WORK HAS STARTED ON NORTH SIDE PROJECT

Buhl-Kimberly Corporation Interests Are Purchased by Pittsburg Capitalists Who Are Forming a New Organization Which Will Be Known as the North Side Twin Falls Land & Water Company, with Offices at Milner but Twin Falls Will Be Its Headquarters.

The Buhl-Kimberly corporation has disposed of the Milner townsite, the bridge across the Snake river at that point and all its rights in the north side project to an organization of Pittsburg capitalists which will be incorporated in a few days as the North Side Twin Falls Land & Water Co. The new company will build a hotel at Milner early in the spring and will maintain its offices there, but Twin Falls will be its actual headquarters. Paul S. A. Bickel, who will be chief engineer for the North Side company, is now engaged in securing construction outfits which will be put to work on the north side canal immediately on their arrival. Not less than $3,000,000 will be expended on construction work, of which $800,000 will be spent on the Wilson lake reservoir. The north side system will be closely connected with the south side by means of an electric railway which will cross the river at Shoshone falls, and a free public bridge to span the Snake river at the twin falls. All city supplies will be purchased in Twin Falls and the farmers on the south side will be given every facility to market their products on the north side during the formative period.

I. B. Perrine, who will be the general manager of the North Side company, is very desirous of making Twin Falls the headquarters for the new company. Of necessity the company will have to maintain offices at Milner but the land seekers will be brought to Twin Falls in order that they may have an opportunity to see what has been accomplished on the south side.

Efforts are now making to secure state and county aid for the construction of a bridge across the Snake river at the twin falls which will enable the farmers to land their products on the north side. A splendid market for hay, grain and vegetables will be afforded for the next three or four years at least which will be highly beneficial to the farmers now on the tract. The plans which are now forming contemplate the construction of an electric railroad from Milner to the town of Gooding on the main line of the Oregon Short Line. The Twin Falls connection with this road will be made in the vicinity of Wilson lake by means of a spur which will cross the Snake river at Shoshone falls and ascend through the Devil's corral, making it one of the grandest scenic roads in America.

Another electric road will head northwesterly from Twin Falls, passing through Maroon to Buhl, thence southwesterly to the extreme corner of the tract and back to Twin Falls between the high and low line canals, thus tapping all the territory not covered by the Oregon Short Line.

It is probable that the first opening under the North Side project will take place some time in the early spring and the drawing will be held at Milner, likely about the time the hotel is completed.

Pat Hall has just finished building an ice house for the new company at Milner and the company has a crew of men at work cutting 200 tons of ice for use in the hotel and the company's offices there.

R. M. McCollum will handle the land sales on the north side, his connection with the Twin Falls Investment Co. ceasing after February 1. His office will be at Milner. There will be something doing at the dam when Bob gets busy.

COMPLIMENTARY TO TWIN FALLS

SPLENDID APPOINTMENT FOR ADDISON T. SMITH.

Stanch Friend and Pioneer Citizen of the Tract Is Placed in Charge of the United States Land Office in Boise as Register.

Probably no appointment made by President Roosevelt has occasioned more favorable comment than that of Addison T. Smith of Twin Falls as register of the United States land office at Boise. Mr. Smith's fifteen years in Washington during the sessions of congress—10 years as secretary to former Senator Shoup, and since that gentleman's retirement from the senate, as secretary to Senator Heyburn—has given him a wide acquaintance in the official life here, and a ripe experience in public affairs.

He has long been recognized by members of both branches of congress and departmental officials as one of the most able and versatile secretaries at the capitol, and this recognition by the president has given them great pleasure. The numerous strong endorsements filed with the president by Senator Heyburn in recommending Mr. Smith's appointment indicate that he has many friends in Idaho who are equally pleased over his selection for this important position.

Mr. Smith enjoys the confidence of Senator Heyburn in a marked degree, and but for the fact that the position to which he has been appointed is more lucrative than the one he now occupies, the senator would not consent to being deprived of his services as secretary. In recommending him to the president, the senator said in part: "Mr. Smith has been my secretary since I entered the senate and I have known him ever since. He is capable. During the past 15 years he has been clerk or various committees in the senate, and has had wide experience in public affairs. He is an attorney at law by profession, and is a gentleman of high character and integrity, with the very best of habits, and is well equipped by education and experience for the position of register. While I very much regret losing his services as clerk of my committee, I am anxious that he shall have a place here, commensurate with his capabilities, and I heartily recommend his appointment."

Mr. Smith is a graduate of the George Washington and National Law schools of Washington and is a member of the bar of the supreme court and court of appeals of the District of Columbia, and is also a member of the federal courts of Idaho. He was temporary and permanent secretary of the last Republican state convention, and during the last campaign was secretary of the Republican state central committee. Mr. Smith's appointment is particularly gratifying to the people of Twin Falls, his home town. He was one of the first to discern the possibilities of the tract and he has been a consistent and influential friend of the project from its inception. Mr. Smith's farm adjoins the townsite and is one of the very best on the tract. He has been liberal in improving his property and has been the first to erect a ranch house. He will find it easier to give it his close personal attention. He has the best wishes of a multitude of loyal friends in this section of the state.

SECOND YEAR'S WORK ON EXPERIMENTAL FARM

Gratifying Results Are Obtained—Adaptability of Twin Falls Soil to Growth of Sugar Beets Proven—Dairying Shown to Be Profitable—Water Supply Found to Be Abundant—Wind Bugaboo Punctured—Prize Winning Crops and Who Grew Them.

Superintendent McPherson has submitted to the Twin Falls Land & Water company his second and final report upon the work which has been carried on at the Twin Falls experimental farm maintained by the company under his direction for the past two years. The farm was purely experimental, no effort being made to make it profitable, yet it showed a small balance on the right side of the books. Experiments were carried out as far as they might be with propriety and the results were particularly gratifying. It has been proved beyond question that the Twin Falls tract is an unrivaled producer of grains and vegetables; that it excels in the production of sugar beets and grasses and that it is unsurpassed for dairying. The results of the experiments also confirm the frequently repeated statement that the tendency is to use too much water and that the supply allotted to the tract is abundant.

Mr. McPherson's report contains a vast amount of valuable information for the farmers and interesting data for those who are interested in the development of the tract. It follows:

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Dec. 19, 1906. Twin Falls Land & Water Co., Twin Falls, Idaho:

Gentlemen—I herewith submit a statement of the work done by my department since October 15, 1905, the date of my last report.

While during the year 1905 we did remarkably well on the Twin Falls experimental farm, yet when we compare the results of 1905 with those of 1906 there is really no comparison. The highest yield of grain in 1905 did not exceed 35 bushels per acre. Of course there was good reason for this, as we did not plant our grain until late in the season. The following list of results for 1906 are, in my opinion, very satisfactory and indicate, at least to some extent, the wonderful possibilities of the soil on the Twin Falls tract wherever intelligent labor is expended. The highest yield of wheat on the farm was 71.2 bushels per acre and of oats, 96.1 bushels per acre, and the lowest yield was 25.6 bushels per acre, this being given on fall wheat sown in the spring. The lowest yield where grain was sown at its proper time was 41.2 bushels per acre. An itemized list of the size of the plots, rate of yield per acre, etc., is hereto appended:

Bluestem, size of plot 288x16.5 feet; yield in pounds 1953, acres 2.415, per acre, 80.5, spring planting.

Defiance, 228x35, 762 pounds, 2314 acres, 64.8 bushels per acre, spring planting.

Martin Amber, 288x15, 342 pounds, 119 acres, 47.8 bushels per acre, winter.

Gold Coin, 288x18, 334 pounds, 1190 acres, 46.7 bushels per acre, winter.

Little Club, 288x50.5, 1369 pounds, 3702 acres, 61.2 bushels per acre, spring and winter, half and half.

Dicklow, 277x15.5, 1871 pounds, 49 acres, 69.6 bushels per acre, spring.

Martin Amber, 288x17, 170 pounds, 111 acres, 25.6 bushels per acre, spring.

Durum (Kubanka), 288x37.5, 618 pounds, 25 acres, 41.2 bushels per acre, spring.

Corn wheat, 288x75.5, 1920 pounds, 49 acres, 41.4 bushels per acre, spring.

Sixty Day Oats, 288x25, 1303 pounds, 4362 acres, 96.1 bushels per acre, spring.

Reliable information regarding the city and country promptly and cheerfully furnished. Address all communications to The News Publishing Company, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Entered as second-class matter, December 12, 1904, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The opening of the north side project means another era of prosperity for Twin Falls. The officers of the company estimate an expenditure of approximately $3,000,000, the major portion of which will be paid out for labor. Already hundreds of letters have been received from home-seekers asking for information about the new project. The majority of the home-seekers will visit Twin Falls before they locate. They will undoubtedly want to see what is being accomplished on the south side of the river. If the company carries out its plans with respect to the construction of bridges and electric roads, and there is no reason to suspect that it will not, the benefit to the south side will be immense. The Twin Falls farmers need a market close at hand and the north side project should furnish such a market for five years to come. Land values on the south side will be enhanced because of the increased cost of water on the north side and the superiority of the south side water right. Altogether the prospect is very alluring and it cannot fail to bring a thrill of cheer to every farmer and business man on the tract.

Superintendent McPherson's report on the experimental farm work performed in Twin Falls last year, which appears in this issue, is worthy of careful perusal by every farmer on the tract. It is much more economical to profit by the experience of others than it is to indulge in individual experiment, and the Twin Falls experimental farm has probably saved the farmers many a dollar. The farm was conducted for experiment only, no attempt being made to make it pay anything beyond running expenses. The work was performed systematically and thoroughly and the results are eminently satisfactory. Some of the results are surprising and will probably not be credited. For instance, buckwheat proved a failure on the experimental farm, though many farmers claim to have grown it successfully. While the figures show a yield of only 294 bushels of onions per acre, scores of farmers raised over 1,000 bushels to the acre. However, the experiments proved the need of early planting of onions and demonstrated the advisability of harvesting them as quickly as they can be matured. Mr. McPherson's report is full of valuable information and it should not only be carefully read but should also be preserved for reference.

FIRST NATIONAL FLOURISHING

Splendid Business Transacted During Past Year.

The annual election of officers of the First National Bank of Twin Falls was held in this city on January 22 and resulted as follows: President, F. J. Johnson of Wallace; vice president, S. H. Hays of Boise; cashier, John M. Maxwell, Twin Falls; register, I. B. Perrine, S. H. Hays; directors, F. W. Clouche, F. E. Johnson, John Maxwell, James E. Clinton, Jr. Mr. Perrine retired from the presidency in order that he might give his undivided attention to the north side project, of which he is to be the general manager. The affairs of the bank were found to be in excellent condition, the business of the year having far exceeded expectations. President Johnson, who is also president of the First National Bank of Wallace, Idaho, was very much pleased with conditions which, he stated, justified the high opinion he had always entertained of the Twin Falls tract. Mr. Johnson was also highly satisfied with the success of the new bank building which, he said, was one of the best in the state. Additional interest attached to the meeting because of the election of Dr. Clouche and L. L. Salladay of Twin Falls as directors. James E. Clinton, Jr., of Boise, who is a member of the board of directors, is cashier of the Boise City National Bank and president of the Hagerman State Bank. Mr. Clinton is one of the leading financiers of the state and a welcome addition to Twin Falls financial circles.

A. J. Larson is fencing and other, also improving his property.

S. Schenck of Sand Springs is visiting, C. Gale of Filer, this week.

BUHL HAS THE LUCKY BABY

Only Three Months Old but Already Owns Property.

BUHL, Jan. 23.—Mrs. D. W. Southworth of Ferguson, Mo., is visiting with friends and relatives in Boise. Her son, B. B. Buhl, a baby born in Ferguson, Mo., returned last week from Okmulgee, Okla., where he had been for several weeks on business, and visited his sister in Colorado on his way back to Buhl.

J. D. Jordan came in from his ranch Thursday and spent several hours in town on business. He is having a new house built on his place. Rev. J. H. Schenck of Twin Falls, who has been holding revival meetings in Hagerman for several weeks, passed through town Thursday on his way home.

C. M. Provins and wife, C. R. Provins and Mrs. Provins, the mother of the young man, all of Ottawa, Ill., arrived in town last week with two carloads of household furniture, farm implements and other property and immediately went out to their ranches six miles south of town to build homes and commence improvements. They own, in the aggregate, 500 acres of land, all of which they intend to bring under cultivation next summer.

Dobson was a visitor in Buhl Thursday.

J. D. Sawyer, foreman for Mr. Norman, a big cattleman, who lives at the mouth of Salmon creek, came in to town last week from Rock Creek and spent a few days in Buhl renewing acquaintance with old friends.

Patton & Wilson are busy putting up ice to be used the dog days to make cool drinks for their customers. The ice is being taken from the city park lake and is 14 inches thick.

George Broyles was confined to his room Friday with a bad cold, but has fully recovered and is attending to business again.

It is an ill wind that blows no good. The impossibility of obtaining coal in Buhl is furnishing Geo. A. McDonald an opportunity to make all kinds of money hauling aggrus to the business houses and residences of the town, and he is taking advantage of it.

Buhl looked like a city of the first class last Saturday night when Ed. Larsen lit up his big clothing store in the south store room of Hotel Buhl with four large Rochester lamps.

Considerable excitement was caused Sunday night by the jingle of sleigh bells being heard on the streets. A party of young folks took a moonlight sleigh ride, hence the bells' jingle.

Miss Mary Hinkley, Mrs. E. A. Wyatt and Miss Edith, who met with Mrs. George L. Evelev in the parlors of Hotel Buhl Sunday evening to perfect arrangements for the Sunday school entertainment, were having completed their work indulged in a game of cards for an hour. Your correspondent could not learn which of the ladies proved to be the best player.

Dr. T. O. Boyd of Twin Falls was called to Buhl Sunday night by Dr. Gilmore for consultation in the case of R. W. Lindsay, whose illness was reported in these items last week. Mr. Lindsay has been very sick for several days but appears to be improving now.

George F. Sprague of the Investment company, F. J. Johnson, a banker of Wallace, Idaho, and James Richard of Sand Springs, Okla., who Sunday, Mr. Sprague was showing the two latter gentlemen over the country and they expressed themselves as being well pleased with what they saw of it.

There was a lively dance at Clear Lake Saturday night. The music was furnished by the Clear Lake orchestra. Mrs. Lucy Hopkins served supper at midnight which was greatly appreciated by all. There was a large crowd present and all had a jolly good time. The dance was kept up until 5 o'clock in the morning.

T. W. Snowgrass attended the dance at Clear Lake Saturday night.

A. J. Milner is in Twin Falls on business for the Milner-Perrine Lumber Co. E. A. Milner returned Saturday from Salt Lake where he had been for a week on important business.

Jake Fritz brought a load of passengers up from Twin Falls Sunday. L. C. Barnard of Trinidad, Colorado, is in town. He is a land secker and has spent three or four days looking over the tract. He is favorably impressed with the country and predicts a great future for Buhl and the country surrounding it.

A good many of our citizens and of the ranchmen in this vicinity attended the Maynard stock and implement sale north of Filer on Tuesday.

Charles M. Munch of Salt Lake City was a guest of Hotel Buhl Monday.

Alfred Peterson of Twin Falls registered at the hotel Monday.

The firm of Patton & Wilson of this town, was here on business Tuesday. He promised that if the people of Buhl would consent to the consolidation of their opposition to county division we could all quench our thirst at his place free of charge whenever we visited the Magic City. We have the matter under consideration. J. H. and will render our decision later. We know your reputation for hot stuff in cold weather is good, but not many of us are likely to visit Twin Falls until the weather thins up a bit and gets warmer and then we will want it cool.

Miss Blanch Clark of Twin Falls is visiting her sister, Mrs. Andy Wilson. Mr. J. H. Shields and his family, from Utah, moved into the E. B. Burley residence Tuesday as a caretaker of the place. Mr. Burley will build a garage for the accommodation of several horses as soon as the weather permits.

Buhl Sandness is now about three months old. He is the bouncing baby son of John Mrs. Sandness. He not only enjoys the proud and honorable distinction of being the first baby born in Buhl, but also the luckiest one that may ever be born on the tract. He no longer made his appearance than he commenced boosting for Buhl and, as a railroad man would put it, kicking for his rights, but he has no kick coming. For when Mr. Buhl, after whom the town is named, was here last fall and heard that this young man was named for him, he paid him a visit and made him a present of two town lots in the future great city of the setting sun and promised that he would remember him in all substantial manner.

He has a good start in life and got it very young, and if he does not win the race it will be his own fault. In the meantime he is envied and congratulated by all his neighbors.

A report was just brought to town that a railroad camp has been established three miles east of Buhl. The rails are running near and when they cross the townsite, "Buhl, the little town with big hopes," will start in to grow up into a city and thus realize her big hopes. But in doing so she will not attempt to pull down or retard the progress of her sister towns on the tract. "With charity for all and malice towards none," she will proceed to walk up and take her position at the head of the procession of the towns on the Twin Falls tract. Mark the prediction and watch our movements.

Herman Geore is painting the residence of Mr. Sandmeyer and he has the contract to paint Mr. Howard's house, which will soon be ready for his brush. Herman is an artist in his line.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McClain and Mrs. S. E. Smith, lecturers for the grange, arrived in town Tuesday evening and are stopping at Hotel Buhl. They will endeavor to organize a branch of the grange in Buhl.

Farley Walton of Montana arrived here last week, and is visiting at the home of his brother, John Walton. Mr. Walton says this country looks good to him and is talking of locating here.

J. W. Thompson left on Tuesday evening for Afton, Iowa. He will be gone about two months.

BREVITIES

Father Boumans will conduct services in the Catholic church on Sunday, January 27, at 10 a. m.

Frank Flier has disposed of his 40-acre tract near town to A. R. Moomaw and his sons, J. A. Moomaw and W. A. Moomaw, who bought the tract from a farm adjoining a short time ago. Mr. Flier received $300 an acre for his property.

The bridge whist craze has caught Twin Falls at last. A few meet here and there for practice. Eight ladies met with Mrs. Tush Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. Noble, state veterinarian, was in Twin Falls this week inspecting horses, a number of which he condemned and ordered destroyed on account of their being affected by glanders.

Last Wednesday afternoon Miss Mary Gourley entertained a few ladies to a most delightful Kensington and 4 o'clock tea. Those invited were Mrs. Stuart Taylor, Mrs. Wilbur Hill, Miss Elva McCollum and Miss Edith Young.

Mrs. C. E. Booth was hostess at the second meeting of the Friday Afternoon Card club last week. Those present were Mesdames Alken, Booth, Barrett, Baker, Dunn, Davis, Williams, Boyd, Tush and Sweeley. The favor was awarded Mrs. Tush. Delicacies refreshments were served at the close of the game.

Jacobs & Tobin have two crews at work cutting, shipping and storing ice. The ice is being cut at the Miller dam where the river is frozen over to a depth of 18 inches. There the ice is loaded on cars and shipped to the storehouse in Twin Falls. Mr. Jacobs said the ice crop was excellent this year and no trouble will be encountered in securing an abundant supply.

The concrete work on the first railway bridge west of Rock creek was finished yesterday and the bridge will be ready for the rails in about a week. The pile drivers are ready for completion and the steam hoist arrived today. There is a rock cut beyond which will require two weeks' work, after the completion of which the work train will be put on until the extension to Buhl is completed.

Miss Robison of the Robison-Tage hardware Co. left on Saturday for Goldfield, Idaho, where he will remain if his health permits. He has been ill for some time and he decided to try a change of climate. Mr. Robison was a popular citizen and a splendid deputy sheriff and his many friends wish him the best of luck. He still retains his business interests and property in Twin Falls.

Miss Nellie Buller, who left on Tuesday for Grissold, Iowa, was tendered a farewell party by Miss Parsons at the home of Dr. Baker last Friday evening. Guessing contests and high are furnished amusement for all, after which light refreshments were served. Miss Buller was presented with a beautiful souvenir spoon. Those present were Misses Barker, Boyd, Kinney, O'Neil, Wolfe and Anderson; Messrs. Bedford, Bull, Mull, Fuller, Macneely, Gourley, Henn and Lewis, and Mesdames Taylor and Mitchell.

The social event of the season, will be the hospital ball at the Ring theater on Friday evening, February 1. The proceeds will be added to the building fund. In more pretentious cities than Twin Falls the hospital ball is invariably the most notable dance of the year. A charitable sentiment seems to cling to the event, which is always patronized liberally by all. The hospital association will have no pains to make the initial hospital ball one to be remembered and that they will receive the unstinted support of the public goes without saying. The hospital building, which is nearing completion, is a credit to the city and any movement for its support is deserving of patronage.

Harry F. Allen is in Goldfield, Nev., looking over the mining situation.

J. B. McFall of Michigan, South Dakota, is visiting his brother, A. M. McFall of Twin Falls.

Craig Leland, who suffered from an attack of typhoid, is able to get about again and is fortunately none the worse for his illness.

Mrs. H. F. Allen will arrive tomorrow from Boise and will be the guest of Mrs. W. G. Leland at the Perrine for a fortnight. Her many friends will be delighted to welcome her.

W. H. Barry returned on Saturday from Chicago. Mr. Barry reports that the installation of the machinery at the power house will begin in about 10 days. The work is progressing splendidly although the weather is anything but favorable.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Baker have returned from California, being called home because of the accident which recently befell Mrs. Baker's mother, Mrs. Tillman. They visited old Mexico and had a splendid vacation but they were glad to get back home.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Brunk returned on Monday from the south, where they had been visiting for some time. They returned to Twin Falls from Kansas and had a delightful time. Mrs. Brunk's son, Arthur Hauser of Joplin, Mo., and Mr. Brunk's son, Thomas Brunk, returned to Twin Falls before the time elapsed, but they were glad to get back home.

The gift piano offered by the Idaho Department of Agriculture was awarded to J. S. Welch of Oakley, who was unable to present her coupon on account of being quarantined for smallpox. She managed to communicate with the state before the time elapsed, however, and will receive the valuable prize.

Fred Ramsey and L. L. Whitehead captured a five-pound salmon trout above Auger falls on Sunday. They were duck hunting but having fishing tackle with them they decided to try a few casts at the mouth of the slough. The big trout eagerly grabbed the bait and gave them a great fight. The fish weighed exactly five pounds dressed.

Fred Volgt has purchased two choice residence lots and is planning to build a swell home. His purchase has aroused intense interest in social circles. It is assumed that he will rent the house for a while before he builds. Mr. Volgt declines to talk for publication on the subject. Verbi. sap.

Arthur C. Pratt, who for a long time was in the employ of the Twin Falls Land & Water Co., and who has a farm near George Bassett's, died in St. Mary's hospital, Salt Lake City, on January 16. His brother, Silas Pratt, came out from the east and took the body back with him. Mr. Pratt had been ill for some time. He was a quiet, industrious man and very popular with his associates.

T. R. Allen and Miss Lulu Barstow of Buhl were married in Buhl on Sunday next. Following the ceremony there will be a reception at the new home of the bride and groom. Mr. Allen is one of the leading business men of Buhl and his bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. L. Barstow. The best wishes of the entire community will follow the happy couple, both of whom are exceedingly and deservedly popular.

W. H. Thomas and Walter Klinger of Payette have secured a site for a flour mill near the old tank site of the railway track. The mill, which will be erected immediately, will have a capacity of 50 barrels per day and will be operated by water power at the outlet, the Land & Water Company having agreed to furnish the water supply until the canal system is turned over, by which time electric power will be available. Messrs. Thomas and Klinger are experienced millers and they propose to put in a first class plant. They have made a thorough investigation of conditions and are well satisfied with the prospects.

The feature of the council meeting on Monday evening was the introduction of a resolution providing for the passage of an ordinance making Twin Falls the second class city. The resolution was introduced by Mr. Sprague and supported by Mr. Harder, Messrs. Hamilton, Smith and Brundley. The question is now before the court of action. Ordinances will be drafted for the regulation of the city hydrant system and requiring all plumbers to procure licenses.

The people of Twin Falls have Leonard Jackson and her admirable associates to thank for the first high class entertainment which they had the opportunity to enjoy at home. Miss Jackson was heralded as the foremost violinist in the world and she fulfilled every expectation. Her playing is beyond criticism. Miss Pace showed an excellent soprano. Mr. Clark displayed a full, rich and thoroughly cultured baritone and Mr. Plummer's piano playing was in keeping with the work of his talented companions. The acoustic properties of the hall were better than fair and the concert was enjoyed by an audience which taxed the seating capacity to the utmost.

Range cattle are crowding down on the Twin Falls tract south and west of town. The animals are doing a lot of damage. The animals are hungry and vicious. They pay no attention to fences and are giving the farmers all kinds of trouble. A band of starving steers attacked the young son of John Rigney and had it not been that they slipped under the fence and were lost his life. As it was they dived him twice and he had a close call. A horse belonging to Walter McIlvaine was severely injured when he was run over by a team of stock south of town a few days ago but they missed quite a number which have been working hard for the past two weeks.

There will be a box supper at the Methodist church on Friday evening, February 1, under the auspices of the Epworth League. A short program is being prepared and a good time is promised. Ladies invited to bring a box.

M. N. Fisher and Joe Sudweeks spent two days last week in town. B. Williams and wife are building an ice house on his ranch under the high line. It is his intention to put up about 100 tons of ice.

The meeting of the Literary society Saturday evening was interesting beyond all expectations. The topic chosen for that meeting was the "Grecian Myths." The story of the Trojan war was vividly told by George Oakes. Alfred McMillan described the writings of Virgil. An extremely interesting debate will take place at the next meeting, the question selected being "Resolved, that the President be justified in discharging the negro troops." This is a question being widely discussed at the present time and should interest everyone. All are cordially invited to attend these meetings held every Saturday evening at the schoolhouse. On next Wednesday, January 30, the joint debate between the literary societies of this city and the literary society will be held. Considerable energy is being spent by both sides in the preparation of their arguments and an interesting time is assured.

The Pulpiter brothers have been hauling their grain to the warehouse this week.

William D. Harris, who was so unfortunate as to have his arm broken by a horse last week is doing as well as possible.

Marshall Barnhouse has taken advantage of the frozen ground and is busy grubbing brush with a Moore machine.

Work on the new hall building is progressing nicely. The cold weather has been somewhat of a drawback, but the foundation will be completed in the course of a few days.

At the meeting of the Farmers' association Wednesday evening several matters of importance were discussed. Committees were appointed under all of the laterals in this vicinity to report on their condition at the next meeting. Mr. Thomas, the gentleman from Payette who was here some time ago buying wheat, addressed the meeting with reference to installing a flour mill at this place. Nothing definite, however, was done along this line. Another question, one which should be of interest to all living on this side of the river, that of putting a bridge across the Snake just above the Twin Falls, was also discussed.

The practicability of this plan can not be questioned by anyone who has visited the site. The bridge, when completed, will have to have to haul them around by way of Milner or up the grade at Shoshone falls would materially increase their cost on the side of the river. The proposed site is the nearest point on the river to Wilson Lake, where a large amount of money is to be expended in making a reservoir. A bridge at this point would save many miles of hauling for all material used there. It would draw all that trade to towns on this side of the river instead of compelling it to go to the main line stations.

HEYBURN TAKES PROPER STAND

DEPLORES FUSS OVER BROWNSVILLE AFFAIR:
Asserts that President Had Authority to Veto His Own Judgment in the Matter and It is Useless for Senate to Waste Time on It.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21.—Senator Heyburn made a speech in the senate a few days ago in which he denoted with much force the sense of the senate in discharging the official act of the president in discharging the members of the three companies of the Twenty-fifth Infantry. The Foraker-Tillman crowd have maintained throughout that it is the right and duty of the senate to make a thorough investigation, with a view of determining whether or not the president was justified in making the wholesale discharge. Senator Heyburn claimed that the senate has no constitutional right to inquire into the completed act of the president in discharging the colored soldiers, especially with a view of sitting in judgment as to whether or not the executive was justified in the particular act. Here is what he says:

"The discharge of the members of those companies is a completed act. It is an accomplished fact, and neither the senate nor congress has any power whatever to review it. 'Now, why sit here and do a vain and useless thing—to attempt to review the act of the president of the United States, which is a completed act? As was said by the senator from Wisconsin (Mr. Spooner) yesterday, congress has already created a tribunal that may protect individuals in any rights which have been infringed upon by this order. They have the right under existing law to bring a suit in the court of claims to recover the pay that may be coming to them and to recover any other property rights of which they may have been deprived by an order issued in violation of their legal rights.'"

"The senator went still further and contended that it would be useless to make an inquiry into the Brownsville trouble with a view of criticising the president, as the senate could do nothing if it found that the president had been in the wrong. He took the position on the other hand, however, that the senate ought to make an investigation of the trouble at Brownsville for the senate's information, and so that it would be the better able to enact legislation to meet just such a contingency in the future. Here are his words on this point:

"Why should we do it? For the purpose of criticising the president? That would be an undignified function for this body to attempt to exercise. For the purpose of showing that the president was not justified in his act? That is a matter of course. There is no reason why we should engage in that pastime. It is entirely competent, however, for congress or either body of it to investigate any conditions or facts that will enable it in the exercise of legislative powers to exercise it wisely, for the purpose of future consideration of any conditions or facts for the purpose of guiding us in framing such legislation as will avoid such events as have occurred and which we are now considering. That is the only legitimate purpose. It is the only legitimate act that we can perform, and the country should know, it should be definitely announced through the action of this body, that we have not sat here through these days for the purpose of criticising the president of the United States to no purpose."

"It should be known to the country that the senate is sitting here not for the purpose of finding some grounds in the action of the president of the United States to criticise, but that we have been engaged in this inquiry for the purpose of guiding our own body in the present and future consideration of questions of this kind. When we are away from those lines we are without the scope of our authority. When we are away from that purpose then we are exercising no legitimate function whatever. So, if this resolution is adopted at all, then all references to the acts of the president in discharging the soldiers should be stricken from it, and it should stand simply as a resolution to inquire as to the fact for the purpose of our own information, and not as a basis for further action looking to further criticism of the president of the United States."

"Mr. President, it seems to me that it would be most unfortunate that it should get out to the country that we have sat here for two weeks discussing questions with which we have no concern, for purposes that we have no power to serve. Unless the public mind is advised of the real purpose of this inquiry in this way, a wrong impression will go out to the effect that the senate of the United States, in making the scope of its powers, has undertaken to inquire into the action of the president, which is completely under the assumed power that we may do something to undo that which the president has done. It is a matter which does not concern this body in its official capacity. Whether he is right or wrong in his conclusion as to where the blame is to be placed or as to the manner of dealing with these people does not concern this body in its public and official capacity; how over much interest individual senators may feel in the question." Finally he said:

"My only purpose, Mr. President, in making the speech to which this resolution is that I might raise my voice against any impression which might go abroad that the senate was undertaking to sit in judgment upon the president, or that it was exercising any error or any violation of its power by the president, but that if we discuss it at all it be for the purpose of directing the future legislation. That is a legitimate purpose, and we may discuss this or any other resolution of the kind. We may inquire into the facts surrounding the circumstances or into any other facts that we deem will assist us in performing our duty in legislating for the past, but for the future. The past is a closed book. The future is open. The future is open for us to act to the fullest extent of our constitutional power."

There is no doubt that Senator Heyburn has taken the wise course. There is no doubt that he is thoroughly in accord with the president on this point. Senator Heyburn does not believe that there should be an investigation with the idea of determining whether or not the president had the power to discharge the colored soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, or to determine the justification of the act; but he believes that the Brownsville affair is of enough consequence that it should be looked into by the senate with a view to correcting the cause that resulted in the Brownsville trouble.

Hon. Frank Smith, judge of the Caldwell, Idaho, district court, and before whom the Moyer-Haywood-Pettibone case was to be heard, has been in Washington for a few days. No importance is to be attached to the visit of Mr. Smith, as he merely came here to take a look at the city of Washington. While here Judge Smith called at the White house to pay his respects to the president, by whom he was very cordially received. The president has kept pretty good much of the time, and the only regret that Judge Smith should be defeated for re-election. It seems that Judge Smith was the only man nominated by the state Republican state convention to meet defeat. It is claimed that his defeat was brought about by the incessant fight made against him by the Moyer-Haywood-Pettibone adherents.

In the original bill, championed by LaFollette, regulating the hours of work of employees of railroads, there were a great many undesirable features, and as a result many important changes were made in the bill before it was passed by the senate. One of the provisions of the bill had the effect of placing the railroad responsible for a violation of the terms of the bill. Senator Heyburn had received many protests from railroad men in Idaho against this provision, and the objection for the most part was based upon the above obnoxious provision. Senator Heyburn brought this provision to the attention of the senate and had it stricken from the bill. Consequently, employees of railroads cannot be punished or held liable for infraction of the proposed law. This bill is finally amended and was passed by the senate with only one negative vote, that being by Senator Pettus of Alabama.

The agitation that has been made for months for an increase in salary for all government employees, including senators and representatives, has come to naught. While the house has passed the bill, the senate, in its consideration, it did not have the courage to raise salaries but expected that the senate would do so, and that the house would then gladly accept the senate's amendment to the bill. The senate, however, refused to pull the house's chestnuts out of the fire. When the bill was acted upon last week in the senate all eyes were turned to the salary for anybody went out, so if anything is done in the way of increasing salaries this year it will have to be by a separate bill. The senate, however, seemed to regret very much that salaries were not to be increased, and the senate would not profit by such an increase as he is to leave the senate. He said he was one of the senators who lived on his salary and knew the difficulty of doing so. A number of senators delivered lectures, he said, in order to make the necessary addition to their senatorial salaries. "No senator can live on his salary," he declared. "It has come to pass when a poor man seriously reflects whether he can afford to come to congress, people do not expect senators to live a back room and live like a recluse."

TO RELIEVE FUEL SHORTAGE
Forest Reserve Timber Placed at the Disposal of Public.

The officers of the forest service have taken what is believed will be an important step towards relieving the fuel shortage in the west by issuing telegraphic orders to forest supervisors to place at the disposal of the public the fuel shortage to please spot notices in local postoffices and make every effort to encourage the use of reserve timber. Officers of the forest service that the present regulations favor the use of firewood taken from the reserves at a small cost and without delay, the requirements of the public being promptly met on the spot without the delay of red tape. The telegram to the supervisors is due directly to the desire of the forest service to relieve the suffering caused by the coal shortage and severe weather in the western country.
