L. French, who will represent Idaho for a third term in the national halls of congress. Hon. R. W. McBride of Lemhi county, who was slated for the position of state mine inspector, declared the nomination leaving the contest between Mr. Bell, the successful candidate, and S. G. Burr of Idaho county and J. M. McPherson of Blaine. The vote stood: Bell 155, McPherson 46, Burr 34.

The supporters of Governor Gooding and W. E. Borah were in absolute command of the convention and controlled all delegations except those from Fremont and Shoshone. This fact robbed the gathering of close features and bickering. Bowing to the will of the crushing majority, a sectional opposition dwindled away and the party campaign was launched with a solid and irresistible front which cannot fail to carry it to success at the November polls. Senator Hayburn was a conspicuous figure in the convention, his address making a deep impression on the members and spectators. He sounded the keynote to the entire proceedings when he said that a Republican at all times follow the will of his party at all times without violating his conscience, and two Republicans invariably bowed to the will of the majority and fell in line behind the ticket.

The platform adopted by the convention is as follows:

"The Republicans of Idaho in state convention assembled at the city of Pocatello on the first day of August adopt as a statement of the principles of the party the following:

"We look upon the action of the national Republican party in all its history with pride and confidence; on its record of wise policies enacted in the laws and administered for the prosperity and greatness of the nation; its record of pledges kept and an unbroken record of consistent and efficient government; and we take a special pride and are satisfied with the record of Theodore Roosevelt, our president. We recognize in him a leader of supreme merit, whose counsel are wise and whose administration is efficient. Under his administration the greatness, the dignity and the power of the nation has been magnified and extended upon a basis of permanency that insures the recognition of our nation as the first power of the world.

"We pledge President Roosevelt the support and confidence of the Republican party of Idaho in his continuous effort in behalf of the people of the country and their prosperity and happiness. The course of our representatives in congress meets with our entire approval and we therefore and fully appreciate the able and long continued effort in behalf of the best interests of the state of Idaho by Senator W. E. Borah and Congressman Burton L. French.

"We heartily endorse and commend the administration of the affairs of state by Governor Frank R. Gooding as being able, business-like and for the best interests of our beloved commonwealth. Under his vigorous and clean administration every issue has been met with ability and firmness.

"We believe in the enforcement of law and the maintenance of order and we declare it the purpose of the Republican party to sustain these vital principles of government regardless of consequences.

"The Republican party of Idaho stands for the principle of protection along the well established lines that

PRODUCT OF A SINGLE GRAIN OF WHEAT

On May 20, 1906, H. L. Burgess sowed a field of wheat on his farm three miles east of Twin Falls. The ground was not irrigated before planting, consequently the grain did not get a good start. On August 20, just 90 days later, the crop was harvested and it threshed 32 bushels in the picture of which appears above. A count showed that 32 stalks had sprung from the one grain. The stalks were 37 inches high and the kernels were plump, hard and nicely colored. So pleased was Mr. Burgess with the yield that he had the product of the single grain photographed. The stalks were carried in a value for a time before the photograph was taken, which accounts for the bent appearance of the heads.

FIRE PROTECTION AND SEWER SYSTEM DEVISED

Proposal to Issue Bonds for $40,000 with Which to Construct Sewers Will Be Submitted to Electors on September 11—System Will Include Entire Townsite East of Fourteenth Street and Will Be Ample for Years to Come.

CEMETERY FOR TWIN FALLS

Splendid Site Secured Close to the City Limits.

The Fairview Cemetery association has been organized by C. E. Evans, F. W. Havlicek and others who have purchased the north 20 acres of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 10, township 10, range 17, one mile from the northwest corner of the Twin Falls townsite, which they will immediately plat and subdivide into cemetery lots. At present the section line roads are opened on the east and west sides of the property, and these roads will be improved and put in first class condition. It is the intention of the association to clear the land at once and proceed with the survey. Relatives of those whose remains have been interred on the Martin property, this old cemetery, may arrange for the removal of the bodies by communicating with either Mr. Evans or Mr. Havlicek. The cemetery lots will be placed on the altar, as soon as the survey is completed and it is proposed to beautify the grounds and plant the entire tract to grass. A caretaker will be placed in charge of the cemetery, which will be managed in the most approved fashion. The site is ideal, the soil being deep and easily worked and the drainage perfect. Being of easy access, the new cemetery will doubtless answer all purposes for several years to come. Such a cemetery as that arranged for is urgently needed in Twin Falls and the promoters will have no difficulty whatever in disposing of the lots.

QUIET WEEK AT CLEAR LAKE

Politics and Hayting Occupy Attention of Farmers.

CLEAR LAKE, July 31.—Hayting is once more the issue of the day. Quite a crowd of people from the Twin Falls tract were down and spent Sunday at Clear Lake.

Frank A. Evelyn and wife were down from Minidoka and spent a week at Clear Lake as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Olla E. Syster.

A. Wilson and son, Sam, returned home Friday after a week's sojourn in the northern part of the county.

Politics have commenced to be a question of importance of late. George M. Lamb has sent several loads of fish to Twin Falls recently and reports good luck.

Quite a lot of honey is being extracted this season. Olla E. Syster has several hundred pounds of honey in the comb and pound boxes, which looks fine.

Mrs. Tom Barnes has been quite sick the past week.

Mrs. W. Daek has been quite busy pruning and cleaning up her fruit orchard, which now looks like a different place.

Henry Christwell informs us that he has his bath-house all complete and ready for use at the hot springs.

Joe McPherson has taken several loads of apricots off and his trees are just loaded down with the fruit. Riley Hayer was up from Ingersman and spent several days visiting friends here in the valley.

Time of Train Changed.

Commencing Sunday, August 5, No. 72 east bound passenger will leave Twin Falls daily at 5 p. m. instead of 4:15 p. m.

The village trustees last night passed an ordinance authorizing the construction of sewers within the corporate limits of Twin Falls, and fixed September 11 as the date on which the qualified electors of the village will vote upon the bonds.

The ordinance authorizes the issue of $40,000 sewer bonds, and the district covered includes all of the plat of portion of the corporate limits east of Fourteenth avenue; the portion lying to the west sloping toward Rock creek to come within a system to be constructed later.

Twin Falls Townsite company, in co-operation with the board of trustees employed R. A. Perkins of Boise, Idaho, to survey and outline a sewer system for the village, and as assistant to Mr. Perkins, R. S. Cookham of Twin Falls was also employed by the village. These gentlemen have made a thorough investigation of conditions respecting sewerage, and have made borings over the town to determine where the lines may be easily constructed, and filed a complete report, including plans and estimates, with the village board. The main outfall will be sufficient to carry 1,200,000 gallons per diem.

This proposed sewer system has required no little effort on the part of those in charge, and the most encouraging feature is that the Commercial club has most strongly endorsed the project and every citizen has been a committee of one on sewers for several months. The people of Twin Falls are progressive and recognize the necessity for proper sanitary conditions, not only for the health of the community, but that they may have modern business blocks and homes.

The first construction will include the new public school building and a portion of the thickly settled portion of the town. It is the purpose of the trustees to push the work as rapidly as can be done after the issue of bonds. The fire hydrants are now being placed on Main street and 1000 feet of fire hose and two hose carts have been purchased by the village. The trustees have appointed Mr. Hamilton a committee of one to secure a lot for a city hall and fire station from the Twin Falls Townsite company, and in a few days Twin Falls will have fire protection.

Entered as second-class matter, December 12, 1904, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Waste water is running in all directions on the roads in different sections of the Twin Falls tract, damaging the highways and making travel difficult and dangerous. While this condition of affairs is almost unavoidable in a newly irrigated section, it can be modified to a great extent by a little work. A furrow plowed across a road will frequently prevent water from following the wheel tracks and much improve the condition of the roadway. The state law makes it a misdemeanor to run waste water on public roads. It reads as follows:

"Any person who runs water across any public highway, road or street without first constructing a good and sufficient ditch or ditches to convey the same, who falls to bridge such ditch or ditches or to keep such bridge or bridges in good repair, and all persons, companies or corporations who suffer any water used by them for the purpose of irrigation, or any other purpose, to flow into or upon any public highway, road or street in any other manner than that authorized by law is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof must be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five ($25) nor more than fifty ($50) dollars, together with the cost of the suit, and for a second offense double said fine and costs; and it is hereby made the duty of all road supervisors, constables and marshals to make complaint before the proper court for violations of this statute whenever notified or having knowledge thereof."

In their anxiety to get their land cultivated and irrigated most farmers have overlooked this requirement. Presumably road overseers hesitate to enforce the law against their neighbors, but the condition of the roads makes it necessary that something should be done. When a man runs an irrigating ditch or waste water across a road he is supposed to confine the water and provide a bridge. This is not an easy matter just now and the farmers may be excused for not paying more attention to it. There is really no excuse, however, for the condition of some of the roads in the vicinity of Twin Falls. When the Shoshone avenue bridge is opened a few days hence the roads leading to it should be placed in condition. It is no trouble to take care of waste water on the Twin Falls tract on account of the conformances. The same is scarcely with drain and a little work would save the roads. It is time that this problem should receive attention.

The Republican state ticket nominated at the Pocatello convention and the declaration of principles put forth by the party are the strongest arguments before the people of Idaho by any political organization. With candidates of proven ability and a platform in which every plank is secure and devoid of evasive verbiage the party enters upon the campaign with every hope of a sweeping victory. Did the platform contain no other strong features than the endorsement of the administrations of President Roosevelt and Governor Gooding it would still be a declaration which must appeal irresistibly to thoughtful people who have the welfare of the state and nation at heart. The unequivocal declaration in favor of a direct primary law, an eight-hour day for underground workers, an effective state and district law on employers' liability law and in opposition to so-called tariff reform add great weight to a platform which, even without them, would be of sufficient heft to crush all opposition. The circumstances under which these planks were put forth are such that the people cannot question the sincerity of the party nor doubt its ability to secure the legislation recommended. The endorsement given the candidacy of Hon. W. E. Borch for the United States senate adds strength to the ticket, and the magnanimous action of Hon. J. H. Brady in stepping aside in the interest of harmony, removes all obstacles to a successful campaign. The Republicans of Idaho present an unimpaired front. Governor Gooding's powerful opponents have been unable to disclose defects in his administration and upon his record and that of the national administration the party stands secure and triumphant.

The weather report for July shows that an unclouded sun shed its rays giving and plant producing rays upon the Twin Falls territory. During the month every day of the month saw one, the 28th, during which a light rain fell. It was a grand growing month and crops were matured perfectly. Climatic conditions could not have been better and magnificent crops are the result. Pioneers state that the month just ended was a normal Twin Falls July such as they have been accustomed to for 35 years, and that like weather may always be expected. The nights were cool and refreshing, and no discomfort was caused by the heat of the day. Only once did the thermometer pass the century mark, and that by a single degree. All favorable predictions regarding Twin Falls weather have been verified and the farmers are correspondingly elated.

Mr. Phillips is an ardent disciple of the promotion theory and is devoting all his energies to placing the advantages of the Northwest before the eastern readers of his clever publication. Unlike many magazine hunters, Mr. Phillips does not "hold up" towns, corporations and commercial clubs for contributions. His sole object being to secure such circulation as will command the patronage of advertisers and at the same time furnish his readers with the matchless opportunities of the Gem state. The Northwest possesses more than sufficient literary merit to place it on a par with like publications, and the fact that it is the only magazine devoted solely to Idaho commends it to the people of this state.

He said the reason he decided to read an Arcadian life was that he was tired of his livery teams and, in fact, one man did come in with a loaded gun and cut loose. "Jim" lives in Twin Falls with his wife and two children. He has many friends whose hope is that his herds may increase and his bank account and shadow take on gigantic proportions. Mr. Gallaher is an enterprising gentleman of genial disposition and is possessed of an enviable reputation for square dealing.

WHO LOST A SWARM OF BEES?

A. D. Crandall Captures a Vagrant

Bunch of Honey Makers. A large and healthy swarm of bees were captured by A. D. Crandall at his residence on Main street last Sunday. The bees were taken from a nest and settled in the sagebrush beside Mr. Crandall's house. He made friends by overture to the honey makers and induced them to establish a hive in his back yard, where they are now busily engaged in their natural pursuit. The bees are of the three-banded variety, a cross between the Italian and black bees. When they came from is a mystery. Their brands do not show, but it is suspected that they strayed from Neve's farm at Pocatello. Mr. Crandall is an expert bee-culture, having maintained a large number of stands at his old home in Washington.

CONDUCTOR LIVED UP TO RULE

Asked Fare from the General Passenger Agent. D. E. Burley, general passenger and ticket agent of the Great Northern, arrived in Twin Falls on the passenger train this afternoon. He came for the purpose of inspecting his 100-acre farm at Buhl which he proposes to build a splendid residence and extensive cultivation. Mr. Burley was amazed at the splendid condition of the farms which he saw from the car windows as he journeyed in and he declared that the condition of the tract was much better than he expected to find it, notwithstanding the satisfaction of the residents and the fact that the land was in the hands of a man who had been a general passenger agent.

Shortly after the train left Minkola Conductor John Freeman approached Mr. Burley and held out his hand for a ticket. The train was passing through a rock cut and conversation was difficult.

"Burley," said the general passenger agent, "Nine cents," said John, pulling out his duplex book. "I'll have to charge you $1.15 and give you a rebate check for 25 cents. You should have bought a ticket at Minkola."

"I don't carry transportation," Burley, general passenger agent—buried of rules—see," responded Mr. Burley.

"I haven't my book of rules in my pocket, but the rules on this road require me to collect transportation from every passenger," answered John, whose hand was still extended in Mr. Burley's direction.

MUST NOT SWIM IN CANALS

Filer Citizens Object to Improper Use of Water.

FILER, Aug. 3.—Frank Brown and family visited with G. A. Drake Sunday. M. J. Macaw of Twin Falls, in company with John Hosp of St. Anthony, Idaho, were in Filer on business Tuesday.

The population of Filer is still increasing, the latest arrival being a nine-month boy at the home of T. W. Maltby.

From the number of sagebrush fires to be seen from early morning until the late hours of night we feel disposed to discuss the statement that interest in the progress of development of the Twin Falls tract has been relaxing. There are several important matters to be discussed at the meeting of the Filer Farmers' association, which meets at the schoolhouse Thursday evening, August 10. As the Maroon farmers are vitally interested along with the Filer farmers, we send them an invitation to be present with us and go over the situation together. Every body remember the date and make a special effort to attend.

The following were appointed as election officers of Filer precinct: Registrar, E. H. Rettig; judges, Nels Lind John Voorhees, T. D. Connor; distributing clerk, H. B. Lentin. The place of registration will be open at the postoffice building every Saturday from the first day of September to and including the last Saturday of the month of election on November 6.

It will be gratifying news to the patrons of this district to learn that Miss Pearl Emigh, our school teacher, has made application for the school and will in all probability be employed to take charge of one of the rooms for the coming year. The school term, which will commence the first Monday in September. Two teachers will be employed, and there are several applicants for the other room, but as yet the lucky one has not been named.

There is a habit of bathing in the main canals and laterals by some people who do not seem to have a proper regard for the contamination of the neighbors who are obliged to use the canal waters for domestic purposes. This matter has been brought to the attention of the other side of the canal and in the hope of having the nuisance abated and the guilty brought to account for their recklessness.

There is a young married man of Filer said to be making money so fast that the other evening, unable to find sufficient material to light his fire, used money in his gas and silver, amounting to $75. Lucky man. It came out later, however, that some young man had placed this matter in the hands of the police and for safe keeping from thieves, but it was not in safe keeping from himself and the fire.

ANTIDOTE FOR RACE SUICIDE

Clark Gibson Encourages Young People to Marry.

As an exponent of the Roosevelt theory that race suicide is an unpardonable crime and should be discouraged by all true patriots, Clark Gibson has decided to place a premium upon marriage. The premium will be in the form of an $80 Jewel ring, with all the trimmings which go with this valuable culinary gem, and it will be given to the first young couple who announce their willingness to be married in public on the fair grounds at Twin Falls at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the second day of the fair, September 6, and who live up to their promise. Mr. Gibson's premium will have an intrinsic value of approximately $100 and in a new, progressive and growing country like this competition should be keen. There are no guarantees that the "Jewel" will burn sagebrush and will not burn broad. Furthermore, he insists that as an agent of domestic harmony it is unexcelled. None, he declares, will sour a man's disposition like indigestion, or per contra, the most potent ingredient in domestic bliss is well preserved. He guarantees that if two on the Twin Falls tract is an easy task for any live young man. Mr. Gibson's offer has been accepted by the Filer association, to the secretary of which all entries should be addressed. The first couple entering for the premium and carrying out their part will receive the prize. Don't all speak at once, please.

3rd. If made of posts with boards, rails or poles, the posts must be well set in the ground and not more than eight feet apart with not less than three six-inch boards or rails or poles not less than two and one-half inches in diameter at the small end; if four poles are used they must not be less than two inches in diameter at the small end, and if five or more poles are used they shall not be less than one and one-half inches in diameter at the small end. The top board, rail or pole must not be less than four and a half feet from the ground, the spaces well divided, and the boards, rails or poles securely fastened to the posts; if poles are used the top inch in diameter at the small end are used the posts may be set 12 feet apart.

4th. If wire be used in the construction of fences, the posts must not be more than 24 feet apart, set substantially in the ground, and two substantial stays must be placed between the posts, each stay eight feet from the posts, and all wire must be securely fastened to each post and stay, with not less than three barbed or four plain wires. The bottom wire shall not be more than 20 inches above the ground, and the other wires a proper distance apart. The wires must be well stretched and the fence not less than four and one-half feet high.

5th. If made in whole or in part of brush, ditch, pickets, hedges or any other materials, the fence to be lawful must be equal in strength and capacity to turn stock, to the fence above described.

6th. All fences in good repair, of suitable material, and of every description, and all creeks, brooks, rivers, sloughs, ponds, bluffs, hills or mountains, that present a suitable obstruction to stock are deemed a lawful fence.

When two or more persons own land adjoining which is enclosed by one fence, and it becomes necessary for the protection of the land and the interests of one party that a partition fence be made between them, the other or others when notified must proceed to erect, or cause to be erected, one-half of such partition fence; said fence to be erected on or as near as practicable the line of said land. And if, after notice given in writing to the other party fails to erect and complete within six months time thereafter one half of such fence, the party giving notice may proceed to erect the entire partition fence and collect by law one-half of the cost of such fence from the other party, and he has a lien upon the land thus partitioned.

Each co-terminous land owner must construct and keep in repair a just proportion of the line fence between their respective tracts of land, unless the owner of one of the said tracts chooses to allow his land to lie unclosed.

When one of such adjoining proprietors has allowed his land to lie unclosed, and afterwards incloses it, he owes, and is indebted to such adjoining owner one-half the value of any division fence owned by the other, used by him in forming such inclosure, and each must thereafter keep one-half of such fence in repair.

If adjoining proprietors cannot agree as to the proportion of the particular part of a division fence to be maintained or kept in repair by each respectively, either party may apply, on five days' notice, to a justice of the peace of the township in which the fence is to be erected, for the appointment of three viewers who may examine witnesses on oath and view the premises and must determine:

1. If the fence is owned by one proprietor, how much the other must pay as his proportion of the value.
2. If the fence of the whole thereof is not built, which part must afterwards be built and kept in repair by each. The determination of the viewers must be reduced to writing, and signed by them, and filed in the office of the county recorder, and such determination is conclusive upon the parties. If any part of such determination considers in fixing the value of a fence for which one party is to pay the other a proportion also fixed, such proportion must be paid within 30 days after notice of such determination is given, and no sum paid may be recovered by action in any court of competent jurisdiction. The viewers are entitled to a fee of $3 each, one-half to be paid by each proprietor.

Where one party ceases to improve his land, or opens his inclosure, he must not take away any part of the partition fence belonging to him and adjoining the next inclosure. If the owner or occupant of such adjoining inclosure will, within two months after the same is ascertained, pay therefor such sum as is agreed upon by the parties, or, if failing to agree, then such sum as may be adjudged by the viewers as provided in the last section, then such partition fence be removed when by so doing it will expose to destruction any crops in such inclosures. When any land has been built, by mistake and in good faith, a fence on the land of another, such person or his successor in interest may, within one year from the time of discovery, such mistake, go upon the land of such other person and remove such fence, doing no unnecessary damage thereby. The occupant or owner of land whereon a fence has been built by mistake shall not throw down or in any manner disturb such fence during the period, when the person who built it is authorized by the last section to remove it, when by so doing he will expose any crop to destruction. The person building such fence, the occupant or owner of the land whereon the same is built, may upon notice to the other party, whenever doubts arise about the location of such fence, require the surveyor of the county to run the division line between their respective lands, and the line so run is sufficient notice to the party building the fence to require him to remove such fence within one year thereafter.

In all cases where the inclosures of two or more persons are divided by a partition fence of any kind, and either of the parties thinks proper to vacate his part of such inclosure, or to make a lane or passage between such adjoining inclosures, such person is at liberty to remove his share or part of such partition fence, on giving six months' notice in writing of such intention to the other party, or occupying the adjoining inclosure, or to his agent. If such a party is not a resident of the county.

In all cases where a partition fence exists between parties, and a gate is established for passage through their lands, any other person may pass through such gate free, doing no necessary damage, and any such person leaves any such gate open, or does other damage to the premises, he is liable to the party aggrieved in double damages.

PROCLAMATION BY GOVERNOR

Colorado—Executive. Draws Attention to Irrigation Congress.

Governor McDonald of Colorado has issued a strong proclamation calling upon the people of his state to assist in making the coming session of the irrigation congress a great success, following the excellent example set by Governor Cullen of Utah a few weeks ago. The proclamation by Colorado's chief executive is an able document and calls attention in strong terms to the importance of irrigation to the western portion of the country. It is in full as follows:

Colorado is always deeply interested in everything that tends to advance the best interests of the state. During the past few years a great impetus has been given the agricultural interests of the state by the development of what was formerly termed the "arid region into irrigated farms." One of the most important questions before the people of Colorado today is that of conserving the waters so as to place the largest possible acreage under irrigation. We are usually looked upon as a mining state, but as a matter of fact our agricultural interests outrank any other in the matter of productiveness, and no industry of this state has increased with such rapidity or with such marvelous results. The vitality of Colorado and the west depends upon intelligent and economic application of the waters of the states, and as a people we are intensely interested in all matters pertaining to the subject.

Therefore, I, Jesse F. McDonald, governor of the state of Colorado, earnestly call the attention of the people of this state to the National irrigation congress, to be held at Boise, Idaho, September 1 to 15, 1906, as worthy of their consideration. Its objects are most commendable and the proceedings educational and valuable. This session of the congress will be one of the most important ever held, and I hope the people of Colorado will interest themselves to the extent of attending the congress and lending their influence in its behalf.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of state to be affixed at Denver, this 25th day of July, A. D. 1906.

(Seal) JESSE F. McDONALD,

By the governor, attested:

JAMES COWIE,

Secretary of State.

Among the prominent delegates coming to the National Irrigation Congress which meets at Boise September 1 to 15, F. H. Buhl, a multi-millionaire of Sharon, Pa. Mr. Buhl has made large investments in irrigation projects than any other capitalist in the world. He contributed considerably more than $1,000,000 of his own capital to the Twin Falls project, which resulted in immense profits to him. Therefore, no one interested in Idaho enterprises, his presence at the congress is an indication that he is ready to contribute to its success, and it is not unlikely that while in the Gem state he will make other investments on a large scale.

A state irrigation congress was organized at Oklahoma City a few days ago, the members of which passed a resolution to attend the National irrigation congress at Boise, Idaho, September 1 to 15. The new state of Oklahoma has a fund of nearly $1,000,000 for the irrigation of the lands in the western portion of the state, where the rainfall is insufficient. The Oklahoma delegation will occupy two special cars.

NATIONAL IRRIGATION CONGRESS

VIII—Ask Congress for Large Appropriation.

BOISE, Aug. 1.—The Fourteenth National irrigation congress, which meets at Boise September 3 to 8, is the only meeting of national importance to be held on the Pacific slope

During the present year, Chairman E. MacLeod of the Western Passenger Association has named the executive committee that will for the congress would be determined at the Minneapolis meeting of the association July 31.

On account of the fact that this is the only opportunity for attracting travel to the great west, it is expected that the committee will make unusual concessions for this occasion, and that no rates given will be such that all who contemplated making a western trip will take advantage of this opportunity.

The general impression prevailing in the east is that it requires large land use with the pioneers of the middle western states, and it seems incredible to them that a 20-acre irrigated farm is amply sufficient to provide a family with all the comforts of life, leaving a surplus at the end of the year, and that it is necessary to investigate and learn how it is accomplished. Although more than a month will elapse before the congress is to meet, delegates to the number of over 1000 have been appointed from different sections east of the Rocky mountains at an average of 100 letters a day are being received at headquarters. The general government considers the congress and the ties to be had for learning as much as possible of irrigation methods, size of farms, capital required, character of crops produced, and the revenue to be depended upon by the irrigatists, for it is now generally admitted that the certain results as to manufacture, when carried through irrigation, and that neither drought nor floods endanger the certainty of the expected yield.

Because of the numerous inquiries from the home-seeking class is the unprecedented interest taken in the success of the project by immigration offices and bureaus, and by immigration departments of the railroad systems running through Chicago and

Louis. The great irrigation enterprise being carried on in the intermountain states will provide homes for many thousands of families, relieving the drought-stricken West of its crowded east, and every effort is being made to inform the people of the opportunities waiting the homeseeker.

The Boise session of the congress is to constitute a great school for irrigation. Scientific and professional men will discuss and analyze advanced theories of irrigation, and the high reputation will give the solution of many engineering problems which have been worked out, and the practical irrigators will show in a practical way what is accomplished by resulting on exhibition. The government has loaned approximately $40,000,000 for the purpose of reclaiming arid lands and providing employment for the people. The loan was made through an act of congress approved by President Roosevelt four years ago. At the Idaho meeting of the farmers, he is going to be asked to invest $40,000,000 of the loan made to citizens for the more rapid completion of the works now under construction. Senators and members of congress are the real trustees of the government in the loans made, and they are coming to investigate the conditions of the loans. The government is giving to insure its repayment, the investigation will show that the

in the desert state was originally out value, because it produced nothing. At a cost of $20 to $30 per acre, advanced by the government for the land, the farmer could grow a crop of cultivation worth $50 per acre, and funds ready sale at $100 per acre. With the security thus obtained, there can be no good reason and why the government should not add the additional $100,000,000 owed to hurry to completion the great new desert construction.

Merchants, capitalists, manufacturers, business men, engineers and irrigators, immigration and colonization societies, home-makers and homesteaders, all to the number of 2000 or special train will be made up at Fargo for the delegates from the northern states to the National Irrigation congress to convene at Boise, September 3 to 5. Vice President Fairbanks and his party will occupy one of the cars. The special will be known as "the vice president's train."

BUHL MELON PATCH IN DANGER

May Be Necessary to Place Guard-at Experimental Farm.

BUHL, Aug. 1.—When are you going to commence harvesting, is the question the ranchmen ask each other now when they meet.

F. N. Uhlrich came up from the Riverside ranch Thursday on business. Mrs. Uhlrich was a visitor in town Monday.

Merrill Hinkley left for Steamboat Springs, Colorado, Wednesday. He pined for the mountains, trees and babbling brooks of the Centennial state and he could not stay away from them.

Professor H. Kimbrough, professor of music in Washington State college, Pullman, Wash., is here, going through the usual formality required by law for proving up. He will clear off his entire 100 acres and have it all in cultivation next spring.

Rosalia Bohler, wife of Margaret Norstrom, school teachers of St. Paul, Minn., arrived in town Friday. The latter is living on her ranch close to town, for the purpose of proving up, and the former intends to either buy or file on a ranch.

F. W. Elckhoff, accompanied by Mrs. Elckhoff, drove to Hagaman Saturday and returned home Sunday. Fred Winter drove into town Saturday on business. He owns a fine ranch about six miles south of town, the crops on which look well.

T. R. Allen of the Anti-Monopoly drug-store went to Twin Falls Sunday. Jack Garland made a business trip to the Power city Saturday.

Dr. W. F. Pike came down from Twin Falls Monday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Pike. They went to F. N. Uhlrich's Riverside ranch to fish and work themselves for a week.

Professor Charles H. Perrine of Chicago spent several days of last week in Buhl. He went to his ranch near Ellensburg, Wash., where he thinks the hard pan which is found in a few places here will make good corn. He took a specimen of it with him and will have tested it with him and will have returned from Mahad Sunday. Mrs. Frith and the children were visiting relatives at that place for several weeks. They spent Sunday in town and then continued their journey to their home at Thousand Springs, Monday.

H. O. Milner of the Twin Falls Lumber company, accompanied by his children, are visiting their relatives here, E. A. Milner and A. J. Milner.

W. H. Dodman, St. Anthony, K. Packard, Twin Falls; Harry Stalley, St. Paul; V. V. Allen, Seattle; L. L. Bigelow, Brookfield, Vt., and W. W. Campbell, Clay Center, Neb., registered at Hotel Buhl last past week. Mrs. George L. Evelyn, accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Evelyn of Minidoka, who had been visiting relatives here for two weeks, went to Blue Lakes Friday to visit Mrs. L. B. Perrine, sister of Mrs. George Evelyn.

Professor O. H. Watt, professor of pharmacy in Washington State college, Pullman, Wash., who is making preparations for proving up on a ranch two miles east of town, and J. J. Lynch took in a buck last past week and had a good time fishing and swimming and enjoying themselves generally for several days.

F. S. Marshall, Mrs. Marshall, E. A. Milner and his three daughters, A. J. Milner, Miss Lulu Barstow, Miss Irene Ford, H. O. Milner and his daughter Mary and Harry Hinkley went to Clear Lake Sunday and had a fine time planting.

Frank Bark and wife of Sandwith, Ill., father and mother of D. H. Bark, foreman of the experimental farm, arrived here Saturday evening. They will spend two or three weeks visiting their son and then return home. Mr. Bark thinks that this is the best country for a young man to start in life. He is taking lessons in school irrigation from his son, so that when he returns home he will be able to tell his friends and neighbors something about how to turn on the rain with the shovel.

W. D. Southard broke his leg last week and brought it to town to have the necessary repairs made. He said that he was getting along well with the grubbing and expected to have 400 acres cleared and 80 acres planted.

it in fall wheat before snow flies. Many ranchmen in this locality desire to fence their ranches but are unable to obtain posts for the purpose. They say that crops and cattle do not grow well together on the same piece of land.

A. H. Nihart is building a cottage on his ranch one mile north of town. H. Wager says that he will get his home built in time to get into it out of the cold weather. He has been at it all summer, but he says he cannot afford to work for him now when he can get $4 a day working for others. That is why he is building other people's houses and letting his own stand at last.

It was any-baited-hay in Buhl now it would be a fancy article. The big lumber shed of the Milner-Perrine Lumber company is under construction. It took a long time to complete this building, as the work had to be done with a small force of men, skilled labor and all other kinds of help. The matter being very scarce around these parts just now.

The Parker-Marshall Hardware Co. is busy setting up self-binders for the ranchmen, who are commencing cutting grain. We hear much about the price of twice these days.

T. W. Berry, who lives a half mile east of town, is highly pleased with the success of his crop and especially with the melons. He says that this country will rival the famous Rocky Ford, Colo., country in producing melons of all kinds. "The more I see of this country the better I like it," he said. "It will be a world beater."

"Something should be done to prevent the cattle-breaking down and ruining the shade trees on the town site. If some steps are not taken soon to protect the trees we won't have any left in the future."

William T. Snodgrass is fitting up the Kearney-building on Broadway for a butcher shop. He will soon be ready to serve the people with first-class meat in a first-class butcher shop in first-class style.

D. H. Bark has fully recovered from the effects of the Old Fellows banquet. He will now be able to go to work to tackle a feast fit for the gods with out first having proper training. Such fare is too rich for the blood of the ordinary man, but for the future he will be the other good buckers were not knocked out was because they are old stagers, hardened and toughened in the business to such an extent that they are so capable of feeling it all. But notwithstanding that, the foreman of the experimental farm escaped with his life from the banquet and is about to be out again among the sugar cane and corn, and to show visitors around the ranch, describe the various kinds of crops and exultingly show them the progress when they were planted, etc. he is not happy. He says the company made a big mistake in locating the experimental farm close to town, and then added another mistake to that by fencing it with just smooth wire. All this has occurred to him since the melons began to rot and he saw Frank Snodgrass, J. K. Weston and Mosheim about dusk Sunday evening walking around the farm, pretending, he said, to look at the crops and being out for some time, but they were not looking rather long and looked longingly in the melon patch. He says that a smooth wire fence may keep out horned cattle, but with cattle that have hands and toes on their feet it is different, and he has nothing but a small pot dog for a night watch.

Mrs. Anne Wilson is visiting friends in Twin Falls, and Andy is a widower for the time being.

The subject discussed by Superintendent Stephenson at the Farmers' association meeting Monday night was "Bugs and Insects." He described many species of them, and told of the harm done by some of them to growing crops and the good done by others. He told how to get rid of the bad ones and how to foster and encourage the good ones. He described the habits and mode of life and the food upon which the various kinds live, where and when they lay their eggs, how the young are brought forth and reared to maturity and how they may be kept from doing harm to the crops and vegetables that they feed on. The meeting was well attended, several ladies being present. The school trustees of school district

No. 38, reported, through E. A. Milner, that the school census had been taken, and that there were 84 children of school age in the district. Mr. Milner said that there was good reason to believe that the number would be increased to over 100 by the time school opened. H. S. Hobson, one of the trustees, who could not be present at the meeting but arrived shortly after adjourned, said that he had the names of 12 more children to add to the list, making a total of 96. There was a general expression in favor of having the ground-floor of the Odd Fellows hall for school purposes. The construction of the building will soon begin and will be completed in a little time to accommodate the district.

Your correspondent had occasion to visit the Elckhoff ranch one evening recently on business. It was a clear, calm, beautiful evening, as is the usual rule with evenings in this locality at this time of year. The sun was making a grand, golden set in its usual resting place, but the weather was not cool by any means. On the contrary, it was so warm and sultry that the members of the household abandoned the parlor for the kitchen. The head of the family brought out the phonograph and after operating it for a couple of tunes and as many songs, turned it over to a member of the household and made a bee line for the barn, from which he returned shortly with his pet team of horses, of which he is so proud, and led them up to where the machine was working out "Turkey in the Straw." He said that the horses could do everything but sing, and that he was going to teach them to do that and that the phonograph was just a thing with which to do it and do it right. The animals, with ears pointed forward and a look of astonishment on their intelligent faces, gazed at the brassy, noisy thing for a few seconds and then one of them stuck its nose into it to see if its breath smelled like his master's. He smelled a while and then withdrew his nose and turning to his companion he said by his looks as plainly as a horse could say, "I wouldn't care to whisk your tail off."

At this the other stick his nose in and sniffed for a second or two, then stepped back and both stared at each other for a moment with twinkling eyes and a somewhat looked suspiciously like a snail playing around the corners of their mouths. Suddenly they faced the people on the porch, laid back their ears, stretched out their necks and heads and trotted to the real thing in horse laugh. For a time it seemed that they would "split their sides." This caused every one present, except the farmer, to laugh in sympathy till the tears rolled down their cheeks. But the horse trainer could see nothing to laugh at. His face was as stern as a judge's and he was to him simply the first lesson to the horses and it was a splendid success. After the audience recovered from their merriment, the farmer suggested that the music teacher try the apparatus on the coyote, but he said he would do nothing of the kind, because it might make the calf jealous, which would spoil his temper. With this led the horses back to the barn, meantime patting them affectionately on their necks and muttering something about "good boys" and "good girls" that they don't know the difference between a horse song and a comic opera.

John Hinkley remarked: "If Billy Elckhoff keeps on experimenting with his menagerie, Buffalo Billy's Wild West show won't be in it with the one we have now, the west end of the Twin Falls tract."

have consistently marked the policy of the national Republican party since its organization.

"It is opposed to any attack directed against this great principle in the guise of tariff reform, which term, so elastic as to be subject to any construction between the limits of free trade and the revision of a single schedule.

"We are opposed to any tariff concessions or reciprocity that will reduce the protection afforded our raw material and the wage earners who convert the raw material into the finished product.

"We believe in the broad principle of protection, wide enough in its scope to include the personal and business interests of the American citizen in every walk of life.

"Idaho is essentially a producer of raw material from its mines, its forests, its ranches, its cultivated fields, which add millions of dollars in value of property to the wealth of the country.

"Were the principle of protection withdrawn or abandoned, all the products would be at the mercy of the competition with neighboring or foreign countries, who, because of their cheaper labor, the lesser cost of products and the lower cost of living prevalent in such countries, would either drive our products out of the market or cause a reduction not only of the raw material but also of the labor which prepares it for the market.

"Tariff legislation may safely be committed to the Republican party. When changes are necessary our countrymen will confidently rely on such changes being made. They will not be made at the suggestions of the enemies of the party.

"The administration of the affairs of the state is one of the first essentials of the government and we declare in favor of its rigid control by the legislature, the consent of the property of all citizens, whether individual or corporate, at a fair valuation, so that the burdens of government may be equalized.

"We are in favor of a comprehensive and effective state anti-trust law, and we pledge our legislative and other candidates to support the enactment of such a law.

"We are opposed to the issuance of passes by the transportation companies to state and other officials, and we pledge our legislative and other candidates to support the enactment of a law which will bring about such reform.

"We favor the enactment of a primary election law in order that elections may be brought nearer the people.

"We pledge our members of the legislature to vote for an eight-hour day for employees in underground mines.

"We commend the work of education being done in our great system of public schools, and in our state institutions, and we pledge our legislative and other candidates to support the possible encouragement of these institutions.

"We regret the misfortune which has befallen our state, and the loss by fire of its administration building, and recommend that our next legislature take such action as will result in the rebuilding of the university so that it may meet the demands of our growing state for higher education.

"We are in favor of the families of workmen being afforded the protection because of the absence of an employers' liability law from the statutes of Idaho, and we demand the enactment of such a measure modeled

A year ago the government reclamation service had under construction irrigation projects involving the expenditure of $300,000,000 and the reclamation of 1,600,000 acres of land. The expenditure of this amount of money will result in creating land to the value of $2,000,000,000, or nearly sufficient to pay the sum advanced by the government over this year. This is one of the arguments which will be used by the advocates of the proposition of asking the government for an addition to the fund for the 100,000-acre reclamation. The National Irrigation congress, which meets at Boise September 3 to 8, will have no more important issue than this one.

Idaho has 20,000,000 acres of merchantable timber and 25,000,000 acres of mineral lands. These industries will be fully exploited at the Fair, the National Irrigation congress, to meet at Boise September 3 to 8, to demonstrate the unlimited market for farm products.
