BUILDING RAILWAY BRIDGE ACROSS ROCK CREEK.

This picture shows the progress of the work on the railway bridge which the Oregon Short Line is building across Twin Falls.

The photograph from which the cut was made was taken nearly two weeks ago and the two columns of cement which form the center pier and which were just being started at the time, are now completed and on a level with the top of the trestle.

ALL SET

There will be something doing at Rock Creek on the Fourth. The hills will reverberate with patriotic cheers.

At 7 p. m. there will be a band concert in the park to be followed by fireworks in the evening. The dance at the Ring theater will begin after the fireworks and will conclude a grand day's sport.

SOME HAY MAKING SECRETS GETTING CLOSER TO SULTAN
Pointers on Cutting, Curing and Stacking Grasses.
There are two secrets about making hay that every farmer should understand. Ignorance of these has cost the farmers thousands of tons of hay. What is hay? Cured grass, cured after cutting. It is not green grass cured on the stem. For instance, cut hay is made from oats that are cut and cured when the grain is in the milk or dough stage. If left in the field it can never be made into hay. It then becomes grain and straw.
This same principle applies to timothy. If cut when the grain is in the bloom or dough stage it may be cured into good hay. If left to ripen, it becomes grain (seed) and straw. Inasmuch as the seed is not so feeding value as the grasses it becomes evident that the stuff desired has changed into straw and the hay of overripe timothy or clover is not hay at all. Good cut hay is a valuable article, but cut straw is quite inferior. Good timothy hay is a useful feed in its place, but timothy straw is very poor stuff.
If it is not unwise for farmers who let their timothy get quite ripe before cutting it for hay. It has passed the hay stage. It can be nothing but coarse and straw. Many need cutting at the proper time because they find it is easier to put up when overripe. They gain in giving a little more about the corn and wheat crop, but they lose an easier time in curing the over-ripe stuff, but they lose the feeding value of almost the entire crop.
Right way to make hay. Neglect either and loss will follow. While the cutting time of fifteen grasses varies slightly, there is a general rule that applies to all. The best time to cut is between bloom and the dough stage of ripeness. The riper the grass gets before the dough stage of ripeness, the more woody fiber it contains. Being quite indigestible and therefore worthless. It is an element in hay that is not desired.
A right way to cure hay. Hay that is bleached and scorched by the hot sun and washed by the rain is poor stuff. The protein, a most valuable element, has been dissipated. The flavor has been washed out. In fact, the soluble elements in the hay that make aroma and flavor have been pulled up and left for birds to eat. To secure these and keep them is the secret of having that few farmers seem to understand.
Avoid Wet Hay.
Hay should never be wet with dew or rain. In the external water that does the mischief. Hay that has been wet once, though dry when put in the mow, will not keep as well as never-wet hay.
The molds that grow on hay do not come from the inside moisture. A great deal of sap may be left, and there is no harm done. In fact, few realize how green and heavy the hay may be that will store safely.
During life, plants are continually taking up water from the soil and passing it off through the leaves. When the supply is diminished or an excessive hot day evaporates from the leaves faster than the roots can supply water, the plant wilts till evening. Cut the stem off and insert it in a vase and the plant stays green for a long time. But if the plant is left with the signs of wilt, water is leaving the plant through the leaves, and the plant is not getting a supply from the roots. The hay is curling. It is desirable that this curling should continue uninterrupted to the very end.
Secure Perfect Curing.
When the hay is cut, the curling? The sun. The leaves are thin. They may be scorched to a crisp by the heat and before they have finished eliminating the water in the stem. This condition is met on a hot day. The leaves are cured and crisp while the stem still contains excessive moisture.
Now late in the afternoon and evening dew will do no harm on the un-wilted grass. Mow in a rain and no harm will result. If it stays wet for several days. When the sun dries it a little, the hay may be raked and bunched and curing will continue. This should be done so that the hay does not get scorched before they have pumped the stem empty. Usually a load can be hauled home at noon. By cutting in the late afternoon or early morning, there is no great danger of losing much hay by rain.
When to cut and how to cure are the secrets of successful haymaking.—Aison Secor in O. J. Farmer.

United States to Have Ambassador at Constantinople.
The senate has passed an amendment to the Dutton act with certain appropriation bill, providing for an ambassador to Constantinople. Up to this time we have had a minister at that city. It is not until the Turkish government has been anxious to have its representation there changed to an ambassador, it has never been able to do so. It left Constantinople in 1878. The Turkish government would send an ambassador to Turkey under our law unless Turkey would send an ambassador to the United States. On account of the financial condition of Turkey, the Turkish government would not consent to this. The senate amendment will overcome this obstacle, and if it is agreed to by the house, our representation will soon be accorded the same standing by the "sick man" as the representatives of Great Britain, France, Germany and Russia.
The reasons for raising the question to an embassy are of the most controlling character and could be elaborated to considerable length. Every important government is represented there by an embassy, the United States alone excepted. A minister has no access to the person of the sultan except by his secretary. If he wishes an audience with the sultan he must wait until he is sent for, and in the case of our minister to Constantinople, he has not been sent for in years. It is the right of an ambassador to see the sultan at any time. As the Turkish government is an absolutely despotic one, it is not possible for a representative who has no right to see the sultan when he desires it, at an immense disadvantage. The government of the United States has a large interest here, and the fact that our representative was forced to deal principally with minor officials instead of directly with the sultan, it is believed at the state department that the creation of an ambassador at Constantinople will be a great step toward finally settling our differences with the government of Turkey.
Why the Minister in Constantinople. In the senate of the late Arthur P. Gorham, and by whom he was defeated in 1881, is 82 years old, and is one of the youngest old men in public life. He ranks third in point of age in the senate. Senator Pettus is the oldest, being 86. Senator Morgan comes next at 82, and is one year older than Senator Whyte. Mr. Whyte first entered the senate in 1869, and is the only member of the present senate who was a member at that time. Only two other men—George F. Edmunds of Vermont and John B. Henderson of Missouri—are now living who were then members of the senate. Senator Whyte was defeated by Mr. Gorman in 1881. The new senator from Maryland has had a brilliant career, and is looked upon as the "grand old man" of his party. He has held two terms as governor of his state, one term as attorney general, mayor of Baltimore, and has now been appointed to round out his career in the senate. He served, during his former terms, with some of the ablest men the country has ever known. Oliver P. Morton, John Sherman, Roscoe Conkling, Carl Schurz, Daniel W. Voorhees, Zeb Vance, Ben Hill, John B. Gordon and William Pitt Fessenden were his colleagues in the "good old days," and he says the present senate is composed of as able men as either of the former in which he served.
Two of the men from Idaho have completed courses in the National University Law school in this city. One is Will E. Lee, private secretary to Congressman Brewster of Idaho, who finished the course for which the degree of Master of Laws is given. The other is George M. Fields of Moscow, who received the degree of Bachelor of Laws. Mr. Lee received the degree of Bachelor of Laws from the same university a year ago.

For Sale.
50 acres of good level land under the high line canal, close to good pasture range. Price, $500, including first payment. Also two lots on Twelfth avenue, Twin Falls, $150 each. Will take team, wagon and harness as part payment on either deal. Inquire at News office, Twin Falls.

This notice appeared exactly as follows in an English newspaper published in a town not far from London: "Will the girl who helped a lady with a black cat to get out on Sunday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock please call at No. 10, street."
The mere American reader, unused to English ways, will wonder what the "lady" wanted down the coal hole, and where her other leg was, or did the latter belong to the other "party"? The notice is ambiguous.

An Ideal Stock Ranch.

WILL BE A NOTABLE MEETING

Magnificent Program for National Irrigation Congress.

The Fourteenth National Irrigation Congress will be held at Boise, Idaho, September 3 to 8, inclusive, 1906. All who are interested in solving the great annual "water" problem of the country, extending its habitable area, increasing the products of the land, and improving the quality of our own conditions, making occupations upon the land attractive, the extension of internal trade and commerce, and a wider knowledge of a great, economic movement which has for its ultimate object the upbuilding of an empire within the borders of a great nation, are invited to attend this congress.

Leading irrigation experts, practical farmers and horticulturists, representatives from state agricultural institutions and experiment stations, state engineers, irrigation engineers, and other noted foresters, railroad managers, business and commercial men, state and national officials, and those who are interested in the attention and take part in the deliberations of the congress.

Idaho having a larger volume of water and a greater area of land subject to reclamation than any other state, offers exceptional advantages to the careful study of all subjects pertaining to the four great objects to be accomplished "Save the Forests," "Store the Floods," "Reclaim the Desert," "Homes on the Land."

The personnel of the congress will be as follows:
 The permanent officers of the congress—
 The president, vice president and members of the executive committee and of the United States senate and house of representatives.
 Governors of states and territories, Ambassadors, ministers and other representatives of foreign nations and colonies.
 Members of state and territorial irrigation commissions.

Five delegates appointed by the governor of each state and territory.
 Ten delegates appointed by the mayor of each city in the United States having more than 25,000 population.
 Five delegates appointed by each board of county commissioners or boards of county supervisors in the United States.
 Two delegates duly accredited by each chamber of commerce, board of trade, commercial club or other mercantile body in the United States.
 Two delegates duly accredited by each regularly organized irrigation, agricultural or horticultural society in the United States.

Two delegates duly accredited by each regularly organized society of engineers in the United States.
 Two delegates duly accredited by each irrigation company, immigration society, agricultural college and each college or university having chairs of hydraulic engineering or forestry in the United States.

It is respectfully urged that in the appointment of delegates, persons should be selected who are sincerely interested in and purpose attending the congress, and that appointments be made as early as possible.

Please have full name and position, address of delegates mailed to executive chairman, National Irrigation Congress, Box 409, Boise, Idaho, that they may receive special information which will be mailed to them on or before August 1, 1906.

The congress will convene in the midst of irrigation projects showing every state of development. Two of the greatest enterprises of the nation, the great Carey act project in the United States, and smaller propositions of private and cooperative enterprise ranging in size and character, which have for 50 years' constant use, will be taken as object lessons, teaching practical irrigation from the practical standpoint.

The question of national forest reserves, policy of the general government in relation thereto, grazing and the preservation of public ranges, and their correlated subjects, will be ably discussed by eminent men interested therein.

Ample arrangements have been made for the use of the division of the Congress on Engineering and Mechanics, which will hold meetings of special interest throughout the congress. Stereoscopic views of work under construction and completed will be used in illustrating addresses and reports, making attractive and educational to all who attend.

A general committee of the citizens of Boise, supported by the unanimous sentiment of the city and the people of the state of Idaho, has arranged a splendid program for the entertainment of the delegates, every feature of which will prove to be of interest, and a source of enjoyment to the state's guests at the congress.

A comprehensive exhibit of the products of irrigation, including grains, grasses, fruits of all kinds, vegetables and sugar beets, will be held in spacious quarters adjoining the convention hall, every section of the irrigated area of the United States competing for the substantial prizes offered for the best state, county and individual exhibits made.

Special railroad rates have been made to apply from all parts of the United States to this congress, the rate being the lowest ever made on any convention. Apply early to your nearest railroad agent so as to insure rates being made applicable to your route.

All newspapers and other publications are earnestly requested to give wide publicity to this official call, and to insert upon their readers the importance of this congress.

The vice president and member of the executive committee for each state are urged to give the provisions of this call as widely known as possible, and insure the largest possible delegations from their respective states.

Every state and territory is vitally and directly interested in the subjects to be discussed in the coming congress.

Delegates appointed to this congress are requested to communicate with the executive committee of the board of control at Boise in order that adequate accommodations may be provided for all.

Information of every character in relation to the congress, and certain must subjects for discussion, etc., will be gladly furnished by addressing
THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE,
 By Monte B. Gwin, Chairman.
 W. T. Booth, Secretary.

IMMENSE PENETRATING POWER
 Possessed by Alfalfa, Which Sends Its Roots Far Below Surface.

To those not acquainted with this plant, the facts will seem incredible. The penetrating power of the alfalfa root is equaled only by that of the desert sagebrush of the western plains, says Hon. F. D. Coburn. Under favorable conditions of growth and moisture, the roots will have penetrated to a depth of five feet in six months. Many instances are on record of roots having been dug up or otherwise exposed to a depth of one or two feet, and penetration of 38 feet, while even the greater depth of 80 and 66 feet, and more, are recorded. Many alfalfa roots are found at a depth of 100 feet, and are attributed to a hard sub-surface soil; this is not the fault if there be enough moisture in the soil to support the plant's growth until it once establishes the root system.

At the Kansas Agricultural college a trench was dug through an alfalfa field for the purpose of observing its growth late in the fall following a favorable season, and the alfalfa was divided into three crops. In the greater portion of the alfalfa field, the alfalfa was removed to a depth of 10 inches from the top to use a pick to loosen the soil, which was so hard that the men ordinarily did not get at one blow of the picks into it more than two inches; yet notwithstanding the hardness of this clay soil alfalfa roots had penetrated to a depth of 18 inches. The one-half feet in the deepest place, where the roots appeared little smaller in diameter than they were a foot below the surface.

When the alfalfa is once established, if there is sufficient moisture to maintain the plant, it sends its roots in quest of permanent moisture, and is only prevented from reaching it by stone leaf. The roots have a strong and well developed power of passing around obstacles such as stones and boulders, and no crevice is so small as to escape them in their downward journey.

Charles W. Irish, chief of irrigation inquiry, United States department of agriculture, in an article on "Alfalfa and Where to Grow It," makes the following interesting observation: "The alfalfa root is a penetrating power is the greatest of any agricultural importance. The alfalfa thereby not only obtains its food from far below the root range of ordinary crops, thus having a surface store for shallower feeders, but when these deep-boring roots die and decay they leave not only the soil in a fine condition, porous but innumerable openings for air and moisture, and lumens from the surface to penetrate. This, at first thought, might not appear much, but in a well-sot alfalfa field five years old, five feet below the surface, there would from 10 to 30 roots to each square foot, averaging an eighth of an inch in diameter, reaching directly from the surface. With this fact known, the value of alfalfa as both a subsistence and fertilizer is more easily appreciated."

How He Kept His Promise.
 The story goes that a certain non-conformist divine noted for his smoking powers was sent for by the board of examiners just before his ordination.

"Mr. F.," said one of the board, "your papers are excellent, but there is one thing we object to."
 "Mr. F. asked what it was."
 "You are addicted to the evil habit of smoking."
 "Mr. F. explained that he saw no evil in it, but taking a large pipe from his pocket said:
 "In deference to your opinion, gentlemen, I promise you that as soon as I have smoked the plug I hold in my hand it will cease smoking forever."
 They were satisfied, and he was ordained the next day.

Now as he refills his pipe he chuckles and tells you:
 "I've kept my word. I've got that very plug yet."—London Tit-Bits.

BUHL HAS COMMERCIAL CLUB

Live Organization Formed to Boost the New Town. -BUHL, Idaho, June 27. -H. C. Benson is in Twin Falls. J. C. Roam went to the Power city Saturday.

Supplier. Pluvius is irrigating today. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hurdigan of Twin Falls were in town last week and visited Thousand Springs, returning home Saturday.

Thomas O'Rourke visited the village Friday. He reports good progress being made in his neighborhood by the ranchmen.

Roy Atwood is having his ranch cleared off preparatory to putting it in alfalfa.

W. H. Peters of Springfield, Utah was a guest at Hotel Buhl for several days last week.

Several wagon loads of iron pipes for the water pipe have been unloaded along Broadway.

H. W. Oliver of Twin Falls visited us Monday on business. He returned to the Power city Saturday.

Ed Braun has built a stable back of Hotel Buhl for his automobile.

C. E. Coe of Twin Falls and G. D. Newport of Boise came in Sunday morning and went to Thousand Springs on a fishing trip. They had the right kind of bait.

H. Gurnea will soon commence the construction of a three-room cottage residence for John R. Lehman immediately adjoining the townsite on the south.

L. H. Harris of the Twin Falls Land & Water company came in Saturday on business connected with the company's interests here.

E. J. Abrams of Colfax, Wash., rode around the tract with Ed Braun Saturday and expressed himself as being well pleased with the appearance of the country.

That cheerful individual who asks "Is it not enough for you today?" has been in evidence for the past week, and it seems he intends to stay for a while.

The Westco Lumber company is still piling up stock so as to be ready for the fall of first class lumber.

The Nohay Ski club was very much in evidence again Sunday. Nothing special doing; just practice work for the initiating team.

The husband has played a practice game Sunday afternoon. There was no score kept. They are making good progress and will soon be ready to meet the enemy.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Marquardson of Genesee, Idaho, who spent several days at Hotel Buhl last week, have taken their relatives on a tour of the ranch, three miles south of town, for the purpose of proving up.

H. Stanley Coffin of North Yakima, who bought the corner lot on Main and Broadway at the auction sale on opening day, came in Saturday to look at things and was agreeably surprised to find the progress that had been made both in the town and country.

He said that he bought the lot dirt cheap, $1600 being the price he paid for it. He intimated that he would soon begin improvements.

It was accompanied by E. Berry of North Yakima.

Con Finn and Fred Amos of Walla Walla have been stopping at the Hotel Buhl for several days. Mr. Finn owns 120 acres one and a half miles from town which he is having cleared. He intends to have it all in cultivation before snow flies or the ground freezes.

A. H. Cornberg of Salt Lake, J. E. Coughlin, San Francisco, M. B. Torrey, Boise, Arthur G. Cambridge, Idaho; S. F. Grant, salesman for the Z. C. M. Co.'s hardware department of Salt Lake; P. D. Dugan, Kenelch, Idaho; and W. W. Wilson, Boise, were visitors and guests at Hotel Buhl during the week.

J. B. Baldwin and M. B. Osgood have formed a partnership for the purpose of conducting a general merchandise business. They will occupy the Baldwin store building on Broadway, which is to be well stocked with all kinds of goods in their line. Mr. Osgood is now in Salt Lake purchasing stock.

W. D. Doherty, a prominent mine man of Idaho, spent considerable portion of this week looking over the country and was so well pleased with its future prospects that he went to Twin Falls to file on a half section of his former property in Twin Falls for another party. He will return soon with his wife and family and take up his residence on the ranch and endeavor to improve it once. He says that sagbrush does not produce anything and that he is going to get rid of it as soon as possible and replace it with something that has money in it. He is, not a speculator. He is the kind of people we like to welcome in our midst.

Miss Ferguson passed through town Wednesday afternoon with a grubbing outfit consisting of two grubbers, three six-horse wagons loaded with all kinds of supplies and 20 head of horses, to commence operations on 1600 acres of land. The land is situated in township 10, range 18. He proposes having all this land in crop before fall and according to reports of the contractor already done, he will accomplish his purpose, for it is said that he has a big hole in the sagbrush now. He says that he is speculating on a sure thing.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Marshall were given a genuine surprise party Saturday night. It was served after the plot had been laid, but did not last long. The surprised couple recovered their wits and in a short time the floors were cleared for dancing which commenced about 10 o'clock with a violin and guitar, which were operated in duo style by Messrs. Frank Wise and L. W. Gurnea. At midnight the dancing was discontinued and the dance went merrily on for several hours. Everybody had a good time and enjoyed themselves to the top of their voices. The guests included Mrs. L. H. Gurnea, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wise, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. L. Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. E. Scholter, Mrs. George L. Eichelor, Misses M. H. Hincley, Lulu Barstow, Katoy Grosman, Messrs. John B. Hincley, T. R. Allen and W. S. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Griffith entertained a party of their friends at luncheon Sunday. Among the guests were Mrs. Louisa Minger, the Misses Clara and Lillian, Mrs. E. Scholter, Eichelor, Mrs. F. W. Eichelor, Edith Milner, Linnilo Milner, Grochen Miller and Messrs. E. A. Milner, A. J. Springs and Ed Braun. All had a pleasant time.

E. W. Peck visited Thousand Springs last week and spent several days in the fishing. He said that he put in 12 years traveling through the United States and saw all kinds of scenery, but nothing to compare in beauty and grandeur to the Thousand Springs and the immediate surroundings. Your correspondent was there Sunday and second the motion.

A. E. Abbott, the Twin Falls sign painter and C. S. Peck, general merchandise into their new store building on Broadway north of the hotel. The concern will be known hereafter as the Daily Trading company and the bakery will be run in connection with the other business. E. W. Peck is a first-class baker and will prove a god-send to the old bachelors.

Postmaster Eichelor is preparing to extend the postoffice facilities now that he has more room. New fixtures are on the way and are expected in every day.

The Sunday school people held an adjourned meeting in the store room of the hotel building Sunday afternoon, which was well attended; there being about 30 persons present, and formally organized the school. The following officers were elected: H. H. Hibson, superintendent and secretary; Miss Lulu Barstow, treasurer; Mrs. W. J. White, teacher of Bible class; H. S. Hobson, teacher of intermediate class; Mrs. Geo. L. Eveland, teacher of primary class; Mrs. F. S. Marshall, musical director. The school will meet at the same place every Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m., until further notice.

A communication over the wireless brought information to the many friends of S. T. Hamilton here that he had returned to Twin Falls, whereupon several of them, who have had a similar experience and know how it is themselves, immediately prepared to bring on a strenuous fighting tonic which, after having been first duly approved by those eminent authorities on such matters, Eichelor and McCollum, was dispatched by special messenger to Mr. Hamilton. It was a note expressing the hope that it would reach him in time.

An adjourned meeting of the board of trustees and citizens of the town was held last night and a commercial club formally organized. A. J. Miller was elected president, C. S. Peck secretary and M. B. Osgood treasurer. The organization was adopted and the usual committees appointed. F. S. Marshall, F. W. Eichelor and E. H. Coe were appointed trustees. The club members are E. H. Coe, F. W. Eichelor, F. S. Marshall, C. S. Peck, M. B. Osgood, J. C. Sweeney, chairman of the program committee, read the program and suggested that as the speaker of the evening was not present, it be taken up on Monday evening on the inevitable absence of Superintendent McPherson, but the cause being known, there was, of course, no fault found. The subject of the meeting, which was announced for his meeting, attracted much attention and brought out a good crowd in which were several interested citizens. Friga, chairman of the program committee, read the program and suggested that as the speaker of the evening was not present, it be taken up on Monday evening on the inevitable absence of Superintendent McPherson, but the cause being known, there was, of course, no fault found. The subject of the meeting, which was announced for his meeting, attracted much attention and brought out a good crowd in which were several interested citizens.

There was some disappointment felt at the Farmers' association meeting Monday evening on the inevitable absence of Superintendent McPherson, but the cause being known, there was, of course, no fault found. The subject of the meeting, which was announced for his meeting, attracted much attention and brought out a good crowd in which were several interested citizens. Friga, chairman of the program committee, read the program and suggested that as the speaker of the evening was not present, it be taken up on Monday evening on the inevitable absence of Superintendent McPherson, but the cause being known, there was, of course, no fault found. The subject of the meeting, which was announced for his meeting, attracted much attention and brought out a good crowd in which were several interested citizens.

There was a live student of scientific agriculture, horticulture and irrigation, and that he is competent to impart practical information on those subjects. Mr. Sweeney was the next speaker and dealt with many subjects, principally irrigation, the care of orchards and the cause of the death of certain plants, which caused his explanation and gave the remedy for. He said that there was a small worm that eats the bark off the root of the plant and the remedy for it is to dig up the root of the plant in a solution of lime water before setting out the plant. He said this had been tried on the tract and proved effective in saving the plants. Mr. Monahan thanked him for the information and said that he was learning something about both, from his constant attendance at the meetings. "Gibson's Place"

for Everything in Farm Implements and Vehicles

Steel Range Buyers

You owe it to yourself to come in and look over our line of the celebrated JEWEL Steel Ranges. You, no doubt, have read the advertisements of these ranges now appearing in the leading magazines and farm journals and said to yourself, "I wonder if Jewel Steel Ranges are all their makers claim." Now that is just what we want to prove.

Body made Double and Will Last a Lifetime
We want to show you the extra heavy steel used in the double asbestos lined walls, which never cracks, rusts or peels, and requires no blacking, and which makes the Jewel Steel Ranges the most rigid, durable and lasting on the market.

The Perfect Baking Oven
We want to show you the extra large, square oven with patent non-buckling oven bottom, double drop door, steel wire oven racks and direct flue construction that utilizes all the heat generated without loss and make the Jewel Steel Range the most economical and satisfactory baking range manufactured.

The Best Grate ever Devised
We want to show you the handiest, best and quickest removed Duplex grate ever put into a Steel Range. The grate that when operated does not drop-unburned fuel into the ash pan or disturb the bed of the fire.

A Range Top that Stays Level
We want you to see the sectional top plate and trussel like a bridge centers and covers that do not warp or crack, made from Kemi-test Metal which is free from scrap to make it brittle and porous. With a score of other features will demonstrate why Jewel Steel Ranges are different and better, and why it is the only range you can afford to buy. Don't take our word for it. Call and see the range.

Jewels Cost no more than other Standard Ranges
We have several styles and sizes to show you, and the low prices we have placed on these ranges make them the greatest value for the money ever offered in this section.

$31.00 buys a neat, attractive pattern with high closet, and good sized oven.
$39.00 buys highly nickeled, extra large oven, range with all attachments complete.
$51.00 buys a massive, elaborately nickeled and handsome pattern that cannot be equal at any price.

Don't be misled by egg-shell sheet steel affairs called steel ranges offered by mail order houses at give away prices. We will duplicate any range offered by such concerns for the same money and save you the cost of the freight.
