BUHL BANKING & TRUST COMPANY

WILL OPEN FOR BUSINESS IN THIRTY-DAYS.

Strong Aggregation of Capitalists Organize a Third Bank for the Thriving City on the West End—Home Capital Interested.

Buhl is to have a third bank, and a good one at that. It will be known as the Buhl Banking & Trust Company and will be open for business about May 15. The company was incorporated in Boise on Monday with a capital stock of $25,000 fully paid up. The officers are: R. W. Faris, president; H. E. Neal, vice-president; J. W. Faris, cashier. These officials, together with W. D. Southworth, George Ellis, H. E. Neal, C. S. Peck and W. D. Southworth, constitute the board of directors for the first year.

R. W. Faris scarcely needs an introduction on the Twin Falls tract. He is one of the men who built the Milner dam and constructed a large part of the canal system. For some time he has been general manager and chief engineer of the Twin Falls Land & Water company. His faith in the project is unbounded and the fact that he and President F. H. Buhl of the Land & Water Co. are prominently identified with the new financial institution shows what they think of the tract and the promising city on the west end. George H. Ellis is president and H. E. Neal is cashier of the Capital State bank of Boise, and both have been prominent in Idaho financial circles for many years. C. S. Peck is a well known merchant of Buhl whose interest in the bank will popularize the institution, as will also that of W. D. Southworth, one of the leading farmers on the tract.

Professor J. W. Faris, who is at the cashier of the company, is president of the Academy of Idaho and is recognized as one of the leading educators in the west. It is to be assumed that he will sever his connection with the academy, which will be a great loss to that admirable school and also to the state. His acquisition, however, will be a marked benefit to the Twin Falls tract, especially that of W. D. Southworth, which is fortunate in securing so sterling a citizen.

The new bank will do a general banking and farm loan business all over the Twin Falls tract and its capital will be increased from time to time as requirements demand.

GRAIN MOVEMENT FROM KIMBERLY

EIGHTEEN CARS SHIPPED FROM THE WAREHOUSE.

Contracts About to Be Let for Construction of Power Plant Which is to Operate Flour Mill—Farmers Have Their Hands Full.

KIMBERLY, April 18.—Mrs. Geo. Herriott of Albion visited with friends here this week.

Mrs. M. A. Smith of Denver, Colo., arrived on Thursday to make an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Rorach of Rock Creek, whom she had just returned from Boise, where she had been on business.

George Peterson returned on Friday from Boise, where he had gone on business.

A carload of timber was shipped from here Monday morning to Milner.

Sunday afternoon the baseball boys turned out to practice in earnest. After several hours work on the field a meeting was held for the purpose of electing officers for the coming season. Arthur McCrory was elected manager and Roy Buhl was chosen as captain. Both these men played with the team last year and know how things should be done.

B. Wilkins made a trip up the line last week to look after his growing grain.

Eighteen cars of grain have already been shipped from the farmers' warehouse here.

The family of Wm. D. Harris is at present suffering from an attack of the measles.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Trullitt returned on Sunday from a visit to Caldwell.

C. H. Taylor, who acted as agent here during Mr. Trullitt's absence, left on Sunday for his ranch near Buhl, where he expects to farm for the rest of the summer.

A car of excellent coal arrived here on Wednesday. The coal is cold weather continues this will prove a great benefit as many have already been compelled to haul coal from Twin Falls.

Thursday the sewing meeting of the Ladies' Pioneer club was held at the home of Mrs. William Van Houten, who furnished work for the afternoon. Mrs. J. H. Eaton was the guest of the day. At the meeting final arrangements were made for the "Fencing Bee" which will be held to complete the work on the park.

At the home of Mrs. G. W. Osborn the members served a beautiful luncheon to those who so generously gave their time to this work.

W. H. Thomas of Payette, accompanied by two of his partners—Messrs. Osborn and Elinger—arrived here on Wednesday afternoon after having stopped off between trains at Milner. Mr. Thomas is here to look after the work on the mill.

The lumber, which is being shipped direct from the mills, is expected to arrive very soon. Excavation for the foundation will begin at once and rock is now being hauled.

E. C. Crocker, who represents the firm having the contract for the power machinery, is also here. He states that all machinery has been ordered from the factory and will be shipped very shortly. Before leaving he expects to let contracts for building the flume reach and also for excavating for machinery and power house foundations.

Harry Seavorns, who has been working in one of the canal company's camps lately, has gone to Milner to accept a position with the

Parle-Kest company.

Banket ball poles have been erected on the school grounds and it is expected to begin energetic practice at once.

Many are anticipating going to Milner to attend the opening on next Monday.

M. N. Fisher expects his father to arrive from Salt Lake to visit him very shortly.

Dr. E. Tyler who has been here some time delivering stock from his nursery, left on Monday for Hoyburn to look after his interests there. He has disposed of several thousand trees about here, besides making daily shipments to towns on the Minidoka project.

A large crowd attended the dance given at the Nielson home Friday evening. All report having had a very enjoyable time.

Next Sunday the Kimberly baseball team goes to Twin Falls to cross bats with the Firemen's team for the first time since the season.

Wm. J. Johnson is coming to his home because of an injury he received which has been troubling some time but which was made much worse lately by a fall from his horse.

Farmers about here are so busy that they hardly take time to eat. Bad weather has held them back so that now they feel they must utilize every minute. Most fields are now sown and some grain has already been planted. Almost invariably the grain is being treated either with formaldehyde or bluestone to prevent smut.

W. R. Ashdown was so smitten that he did not come out last Friday when he reported that a 13-pound boy had been born at his home.

At the meeting of Harmony grange Monday night it was decided to meet hereafter at Eldridge hall. Meetings are to be held on the first and third Monday nights in each month. There is quite an interest taken in the debate. The question for next meeting is: "Resolved, that sugar beets is a more profitable crop for the Twin Falls tract than grain."

HEN THAT LAYS PLURAL EGGS

Remarkable Fowl Owned by Mrs. Morrill of Twin Falls.

There is an old saw to the effect that it is unwise to count your chickens before they are hatched. In the case of a hen owned by Mrs. C. O. Morrill of Twin Falls this would be a very difficult task. This hen lays plural eggs. Her best record is eight yolks in four days. Up to date she has deposited 37 plural eggs and on six different days when she did not lay a double egg she contributed two single eggs to the family larder. The little egg factory is of the common barnyard variety, and rather under sized. Three months ago she laid her first double egg and since then she has repeated the operation 16 times. She has been carefully watched and as Mrs. Morrill only keeps hens in the house she is not difficult for her to keep track of. The wizard of the nest.

A few days ago the little hen laid an egg 3.8 inches long and 1.8 inches in diameter which contained three perfect yolks and a sort of bubble. On the following day she deposited one of her ordinary double barreled eggs, which she followed with a single on the third day. On the fourth consecutive day she laid another double barreled egg. In four days, a record which has never been equaled so far as poultry statistics show.

Six times she has the thrifty little record breaker laid two eggs in one day. She seems to be perfectly healthy and her behavior is the same as that of any ordinary fowl but she just will lay and there is no stopping her. None of her eggs have been hatched but they will shortly be experimented with. It is believed by many that the eggs would bring forth freak chickens. Some of the plural eggs will be on exhibition in the News office window next week.

LOTS OF RAIN AT CLEAR LAKE

May Not Be Necessary to Irrigate Grain Fields.

CLEAR LAKE, April 16.—There was quite a heavy rainfall yesterday. Very little more moisture will enable the farmers to mature their grain crops without irrigation.

Mrs. Charles Ingersoll has been quite sick. During the past two weeks it was necessary to send for a physician twice.

Oils E. Syster took out several head of horses to his summer camp yesterday.

Ora Smalley cultivated close acquaintance with a barbed wire fence last Saturday evening with disastrous effect upon his manly countenance. He mounted a colt and the spirited animal bolted and collided with the fence. The colt escaped without a scratch but Ora was not so fortunate. His friends are able to recognize him without an introduction but his face looks as though he had engaged in a deadly combat with a patch of nettles.

Henry Smalley and his son Charles are opening a trail up the canyon wall on which to drive their cattle to and from water during the summer.

Oils E. Syster had the misfortune to lose a valuable milk cow on Sunday by blood.

The river is now up to the high water mark of last year and is slowly rising.

George L. Doughty recently received a shipment of fruit trees and has purchased material to enclose his orchard.

The Japanese gang has been camped on the Hansen siding for several days this week while repairing the railroad at this place.

John R. Newton, with a crew of 11 men, is now engaged in planting 3,000 shade trees on the Hansen townsite.

On last Friday night another very enjoyable dance was held at the hall. Splendid music was furnished by an orchestra consisting of violin, guitar and banjo. Refreshments were served at midnight.

WHAT MAKES LAND VALUABLE

Profitable Crops Which Can Only Be Grown by Irrigation.

The agricultural papers of the central states are devoting considerable time and space in figuring out how the farmer can make six thousand dollars per acre on an 80-acre farm. Up to the present time they have not succeeded in solving the problem, nor does it seem probable that they will. The question would be easy of solution in the fertile west, where it is a common occurrence for a farmer to realize from $125 to $250 per acre on sugar beets, potatoes or cranberries, where our horticulturists make from $700 to $3000 per acre in a single season on their peaches. There are numerous other crops out of which our farmers are realizing proportionate profits, and are swelling their bank accounts annually. Our advice to the eastern farmer is to come west and solve this question to his own satisfaction.—Ranch and Range, Denver.

A good deal of attention is being given to that section of the county at the present time by land seekers who believe they can make grain there without irrigation. The deep creek flat is another favored spot where large tracts have been taken under the desert act.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fisher have arrived from Ephraim, Utah, and are preparing to take their residence here. Mr. Fisher's farm near Buhl for the purpose of proving up. Mr. Fisher is cashier of the Bank of Ephraim. Having been in the office and in the conditions in irrigated sections, he was quick to perceive the possibilities of the Twin Falls tract and he was very much pleased to find that the development had exceeded his expectations. Mr. Fisher has a quarter section and he proposes to make every foot of it productive.

Pauline Davis celebrated her 12th birthday on Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock and was the fortunate recipient of many presents. Popular games were played by the guests and delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Davis, who was assisted by Mrs. J. E. Boda. Vesta Thomas was awarded the prize in the guessing contest, which proved very interesting. In the party were Margaret Conway, Margaret Goutley, Norma Musgrave, Gladys Musgrave, Mary Milner, Edith Ramsey, Burt Wald, Lida McMaster, Minerva Barry, Stella Fern, Fern and Florence Costello, Lesley Williams, Vesta Thomas, Stella Perrine and Estella Davis.

Probably the first man in Idaho to be arrested for violation of the Sunday rest law will be Dr. G. F. Baker, the well known Twin Falls dentist. Dr. Baker has announced his intention to visit Milner several Sunday hereafter. Every "bad man" who drifts into the village by the "ditch" will have his teeth extracted by Dr. Baker. Several holes in the dam, chew holes in the dam. The chances are that the drunk will have their incisors removed as a punishment for fitting their crime. The doctor is going to Milner on Sundays and the chances are that he will organize a ball team to fill in the spare moments.

Conductor Joe McManis, who had been running on the Halley branch, has changed places with John man and is now on the Twin Falls express. Mr. McManis is one of the most genial and popular conductors on the road.

Fontessa Hill of the Great Shoshone & Twin Falls Power Co. came over from Milner on Wednesday evening and returned on Thursday morning. Mr. Hill has been in northern Idaho for several weeks buying poles for the transmission lines. He succeeded in getting all the poles needed and likewise had the satisfaction of seeing them loaded on cars and started for the transmission line. He is a serious one and the necessary equipment was only secured through a personal appeal to E. H. Harriman.

That energetic spirit which moves everything connected with the power plant at Shoshone falls extended to J. H. Barry's team this morning and the horses started for the falls in great haste. Mr. Barry, after descending a graceful curve in front of the Hotel Perrine they bolted across Shoshone avenue, clearing the deep sewer trench with a mighty leap. Then they hesitated, as the tongue broke and a number of bystanders stopped the proceedings. Nobody hurt and no damage excepting to the wagon tongue.

Dr. John P. D. John, former president of Do Pauw university, will lecture in Twin Falls at the school auditorium on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of next week, April 25, 26 and 27, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church. The lecture will cost $1, a very reasonable sum when the quality of the lectures is considered. Dr. John is one of the noted speakers of the country. His reply to Robert G. Ingersoll is considered to be among the most noted defenses of Christianity and his other lectures are no less interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Tush entertained the Dinner club at the Perrine on Saturday night. Three tables were set and were graced with calls from a most delicious dinner was served by the genial host of the Perrine, Mr. Darling. After dinner five tables were set in the parlor and spirited games of 500 were commenced. Mr. Stephenson won the gentlemen's prize and Mrs. Perrine the lady's prize. The time passed quickly and merrily until 11 o'clock, when the guests departed after wishing Mr. and Mrs. Tush and Mr. and Mrs. Darling pleasant dreams.

A case of new books from the state traveling library has been received at the Public Office and is now at the disposal of the public. It contains many excellent volumes and is free to all. Borrowers have the privilege of keeping the books two weeks and obtaining an extension of one week, provided there is no other demand for the work. A list of the books may be seen at the Public Office, where applications should be made. Several books have been borrowed already and the library seems destined to become popular here as it has elsewhere.

S. C. Sexton unearthed a litter of nine plump and shrinking young coyotes three-quarters of a mile from Sunnydale farm last Saturday. Peter Johoreux saw the pups at play and informed Mr. Sexton, who dug them out of their lair, which was four feet under ground. The pups were black in color and just big enough to run around. The old coyotes followed Mr. Sexton back to Sunnydale but did not come close enough for a good shot. Ray Pond has one of the pups, Albert Buchanan another, while a third is enjoying a milk diet at the home of Mr. Sexton. The litter once are quite tame but very timid.

Miss Esther Manker has resigned the position of music teacher in the Twin Falls school, greatly to the regret of the trustees and the pupils. She has done splendid work and the pupils are devotedly attached to her. Unfortunately, her health is not so robust as it might be and she has decided to try Colorado for a while. She has a sister in that state whom she will visit. Miss Manker is exceedingly popular in Twin Falls and her departure will leave a gap in the social circle which will be hard to close. She is a talented young lady and is bound to succeed no matter where she may make her abode. The good wishes of all follow her.

FUNDS ARE GETTING TOO LOW

Reclamation Service Finds That It Has to Retrench.

The secretary of the interior has issued the following general instructions to the director of the reclamation service:

1. Concentrate on and give preference to the works upon which construction is nearly completed, and where the projects will soon be producing revenue.

2. Discontinue further expenditures for general investigations.

3. Arrange wherever practicable for the reduction or suspension of work on projects which are so located that favorable bids for construction have not been secured.

4. Recommend for restoration to entry all lands now reserved under the terms of the Reclamation Act, the reclamation of which cannot be undertaken in the near future, without holding, however, all reservoir sites or lands which may be required for rights of way for future works whose practicability has been determined.

In explanation of these instructions the secretary said: "The notably increased cost of materials and construction, the uncertainties encountered in transportation and the scarcity and high price of labor are deterring contractors from bidding for the government work."

Conditions have altered so materially since the first estimates of cost of construction were made that the allotments of the fund approved that I have deemed it advisable to direct that a re-evaluation of the work in some instances and a suspension in others be considered. It would be most unwise to continue work where circumstances are so disadvantageous or to incur expenses which in the future may be considered as unduly large.

"By concentrating on those works now nearing completion new revenues will be coming into the fund and when labor conditions and transportation facilities become normal the work on other projects can go forward more economically and with greater rapidity. The expenditures during the past quarter have averaged about $1,500,000 a month. At this rate the funds available for new construction will be exhausted before the end of the calendar year."

The Farmer's Friends (?)

(From the Conway Record.)

Shears and Sawbuck kept a store such as never was before. Folks who they wouldn't sell. Wouldn't let 'em have a smell, Fetched their money—but by jing! Couldn't let 'em have a thing! Couldn't meet 'em face to face. And then sell 'em with good grace.

Country trade was what they sought—Folks who'd pay for what they bought. 'Fore they saw it hide or tail; They sent catalogues by mail. Out to every blessed one Getting mail at Postum Run. We set up at night and read When word o' order be in bed.

Book was 'bout as big as sin—Had a lot of merchandise, An' a lot of merchandise, Every kind and every size—Givin' prices that they swore Knocked out every country store. Look so strait and seemed so free I bit at it—Jim did too.

Jim's my neighbor 'cross the way—Best man got some haying tools. Jest let him top off a stack—Sheds rain like a turtle's back. Pleasure just to see him work—Never knew old Jim to shirk; Swing a scythe like it was play—Love to watch him in the fray.

Well, we, like a pair of fools, Sent off—got some haying tools. Jim got harness and a plow, I, a range—I see it now; Drot the thing, it was so light Looked it over, a' josh, at night. Threw the darn thing in the yard—Use it now for renderin' lard.

'Fore Jim used the plow an' hour Found the blin' 't thing wouldn't scour. Tried his harness—broke a tug—Sought for solace in his jug—In the cooler all that night. Jim reflected on his plight: In the morning Richard Stout, Hardware merchant, balled him out.

Jim said after that he'd attek Close as bark to good ol' Dick. Since he left the Possum fall Says he won't buy goods by mail; Says Dick's cheaper anyhow—Might have saved some on the plow. On the other goods, some more, At his ol' friend's hardware store.

Jim says we can't sell no truck To such folks as Shears' Sawbuck. They'll take all our cash away, But won't buy our corn or hay. That seemed purty strange to me, So I told ol' Jim 't see—So I wrote to them that night; Just to see if Jim was right.

Ast 'em, "What they'd pay for oats? Could you use some likely shoats? Had about four tons of hay. I could ship 'em right away; Jim 't furnish Mr. Shears' ears. With his family roasin' ears? Also would my friend Sawbuck Buy some of my garden truck."

Answer came one summer day; Said they, "Couldn't use our hay; Couldn't use our oats or shoats; Didn't like our billy goats; When they'd need 'em 't eat Bought it down on Water street—Sorry, but they must refuse, Anything but cash to use."

I set down and wrote 'em then: "Hato to trouble you again, But I want to thank you, sirs, For your kind, cozy letters, If you love your fellow man, Do him good, sir, when you can—While our merchants sweetly sleep Shears and Sawbuck, shear your sheep."

Twin Falls Carey Act Land Sale

Another Chance to Make Money

Milner Townsite

The terms of sale of the town lots at Milner are as follows: One-fourth cash, the balance in three annual payments at 6 per cent interest.

MILNER is located in the east end of Twin Falls county, on the line of the Twin Falls branch of the Oregon Short Line railroad, 32 miles from Minidoka, where you change cars from the main line.

MILNER has been christened the JUNCTION CITY, and is one of the most picturesquely beautiful townsites in Southern Idaho, being located as it is, right at the great Twin Falls dam, and overlooking the lake the dam has created, and from which point the famous South Side Canal has its source, which has already successfully reclaimed 240,000 acres. It is from here also that the North Side Canal is being constructed that will reclaim 180,000 acres of exceptionally fine lands on the north side of the river. The North Side Canal and Lands have the advantage over the south side in that there are three mammoth natural reservoirs that will retain sufficient water to irrigate the entire tract at all times, and under all conditions.

MILNER has been christened the JUNCTION CITY for the reason that it is the starting point of the proposed electric railway and the gateway to the great North Side Tract and also from the fact that the two great irrigation canals have their source at this point.

MILNER—As a pleasure resort it will have no equal in Southern Idaho, for the reason that Snake river is navigable for a distance of 42 miles above the dam, with no rapids or dangerous places. Fine fishing, shooting and boating is bound to be a feature, with gun clubs, sportsmen and pleasure seekers.

Second payment of Two Dollars per acre two years from date of filing.

There will be an advanced price on all lands located one mile each side of the proposed electric railroad, but this advanced price does not become operative until the electric road reaches the lands.

The lands will be opened by drawing under the supervision of the State Land Board of Idaho at MILNER, in the office of the Twin Falls North Side Investment Company, Ltd.

MILNER—With its location and conditions, financed and backed by a strong corporation, is bound to become an important distributing point, as well as a desirable place to abide and to do business. People looking for business locations will further their interests by visiting Milner on the opening day, and making investigations of the wonderful possibilities for its future. With over three million dollars to be expended, with a thousand men employed in canal construction and settlers buying their supplies as they take up their homes on their claims, Milner is sure to become one of the important commercial points of Idaho. The Oregon Short Line is building a large warehouse and will begin the construction of a splendid depot at once.

MILNER IMPROVEMENTS—The Company has already constructed a Company house in which are located the main offices at Milner, at a cost of over $10,000; a General Land Office at a cost of $3,500; the foundation for the new FIFTY-ROOM HOTEL, is completed, and it is the intention of the Company to have it ready for the entertainment of guests in 90 days. The plans have been drawn for a TWO-STORY BANK BUILDING, the upper part of which will be used for public hall and lodge rooms. The town will be provided with a splendid WATER SYSTEM now being constructed, an ELECTRIC LIGHT SYSTEM is now being installed and several thousand SHADE TREES BEING PLANTED.

CONSIDERABLE STIR AT BUHL

New Settlers Are Flocking in by the Score.

BUHL, Idaho, April 10th.—R. W. Alred was suddenly called home to Boise on Wednesday evening on account of the illness of his daughter. He left for Boise hoping to catch the night train at that point.

C. S. Peck of the Buhl Trading Co. was a business visitor to Twin Falls, Thursday.

Chas. T. Skiff of Kallispell, Mont., took a ride with Ed. Braun around this end of the tract in search of a piece of land to his liking.

Andy Wilson made a flying business trip to Twin Falls Friday, returning the same day.

Seymour Fairchild reports that his children are suffering from the measles.

F. W. Havlicek's building is almost completed and will soon be stocked with furniture and undertaking requirements.

Miss May Burlingame, recently of Boise, and Mr. E. Carter of Twin Falls, who were united in marriage in Twin Falls on Thursday, returned to Buhl immediately after the ceremony was performed and rented W. S. Harris' dwelling house for a residence.

They moved in Monday and are now comfortably enjoying their honeymoon.—Mr. Carter is a carpenter by profession and will soon be engaged in building farm houses and other structures on all parts of it. The young couple will make Buhl their future home and we are all to be glad to see them here, and the good wishes of all go with them on their voyage through life.

The ties between the candidates for school trustees was decidedly severed by F. W. Berry withdrawing in favor of H. S. Hobson for the long term, and by A. J. Milner and Ed. Larson tossing a dollar for the short term, A. J. Milner winning.

The school board consists of H. S. Hobson, long term, B. Boyd, two year term, and A. J. Milner, short term.

E. Paul and his party were putting up a fence on the building lot of A. J. Milner the latter part of last week and being desirous of doing a good job got their heads and hands close together. Mr. Paul hit a nail in position and told the professor to hit it a good hard blow. The professor obeyed orders and made a good sized dent in the nail, but the nail was somewhat hazy and he could not see very well, with the result that he missed the nail and landed on Mr. Paul's thumb. He hit the nail the right and the owner is now carrying it around in a sock.

Mrs. George L. Eveleth is visiting in Twin Falls.

Eveleth & Braun are as busy as bees on the McCullough ranch, grubbing, plowing, sowing and planting trees. The whole 160 will be in cultivation in a few weeks.

W. B. Rine and wife of Humboldt, Iowa, are registered at Hotel Buhl. They were in here last fall when Mr. Rine fawed on 40 acres five miles south of town, but when they came back and saw "Beautiful Buhl" in the glad spring time, they wanted to get closer to it and Mr. Rine bought 40 acres from Frank Wise at the corner of town. Mr. Rine will move up on the forty he filed on, and will then return to Iowa to settle up his business affairs there, after doing which he will come to Buhl to stay. That is the effect that Buhl has on all who see it. The moment they clap eyes on it, they want it, or all that can get of it.

O. R. White and wife, who arrived in town last week and went out at once to the Ottawa colony. Miss Margaret Clegg, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Husted and others who have just arrived from the Illinois town and have had their names added to the roster of the colony.

B. F. Ward of Twin Falls is in Buhl on business.

O. M. Everson of Seattle, Wash., is registered at Hotel Buhl.

The new management became duly installed in the hotel last Wednesday and are keeping it up to its former excellent standard, and Mr. and Mrs. George L. Eveleth, the former managers of the new famous hostelry, moved into the dwelling house on the old McCullough ranch. They made many friends during their management of the hotel, who will miss them and particularly the children, to whom all the old reliable boarders became much attached. Your correspondent heard that Mrs. Eveleth was going to have a garden with watermelon in it. I believe this is true and we will be there on the dark of the moon when the melons are ripe. No doubt they will be as good as Clear Lake watermelons any old day, and they will be much near home.

Mrs. A. B. Nelson of Manson, Ia., and her two children, arrived in town Thursday to join her husband, Dr. A. B. Nelson, who has been in town for a set on an 80 at mile and a half southwest of town.

W. A. Johnson of Hagerman was a Buhl visitor Thursday.

J. M. Halo of Boise was a guest of Hotel Buhl for several days last week.

C. M. Syverson came up from Twin Falls last week and went out to see how the boys were getting along in his ranch. He and his brother bought Arthur Hall's quarter section twelve miles south of town and are running the work of getting it into crop.

W. H. McCullough of New York spent several days of last week in and around Buhl looking over the country with a view to locating.

W. J. Joyce of Oakley, Idaho, was a Buhl business visitor, the latter part of last week.

P. J. Grossman came up from Twin Falls last week on business.

J. E. Flinn of St. Louis was a guest of Hotel Buhl for a few days last week.

A. Kuhn, a traveling salesman of Ogden, was doing business with our merchants the latter part of last week.

J. B. Watkins of Twin Falls came up on Thursday to see how the "city of the future" was progressing.

Tony Kayano of Shoshone spent several days of last week in town trying to induce some of our lot owners having inside lots to erect a building for the city of the future. His proposition was not successful, as the owners of such lots will soon commence the construction of big business blocks on the city.

E. B. Moxon, wife and daughter, of Walla, Walla, Wash., are guests of Hotel Buhl.

W. A. Miller, recently of Grand Junction, Colo., is building a residence on his 160 three miles south of town. He will move up this summer and will then start on a tour of Nevada.

J. G. Connell of Hoquiam, Wash., came in last week to take a look over the country.

A. C. Cron of Twin Falls came up from town Friday to look after his property here.

Emil Tonsoth of Walla Walla is a new arrival who has come among us and is here at the west end of the Twin Falls tract.

Karl Patrick of Three Creek came over from that section on Friday to see how fast the sagebrush in his part of the tract is growing. He said, "It's sure going some."

Edward H. Brackett of Roseworth spent several days in town last week. He says that the people in his part of the country are anxious to get into communication with this section by wagon road and a bridge across the Salmon river.

Joseph N. Hanson of Ephraim, Utah, has been in place several days to make arrangements for improving his town property in Buhl.

R. J. Palmer of Cincinnati, Ohio, was a guest of Hotel Buhl for two or three days last week.

G. E. Closs of Boise came in on the mail stage Friday and spent some time in and around Buhl.

D. C. Cole has completed his residence on his ranch and when he comes to town now he registers as of Buhl.

Carl Provins came in from his ranch Monday and says that the sagebrush in his neighborhood is rapidly going to where it will never come back from.

C. A. Kelly of Utah is a guest of Hotel Buhl.

W. A. Coalin and O. B. Read of Ogden, Utah, are stopping at the hotel for a few days.

William Burgoy of Twin Falls was in town for an hour Monday.

T. R. Allen and wife visited Sunday with Mrs. M. D. L. Barstow, Mrs. Allen's mother.

Thomas Costello of Chicago arrived in town Tuesday and stopped at Hotel Buhl.

O. H. Bank of Los Angeles is here looking over the country.

Engineer John McDonald came in from his camp 12 miles south of town on the high line. He is engaged in building laterals and says that all those under the high line will have plenty of water this summer. He is making good progress with the work.

Dr. G. H. Brown of Twin Falls came up Tuesday evening and is here for a few days.

Day, Dean & Co. now have a party cruising the North Side tract and will be able to give reliable information or locate you to the best advantage.

I. O. O. F. Anniversary. Twin Falls lodge No. 23 will celebrate the 88th anniversary of Odd Fellowship on April 26th by a social hour at 8 p. m. All sojourning Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are cordially invited to attend.

This dam has been pronounced by the leading engineers of the country to be one of the finest pieces of construction in the world. SINCE the days when Joseph came to the rescue of his brethren, who were poverty stricken because of crop failure and evidently knew nothing about taking advantage of nature's best provision for promoting plant growth by furnishing moisture in proper quantities and at proper times, irrigation has been practiced in many parts of the earth. The crude water sweeps on the banks of the Nile and the Tiber were the precursors of the magnificent Twin Falls canal system, the largest and best of its kind. The evolution has been remarkable, particularly in the last decade. Irrigation is now a science, the pursuit of which sharpens the wits of the farmer and makes him save his muscles and utilize his brains. He no longer scatters his seed upon the scratched surface of the earth and trusts in providence for sufficient rainfall to grow his crop. His irrigation laterals are a lever, the judicious use of which will provide moisture in such a way as to get the very best results from every crop. Irrigation is the best of all crop insurance and the premium is a bargain. It furnishes the means by which every inch of ground may be utilized with absolute certainty of return. By it plant food is supplied in proper proportions and every element of the soil is utilized.

In the arid west where millions of acres are being reclaimed by irrigation the farmer has no need of a barometer. He does not get a crick in his neck from watching the sky nor does he waste time in spreading straw around his fields and orchards to burn when frost threatens. His farm is compact and he can give every foot of it personal supervision. His neighbors are numerous and near and his social and commercial advantages are manifold. If he is wise enough to make a study of irrigation he can soon free his mind entirely of the thousand and one petty worries which beset those of his brethren who run the risks of drought, blizzards, tornadoes and frosts.

The eastern farmer, perhaps, cannot understand why irrigated land should bring so high a price. He is unable to comprehend why he has, in most cases, to pay more for sagebrush land in the west than he can get for his finely improved acreage in the east. He has yet to learn the secrets of irrigation and he has to be "shown," as it were, before he will invest.

The western farmer who has farmed by irrigation for years understands the value of irrigated land. He knows to a certainty what it will produce because he has tested it. Show him $50 land where the soil is deep and the water right gilt edged and he will jump at it in a minute. He can sell his improved land for from $100 to $2500 an acre and he knows that he can make the raw $50 land equally as valuable in a short time. When the winds blow and the dust flies and the water stops all over the farm, the experienced irrigator does not cry for home and mother and list his farm with the nearest real estate agent. He fixes up his laterals, levels his land, swallowing a good deal of soil in the operation. He knows his reward is sure and success will be the result of applied energy.

Irrigation is the most modern and most profitable method of farming and the irrigated farms will, in a very few years, represent the major portion of the agricultural and horticultural wealth of the United States and yield the greater proportion of farm and orchard products. The irrigated west is destined to feed the nation.

Transportation Facilities

The ruins of the old Desert station on Rock creek, three miles west of Twin Falls; the old overland stage coach which plied between Twin Falls and Shoshone, and the first railway train into Twin Falls.

In the matter of transportation the Twin Falls tract jumped at a single bound from the ox team of the pioneer and the lumbering stage coach to the modern express train. Through the entire tract passes the old Boise-Kelton overland road, long since abandoned. Three miles west of Twin Falls are the ruins of the old Desert station, a haven of refuge in the days gone by to the Oregon, Washington and Idaho trail-blazers, who were harassed by the Indians in their westward journey.

This deep rutted old highway is now paralleled by the Oregon Short Line, which crosses the center of the tract from east to west, from the Milner dam to the Salmon river. Incidentally it might be mentioned that with respect to rates the Twin Falls branch is on the same plane as equidistant main line points.

Until August 7, 1905, passengers and mail were brought into Twin Falls from Shoshone by stage. On the date mentioned train service was established on the Twin Falls branch of the Oregon Short Line, the event being commemorated by a grand celebration. All those who came to the tract prior to the advent of the railroad are now regarded as pioneers.

Many a pioneer has swallowed his peck of dust on the rough road between Shoshone and Blue Lakes, and has swallowed his heart while ascending and descending the Blue Lakes grades, which, though safe as a church, seemed so formidable to those unused to that kind of travel. Lumber, merchandise, everything was hauled over the grades for nearly one year before the completion of the railway to Twin Falls. It was no uncommon sight to see 100 to 150 teams on the road between Shoshone and Blue Lakes at one time, and frequently more than 100 teams were lined up waiting to cross the ferry at the lakes. How they managed to get over the road and the grades without mishap is a mystery, yet less than half a dozen horses were lost through accidents on the grades, and these accidents were due to gross carelessness.

The railway is now being extended to Buhl and it is confidently expected that the Twin Falls branch between Burley and Buhl will soon form a portion of the main line to the coast, which will be shortened by completing the gap between Burley and Malad, and extending the road from Buhl to some point on the main line west, thereby lessening the distance between Ogden and Portland about 100 miles and avoiding some of the worst grades.

SAGEBRUSH FIESTA TO HONOR THE DEATH OF IDAHO DESERTS

Lamiaeal Fete to Mark the Passing of the Sage, the Redemption of the Waste Places and the High Noon of a Day of Irrigation in the Gem State.

(By L. Bush Livermore of the Pocatello Tribune.)

Los Angeles is making preparations for the annual fiesta there. This year's celebration will eclipse all others, it is believed. The matter brings to mind the fact that Pocatello might do well to follow in the footsteps of the California city and arrange for a fiesta. There is not an abundance of flowers in this part of the country, but there is plenty of sagebrush. Why not, then, arrange for a sagebrush fiesta?

In the midst of beauty and fragrance, in the Land of Sage—a "wilderness of odor," as the poet might phrase it—where every soft breeze is heavy with the fragrance of a million sagebushes, and where the habitations of both the lowly and exalted are bowered amid the odorous bush, where summer zephyrs, whispering up from the Snake river, bring a breath of naked nature from the north, to mingle with a scent of cedar and pine brought down from the skyline hills on the wings of a gentle wind—what more appropriate than a feast of sage—la fiesta del salvia—a holiday given over to revelling in fragrance and sweetness, subdued by pity for a rapidly disappearing species?

Some time this year the government of the United States will begin the expenditure of $350,000 in the construction of an irrigation system on the Fort Hall lands, including the immense tract abutting on the north end of the town, where hundreds of Pocatello citizens have taken up homesteads and are awaiting the application of water to mark a transformation from aridity into fertility, from a vast waste into waving fields of grain. Within a couple of years at most the sagebrush will have disappeared from this tract, and in its place will appear the plebian cabbage, the succulent young onion, the saccharine sugar beet, the earthy but palatable potato, the useful alfalfa and the humble hay. Before this transformation is accomplished, before the rains of two more springs kiss the level acres into a new greenness and sweetness, and purity, Pocatello should honor the sage, should attire herself in wreaths of sage and festoon her homes and public buildings with sprigs and bouquets of sage, heaping homage upon the altar of a goddess who is about to be deposed, but who is worthy of all honor for past greatness.

Time was when the sage ruled supreme in Idaho. Over a million acres it reigned, clinging to the precipitous walls of the canyon of the Snake, fighting with the lava reefs of the great Lost river planes for a foothold, battling bravely with the hunch grass for the scanty moisture of the arid belt, drinking thirstily of the winter rains and autumn showers, creeping to the door-yards of urban homes, scenting half a state with an odor clinging and cloying. Coyotes and jack rabbits roamed amid it, affectionate woodchicks clung to it, pinto canyons threaded a mazy way through it, and Indians of other days avoided it in their migrations from winter camp to summer hunting grounds.

Then civilization came and viewed, calm-eyed and unafraid, this vast waste of sage. Slowly, as befits the task of transforming an empire, the sage began to be allowed out, not urgently, but always unregretfully. The magic wand of water was waved over the Boise valley, the Payette valley, the immense valley of the upper Snake. Oases began to appear, widening with the years. Farmhouses, bowered amid shade trees, began to mark the desert. Husbandmen, encouraged by success, attacked the encroaching ranks of sage, and pew fences threw out their tentacular arms to embrace more reclaimed land. Across the turbid Snake great dunes were thrown at Minidoka and Minidoka, and through winding mile on mile of canals, water was conducted to the battle front of this war of extermination against the sage, as artillery is hurried to the firing line. In two fleeting years, the Twin Falls tract, a domain larger than a European kingdom or an eastern state, was transformed into fields and farms. Within an equal period 180,000 acres on the north side of the Snake, under the Twin Falls north side canal system, will have been reclaimed; in another year the immense Minidoka tract will have been made to blossom as the rose; in six months the canals of the American Falls project will have effected the redemption of 80,000 acres; within eighteen months the Fort Hall tract will have emerged from the desert; before another summer comes the Boise-Payette project will be carrying water to a thirsty empire, to enact another wonder of the West. The Lost river project, the Bruneau project, the Marysville project, the Mountain-home project—a score of projects big and little—are trending toward other speedy redemptions, are girding up their loins for a final fight with the sombre desert of Idaho sage.

It is an unfair fight. On the one side is arrayed the overwhelming forces of modern civilization, hundreds of thousands of home-makers and home-seekers, the wealth of the East, the indomitable energy of the strong-limbed and strong-hearted men of The New Idaho. On the other hand is merely the quiet and helpless desert, blinking in the sunlight of summer, brooding in the storms of winter—silent, tremendous, lone, austere! Its army—mused ranks of sagebrush in serrated columns and files—awaits, leaderless, its annihilation.

Why not, then, a fiesta de salvia, to mark the passing of the age? Why not a fete to honor the death of the desert?

October—Threshing the First Crop.

April—First Attack on the Brush.

Mr. Provevsky's First House and Horse.

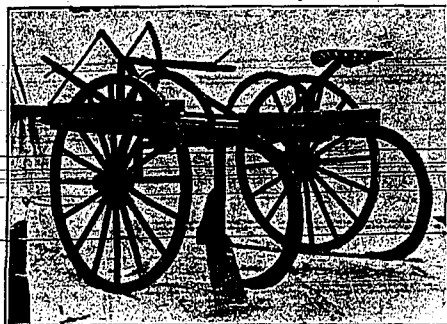

Mr. Provevsky's Ditch, with a Side View of the "Shack."

Twin Falls is the logical place to hold such a fete as that appropriately suggested by Mr. Livermore. While little gasps have been made in the sagebrush elsewhere which sufficed to demonstrate the possibilities of victory, the first effective attack on the desert was made in Twin Falls, where more than 50,000 acres were reclaimed in 18 months. When the projects now in hand in the Snake river valley are completed no spot on earth will equal this portion of Idaho.

How the Twin Falls Farmers Are Subjugating the Desert and Bringing into Production the Greatest Irrigated Area Under Any One Project on Earth.

When a prospective settler asks how much it will cost him to clear his land he is generally told $5 an acre. Some land has been cleared for less, but $5 an acre is a fair price. Any man who thinks it is too much should try grubbing an acre and see how it feels. While many farmers have used elbow grease and a grub hoe, most of them have employed grubbers, which cut a wide swath at a depth of four to six inches beneath the surface. The brush is then pulled out, heaped and burned, or kept for fuel. It ignites easily, gives forth a fierce heat for a short time and leaves very little ash. If a man has enough children to keep the fire going he can afford to burn sagebrush.

The illustrations show the various stages of farm development. At first the sagebrush looks easy to clear, but there is an awful lot of it to the acre. A young lady from Philadelphia, while riding on a Short Line train through Idaho, is said to have remarked: "I think Idaho is perfectly lovely. The whole country is covered with the cutest little trees, all of them of the same height. Won't it look grand when they all grow up." There is a vast difference between grubbing sagebrush and pulling stumps. A settler may rely upon being able to have his land cleared for not to exceed $5 an acre. The plowing is easy, but the leveling, to be done properly, requires time. "Level your land before you turn the water on," is the advice dinned into the ears of every settler. "If you don't level before you will have to level it after and that will be a greater undertaking." The dismal looking picture, which resembles a section of

MADE A SPECIALTY OF IRRIGATION LAW

When Marlin J. Sweeley, attorney at law, gonged the dust from his eyes at the conclusion of a hard drive against the wind from Shoshone to Twin Falls, he beheld what appealed to him as an empire in embryo. That was many months ago and Mr. Sweeley has the satisfaction of knowing that up to the present moment his perspicacity has been realized. The empire is assuming more definite and permanent form daily. Mr. Sweeley was shrewd enough to divine that in order to make a success of his profession in this section of the state he must familiarize himself with irrigation law and this he immediately proceeded to do. He began with the Nile and he wound up with the Twin Falls laterals. To acquire practical experience he bought a farm and while it is not of record that he actually grubbed sagebrush and dug laterals, he nevertheless found out the meaning of water distribution. When it was found that the government survey in the Twin Falls township was incorrect, Mr. Sweeley mapped out what he believed to be the right tack. He held that the settlers and the company had acted in good faith and that the remedy for the difficulty lay in the courts. A few days ago he had the satisfaction of receiving from the supreme court of the state a decision overwhelmingly in favor of his contention, greatly to the surprise of those who believed in the infallibility of government surveys, whether they be right or wrong. Since then he has received many merited congratulations which have in a measure recompensed him for the valuable time he spent in fitting himself to handle cases in which land and water rights are involved. Mr. Sweeley is the proud father of a broad shouldered, broad minded son, Everett M. Sweeley, who graduated from Ann Arbor and who had an opportunity to study modern irrigation methods at the Pullman state college in Washington. Like his father, Everett Sweeley has also enriched Jolin D. Rockefeller by burning gallons of oil while poring over decisions in irrigation and land cases. He, too, is a specialist, if the term is applicable, in this class of litigation. Sweeley & Sweeley delight in watching the marvelous development of the project and are among the foremost in every movement which tends to accelerate this development. Their office is on Main street in Twin Falls and if their library continues to grow as it has since their arrival they will soon have to seek larger quarters.

ALFALFA, KING OF FORAGE PLANTS

IT is a well established fact that wherever you can grow alfalfa you can farm successfully. While the Twin Falls tract is still in its infancy, it has already established a record for alfalfa. On green land yields of 11 and 12 tons to the acre have been obtained. Alfalfa is the greatest fertilizer known to mankind and is an exceedingly profitable crop. A man need never be afraid to locate where alfalfa is grown.

The alfalfa field of Don C. Bryan, shown above, was sown on April 1, 1906. The first cutting was made on July 31 and the second on October 1 and the yield was four tons per acre. Just figure it out, Mr. Farmer—four tons to the acre of the best feed on earth in seven months and the positive assurance that more than 10 tons per acre will be cut this year. Compare that with your old timothy and clover crops. It is only fair to state that Mr. Bryan's alfalfa was irrigated with waste water from an adjoining field which had been inoculated with nitrogenous bacteria. This bacteria, which is supplied by the government at nominal cost, is used to promote the germination of nodules upon the roots of the alfalfa and has proven very effective. On several fields on the Twin Falls tract yields of 11 and 12 tons of alfalfa to the acre were obtained. Wherever alfalfa can be grown, sugar beets are bound to thrive and every farmer knows what that means.

Mr. Land Buyer

THERE WILL BE LOTS OF LAND LEFT ON THE NORTH Side after the opening. Before investing, visit the original Twin Falls tract and see what we can offer you in the way of improved farms, close to town, schools, churches and railroads.

IF WE HAVE NOTHING THAT YOU WANT YOU WILL BE able to get all the land on the other side you wish, and as desirable as that to be had on opening day.

BUT SHOULD YOU JUMP IN, SIGHT UNSEEN, THEN VISIT Twin Falls in the near future and find that you might have secured a well improved, fenced ranch at the same money you paid for raw sagebrush land, you would never feel satisfied.

LOOK IT ALL OVER. GET ACQUAINTED WITH THE FACTS and compare prices. Your money will go farther today right here on the original Twin Falls tract than it will with unknown quantities on the North Side. An immediate revenue awaits you here with plenty of water actually in sight and working.

WE HAVE A NUMBER OF LISTED RANCHES THAT WILL certainly prove interesting. Let us show them to you. When in Twin Falls call and see

Educational Advantages on the Twin Falls Tract

TEMPORARY SCHOOL BUILDING AND OLD SCHOOL WAGON.

BICKEL SCHOOL, TWIN FALLS.

Before the odor of the smoke from the first sagebrush burned on the Twin Falls tract was dissipated, the settlers took steps to provide schools for their children. The first school was a small frame structure built by popular subscription. It was used for church services, public meetings and school purposes and within its walls much of the early history of Twin Falls was made. But the little school soon proved too small and the citizens of the town took what they thought was a long stride into the future. With all their enthusiasm and faith they barely overstepped the mark, and today Twin Falls is figuring on another large school building. The district was bonded for $30,000 and plans for the splendid school which now bears the name of "Bickel," in honor of Paul S. A. Bickel, chief engineer of the Twin Falls Land & Water Co., were accepted. With that progressive spirit which has characterized their every movement, the people of Twin Falls decided to inaugurate the central school system, bringing the children from the distant farms to the city in wagons, the cost of maintenance being borne by the district. Pending the completion of the central school, two temporary school buildings were erected. One of these temporary buildings is shown on this page, with the children massed in the foreground. In the corner is a picture of one of the first wagons used to convey the pupils to and from the school. These buildings were abandoned when the Bickel school was occupied. Today six commodious, and comfortable vehicles, constructed especially for the purpose, transport children from the country. The pupils assemble at convenient points in the mornings and are picked up by the drivers. When school is out the pupils visit the postoffice and get their parents' mail, or do what shopping has been entrusted to them before they scramble on the wagons for their homeward trip.

At the present time 14 teachers are employed and 500 pupils are taught in the Twin Falls central school. If the increase in attendance is maintained it will be necessary to build another school. The Twin Falls Townsite Co. set aside two entire blocks for school sites, one of which is still available.

At their meeting last Saturday the school board, which consists of F. E. Chamberlain, C. D. Thomas and E. B. Williams, engaged the following teaching staff for the ensuing year:

Superintendent, Professor T. W. Potter; principal of high school, Professor S. D. Parke; assistant principal, Miss Carpenter; eighth grade, Miss Gipson; seventh grade, Miss Angell; sixth grade, Miss Brittomart Wolfe; fifth grade, Miss Nettie Durphy; fourth grade, Miss May Hall; third grade, Miss Anna Boatwright; second grade, Miss Elizabeth Cheek; first grade, Miss Mabel Diffendaffer; primary grades, Miss Gertrude Kinney and Miss Clara Smith; music, Miss Ethel Manker.

Miss Carpenter, the new assistant principal of the high school, came from Hope, N. D. She is a graduate of the state university of North Dakota is experienced in high school work and brings the highest recommendations. Miss Gipson is a graduate of the Caldwell college and has been teaching in Meridian, Idaho, for the past year. She is likewise exceptionally well qualified for her position. Miss Elizabeth Cheek is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cheek of Twin Falls. Her excellent work in the Maroon school attracted the attention of the Twin Falls trustees, who were fortunate in securing her services. Miss Angell came from Bear Lake, Michigan, with recommendations which would secure her a position in any community where the English language is taught. Miss Clara Smith, who is a sister of Mrs. F. E. Chamberlain, is also from Bear Lake, Michigan, and is a graduate of Ann Arbor. She is especially well qualified for primary work in which she has had many years' experience with the greatest success. Miss Diffendaffer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Diffendaffer of Twin Falls. She has had several years' experience in primary work in Shoshone, Hailey and Bliss, and is a graduate of the Shoshone high school. Because of her fine record splendid work is expected from her. Of the retiring teachers Miss Edna Debow assumes the office of county superintendent of public instruction, which she fairly merited by reason of her superb record in Twin Falls. Her departure is a cause of regret to the people of Twin Falls, but the county will profit by her services. The board wished to retain Miss Myers, but she decided to give up teaching, finding the work too confining. Miss Evans likewise gave up her position for the same reason, feeling that she could not stand the strain of another term. Miss Baker has had other plans in view for some time and she likewise will be missed from the school room.
