently the case, it was impossible for many of the physicians to leave their practice, particularly at this time of year. The need of organization, however, is becoming more apparent to the profession and the strides in that direction are growing longer.

After the routine portion of the program had been disposed of, Dr. E. E. Maxey of Boise read an exceptionally able paper on "The Surgical Treatment of Chronic Dyspepsia and Associated Conditions of the Symptom Complex of the Upper Abdomen," which had been prepared with care and excellent judgment by his associate, Dr. L. P. McCalla of Boise.

Dr. A. F. O. Nielson of Oakley contributed a paper of unusual merit upon "Six Cases of Appendicitis—Three Treated Medically and Three Treated Surgically." This paper was widely and profitably discussed.

"Addison's Disease, with Case Report," by Dr. W. F. Pike of Twin Falls, aroused much interest and showed thoughtful and intelligent preparation.

Dr. Clouchek's paper on "Tuberculosis—Clinical History, Diagnosis and Prognosis," engrossed the close attention of the members and contained much valuable information.

The discussion was informal and lacked that tenacity so fatal to interest.

Dr. Maxey's paper on "Some of the Advantages of Medical Organization" was read at the "smoker" in the evening and proved quite as interesting to the laymen as it did to the physicians. The need of thorough organization for public as well as professional welfare was clearly brought out by Dr. Maxey and he was enthusiastically applauded at the conclusion of the reading. A good campaign on the lines traced by Dr. Maxey would work untold benefit to the public.

At the terms of all officers expired with this meeting, new officers were elected as follows:

President—E. W. Kleinman, M. D., Shoshone.

Vice President—F. W. Pike, M. D., Twin Falls.

Secretary-Treasurer—J. M. Taylor, M. D., Boise.

The executive board will consist of the officers named, together with Dr. Kellogg of Nampa and Dr. Gue of Caldwell. The next meeting will be held in Nampa.

In the evening the physicians were the guests of the Commercial club at Craven hall. Dr. Boyd acted as toastmaster. Brief addresses were made by G. B. Fraser, M. J. Sweeley, F. H. Eastman, C. D. Thomas, Dr. Kleinman and Mr. Peeney. The doctors declared that Twin Falls was the busiest and healthiest place they had ever seen.

BUHL PROPERTY VALUES DOUBLE IN THREE DAYS

Business Lots Already Selling for Twice Their Appraised Value—Five Hundred Men Attend Opening—Dean Perkins of Boise Draws No. 1 and Selects Two Choice Lots for Which He Refuses Big Bonus—Double Prices for Auctioned Lots.

The Buhl townsite opening was swift, spirited and spectacular. It commenced to simmer on Monday afternoon when teams could not be engaged for love or money and seats in westbound vehicles were at a premium. The finish came on Tuesday evening when load after load of dusty men came back to Twin Falls and rushed for the nearest bait.

At Buhl interest centered around the Hinkley hotel and the new Hotel Buhl. In the vicinity of the Hinkley house no less than 100 vehicles stood while horses were tied to everything to which a rope could be fastened. All eyes were turned on the dining room. Groups of men gathered about the blue prints of the townsite on the wall in the office and expressed their opinions as to which way the town was going to build. Similar scenes were enacted in the postoffice where Postmaster Eickhoff stood a constant fire of questions regarding the "lay" of the townsite. Every few minutes some one would call the postmaster aside and begin to whisper. The others would begin to smile and the postmaster would shake his head and point to the blue print.

Down the hill at the new hotel were crowds of men who spent their time walking from the blue prints in the office to the platform outside. Everybody had a theory as to which way the town would build up and in the hand of every man was a little slip of paper marked with "choices."

"Now, if I get a good number, I'm going to take this lot right here," was a common remark.

"Shucks, man, that ain't the way it's going at all. Now let me show you," and away they would rush to the map again.

Shortly after daybreak on Tuesday morning clouds of dust began to show on the eastern horizon. They came in like breakers and each one brought a vehicle. On the eastern end of the townsite at the end of Main street the wagons halted and the horses were unharnessed. A centee carrying a good flow of water flowed northward along the townsite and the steaming horses buried their muzzles in the stream regardless of the muddy character of the water.

Everybody headed for the new hotel. There was no other place to go. It was the spot where "inside information" lurked and all prospective investors were looking for that.

About 10 o'clock in the morning the applicants for lots began to fill on their tickets and put them in the drawing box. A line was formed and as each wagon arrived the line grew longer. The dinner hour passed with the line extending around the room but by 1 o'clock the stream of arrivals had ceased and a few minutes later the last ticket was in the box and the slot was sealed with wax. There were about 800 tickets in all, perhaps more, as all of them were not drawn.

The opening commenced with the auction sale of a lot on the south corner of Main and Broadway. This lot was appraised at $800 and it was purchased by R. E. Beach of Lewiston for exactly twice that sum. The bidding was fast and several bids were made on the selling price, most of them being that it would not be in excess of $1500.

The second of the two lots auctioned is located on the north corner of Main and Broadway, next to the postoffice site. It was bought by C. S. Peck of Okmulgee, Indian Territory, for $1650.

The drawing took place from a platform erected in front of the hotel, a small boy drawing the numbers from the boxes.

Dean Perkins of Boise drew the first number and selected a lot adjacent to that purchased by Mr. Peck. This lot was appraised at $600 and Mr. Perkins declined double that amount for his purchase. Mr. Perkins also selected a lot next to the hotel on Broadway, on which he also doubled his money.

T. J. Woods secured a low number and selected two lots which have since doubled in value.

Charley Waller also got in early and made a choice selection.

Since the opening there has been a steady demand for Buhl lots and the sales now exceed $100,000. The business lots have practically doubled in price, many of them having changed hands at advances of $250 and $300.

The Buhl postoffice is being moved to Main street, opposite the hotel, and several buildings are in course of construction. Building operations will not commence in earnest, however, until the railroad reaches the town as freighting from Twin Falls is too expensive at present.

Work on the Buhl waterworks is progressing rapidly and the works will be finished before the advent of the fall flood.

The company has withdrawn from the market all lots south of the railway tracks and will build a two-story brick office building on Broadway two blocks up from the hotel.

First Showing of New Spring Goods

It is as easy, in fact as natural, for a scribe when he sits down to write an advertisement to boom his goods as if he for a district attorney to hammer away at the accused, whether guilty or not. An announcement that we are going to do this or that, or that we will show you the finest goods in the world, is almost natural.

You expect us to say that.

But, we want you to come in and tell us whether or not this is the swellest line of popular priced spring dress goods and shirtwaists ever seen here. We want everyone in Twin Falls and vicinity to come in and see. We want them to act as the jury, as they are the best judges.

While we are only showing goods for early spring dresses and waists this week, yet, the first shipment of the latter material for spring and summer has arrived, and if you are thinking of making up a dress for later wear, just ask our sales people to show you.

Now, please, in justice to yourselves and ourselves, do not send away for goods until you see our line. Throw prejudice aside. Do not stay with the idea that when your dress comes from Salt Lake or Chicago it is better or cheaper. Come and investigate, allow your judgment, not prejudice, to guide you.

It is a known fact in the mercantile world that interior stores sell goods cheaper than the big city stores, the only drawback for country stores being that they cannot get the newest styles. We have overcome that obstacle by having a buyer in the eastern market who is on the spot the moment new styles are shown.

My grocery stock is fresh and well selected on the theory that the people of Twin Falls want the best of everything. The best in the market is the rule.

DENATURIZED ALCOHOL IS NOW A POPULAR FAD

Legislation Permitting Its Manufacture Without Heavy Excise Duty—Claims Advanced That It Will Supersede Gasoline for Power Purposes, Being Cheaper, Safer and More Effective—Can Be Manufactured from What is Practically Farm Refuse.

Denaturized alcohol is now attracting more attention than Standard oil. From the latter made on the denaturized alcohol bill which passed the house of representatives a few days ago it might be supposed that a giant force for good which had slumbered for years at the doors of the farmers had just been discovered. Unquestionably denaturized alcohol, or alcohol which has been rendered unfit for drinking, can be manufactured at very small cost and can be put to a variety of uses. Present indications are that the bill which will permit of the manufacture of denaturized alcohol without the excise duty imposed upon other alcohols will become a law and the denaturized product will be manufactured extensively and used universally. It is contended that denaturized alcohol will supersede gasoline for power purposes, being much cheaper, more effective and less dangerous. Representations have been made that the alcohol will be made by the farmers, principally, and also utilized by them with great profit. The utility of the product remains to be demonstrated.

The following paper by C. J. Zintbo, of the United States department of agriculture, explains in detail the uses of the product.

The object of this article is not to argue the consumption of alcohol as a beverage, but to find channels other than a digestive one, for its employment. Alcohol is not a food, but a stimulant, and it has been proved that it can rival gas, acetylene and electricity for lighting and domestic uses. That which causes a danger to mankind, but which is perfectly well with the internal organization of stoves, lamps and motors. Ethyl alcohol, which forms the basis of fermented liquors, is the oldest and best known of the whole group of alcohols and is generally designated by the simple name, alcohol.

It is the production of alcohol which Science enables us to employ an inexhaustible series of products of the soil, and has created a new source of riches for the agriculturist. The alcohol-er of two classes—those containing starch and those containing sugar. In the first class are wheat, rye and wheat. In the second class are sugar beets and molasses from sugar beets and cane sugar. The manufacture of alcohol since the eighteenth century, and in many parts of Europe it constitutes the most important raw material for its production. Experiments to produce vigorous potatoes from seed and secure a high percentage of starch, which is of the highest importance for the manufacture of alcohol, have met with very good success. Diseased potatoes, except when attacked by dry rot, can be advantageously used for the manufacture of alcohol, because the chemical changes produced by the disease extend more to the skin and less to the starch.

Corn is extensively used for distilling purposes in the United States, Hungary and Italy. It contains 59 to 75 per cent of starch, in addition to about 15 per cent of gluten. By breeding and selection, the amount of starch in corn can be largely increased, thus making it an ideal cereal for industrial purposes. Barley, rye, oats, wheat and rice contain from 42 to 78 per cent of starch, which, when used for the manufacture of alcohol, are valuable materials for the manufacture of alcohol.

In the manufacture of alcohol from sugar beets, the yield depends solely on the percentage of sugar. The residue of the beet, after the distilling purposes is not of importance, and beets which cannot be advantageously worked for sugar may be practically utilized for alcohol.

Molasses, which remains as a residue in the manufacture of sugar, is utilized for the manufacture of alcohol. The percentage of sugar in molasses is about 50 per cent. Of the raw materials containing sugar, which can be utilized in the manufacture of alcohol, are molasses, sugar beets, sugar cane stalks and corn stalks. The denaturization of alcohol is accomplished by mixing with the alcohol a small proportion of repugnant ingredients, which, while not interfering its efficiency for technical uses, render it unfit for consumption and sale as a beverage. The substances employed depend upon the use to which the alcohol is to be subsequently applied. They include pyraline, wood alcohol, gasoline and acetone oil (derived from the grease of the wool of sheep), as well as other similar products.

...which is not found in Germany, and the supply of which may in case of war be wholly cut off. But the various many plants of hordeum, and central Germany produce in ordinary years cheap and abundant crops of potatoes, from which is easily manufactured by process—so simple as to be within the reach of every farmer, a vast quantity of raw alcohol. Under these conditions, "spirits," as it is known in Germany, because one of the principal and important products of agriculture, and every effort has been made by the imperial and state governments to promote and extend its use for domestic and industrial purposes. A law was passed in Germany which maintains a very high tax on alcohol intended for drinking, but exempts from taxation such alcohols as are denatured and used for industrial purposes. Since the passage of the above law, inventors and scientists have been busy in the improvement of processes for the manufacture of distilleries. Now perfected motors, lamps and cooking and heating apparatus have been devised and put to use, until alcohol is becoming one of the most widely utilized products of German industry.

For lighting purposes, as alcohol gas, in a lamp, and in a gas engine, alcohol is used similar to the Welsbach burner, which produces a very bright, intense and economical light, costing but one cent per burner per hour for 75 candle-power. For the production of heat generally it is simply perfection, and nothing has yet been found to equal ethyl alcohol for this purpose, owing to the fact that it produces perfect and complete combustion.

Alcohol made repugnant to the taste by being used as an incandescent light, instead of being drunk, it is burned. It propels the farm motor, the automobile and the launch, and to single fact obtaining industrialization permits each private citizen to light his farm or factory, to heat his home, to farm work, or transport himself. One of the neatest of the many uses of alcohol in Germany is an alcohol flatiron with a small reservoir, which being filled with alcohol and lit, heats the iron for the hours' work, at a cost of one cent per hour. The cleanliness and economy of these flatirons to the housekeeper, are obvious. For farm motors alcohol is a perfect fuel because of its complete combustion, the absence of its noxious odors, its uniform quality and its unlimited and universal sources. While it is true that the heat of combustion of alcohol is not as high as that of kerosene, yet twice as large a percentage of heat can be converted into useful work in an engine, and it is not only for power, alcohol is an efficient as gasoline.

Only slight modifications of gasoline engines adapt them to the use of alcohol—a fact which is of much importance, since an engine to be efficient and practical for general use must not be too highly specialized. Because of the great elasticity of the charge at ignition, the efficiency of an alcohol engine to be most efficient might be about double the bore of the cylinder. A high compression and comparatively cool mixture should be attained, and a good spark, complete vaporization and a complete mixture of the charge are essential. Alcohol of 90 per cent strength with 10 per cent of water is usually employed. Whenever small engines can be used and a power safe in any respect is of value, the alcohol motor can be advantageously employed. It spread during the few years of its existence in Europe has attained quite unexpected proportions and will doubtless continue. Since 1886, the law in Belgium has exempted from taxation alcohol for industrial purposes. Since that time this law has been extended to France, Austria, Hungary, Belgium, Italy and Russia.

Special documents show that in the United States alcohol was used for lighting, cooking and industrial purposes in the early sixties. Before the war of secession, the manufacture of spirits was free from all special taxes and supervision, and on the part of the Union as on the part of the states which composed it. It resulted from this freedom that alcohol served a large number of industrial uses. The production was enormous, amounting to 30,000,000 gallons, coming especially from the distillation of corn. For lighting purposes enormous quantities were employed. In 1864 the city of Cincinnati alone utilized 12,000 bushels of corn per day for distillation. The use of low price alcohol was also used as fuel for domestic kitchen, for bath and laundry. Denaturized alcohol has been produced in Germany chiefly from potatoes, and sold for 12 cents per gallon. It is stated in the March number of Power, 1901, that a New York distiller produced alcohol at a cost of eight cents per gallon. The distiller in New York in earliest days at 2.25. The price is $2.08 per gallon, which would leave 18 cents to cover cost of production, and 12 cents for profit. Distillers claim that from 10-cent corn alcohol can be manufactured for 12 1/2 cents per gallon of 91 per cent strength. In Cuba, Peru, Brazil and other sugar producing countries, alcoholic manufactured from the waste products, and hence very cheaply produced. The present price in Cuba is about 10 cents per gallon. It is this fact that alcohol can successfully compete in price with gasoline, which now sells for from 12 to 25 cents per gallon. It is urgent, therefore, that a country for free alcohol in the field of heat, power and light. Within the past five years there has been a remarkable increase in the output of gasoline engines, and more particularly among the smaller sizes. When the fuel requirements of the engine of a rapidly growing automobile industry, in addition to an annual output of over 100,000 gasoline engines, is contemplated, it becomes a question of vital importance. The average percentage of gasoline in petroleum from all the oil fields of the world is less than two per cent, and the fact that in connection with this constantly increasing demand accounts for the great increase in the price of gasoline within the past few years. The supply must eventually be exhausted. In view of these facts it seems apparent that through false economy the people may be deprived of a natural resource. The use of alcohol for fuel purposes would benefit the farm by producing a market for a great many starchy materials unfit for or necessary to consumption, and at the same time reduce the cost of motive power for the farm work.

The fact that all foreign countries have low tax levies for free industrial alcohol is being successfully employed by these countries for such purposes to the great injury of our own trade, is striking evidence of the wisdom and practicality of removing the tax on alcohol in this country. A law for this purpose will bring prosperity to the greatest body of our farmers, which also means the American farmers, who will derive from their farm products of corn, wheat, potatoes and waste products, denaturized alcohol, and in turn will be able to light and heat their homes, cook their food and drive their machinery, which will furnish power for the farm implements, pump water for the cattle and for irrigation, as well as numerous kinds of other farm labor. Favorable action on a subject of such vast importance and one in which the need for action is becoming so acute, should not be long delayed by the government, "committed to the protection of home industries." Every citizen who knows or more of the thousand articles requiring alcohol in their manufacture; every one who is obliged to accept cheap and noxious substitutes which may be forced upon him instead of alcohol, for legitimate purposes, and every one interested in the price of corn and other farm products which alcohol must be manufactured, has a grievance against the present system of taxation now in force.

TIME-KILLERS

Too Brutal.

In a discussion of the brutality of football, Morris Wood, the "stating champion" said the other day: "One of my friends told me last fall as he was walking down a certain street, he saw a crowd collected, and in the center, two lads fighting like wild cats. The older lad, as my friend approached, downed the younger one and then began to kick him. "Oh, this treatment the younger lad objected lustily. "Here, Jack," he shouted, squirming under the kicks, "mind what you do! This is only a fight. It isn't football!"

Pardoned.

"Who is that distinguished-looking man?" asked the stranger. "That man saved me a good deal of trouble once," replied the man on the corner. "He interrupted me in the middle of a sentence, and—" "Ah, I see. You were going to say something improper and—" "Now! I was in the penitentiary and he was governor of the state at the time."—Philadelphia Ledger.

That Schenectady, N. Y., policeman who found a dog license tag in a piece of bologna-sausage he was eating no doubt felt satisfied he was getting the genuine goods.

The Science of Medicine.

Eminent Financier—Doc, I'm going to take out another $1,000,000 policy. As the company's medical director, you'll testify, of course, as to my perfect health?

Insurance Physician—Certainly, Eminent Financier—And by the way, Doc, I've been cited to appear before a gimlet-eyed, half-baked investigator from the west—a fellow—balding, with a few straggling hairs, and that's the only way I can get even.—Woman's Home Companion for May.

A Square Deal.

While those who gamble with the cards may win by trick unfair; The chess and checker players try To do things on the square. —Woman's Home Companion for May.

His Money's Worth.

"What's the matter, old chap? You look thin." "I am. I've taken a bath every hour the day and night for a week." "What for?" "I'm staying at a New York hotel where they charge me twelve dollars a night for a room with a bath, and that's the only way I can get even.—Woman's Home Companion for May.

Balls 'Em Out.

Do Style—"Gotrox gets his chafers from France; where do you get yours from?" "From the station house, generally."—Woman's Home Companion for May.

Froggie to the Rescue.

One day a couple of my friends were sitting on the river bank, when they heard the cry of a frog in distress. Following the direction from which the sound came, they discovered a snake in the act of swallowing a frog. Just then another frog, evidently attracted by the distressing cries of the mate, in a leaping, hopped up to the scene of action. For a moment it sat blinking at the enemy; then leaped forward, seized the snake by the neck and tossed it into the river. The water quickly poured between the snake's distended jaws, and it was, of course, compelled to release its victim in order to escape drowning. This it promptly did, and the liberated frog swam away with its plucky mate, while the baffled snake wriggled, as best it could, to the shore.—M. Albertus Covardell in Woman's Home Companion for May.

Does your rheumatism bother you much? "I should say it did. Every time I meet a kid questions about it."—Cleveland Leader.

A German professor predicts the time is coming when there won't be water enough on earth to support human life. Oh, well, when that time comes we can learn to like beer.

It has been judicially decided in Connecticut that a man must obey his wife, but the decision does not say anything about obeying his mother-in-law.

Pennsylvania bankers now disinfest all currency passing through their hands. They may stuff the Rev. Webb Chadden as a way out of the difficulty in accepting tainted money.

Unintentionally Frank.

It was a typographical error that resulted in letting readers know that into the locks of the editor of a newly started weekly which purposed to chronicle the doings of the smart set of a city, etc. It happened that the editor, however, it said in the first edition and filled the readers with the desire to see what would result from the succeeding numbers. The subject of the paragraph was a pink luncheon given by a well known man. When the edition was given to the public it was found that the opening lines of the paragraph were followed by the bald statement: "The luncheon was pink."

The Editor's Troubles.

"Editing a publication is no joke. If we publish jokes, people say we are rattled. If we don't, say they are foolish. If we publish original matter they say we don't give them enough selections. If we give them selections they say we are too busy to write. If we do we are hypocrites. If we remain in the office we ought to be out looking for new items. If we go out, then we are not attending to business. If we wear old clothes they laugh at us. If we wear good clothes they say we're a pull. Now what are we to do? Just as likely as not someone will say 'So old, it's from the Wyoming Derrick.'"

Period of Probation.

Bobbie (aged seven, concluding his evening prayer)—"And bless papa an' mama, an' s'ister Ellen, an' Aunt Marjie, an' Duvver, but I dooss Duvver Bill better look out for himself. He's a bad man, he's a bad man, in my drum."—Woman's Home Companion for May.

An Easter Offering.

At a recent convention of ministers one of them told how he had paid off the mortgage on the church to which he had been assigned. The church was located in a small New England town, the population of which was unusually well-to-do, and where there was a keen social rivalry. The Sunday before Easter the minister made this announcement: "I am going to make a suggestion to the good sisters of the congregation. Next Sunday, in the vestibule, will be found a blackboard—and I think it would be a pretty idea if each sister and where there was a man and the amount she will give as an Easter offering—the amount to correspond to the cost of her Easter hat." "And was the plan a success?" one asked.

The minister smiled. "Well," he said, "I paid off a fairly good sized mortgage and recaptured the church."

Most Miserable Miser.

Father Aebv, who died the other day in Berne, Switzerland, was "the most miserable miser in all Europe." Since he was 29 years of age, when he inherited a large fortune, he had lived on charity and an expenditure of three cents a day. He died at the age of 70, and his house was so crisscrossed that it resembled a mummy. He left securities valued at $750,000, $100,000 in gold and silver coin concealed about his house, and no relatives.

Grace—I hear that Charlie and Ethel are making up their minds to Gussie—Only temporarily. They are going to be married soon.—Chicago Daily News.

Appearances Against Him. Brown—Is that Smithers an honest fellow? Black—"He may be. But you never see him without an umbrella."—Woman's Home Companion for May.

The advertising manager was in a towering rage. "What's the trouble?" they asked. "Why, they won't place our prima donna's testimonial for a cold cure on the same page with the announcement that she had a sore throat and couldn't sing."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The Lender—All right, I'll lend you $5, but don't forget that you owe it to me.

The Borrower—My dear fellow, I shall never forget it as long as I live.—Brooklyn Life.

No Geography Then.

A newspaper man who recently returned from a southern trip tells this story: "I happened to spend Sunday in a little town 'way down south, and in the afternoon we were invited to church to listen to the sermon of a colored preacher who was a character in the community. He had for his text the passage of the Israelites from Egypt, and when I came in he spoke something like this: "And the Lord froze the Red sea into a solid cake of ice and the Israelites crossed safely over to the other side. Then the 'Gyptians followed them over the ice, but when they got into the middle, the Lord sent down a heavy thaw which melted the ice and precipitated the 'Gyptians into the water and they were all drowned."

The congregation was still for about a minute. Then a tall, thin colored man arose and said: "Mister Preacher, I begs to disagree with that last statement. According to the geography the Red sea is in the tropics, close to the equator, and the water never freezes there. The minister listened attentively, then, in a loud, angry voice, roared:

"I thought there would be one of those smart niggers in this here congregation to contradict me. But he not so smart as he thinks he be. In the days when the Israelites ran away from Egypt, long ago ago, there was no such thing as geography or an equator, neither."

Judging from the ease of Maxim Gorky and other socialists, there seems to be something in the notion that dissatisfied men with his own wife.

It is estimated that in a hundred years all the iron ore will have been used up. So a good deal of worry for the steel trust is going to own the country.

America's total drink bill for all kinds of stimulating beverages, including tea and coffee, is one-fourth the total estimated production of the common wheat, corn, hay and tobacco crops and every other product of the nation's total expenditure for food.

Estimates of the crop of stimulating crops and every other product of the American Grocer, shows that since 1901 the cost has risen from $1,273,212,356 to $1,548,798,507 in 1905, a gain of $275,586,295, or 21.3 per cent. The population for the same period advanced from 77,647,000 to 83,143,000, an addition of 5,496,000, or 6 1/2 per cent.

J. C. Feherty of Boise, who has a valuable 40 acres east of town, is here arranging for the improvement of his land. Mr. Feherty was in Twin Falls for a time last summer and he is surprised with the recent development.

Three of the five-acre tracts on the De Long farm were sold by T. Hamilton this week. The purchasers were F. D. Kimball, F. L. Doly and D. C. Daugherty. C. H. Hancock purchased five-eighths of an acre on that section of the De Long farm recently acquired by Mr. Senior and associates.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweetley entertained a number of young men at their home on Wednesday evening. Those present were Messrs. Heap, Frankel, Mull, Bedford, Asternell, Woods, Dr. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Kimball. The guests enjoyed themselves informally and had a splendid time.

Miss Marie Seaman has completed a neat six room cottage on Sixth avenue, between Ninth and Tenth streets.

The regular meeting of Vishnu camp, No. 2370, R. N. M., will be held on Tuesday evening, April 24, at 7:30 p. m. A full attendance is requested.

The temporary school buildings were sold at auction on Monday to the Fair association for $125. They will be moved to the fair grounds and exhibited during the summer.

The new school building is now roofed and presents an imposing appearance. The building shows up magnificently and adds materially to the appearance of that end of the city.

Mrs. Channon will entertain the Catholic Ladies Aid society at her residence on Wednesday, April 25. All members of the society are requested to be present. Friends are cordially invited. Arrangements will be served.

R. W. Jones and John Peters have completed a two-story brick building opposite the Jones block. The building, which will stand on lots owned by Mr. Peters and Mr. Jones, will have a frontage of 75 feet on Main street and will be thoroughly modern in every respect.

The rock foundations for the superstructure on the new avenue viaduct have been completed and are ready for the woodwork. This is expected to arrive shortly and will be set in place immediately. The viaduct will be a very substantial structure.

J. L. Ward, C. E. Ward and Mrs. D. L. Ward of Detroit have filed upon three quarter sections near Buhl. They are going to improve their property and induce some of their good neighbors to come west and enjoy the supply of moisture in under natural and the sun shines all the time. L. Ward secured some property in Buhl on the opening day.

Jack Voorhies has returned from a western trip which took him as far as La Grande, Oregon. He is now drilling away on his farm at Sucker Flat.

The regular weekly shoot of the Twin Falls Rod & Gun club took place at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning. Owing to the change in time a number of the marksmen were slow in arriving. Dennis Holohan and C. L. Parsons divided the honors, snuffing off 90 per cent of their targets. Captain Pete Holohan was too gallant to top the list and although he vowed the effort was his best he dropped a couple of birds at the end to even matters up. Newt Uhlirah of Riverdale gave the boys an exhibition of how he downs quail on the farm and although shooting a strange gun he dropped 20 out of 23 blue geese, Fred Harris, Harry Allen and George Foster failed in the club. The shoot was the pulling of Jimmy Jones who presided over the transmission of the trap. The next shoot will occur on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Sugar, 15 Pounds for $1.00. "Whatever's Right" Allen Mercantile Co., Ltd.

By hard work Frank Osborne managed to get his new store in trip for opening on Saturday. The interior of the Babcock building, which is next to the Hotel Perrine on Main street, is very bright and the fittings are artistic, harmonious and cheerful. Although pressed for time, Mr. Osborne managed to arrange the display of his stock nicely and the new store attracted a great deal of attention. The store is commodious. Mr. Osborne has it well filled already.

The Owl club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Thomas on Wednesday evening. Those present were an interesting paper on "Russian Literature." The effect of Maxim Gorky's works and acts was treated in an able manner. Miss Devoe entertained with piano selections and made a duet list. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were presented with a beautiful burnt velvet cushion, the work of Mrs. Chamberlain in commemoration of their wedding anniversary.

L. B. Perrine returned from Chicago on Monday with all kinds of good news. He brought the plans of the new opera house with him. Mr. Perrine stated that the members of the Shoshone Falls Power company were on their way to Twin Falls with $5,000 and would probably arrive tomorrow. On their arrival the detailed plans for the construction of the big plants would be worked out and announced.

Alas for good breeding! Alphonsus in whose veins flows blood was the Twin Falls boy, and whose sire is larger than the high line animal, rebelled at confinement last Thursday night and bolted through the fence of his corral beside the Pioneer Storage & Commission company's warehouse. Great excitement prevailed when the absence of the animal was discovered and it was a case of "After you, my dear Alphonsus!" Had Alphonsus been under confinement for dynamiting his escape would not have occasioned more excitement. Word of the break was spread and broadcast in every direction. Two days later a familiar form was observed grazing just across Rock creek from the depot. The sign was that in service and it was Alphonsus enjoying his first taste of freedom. The prodigal being about two years of age, could appreciate the gravity of his situation but he pulled down his ears and shed his contrition and he has been on his good behavior ever since.

Two carloads of cement for the piers of the railway bridge over Rock creek have been ordered and will be on the foundation of the center pier has commenced. It will be necessary to excavate deeply for this pier in order to place it on bed rock and pumps have been installed to keep the water down. The pier will stand on the west side of the stream and within a few feet of the water.

The street sprinklers have been replaced in commission. Water is running in the ditches along the residence streets and the shade trees are receiving attention. The grass in the park is coming up nicely, every variety showing a splendid stand. Very few of the shade trees died and these are being replaced. There are flowers in a great many gardens and lawns planted last year are becoming very attractive.

James D. Agnew, Jr. of Boise arrived today bringing with him the celebrated Black Percheron stallion Scalliste, five years old, weight 3100. Scalliste is a slaughter, as his name implies, but he is a good actor. He was imported by Palo Alto stock farm of Emmetsburg, Iowa, breeders and importers of Percheron, Belgian and French heavy breeds. Although the farm handles nothing but high class registered and approved animals and will ship a number of his best stallions to Twin Falls. A large number have been placed by the company in Idaho.

Sunday was the occasion of a pleasant surprise for W. D. Dingman and his family. It was the anniversary of Mr. Dingman's birth and Mrs. Dingman planned the surprise. Although preparations Mr. Dingman had the slightest suspicion of what was coming until the guests began to arrive on Sunday morning. Those present were Mrs. George Carrio, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Poland and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dingman, J. E. Dingman and family. Mr. Dingman proved her ability as a "chef" by the dinner which she placed before her guests. The appreciation by the manner in which they enjoyed the spread. The afternoon was occupied with a good, old-fashioned visit and an exchange of news. Mr. and Mrs. Dingman many happy returns of the day.

Water has been turned into the new standpipes which is being finished thoroughly preparatory to use. The intake is a large pipe which connects with the main and extends upward to the bottom of the tank. The pumps will be worked so that the pressure in the mains and constant pressure will thus be maintained. Should a fire start while the pumps are running there will be no diminution of pressure. When the pressure in the mains exceeds that in the intake pipe, the water will be forced upward into the big tank and stored for use. When filled, the old tank will raise water to the top of the highest building in the city. A comparison of the two tanks, which stand side by side, shows marked improvement may be expected.

Bert Shultman has renewed his lease on the Shoshone Falls hotel and is making great improvements at the famous resort. The hotel has been renovated and refitted and the rooms are now equal to the best. The meals are becoming more popular every day and the number of visitors is increasing. Mr. Shultman is planning the erection of a large dancing platform and has engaged an orchestra for the summer. The grounds are being brightened up and indications are that Shoshone falls will be a veritable Mecca during the heated term. It is the most spectacular resort in Idaho, and that Mr. Burnett has started a daily stage it will be possible to go there in comfort and find enjoyment at the western Niagara.

W. F. Womelsdorf, chief engineer of the construction department of the Oregon Short Line, has gone to Denver where he will resume work with the Pacific. The western extension will hereafter be done by the engineering department of the road under the supervision of J. P. Congdon. Mr. Womelsdorf said that in his 20 years' experience as a construction engineer he never knew the traffic to expand the construction except on the Twin Falls branch, where it was necessary to make feasible for two and three days at a time in order to move freight. This he stated, convinced him that the Twin Falls tract had a grand future and would be built up in a remarkably short space of time. A finer class of people, Mr. Womelsdorf continued, did not exist during all the construction period. The work and annoyances were unavoidable the people of Twin Falls were reasonable and fair. They appreciated the situation and were always considerate.

The subjects of the Christian church services on Sunday will be: Morning, "Never Man Struck Like This;" evening, "The Road to Jericho."

SPRING WORK AT THE ACADEMY

Great Interest Shown in the Summer Teachers' Institute.

The plan of the summer school at the Academy of Idaho is exactly along the lines of the institute work adopted by many of the eastern states—among the most prominent of which is Michigan—by which the scholarship of teachers is constantly being raised. Attendance at these institutes is practically compulsory in Michigan, and the idea of holding joint institutes, where more and broader work may be done, is constantly growing.

At the district schools are closing to different parts of the state, inquiries about the summer term are coming in more rapidly. From all indications every county in southern and southwestern Idaho will be represented by a large contingent. The subjects to be treated in the teachers' institute will cover all those required for first, second and third grade certificates, and aims for life diplomas should there be sufficient demand for the latter. Pedagogy, primary methods, methods in spelling, language, etc., will be given the place their importance requires. A special course in shorthand and typewriting is now scheduled, in addition to the above, but it will not be given unless there is sufficient demand to hold a teacher especially for the subject. Those contemplating taking the subject will facilitate matters by making application as early as possible. It has been decided that three teachers will be elected from the academy, and the superintendents will elect two others.

If the program given by the Montana society indicated the standard by which to gauge all future attempts, it has sketched out a lot of work for its members—but joyful work, and work that makes for splendid, full-rounded development of the student's education. The program given this morning was as follows:

Piano solo... Miss Brunhilde Mager
 Recitation (original).....
 Address, "Individuality".....
 Vocal solo..... Mr. Joseph Byrd
 Paper, "Socialism"..... Mr. Del Sullivan
 Vocal solo..... Miss Charlotte Beamer

Miss Mager played "Kondo Capriccio," by Mendelssohn, most delightfully and was warmly applauded. Mr. Porritt's English recital, in which the man in question displayed full command of the faculty, was enthusiastically received. Mr. Byrd proved himself capable of producing some splendid work of the arduous order, and he delivered his address in a style that ought to make him a strong candidate for the coming oratorical honors in the debate between the academy and Ricks academy. The vocal solo by Miss Furey was one of the most enjoyable features of the program. From the able manner in which Mr. Del Sullivan read his paper, there is no question that if he is selected as one of the debaters the academy will come out with flying colors. In argument, delivery and elegance of language his work was finished product. "Sweetest Flower that Blows," the vocal solo by Miss Beamer, is particularly adapted to her rich, contralto voice, and the appreciation of the audience was indicated by long continued applause.

Arrangements are being completed for a debate between the Academy of Idaho and the Ricks Academy of Rexburg, to be held in Pocatello on the 11th of May. Three debaters, from each institution will enter the contest, which will be decided on the following points: Argument to count one-half, delivery one-quarter and language one-quarter. The question to be debated is, "Resolved, That government ownership of railroads would be more satisfactory than the present system." The Academy of Idaho has chosen the affirmative side, and our boys are now preparing strenuously for the "tryout" which will be given to all ambitious for oratorical honors before selection of the three lucky ones is made. It is believed that this is the beginning of some very interesting and instructive literary meets in the state, the direct result of the organization at Boise last December of the Interscholastic League, which will control and regulate both athletic and literary contests in the state.

The baseball, track and tennis season opened auspiciously at the academy. The work in baseball is being pursued on a novel plan. At the beginning of the season all the candidates for the teams met and elected two captains. Nelson and Don Burnside were selected. The captains then chose from the list of names alternately and formed two teams. Three days in the week these teams are to meet and have games under the direction of the athletic instructor. After a week's tryout the lines were reformed and real work will now begin toward the training of the first team, which will play competitive games with the other schools. The promising men are: Catcher, Gayle and Gorton; pitcher, Byrd, Eastman, Davis and Nelson; first base, R. Nelson, R. Blittine, L. Ash; second base, Davis, Eastman, Platt; third base, Burnside, Woodall, Sullivan,

Ash; shortstop, C. Blittine, Gorton, Field, Selstrom, Oliver, Derham, Blittine, Moon, Boy, Turner, Platt and Mager. Many of these students are new material, but will work into form with practice.

The track work is yet quite undeveloped, yet much interest is manifested in it. Furey, Burkhardt, Gorton, Eastman, Woodall, Burnside, Nelson, Byrd and many others will be candidates for positions on the teams.

Tennis is arousing a new and quite surprising amount of attention. The courts are in constant demand at all hours of daylight. While nothing remarkable can yet be shown as results the spirit is good and time will give material for a most interesting tournament in the spring.

Enthusiasm over basket ball among the girls has revived and lively games are played two and three evenings every week. Mr. Chaney's volleyball team and will have a stronger team than they had with Albion and probably with Boise, the Indians and local teams. A track meet will also be arranged with Albion in the near future.

WILD HORSES TO BE CAPTURED

Thousands of Mustangs to Be Rounded Up in Oregon.

Stockmen all over eastern Oregon are interested in the last big round-up of wild horses in the United States which will take place in Douglas county, Washington, about the last of this month.

There is a section of country located in Douglas county and bordered on the east by the Snake river, on the west by the Columbia river and on the south by Crab creek and on the north by the Great Northern railroad, in which there are something like 18,000 wild horses, said John A. Parker to the Portland Journal. "The area of this tract is about 40 miles square, containing over 1,000,000 acres of land here and there low lying sand hills. The horses are of the class known as mustang ponies. They have been put in that country during the last 40 years by horsemen from all portions of the west, who wanted range for their herds."

That the round-up will start from Euphrata, and take a course to the eastward, circling around Moses lake. The line of horsemen will there gradually spread out, following the course of the Snake river. When the line of cowboys has been stretched from Euphrata to the creek it will begin to advance across the country to the Spina river. Immense crowds will be prepared in the vicinity of Euphrata, into which the ponies will be driven. Many of the horses are branded with the marks of their owners, but there are thousands and thousands representing the natural increase of the herds that have not been branded and give up their eyes toward the west. These unbranded ones will be divided among the members of the expedition.

Not All Druggery on the Farm.

It has been said by many unacquainted with farm life that it is nothing but druggery, nothing but discouragement, and that our children grow up in ignorance and toil without pleasure or enjoyment. Now I would not enter in any serious discussion, but I would like to ask, where could there be a better place beneath the sun to bring up our children than on a farm? Think of the children living in the heart of our largest cities, and with the smoke of the factories and shops. They grow into maturity weak and puny for want of the warm sunshine, pure fresh air and healthy exercise.

Of course, there are many discouragements connected with farm work, so much so sometimes that we are almost tempted to lay down our "arms" and give up. Dark days will come sometimes when nothing will go to suit us. Everything is out of order. The baby is cross and fretful. As you turn your weary eyes toward the garden you spy the hens scratching in your best flower bed, and probably to crown all, unexpected company comes at the eleventh hour and you are at your wit's end. But two words will suffice to save further trouble. Be calm. Take your time and go slow. The children will gather and gather home from school with merry shouts of laughter. The dark day is past and may not return again.

I would suggest, to ward off these dark days, that we arrange our work in systematic order as nearly as possible. Of course, there are days when our work will vary. Washing, ironing, mending, and some every day in the week, but by careful planning we can pass over these days without worry or trouble. Have a place for every thing and every thing in its place. Teach the children to be tidy by having them put their playthings in their places after they are done with them. Also teach them to be tidy by allowing them to be patient with them.—Tribune Farmer.

Religious Liberty Notes.

Our motto: "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

Lincoln Steffens in McClure's magazine (January number) recognizes a principle too often overlooked when he criticizes his article on civil religion. "A Servant of God and the People." The civil officer is responsible first to God, and afterwards to the people, because "the powers that be are ordained of God." Rom. 13:1.

"The Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men and giveth it to whomsoever he will." Daniel 4:17. The people may by God's overruling providence choose their ruler and he is responsible to the people as one who is chosen to be under God a servant of the people. He is bound to serve the interests of all and the officer who favors some at the expense of others is unworthy of the title of statesman. He is his spoliator rather than their ruler. God calls Nebuchadnezzar his servant, yet when Nebuchadnezzar treated a loyal subject as a slave, the object and manner of worship and his children refused to obey he delivered them from the fiery furnace. Daniel in the lions den was protected because the earthly king had disregarded his responsibility to the heavenly king and had therefore made a law contrary to the law of God.

These lessons were left for us. Irresponsible power has not been given to those in authority. Their duties have been made clear. In temporal affairs they are supreme, subject to principles of right and justice which God has established. With spiritual affairs he has "inherited" his responsibility as a man, to live as a Christian as other men. And for the right discharge of these duties every servant of the people is primarily responsible to Him whose throne is in the heavens and whose kingdom ruleth over all.

Something Every Farmer Needs—

We take pleasure in coming before the farmers and public with something entirely new, and a long felt necessity, an applicable economy and profit. The Utah Lay-Off and Pulverizer. It is no longer an experiment, but something that every farmer is competent to use, and as such again ground can be irrigated with the same amount of water, because every drop is utilized and the yield of Lucerne increased from 15 to 30 per cent.

It cuts an even furrow, does not throw up sods, levels the ground and makes the field look like a garden. Can be used in any kind of ground, and for furrowing of all kinds, but is especially adapted for laying-off lucerne. In the grain or corn fields it has an advantage over all drum rollers or shovel plows, as it levels the ground and leaves the soil loose and loamy.

It is handy, simple and durable. The workmanship and material are first class. The runners are adjustable, so that the width of the bed can be made to suit the nature of the soil, and the furrow made any desirable depth. The implement itself will convince all irrigators that they cannot afford to do without this necessary and useful implement. It is the only successful machine now for furrowing alfalfa. It is recommended by Supt. Alex. McPherson. Call and see them at—C. O. MEEGS, The Studebaker Man, Twin Falls.

RAILWAY DEPOT FOR KIMBERLY

Work on Much Needed Structure is About to Begin.

KIMBERLY, Ida., April 19.—Work upon the depot here will begin in a very short time, so we have been assured by the railroad officials. This is certainly very encouraging news and everyone is duly thankful. Kimberly is deserving of more commodious accommodations than a box car, as it has been for some months the "third paying station on the bench." The dance given by the boys of the baseball team in the school house on last Friday evening was a decided social and financial success. Several Rock Creek young people were present and all report a splendid time.

E. L. Whitney, warden of the state penitentiary at Boise, spent Sunday in looking over his 80 acres of land south of town.

The Sunday school of last Sabbath was unusually well attended. An interesting Easter program was rendered for which the children were presented with an Easter egg.

Mr. Herold was among the east-bound passengers last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Turner—Mr. Turner entertained Rev. and Mrs. Crater last Sunday.

Arthur Towne and Will Lytle were Twin Falls visitors last Sunday. Turner-Kaloupek and Oliver-Nelson have gone to Portland for a few weeks' visit.

Miss Mary Sawyer of Rock Creek was a passenger to Miller last Tuesday. W. H. Turner has charge of the work of organization. Kimberly citizens have subscribed liberally for stock. The Boise Capital State bank will be the western correspondent.

Mrs. Herol Moore spent Sunday at Dry Creek, where she was the guest of Miss Florence Morse.

E. D. Demore purchased two lots in the townsite Saturday and has begun the erection of a four-room cottage upon the same. Mr. Donihue will soon move his family from Rock Creek to make their home here.

Mr. Sharp and son Reynold of Shoshone arrived in Kimberly Thursday. They anticipate making their home here.

John Engelson of Boise was a Kimberly visitor Wednesday.

C. Dybdge of Iowa returned home Saturday after having spent a week in this vicinity looking over the field with the intention of putting in a flour mill. He was very much pleased with the country and thought favorably of Kimberly as a location for a mill.

H. T. West was delightfully surprised Sunday when his father arrived from Boise to pay him a short visit.

George Moore returned from Twin Falls Tuesday, where he has been a work for the past few months. The Farmers' association met as usual last Wednesday evening. A variety of farm topics were discussed.
