GETTING READY FOR GRAIN CROP

FINISHING TOUCHES PUT ON KIMBERLY WAREHOUSE.

Threshing Operations Have Commenced—Road Overseer Bessing is Getting in Good Work on the Roads and Bridges.

KIMBERLY, Sept. 20.—The work on the farmers warehouse is being pushed right along. The floor is all laid and a part of the frame already up. By the end of the week it will be ready for its covering, which is to be of corrugated iron. It is to be ready to receive grain by the first of next month. Suitable scales have already been ordered so that no delay need be anticipated on that account. The farmers hereabouts, instead of building granaries and putting their grain in bins, as has been their custom, all expect to stack their product and store it in the warehouse, where it will be available for shipment at all times. Another great advantage gained by storing in a warehouse is the lower rate of insurance obtained and the facility with which money may be raised upon the warehouse receipts as new stock.

B. Williams is now at work upon the new school building, for which he has the contract. This building is to be somewhat smaller than the present building and is situated just south of it. The two combined will furnish ample room for the season of school which is to open about October 1. A new cafeteria has already been completed which will do away with the great annoyance that was experienced last year.

O. G. Young has been working on a new house for P. F. Martin on his ranch southwest of town.

Although the threshers have not yet reached this immediate vicinity, considerable preparations have been made for its coming. The large steam thrasher from Twin Falls is expected to be on Frank Prothero's place the latter part of the week. From there it will thresh for Messrs. Menko, Moore, Lint and August Hendricks in succession, as Frank Prothero's place is the latter part of next week. Then it goes to the McMaisters-Smith ranch near Hansen. The horse-power machine "A" will work on P. H. Smith's ranch at present.

A. L. Besaire, our new road overseer, has had a crew at work all this week and is making a decided improvement in the condition of the roads in all directions. He is just the man for the place and everyone should lend his support to help get bridges put in where needed and get those fixed up that are already in.

M. H. Wright, who has a place just a mile south of here but who has been living at Rock Creek this summer, where he had the contract for the building of Chris Peterson's house, was in town the early part of the week. He seemed to have lost interest in attending to and didn't stop long in one place.

Robert Brown of Rock Creek is still hauling lumber from here for his new house. The residence which he is erecting will undoubtedly be the finest on the tract when completed. It is being built of miracle concrete blocks and will be a fine structure with a porch entirely surrounding it.

J. E. Henley left on Wednesday's train for Montana, where he will attend to some business which requires his attention.

M. P. Williams, from Opau, Wyo., has relieved C. H. Taylor as agent at this place. Mr. Taylor resigned so that he might be with his family on their ranch near Burley.

M. W. Johnson and wife arrived on Saturday's train and drove out to their ranch west of Rock Creek.

Edward P. Tucker, formerly postmaster here, made up a visit last week. He is now on the road for a Salt Lake family house.

W. Tilley, who left in company with W. Scott on July 4 for the land opening in Wyoming, returned Wednesday. He was not very favorably impressed with the country and made no location. They sold their outfit in Rock Springs, Wyo., where Mr. Scott will remain for a short time at least.

James McMillan made a business trip to Rock Creek on Wednesday.

HANSEN STILL FORGING AHEAD

WORK BEING RUSHED ON SCHOOL BUILDING.

"Uncle John" Hansen Treats the Baseball Players.

HANSEN, Sept. 20.—A. H. Wells of Burley was in Hansen last Saturday.

T. T. Rutledge, our lumberman, spent Sunday in Heyburn.

Ed Galley, who is working in Twin Falls, returned last Sunday morning to spend a day at home.

Miss Eva Walton went to Twin Falls Wednesday last to spend a week with her sister, Mrs. Ball.

E. L. Riche made a business trip to Heyburn last Saturday.

There has been no frost yet to damage late crops or watermelons, of which there is an abundance in this vicinity.

Stuart Taylor and wife, C. C. Bedford, C. H. Mull and Harry Ball, all of Twin Falls, were visitors at the home of C. A. Ball last Sunday. They must have heard of Mr. Ball's large melon patch.

Mr. Fritz and family were stage passengers from Rock Creek to this place last Saturday, where they took the train on their way to Albion.

The Misses Cora Galley and Almada Roberts were visitors of Miss Roxie Davis Thursday afternoon.

Ernest Tach came up from Twin Falls on Saturday morning's train and stopped with N. H. Nichols until Monday afternoon. He took a number of pictures in this vicinity while here.

The little daughter of Ed Shelby, who was taken seriously ill while at the home of J. Jackson, is now convalescing.

Professor J. R. Hinton's grubbing outfit has been at work this week on the W. R. Smith place, one and a half miles north of town.

T. B. Thompson, Ora and Link Rush arrived Monday last for the Cassia forest reserve. They expect to return Wednesday with lumber for E. L. Riche.

Professor J. R. Hinton left Tuesday for Oakley, where he will purchase

SURVEY CASE.

The demurrer to the complaint in the case of C. B. Taylor vs. Reinhard Reising et al., which was brought for the purpose of testing the survey question, was sustained by Judge Price, who held that the government survey lines would have to be followed. This was a test case in which M. J. Swaley appeared for the plaintiff and C. M. Price for the defendant. The sustaining of the demurrer does not dispose of the survey question. It merely indicates that the government lines must be followed unless some plan may be agreed upon whereby the later survey may be taken. This plan is contemplated.

POTATO RATE LOWERED.

Through the good offices of Frank D. Kimball the Oregon Short Line has granted a rate of 25 cents per hundred on potatoes from Twin Falls to Butte and Salt Lake. The old rate was 41 cents. Mr. Kimball took the matter up with the Short Line officials and secured the 25 cent rate, which will let the Twin Falls potatoes into the Montana and Utah markets on a par with those shipped from main line points. Spuds are selling for $1.25 in Salt Lake and about the same in Butte, Omaha and Kansas City markets, are reported to be strong. It is probable that several truck loads of potatoes will be shipped from Twin Falls this year.

Two literary societies have been formed at the Twin Falls school, one composed of the high school pupils, the other of the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades. Officers have been elected, programs arranged and the societies will give entertainments in the future.

The fifth and sixth grades are not to be left behind and they are preparing to organize a society of their own.

Mr. Prothero was an active man for many years. He served as sheriff of his county in Wisconsin and was chief of police of Bamboe. He was also a railroad detective and bore the reputation of being one of the shrewdest and most fearless of men in dealing with criminals. Personally Mr. Prothero was a man of lovable disposition and he is sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends at Kimberly and in his old Wisconsin home.

Mr. Prothero is survived by his wife, two sons, Herbert E. Prothero and Frank M. Prothero, a daughter, Mrs. R. A. Carier, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Prothero of Norway Ridge, Wis., two brothers, John W. Prothero, L. E. Prothero, C. A. Prothero and F. M. Prothero. The funeral was largely attended.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES COMING

All Northwestern Lines Will Issue New Tariffs.

It is officially announced by the transportation departments of all northwestern railroads that they have put into effect a long distance tariff to apply to all lines in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana. The freight rates have been made to conform with the long distance tariff promulgated by the Washington railroad commission. The roads withdrawing all further opposition to the program of the commission.

Freight and Passenger Agent D. P. Stubbs of the Short Line said that the commodity rates will be reduced from 5 to 20 per cent, and that several concessions to branch line points have been made. It is thought the new schedule will be completed in the course of a week as a large force has been at work on them for some time.

STRONG ADDRESS*BY W. E. BORAH*EVERY CAMPAIGN-ISSUE-SQUARELY MET.

Republican Candidate for United States Senator Makes Splendid Impression by His Eloquence, Firmness and Sincerity.

Hon. W. E. Borah, Republican candidate for United States Senator, opened the Republican campaign in Twin Falls on Saturday night with an address which appealed strongly to all who heard it. It was a thoughtful, practical and scholarly speech and Mr. Borah was liberally applauded. Through an oversight the meeting had not been advertised as it should and the attendance suffered in consequence. The speaker was introduced by Alex. McPherson.

After expressing his pleasure at meeting the people of Twin Falls and complimenting them upon the remarkable progress they had made, Mr. Borah plunged into the issues of the campaign. He began by calling attention to the need of retaining a Republican majority in congress in order that the sound policies of the administration might be carried out. The old cry of "reform" he said, would no longer fall upon listening ears. The American people were blessed with too good memories to heed that slogan. They could not forget the dark days from 1893 to 1897 when the tariff was being reformed. The tariff was all right but the trusts were all wrong. President Roosevelt was the only statesman, said Mr. Borah, who had the courage to attack the trusts and bring them to terms. In face of the most powerful lobby ever assembled in Washington he fought through the Panama canal bill and the railway rate regulation measure. The most important bill had been forced through in face of powerful opposition. The Republican party could always be depended upon to fulfill its pledges and at his hands the people were sure of getting a "square deal".

It was very strange, said Mr. Borah, that Senator Dubois refrained from talking Democracy. All he would discuss was Mormonism. Contrasting Mormonism, said the speaker, Senator Dubois knew very well that he was powerless to secure any legislation which would lead to curb the Mormon church. The federal congress could do nothing. The regulation of the church lay entirely with the state, and every bit of anti-Mormon legislation had been enacted by the Republican party. Polygamy was a dead issue, declared Mr. Borah, and he quoted from the congressional record the remarks of Senator Dubois three years ago when that gentleman declared that polygamy was no longer an issue in Idaho. If polygamy were practiced, said the speaker, there was a law on the statute books to punish it and punish it effectively. Senator Dubois was not preaching Bryanism but Mormonism. He was trying to convince the people that Mormonism was the only issue in the present campaign. Why was he silent concerning the live issues with which he must deal in congress and solicitous about the issues over which he had absolutely no control? Under the Republican administration the country had enjoyed a prosperity unparalleled in its history. The people would not be led astray by specious promises. They knew where their welfare lay and they would uphold President Roosevelt and his administration.

It had been stated by Senator Dubois, said Mr. Borah, that he (Borah) came to the Republican state convention with 25 delegates and by Mormon influence had succeeded in securing control of the convention. This, said Mr. Borah, was untrue. He came to the convention with more than 125 delegates instructed for him by their conventions and the only counties he lost were Mormon counties. He read an editorial published in the Deseret News, the Mormon church organ, two days before the convention in which his senatorial candidacy was criticized and he was accused of attempting to dictate to his party. Mr. Borah denied vehemently the charge that he was dominated by the Mormons. He had many loyal friends among the delegates, but he was not bound by any entangling alliance as had been intimated. If Senator Dubois had any evidence of political dishonesty, Mr. Borah, it was his duty to submit the evidence and the speaker would aid him in the prosecution. The law against polygamous practice was on the statute books and was placed there by the Republican party in fulfillment of its pledges.

Mr. Borah spoke briefly of the splendid administration of Governor Gooding, who, he said, had exercised the same good judgment in handling state affairs as he did in handling his own business. He advised his hearers to stand by Governor Gooding and the Republican state administration for their own welfare.

In closing, Mr. Borah invited his hearers to ask him questions concerning the issues of the campaign. He wished to make clear every point and he desired that nobody should go away with wrong impressions. At the close of this meeting Mr. Borah was greeted by several strangers who complimented him upon his address and asked several questions regarding the Mormon issue. Mr. Borah showed much interest. Mr. Borah left for Halley on Sunday evening.

WARM WELCOME FOR MR. FRENCH*CONGRESSMAN MAKES A SPLENDID IMPRESSION.

Delivers Strong Address on National and State Issues Before a Large Audience in the Ring Theater on Thursday Evening.

Congressman Burton L. French received a warm welcome from the Republicans of Twin Falls on Thursday evening when he delivered a splendid address in the Ring theater. Mr. French has always been partial to Twin Falls and the city is obligated to him for many favors. He was here in the sagebrush days and he was also one of the speakers on "Railroad day." Dr. Boyd introduced Major Fred R. Reed, the chairman of the meeting, who presented Congressman French in a very appropriate speech.

French swung into national issues which he handled with a splendid display of oratory and fact. On the tariff question, about which so much is being said, Mr. French presented an array of facts so convincing in support of the Republican policy that he did not leave the revolutionists a single prop. The war reason why Idaho should support the Republican party, said the congressman, was selling today for more than it had been brought before, while during the Cleveland administration it sold for six cents per pound. Idaho was turning out more than half of the world's output of lead and were the duty load removed the mining industry would be paralyzed. The splendid achievements of President Roosevelt were reviewed by the speaker and heartily applauded. On the Mormon issue Mr. French took practically the same ground as Mr. Borah. It was a senseless, un-American, he said, to have a law on the statute books which had no other issue. The old "wolf" cry would fall on heedless ears this time. The people were prosperous and content to stand by President Roosevelt and his grand administration. They knew when they were well off and would not be misled.

Congressman French made an excellent impression and won many friends by his talented address and pleasing personality.

KNIGHTS ENTERTAIN ROYALLY
Dance at the Ring Theater and Supper in New K. P. Hall.

The K. P. dance and supper on Monday evening furnished entertainment for couples and was by all odds the most successful affair of the kind in Twin Falls. The management used excellent and the arrangements could not have been improved upon. The knights are noted for their hospitality and their guests on Monday were delighted.

The occasion marked the opening of the new K. P. hall in the Idaho Department store building. Mrs. Carl Hahn and Mrs. Del Sprague used excellent taste in decorating the room. To the uninitiated the arrangement appeared to be an artistic blend of color, light and shadow. But to the Knights it spelled all sorts of appropriate sentiment. It is reported that Carl Hahn and Del Sprague started out to do the decorating themselves. They had a grand scheme outlined and their intent was to show the natives something new and dazzling. Del nearly broke his legs trying to drive nails with his teeth and Carl sawed a bit clear while endeavoring to fasten bunting to the ceiling. Mrs. Hahn and Mrs. Sprague are reported to have appeared at this juncture and their industrious husbands fled. After the ladies had done all the work and were being complimented on their skill, Del and Carl readily told their friends that their wives had merely carried out the ideas which the gentlemen had conceived. This story went with a few but the same suggestion itself that the ladies did themselves proud and set a mark in interior decoration which will be hard to reach. Mrs. Wolfe had charge of the compulsory department which was splendidly handled. The refreshments were served on two long, flower laden tables and the guests were waited upon with liberality. Mrs. Boyd and Miss McCollum saw that nobody was overlooked.

Messrs. Johnson and Nixon were in command on the dancing floor and they kept the program moving with commendable celerity. It was an exceedingly enjoyable evening and the knights are to be congratulated upon their success.

Nobody knows how the fire started. There was very little insurance.

CHAUFFEUR RETURNS WITH HIS BRIDE, HORTENSE.

Gets Sassy with the Employees Who

Mop the Stable Floor with Him—

Master Engages in a Tilt with the Haughty Telephone Girl.

Chapter XI.

"Have they returned?" the master asked as he looked at his watch, and remembered that his daughter had eloped with Mr.

Carr, her chauffeur.

"Not yet," Mr. Skidds answered.

"Mr. Skidds," said the master, "I am afraid—I am afraid they have eloped."

"Mr. Skidds could give him little encouragement, and the master went to the telephone to call up the detective agency." "The detective agency," he thought, "must be somewhere about town. But the telephone girl was sound asleep, as usual, and he was more than an hour in rousing her. When she did answer his call she rebuked him for his impatience, declared no call had come in except one the moment she answered, and declared him for ringing in her ear."

Then she told him the detective agency's office did not answer, next that the line was busy, and finally that she had no more to tell him. He was nearly human man, Mr. Alfors said, "damnitall!"

"I hope you can be a gentleman if you are a farmer," said the telephone girl.

"I'm no farmer!" yelled the master.

"I was one, but that was yesterday."

"You're a rich son of a gun, you are," said the girl, "and I'm so thirsty for blood that I could drink a bottle of red ink." "Gimme that number or I'll pull down all the wires between here and town and chew 'em up!"Immediately he was connected with the detective agency, but it was then 10 o'clock, and the detective who he told his story feared it was too late,

Record of the Republican Party Under the Administration of McKinley and Roosevelt.

"We have ample record of deeds done, of beneficent things accomplished in the public interest. The vast business of government has been well administered. The treasury has been carefully guarded and impartially supplied with revenue and the financial credit of the government has never better. Our foreign trade balance continues to increase our national wealth. We have adopted an irrigation policy which will build homes for the sons of the west. The Panama canal, the hope of the century, is in course of construction, under the able protection of the American flag."

"To Republicans:
We are anxious to have every Republican in close touch and working in harmony with the Republican National congressional committee in favor of the election of a Republican Congress."

"The congressional campaign must be based on the administrative and legislative record of the party, and that being so, Theodore Roosevelt's personality must be a central figure and his achievements a central thought in the campaign."

"We desire to maintain the work of this campaign with popular subscription of one dollar each from Republicans. To each subscriber we will send the Republican National campaign text book and all documents issued by the committee."

"Help us achieve a great victory."

The political situation is shaping slowly in Cassia county. Of late there has been a lull but the aspiring politicians are working quietly and the wires are being gingerly juggled. There appears to be more activity on the east end than on the Twin Falls tract. It seems to be generally conceded that the county offices will all go to that end as the county is certain to be divided. On the Republican side A. Lounsbury and Edward T. Barber are candidates for auditor and recorder. A. H. Derbyshire and R. P. Howells would like to be county attorney and Deputy Sheriff Brackenbury aspires to the office of sheriff. John L. Smith and George A. Day are out for the senatorship. On the Twin Falls tract E. H. Rettig, Harry T. West and Frank E. Chamberlain are the avowed candidates for the legislature. The Democrats will hold their county convention in Twin Falls on September 28. Their candidates seem to be rather shy but there will hardly be a death of timber. P. H. Smith of Twin Falls is being talked of for the senatorship. The Republicans will convene in Twin Falls on October 5, the primaries being held on the 1st. Senator Hoyburn will be the speaker at the convention and a great rally is assured. Governor Gooding will speak in Twin Falls on September 29 and there will undoubtedly be much enthusiasm aroused at that time. The new comers are taking their time and sizing up the situation carefully. They want to know more about it before they announce their intentions. It is rather difficult to forecast the political complexion of the tract. When a poll was taken some time ago more than 500 voters of the 675 polled announced their fealty to the Republican party. A great many did not give their politics and the remainder was mixed. The Socialists are quite a vote and the Prohibitionists are organized.

The Three Creek district is about to lose its stage connection with Hagerman and is desirous of establishing connection with Twin Falls. By the present road from Twin Falls to Three Creek the distance is much shorter than by the mail route now followed. It could be made several miles shorter by opening a road from the high line bridge, due south of Twin Falls, westward in the direction of the Salmon river bridge. The opening of this road would place Three Creek within easy distance of Twin Falls and would result in the trade from that section coming to this city as it should. It would also reduce the distance to Coeur d'Alene and place that promising camp in touch with Twin Falls. Were the proper steps taken a mail route could be secured from Twin Falls for Three Creek, Roseworth and Butte which would be much more acceptable to the people in that section than the facilities they now have. The Commercial club could easily investigate the situation. Several members of the club have been over the route and can talk intelligently concerning it. The most practical mail route would provide for service every second day. Congressmen French would be very glad to take the matter up with the postal department provided proper request is made and he is supplied with the necessary information. The Commercial club can supply this information at little or no cost. The Three Creek trade is worth reaching for and Twin Falls should get it. The people there are friendly to this city and they are not asking Twin Falls to go to any expense on their account.

The Oregon Short Line is not living up to its promises respecting the construction of the Buhl extension. Work on the bridge has been dawdling along for months. The structure is now practically completed but the road is not making a move toward building. Doubtless the Utah Construction company, which has the contract, is fully occupied in other fields. The farmers on the west end stand ready to furnish the labor, the finest class of labor. Let the company put on a steel gang or two and the rails will be at Buhl in a jiffy. Cedar draw has to be bridged but the road could at least be built to Filer without much of an effort. The farmers on the west end must move their produce this fall and the railroad is not treating them right by putting off construction work. Moreover the people living on the west end must have fuel this winter. It is almost impossible to get coal in Twin Falls. How will it be when the cold weather comes? Many farmers are hauling wood from the forest reserves in anticipation of a coal famine. To the living expenses of every farmer on the west end is added the cost of freighting from Twin Falls. This is unfair. The Short Line cannot complain of the business it has handled on the Twin Falls tract and it should do the right thing and build to Buhl without further delay. It cannot plead a single sound excuse for working this hardship upon the people.

The address of President James J. Hill of the Great Northern railway to the farmers of Minnesota at the state fair in Minneapolis a few days ago, which was published in last week's News, has created a sensation in the east. The New York Herald printed the address in full and in an editorial characterized it as the strongest utterance on the subject delivered during the present century. Mr. Hill quoted old facts, facts which the farmers recognized. He called their attention to conditions which they knew existed but which they had not discerned. The Literary Digest devoted five columns to Mr. Hill's address and quoted generously from the prominent papers of the east concerning it. Mr. Hill is a remarkable man. He may be a foe to organized labor and a grasping railroad magnate but he certainly knows where the tonnage comes from and he has been watching the western farmers for years. He knows their methods to a dot and he is keenly alive to their weakness. The country is not producing what it should and this Mr. Hill attributes to lack of methods of farming. The days of big crops are passing. The land is said to be "waxing out." Irrigated land in the arid regions need never wear out. Crop rotation will retain the fertility. Wherever alfalfa can be grown there need never be crop failure or worn-out land. The Snake river valley will in a few years be the most productive stretch in America.

It has been suggested, and the suggestion has been favorably received, that a denaturized alcohol distillery would be profitable in Twin Falls. In a country like this where fuel is expensive, alcohol would be used largely for cooking and heating. If, as has been stated over and over in the government reports, denaturized alcohol can be produced at a profit for less than 15 cents a gallon it ought to be worth something to the people of this section. It can be made from the waste products of the farm, such as potatoes, corn cobs, etc. The corn could still be used for feed and the potatoes for the manufacture of starch. In Germany denaturized alcohol is used almost exclusively for power and is also utilized in numerous other ways. It is made from over-ripe fruit and refuse of all kinds. In San Francisco the manufacture of alcohol from fruit refuse has been going on for years. The spirits are retailed at less than half the cost of gasoline and they are infinitely better for fuel and lighting, being absolutely safe and less offensive. The question is well worth investigation. Let Twin Falls take the lead in what promises to be a great industry.

And not a soul can be found who voted against the sewer bonds! Of course the speculators who prefer to unload hot air by the original package while others are building up the town naturally object to paying sewer taxes. It is a safe bet that the "livermen" voted for the bonds, likewise the laundrymen, the hotel men, the butchers, the men who own business buildings, the merchants, in fact everybody who is not a cuckoo. Wouldn't it be a nice advertisement for Twin Falls if the Hotel Perrine were closed for sanitary reasons? There was a time not long ago when the management thought seriously of closing on that account. Still, like "begs" like and the good-book says, "The dog shall return to his vomit again and the sow that was washed to her wallowing in the mire." Let the hammer swingers allow all they please. Twin Falls will keep on growing just the same.

Don C. Bryan's suggestions in regard to hog raising on the Twin Falls tract have a very sensible ring, and should be carefully weighed by the farmers. Mr. Bryan is a practical farmer and has studied the question closely. It was no experiment with him. He first tried turning the hogs on alfalfa and red top clover in order to find out how they would thrive. He ascertained that they would do all right on that feed with a little grain to harden them. He proposes to turn over an alfalfa field next spring and put it in barley and he confidently expects to raise 100 bushels of barley to the acre. This barley he will feed to the hogs and make it worth more than it would bring if marketed. Fat hogs are always in demand and farmers can well afford to keep at least a few. Last year two hogs were fattened on waste at the experimental farm with splendid results.

A creamery would be a good thing for Twin Falls provided it were properly operated. As a rule co-operative creameries have proved a failure everywhere. There are more than 20 co-operative creameries in Idaho today, some of them quite expensive plants. To operate a creamery it is necessary to have cream and to get the cream it is necessary to have cows. Cows can be fed cheaper here than elsewhere because feed is easily grown. However, there are comparatively few cows on the tract, certainly not enough to support a creamery. A number of extra good dairy cows have been shipped in here and sold to the farmers, but the milk supply is limited. Were it possible for an individual or a company to bring in a sufficient number of cows to insure a milk supply a creamery would be profitable. The local demand for butter is strong enough to support a creamery and it would be a good industry and one worthy of every encouragement.

Twin Falls has led off with the first county fair in Idaho this year, and from all reports coming from there, though the town is but a little more than two years old, and water was only first turned on the Twin Falls tract in 1904, the fair is a summer show produced, the showing made will make some of the older communities work hard to keep their laurels. The fair is a summer consideration the newness of the land where the grasses, grains and vegetables were raised.—Owhee Nugget.

MORMONISM WAS THEIR SUBJECT

DEMOCRATIC ORATORS SCORE THE HIERARCHY.

Miss Mary Ogden White and Major Williams Discuss the Campaign Issues—Declare the Republicans Are Hand in Glove with Mormons.

Miss Mary Ogden White of New York, corresponding secretary of the International Council of Women, and Major G. A. Williams of Halley were the speakers at the Democratic meeting in the Ring theater on Tuesday evening. The meeting was well attended and the speakers were liberally applauded. C. M. Price presented the chairman of the evening, Rev. John Gentry, who spoke of the growing tendency toward independence in voting. The young Americans, said Mr. Gentry, did not like the forefathers, but to be bound by party ties. They voted as they saw fit and as the issues appealed to them. Although he was not a politician, said Mr. Gentry, he was properly interested as a minister of the gospel in the moral issues of the campaign.

Mr. Gentry introduced Miss White, who was cordially received. Miss White said she supposed everybody who spoke in Twin Falls prefaced their remarks with a tribute to the wonderful progress of the town because they could not refrain from doing so and she was deeply impressed with what she had seen and heard of the city and country. The speaker outlined the work being done by the International Council of Women. She said it was difficult to interest the people of the east in the polygamy question because they had not been brought in close touch with it. The women were alive to the situation, however, and were doing all in their power to remove this stain upon American civilization. It was obvious, said Miss White, that the Mormons were not sincere when they declared their intention to abandon polygamy. They merely adopted that subterfuge in order to gain time and strength. Their missionaries were industrious in their efforts to convert the people of Germany had forbidden the work of the Mormons in his realm and was now investigating the operations of the church in this country. Young Mormon girls were being lured away from their homes by glittering promises and the German government had placed its ban upon the practice. Miss White said the people of southeastern Idaho were afraid to give utterance to their views concerning Mormonism because they feared themselves by taking a firm stand against Mormonism.

Major Williams devoted the major portion of his address to the Mormon question. Regarding the incident, he said President Roosevelt was in favor of revision and had so expressed himself. It would therefore seem, said the speaker, that the Republican congressional candidates were opposed to the president's policy. Major Williams denounced the attempt of the Republicans to make an issue of the Stenborg case. He declared that the action of the Democratic platform which referred to this case and declared that in the event of Judge Stockinger's election justice would be done. The Republicans, asserted Major Williams, had shown their fealty to the Mormon hierarchy by electing a Mormon speaker of the house, or representatives to the session. This speaker, he declared, had taken the floor and killed the public health bill because it provided for "the registration of births." The change of venue bill, he continued, met the same fate because it passed polygamists would be unable to register in their own courts, where conviction was impossible.

ALCOHOL FROM CORN COBS

Interesting Experiment by Washington Authorities.

In the manufacture of alcohol from corn cobs, at a cornstalk, at small cost, the department of agriculture is developing a new industry likely to be of large commercial value.

Investigations at Hopewell, Illinois, have proved that tincture of corn cobs which heretofore have gone to waste can be converted into alcohol in sufficient quantities to justify the erection of a distilling plant in connection with a corn cannery.

The department of agriculture sent two experts to Hopewell to make experiments at the cannery. They have succeeded by simple methods of fermentation in getting a yield of 11 gallons of alcohol from a ton of green cobs and six gallons of alcohol from a ton of green cornstalks. One of the scientists says:

"Tests show that there are 240 pounds of fermentable substance in a ton of green field cornstalks, which will yield about half of their weight in absolute alcohol. In round numbers a ton of stalks will produce 100 pounds of alcohol or 200 pounds of proof spirit."

Republican Campaign Text-Book. A departure has been made in the Republican Campaign Text-Book just issued. In its contents are wholly devoted to live issues, and these are treated in the briefest possible way, yet comprehensively enough to include all necessary facts and figures.

First, there is a general statement of the issues of 1906, followed by a brief review of Republican legislation in the past, and the work of the ninth congress. In particular, the railroad rate law, pure food law, free alcohol law, employers' liability law and the most important portion of the agricultural appropriation law are given in full, as is Chairman Tawney's clear explanation of the appropriations.

The labor question is next fully presented, followed by Representative Watson's exposition of anti-trust proceedings. About 160 pages are given to the tariff, agriculture and manufactures, and the tables showing the various phases of industrial activity. Among other subjects treated under the tariff are: Protection and free trade; customs revenue; foreign commerce; home market and internal trade; wages and prices; export discounts; reciprocity; free hides; revision, etc.

Some half hundred tables give official and authoritative figures down to the latest possible date. The work of the president and administration is then briefly presented, the condition and status of the Philippines, the Panama canal, the navy, postal service, irrigation, etc.

The president's letter to Representative Watson concludes the work, which has a copious index of over a dozen pages.

Scattered throughout the book are quotations from President Roosevelt and other Republican leaders. Among these is the extract from Senator Shuman's speech where he used the "Stand pat" expression, it being the only instance in the text-book where the "stand pat" phrase is used. A page is given to Mr. Bryan and his views, with the comments of the New York World. A so-called "prosperity postscript" is added giving treasury conditions, trade reports, etc., down to August 1.

For the first time in a political campaign, the text-book will have a general election, at together with other literature, it will be sent on receipt of one dollar by John C. Everman, assistant treasurer, 113 Broadway, New York.

LOOKS LIKE A PRACTICAL JOKE

UNPLEASANT-ENDING-OF-WATER-MELON-CARNIVAL

Prominent Citizens of Buhl Find Themselves in Embarrassing Position and It Is Unsafe to Mention Melons to Them.

BUHL, Idaho, Sept. 19.—F. W. Elckhoff visited Twin Falls Saturday on business.

The ladies of the Buhl Union Sunday school will give a basket social Friday, the 28th, in the hotel store room. Everybody is invited; the ladies to bring a basket with lunch for two and their names in the proceeds to go to the organ fund.

F. D. Darnell of Butte, Mont., spent several days in town last week looking over the country and was favorably impressed with what he saw.

J. W. Irie of Boise was a guest of Hotel Buhl Friday.

The Odd Fellows moved into their new quarters up stairs in the Parker-Marsland building Friday.

County Commissioner H. H. Jacobs and wife and Lee Jacobs, of Delta, Colo., and brother of H. H. Jacobs, came up from Twin Falls Thursday. The county commissioner was looking over the country and taking notes on the condition of the roads, and his brother was looking it over for the purpose of finding an investment.

G. B. Brotherton of Twin Falls was one of the musicians that played for the dance Friday night.

W. A. Syster of Clear Lake was in town Friday night and took in the dance. He probably lost some more watermelons and was trying to find out who took them.

Misses Briggs and Austin of Austin attended the dance.

E. F. Tucker, traveling salesman for the McDonald Candy Co. of Salt Lake, did the town Friday.

O. H. Lemmon of Hagerman registered at Hotel Buhl Friday.

George M. Vador of Churdon, Iowa, was a visitor to Buhl Friday.

D. G. Ferguson, who owns the 1600-acre ranch in this vicinity, is in Pullman, Wash., attending to some important business there.

E. J. Louis of Atlantic, Iowa, went to Twin Falls Saturday last to make proof on his ranch. From Twin Falls he will go home to spend the winter and return in the spring.

W. F. Bell of Hagerman was a visitor in Buhl Friday.

Engineer T. F. Ferrin located the pipe line for the water works down Broadway last week. Rapid progress is being made in laying the pipes.

D. W. Southworth is hauling lumber out to his ranch for the building of a residence.

W. S. Harris is in Abilene this week. A stranger in town thought that the booming he heard was some foreign gun bombarding the town to stop its growth, but when he was told that it was Superintendent Coker and his men blasting out the boulders that they occasionally meet with in digging the ditch for the water works pipe line he felt very much relieved.

Scott Dole is to be joined by E. A. Milner in the erection of his building with another building, making the structure a joint affair, and it was declined to make it 70 feet instead of 60 feet deep. It will therefore be 70x70 feet. The mason work will soon commence on it.

G. B. Flynn, who has been grubbing sugarbeets under contract in the neighborhood for three months, left for his home in Burlington Saturday. He said that he cleared $1200 in three months.

Harvey Earg, an barber, is doing the grubbing act on his ranch close to town. He says it is somewhat harder than grubbing whalers.

Miss Edna Under is up from the Riverside ranch visiting with Mrs. J. H. Schoeller. She also attended the dance.

General Ticket Agent D. E. Burley of the Oregon Short Line railroad paid the town a hasty visit Saturday to see how his new residence, which is being built on his ranch, is progressing. It will soon be completed.

The dance was a success in every particular. There was a big crowd present, many of whom were from Twin Falls and Hagerman. At midnight they enjoyed an elegant feast at Hotel Buhl and then continued to tip the light fantastic till the wee small hours of the morning.

Z. M. Shank is preparing to build a residence on his ranch adjoining the townsite. When he gets it finished he intends to make a trip to Goldfield, Nev., to see the great gold mining camp.

Frank Sorenson will leave in a few days for Salt Lake to remain for the winter. We will all be sorry to lose him, so long a time. He has hosts of friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Kearney drove to Twin Falls Friday and returned Sunday. Mr. Kearney is taking orders for dry goods from the ranchmen and settling the goods.

During F. W. Elckhoff's absence in Twin Falls last week some one helped himself to about 300 pounds of his cuts and a half a ton of his coal. We are as modern as any old town.

C. H. Taylor, who resides on a ranch two miles east of town, is going to be our railroad station agent here at Buhl. We hope he will soon have to begin the discharge of his duties as a railroad man. He looks like the right kind of a fellow.

It is reported from what appears to be reliable sources that work will soon commence on the extension of the road. Your correspondent is of the opinion that the extension of the road to some place in Wyoming to do a little work there in his line, and that he is out on a half a ton of his coal. We are as modern as any old town.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Copeland, having proved up on their ranch, will leave in a few days for Chicago to meet a sister of Mr. Copeland's who will soon arrive in the Windy city from Paris. They intend to spend a month there visiting relatives and friends and will then return to Buhl to stay. Mr. Copeland says that he is to return within three weeks to the subject of Superintending McPherson's lecture last Monday night at the Farmers' association meeting was "Cattle in General and the Milch Cow in Particular." The lecture was one of the best that he has delivered here yet, which is saying a great deal. He had a whole herd of cattle in a picture gallery, but gave the most of his time to the discussion of the milch cow, viewing her as a machine for the manufacturing of milk and butter, and treating her as such. He laid particular stress on the manner in which she should be cared for and the kind of feed she should have in order to obtain the best results. Lack of space prevents giving details and giving the salient points of his lecture, but he certainly showed that the cow is a machine and one of the finest and most complicated that was ever made by man or nature, and that the better and more carefully she is handled the longer she will last and the better the work she will do.

Duty is almost always a stern taskmaster, and for that reason I would gladly escape the performance of mine in the present instance; but no matter how short or unpleasant it may prove to be, it must be performed. In the last issue of the News I reported a picnic that some of our townspeople had given to the ladies of the Buhl Union Sunday school. It was a picnic ground the party pitched their camp in a beautiful grove of trees on the banks of one of the many fine lakes in that vicinity and proceeded to make merry. This grove is on the ranch of W. A. Syster and the picnicers were having a gay time when suddenly Mr. Syster appeared on the scene and demanded to know why they helped themselves to his watermelons without his knowledge or consent and without reimbursing an equivalent, so the story goes, and after a very plain expression of his opinion concerning their conduct, ordered them off his premises. It might be said to give the names of the persons in the party again, so as to avoid any mistakes. They are as follows: E. A. Milner and three daughters; Mr. and Mrs. George D. Copeland; Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Barstow, Miss Barstow, Professor E. A. Wyatt, Earl Knight, S. J. Louis, Miss Mary L. Hinkley, Mrs. Leslie, Mrs. Ward, Irving Ward, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Marshall. Your correspondent interviewed several of the male members of the party in an endeavor to get at the truth of the matter, and while none of them will admit being the culprit or culprits, all they deny any knowledge of the affair and none of them will claim to have paid for the melons. There were only two of the gentlemen present when Mr. Syster made his unceremonious appearance. Those were Professor Wyatt and Mr. Louis. Mr. Milner arrived soon after. At the time that Mr. Syster made the above charges, Professor Wyatt held a big chunk of melon in both hands and his face was red in the middle of it. At the first word from Mr. Syster he turned half way around and as the angry ranchman proceeded, the professor slowly lowered the melon from his mouth down between his legs and into a crevice in the rocks through which runs a small stream of water.

Mr. Milner was the only one who at the time looking straight into the face of the irate farmer, who glanced fiercely back in return. Mr. Louis covered his up with a towel cloth, and the ladies, of course, being in the crowd, continued to eat theirs. Personally I am loth to believe what is reported of the professor, for I have known him for many years and he has the highest reputation for honor, honesty and good morals in doing a task teacher, but I am stating what I have heard from the members of the party.

Mr. Louis offered to pay for the melons, but the owner scorned to accept any money. He continued the expression of his opinion, however, and Mr. Milner, seeing that it was no use to try to satisfy him by tendering payment, tried to raise him out on a bluff by telling him to obey up to his lunch-bay in Buhl and he would make him a present of some good watermelon seeds from which he could raise a crop of his own.

The bluff didn't go and the parties were given 30 minutes to get off the premises. At this moment Messrs. Copeland, Marshall and Barstow put in an appearance and by the use of much smooth talk induced Mr. Syster to allow them to finish the day in the grove. They said that they knew nothing about the melons for they had been fishing. This fish story was swallowed at the time, but after the excitement passed off and the others began to remember the conduct on the part of the aforementioned gentlemen, they have become convinced that they know more about how Mr. Syster and his watermelons came to part company than they are willing to admit, and that the fishing story is all romance. These are the best and most reliable business people in the town, and the leaders in all social affairs. If this makes matters worse it cannot be helped, but more must be added.

Two of them, Messrs. Milner and Marshall are members of the board of school trustees and Professor Wyatt is principal of the school. It may be thought that these are nice men and have no objection to the management of schools and the training of young minds, as well as teaching the young idea how to shoot. All is not so, however, for the members of the school board was not at the picnic. H. S. Johnson, the third member, was in Buhl, and like the good Christian that he is, he was performing a good Christian duty, teaching his class in Sunday school. So the school will be all right just the same. The other good people of the town and vicinity are laboring hard with the other two members and the professor in the endeavor to persuade them to join Mr. Syster's Sunday school class in the hope that he may be able to show them the error of their way and possibly to reform them. It is only right to say that Professor Wyatt drove to Clear Lake the next day for the purpose of squaring or trying to square things with Mr. Syster. As to what success he had, the correspondent is not informed at this writing. Another strange thing happened at this picnic. One of the male members played the part, to some extent, of a young ladies board riding on the lake, but when it came to discharging the alvior to pay for the use of the boat, he found that he forgot to bring his purse with him and so he soaked his watch.

SUDDEN DEMISE OF MRS. ERDMANN

STRICKEN WITH HEART FAILURE IN HUSBAND'S OFFICE.

Wife of Well Known Livestockman Expires During Her Husband's Absence at the Depot—Was Apparently in Perfect Health.

Mrs. Clara Erdmann, wife of G. H. Erdmann, succumbed to an attack of heart failure on Wednesday and expired suddenly in her husband's office at the depot. She was in the middle of the day, and was apparently in perfect health and her sudden demise was a crushing shock. She had suffered from what appeared to be asthma, which interfered slightly with her breathing at times, but she had no intimation of the gravity of her condition.

Mr. Erdmann went to meet the train on Wednesday afternoon, leaving his wife in the office. A few moments later James Taggart called at the depot and Mrs. Erdmann was on the floor. He supposed she had fainted and he called C. O. Melga to his assistance. When Mr. Erdmann returned his wife was dead.

The funeral occurred on Thursday afternoon from Hunt's undertaking parlors. Rev. John H. Schenck officiating.

Mrs. Erdmann, who was Clara Nicklisch, was a native of Katiawitz, Germany, where she was born 36 years ago. She married Mr. Erdmann in Germany in 1891 and came to the United States two years later, settling in Minnesota. From there they moved to Twin Falls, whence they came to Twin Falls.

Mrs. Erdmann was blessed with the sweetest of dispositions and she was beloved by all who knew her. She had not been there very long and she did not mingle much in society. Quiet, kind and womanly in the true sense of the word, she commanded the respect of all and to Mr. Erdmann the sincere sympathy of the public is extended.

KICKED BY FRACIOUS HORSE
L. E. Prothro is Laid Up with a Broken Leg in Consequence.

L. E. Prothro had a tussle with an "outlaw" horse on Saturday morning and is now nursing a broken leg. His good buggy was broken, his good team ran themselves to a frazzle and Mr. Prothro was left helpless in the dust. The kick that broke his leg so happened that not a soul came along the road for an hour and a half and it was some time before he could have his broken leg set. He is at the home of his niece, Mrs. R. A. Carter, in Twin Falls and is as comfortable as could be expected.

Mr. Prothro was driving his team and leading the "outlaw," which was tied to the axle behind. He was bringing the horse to Twin Falls for a sale and the horse was so wild that the animal was dangerous. In some way the outlaw got a foot over the lead rope and Mr. Prothro got out of the wagon to release him. Quick as a flash the "outlaw" flashed out at him, striking him on the left leg, just below the knee, fracturing the member. The team took fright and began to run, dragging the treacherous "outlaw" with them. It all happened in a twinkling and Mr. Prothro joined the angels and our club then and there. The News would like to print his views regarding "outlaw" horses but the freight rates on asbestos paper are too high.
