

REMEDIES FOR INSECT PESTS

SIMPLE FORMULAS FOR THEIR EXTERMINATION.

Superintendent McPherson Describes the Habits of the More Common Pests and Tells How They May Be Held in Check.

"HAVE ANY INSECT pests made their appearance on the Twin Falls tract?" Superintendent McPherson was asked. "Yes, I have noticed two or three. The cabbage aphid is prevalent and I have observed green worms proying upon peas, lettuce and cabbage. They are doing some damage in the hay fields."

"What is the best remedy for these pests?"

"Ants can be exterminated by the use of bisulphide of carbon."

"How is it applied?"

"A pint of bisulphide of carbon costs about 60 cents. It can be poured into the ant holes about sundown when the ants are all in, providing the nests are shallow. Two tablespoons of the hill will suffice. If the hill is large a bar or stick should be used to puncture it in order that the gas may reach the nest. After the drug is applied these holes should be closed by tramping them down. One application, as a rule, is sufficient. Bisulphide of carbon is an explosive and should be handled with great care. It should be kept in a cool place, tightly corked, and no fire should be allowed near it. It is a sure cure for ants."

"What remedy do you suggest for the green worms?"

"Paris green or some form of arsenic should be used, either dry or in a liquid state. Where it is used in a liquid state it should be mixed with flour or starch at the rate of one part of Paris green to 10 parts of flour or starch and thoroughly mixed. It may be applied by shaking a cheesecloth sack filled with the mixture over the plants or by taking a baking powder can with one end of the mixture in small holes, sitting the mixture thoroughly on the leaves attacked. It should be applied early in the morning when the dew is on the plants. Mr. Perrine set men to work pulling the mixture along the boulevard and vicinity. The Twin Falls Investment company immediately engaged a number of men to ride over the tract and call the attention of the farmers to the presence of the thistle and explain the need of prompt action for its extermination. Every effort will be made to induce farmers and others to pull the thistles before they seed. They are about ready to seed now and quick work is demanded."

"Russian thistle is a curse to farmers. It spreads with astonishing rapidity and does enormous damage. I have 150 acres of land in Colorado which I could have sold for $50 an acre at one time," said Judge Shields. "Russian thistle spread over it and the land cannot be sold for $2 an acre now. It would strongly urge every farmer to pull every thistle on his place and pull it quick."

The slogan, "One hundred million dollars for national reclamation," which is to be the battle cry at the Fourteenth National Irrigation congress at Boise, September 3, has been taken up by delegates coming from every section of the country. Advocates of the movement will be able to convince every delegate to the congress that there is an absolute necessity for the immediate use of this sum to complete work now under way, and that every dollar will be returned with interest within 10 years by the farmers to be benefited. It is a business proposition, and the security offered is as good as that of any other investment. The amount which will be asked to reclaim it. The Boise session will be known as the "hundred million dollar congress."

LOSS OF STOCK FROM BLOATING

DAMP ALFALFA IS DANGEROUS TO CATTLE.

Hungry Cows Should Not Be Allowed to Graze in Alfalfa Pastures—Most Effective Remedy for Animals Afflicted with Bloat.

Several Twin Falls farmers have recently lost valuable cattle through bloatings caused by alfalfa pastures. Others have had to resort to drastic measures to save their stock. There is only one way to prevent cattle from bloatings on alfalfa and that is to see that they get no chance to gorge themselves on the plant. A hungry cow turned into an alfalfa pasture early in the morning when the dew is on the leaf is likely to get bloat in 15 minutes. John Peters lost his milk cow a few days ago in about that period of time. Opinions differ as to the cause of bloat but it is generally supposed to be the result of fermentation of wet alfalfa in the stomach with consequent generation of gas. Cattle are especially liable to bloat, which also affects horses in a lesser degree. The loss from bloat in sections where alfalfa is regularly pastured is ordinarily small, possibly five per cent per annum. This loss is more than offset by the increased gain from pasturing, unless the animals killed are especially valuable. A dairy cow is a valuable asset on the Twin Falls tract and the farmers cannot afford to lose their cream and butter producers. An alfalfa patch is very alluring to the cow that picks up a sipping in the grasshopper, and she is apt to commit suicide if she is not watched. It is claimed that bloat is more likely to occur when cattle are turned upon wet alfalfa or when they are turned into a pasture where the alfalfa is especially valuable. A drench made of baking powder or salutaris and water is effective if applied soon enough to cause rebellion in the cow's stomach and forces her to disgorge. A diluted solution of coal oil will have the same effect. When the cow goes down it is time to use the trocha or knife without delay, making the puncture or incision on the left side, looking from behind, about the center of the triangle formed by the hip-bone and the ribs. The trocha is preferable because it makes a cleaner wound and permits of the escape of gas through the outer tube which remains in the puncture. The knife makes a ragged gash and if the animal is badly bloated the contents of the paunch will be forced into the incision, closing it and preventing the escape of gas. Animals once bloated are susceptible of subsequent attacks. The best way is to see that they do not get too much alfalfa because it is possible to have too much of a good thing.

RUSSIAN THISTLE IS THREATENING

is a Dangerous Pest and Should Not Be Allowed to Gain Foothold—Investment Company Sends Out Men to Warn the Farmers.

The Russian thistle has made its appearance on the Twin Falls tract and declared war on the formidable pest. It is not confined to any particular section but in its present stage it can be weeded out if the farmers take hold in earnest. If it is not checked effectively and immediately it will work incalculable damage.

The campaign was started this morning by L. E. Perrine, who plucked several heads of thistle and displayed them on the sidewalks and in front of the business houses in order that all might become familiar with the appearance of the evil weed. At his own expense Mr. Perrine set men to work pulling the mixture along the boulevard and vicinity. The Twin Falls Investment company immediately engaged a number of men to ride over the tract and call the attention of the farmers to the presence of the thistle and explain the need of prompt action for its extermination. The southern states, bordering on the Atlantic ocean and the Gulf of Mexico have advised the executive committee that they will be represented at the Fourteenth National Irrigation congress by their most expert engineers and scientific agriculturists. These states are more interested in reclamation than irrigation. They are troubled with too much water and study reclamation through drainage propositions. Their delegates will submit drainage problems to the engineering section, which will prove an interesting feature. The southern states contain millions of acres of valuable land if proper methods can be found to drain them of their surplus water. Much valuable information along these lines will be obtained at the Boise congress.

THEN AND NOW

At the general election 10 years ago only nine votes were cast for the Republican ticket in the county of Cassia. It was considered almost impossible to support William McClellan. The Democrats and Bullies were feared and the Silver Republicans were fighting might and main for William Hughes Bryan. In Idaho McKinley had few friends. Among them were Senator Heyburn and the Boise Statesman. Senator Heyburn offered himself as a candidate that year and received such a beating that it was predicted he would never recover from it. In Cassia county only nine men had the courage to stand by their party. They met in convention, endorsed the platform of their friends and elected by the name. Those of the name were: "These are the courageous voters who were: John F. Hansen, Rock Creek. Herman Stricker, Stricker. George G. Conant, Albion. Charles M. Gray, Albion. Moses Wells, Albion. Leo Kirk, Bridge. Charles Oliver, Vale. Lou M. Sweetser, Vale.

"Uncle John" Hansen of Rock Creek is well known to the people of Twin Falls and his political assays as high as Cassia county in the Sixth and Eighth legislatures and is one of the most prominent and influential party workers. Mr. Lounsbury is also in the harness and he is sure that his name deserves to be remembered by their party.

DEMOCRATS ARE FALLING IN LINE

SEND DELEGATION TO COUNTY CONVENTION.

Announces That They Will Permit No Personal Ambitions or Cuckoo Tactics to Interfere with the Prosperity of the Tract.

The Democrats held a caucus and primary election in the Babcock building on Monday evening at which the following delegates were selected to represent the Twin Falls precinct at the Democratic county convention in Albion tomorrow: P. E. Smith, J. W. Crovel, Mr. Worthington, H. S. Osburn, J. L. Purney, Dr. J. M. Rogers, W. H. Babcock, T. C. Macaulay, P. J. Holohan and C. C. Bedford.

"We really have no policy outlined, and one of the Democratic leaders, except that we are united for the welfare of the city of Twin Falls and the entire tract. We will do our best to encourage capital to come in here and will exert ourselves to secure a square deal alike for the man who invests their capital and those who profit by the investment. There are no factions in our party and the man who attempts to set himself above the welfare of the party or the tract in order to satisfy personal greed or vanity will be set down upon so hard that he will never come up. We are for Twin Falls and everything pertaining to its good, and our purpose is to enlist the cooperation of all interests and to antagonize none. We will not tolerate any corporate domination or interference but will confine our efforts toward securing a square deal for all those who have invested their money in Twin Falls and helping to give the city and tract an enviable reputation. I do not know who we will support for governor. We are not posted on state politics yet but we are ready to fall in line."

WON THE COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP

TWIN FALLS BALL TEAM TRIUMPHS AT OAKLEY.

Defeated Burley on 23rd and Oakley on 24th by One-Sided Score—Boys Speak Enthusiastically of Oakley Hospitality.

"They treated us like kings," was the reply of Manager T. J. Woods when he was asked how his baseball club fared at Oakley. "You bet they did," cheered the players, "they are mighty nice people, and when they come down here at fair time we want to see that they receive the best that we can give." Before we could pick up our bats, continued Mr. Woods, "They handed us the $100 prize money and from start to finish they treated us with the greatest courtesy. We are all mighty pleased with the result of the trip, not only because we won the championship of the county but likewise, on account of the way in which we were received and entertained by the people of Oakley. They treated us as though we belonged to the family, and I tell you we appreciated what they did. I want to put in a good word for Jim Worthington and to compliment him on his good work. Several other gentlemen there, whose names I cannot recall just now, went out of their way to be kind to us and we are just aching for a chance to show them our appreciation."

The defeated team, composed of Burley and Heyburn working on the 23rd by a score of 19 to 6, with Sweezy and Hayes as a battery. On the 24th Oakley was defeated by a score of 26 to 4. Holohan and Hayes working in the points for Twin Falls. The Twin Falls line-up was: First base Dunn, Second base Klistered, Third base Sweezy, Shortstop and pitcher Holohan, Catcher Hayes, Center field Towner, Left field Wilson.

The irrigators played with great vim, battling like fiends. In the last game Klistered and Mechnan made home runs and every body got a hit. The players really went out of their way to be kind to us and we are just aching for a chance to show them our appreciation."

President Bunstead of the Colorado State Beet Growers' association has notified the board of control that his organization will endeavor to make a winning contest for the $500 donated by loving cup that has been solidly by President Havenoy for the benefit of irrigators who are to have an irrigation congress to be held at Boise September 3 to 8. Similar organizations in California, Utah, Washington and Idaho have given the same notice, and the prospects are that the greatest exhibit of sugar beets ever made will be shown on this occasion. The raising of sugar beets has advanced more rapidly than any other industry during the past few years and promises to become a more important crop than fruit culture in the near future. Idaho has built five beet sugar factories during the past five years, costing $1,000,000 each, and two more are now under construction.

KIMBERLY DOES THE HOSPITABLE

SPLENDID ENTERTAINMENT ON PIONEER DAY.

Indoor Program and Field Sports De-light Large Crowd of Visitors—Propo-sal to Bond School District—New Park in Sight.

KIMBERLY, July 25.—Pioneer Day was celebrated in Kimberly on July 24 in a manner that would do credit to much older and larger place. About ten o'clock vehicles of various size and description began to arrive and the influx of visitors continued until late in the afternoon, when at least 500 people were present.

At 11 o'clock sharp and ran as follows: "America".....By the audience Prayer.....Chaplain Laban Morrill Solo.....Mrs. Madison Fisher Selection.....Madison Fisher Recitation.....Miss Mabel Pettiford Selection.....Miss Margaret West Recitation.....Inez Pomroy Selection.....C. E. Colo "Idaho".....By the audience Recitation.....Chaplain Morrill

For the benefit of the older people to awaken reminiscences of bygone days, Mrs. Fisher sang in an effective manner "When the Swallows Home-ward Fly," and an encore gave her the opportunity of more modern days, "The Holy City." C. E. Colo of Twin Falls delighted the audience with his humorous selection from "Joseph." At 10:15 following it was given in a much more sober vein entitled "The Sod House in Heaven." Madison Fisher, on very short notice placed by the non-appearance of B. E. Ross, who had been selected as orator, gave an extremely interesting and instructive discourse upon the occasion of the non-appearance of B. E. Ross, seven years old, both spoke well and showed a marked degree of ability. Probably the greatest success of the program was Miss West's selection from "The Sign of the Cross," in which it tells of the persecution of the Christians. The selection was very appropriate and was delivered in an able and scholarly way that showed excellent training. Miss West is an artist in her line. The drill is also worthy of special mention, for the girls worked hard to make their part of the program a success and it is unanimously conceded that their work was not only well done but excellent.

After the program the visitors had lunch under the bower and rested until the sports of the afternoon began at 2:30. The basketball game, between Rock Creek and Kimberly, opened the afternoon's performance. A big crowd witnessed the game, which was exciting and full of interest to the very end. The Kimberly team was the victor. Henry Scott as marshal of the day, assisted by Ernest McIntyre and Joseph Sudweeks, handled the crowds well and not the slightest accident occurred to mar the pleasure of the day. The children's dance in the afternoon in the school house was equally enjoyable to the participants. Everyone who gathered in large numbers to see the youngsters learn so easily to "rip the light" fantastic toe.

After the game the races and other contests took place in front of the school house. Don Sudweeks clubbed the greased pole, while Joseph Sudweeks carried off first prize in the 80-yard dash. G. C. Oakes easily won first place in the 80-yard dash, Smith of Twin Falls coming in second. Ed. Wilkins was the victor in the boys' race and likewise in the girls' race. Ed. can step it off pretty lively and shows signs of developing into a sprinter with training. Frank Burdick won the married man's race and the little Walton girl won the girls' race. The barrel race was unique and the way the boys went through those barrels was far from slow. Horace Perkins claimed first prize in the finals. Henry Hansen of Rock Creek won the stamming "long jump," while Smith of Twin Falls was quickest in the hurdle race. There were two horse races, the first a match race between the Cheney horse and the company horse in which the Cheney horse won. The second was a free for all in which five horses were entered, including the two mentioned above. It was a 250-yard dash and the winner was by the company horse. Liberal cash prizes were given to the winners in all of the contests.

The dance hall in the evening was crowded to overflowing. Everyone enjoyed themselves thoroughly and it was almost daylight when the lights were extinguished and the last of the dancers turned on their heels. The party that was Kimberly celebrated again he will be among the crowd that will enjoy the town's hospitality.

The Ladies club will give a picnic on Saturday evening, August 1. The ladies are planning a delightful entertainment, including an interesting program. The proceeds of the evening will be spent in starting work on a park. Two blocks have been set aside for the purpose. In the next part of the town it is planned that the ladies be able to carry out their plans the desert will soon be made to blossom as the rose. The public is cordially invited to the social.

The advisability of bonding the Kimberly school district will be discussed and voted upon at a meeting of the voters, freeholders and heads of families called for Saturday afternoon at 10 o'clock. Notices have been duly posted and a large representation of the residents of District No. 32 is desired.

Meeting of the Farmers' association on Wednesday evening was addressed by H. T. West on the subject of cutting, curing and stacking alfalfa hay. Mr. West's talk was very practical and a big number of farmers who are having their first experience with alfalfa. A special meeting of the association is called for next Wednesday evening when business of great importance to Kimberlites will be discussed.

Mr. A. L. Gale returned Monday from a two week stay upon the Genoa ranch near Heyburn. Stoyat Cheney left Sunday for a visit with friends in Utah. Roy Eaton, son of E. J. Eaton, met with quite a serious accident on Friday. He was carrying a shovel over his shoulder when it slipped over his back, striking him just above the heel, cutting the tendons of the foot. The injury is expected, though probably the foot will be stiff for some time.

Within the next 20 days the social event of the year will take place, when the depot will be opened and the Townsite company will give a free reception.

BEES WORK FOR DR. ALBEE
Rock Creek Physician Will Market Five Tons of Honey.

When a man follows a pursuit solely for gain he will succeed only when he is sufficiently conscious of the purpose and profit of energy; but if he follows the pursuit because he likes it better than any other he is almost certain to succeed. Rocky is a man in 50 makes a success of bee culture. The remainder become discouraged and their stands or hives are annihilated in a short space of time. Dr. E. Albee of Rock Creek has had a number of men in Idaho who have made a study of bees and their habits and has made a success of bee culture. His moves among his bees is the ordinary man moves among domestic chickens. They seem to recognize him as a friend and they swarm about him peacefully. Occasionally a "scold" sounds a beligerent note which to the doctor's trained ear is equivalent to a declaration of war. A slap of the hands and the scold is out of business. He watches his workers as a mother watches her children with the result that he receives the full fruits of their labor.

Dr. Albee lost a good many stands of bees this spring on account of the weather. The bees woke up in February during a spell of warm weather and imagined spring had arrived. They started out in the morning and when it turned cold again they had no strength left to carry them through. The alfalfa seed devoured some of the stands and the remainder of the doctor's alfalfa has enough bees at work to furnish him with five tons of honey this season. If all goes well he will double his output next year. He has another honey from a distance of one mile from the yard, alfalfa blossoms being the principal source of supply. By way of experiment Dr. Albee tested some buckwheat but the bees have thus far scorned to touch it. They extract honey from the clover and alfalfa blossoms almost exclusively.

This year Dr. Albee had his honey cans made in Twin Falls by T. E. West. His customers in Rock Creek, Alton, Oakley and vicinity will find almost his entire supply of honey, though it is possible he may place some on the Twin Falls market by way of trial. The doctor extracts his honey by the simplest and most modern process and those who have used it are his best customers.

There is another feature of bee culture which should attract attention to farmers, especially in new districts. That is the value of the bees as distributors of pollen. In the Pavette variety, where new bees are raised there is in any other section of the state, the highest yield and the best quality of alfalfa seed is obtained. The bees are given credit for this because of their distribution of pollen. The same theory also applies to fruit growing. To secure good yields it is necessary that the bees should circulate freely and in numbers in the orchards. In order to demonstrate the need of bees to fertilize alfalfa blossoms, Superintendent McElroy is leaving a tract of land in width across the alfalfa field on the experimental farm which he will save for seed. If the seed proves to be fertile, well and good, the theory that bees are necessary to spread the pollen will receive a hard blow. On the other hand, should the seed prove barren it will be a strong argument for bee culture on the Twin Falls tract. There may possibly be a few wild bees around the experimental farm and it is also possible that sufficient pollen may be distributed by the wind, but the thrifty bees are the greatest distributors in the world and where they are kept there is no danger of barrenness.

Some very interesting statistics are being compiled by the state engineers and agriculture departments of the 16 states and territories comprising the irrigated area of the United States. These will consist of compilations of statistics relating to the amount of water in the various streams, the amount additional that can be conserved through storage, and the number of acres of land that are subject to reclamation through irrigation. The showing will be a wonderful exposition of the vast opportunities remaining in the west for profitable investment of capitalists for the future in water. It will also show the large markets for manufacturers, for extending railroads and other means of transportation, for building cities and towns. The statistics given will be authentic and reliable, and demonstrate to what extent the future holds for irrigation enterprises.

OFFICIAL RECOGNITION.

Governor Cutler Issues Proclamation Commending Irrigation Congress. The friends of the National Irrigation congress, which meets at Boise September 3 to 8, have taken of their hats to Governor Cutler of Utah and concede to him the honor of being the first chief executive to officially recognize the fourteenth congress by issuing a proclamation commending the session to the people of that state, urging their cooperation in its success.

Governor Cutler selected the fourth of July as the date for issuing his proclamation, the document appearing in all of the Salt Lake daily papers on that day. The concluding paragraph is as follows: "I do hereby commend, to the friendly consideration of the people of Utah, this approaching session of the congress, and I recommend that as many as possible of our citizens attend the congress and add to its interest and value by their suggestions; and that all residents of the state give their moral support to this great and important movement."

Utah has always taken the lead in all matters pertaining to irrigation. The National Irrigation congress held its first meeting in the capital city of the state and the success attained by the organization is due to its citizens, who are everywhere recognized as the foremost irrigationists of the world. Governor Cutler's official action will be followed by a similar proclamation issued by the chief executives of all the states and territories comprising the irrigated area. The Boise congress will have the executive endorsement of 17 governors.

The Hansen siding has been completed. The main station, Vaux, is properly "Uncle John" Hansen of Rock Creek was the first shipper to use the new siding, the first car placed on the rails being a car of flour for his store at Rock Creek. The survey for the waterworks has been finished, the right of way acquired and the pipe ordered. One good feature of the waterworks system will be a settling reservoir of ample capacity. The first kiln of Hansen brick has been burned and sold and another kiln is under way. Part of the brick will be used in the construction of a two-story school building in Hansen which will be equipped to the hour and in charge of the most capable instructors obtainable. Several other brick buildings are being planned and indications are that Hansen will be a "brick built" city, home made and beautiful.

You're beaten to earth? Well, well, what's that? Come up with a smiling face. It's nothing against you to fall down flat.

The harder you're thrown, why, the higher you'll bounce. Do proud of the blackened eye. It isn't the fact that you're kicked that counts.

Returms from all counties indicate the nomination of Governor Gooding by acclamation at the Pocatello convention. Without the senatorial fight to complicate matters this governor would have had inconsequential opposition.

While stacking hay on his ranch in the Boise valley last Saturday Sam Bolter was struck in the abdomen by the tines of a Jackson hayfork and rushed 12 or 14 feet into the air.

W. E. Smith, editor of the Southern Idaho Mail at Blackfoot, was recruited by a band of women and boys in Blackfoot last Saturday night as a result of his treatment of his first wife and his remarriage immediately after securing a divorce.

There are prospects of a serious range war between stockmen and farmers in the extreme northern part of Washington county and in the Salmon river valley. Notices have been posted on the doors of various farm houses notifying farmers that unless they agree to an early date their homes will be burned or blown up.

Two persons were killed in a wreck on the Great Northern at Camden, Wash., on Monday evening.

A terrific windstorm struck St. Louis and vicinity on Thursday afternoon. Lightning started seven fires in different parts of the city.

The roller stations in San Francisco will be abandoned on August 1, contingent upon the result of the hearing recently improved to warrant the closing.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland was taken ill on Monday night and premature delivery followed. All expectations of an heir to the throne have been abandoned.

William B. Hearst is making a strong fight for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York and his supporters are sanguine that he will be successful.

Disappointed because their parents were not here to attend the marriage, Gustave Kathke, aged 19, and Ella Miller, aged 18, committed suicide together on Tuesday night by jumping into the Delaware river at Philadelphia.

It is probable that Esther Mitchell, who shot and killed her brother, George Mitchell, because he had slain her father, will be released from the state hospital for the insane.

Albert Doty, an aged miner, came to his death near Stanislaus, California, on Thursday in an unusual manner, as the result of a rifle shot. Doty shot a squirrel, the bullet after passing through it glanced and entered a powder keg, causing an explosion which wrecked the building and a piece of flying timber struck Doty, killing him instantly.

The dissolution of the duenna by the Singer Sewing Machine Co., located at Portland, Oregon, and Czenstochau, Russian Poland, were destroyed by dynamite bombs.

On the same night the home of Sam Taylor was burned and destroyed, forced into Donlinger's coal office.

Timely intervention by a passing citizen frustrated an attempt to fire the building owned by Lowe & Jones at Council last Tuesday. A box filled with rugs saturated with coal oil with a candle set in the center was found by a citizen who was thinking of throwing the burning mass into the street.

Sam Catrell, Jr., son of S. H. Catrell of American Falls, both of whom are under sentence to serve six years in the penitentiary for horse stealing, has jumped his bond and disappeared. The Catrells were out on bail pending an appeal of their cause to the supreme court, which decided against them.

On August 1 the eight-hour work for all underground employees in practically all the mines in the Coeur d'Alenes will go into effect. There will be no change in the mine owners.

To Republicans: We are anxious to have every Republican in close touch and working in harmony with the Republican National congressional committee in favor of the election of a Republican congress.

The congressional campaign must be based on the administrative and legislative record of the party, and that being so, Theodore Roosevelt's personality will be central figure and his achievements a central thought in the campaign.

We desire to maintain the work of this campaign with popular subscription of one dollar each from Republicans. To each subscriber we will send the Republican National campaign text book and all documents issued by the committee.

Help us achieve a great victory. JAMES S. SHERMAN, Chairman. P. O. Box 2063, New York.

HARVESTING ALFALFA SEED UTILITY OF FARM MACHINERY

Most Approved Methods of Handling the Crop. Could Be Improved if Better Judgment Were Used.

(By Elwood Mead, Chief of the Department of Agriculture.)

American farm machinery is not rendering the service it should because it is not selected with wisdom nor is it operated with skill. With all the improvements which have been made in 1700-pound horses to pull it and then hitch it behind a team of 1200-pound horses. The result is neither a good team nor a success. We have our own, our mowers and our self-binders exposed to rain and sun, thus lessening both their life and their service. And we have to keep them in good repair. We need in this country a public sentiment which will put the farmer who neglects or abuses his machinery on a same standard with the man who has poor breeds of stock or who neglects to care for them.

We need investigations which will enable farmers and manufacturers to make machinery more perfectly to the power that is to run it and the strength that is to control it. How much does the average farmer today know or care about the machinery required to pull any machine or the importance of having the size of machines adjusted to the size or number of horses which he keeps? And how much energy in this country is wasted by teams which walk too far for the work they do or which are worn out by being harnessed to a load too heavy for them to pull. Investigations carried on last year to determine the relation between the weight of horses and the draft of breaking plows show how much energy is wasted. The manufacturer of machinery—a better understanding of these matters would be of great value to the farmer and the machinery to the size and weight of the horses which supply this power, as we have studied the chemistry of feeding animals and the use of fertilizers to the needs of soils, the factory will make better implements and the farmer will make more money out of their use. So little systematic study of the needs of the farmer has been made and so little attention given to instruction in farm mechanics in our agricultural colleges and technical schools that men who combine mechanical training with the knowledge of agricultural science and practical familiarity with farm life.

I have spoken solely of the use of animal power as a substitute for human labor. We are, however, in the beginning of another evolution, the possibilities of which we are unable to forecast. This is the employment of steam, electricity and other forms of power in farm work. How far these are to take the place of both men and animals we cannot predict, but every farmer who has a knowledge of agriculture which was at first used almost solely for pumping water for livestock is beginning to cut feed, saw wood, run machinery of various kinds and it is possible that with the improvements in electrical storage it may in time light the farmer's house, furnish the heat for his barn and dry his clothes. The potential power of the streams which rise on our mountains and flow down to the sea is beginning to be harnessed and it is because heretofore the factory had to go to the stream and this was not possible, but with the improvements in electrical transmission, the stream now goes to the factory and the factory to the stream and this was not possible.

Against Child Slavery.

As an earnest that there is to be no cessation of its campaign against child slavery, the Woman's Home Committee has prominently placed its August number, the "Anti-Child Labor Creed"—nine curt paragraphs clearly defining the faith and purpose of those who are fighting against the abuses of child labor. But that this serious purpose has not caused any neglect of entertaining features, is shown by a review of novel stories such as "The Spurs of Jealousy," by Rafael Sabatini; "A Lover's Pledge," by Richard Le Gallienne; "The Wage of Sin," by Edna Ferber Butler; and "All and the Buzzard Perplexed," by Cloudesley Johns. "The Preserving and Canning of Fruits," "Fashionable Midsummer Clothes," and "Candy Making for Summer Use" are among the practical articles on household affairs. Anna Steese Richardson gives valuable suggestions on how to meet the needs of country girls who have decided upon city careers; Marlon Harland, considering the question, "Are Now Girls by Edna Ferber Butler," and some pointed remarks; Adella Belle Board describes original sea-beach games and in good time for the circus season, Claire Wallace Flynn tells of the "Bressmaking for the Circus Animals."

Kindness Went Too Far.

An elderly philanthropist who was walking home late one night from his club passed a prosperous-looking apartment house and noticed a maid in evening clothes lying motionless on the sidewalk. "First aid to the injured," murmured the philanthropist, as he shook the invalid gently. "What's the matter, my dear girl?" "No'n, jes' takin' rest," said the sleeper. "Where do you live?" "121 E. Third," replied the apartment house, "the floor front." This was a rather large freight order for the old gentleman, but being willing to do good he put the invalid on his feet and bore him laboriously to the third floor landing, found his room and tossed him into a large curtained bed in the front of the apartment. The philanthropist immediately went downstairs and out into the street. And the first thing he saw on the sidewalk was, apparently, the same thing he had just started. "Strange, strange!" muttered the philanthropist, leaning over the man. "Where do you live, my dear man?" "The floor front," replied the invalid almost inaudibly. So the philanthropist poked him up, groaned up to the third floor front and again dumped his snoring burden into the curtained bed, canopied and curtained bed. And for the third time he went out into the street and for the third time found what appeared to be the same man in the same place, lying in the same attitude. "Where do you live?" he asked, trembling with excitement. "The floor front," said the man, very faintly. "I must be going insane!" groaned the E. P., as he rang for the janitor. "Janitor, for heaven's sake tell me, how many young men are lying in your third floor front?" he gasped.

"Wan, and he do be the devil's own," said the janitor. "Is he trippin'?" was the next question. "He is, but I'll tell you how it come, then, that I have carried this fellow upstairs to his room twice, put him into that curtained bed to the front, yet each time I find him here on the sidewalk before I have time to get downstairs."

"Where did ye say ye put him in his room?"

"Why, I put him in that large curtained bed to the front."

"Well, ye poor old jutt!" said the janitor, pityingly. "hot ain't no bed that's a window!"—Success.

BUHL CAPTURED BY ODD FELLOWS

FRACTIOUS GOAT CAUSES ALL KINDS OF TROUBLE

Animal Inhaled Too Much Buhl Ozone and Kicked Up a Fuss at the Initial Ceremonies—Good Roads Movement Started.

BUHL, July 25.—Mrs. Louise Mager has been sick for several days, but is now able to be up and around again.

E. A. Pearce of Pullman, Wash., who has been living on his ranch—three miles southwest of town for several weeks, but still confined in bed. Pearce proved up. From there he and his family will return to Washington for the winter. They intend coming back in the fall.

J. W. Boyle and wife of Burlington, Iowa, arrived in town Friday and went to one of their ranches and a half-mile east of town, where they will remain until they prove up.

D. H. Bark, foreman of the experimental farm, was taken suddenly ill at the Odd Fellows banquet Saturday night and is still confined in bed.

Arthur Scranston, a Kansas school teacher, is preparing to get a deed from the state for his 80-acre ranch in the west of town.

Joseph Perrault of Boise was a guest at Hotel Buhl last week.

Judge James A. Shields, John Haylick, C. W. Hawk, Edgar A. Latta, W. A. Childers, E. Schermerhorn, W. N. Pomroy, James A. Bybee, C. B. Cartwright, C. H. Lowe, A. G. Shields, S. Q. Wells, W. H. Pape, J. P. Haeucl, J. H. Day, Fred Nihart, D. R. Boutt, J. M. Bennett, Alfie McFittre, Al B. Roberts, C. O. Mills and George L. Morgan, all of Twin Falls, were present at the institute of the Odd Fellows' lodge Saturday night and Sunday morning.

E. W. Kinyon and Ed. S. Coure of Twin Falls registered at Hotel Buhl Sunday.

J. L. Snow and J. Isaacson, both of Eureka, Utah, were in town Sunday.

George Crafton of Weiser, Idaho, spent several days in town the past week.

George Evolth went to Albion Thursday to attend the Republican county convention. He returned home Sunday well pleased with the work accomplished.

The roads on the east of the tract, and particularly those south of town, are practically impassable and the ranchmen have a good kick coming. They don't swear very loud but it goes deep, at the condition of the roads. They say that they cannot tell where to drive to avoid getting mired—and breaking their wagons and harness.

The people living in that direction say that if the government will furnish lumber and other necessary material they will build the necessary bridges and make the roads themselves.

S. T. Hamilton, accompanied by Miss Elva McCollum, came down from Twin Falls Thursday on his way to Salmon Falls and Hagerman. They stopped long enough for lunch and then continued their journey. From Hagerman they were to drive to Shoshone, where they intended to take the train for Halley.

Thomas Nickler, who is living on his ranch one-half mile south of the townsite here, had to go to Twin Falls Thursday to hire a man to work on his ranch.

The Weeter Lumber company is painting its buildings and has put a stone foundation under them.

E. F. Jensen, Snowville, Utah, drove in last week with his family and several head of cattle and horses. He camped in town a day and then went out on his 30-acre ranch, where he is now working to settle down and commence making improvements. He is here to stay. He also owns property in town.

Frank Wicker, manager of the Buhl Lumber company, was a visitor to the Power city Thursday.

The oats on the H. O. Milner ranch adjoining the townsite on the north are ripening and the merry sound of the self-blinder will soon be heard in the land. The crops on this end of the tract were put in late, but they will get there in time.

The shade trees are making a splendid growth, but they are unprotected and are being ruined by cattle and horses that run at large in the neighborhood.

The two model blocks are fast becoming leeward spots. Charles A. Coker, superintendent of the water works, constructed a tank that he will soon have the water into town. It will be very welcome by all.

C. A. Tush, engineer for the water company, was in town last week locating the line for the water pipes.

Herman Anderson moved out of his ranch Friday and will stay there during the prohibition period.

Miss Mary L. Hinkley intends leaving in a few days for a month's visit at her old home in Grand, Colorado. Her old home in Grand, Colorado, at National bank, Twin Falls, came into town Friday on business.

W. B. Wallis left Saturday for Twin Falls and will remain in town for the remainder of the summer.

E. W. Peck's bakery is now in full blast and the old bachelors have bread and pies galore.

A lady, a stranger, at Hotel Buhl a few days ago, when helped to the chairs that were on the table, said: "Why, I thought they were simon-piersons." The cherries came from Higerman.

Miss Edith Sawyer came down from Boise last week to visit her mother, who is now employed in the dining room of Hotel Buhl.

Attorney W. A. Dabcock and S. W. Hazen of Twin Falls made a business trip to Buhl yesterday.

D. T. O. Boyd and two sons came in from the Power city last evening. They will visit a few days in this part of the city.

Owing to sickness in his family Superintendent McPherson was absent from the Farmers association meeting Monday night. The only subject discussed at the meeting was the one relating to the school, but the association took no definite action, as the matter is now in the hands of the board of trustees, all the members having duly qualified and entered upon the discharge of their duties. Preparations are being made to take the school out of operation at the regular commencement time.

At the meeting of the commercial club last night the executive committee was directed to take up the matter of roads and bridges with the Twin Falls Land & Water company and endeavor to induce it to bridge the canals so that the roads may be put in a passable condition. It is hoped that the committee will have no time in dealing with this matter, and that the company will do the right thing and do it at once.

The Odd Fellows instituted Buhl Lodge No. 2225 on Saturday night with 23 members, six of whom were initiates. There are several applications in and the lodge promises to be a large one. The first meeting was held at the hotel on Sunday morning.

The following officers were elected: S. G. Marshall, N. G. A. H. Nihart, V. G. John R. Lehman, recording secretary; George Belknap, financial secretary; and M. D. Barrett, treasurer.

After the usual routine business was gone through with, the initiation of candidates commenced. It is a rule, without an exception, of the order, that every candidate for admission must be anointed with denaturized alcohol before he tackles the goat or the goat tackles him. The reason for this rule is that if the goat puts the victim out of commission, when he appears at the party, gates, and St. Peter opens the wicked, he gets a white of the order.

From the applicant for admission will immediately open the gates to him without any question, because he knows at once what has happened. He has been there himself. At the anointed time every one, goat and all, were at their proper stations. Fred Nihart, M. W. G., was in waiting on his master, the goat, and holding him for the caller, while W. B. Harris, U. A., was anointing the candidate. He was leaning over the prostrate form on the bench applying the liquid. The motion process was a terrific one, and mark for his billyshap that he was unable to resist the impulse to do a little practice work before the commencement of regular proceedings.

Without a moment's warning, he broke away from his keeper, sprang forward and struck the anointer square in rear midship. Cries of "object," "object," came from all quarters of the room and the court was appealed to. Judge Shields decided that that was a foul but warned the latter that if he committed another such offense he would issue him for contempt of court, but billyshap was up and the only notice he took of the warning was to make a dash for the door.

The judge evidently had some experience in this line before, for he forgot all about the dignity of the bench, he hiked for the tall timber. Pandemonium reigned for a while. Billyshap his whiskers and "batted" his eyes in the field and "monarch of all he surveyed." He stood all alone in the middle of the floor wagging his tail and keeping a sharp lookout for the lynch and broken furniture which the butter knocked them, and everything was in a shape for legitimate work.

At this stage in the proceedings a young correspondent of the "Object" was detected in the act of making notes. Instantly a dozen pair of bodily hands seized him and fired him right across the transom into the anteroom thus preventing us from learning anything more about what happened during the rest of the night.

However, Frank Sorenson and Andy Wilkins told your correspondent the next day that the whole bunch looked like they had been in swimming with all their clothes on, and further, that they had the appearance of being pulled through a barbed-wire fence with the wires so close that the barb caught on both sides and did fine execution in ripping and tearing. J. H. Day said that the goat caused him to lose more fat than the Republican party will be able to fry out of the trusts for the next presidential campaign.

He said that he thought the animal would be tame enough after traveling the rough and dusty roads between Twin Falls and Buhl to his work without the usual and, but instead of being tamed and tamed, he never saw him so full of life and fight and he could not account for it. He was soon informed by a reporter of Buhl of the cause, which is this: The moment that man, woman, child or animal of any kind arrives in Buhl or its vicinity they take on new life, vigor and energy and activity increases 50 per cent and that was what was the matter with the goat.

Your correspondent could learn nothing definite about the condition of the six brave men who had the nerve to go up against his horned and whiskered majesty, except that they are all "dead" and "rotten" and that there is no telling when, if ever, they will get up.

C. S. Peck and wife have just arrived in town from the ranch for supplies.

Special Prizes

W. B. Dorgan has a patch of oats that have a 15¢ appearance and Mr. Dorgan is out for the money. He will take a lot of beating.

E. H. Reig has an idea that his hulless barley will startle the natives and he proposes to take some of the prize money to Filer.

E. L. Johnson has some eight beets and cane for fodder which he says are "pretty fair." That means that he is probably laying back in the collar with a little joker and intends to capture the cash.

Sam Woodhead says he really hasn't anything new entering but he will compete just to make it interesting. He will be there with his wife and his neighbor, Charlie Eldred. If they don't get the money they will be very close up.

Several other prominent farmers are taking stock with the view of competing and there will be some work for the judges.

Good Shoes

Are absolutely necessary for comfort, and they cannot be comfortable unless they fit.

In the first place, you want to choose a good reliable firm when in need of shoes, as the guarantee of the retailer is what you have to fall back to if the shoe is not satisfactory. It does not matter who makes the shoe, as there are good and bad shoes in every line.

Secondly—Choose the style you want and see that the eye and pocketbook is suited.

Thirdly—Have the shoes properly fitted by an expert shoe man, as that is the principal part of the shoe business. A good shoe ill fitting is money thrown away.

We are assembling for the fall trade nothing but the best lines that money and 15 years' experience can buy. It is no guess work with us. We know the goods, and our guarantee will stand behind them. We have nothing but expert shoe men, and especially in Ladies' and Children's lines we may say the only experts on the Twin Falls tract.

We guarantee satisfaction or money cheerfully refunded. Our motto is

Those Who Wear Diamonds.

"Big Tim" Sullivan of Tammany fame tells of an Irishman who, shortly after his entrance into the business of life of the East side as a contractor, began to dispose of his superfluous wealth by the purchase of diamonds, of which he became a heavy buyer.

One evening a friend, meeting him in the lobby of the theater, observed that the Irishman was affording the public a more than usual liberal display of the gem. "Look here, Pat," said the friend, "you ought to wear so many diamonds at once. It is considered vulgar."

"Vulgar, eh?" indignantly repeated the contractor. "I don't know about that; but one thing I've noticed, my friend, and that is—that they has 'em wears 'em!"—Lippincott's.
