AMUSEMENT FEATURES FOR TWIN FALLS FAIR

Interesting Program Being Prepared by F. J. Woods Will Include Baseball Tournament, Judo Wrestling Contest, Cowboy Relay Race, Horse Races and Field Sports—Federation Appoints Judges for Special Prizes Offered by the Company.

The amusement feature of the Twin Falls fair, concerning which little has been said, promises to be very attractive. T. J. Woods, who has been placed in charge of this department, in place of C. D. Thomas, resigned, has been given carte blanche to provide a program of sufficient excellence to please the "most capacious." There will be baseball games between the leading teams in the southeastern part of the state, the Judo wrestling matches in which the cleverest Japanese in the west will take part, a cowboy relay race which will be contested by some of the best riders that ever straddled a horse, running and harness races, a chariot race and a complete program of field sports. At present it is impossible for Mr. Woods to give a detailed program owing to the fact that he is in correspondence with several managers of the various clubs and upon the character of the arrangements he is able to make, with them will depend the manner in which the program will be made up after all the entries are assured but sufficient entries have been received to insure a good meeting. A number of Japanese wrestlers have announced their intention to train for the Judo wrestling competition, which gives promise of being a star attraction. Mr. Woods is now in communication with several of the most skilled cowboys on the Casela county range and will arrange a relay race to suit them which will unquestionably be a feature worthy of remembrance.

The Twin Falls band will furnish the music during the fair. This announcement will be gratifying to the friends of the band who will appreciate the policy of the fair management in giving preference to local talent. The band is already capable of sustaining the musical reputation of the city and an excellent program will be presented during the fair.

Several entries have been received for the team pulling match for the News prize of $25, and the contest will probably be very exciting. By the system of handicapping the teams by weight the lighter horses are given an equal show with the heavier and the best team, pound for pound, will walk away with the money.

An important meeting of the Farmers' Federation will be held at 2 o'clock afternoon at which matters pertaining to the fair were taken up and disposed of and delegates to the irrigation congress were appointed.

Assistant Secretary George F. Sprague was directed to take up the question of transportation with the Oregon Short Line. Mr. Sprague conferred with General Passenger Agent D. E. Burley early in the week and secured assurance that the most liberal rates possible would be authorized. The rates will be published later.

Superintendent Alex. McPherson of Filer was elected delegate to the irrigation congress to represent the federation. In addition to these delegates each association on the tract will be represented by two delegates.

The following resolution was adopted: "On account of the number of entries and the time required for judges to visit various entries for special premiums, the following requirements for all entries were agreed upon, the irrigation premium excepted: "That samples of the crop as it grows shall be submitted to the judges, together with not less than one peck of the grain, and with sworn statements of entrymen and two witnesses as to yield per specification." "Samples can be left at the office of Superintendent McPherson and sworn statements submitted at any time, and when all contestants shall have complied with these requirements—the judges will make their award."

"Provided, however, that all entries must be completed prior to October 1."

This passage of the resolution was made necessary because of the fact that the crops competing for the company prizes will, in some instances, not be matured at the time of the fair and probably a great many entries will not have their threshing done at that time. It is necessary that such products as corn and sugar beets should be fully matured before they are judged.

C. A. McMaster, Frank Russell and James Fitzgerald will award the prizes for the best crop of sugar beets, best acre of wheat, best acre of corn, best acre of oats, best acre of alfalfa, best yield of alfalfa or clover and best acre of forage plants, having been designated as judges for this purpose.

The prize for the best irrigated field of 10 acres or more will be awarded by W. S. Starr, E. H. Rettig and C. A. McMaster, who were appointed judges. This prize will not necessarily be awarded for the prettiest field. The judges will take into consideration the difficulties with which the farmer had to contend and give the prize to the man who does the best work and gets the best results.

C. M. Hill was appointed a committee of one on entertainment. Those who have rooms which they are willing to rent to visitors during the fair will please list them with Mr. Hill or with Assistant Secretary Sprague at the News office.

RUSHING TO THE FOOTHILLS

Lands Being Gobbed Up in So-Called "Artesian Belt"

Several thousand acres of land have recently been taken up under homestead and desert entries in the vicinity of Warm creek and Goat springs, which has been named the "artesian belt," because of the recent strike there by Jones Bros. of Rock Creek of a strong artesian flow of water. The well sunk by Jones Bros. has a measured flow of 96 inches, an amount sufficient to irrigate a quarter section of land. It is believed that artesian water can be tapped at several other places in that vicinity and a sufficient quantity secured to irrigate a considerable area of land. The soil is deep but the presence of greenwood indicates alkali. In the Norton field at Warm creek where water has been flowing for 25 years, there is very little vegetation. Were it possible to pipe the water down below the alkali belt the reclamation of a large tract might be feasible. The temperature of the water is 56 degrees. There are numerous warm springs in that section, several of which have been used for years by the stockmen, who, however, never attempted to raise any hay or grain.

PUSHING WORK ON EXTENSION

SHORT LINE WILL HURRY RAILS TO BUILT

Rock Creek Bridge Nearing Completion and Work of Grading Will Begin in Two Weeks—Authoritative Statement by General Manager Bancroft.

Vice President and General Manager W. H. Bancroft, General Superintendent E. Buckingham, Chief Engineer W. D. Corbush of the Oregon Short Line spent a few hours in Twin Falls on Tuesday morning. They came to inspect the branch and observe the progress on the Buhl extension. On his return to Salt Lake City Mr. Bancroft wrote to General Manager R. W. Faris of the Twin Falls Land & Water Co. stating that work on the Buhl extension would be pushed with all possible speed. The road, said Mr. Bancroft, would follow the original survey from which there would be no deviation whatever. This settles all talk regarding the location of the railway. Within two weeks, Mr. Bancroft stated, the work on the extension will begin. In this connection it should be stated that those farmers who have teams to spare will be given an opportunity to work on the grade, it being the intention of the company to use local labor wherever possible.

The steel gang is now at work on the Rock Creek bridge, all the steel for which is now on the ground and ready for use. The structure will be completed as speedily as possible and the grading commenced immediately thereafter. From present indications it is probable that the citizens of Buhl and Filer will be able to include the railroad among those things for which they will give thanks on Thanksgiving day.

ROCK CREEK VIADUCT IN USE

Teams Crossed It for the First Time This Morning.

The Rock creek viaduct is in finished and in commission. H. B. Johnson was the first man to drive a team across and he was promptly furnished a keg of beer by the workmen. At the council meeting on Monday night it was decided to engage the Waterworks company's crew of men to build the approaches to the bridge as workmen could not be secured. The work was finished today. The approaches will have to be "watered in" order to pack the loose dirt and this will be done by the city, as soon as the dirt settles and the low spots develop. The water pipes have been laid across the bridge and pipe lines to the low line canal.

NOXIOUS WEEDS ARE A MENACE

SHOULD BE STAMPED OUT WITH-OUT DELAY.

Superintendent McPherson Describes the More Dangerous Weed Pests and Tells How They May Be Extirminated—Prompt Action Needed.

The attention of Superintendent McPherson was called to the fact that weeds were now beginning to seed on the Twin Falls tract and he was asked to give his views regarding the proper means of keeping them down. "What is a weed?" he was asked, "A weed is a plant out of place, or of no use to man," said the superintendent. "This definition, however, has a different meaning in different localities. A weed may be a weed in one locality and a plant in another, or it may be a plant which when cultivated is of use to man but becomes a pest when allowed to run wild. One of the worst weeds which grow in the Twin Falls tract is the Russian thistle. While it is the true sense of the word this plant is not a thistle, yet because of its vicinity to the thistle it is called such. The Russian thistle belongs to the same family as papaw and sugar beets. In its native land, Russia, the people would burn it in order to get baking soda, hence its name, 'salsola'." The Russian thistle first appeared in the United States in 1873, in Dakota, and is now found in all the states. It was brought over in flour from Russia. It can be readily recognized because of its resemblance to the eastern tumble weed and on account of its being marked with red stripes along the stalks, especially as it nears maturity. The seeds ripen about the middle of August in this section, consequently the farmers should get busy right away and pull them up and burn them. One Russian thistle will bear probably a million seeds and if allowed to grow, it will soon be everywhere. The Russian thistle is a noxious weed in many ways, taking valuable space in the farmer's field and seed from apices which are irritating to all stock. Growing in fence corners, roadsides and uncultivated patches, it becomes a nightmarish and uncontrollable pest, particularly objectionable in alfalfa fields, as during the ripening period strong winds will fill the ditches with weeds which will float and cause damage in the ditches. The ditch companies in Idaho, Colorado and other irrigated sections have lost thousands of dollars repairing breaks caused by Russian thistle. Now is the time to destroy this thistle and every field and ditch bank should be gone over and the weeds pulled, piled and burned. A few hours or days spent in this work now will save the ditch company and the farmers thousands of dollars. The only way to get rid of the Russian thistle is to get the habit and go after it now.

"Two or three other noxious weeds have made their appearance which are also a detriment to the country. The tumbling mustard seems to have gained a foothold in nearly all portions of the arid district and as a pest it is almost as bad as the Russian thistle, possessing wonderful vitality, growing rapidly and crowding out all cultivated plants if left unchecked. In some sections of the country it has become so bad that the department of agriculture is being used to find methods for its extermination. One of the best methods is to spray the fields once or twice during the season, killing the young mustard plants but leaving the crops unharmed. This entails a vast amount of hard work on the part of the farmer. Like the Russian thistle, the tumbling mustard will choke ditches. In some sections where the tumbling mustard has gained a foothold thousands of acres have been summer falllowed in order to kill the pest, entailing a heavy loss to the farmers. The remedy recommended for this section at the present time is pulling and burning. This should be done at once, before the seed begins to scatter. "There is another weed to which I wish to call particular attention at this time, because it is so small that it may be overlooked until it practically ruins the hay crops. I refer to the dodder plant, sometimes called the love vine. This weed is a true parasite and lives on the stems of cultivated plants. The seeds are very small, germinate in the ground and when the plant makes its appearance above the surface it winds around the cultivated plants, throwing out little suckers which penetrate the plants. The dodder then saps its connection with the ground and lives upon the sapnificance which it draws from the cultivated plants. It grows rapidly, spreading all over the fields and chokes out or destroys the crops. I would advise every farmer to thoroughly examine his hayfields and watch for the golden threads of the dodder plant which will find its way wrapped around the alfalfa or clover stalks. The dodder sucks about the middle or latter part of August in this section of the state and it should be destroyed before that time. Where the dodder is seen in spots or isolated places, a good way to destroy it is by burning. Place a forkful of hay or straw on the infested patch and set fire to it, being careful to see that the whole patch is burned over. This will destroy the dodder and the cultivated plants will come up again. Sometimes the dodder is seen in spots or isolated places, a good way to destroy it is by burning. Place a forkful of hay or straw on the infested patch and set fire to it, being careful to see that the whole patch is burned over. This will destroy the dodder and the cultivated plants will come up again. Sometimes the dodder is seen in spots or isolated places, a good way to destroy it is by burning. Second, Vice President and Counsel, S. H. Hays. Third, Vice President, I. B. Perrine. These officers, with A. C. Milner, treasurer, and a board of directors, E. W. Faris retains the office of general manager and chief engineer. F. A. Velt has been appointed secretary and treasurer, and a new office, of land commissioner, has been created with Fred L. Harris in charge. The present relations between the Land & Water Co. and the investment Co. will be maintained, the latter corporation remaining sole agent for the sale of water rights and town lots. Mr. Harris, who has been in the office of the general manager, is co-operating with the investment Co. in matters of publicity and colonization and will take up other questions of importance, such as rates, markets, industries, etc., which have hitherto encumbered the office of Mr. Faris.

SECOND CROP OF HAY IS IN

Items of Interest from the Clear Lake Section.

CLEAR LAKE, Aug. 8.—The Snake river is receding to the low water mark.

The farmers have finished putting up their second crop of hay.

J. N. Hopkins of Twin Falls has been on his ranch at Clear Lake for the past week putting up his hay crop.

Otis E. Syter has finished cutting his wheat. The yield far exceeds that of last year.

The many friends of T. W. Snodgrass wish him success in his new venture in the butcher business at Buhl.

A. C. Maclelland is still busy marketing his apricots.

Charles Rose and Charles Ingersoll load a load of fruit into the Wood river country.

Vin Clifford has purchased the gringer fruit and is preparing to place it on the market.

Miss Mills of Hagerman accompanied Miss Mary Clifford to Clear Lake last Saturday for a visit.

Bees have thrived well this year. Those of Otis E. Syter were particularly active and his hives are loaded down with excellent honey.

Frank H. Buhl of the Buhl-Kimberly corporation is once more president of the Twin Falls Land & Water Co. and his millions are again behind the greatest of all irrigation enterprises. The Twin Falls project has always possessed a strong fascination for Mr. Buhl. Of all the vast enterprises in which he has been interested, Twin Falls was the most magnetic. It contained an element of human interest which did not attach to any of the others and when a favorable opportunity presented itself the Buhl-Kimberly corporation purchased the interests of the Trowbridge & Niver Co. in the project. Mr. Buhl and George L. Baird, an executor of the Kimberly estate, arrived in Twin Falls on Tuesday afternoon and left the following evening for the east. A meeting of the stockholders and directors of the company was held at which the following officers were elected:

President, Frank H. Buhl. First Vice President, George L. Baird.

Second Vice President and Counsel, S. H. Hays.

Third Vice President, I. B. Perrine. These officers, with A. C. Milner, treasurer, and a board of directors, E. W. Faris retains the office of general manager and chief engineer. F. A. Velt has been appointed secretary and treasurer, and a new office, of land commissioner, has been created with Fred L. Harris in charge. The present relations between the Land & Water Co. and the investment Co. will be maintained, the latter corporation remaining sole agent for the sale of water rights and town lots. Mr. Harris, who has been in the office of the general manager, is co-operating with the investment Co. in matters of publicity and colonization and will take up other questions of importance, such as rates, markets, industries, etc., which have hitherto encumbered the office of Mr. Faris.

The company will complete the canal and lateral system on the south side of the river and place it in first-class permanent condition before taking up the north side project. Such other improvements as may be necessary will be made, the object being to make the system as nearly perfect as possible and so arrange the distribution of water that losses will be minimized and possible causes of complaints removed. In short, it is the intention of the company to perfect a system of water distribution unequalled in any community. To do this the co-operation of the farmers is necessary and the company will establish close relations.

Mr. Buhl and Mr. Baird were astonished at the splendid appearance of the tract. The amount of new land under crop surprised them and the sight of the green and golden fields aroused their enthusiasm. Mr. Buhl was particularly pleased with the outlook. The elements of a great empire which will grow on every hand, said Mr. Buhl, made him feel that he had acted wisely in investing his money in the Twin Falls enterprise. The fact that his capital had been invested in a project which would mean by which a magnificent community was built up was to him a source of great satisfaction and it thrilled him with the greatest pleasure in life to watch Twin Falls grow. There were no longer any doubts in his mind with regard to the future of the tract. Its triumph was already apparent, and all it needed was the quickening touch of capital and the guidance of strong and steady hands.

KIMBERLY DEPOT OPENS AUGUST 16

CITIZENS PREPARING TO ENTERTAIN ON THAT DATE.

Visitors Are Assured of a Hearty Welcome and a Splendid Entertainment—Farmers Busy Harvesting and Crops Turning Out Well.

KIMBERLY, Aug. 9.—The ice cream social given by the ladies, club of Saturday was a decided success both socially and financially. The capacity of the schoolhouse was sorely taxed to accommodate the crowd that gathered. An excellent program was rendered, after which ice cream, lemonade and cake were obtainable. Everyone did full justice to the refreshments, and all activity in the evening the supply gave out. Games entertained the young people until a late hour. The proceeds from the social, amounting to something over $40, will be used to start work on a city park, two blocks for the purpose having been set aside by the Townsite company. The ladies feel very much pleased over the success of the first attempt of the club to entertain publicly. It is generally hoped throughout the vicinity that it will not be their last.

The Kimberly baseball team played an interesting game of ball with the Twin Falls Stars on Sunday on the Twin Falls diamond. Though the Kimberly team was not victorious, they are nevertheless rather proud of the score, which was 5 to 6, the best record of the Twin Falls side.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morgan left Tuesday for Latta, Oregon, where they expect to make their home in the future. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan were among the earliest to leave the tract and have made many friends who will regret their departure. Arrangements are well under way for the opening of the Kimberly depot, which will take place on Thursday evening, August 16, when the Townsite Company will give a dance that promises to be the event of the season. Other amusements will be provided for those who do not care to dance, and everyone who attends is assured of a good time.

It has been learned from the county assessor, John L. Smith, that the assessed valuation of District No. 32 is $118,000. It is believed that this valuation makes the Kimberly district the largest tax-paying district on the tract outside of Twin Falls.

The 10 months' old child of Mr. and Mrs. William D. H. Smith, who has been very ill for the past week, is still in a critical condition.

R. A. Moore is cutting his second crop of alfalfa, and his crops are very well satisfied with the grain crop at this time.

Mrs. Eliza McDermid, wife of A. McDermid, died at her home in Kimberly on Sunday afternoon after an illness of two weeks. Mrs. McDermid was born in Wyoming, Wisconsin, in 1863 but lived her life in the western states, coming to Kimberly last fall. Since coming here she has made many warm friends in the community who join in expressing their heartfelt sympathy to Mr. McDermid and his daughter. The funeral services were held in the schoolhouse on Monday afternoon at 2 p. m. Rev. O. G. Thoutout conducted the services. Interment was in the Twin Falls cemetery.

Mrs. Marsh of Granton, Wisconsin, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hudson of this place, for the past two weeks, returned to her home Saturday.

Miss Clara Brone of Rock Creek has been a guest at the McMillan home for the past few days.

W. H. Turner, cashier of the Kimberly bank, has lately purchased the Power place adjoining the townsite on the southeast.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gale and son left Friday for Burley, where Mr. Gale has accepted the O. S. L. agency. Mr. Gale has been the Kimberly office since the establishment of the office here and has won many friends through his genial manner and courteous treatment of all. Mrs. Gale was treasurer of the Ladies' club and will be sorely missed by its members, as well as by many other friends she has made throughout the community.

Roy Hudson of Kimberly played with the Twin Falls baseball team in a match game in Pocatello on Sunday between Pocatello and Twin Falls.

Rev. R. D. Osterhout of Twin Falls preached in the schoolhouse Sunday evening.

Mrs. A. A. Garlock of Twin Falls, state president of the W. O. T. U., will lecture in the schoolhouse on next Sunday evening on the temperance question, dealing especially with the needs of Idaho along that line. Mrs. Garlock is an able speaker and is well worth hearing. A large attendance is desired.

Miss Eva Budd and P. W. Hess left Tuesday to attend the Teachers' Institute in Pocatello.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Williams and family expect to move into their ranch south-east of here the latter part of the week to make final proof.

George Peterson, who has been on the sick list for the past two weeks, is steadily improving.

Mr. and Mrs. James Budd left Monday for their ranch near the high line canal directly south of here.

Major Peen, forest supervisor, has reported the closing of a big deal involving the sale by the government of 33,000,000 feet of saw timber to Messrs. McLean and Kuhn, the former of Silver City and the latter a well known lumberman from the state of Oregon. The total cost of the timber, which is in the Sawtooth forest reserve, will amount to about $75,000. This is the largest deal made by the government in the usual annual sale, before each season's cut and drive. Operations will be begun immediately by the buyers. A large mill will be installed in the forest, and the timber has already been purchased, and cutting will be begun by the lumbermen in three weeks. It is approximated. The forest agent declared that he expected to close further deals within the next few days, also in the Sawtooth reserve, which will dispose of from 15,000,000 to 15,000,000 feet of timber.

HUGE LAND FRAUD IS CHARGED

Complaint Filed Against Brunau Land & Irrigation Co.

A huge land fraud is alleged to have been uncovered by the Brunau Land & Irrigation company in an injunction suit just started in the district court in Boise. The plaintiffs are Ira O. Shellenberger, L. E. Close and N. V. Newman, and their complaint as filed by Attorney Frank Martin are to the effect that under the pressure of fraudulent representations the three mentioned parties sold to the Brunau Land & Irrigation company, under the guidance of agents of the company to come to Idaho and purchase extensive irrigation rights which the company in question had at no time been able to construct and operate. Damages in the sum of $2100 are asked for by each of the three plaintiffs.

The scene of the projected irrigation works as well as the land filed for by the three Kansans is on the Snake river about 30 miles from Glenn's Ferry, and the plans of the defendants are to sell water rights to the deceptions of homesteaders throughout the western states.

On October 6, 1903, the Brunau Land & Irrigation company, under the exclusive management of B. F. Olson, president; T. B. Long, secretary, and C. M. Wickham, immigration agent, was incorporated for the alleged purpose of constructing dams and reservoirs to store the waters of the Snake river; Jack's creek and Wickahoney creek in Owyhee county, and to sell water rights to settlers. In the years from 1903 to 1906 inclusive agents were dispatched through many of the western states to induce homesteaders to settle in this state and buy water rights of the company in question. The defendants, it is alleged by the plaintiffs, never had enough money in their treasury to build the waterworks and it is charged that they never had any intention of building the same.

C. H. Thompson, the agent of the irrigation promoters, canvassed the state of Kansas, and while there interested the Ransom men in his proposition to sell the Ransom lands.

The Kansans say they left Ransom in July, 1904, and were met by Thompson at Pueblo, Colorado. On August 9, 1904, contracts for tracts of land in the Snake river country were made with the Brunau Land & Irrigation company. Each of the three plaintiffs wrote 10 promissory notes, falling due at intervals of one year, the first eight at face value of $640 and the ninth and tenth of $960.

The plaintiffs pray for the production in court of the promissory notes still outstanding and their destruction. In addition to the judgment for damages. The district court has ordered injunctions to be served on B. F. Olson, T. B. Long and C. M. Wickham.

Correct Survey.
Having secured a copy of the original field notes and plats for the entire tract, C. W. Devise, licensed surveyor for Idaho, is in a position to set all other claims correctly and place same on record as desired.

GARDEN SPOT OF THE STATE

Salt Lake Herald so Describes the Twin Falls Tract.

A staff writer on the Salt Lake Herald thus describes the development in the Snake river valley:
"No better illustration of the development and progress of the great west can be found in any part of the country than in Idaho. Utah will have to make rapid strides, almost the next few years to keep abreast of her sister state."

"The writer has just returned from a brief trip through southern Idaho and Montana all over that part of the state point unerringly to an era of great prosperity in that section. Information from other parts of the state shows that the prosperity is general all over the state. The increase in the population and wealth of Idaho, which was a strikingly marked by the last census reports, bids fair to be eclipsed by the development and progress of the next few years."

"The government irrigation works are going on rapidly in the vicinity of Minidoka, Rupert, Heyburn and Burley, and it is believed that the water will be turned into the canal some time in August. This will bring under cultivation a large area of territory which cannot be surpassed for agricultural purposes in any other part of the state. What can be produced by this land when properly watered is no longer conjecture. It has already been fully demonstrated by the Twin Falls Land & Water company, which has turned over water and practically brought under cultivation approximately 20,000 acres of land in the great basin of the Snake river. That whole section which two years ago was the home of 'the coyote and jack rabbit' is now furnishing a livelihood and convenience to thousands of prosperous farmers, while Twin Falls and other towns are springing up like mushrooms along the line of the enterprise of a wide-awake class of people successfully devoting their energy to all lines of commercial business. The first and second year's crops, which are now ready to harvest, will bring a large revenue to the farmers. The acreage is being removed from many locations that will bring in that crop next year. The country is not yet all under cultivation, but the results from the land that has been watered are beyond question."

"From Milner west, to and beyond Twin Falls, grain and alfalfa fields are in evidence on every side, and potatoes and other vegetables are in a prosperous condition. Compared with two years ago, the country is a revelation. Many fruit trees have been planted and large fruit farms are now in contemplation. That the climate and soil is the most favorable for fruit growing has been demonstrated by the great orchards of the Perrine farm at the Blue lakes on Snake river, from which the most choice fruits are being shipped to the nearest markets."

"West of Twin Falls toward the new town of Buhl, in the great basin of the Snake and Salmon rivers, the improvements are not quite so far advanced, but the Oregon Short Line railroad is extending west and thousands upon thousands of acres have been filed upon in that locality. The demand for farming land all along the proposed route is almost unprecedented. This section of the country is certainly destined to be the garden spot of the state, and farmers who are lucky enough to obtain holdings will have reason to congratulate themselves within the near future."

LOSS IN HANDLING ALFALFA

Shrinkage of 20 to 65 Per Cent in Harvesting.

The loss in making alfalfa hay ranges from 20 to 65 per cent. In other words, a fourteen-crop of hay gathered represents five tons cut even under the most favorable conditions, not counting the stubble. This ton loss is composed of leaves and the stems, the parts richer than the average sample of hay in nitrogen and ash constituents and representing a total of 117 pounds of plant food. The cutting of alfalfa for hay, after each cutting, especially after the first and second crops, is almost wholly incorporated into the soil, for the moisture will facilitate its decay, and the strong stubble will prevent it from being washed away to any considerable extent. The stubble proper is not considered in this statement on account of which we are justified in increasing this amount to 150 pounds, which alone is as large an amount of plant food as required to raise a good bushel crop of wheat. As one-half of the nitrogen added probably came from the air and the remaining substances from the deeper soil beyond the reach of wheat plants, the amount of plant food added is practically a clear gain. Denver Field and Farm.

WATER SHOULD BE CONTROLLED

Otherwise Irrigated Lands Will Not Produce Full Yield.

The low average yield on a big farm in Colorado is chiefly due to careless and unskillful irrigation. There is often a difficulty but sometimes a disinclination to engage a sufficient number of irrigators. Experienced irrigators are also a necessity. Even with skilled help results are not always satisfactory. The prevalent custom during the time of irrigating is to control and guide the course of the water during daylight and permit it to run wild or without attention during the night. This slovenly custom is a direct result of large farms and inefficient help, but it has been practiced so long that it is now almost a habit. Many a farmer has his yield reduced one-third through carelessness or inattention in not applying water at the right time or in the proper manner. In this way the average yield is not only decreased, but a large percentage of the land is being rendered unproductive by the presence of too much water. It is unreasonable to suppose that each farmer may allow a full head of water to flow at random over his field every night while water is being used and get damage either his own or his neighbor's land. ### TIME-KILLERS

HOGS IS HOGS.

"I reckon they ain't a more hearty old man in this country than Henry McGann."
"But Henry is peculiar in several ways. I'll remember, I guess, to the end of my days."
"How he cussed that young chap from the city who sat whether that was a wheatfield or oats they had passed."
"I've given you a different name. Or whether the wheat an' the oats was the same."
"An' I guess Henry's a-plannin' an' doublin' up still."
"At the things that he said. They was out feedin' swill."
"To the hogs. An' the boy, leavin' over the pen."
"I found an' observed this remark to ole Hen."
"I often have wondered how hogs got their name."
"But the meanin' is now to my mind very plain."
"Just see how they muss up their food with their feet!"
"The hogs is called hogs from the way that they eat!"
"Sez Hen: 'You city folks all-around the greenest young gourd that God ever turned out!'"
"An' still I'll admit that 'us farmers may seem to you city folks from 't town to be almost as green!"
—Walter L. Read.

John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, has been talking about the various methods in use at the present time for weighing coal. Of one method, a method of the past, he said:

"This method was long ago abandoned on account of its unfairness. It was most unfair. The flat and pound method, in fact, was scarcely better. The flat and pound method originated, they say, in Scranton. A simple-minded old lady ran a grocery store there. A man came in one day and asked for a pound of bacon. The old lady cut off a generous chunk of bacon and then, going to weigh it, found that she had mislaid her pound weight."

"Dear me," she said, "I can't find my pound weight anywhere."

The man, seeing that there was about two pounds in the chunk cut off, said hastily:

"Never mind. My flat weighs a pound."

"And he put the bacon on one side of the scales and his flat on the other. The two, of course, just balanced."

"It looks kind o' large for a pound, don't it?" asked the old lady, as she wrapped the bacon.

"It does look large," said the man, as he tucked the meat under his arm.

"But just then the old lady found her pound weight."

"Ah," she said in a relieved voice, "now we can prove this business. Put it on here again."

"But the man wisely refrained from putting the bacon on the scales to be tested. He put on his flat again instead. And his flat, you may be sure, just balanced the pound weight."

"The old lady was much pleased."

"Well done," she said, "and here's a couple o' red herrin' for yer skill and honesty!" —New York Sun.

Andrew Carnegie once delivered a little homily to the pupils of a public school in Washington wherein he endeavored to demonstrate that the judgment of men is apt to be warped by sentiment and feeling.

"In Scotland," asserted Mr. Carnegie, "the people abominated hymns simply because the Episcopalians used them. The Presbyterians sang only the Psalms of David. The Episcopalians used stained glass."

"The Scotch looked upon stained glass as something of an unholy origin."

"Continue," Mr. Carnegie told a story of a Presbyterian minister who had been bold enough to introduce this hated innovation. He was showing it in a triumph to one of his parishioners and asked how she liked it.

"Ay, it is handsome," said she, sadly, "but I prefer the glass that as God made it!"

John Ridgley Carter, secretary of the American embassy at London, was telling some "American" friends about the museum at Hastings when he observed an unhappy attendant wearing a military uniform, with a helmet from which a chin strap hung, whom an English tourist was firing all manner of silly questions.

"The tourist's last question was, 'Say, what is that strap under your chin for?'"

The attendant sighed. "The strap is to rest my jaw when I get tired answering questions," said he.

Senator Bard of California was once conversing with a Jesuit brother at the Georgetown university when he observed this story illustrative of the humor of Archbishop Ryan of his state.

"The archbishop had rebuked a priest for bearing a most disreputable looking hat."

"I would not give this hat for twenty new ones," said the priest. "It belonged to my father who fell in the Civil War."

"Ah," was Archbishop Ryan's reply, "evidently he fell on the hat!"

Two fishermen, much disturbed for the future of this country, were recently discussing the matter, when one of them observed:

"I've got an awful hunch in the United States."

"Ye say true," assented the second fisherman.

"Why, I was readin' over the list of men naturalized by the circuit court yesterday, an' every wan of 'em was furrin'."

Entered as second-class matter, December 12, 1904, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The local political pot has cooled sufficiently to permit of its being handled without the use of asbestos gloves, and the tigers are preparing to digest the Investment Co. canny, which seems to be their sole sustenance. It is probable, however, that they may require a consignment of poplin to aid the process of digestion. The public is becoming inquisitive and that's a very bad sign. The "issues" upon which the primary election in Twin Falls was decided are contained in the following "yellow burgeo," which was prepared and circulated by C. D. Thomas and M. J. Sweeley:

To the Republicans of Twin Falls Precinct.

A public caucus of the Republican voters, to suggest a list of delegates to the county convention to be held on Monday afternoon, was called by the committee for the precinct, Mr. C. D. Thomas. It was publicly held in a public place and duly called to order by Mr. Thomas. The business of the caucus was open and was participated in by anyone who chose to take part or suggest a delegate. The following persons were named and on motion were declared the nominees of the caucus as delegates: T. O. Boyd, M. J. Sweeley, F. H. Eastman, P. B. Chamberlain, C. D. Thomas, A. M. Lucy, J. Peters, C. M. Hill, G. W. Harris, A. N. Sprague, C. E. Booth, J. P. Melrose, G. B. Storer, F. L. Ball, A. H. Kellogg, R. M. McCollum.

After the caucus adjourned a few persons who had been present, some of whom took part in the proceedings, met in private at S. T. Hamilton's office and made up another ticket.

The action of those individuals who represent certain special interests forces a contest. It is one that will come sooner or later and perhaps it is best that it come now so that it may be determined whether this town and tract are to be managed for private interests or whether the people are to control. So be it, but why not be specific? Who are "the people?"

Mr. Thomas, the fugacious leader of the Thomas-Boyd-Sweeley-Chamberlain-Kimbrell-West combination, who pose as the representatives of the people and deny corporate affiliations every six weeks, came to Twin Falls 17 months ago as the representative of the state land board. Like Mr. Sweeley, he did not wait to remove his hat and gloves until he began to play politics. He forced R. A. Carter from the position of precinct committeeman and took the place himself in order that he might be better able to control the situation. Mr. Thomas receives a salary of $1800 a year from the state as the representative of the land board. He has received several hundred entries and taken evidence in approximately 1600 final proofs. That is what he is paid for doing. Rule 17 of the rules and regulations of the state board of land commissioners reads as follows:

"Rule 17.—The following is a list of fees to be paid to the state board of land commissioners under the provisions of this (Carter) act:

"For filing each application for entry of land, $1.00.

"For making certified copies of papers or records, the same fee as provided for to be charged by the secretary of state for like services.

"For taking evidence in final proof, $2.00.

"For taking evidence of annual proof of cultivation, $1.50.

"First payment of land at the rate of 25 cents per acre.

"Final payment of land at the rate of 25 cents per acre.

Now, Mr. Eastman, how much did you pay Mr. Thomas for the above the price of your entry when you made your filing? Out and see. How much did you pay him when you proved up? Out and see a final proof on 40 acres. Did you pay a final receipt for $10.00? Did Mr. Thomas $16.00, did you? Now, you inquired what the additional charge was for you were to pay the fee for taking evidence in final proof was $2.00, the cost of your proof was $2.00 more and the remainder was represented the "notary fee" you see any provision in the law for "notary fees?"

What does Mr. Thomas receive $1800 a year for? He may claim that the papers he has sworn to before a notary, signed before himself, before some other notary and the expense was the same. How is it, then, that Mr. Thomas can delegate his duties to a clerk? Not later than Saturday, August 25, Miss Kierstead took the evidence of a large number of final proofs from all accounts, took it with her to the city, and there, in the presence of the notary, she made a sworn statement for Cassia county. She is an associate of Mr. Thomas in the Cassia County Abstract Co., has already worn the mantle of Mr. Thomas and Mr. Carter was absent. Incidentally, Mr. Ballad, which as poared on the other ticket, was substituted. Mr. Chamberlain, against whom nothing can be urged except the fact that Mr. Thomas happens to be his political godfather and was the first to urge his candidacy for the legislature, stood pat with the "yellow boys." Dr. Boyd also endorsed the "yellow burgeo" by accepting the leadership of the Twin Falls delegation which, it must be confessed, cut about as graceful a figure at Albion as a fried egg in a horse blanket. Mr. Thomas entered into an agreement with Senator Day by which the Twin Falls tract was to secure four delegates to the state convention in return for its support of B. P. Howells for chairman of the convention. Mr. Day failed to deliver the goods and when it appeared that the Twin Falls delegates might not be able to elect their delegate to Pocatello Dr. Boyd offered to turn down Day and Howells for the privilege of naming Chamberlain. By the way, Mr. Day is the man who appraised the state land on the "Twin Falls" tract prior to the sale last April. He was supposed to have inspected every subdivision of 40 acres, yet he appraised the land which sold for more than $60 an acre at $12.50, and worthless tracts of rock on which nobody would bid at more than $20 an acre. His appraisal suggests the use of the long distance telephone. It will be shown up in time and its cost to the state will also be appraised.

The authors of the "yellow burgeo" stated: "The action of these individuals who represent certain special interests forces a contest. It is one that will come sooner or later, and perhaps it is best that it come now so that it may be determined whether this town and tract are to be managed for private interests or whether the people are to control." for several parties who filed contests against entrymen on the Twin Falls tract. It has been noted that he seemed to possess a vast fund of inside information. Did Mr. Thomas turn in the $2 note fees to the state land board? Governor Gooding can best answer that question. The board has been particularly fair in its dealings with the Twin Falls entrymen and will undoubtedly probe the "free" question to bedrock. It will not permit its representative in Twin Falls to work his notary seat overtime at the expense of the Twin Falls farmers, every one of whom is entitled to a refund of $2 on every final proof and perhaps 50 cents on every filing. Some people might term the notary fees "official perquisites" but most people call it "grat." Mr. Thomas has boasted of the friendship of the farmers. Did he merit and enjoy that friendship he had good reason to boast. Still, he has a rather queer way of expressing his regard for the farmer. Perhaps the farmers may appraise their admiration at less than $2 per capita. Mr. Thomas has been inconsistent in other ways. Though he has taken a leading part in church and Sunday school work he has also been active in promoting Sunday baseball and he did not scruple to ask the village trustees to open the saloons on the Sunday on which the Pocatello team visited Twin Falls. When George Barnard was convicted for the second time for running an opium joint, Mr. Thomas went his bail. Is Mr. Thomas working for the interests of the public when he attacks the Investment Co.? Has he done as much as I. B. Perrine for the welfare of Twin Falls? Mr. Perrine is the general manager of the Investment Co. The Investment Co. needs no defense. It has advertised the Twin Falls tract as no tract was ever advertised before, and it is still spending money right and left to bring settlers and capital here. It has built one of the finest hotels in the west and has given the city of Twin Falls more than $12,000 in donations and subscriptions. On the Friday preceding the primary election, Mr. Crandall arrived from the west with 17 farmers. Eleven of them bought land from local real estate dealers and one, just one, died upon Carey act land. Yet C. M. Hill and G. B. Storer, two local real estate men, fought under the "yellow burgeo" and blackguarded the Investment Co. up street and down. T. J. Woods was sent to the Billings opening by the Investment Co. Did that hurt Twin Falls? James A. Waters is now traveling through the northwest at the expense of the Investment Co. Is he doing the Twin Falls tract any damage? B. L. Rathbun has just finished a tour of Oregon for the Investment Co. and he did not hurt the town. Who is filling the eastern magazines and leading newspapers with information concerning Twin Falls? Is it Thomas, or Sweeley, or Chamberlain, or Boyd, or West? Who are the friends of the people, gentle reader? Keep your seats, ladies and gentlemen. This political excursion car is going through. It may be necessary to quote from the history of Indiana and Nebraska. The blue trapes may prove interesting. No favorites will be played. The News was the first paper published on the Twin Falls tract and it has been loyal to the city, the project and the people. It is owned by the men whose names appear on the articles of incorporation, George B. Fraser of Twin Falls, William M. Wayman of Fayette and George P. Sprague of Twin Falls. It will support any legitimate industry in the city or anywhere on the tract and will continue to encourage capital to come here. Its policy will continue to be the upbuilding of Twin Falls, and it will strenuously resist all efforts to injure the project. It will not tolerate dictation or misrepresentation by any charlatan politicians, no matter what positions they may occupy. It proposes to turn the limelight upon shame and graters and let the people deal with them as they deserve.

Like the fishermen of old, the local political leaders will now proceed to "Jonah" Mr. Thomas. Save your ballot, gentlemen. You may need it.

The political "friends of the people" who are clamoring for civic improvements should put their heads together and give the city wooden block pavements.

The nomination of Miss Belle Chamberlain for state superintendent of public instruction is very gratifying to her numerous friends in this county. The stampede of the convention to her support shows that the party stands for a square deal in the distribution of offices and that the women are entitled to representation. —Wallace Press.

Mr. Thomas, the fugacious leader of the Thomas-Boyd-Sweeley-Chamberlain-Kimbrell-West combination, who pose as the representatives of the people and deny corporate affiliations every six weeks, came to Twin Falls 17 months ago as the representative of the state land board. Like Mr. Sweeley, he did not wait to remove his hat and gloves until he began to play politics. He forced R. A. Carter from the position of precinct committeeman and took the place himself in order that he might be better able to control the situation. Mr. Thomas receives a salary of $1800 a year from the state as the representative of the land board. He has received several hundred entries and taken evidence in approximately 1600 final proofs. That is what he is paid for doing. Rule 17 of the rules and regulations of the state board of land commissioners reads as follows:

"Rule 17.—The following is a list of fees to be paid to the state board of land commissioners under the provisions of this (Carter) act:

"For filing each application for entry of land, $1.00.

"For making certified copies of papers or records, the same fee as provided for to be charged by the secretary of state for like services.

"For taking evidence in final proof, $2.00.

"For taking evidence of annual proof of cultivation, $1.50.

"First payment of land at the rate of 25 cents per acre.

"Final payment of land at the rate of 25 cents per acre.

Now, Mr. Eastman, how much did you pay Mr. Thomas for the above the price of your entry when you made your filing? Out and see. How much did you pay him when you proved up? Out and see a final proof on 40 acres. Did you pay a final receipt for $10.00? Did Mr. Thomas $16.00, did you? Now, you inquired what the additional charge was for you were to pay the fee for taking evidence in final proof was $2.00, the cost of your proof was $2.00 more and the remainder was represented the "notary fee" you see any provision in the law for "notary fees?"

What does Mr. Thomas receive $1800 a year for? He may claim that the papers he has sworn to before a notary, signed before himself, before some other notary and the expense was the same. How is it, then, that Mr. Thomas can delegate his duties to a clerk? Not later than Saturday, August 25, Miss Kierstead took the evidence of a large number of final proofs from all accounts, took it with her to the city, and there, in the presence of the notary, she made a sworn statement for Cassia county. She is an associate of Mr. Thomas in the Cassia County Abstract Co., has already worn the mantle of Mr. Thomas and Mr. Carter was absent. Incidentally, Mr. Ballad, which as poared on the other ticket, was substituted. Mr. Chamberlain, against whom nothing can be urged except the fact that Mr. Thomas happens to be his political godfather and was the first to urge his candidacy for the legislature, stood pat with the "yellow boys." Dr. Boyd also endorsed the "yellow burgeo" by accepting the leadership of the Twin Falls delegation which, it must be confessed, cut about as graceful a figure at Albion as a fried egg in a horse blanket. Mr. Thomas entered into an agreement with Senator Day by which the Twin Falls tract was to secure four delegates to the state convention in return for its support of B. P. Howells for chairman of the convention. Mr. Day failed to deliver the goods and when it appeared that the Twin Falls delegates might not be able to elect their delegate to Pocatello Dr. Boyd offered to turn down Day and Howells for the privilege of naming Chamberlain. By the way, Mr. Day is the man who appraised the state land on the "Twin Falls" tract prior to the sale last April. He was supposed to have inspected every subdivision of 40 acres, yet he appraised the land which sold for more than $60 an acre at $12.50, and worthless tracts of rock on which nobody would bid at more than $20 an acre. His appraisal suggests the use of the long distance telephone. It will be shown up in time and its cost to the state will also be appraised.

The authors of the "yellow burgeo" stated: "The action of these individuals who represent certain special interests forces a contest. It is one that will come sooner or later, and perhaps it is best that it come now so that it may be determined whether this town and tract are to be managed for private interests or whether the people are to control." So be it, but why not be specific? Who are "the people?"

for several parties who filed contests against entrymen on the Twin Falls tract. It has been noted that he seemed to possess a vast fund of inside information. Did Mr. Thomas turn in the $2 note fees to the state land board? Governor Gooding can best answer that question. The board has been particularly fair in its dealings with the Twin Falls entrymen and will undoubtedly probe the "free" question to bedrock. It will not permit its representative in Twin Falls to work his notary seat overtime at the expense of the Twin Falls farmers, every one of whom is entitled to a refund of $2 on every final proof and perhaps 50 cents on every filing. Some people might term the notary fees "official perquisites" but most people call it "grat." Mr. Thomas has boasted of the friendship of the farmers. Did he merit and enjoy that friendship he had good reason to boast. Still, he has a rather queer way of expressing his regard for the farmer. Perhaps the farmers may appraise their admiration at less than $2 per capita. Mr. Thomas has been inconsistent in other ways. Though he has taken a leading part in church and Sunday school work he has also been active in promoting Sunday baseball and he did not scruple to ask the village trustees to open the saloons on the Sunday on which the Pocatello team visited Twin Falls. When George Barnard was convicted for the second time for running an opium joint, Mr. Thomas went his bail. Is Mr. Thomas working for the interests of the public when he attacks the Investment Co.? Has he done as much as I. B. Perrine for the welfare of Twin Falls? Mr. Perrine is the general manager of the Investment Co. The Investment Co. needs no defense. It has advertised the Twin Falls tract as no tract was ever advertised before, and it is still spending money right and left to bring settlers and capital here. It has built one of the finest hotels in the west and has given the city of Twin Falls more than $12,000 in donations and subscriptions. Forest Supervisor Peter Wrenstedt says that the stockmen on the Cassia forest reserve have just completed hauling 61 tons of salt to stock grazing on this reserve. This is the first salt that has been distributed on any of the reserves under Mr. Wrenstedt's charge. The stockmen all pooled together and shipped the salt. The forest service has nothing to do with this move except that the distribution is made under the direction of the supervisor and ranges are closed to grazing during the ridges and has the effect of scattering the cattle over a greater territory than they would naturally take to the salt. The salt is naturally taken to the streams along the streams during the hot months, but they will also go a great distance for salt. They will graze to the ridges in search of salt and will then return again to go to the water. In addition to the beneficial effect of the salt on the stock, the exercise they get in going to the salt is a good thing for the stock. Pocatello Tribune.

Miss Mable Horn invited about 30 of her young friends to her home at the Burlington hotel, where they were entertained in a most delightful manner with music, games and toothsome refreshments. A novel and unique feature of the evening was the method of selecting partners for supper. Dainty little hearts, with the lady's name inscribed in letters sufficiently large to be seen across the room, were attached to the door and hung against the wall on one side of the room. The gentlemen were then given a bow and arrow, and taking their position near the door, they were to place the heart with the name of the young lady they desired to escort to supper. Much merriment and amusement followed this exciting contest, and it is said that the reputation of some of the gentlemen as marksmen received a severe setback. "Don't shoot," he held the record at the shooting gallery, is said to have become so nervous (presumably for fear that those who would detect which name was aiming at the target) he actually missed the wall and it is asserted that a barricade had to be built to keep Billy Turnpuck back to the line. Refreshments were served at 12:00 o'clock in the large dining hall. Mrs. Horn, mother of the hostess, was looking after this part of the entertainment after the honors had been done in the dining room, which were prolonged somewhat owing to Smith's enormous appetite. The guests departed for their homes, declaring that the evening would long be remembered, and expressing admiration for the way their young hostess and Mrs. Horn had the evening. Those present were Misses Elsie Hubbell, Eleanor Taylor, Belle and Ned Helen and Mattie Smith, Mrs. H. H. Hill, Ruby Mearns, Edna, Muriel Shields, Patricia Harrah, Elmina Juelz, Messrs. John and Paul Smith, George Adams, James Myher, Leon Perry, Ray and Holley Horn, Stanley Turnpuck, John Dingman, Frank Booth, Lee Harrah.

From sagebrush to the dignity of a first-class railway depot in 12 months is a very creditable record and the Kimberly people will turn out strong to voice their good-will and help to make the occasion worthy of remembrance.

Andrew Rogerson, John MacRae, W. Scott Dolg and John McDonald arrived from Three Creek on Monday morning with 3500 sheep which they shipped to the depot. The shipment consisted of a trainload of 12 double-deck cars and was dispatched on Wednesday morning. Mr. MacRae will accompany the train to Chicago. The sheep were in splendid condition. Mr. Rogerson said the drive from the range to Twin Falls was very satisfactory, food and water being plentiful. The Three Creek stockmen have had a very satisfactory season and their flocks are in much better condition than usual. After visiting the city for some time, the party left for home this morning.

Mrs. Clara M. Paxton, wife of H. E. Paxton of Twin Falls, died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Frank Osborne. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place this afternoon from the residence of the deceased, Rev. J. H. Schenck officiating. Interment was in the new Twin Falls cemetery under the direction of H. E. Hunt. Mrs. Paxton was a native of Merced county, California, March 16, 1880. She came to Twin Falls four months ago and while on account of her illness her friends were necessarily separated. She won the love and respect of many friends. Her fortitude and Christian resignation were inspiring. To her sympathy of the entire community is extended.

Frank Labelle of the Twin Falls Meat Co. bought six fat sheep from Andrew Rogerson. While Frank was to get the critters he spoke to them in French instead of Gaelic and the sheep stampeded down Rock creek canyon. Frank followed them and succeeded in catching them and swimming the creek several times. The other two are at large.

The Twin Falls band will give a concert in the Ring theater on the evening of August 31; the proceeds of which will be devoted to the purchase of instruments. An excellent program has been prepared and there will surely be a good turnout. The band is making splendid progress and is in every way deserving of public support.

The mail service between Twin Falls, Ellers and Buhl was tied up for a time this week, the contractor declining to proceed with the work until better compensation was granted. The arrangement was very unsatisfactory to the public and has failed to accept new bids for the route. A temporary arrangement was made by which the mails will be carried regularly until the railway reaches Buhl.

ORGANIZATION OF W. C. T. U.

held in Twin Falls, Under Encouraging Conditions.

With an initial membership of nearly 50, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has begun work in Twin Falls under the most favorable auspices. The workers met at the home of Mrs. A. A. Garlock last Tuesday afternoon and much enthusiasm was displayed at the meeting. Committees on permanent organization were appointed, the work of the association was outlined and explained and the members were thoroughly informed as to their duties.

An interesting and helpful address on practical cooking was delivered by Miss Anetta Shovel of Lincoln, Idaho, to which the members listened with close attention.

At the conclusion of the meeting light refreshments were served and the ladies expressed themselves as delighted with the organization gathering.

The members of the union will meet again on Tuesday afternoon, August 14, at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. A. A. Garlock, when the reports of the committees will be submitted and the work of the organization definitely mapped out. It is desirable that all who have enrolled should attend this meeting as the character of the work is such that every member should thoroughly understand it. Those who are interested in temperance work are cordially invited to be present.

NOW, WHAT D'YE THINK O' THAT

St. John Skinner Springs a Remarkable Red Ant Story.

This tale is vouched for by T. B. Hendricks and family. St. John Skinner, Senator At Large and Hon. William B. Hendricks of American Falls, on Saturday afternoon, just about the time the sun was getting red in the face and preparing to drop over the edge of the western horizon, Mr. Skinner, Mr. Page and Mr. Burke approached the dwelling of Mr. Hendricks from the east. As they neared the residence they detected a red glow which enveloped the roof of the house. "Drive up, John," shouted Al, "that man's house is afire." "Give them the best of the best," Mr. Skinner let it be said that an Irishman and a Democrat failed to respond to a call for help. "Swish went the lash and Sam Hamilton's pump sores barely touched, the high spots until they were pulled up in front of the residence. A strong smell of sulphur permeated the atmosphere. "Jerusalem," muttered Al. "What if hell had broke loose here. The flames are there but there is no sign of fire." Just then Mr. Hendricks came out, saying, "What's that matter? Mr. Skinner?" he was asked by all three men in chorus. "Red ants," said Hendricks. "See them—swarming on the roof. They are eating the chimney and we are smoking them out with sulphur tapers." The three musketeers returned to Twin Falls in silence. "Burke's mighty good thing we had Mr. Burke with us," declared Al. "Otherwise the people might think we had been drinking red-eye." However, the story is easily credited as swarms of flying red ants have made it uncomfortable for more than one farmer of late.

Grain Bags—Grain Bags.

The Pioneer Storage & Commission Co. has just received a carload of wheat and oat sacks.

All good citizens will buy tickets for the band concert on the 31st.

Y. M. C. A. DEPARTMENT

(Conducted by the Secretary.)

This department has been discontinued for about two months, not because I had lost interest in the Y. M. C. A. work, nor because I was less concerned for its welfare, but I have been very busily engaged otherwise. No matter how much one may sympathize with public institutions, no matter how much one may desire to give in time, labor and money for the public weal and for the benefit of less fortunate fellow beings, there is a limit along this line of endeavor.

My desire and intention to labor for the promotion of the Y. M. C. A. work in Twin Falls is as ardent as ever. Poor as my efforts are, I give the best I have so long as I make my home here. It is true that during the past two months very little actual work has been done. The Sunday afternoon meetings were discontinued until October, which was a great loss. A very few would care to attend a meeting in the middle of the afternoon during the extremely hot weather. The reading room has been open, and many have availed themselves of its benefits. Many continue to visit the room regularly, and strangers are coming to the Y. M. C. A. in the months approach and the strenuous work of the summer changes to the long winter evenings, with comparative leisure, men will naturally seek shelter and entertainment. It is hoped that they will find both at the room.

During the time in which I have of necessity taken a leave of absence from the promotion of the Y. M. C. A. work I have not been idle in thought for I have carefully gone over in my mind the work of the past few months. In the light of the experience of those months I have tried to formulate plans for future operations that I might suggest to the association. Many ideas have presented themselves from time to time, all of which I will not take time to here present. However, two departments of association work have appealed to me very strongly as being the most needed and most practical here at the present time. These departments are baths and a gymnasium. Both facilities in Twin Falls are very limited and unsatisfactory. Baths in connection with the reading room would bring the association, support that it could not get otherwise, and then it would prove a source of revenue.

Athletics is one of the great purposes for which the Y. M. C. A. exists. In fact, without this feature the organization could not be maintained in many cities. It is work along this line that gives the association such great prestige among the young people of the land.

There is no reason why these two departments of the association work could not be conducted on a very small scale, if every body with join hands and boost.

"Boost for the Y. M. C. A." A boys' department for the Y. M. C. A. is now assured. Our first efforts will be confined to providing the boys with magazines, papers and such books as we may be able to procure. If we can do this, and thus interest the boys in a work that will eventually mean so much to them, we will have made a start in a work the importance of which the people of Twin Falls can little appreciate. We hope every father and mother who have a boy or know of a boy who is old enough to be benefited by this work (12 years and over) will encourage him to join. Mrs. Wilson B. Wolfe has our sincere thanks for the donation of six good books to the Y. M. C. A. library. Among the collection is a history of the British-Bosnian war in South Africa and a most valuable book for young people entitled, "Christian Politeness." Bible students will find much valuable matter in "Millennial Dawn," and the others are all good, readable books. We are glad to know that Mrs. Wolfe has allied herself with those who are endeavoring to provide for the boys, by act and deed, are doing so much for the Y. M. C. A.

Have you been boosting for the Y. M. C. A. of late? If you have, see keep right on boosting; there'll be something doing ere long.

Watch the Y. M. C. A. movement grow; not only watch it, but get in and help it.

As soon as we have our own building, with baths, gymnasium, etc., there will be dozens of young fellows who will want the free advantages of the association. Of course these will be at their disposal, whether they have assisted in building up the association or not. Those fellows will be given the same consideration as will those who have been to the fore in this movement. "Do unto others as you would have them unto you," is my young friend, why not get in and help build up this work? So many young fellows say they will join the association as soon as they have a "gym." Why not join now and help get the "gym"? Don't you know that your membership and boosting for the "gym" will help to get it? Do you want to wait until everything is provided and then come in and get the benefits free? Surely there's nothing right or just or manly about that. Unless the young men of the land heed the call that is being made to them from all over the land to assert themselves on the question of morals, the Y. M. C. A. will be a failure. The public mind concerning the conduct of the young men, it must be obvious that they will have just reasons to fear for the future of the nation. A nation cannot be greater than its men. The idler, the cigarette fiend, the saloon frequenter can never hope to develop study manhood. It is no shame that practices of this kind are condoned by the so called "best" society? In fact, it would seem that the blame for the character of the nation is to be laid on the shoulders of the more popular he becomes. This cannot help but have a blighting effect upon the growing generation of boys. You must admit, then, that there was great need of reform in the social life of the average young man. It has been the writer's privilege to come in contact with men who are in the line of the high and low—and if the real facts were known it seems that the people

(the great common mass, would rise and once man and assert their mind on the question that is so vital to the perpetuity of our beloved country. Disipation is surely the first sign of decay. Will anyone who is so wise as to tempt to deny that a large share of the time of too many of our young men is given over to dissipation? The writer fully appreciates his inability to cope with this mighty question. All I can possibly hope to do is to touch upon the subject, and in so doing it may be possible to direct the thoughts of some along the channel of social reform.

The Y. M. C. A. stands for this reform. Its purpose is to show young men the higher and nobler uses of life, to show that smoking cigarettes, gambling, drinking and kindred vices are destructive to manhood and have no place in the makeup of the boy who wants to be a factor in the development of our common country.

Who engages in or sanctions a business that works the destruction of manhood is an enemy of society and a destroyer of his country.

Lee Greenlee and Philip Rettig are working men who appreciate the reading room, who recently contributed to its support.

A word to the boys—especially the boys between the ages of 12 and 18—who who will be eligible to the boys' department, when it is possible to have one organized: It is not possible for us at this time to have all the conveniences that we would like to have for your comfort and pleasure, but we do hope to have a "corner" of the room fixed up for you soon. This "corner" will be for your special benefit. Boys' books, magazines and papers will be left there for you. We will have pictures that you will like, also games as it is possible for us to supply them. Don't avoid the room because it is not yet organized. Your membership, your presence, your "boosting" will help mightily to get these things.

You are all ambitious; I know. You all dream of the great things you are going to do when you get to be men. And that's right. The boy who doesn't dream is not a man, and who doesn't dream of the great things he'll do, never amounts to much. I don't mean, now, that you shouldn't do anything but read and dream. I believe in playing marbles, in football, baseball, skating, running, swimming and all good, healthy sports. A boy needs these just as much as he needs food and shelter. But sometimes boys forget to study. All they think of is to play and have a good time. It is this kind of boy that I would address these words to especially. This is the sort of boy that is liable to get into mischief. Yet this boy is truly a "good fellow," and I don't use the term in the sense generally used. It is a word from the right standpoint he will always be found to have a really true, manly spirit beneath his sometimes repulsive exterior. He is a great bundle of changing, unquenchable energy seeking activity. The great question, then, is how to direct this continually increasing energy? What shall be the activity of these boys? What shall be the best development? The Y. M. C. A. seeks to solve this problem, and is solving it in many cities. It is a man in an earnest city. What we want to say this to the fathers and mothers: Encourage your boys to patronize the reading room. If you can get your boys to the room, you can get your boys when down town, or spending his evenings there, you may be assured that he is in good company, and that the man who is getting something out of it will change him from a failure to a success.

"Every man—something—every day." Is a recent motto carried in a Y. M. C. A. paper in an eastern city. "That's what we stand for. That expresses our sentiment exactly. Every man can be something every day—he can be a man, and a good one. As once said, is being all that God intended he should be."

There is a western senator of rather an irascible temper who, on the days when everything goes wrong, enjoys scolding the clerks employed by his constituents.

On one occasion during the last session of the senate the western senator had desired one of the clerks to prepare a list of names of persons in the statistics of the United States.

When the statement was laid before the clerk the senator glanced at it with an air that boded trouble. Suddenly he exclaimed: "Look here, Robinson, this won't do. Why didn't you prepare this statement on the typewriter? These figures are all right, but the way they are set out is so bad. See that five! It looks for all the world like a three. Nobody would take it for anything else. Just look at it."

"I beg pardon, senator," replied the humble clerk; "the fact is, it is a three."

"You idiot! It looks like a five!"

SENATOR CAREY TALKS.

Legislation Congress Has Done Good Work.

BOISE, Aug. 3.—Former Senator J. H. Carey of Wyoming, author of the Carey act, in a letter to Chairman

The National Irrigation Congress, during the years of its existence, has accomplished wonders. It has called together, from year-to-year, those most interested in the science of irrigation and irrigation engineers, also men willing to devote time to learn. Among those who have come were men prominent in all branches of business and professional life, as well as those conspicuous in public life.

These congresses have educated the people on a subject about which le was known 10 years ago, outside the states and territories included the arid regions of the United States. One who has been alive to the progress has been the rapid change in public sentiment with reference to a great question.

"That the next quarter of a century will, through irrigation works, public and private, change the entire country west of the hundredth meridian and its places and homes for millions of people, is a fact now conceded by all familiar with the subject. The reason, I believe, will be equal to the magnitude of the problem of irrigation. It is the fact that the people are safe in saying that the irrigation works now being constructed will fully a hundred million of dollars, the projects being contemplated being investigated for early initiation will cost hundreds of millions of dollars.

The irrigation congress has done its full share of the good work, yet it is only commenced. Let those who will constitute the congress always be in view the one question, "How they best promote and forward the reclamation of the arid regions of the United States?"

Boise is an ideal place for the congress. The rapid development of Idaho's agricultural interests, through irrigation works, is a great object les-farmers and orchardists through the 16 states comprising the irrigated area are making great preparations for the exposition of irrigated ducts to be held at Boise during the session of the Fourteenth National irrigation congress, September 3 to 8. In addition to the number of 200 have been assigned space for their exhibits, and a spirited contest will be engaged in for the valuable prizes to be awarded.

Harvesting has commenced on this end of the tract.

The crops on the experimental farm will soon be ready to harvest. They were planted between the 1st and the 15th of June, but they lost no time in growing.

The program committee of the Farmers' association was too busy with other matters to prepare a program for the meeting Monday evening, and therefore the proceedings and discussions were of a general character. The subject of Superintendent McPherson's remarks might very properly be called, "Help you one another."

He showed the great need to be derived from an exchange of ideas and experiences by the farmers, and commended that spirit of selfishness that induces some people to hide their light under a bushel for their neighbors might accidentally catch a glimpse of it and be in any way benefited by the sight. He spoke at some length on the best time to cut grain for feed purposes, as hay, in which it is in the milk, and showed why this was so. He said that at that time the substance that goes to make the mature grain is in the stalk and is preserved in it; if cut then, thus making the straw more available to cattle and sheep and more beneficial than if cut at any other time. He said that the climate and soil conditions on this tract were very much different from what they were in any other place with which he was acquainted; and as evidence of the statement he called attention to the fact that here the grain ripens while the stalk is green, whereas in other places the stalk ripens first. He advised the farmers that they must keep a close watch on their grain and not be deceived by the general appearance of the field, which might look green while the heads would be ripe and ready for cutting. He also pointed out the fact that a farmer on this tract could figure out to almost a certainty what his crop would be at the harvest time, as it depended wholly on himself. There being no rain here worth mentioning, the farmer controls the moisture and can regulate it to suit himself, and as moisture is one of the chief elements necessary to produce crops here, within a certain limit, have any kind of crops that his degree of intelligence and industry fits him to make. The school trustees reported having heard nothing from the county superintendent about the relative to the amount of money that this district is entitled to out of the public school fund, nor have they had any communication from the state superintendent touching the matter. They are therefore unable to take definite action looking towards making preparations for getting the school started, as there are no available funds for that purpose. It was suggested that as the school officials could not be heard from something he does in the way of raising money by private subscription to get the school started. This is an important matter and should be neglected no longer. It is estimated that about 150 school children in this district this winter. Every communication received by any one here from the outside asking for money about the country contains a request for information concerning the schools.

Hon. We feel in the day-state that if we ask the west to vote for legislation that is especially for the benefit of the country we should be equally ready to show interest in national legislation that benefits you. You are at entire liberty to quote me as personally a hearty believer in the encouragement of irrigation, and in saying that we of the Atlantic coast believe in looking at this matter from a national viewpoint, as a subject in which all citizens should be interested."

The congressional campaign will be based on the administrative and legislative record of the party, and that being so, Theodore Roosevelt's personality must be a central fact and his achievements a central thought in the campaign.

We desire to maintain the work of this campaign with popular subscriptions of one dollar each from Republicans. To each subscriber we will send the Republican National campaign text book and all documents issued by the committee.

Help us achieve a great victory. JAMES S. SHERMAN, Chairman, P. O. Box 2065, New York.
