FEEDING QUAIL AT CLEAR LAKE

OTIS E. SYSTER SHOWS THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

Lots of Stock Being Fed on the Flat and Hay Is Becoming Scarce—Weather Continues Unusually Cold—Many Pupils at School.

CLEAR LAKE, Idaho, Jan. 15.—The weather is unusually cold, even for this season of the year. Frank Crandall, the Clear Lake part of the week on business.

J. W. Hopkins has received a consignment of groceries which he had been expecting for some time.

The "Smart Set" has decided to open the season's festivities with a dance at the schoolhouse next Friday evening.

If the cold weather continues there will be a scarcity of hay in this vicinity before long. A lot of stock is being fed and the supply of hay is fast disappearing.

Otis E. Syster has been feeding quail on his ranch for the past week as the snow is so deep and the ground so hard that the birds cannot pick up enough to eat.

A. C. Wilson and his son, Charles Wilson, went Monday at the home of Otis Syster and a regular musical soiree was enjoyed. Mr. Syster has a large variety of musical instruments and is thinking seriously of adding a

W. E. BORAH IS ELECTED UNITED STATES SENATOR

To Succeed Fred T. Dubois—Receives Unanimous Republican Vote—West Made Chairman of the House Committee on County Lines and Boundaries and Day Is Placed on Similar Committee in Senate—McClear of Kootenai Retains His Seat.

Hon. William E. Borah of Boise was elected to succeed Hon. Fred T. Dubois as United States senator by the Idaho legislature in joint session on Tuesday, January 15, the vote standing Borah 53, Dubois 18. In the senate Mr. Borah received 16 votes and Mr. Dubois 6. In the house 38 votes were cast for Mr. Borah and 12 for Mr. Dubois. Every Republican member in both branches of the legislature voted for Mr. Borah and there was much enthusiasm. On Wednesday evening Mr. Borah was given a magnificent public reception in Boise at which prominent men from every section of the state were present.

The legislature is rapidly getting down to business. Already a large number of important bills have been introduced and there is a general disposition to facilitate legislation. The house passed a resolution limiting the committees to four days' time in reporting bills referred to them.

West Well Placed.

Representative West of Cassia county is chairman of the house committee on county lines and boundaries and it is safe to assume that this committee will not delay its favorable report upon the bill for the division of Cassia county. This measure was to have been introduced on Wednesday but the bill for the division of Kootenai county was not ready for introduction and as it was agreed that both bills should be presented on the same day the Cassia bill was held over. Mr. West reports that he has not found a single member of the house opposed to the division of Cassia. He is very much encouraged by the outlook and expects no difficulty whatever in getting the measure through the house.

Day Hard at Work.

Senator Day of Cassia county is a member of the senate committee on county lines and boundaries and is working tooth and nail for division. To several prominent citizens of Twin Falls Mr. Day has declared that he never at any time thought of opposing division. He was elected on a platform pledging him to work for the creation of the new county, said Mr. Day, and he proposed to live up to his pledge. Mr. Day also states that the senate will undoubtedly pass the Cassia division bill and he has encouraged no opposition to the measure in that branch.

To Prevent Lobbying.

The house has passed a bill to prevent lobbyists. Some of the members opposed the measure because they did not consider it sufficiently stringent. Others feared it might be too harsh. However, the bill, which is patterned after the Wisconsin law, went through and is now up to the senate.

McClear Retains Seat.

The senate committee on privileges and elections recommended that the contest instituted by Ignatz Well against the seating of John L. McClear as senator from Kootenai county be dismissed, and the senate concurred. McClear is a Democrat and was elected over Well by a small majority.

Idaho's New Senator.

William E. Borah was born in Fairfeld, Wayne county, Illinois, June 29, 1865, and is of German and Irish lineage. William N. Borah, his father, was a native of Kentucky. His mother was Elizabeth West, a native of Indiana. He was raised on the old family homestead in Illinois, where he entered the Southern Illinois academy at Effield, where he studied a year, afterward matriculating at the university at Lawrence, Kansas. He later went to Lyons, Kansas, where he began reading law under the instruction

SHORT LINE IS FIGHTING HARD

AGAINST CREATION OF RAILROAD COMMISSION.

Commercial Clubs Are the Agencies Employed by Officials of the Road to Beat the Measure Recommended by Governor Gooding.

BOISE, Jan. 12.—The governor's message has been received by the members of both houses, and also by the people generally with marked favor. His excellency has received many congratulations upon the message, and its dignity and forcefulness have been commented upon by people of all political faiths. It is felt that his suggestions and recommendations are some of the most timely and pertinent character and should be incorporated into the laws of the state as speedily as possible.

None of his recommendations has been received with such approval as his demand for a railroad commission. Among the people generally for several years it has been felt that the Oregon Short Line has had a degree of proprietorship over the thoughts and actions of the business interests of the central and southern parts of the state that was not for the best interests of the people or the future of the state. There has come a general feeling of dissatisfaction with the commission, and without making a canvass it is evident that a large majority of the members of the lower branch of the legislature are in favor of the proposed legislation. With the senate, although it is known that several of the leaders favor the plan of regulation, the extreme difficulty to determine just what action will probably be taken.

The strength of the sentiment on the part of the people for the creation of a commission alarmed the railroad company and the old scheme of excluding undue influence is under way, with the assistance of a paid railroad lobby. This lobby includes not only regular employees of the company, whose employment is widely known, but also has enlisted the active assistance of "business" men who have long been suspected of being on the railroad company's pay roll.

Some idea of the fight that is being made can be gathered by the action of the railroad company within the past few days, in connection with the action of one of the commercial clubs of the city. On Friday night last the Western Commercial club held its regular meeting. A large number of business men present and resolutions were introduced and passed by unanimous vote declaring in favor of the creation of a railroad commission and demanding that the members of the legislature from that county vote for the enactment of such a law. At the meeting a number of resolutions were made upon the subject, in favor of the commission. Dr. Stevens announced that he had received a telegraphic message from Frank Plafsted, head lobbyist for the Oregon Short Line, asking that action on the passage of resolutions be delayed. No action was taken until the next day, when the resolutions were passed.

Saturday morning, Welser was visited by Mr. Plafsted. He stated that further light had been received and that the business community did not believe in railroad regulation, and that the passage of the resolutions the night before was simply an instance of temporary insanity—like when a man takes an ax to his wife and chops her head off. He then called a meeting of the Commercial club so that the resolution might be rescinded. The meeting was held and a general feeling of uneasiness was expressed over the action of the previous night. An unfeeling wretch then interrupted and announced that the by-laws made it impossible to hold a meeting until 24 hours had elapsed after the call for the meeting had been made. This proved true, and many of the newly arrived speakers for the day were disappointed. It was then decided to call a meeting for Monday evening, January 14, when the reading and other resolutions relating to the railroad collar on were to be introduced and voted on. Among the speakers at Saturday night's meeting was Avery C. Ford, of the Portland, Ore., who eloquently eulogized Harriman, Bancroft and Plafsted as the three "true" good men connected with the railroad industry. He then made a beautiful praise of the three that Plafsted, who was present, blushed a beautiful bright pink and muttered to a friend, "I wish the devil might appear and take these fellows back to the stomach."

Many Bills Introduced.
Bills representing practically every recommendation of Governor Gooding in his message have been introduced in the legislature. These include the anti-trust law, anti-labor law, eight-hour law, direct primary law, amending the act for the care of delinquent children, and providing a state fire patrol force laws. These laws, with others, were referred to the printing committee and will be ready for committee action sometime during the coming week.

Local Contest.
The senate committee on privileges and elections are taking testimony in the contest case of Ignatz Well of Sandpoint against J. H. McClellan of Coeur d'Alene. The case is one of irregularities existing at the polls in one precinct in Coeur d'Alene to such a degree that the vote was invalidated and should be thrown out of the count. Dr. Well will be elected to the senate from Kootenai county.

Rather Embarrassing.
There is a new departure in the house in connection with the allowance of mileage to members. The house committee, in reporting, recommended that members claiming mileage be compelled to make affidavit that no money came to Boise by railroads for railroad travel upon passes or other free transportation. It has been intimated about the city that several of the members came to Boise by railroads, and there is some curiosity expressed as to how these gentlemen will get around the report of the committee.

County Division.
It is evident that the present legislature will create the county of Carey from a portion of Cassia county, of Bonanza county, of Kootenai county. Both political parties agreed upon this during the campaign, even the lines of division being thoroughly understood.

FRENCH FAVORS DIRECT PRIMARY

SAYS REPUBLICANS SHOULD REDEEM PLEDGE.

Idaho Congressman Presents Strong Reasons for Supporting the Movement—Asserts It Eliminates Vice and Corruption in Politics.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Congressman French has just given out an interview in Washington in which he declared for the enactment of a direct primary law. Mr. French says the Republican party in Idaho is pledged to a direct primary and that the state legislature ought to redeem its pledges. He is willing to give to those opposed to the direct primary, however, but presents some strong reasons for his side of the case. Here is what he says:

"A statement of my opinion on the question of a direct primary election law for Idaho is but a repetition of what I have said in public addresses on many occasions. I fully believe in a direct primary law and have urged the same for many years. I shall hold the day when such a law shall be placed upon the statute books of every state. I do not know how it will affect the political fortunes of any individual in Idaho. That is not at all the question. The question is one of great principle. The closer we can keep the government from the people, the better for the government, and for the people. We have been making these steps toward popular government for many years, and who will deny that great benefit has come to our state and our nation by their adoption. The direct primary law is meant for good government and higher citizenship."

"My judgment is that the Republican party in Idaho today stands committed to such a law. In our state platform we declared in favor of a primary election law, and I do not doubt that the convention that adopted the platform fully believed that they, as nearly as conventions may, had committed the party to the direct primary idea. I have the convention so intended and I discussed in the campaign that delegates might be elected to attend conventions. "No one can deny that the Republican national convention two years ago was an enthusiastic convention. Yet it was a foregone conclusion that Idaho was entitled to but six delegates at that convention, yet she could have sent many times that number had she been permitted to. In 1900 every Idahoan who voted for President McKinley would be nominated. His nomination was also conceded in 1896 long before the convention met. In 1900, however, the convention met and the delegates were nominated by the Democratic convention. Yet all these conventions were enthusiastic conventions. They did not choose delegates for the known sentiment of the respective parties had chosen them. They did, however, frame platforms and outline policies, and they mentioned the candidates that popular sentiment of the people had chosen. So it would be in our own state when we adopt a direct primary law. Our conventions would ratify the expressed wishes of the people and would outline policies. That these conventions would be largely attended I have no doubt."

"If it is, mistakes have been made in some primary laws. In some states certain features have been open to criticism. This argues nothing, however, if in some states the law works well. The objectionable features should be avoided, and the criticism and discussion of these features should help us in framing a more perfect law. The law has worked well, but it has been tried. It is doing its part in the elimination of corruption and vice and in raising the standard of our citizenship."

Four Idaho young men have just been designated to enter the United States naval academy at Annapolis. Senator Heyburn has designated Albert E. Dunton of Boise and Holland P. Bogner of Wallace. Senator Dubois has designated Paul M. Foster of another Idaho Congressman French has designated John L. Nelson of Pocatello. Senator Heyburn has two designations this year for the reason that his candidate had not attained the age of 16 and was not admitted to the academy. Dunton and Foster were students of the state university of Idaho. Nelson and Bogner have been attending the high schools of their respective cities. The examination for admission to the naval academy will be held in April, and if successful they will immediately enter the academy. Within a short time after Senator Heyburn took his seat in the senate he introduced a bill providing for the construction of miniature models of war vessels for the use of the state. The bill provided that these models should be placed in the statehouse of the state for which the ship was named or in the city hall of the city for which the vessel was named. It will be remembered that battleships are named for the states, as the Iowa, Oregon, Maine, while cruisers, gunboats, monitors, torpedo boats and other smaller vessels are named for cities, as the Vicksburg, Tacoma and Raleigh. This idea of Senator Heyburn is absolutely new, and it is believed that no other body never takes very kindly to new ideas. The bill has not yet been acted upon. In fact the bill has not been pushed very hard by the senator as he has been very busy with other matters of more importance. A great deal of the time of congress since he entered the senate has been spent on the subject of the forest reserves, and in addition to this forest reserves have taken up a good deal of his time. Congress having passed the rate bill and the pure food bill, there will be more opportunity for other things, and it is likely that Senator Heyburn will make an effort to have this bill passed.

LUMBERMEN AFTER RAILROADS

Accuse Them of Discriminating Against Western Shippers.

The lumbermen of the northwest are going to try to put the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads into the hands of a receiver and then swamp the roads with many damage suits aggregating more than $15,000,000. This statement was made at the convention by Victor H. Beckman, secretary of the Pacific Coast Lumbermen's association, during a speech in which he revealed the campaign against the Hill roads planned by the lumbermen. It was charged by Mr. Beckman that the Northern Pacific and Great Northern had been guilty of "discriminating" shippers who were active in the agitation for reciprocal demurrage, and that in three cases three roads had volunteered to show the shippers "what a real car shortage meant" with the result that the men thus "shown" had been forced to go out with the shovels.

"Our present car shortage," continued Mr. Beckman, "has lasted 13 months, and some of our people are going out of business, not voluntarily, but by the aid of the shovels. We will ask for a receiver for these two roads on the ground that they have not fulfilled their duties as public carriers."

Mr. Beckman will show President Roosevelt 1,000 photographs which he has taken all over the Pacific northwest, illustrating the car shortage. He will show lumber piles in the state of Washington, aggregating 500,000,000 feet, awaiting transportation; 110 sawmills and 110 shingle mills which he declares are closed down and are facing bankruptcy because of inability to secure cars.

HUNDREDS KILLED BY VIOLENT QUAKE

KINGSTON, JAMAICA'S CAPITAL, DEVASTATED.

Shock Is Followed by Fire in Which the Horrors of San Francisco Are Repeated—Cable Communication with Jamaica Interrupted.

Kingston, the picturesque capital of the island of Jamaica, has been devastated by a violent earthquake. The details of the disaster are lacking, as local communications are lacking, but the shaken city has been cut off. The land lines had been reconstructed to within five miles of Kingston Tuesday evening, and from meager reports received through such channels as were open it has been learned that many of the most important buildings have been destroyed and that there has been serious loss of life.

So far as the reports indicate, the fatalities number more than 100. The hospitals are filled with injured and the list of victims may be materially increased by a direct primary law and have urged the same for many years. I shall hold the day when such a law shall be placed upon the statute books of every state. I do not know how it will affect the political fortunes of any individual in Idaho. That is not at all the question. The question is one of great principle. The closer we can keep the government from the people, the better for the government, and for the people. That these conventions would be largely attended I have no doubt."

"If it is, mistakes have been made in some primary laws. In some states certain features have been open to criticism. This argues nothing, however, if in some states the law works well. The objectionable features should be avoided, and the criticism and discussion of these features should help us in framing a more perfect law. The law has worked well, but it has been tried. It is doing its part in the elimination of corruption and vice and in raising the standard of our citizenship."

The extent of the destruction which has been wrought in Kingston, a city which already bears the scars of a number of disastrous "visitations" of fire, earthquake and cyclone in years gone by, is left largely to the imagination. The city is one of low lying buildings, clustered along the shores of one of the finest and most securely landlocked harbors in the West Indies. The population of Kingston is 10,000, is largely made up of native blacks.

Many steamers carrying tourists to Jamaica were en route to the island when the earthquake occurred, but it so happened that, according to schedules, none of the ships from New York or Boston were in Kingston harbor Monday morning.

Reports received at St. Thomas from Jamaica say it is estimated that 1,000 persons have been killed by the earthquake and fire and that 30,000 persons are homeless. The damage to Kingston alone is placed at fully $10,000,000.

Access received from there declare all people are warned to keep away from Kingston. The stretch is described as awful. Money is useless. The banks have been burned, but the vaults are supposed to be safe. The misery on all sides is indescribable. Rich and poor alike are homeless. Provisions of all kinds are urgently needed. It is impossible to say where anybody can be found.

To many the navy is a kind of a myth. They have never seen it, but have always heard a great deal of it. Should the bill pass a miniature model of the battleship Idaho, which is now taking shape in its construction, would be placed in the state house at Boise.

Accuse Them of Discriminating Against Western Shippers.

The lumbermen of the northwest are going to try to put the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads into the hands of a receiver and then swamp the roads with many damage suits aggregating more than $15,000,000. This statement was made at the convention by Victor H. Beckman, secretary of the Pacific Coast Lumbermen's association, during a speech in which he revealed the campaign against the Hill roads planned by the lumbermen. It was charged by Mr. Beckman that the Northern Pacific and Great Northern had been guilty of "discriminating" shippers who were active in the agitation for reciprocal demurrage, and that in three cases three roads had volunteered to show the shippers "what a real car shortage meant" with the result that the men thus "shown" had been forced to go out with the shovels.

"Our present car shortage," continued Mr. Beckman, "has lasted 13 months, and some of our people are going out of business, not voluntarily, but by the aid of the shovels. We will ask for a receiver for these two roads on the ground that they have not fulfilled their duties as public carriers."

Mr. Beckman will show President Roosevelt 1,000 photographs which he has taken all over the Pacific northwest, illustrating the car shortage. He will show lumber piles in the state of Washington, aggregating 500,000,000 feet, awaiting transportation; 110 sawmills and 110 shingle mills which he declares are closed down and are facing bankruptcy because of inability to secure cars.

CURRENT WORLD.

The shah of persia is dead.

All western railroads have increased the wages of their locomotive engineers.

Three hundred were killed by a tidal wave which inundated the islands of the Dutch East Indies.

The Western Union Telegraph Co.
has commenced to string wires along the line of the Western Pacific railway.

mill on the Uintah reservation, was ac-

on whose testimony five outlaws were hanged at Tombstone in 1885, is dead.

The biggest snowstorm of the season and one of the worst ever experienced in the state, raged through Utah last Sunday. It assumed the proportions of a blizzard.

District Attorney Jerome of New York has prepared a two measure which will ask the legislature to pass, and by which he expects to effectually stop betting on horse races.

Wearied with unfulfilled promises of coal, and angered by suffering, the citizens of Yakima held up a Northern Pacific freight train and took 699 tons of fuel. No attempt was made to interfere.

The state of Illinois is preparing to place the Illinois Central railway on the grill. Harriman has been playing football with the Illinois Central for so long that the disclosures are likely to be interesting.

Steps have been taken to prevent E.
H. Harriman, H. H. Rogers, H. C.
Frick and William G. Rockefeller from leaving the country until the interstate-commerce-commission has acquired their testimony.

Montana and the Dakotas were swept by a severe blizzard on Sunday.
In Montana the mercury fell to 25 degrees below zero and the wind blew a gale. The Canadian northwest also felt the force of the storm.

Frank Neegley of Ogden, engineer;
C. A. Schuyler, mail clerk, and D. B.

Several passengers were injured.

Thomas Singleton and Joseph Joseph, miners employed in the Old Hickory mine, five miles from Milford, Utah, drilled into a missed hole last Friday. The explosion which fol-seriously injured Singleton.

Lieutenant General Vladimir Pavloff, the prosecutor or advocate, generally known since the days of the late parliament as "Hauzman Pavloff," from the epithet constantly applied to him by the radical deputies, was shot and killed at St. Petersburg on January 9.

Three workmen were killed, seven fatally injured and 24 are missing as the result of an explosion which occurred in the furnaces of the Jones &
Laughlin steel works at Pittsburg.
Tons of molten metal was showered around the building, overwhelming the workmen in a fiery flood.

Miss Irene Miller, teacher in the Ridgely public school, was shot and killed by Professor I. F. Couch, principal of the school, who, immediately afterwards committed suicide by revolving a bullet into his own brain. The underlying cause of the tragedy was a broken engagement in marriage.

The Public Health Defense league, having for its purpose the safeguarding of public health and morals from medical frauds, irregular practices, etc., has asked for a charter from the New York legislature. Cardinal Gilbuna, Luther Burbank, Attorney General Bonaparte and many other men of note are identified with the organization.

By direction of the chief of police,
a detail of San Francisco policemen forcibly seized coal in the bunkers of the Western Fuel Co. for the use of the San Francisco schools which were closed on account of the coal famine. The fuel company tried to hold up the schools on the price of coal, hence the action of the police.

J. C. Tillery, better known as "Beaver Jack," a noted trapper and hunter, is missing and it is feared he has either perished from exposure or met death in an encounter with wild animals. "Beaver Jack" has not been seen since November 10, when he left his cabin in the Blitzen River forest reserve for the purpose of hunting elk.

The lowest tide of the year occurred on Puget sound last Sunday. This exposed the oyster beds on Puget sound to a cold 14 above zero, which was sufficient to freeze and kill all the oysters. New beds must be planted, and will be five years before the celebrated Olympia oyster will again be on the market. The loss amounts to several hundred thousand dollars.

The St. Petersburg Temps. in its official issue published last Saturday, gives the following appalling statistics respecting the murderous operations of the terrorists from February 1, 1906, to January 1, 1907. During that time the following were killed, either by knife, pistol or bomb: Governors general, or governors of towns, 67;

professors of police and other officers of the force, 372; policemen, 347; officers of the gendarmes, 47; officers of the army or the imperial guard, 124; soldiers, 352; civic functionaries, 215; clergymen, 13; members of commercial institutions, 117; bankers and merchants, 72; ordinary persons, such as peasants, workmen, etc., 32,706.

George Terry, head of the Shoshone Indian council, was murdered on the evening of January 10 as he came out of the council lodge on the Indian reservation near Lander, Wyo. He was first knocked down with a war club and his body then cut to pieces with knives. The murder is supposed to be the outcome of a family feud. No arrests have been made, but suspicion points strongly to several Indians. Terry's death brings to light again a romantic story of the pioneer days in Utah. He was born in February, 1853, and was the half-brood son of the famous Mormon bishop, Joshua Terry, of Denver, who married an Indian woman. The Indian blood in his veins dominated the white and 25 years ago he went to live among his mother's people. He was a typical "squaw man" and married a half-breed woman, by whom he had 10 children. He is survived by a wife and one child.

STATE NEWS.

F. C. Jones, a well known attorney of Sand Point, Idaho, is dead.

The coal shortage in north Idaho is interfering with mining operations in that section.

The Parma Herald says the people of that section will soon be reduced to the extremity of twisting hay and burning it unless the Short Line delivers some coal in the town.

North Idaho last Sunday reported the coldest weather for 10 years. At Moscow, 10 below zero was recorded; at Sandpoint, 12. The mercury ranged from 10 to 15 below in every part of North Idaho except in a few sheltered valleys along the Snake river.

Two children of Matt F. Fuchs, recently elected general manager of the Cottonwood branch of the Nez Perce Co-operative Telephone company, and the young woman servant of the family, were burned to death Saturday at Cottonwood, Idaho, in the fire which entirely consumed the residence.

EIGHT HOURS FOR CARPENTERS

Working Time Will Be Reduced After
March 1, 1907.

Local Union No. 1116, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Twin Falls, has adopted a resolution to the effect that on and after March 1, 1907, eight hours shall constitute a day's work and the minimum wage shall be $4 per day. The resolution, which was adopted at the regular meeting of the union on January 9, is as follows:

Whereas, Eight hours has been established by our national laws as well as by the laws and statutes of this country, and in the union and by all well governed labor organizations; and

Whereas, We recognize in these laws of our country and the established customs of labor organizations a wholesome and beneficent law and custom; and

Whereas, We are at present required to work nine hours for one day's pay of $4.00; therefore, be it Resolved, By the above named Carpenters and Joiners' union, that on and after March 1, 1907, all carpenters within the jurisdiction of this union shall ask and demand that eight hours shall constitute a day's labor and the minimum wage shall be $4.00, for such eight hours' work. These resolutions shall in no cases affect any contracts which may have been taken before the publication of the same;
and be it further

WEST IS GROWING TOO FAST

James J. Hill Thus Accounts for Car Shortage.

In a letter to Governor Johnston of Minnesota, President James J. Hill of the Great Northern railway attributes
the car shortage to the phenomenal growth of the west, with which, he states, the railroads are unable to keep pace. He says it will require a permanent investment of $1,100,000,000 a year for five years to provide the railroads of the country with means to handle properly the business already in sight, and not allowing for future growth. Mr. Hill says:

"During recent years the volume of business has increased and is increasing with extraordinary rapidity, while the necessary additional truckage and terminals have not been equal to the demands upon them. The resulting situation is a freight car shortage of enormous proportions, especially at all terminal points. How to remedy this is a problem financial, mechanical and physical. No time should be lost in applying such measures of remedy as may be possible.

"The following figures, compiled from the annual reports of the United states commerce commission and covering the growth of the railroad business for the last 10 years, exhibit the significant facts:

"For year 1897, total single track mileage, 180,667; in 1905, 218,101; increase, 21 per cent.
"Locomotives in 1895, 35,639; in 1905, 48,257; increase, 32 per cent.
"Passenger cars in 1895, 33,112; in 1905, 40,713; increase, 23 per cent.
"Freight cars in 1895, 1,196,119; in 1905, 1,721,409; increase, 45 per cent.
"Passenger mileage in 1895, 12,388, 446,274; in 1905, 23,500,149,436; increase, 95 per cent.
"Freight ton mileage in 1895, 55, 227,515,891; in 1905, 156,463,109,610;
increase, 118 per cent."

Reliable information regarding the city and country promptly and cheerfully furnished. Advertisements at the lowest rates. The News Publishing Company, Twin Falls, Idaho.
Entered as second-class matter, December 12, 1904, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The Oregon Short Line officials are engaged in their biennial pastime of rainbow painting in Boise. Every two years they announce their intention to build their main line through the state capital, something they should have done years ago. This announcement is always made about the time the legislature meets and is accompanied by an unwanted show of activity and interest in Boise. The general manager, the general superintendent and other officials visit Boise in their private cars and extend the glad hand. The Boise yard is cleaned up, spick and span, and the assistant general freight agent is transferred from Salt Lake City to Boise during the session of the legislature. This sudden display of affection bodes ill for the railway commission measure recommended by the governor. The Short Line wants to do something substantial for Boise it might open the Twin Falls market to the wholesale merchants of the capital by allowing them to compete with the Ogden and Salt Lake jobbers.

The movement instituted by Senator Jacobs of Bannock county for the protection of Idaho's fish and game merits the support of all true sportsmen. It should carry with it the establishment of game refuges. The establishment of these refuges would not retard the development of the state in the slightest and would not cost anything. It is hoped that congress will pass the bill introduced last year and again this session, authorizing the president to designate areas within the forest reserves as game refuges. A bill creating a game refuge in the Olympic reserve in Washington and Oregon has already passed the house and is now before the senate. There are many other places throughout the west where certain tracts should be set apart as breeding grounds for game. Real protection is needed and unless it is afforded early there will be no game left to protect.

Simon Guggenheim, the head of the infamous smelter trust which Senator Clark of Montana, who certainly ought to know, declared to be the most pernicious trust in the country, was elected United States senator from Colorado. He and his associates in the smelter trust are estimated to be worth a billion dollars and Guggenheim's liberal contributions to the Republican campaign fund form his sole qualification for the office of senator. Guggenheim's wealth represents the toll and sweat of a million miners. Every mine in the country which produces smelting ore pays its tribute to the senatorial candidate of Colorado. He can make or break a miner or a mining camp according to his whim. He represents nothing but money fleeced from the pockets of the miners and his election, which will probably be contested, is a disgrace to Colorado.

The Oregon Short Line is stirring up sentiment in the commercial clubs of southern Idaho against the creation of a railroad commission. The clubs comprising the League of Southern Idaho Commercial clubs are being worked by the railroad to a finish. This is a clever way of breaking up the league and using it as a club to defeat the will of the people. The league is, in a measure, a menace or check to the Short Line and is therefore marked for destruction. By the aid of a few boosters, paid or otherwise controlled, the Short Line is getting the clubs to pass resolutions opposing a railway commission. The members of the clubs should turn out and see that the Short Line does not disrupt their organizations and should by strong resolutions uphold the hands of the governor in his effort to curb the predatory railroads.

W. W. Dunn, who retired from the office of postmaster of Twin Falls, on Monday last, was an official whose good services few appreciate. Owing to the sudden and remarkable development of the tract Mr. Dunn labored under a debilitating handicap imposed by the inflexible rules of the postal service. For months the Twin Falls office did a second class business under fourth class regulations and Mr. Dunn was greatly hampered. The public was impatient and forgot that there were limitations to the clerical force. Strangers poured in by the hundred and mail piled up by the ton. Mr. Dunn manfully stuck to his post under conditions which would have discouraged a man of less pluck and performed the duties of his office in a manner which entitles him to public thanks.

OLD BACHELORS GOT THEIR Old Maids' Convention Handled Them Unsurprisingly.

Temerarious is the word to apply to the man who dares say that the Old Maids' convention at the Ring theater was not a glittering success. It served the old bachelors right and they haven't a word to say. But it is only fair to the bachelors to admit that they turned out in force and faced their fate like heroes. The convention was actually convoked and handsomely conducted. The costumes were a chromatic symphony, a bewildering cyclone of color and the wearers—well, perhaps it is better to say nothing about them. They might talk back in the front rows at a score of young men grotesquely garbed as hayseeds, who stood up and bowed at appropriate intervals and showered angorish bouquets upon the stage. There was a platform to the convention but it was smothered beneath an avalanche of local hits, every one of which called out vociferous applause. The ladies all acquitted themselves nobly and they deserve the highest praise for their splendid conduct. Who were they? It is unsafe, gentle reader, to individualize. You should have been there to see for yourself. If you were not you missed something good.

The farmers interested in the settlement of the survey question will meet in the Commercial club rooms tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, January 19, at 2 o'clock.

Superintendent McPherson, who returned from Boise yesterday, states that all opposition to the division of Cassia county has vanished and the bill will go through with a rush.

Mrs. Mary Robison and her son, Terry Robison, left yesterday evening for Goldfield, Nevada, where they will visit with Mrs. Robison's daughter, Mrs. Kreska. They will also journey to California before they return.

C. D. Thomas returned yesterday from Boise, where he went to attend the meeting of the county division committee. He reports that the bill has been carefully revised and is now a splendid measure which will pass both houses without delay.

Thomas Sweeney has returned after two months absence in Nevada. He reports that while wonderful development work is being done in the mines of that state, the conditions are far from pleasant. He worked as a timberman in several of the mines but is content to come back to Twin Falls.

H. L. Owens, formerly of the engineering department of the Twin Falls Land & Water Co., has returned from Oregon, where he is engaged in engineering work on the Great Northern. Mr. Owens states that the railroad and buildings in the northwest, where the development is wonderful.

Brigadier W. F. Jenkins of the Salvation Army, who has charge of the northern Pacific province and whose headquarters are in Seattle, will come to Twin Falls next week for the purpose of accepting the offer of a site for a hall tendered by the Twin Falls Townsite Co. and to arrange for the erection of the building.

Mrs. Maude Provins and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Provins, have arrived from Ottawa, Illinois, and are guests at the Hotel Perrine. They have a large tract of land near Buhl which they will improve in the spring. Several other good citizens of Ottawa will locate in the same district, which is one of the best on the tract.

The hose carts were brought out last evening and two hydrants, one on Main street and another on Tenth, were opened for some time. It is supposed that the pressure had been reduced during the afternoon on account of a leak in the main pipe line and the test drained the entire system, thereby arousing the wrath of the Waterworks company and its patrons.

Unless the owner of the coupon bearing the number 5860 presents the stub at the Idaho Department store to Monday morning, January 21, the grand piano which the store offered as a prize to be awarded on December 31 will be given to Mrs. Ernst Twin Falls, who drew the winning number. Although the winning number has been displayed for three weeks, the claimant has not turned in.

It is currently reported that Boise capitalists are contemplating opening a state bank in Twin Falls and that they have leased the Shober & Hyatt building on the east corner of Ninth and Main streets for a term of three years.

Living Darrow and Ed Beck have started an egg factory. They are reported to have 150 roosters at the plant near Twin Falls and they are negotiating with Carl Hahn for the purchase of a hen. One of Carl's hens is laying and he wants to identify her before he makes the sale in order that he may not be deprived of his egg supply. A glut in the egg market is expected.

What is intended to be the biggest and best dance of the season will be given by the Twin Falls band in the Ring theater on Friday evening, January 25, proceeds to be applied on the purchase of hand instruments. The orchestra will consist of between 10 and 15 pieces and will be under the direction of Professor Von Prosky, the distinguished concert master of the Portland, whose dance music time is a delight. A grand turnout is expected as the band boys are popular and deserving of encouragement.

Flourish Tag's thoroughbred setter bitch was poisoned last Sunday in front of the Robison-Tago Hardware store. Mr. Tago had taken the pup down town with him and kept a close watch on her but while his back was turned for a moment she picked up some arsenic bait. Antidotes were promptly administered but the poison did its work too quickly and the dog had to be destroyed. Dog poison seems to have been scattered all over town. Several valuable canines have been killed and dog owners are up in arms.

The surprise party given on Monday evening by Mrs. Alkon and Mrs. Perrine, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Alkon, was as delightful as it was surprising. Mr. Alkon suspected nothing until the guests began to arrive but he agreed to the occasion and was not flustered until refreshments were served, when S. T. Hamilton presented him with a handsome pair of silver mounted military brushes as a token of remembrance and good will from his many friends. "Fifty hundred" was enjoyed and the guests passed an exceedingly pleasant evening.

J. P. M. Richards, president of the Spokane & Eastern Trust Co., is a guest at the Perrine. He came over early today to see the location of Wallace on Thursday. Mr. Richards said wonders had been wrought on the Twin Falls tract and the farmers had certainly prospered by their share. He added that the appearance of the town was impressive because of its evident stability and permanence. The class buildings, said Mr. Richards, was sufficient proof to him that the people who were investing their money in Twin Falls had abundant confidence and had every reason for believing in their confidence was fully justified.

Carl Meigs is amused at the inquiries he receives regarding the meaning of the word "Izzer" as applied to buggies. Many think that the Izzer buggy was named after the man who designed it. Not so, however, the name was coined by the Studebaker people on the suggestion of an old farmer who came to the works one day to buy a buggy. "I don't want no 'Izzer' buggy," he complained the old man, "I want an 'Izzer.'" He described the kind of a vehicle which he desired and the Studebaker engineers tried to manufacture a buggy on the lines suggested by the farmer. They called it the "Izzer" and it has proved a winner.

F. F. Johnson, president of the First National bank of Wallace and director of the First National of Twin Falls, arrived yesterday. Mr. Johnson has a choice farm near Twin Falls and he frequently visits this city. He also enjoys the distinction of being the head of the second largest bank as to deposits in the state, the First National of Wallace. This bank has increased its capital from $50,000 to $100,000 and its surplus fund from $10,000 to $15,000 during the year, and its deposits increased $36,432.21 in the same time. Harry White, vice president, and M. J. Fiohr, cashier of the First National of Wallace, are both deeply interested in the Twin Falls tract and have many friends here who will be glad to learn of the prosperity of the institution with which they are identified.

ALFRED BUCHANAN BREAKS LEG

Horse Which He Is Riding Slips and Falls on Him.

Alfred Buchanan, who lives with his parents in Twin Falls, had a leg crushed last Saturday when the horse he was riding slipped and fell with him. Young Buchanan and the son of Mr. Barnes, who has a farm not far from Twin Falls, took a load out to the Barnes ranch on Friday, driving four horses. The horses ran away on the ledge and smashed the wagon. On Saturday the boys took out three horses and with another load made the trip to the farm without mishap. Coming home Buchanan rode the lead horse. As the animal was climbing the bank of the low line canal it lost its footing and fell on the rider, fracturing his leg. Young Barnes had to travel four miles for a spring wagon and Buchanan lay helpless without a whimper until relief came. He is healthy as well as courageous and is reported to be making good progress toward recovery.

WILL FURNISH FEED FOR QUAIL

Rod and Gun Club Is Ready to Assist the Farmers.

Quail are frequenting farmyards in search of food which they are unable to obtain on account of the cold weather and snow. This is the hardest season of the year on the little game birds and they should not be neglected. They will repay the cost of their feed many times by destroying insect pests, and they are worth protecting.

MILLER'S UNDERTAKING PARLORS

Beautifully-Furnished-in-the-Latest Style.

L. J. Miller, funeral director and furnisher, who recently came to Twin Falls from Boulder, Colo., and rented the brick building between the Cranston-Babcock block and the News building on Main street, has received his equipment from Chicago and completed the fitting and furnishing of his parlors which will be opened to visitors every Saturday hereafter. The building has been remodeled throughout and is beautifully finished and furnished and conveniently arranged. On the left of the front entrance is a commodious chapel, nicely carpeted, with a pulpit and stand at the rear end. Black and white canopies are installed in two corners and present a handsome appearance. To the left of the pulpit is a private room for the use of families of deceased persons during funeral services. The office is located to the right of the front entrance and in the space between that and the private room is the room in which the caskets are displayed on pedestals. Mr. Miller has received a large assortment of beautiful caskets of the latest design and finish. In addition to being richly carpeted, all the rooms are furnished with leather upholstered chairs of elegant pattern and style. The pedestals for the caskets were made by the Adams-Pilgrimage Co. of Twin Falls and there are no better. Two new standing cases in churches and private residences came with the rest of the furnishings from Chicago, together with funeral robes and floral arrangements of excellent quality and design. Mr. Miller enjoys the distinction of being the first and only undertaker in Cassia county to introduce a funeral car. This vehicle and his undertaker's wagon formed part of the carload of goods which he received from Chicago on Tuesday. The car is ornately decorated and has detachable curtains and trimmings which can be changed to suit conditions. It is housed at the Farmers' car lot. On Saturdays visitors are invited to inspect the parlors where a lady attendant is always on duty. Mr. Miller will have day and night telephone service so soon as his instruments are installed.

FAVORS RAILWAY COMMISSION

Commercial Club Endorses Governor's Recommendation.

At a meeting of the Twin Falls Commercial club on Tuesday evening a resolution endorsing Governor Gooding's recommendation for the creation of a railway commission was unanimously passed.

F. Smith reported the arrival of a steam drill outfit with which it is possible to sink to a depth of 3,000 feet and suggested the advisability of putting down a test well in the city. The suggestion was favorably received and Messrs. Senior, Woods and Day were appointed a committee to raise funds for the purpose. M. J. Sweeley informed the club of the steps taken to make Twin Falls a city of the second class, of which details appear in the report of the council proceedings. Luncheon was served after the meeting, which was one of the best ever held by the club.

The young ladies of "a nearby town," in fact a very nearby town, assert that the youthful member of the Times staff, whom they suspect of having inspired the above, is a regular spinster himself. They declare that he makes it a point to attend the dance at this particular town every Friday night and regularly takes a recess of two hours for flirting, thereby depriving the ladies of an equal opportunity of enjoying his society. Isn't he snaky?

ALFALFA KING OF FORAGE PLANTS

HAS REVOLUTIONIZED CONDI-TIONS OF AGRICULTURE.

Finest Food on Earth for All Kinds of Live Stock—Produces More Than Any Other Kind of Grass—Makes Worthless Land Valuable.

Alfalfa, while comparatively new in America, is probably one of the oldest forage plants known. Its history has been traced nearly to the beginning of mankind, which causes those acquainted with its qualities to wonder that its capabilities were not sooner realized, and its culture long since become a large factor in our agriculture. It is undoubtedly destined to come into general use, and one of the most important movements which has occurred in American agriculture is one now in progress having for its purpose the widespread introduction of alfalfa, as a hay and forage crop, says F. D. Coburn in the Farm and Fireside. In truth, it is now grown successfully in about every state in the union, whereas a few years ago its production was thought to be practically restricted to the irrigated valleys of the west. Indeed, in the most distant part, the plant was deemed adapted only to certain conditions found in the so-called "semi-arid section," but it is now produced under greatly varying conditions of soil, climate and altitude.

Providence it finds its greatest property in the regions where corn, cotton and hog production are the predominant industries. The hay is especially rich in protein, the property in which corn and most other crops are deficient. It serves admirably to balance the feeding ration, and saving the purchase of high-priced feeds, such as bran, for instance, which, pound for pound, it approximates in value as a food stuff. A ton of alfalfa can be produced at a cost of, say, $2 to $4, whereas wheat bran costs from $15 to $25 per ton, and from three to five cuttings of alfalfa can be obtained from an acre of land each season, averaging perhaps a ton of hay per acre for each cutting. Further, it has been demonstrated that with alfalfa hay at $10 per ton and wheat bran at $20, the saving effected by substituting alfalfa for wheat bran would be $2.80 for every 100 pounds of butter and 13.8 cents for every 100 pounds of milk. Thus the farmer with alfalfa in competition with the one using bran could afford to sell his milk for 12.8 cents a hundred less than the latter receives, and his butter for about 3 cents a pound less. Wherever extensively grown alfalfa has revolutionized the conditions of agriculture.

While the mature alfalfa is a gross feeder, and hardy, the young plant is delicate and requires the best of seed beds, which should be mellow, well firm and compact, with the surface as finely prepared as for a garden.

Alfalfa should be cut as often as it blooms and as soon as the blossoms begin to appear. It is never ready to mow later. The importance of the leaves prompts early cutting, and the fact that they contain 75 to 80 per cent of the protein of the whole plant accounts their value. Early cutting of the first crop especially is regarded as essential, as a short delay may mean but two crops instead of three or four.

Experiments have shown that pigs make better growth when their dams are fed on alfalfa than do those from sows fed the best of rations, but with no alfalfa. For brood sows it is a most valuable food either as a hay, a soiling crop or a pasture. The litters of such sows as have it are generally large and vigorous, and the dams have a strong flow of nutritious milk.

Thousands of acres in the west are now returning an average of $15 to $25 per acre from alfalfa, where but a few years earlier the land was supposed to be almost worthless for agriculture, and hundreds of farms in the eastern states that were retiring but little above cost of labor and fertilization are yielding enhanced returns since the introduction of alfalfa.

Few are justified in postponing the addition of this crop to their husbandry. Its benefits are manifold. It not only subverts the hardpan, renovates and fertilizes the soil, but yields annually for years an abundance of the most valuable feed. It is a plant eminently worthy of the high estimation in which it is held by those best acquainted with its value, and each passing year finds an increased number enjoying its benefactions.

Hon. E. D. Hanson of Kansas has been a farmer from his early boyhood. For 13 years he was the secretary of the state board of agriculture in Kansas. He became well known outside of his own state when he declined to accept the appointment to a seat in the United States senate bestowed upon him by Governor Hoch.

Mr. Colman is a westerner by birth, having been born in Wisconsin in 1846. He was but two years of age when left an orphan and can well claim the title "self-made," having raised and for himself from early boyhood.

He came to Kansas in 1867, starting his life in that state on a cattle ranch. He taught school in the winter to earn money with which to make a first payment on the farm. He made a study of soils, fertilizers, stock raising and in fact everything pertaining to farming. He has written much on agricultural topics and for nearly six years was managing editor of a live stock paper.

OAKLEY FAVORS COUNTY DIVISION

NO CHANGE OF SENTIMENT IN THAT CITY.

All the People of the East End Insist Upon it, that the Lines Already Agreed to at Republican County Convention Are Followed.

We understand that a rumor is current in the west, and of the county that the east end is changing front on the county division proposition and that Senator George A. Day, partly through malice on account of the vote he received on the tract, will use his efforts to thwart the division movement. For the benefit of our west end friends we will say that these reports are utterly without foundation and that the east end of the county, almost to a man, are pronouncedly in favor of division. That while we are not authorized by Senator Day to deny the rumor concerning his attitude, we do deny the contention that we can be that Mr. Day is with his constituents and has not varied a hair's breadth in his opinions since the question was so recently, justly, satisfactorily agreed upon at the county Republican convention. There need be no fears at all concerning Senator Day on this proposition. He will favor division and will see that we get it.

Furthermore, we might say to a few disgruntled hogs on the west side that the division will be upon the lines that were agreed upon at the Republican county convention and no other. It was quite generally admitted by the delegates to the county convention that the east end delegates were truly magnanimous in the determination of boundary lines, and everything at that time seemed entirely satisfactory.

Now some ungrateful reproaches have the temerity to advocate other lines than those agreed upon, and the contemptible endeavor to say that these lines were "Mormon lines" and must be changed. We recommend to our friends on the west end that they stop these croakings, for they are a detriment to a community which has any desire whatever to be fair-minded and honorable.

The east end people desire to act fairly and squarely on this proposition, and according to their standard the way to do it is to stand by the action of the county convention. Governor Gooding says in his message: "In the counties of Kootenai and Cassia the people, irrespective of party, have agreed on county division. In these two counties they have gone so far as to agree on the geographical lines of division. I feel that one of your first duties should be to see that the wishes of the people of these counties are carried out as speedily as possible."

We know nothing about Kootenai, but we do know that Cassia county should be divided. The people want it and have voted it and now we expect the legislature to ratify. We could not expect the legislature to ratify why the county should be divided, but it is not necessary at this time. All that we want is to be understood on the subject, and a square deal, that's all—Oakley Ensign.

CARE OF POULTRY IN WINTER

Proper Feed and Housing to Produce Egg Supply.

The poultryman who lets his hens run around in the snow will not get winter eggs. Keep your hens shut up while the snow is falling, then when the storm has abated clean off the ground all around the poultry runs and let the hens out to sun themselves. If you have straw, scatter a lot all around everywhere so as to give the hens a new interest in life.

It takes a little energy and industry to make hens lay in winter, but it pays—pays both in satisfaction and in cash. Here are a few hints in winter. Don't let them eat at a loss. The top is the profit and the winter eggs are the top.

How to lay in winter must have good sharp so as to be able to take care of the extra amount of feed that is needed to keep the body going during cold weather. Do not depend on oyster shells for grinding; they are not sharp enough. Broken crockery is fine, best of anything, but in lieu of this, broken granite answers well, or even gravel from a street more gravel pit. Do not expect eggs unless you provide good grinding material.

Corn is a good feed for winter when it is supplemented with bran, and mixed green feed. Some people grow pale when corn is mentioned and rave about protein and albumenoids, but there is no denying the fact that the bulk of their feed is made of carbon.

Of course hens that are fed all corn get too fat if they have enough of it, but it is just as possible to get them too fat on wheat. Feed some wheat, some corn, a lot of bran, meat and green feed and the ration is equalized. —Ranch and Range.

AGAINST FOREST RESERVES

Idaho Woolgrowers Endorse Senator Heyburn's Stand.

"The members of the Idaho Woolgrowers' Association, at their annual meeting in Boise, adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this association that we endorse and uphold the position of Senator Heyburn in the course he has pursued against the creation of forest reserves in Idaho and the policies thereof, and that we expect to him a vote of confidence for the stand he has taken in behalf of the people of Idaho on this question."

Recorded. That we condemn the forest reserve policy of the government."

A FARM FOR YOU

One Crop May Pay for It

THE EASTERN TENANT (AND YOU-WHO READ) may be on rented-farms, and while getting up early and working late, succeeded at the end of the year in having made a fair living, with the bulk of the farm products belonging to the landlord. He can keep this up year after year, and at the end of any term of years, he is about where he started, with this difference—both he and the farm have perceptibly run down.

The longer he keeps at it the poorer he is. There is a better way. There is nothing new or strange about it. Thousands have tried and won out. Why not you? Let me tell you how.

There are ways and ways. One of them is to sell out, rather use all the money you can and go west and homestead. One can find any amount of raw land remote from schools, churches and railroads, out of the world and away back where, in the course of time, civilization may penetrate, but there is a better way than that. It is to file upon 160 acres of land at Marysville, Idaho, and start in with all the advantages you left behind and more. You can file upon your land and the perpetual water right will cost you, but $20 per acre; that will irrigate land that will make better farms than you have left in the East, so far as fertility of the soil and productiveness are concerned. In fact, it will make you a better farmer than you can buy for $75 to $100 per acre in the East or middle states.

Here is a Further Fact—it may seem remarkable, but it is a fact that the first crop will often pay for the land. It has occurred in hundreds of instances and will occur again.

Where is all this to be done? At Marysville, Idaho, in Fremont county, where the Marysville Canal Improvement company has just completed their canal system, which has been approved by the State Engineer of the State of Idaho. This canal was constructed and the lands were segregated under and according to the Carey law, which gives the settlers the best possible protection, by bringing everything under state supervision, and unless the canal is properly constructed the system will not be accepted by the state.

Any American citizen 21 years of age is entitled to file on 160 acres, even though he may have used all other similar rights.

The reasons why the lands under the Marysville canal are a good investment:

1. The soil is a volcanic loam, exceedingly rich and productive.
2. The water supply is from Fall River and is ample for all time to come.
3. Tracts of land that were cleared this spring and farmed for the first time produced as high as 70 bushels of grain per acre.
4. The total cost of land and water is $20.50 per acre—the most reasonable price on any irrigated lands in the west. The payments are as follows:
  - $2.75 cash, the remainder, $2 per acre each year until paid.
5. The price is so reasonable and the terms so easy that anyone who desires a piece of land can arrange to avail himself of this opportunity to secure a good farm.

If you will write either of the firms mentioned below you will receive full information.

BISHOP TALBOT WRITES OF IDAHO

IN HIS BOOK, "MY PEOPLE OF THE PLAINS."

Former Bishop of the Episcopal Church in This State Tells of Many Interesting Experiences Which He Encountered in the West.

In his book, "My People of the Plains," which has just come from the press of Harper & Brothers, New York, Ephraim Talbot, bishop of the Episcopal church in Idaho, relates many humorous incidents connected with his work in the west. In 1887, while Bishop Talbot was stationed in St. Louis, his diocese comprised a territory larger than all the New England and middle states combined, with the state of Maryland included. While not religious, many of the new flock, through lack of regular services, had become careless about attending church. Only a few places were accessible by rail, and to visit the interior one had to proceed by stage coach or ride a broncho. Bishop Talbot, the former bishop, got into the harness. The people who ought to attend church didn't visit him—so he went out and found them in saloons, dance halls and on the streets.

Happening to preach later in a distant city, Bishop Talbot relates that he had been invited to preach for his diocese, but found that the poverty of his scattered flock did not affect his millionaires' hearers. Ultimately, becoming despondent, the good bishop told a story of an Indian chief, Washakie, who killed his mother-in-law, and the preacher reminded the congregation that even such a cruel savage as the Indian had come under the fascination of the Gospel story and was now a good Christian. The story proceeds: "Greater testimony to the power of Christianity could be given if it were told; than that a man mean enough to kill his mother-in-law had been converted. Then the plates were round, and the bishop said to the flock of his prayerbook and wrote, 'Call on me for $50, for that old chief that killed his mother-in-law.' My heart goes out to him. Another wrote on a scrap of paper: 'I have given the bishop all I had in my pocket, but call on me for $25 more for that old chief.'"

Bandits Were Polite.
 The bishop relates that, although real agents abounded in Idaho at the time he lived there, he never had Bishop Kemper's experience in the early days of Kansas. Bishop Kemper once rode the holdup of a stagecoach one night when he was the only passenger, and he exclaimed to the man who held the gun: "I don't want to rob a poor bishop. I have no money worth your while. I am engaged in the discharge of my sacred duties." "What church?" "The Episcopal church." "The he— you are! Why, that's the church I belong to. Driver, you may pass on."

Stage Drivers Courteous.
 The bishop says that grateful tribute to the kind and courteous stage drivers and says that he never heard an oath but that when one did slip out, it was followed by the words, "I am sorry." Bishop Talbot's well-known story of the stagecoach horses who wouldn't move out of a mudhole unless the driver swore, is told. The Indian said: "No d— a glad to see heap sleepy man, the bishop."

Cowboys Cautious.
 "The cowboy minor has sometimes but little religion to talk about, but he usually responds nobly to an appeal by his unselfishness, generosity or courage. I have seen a cowboy on some misfortune befall a brother man and see how quickly he will come to the rescue. When you measure him by the spirit of the fellow man he will often surprise you."

THIS IS RATHER DISCOURAGING.
 Farm Journal Declares There Is Nothing in Free Alcohol.

A whole lot of morose-looking stuff is now appearing in the newspapers about the great advantages to farmers from the free alcohol bill and several bills have been introduced in congress to enable farmers to set up stills on their ranches and turn their waste products into alcohol. This is mainly a delusion and a snare and it could be dismissed without much thought except for the danger that shippers will take advantage of this as they have agitated about sugar and other farm products to inveigle farmers into buying costly apparatus and waste time and labor upon an enterprise that will inevitably be a total loss. We see much in the papers about cornstalks, spuds, tops and other waste products being converted into sufficient alcohol to give light, fuel and motive power for a farm and we have heard from Germany about the success there of farm distilleries. This is the most utter nonsense and is likely to cost somebody a good deal of money. As a matter of fact nothing can be converted into alcohol except something which has more value as food and forer for animals. Any one who has farm products from which alcohol can be made can realize far better profit by feeding them to his pigs and cattle. Alcohol can certainly be made from spuds, cornstalks, corn cobs, chips, blocks, hay, grass, etc., but to do this involves the highest chemical skill, an immense amount of labor and a perfection of apparatus—Denver Field and Farm.

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY IN SNAKE RIVER CANYON

Hagerman Valley, Thousand Springs, Riverside Farm, Clear Lake Are Among the Most Attractive Spots in the Land—North Side of Canyon Is Honeycombed with Springs for Miles and Many Large Creeks Furnish Water for Irrigation and Power.

The architect who designed the Snake river valley was versatile and whimsical. He was lavish and stingy in turn. He contracted the cataract fover at American Falls and scarcely stopped to take a drink until he came to the Blue lakes. Finding he had a surplus of water on his hands he poured it all into the river in the vicinity of Hagerman. Hagerman is undoubtedly the place where the prophet of old smote the rock with his rod and caused the water to gush forth. It must have been, because Billy Coltharp found the rod when he was out quail hunting one day and has it in his place at Hagerman. Phil De Sault can point out the original spring on Billingsley creek. He will also prove to the most skeptical that the Hagerman valley was the Garden of Eden. Certainly it has the flocks and the herds and the quail and the most prodigious water supply in the west. In fact, Hagerman is favored by nature far beyond the appreciation of the majority of its citizens. It is a wonderful valley.

The marvelous Thousand springs, by many supposed to be the outlet of some lost river, are unequalled for beauty and mystery. They pour forth a deluge of water year in and year out. Riley creek, Billingsley creek, Sand creek and other similar streams feed the majestic Snake river within a few miles of Hagerman and furnish an abundance of water for irrigation and power purposes.

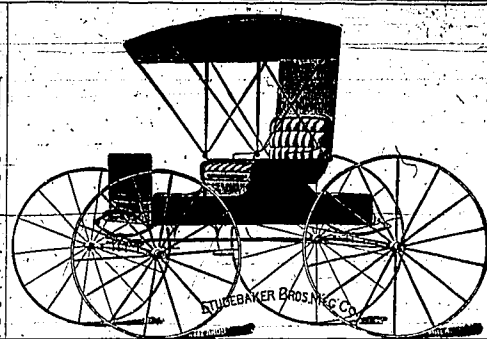

The Hagerman valley has been settled for years, but it is only lately that it has attracted the attention which it merits. It is the home of a splendid class of citizens. The Buckeye farm, in which Judge Stockinger and the Dilatash brothers are interested, is one of the finest in the state. Its beauty is enhanced by the unbounded hospitality which it dispenses. Hospitality is the chief characteristic of the people of the valley. If a man is half white he can have anything he wants in Hagerman. Billy Coltharp will supply him with shoes, clothing, shells, guns, rifles and unrivaled cheer and will feel offended if he hesitates in the acceptance. At the Buckeye farm they serve the good old Ohio brand of neighborly kindness. Charlie Dilatash is a bachelor, which is the only thing that can be urged against him. Not so his cousin, Edward, however. One of Mrs. Edward Dilatash's meals would chase the cobwebs of despondency from the brain of the worst pessimist on earth.

The Buckeye is well supplied with water which is put to a variety of uses. A wheel in the yard supplies power for churning, washing, grinding and also operates fans in the house. The water is obtained from Riley creek, a distance of about three miles, and it flows all the year. In a short time every acre on the Buckeye will be irrigated and it will then be one of the grandest farms in the west. Dr. H. E. Dilatash of South Lebanon, Ohio, comes out to the Buckeye every year to recuperate from western fever with which he is always afflicted during the quail season. Charlie Dilatash framed the Idaho fish and game law while a member of the legislature four years ago and Senator Van Toren made a splendid game warden, though he had to battle with the undertaker during his entire term of office. He and the Dilatash brothers are among the best hunters in the state and they always give brother sportsmen a hearty welcome.

The two Loes, Lee Vadnor and Lee Oswald, are known to almost everyone who has visited the Hagerman valley. Lee Vadnor's friends and acquaintances are equal in number as it is impossible to know him without becoming his friend. Lee Oswald runs the ferry and has the reputation of being able to cross more sheep in a given time than any other ferryman. He generally has a good story to tell, is quite a philosopher and a mighty good-hearted fellow. His home shelters many a traveler and the hospitality of himself and his good wife is proverbial.

A short distance above the Thousand springs is Riverside farm, the cozy home of F. N. Uhrhau. Those who know Mr. Uhrhau slightly claim him judge, but to his friends he is "Newt." Mr. Uhrhau is one of the most contented and independent men in the world. It matters not to him how the markets fluctuate or the coal famine rages. He lives on the fat of the land. He has acres and acres of magnificent land, water to waste and a splendid orchard. But Mr. Uhrhau's specialty is bees. This year he is wintering 65 stands. As there are about 25,000 bees to a stand, he has more workers hustling for him than any man in Idaho. His honey has a reputation all over southern Idaho and he takes great pride in keeping it at his high standard. Next to living a swarm of bees Newt would rather shoot a canvasback or a blue quail. He is a crack shot and his old Chesapeake retriever "Glen" is the best dog that ever swam the Snake river. Mr. Uhrhau is now busy building a ferry boat which he will shortly have in operation. He has a splendid site for a ferry at his door and when his boat is in commission the road between Buhl and Hagerman will be shortened three miles or more and the worst grades will be avoided. Mr. Uhrhau's ferry will be propelled by a gasoline engine which will insure its operation in all kinds of weather and at any stage of the water. He will also put a gasoline launch on the river next spring. There is a magnificent stretch of water for miles on either side of Riverside farm, including the beautiful Box canyon, the Thousand springs, upper Salmon falls and many other attractive sights worth miles of travel to see. There is also about the best trout fishing in the state. Riverside possesses a peculiar fascination. Everything about the place is as neat as a pin. Mr. and Mrs. Uhrhau have a smile, a welcome and a good word for everyone, and their closest friends are those who have known them longest and best.

Still further up the Snake river is beautiful Clear lake, another garden spot which Mr. and Mrs. Syster are transforming into a superb terrace. Clear lake is like the Blue lakes in appearance, its most imposing feature being "The Devil's Washboard," a short, high pitched and turbulent current which flows from the lake into the river. There are many excellent farms on the Kanoka flat in the vicinity of Clear lake and the traveler who journeys from the Kanoka flat to Hagerman by water is well repaid for the trip. Nowhere in the west is there more beautiful scenery. Some day there will be a string of summer resorts all the way along the Snake river canyon and some of the grandest orchards in the state will be located within its walls.

ALFALFA AS A MILK PRODUCER

Experiments Show Its Superiority to Wild Hay.

The experiment station of Nebraska has been conducting an interesting series of experiments with dairy cows. After they had been fed on dry feed for eight weeks and were in a normal condition, 12 were selected and divided into two lots. In making the division, care was taken to have each lot about equal as to production of milk and butter fat. Lot 1 was put on a ration of alfalfa hay and lot 2 on wild hay. Besides all the hay they were given clean, each lot received 16 pounds of boots daily and a small grain ration. One lot was fed alfalfa and the other wild hay for four weeks and then changed about. Lot 1 getting wild hay and lot 2 alfalfa for another period of six weeks. During the first period the lot fed alfalfa produced 120.11 pounds of milk more than the lot fed on wild hay. In the second period there was a difference of 20.14 pounds in favor of the alfalfa. Lot 1, when fed on wild hay, produced 4,760.20 pounds of milk during the first six weeks of the test and during the second period, when fed on alfalfa, 4,780.34 pounds. The decrease in milk and butter production in the second six weeks of the test was largely due to the natural shrinkage from advance in location, but it will be noticed that the shrinkage was greater when wild hay was fed.

When lot 2 was changed from wild hay to alfalfa in the starting of the second six weeks, they were at a disadvantage, having been reduced in the first six weeks' test. It is therefore safe to assume that alfalfa gives even better results than is shown in the figures. The quality of both alfalfa and wild hay was of the best. The lot fed alfalfa received less water to water and salt during the experiment. It required a little more wild hay than alfalfa hay. This was due to the larger per cent of water in the former. In live weight the animals changed but slightly, showing a little increase when on alfalfa. It is evident from the results of the experiment that normally cured alfalfa hay is more conducive to milk and butter production than wild hay, a fact which we of Colorado have known for the last 40 years.—Denver Field and Farm.

SHEEP INDUSTRY PROFITABLE

Idaho Wool Growers Have Had a Prosperous Year.

In Idaho the sheep industry will become more profitable as the country becomes more thickly populated for the reason that the number of sheep finishing the nation is almost prohibitive at the present time. This state produces as fine a quality of alfalfa as can be grown anywhere and as soon as more farmers take advantage of the attractive opportunities that the state offers the price of alfalfa will be within reach of all feeders and the consequent profits will be much greater. Ex-President Hagerman of the National Live Stock association is recognized as the sheep king of Idaho. Mr. Hagerman has found the industry very profitable in this state for a number of years past.—Ranch and Range.
