NUMBER

MORE STORAGE FOR KIMBERLY

CAPACITY OF WAREHOUSE WILL BE DOUBLED.

Work Has Already Commenced on the Addition Made Necessary by the Heavy Offerings of Grain, the Movement of Which is Increasing.

KIMBERLY, Ida., Oct. 30.—George Trumbull and family have returned from a trip to the northern part of the state. They made the trip in wagons and had an enjoyable visit with their old home.

Joe Nelson, who has been working on a contract on the north side for several months, was in town Thursday.

B. F. Hoover is now the railroad agent at this station. C. W. Rice has returned. Mr. Hoover, as railroad agent here once before so was not unfamiliar with the place. He owns a fine ranch about two miles south of town which he intends to improve.

Ray McNamee has returned from Salt Lake where he went some time past to undergo an operation for appendicitis. The operation was entirely successful and he is now much improved.

W. H. Thomas made a flying business trip to Twin Falls Saturday.

B. Keeler is buying considerable here for shipment to outside. He also has several carloads of goods that he will ship just as soon as he can get refrigerator cars.

Stayner who has had charge of the Kimberly Lumber yard has been transferred to the Twin Falls mill. J. T. Gaskill will have charge of the company's business.

Monday morning the freight train came between here and Twin Falls. All of the Kimberly passengers were here. Stayner and his wife and walked and beat the train home.

A 12-pound baby boy was born at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lewis on Monday night. All are doing nicely and it goes without saying that Mr. Lewis is the proudest man in Kimberly.

George Peterson is having a fine large barn built on his place. Mr. Peterson has gone into the dairy business quite extensively and intends to take good care of his cows this winter.

Mr. H. Wright and A. Dunkley are at work on an addition to the mill warehouse. Manager Thomas found it necessary to send men to Curry and Perry. As late as shipping grain from point, the Kimberly mill is having work out at nearly every station on the tract.

C. W. Rice and family have moved into the Moon residence until they get possession of the Turner place, which Mr. Rice has rented.

The Moore-Petersons threatened to send several days this week but of broken promises on the stock. The Fowler clover huller, which recently moved to the Andersons, about six miles east of here, has been working until after the grain threshing.

Tyler Bros., who recently purchased 40 acres of the McNamee farm, $100 per acre, have moved here. They will build on their place at once. They are accompanied by their mother.

PUNCTURING OLD DAIRY METHODS

THREDBARE THEORIES THAT ARE OUT OF DATE.

Notions Handed Down by Our Forefathers Are No Longer Obtained by the Milk Cows.

Now that dairy is about to be built in Twin Falls and the farmers will be invited to turn their hay and surplus feed into butterfat, it is well that those who are inexperienced should study the question of selecting dairy cows. Poor cows are dear at any price. Most of them will not earn their feed. Good cows are a safe and profitable source of revenue and the farmers who keep them and care for them properly are bound to succeed.

The following article, which is taken from the Breeders Gazette, contains a great deal of sound sense:

The average farmer has inherited about all his opinions or notions about dairy cows.

The result is that he judges the value of a cow by the same "signs" that were used by his forefathers in the dark days.

Probably the most deceiving of all the special indications of dairy excellence is the udder.

Nine men (or women) in ten will select the largest uddered cow as the best in the herd, and will point to the smallest udder as a poor specimen for heavy milk production.

The best cow in the writer's herd is the smallest udder, while the one with the largest udder surprises everybody as the least valuable cow on the farm.

Her udder is meaty and is nearly as large after milking as before.

She is really a very good cow, but not because of the expansive udder.

I do not mean to imply that it would be wise to select a cow with an udder like a toad, but that perfection of udder is not the first requisite of a high-class cow.

It is amusing to have visitors go into my pastures, follow the cows about for an hour, and then tell me that such a one is the best cow in the field.

One puts his faith in a slim tall, but curious enough, when asked what kind of a tall he would select for a beef cow he replies, hesitatingly as though afraid of being "caught," "a slim one."

Another is quite certain that a preponderance of backbone is desirable, wide, high, and deeply serrated. If this view is correct then it follows that the tail should be thick and heavy, as it is an extension of the backbone.

Now, a cow with a yellow skin, claiming that it is necessary for the production of "rich" milk while others declare that the secretions of the milk glands are in no way related to the secretions of the glands of the skin.

A breeder of registered cattle writes me that he spent many galore for yellow skins only to find that the milk was no higher in test than that of cows without the golden insignia.

Again we see many people selecting cows by the color of their milk. But the notion that yellow milk is necessarily of high test has long since been exploded by the Babcock test.

The yellowest sample of milk (not colored) that has yet entered the writer's milk tester came out with the lowest percentage of fat. I owned the cow that produced the milk—but not now.

No other breed of cows can compete with the Guernsey for high-colored milk, but the Jersey yields higher testing milk.

It is a question whether the soft hair and yellow skin about which some dairymen are so anxious are not an indication of a tendency to lay on fat rather than to give milk.

I had a pair of yearling heifers shipped from Wisconsin a few years ago and when removing them from the car, the onlookers were discussing their merits and trying to decide which was the better one.

One worthy gentleman, a leader in public affairs and at home in all kinds of society, pointed out the "best" one, remarking that she carried more high-bred meat than the other.

Considering the cost of these heifers there certainly was as much "high-priced" meat on either of them as upon some of the winners at the International, although they were not intended for the block. If the block be the fate of all dairy animals it is to be hoped that those heifers will linger here many years in pastures green before reaching their ultimate destiny.

The dark and uncultured past is not responsible for all the follies and foibles that pervade the dairy world.

Among the theories more recent years have mentioned the "wedge shape" and its compound, the "triple wedge," that occasionally leads and just as often misleads.

There was a time when Jerseys were selected because of their black tongue and other dark points.

The great majority of breeders follow themselves into milking that they were better butter cows than others, but at present those with light points or with white spots on the body are considered fully equal to those with black points when it comes to actual dairy work.

The ecutcheon monopolized the attention of the dairymen a few years ago and many people felt confident that they could go into a strange herd and lay their hands upon the best cow with no other landmarks than the ecutcheon.

Unhappily an occasional one had the luck to succeed.

It is very convincing to some minds, but very few dairymen give the subject any serious thought at present.

There are those who select cows from the appearance of neck or withers, eye or muzzle, ear or horn, flank.

In fact each and every part of the cow has had its day and, so far as visible signs are concerned, we are just as far out on the stormy sea of doubt as we ever were, and it may be as well to remain at sea as to steer too confidently for a supposed harbor that proves to be only a rock—Northwest Pacific Farmer.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS MEET

Interesting Session of Twin Falls W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. met on October 21 at the home of Mrs. Hauser, with the newly elected president, Mrs. Felt, in the chair.

The plans for the ensuing six months' work, as outlined by Mrs. St. Johns, national organizer, were read and discussed.

No definite work for the local union was decided upon as it was thought best to give all possible time to the report of the state convention at Blackfoot which was submitted by the Twin Falls delegate, Mrs. Hauser.

This splendid report contained many suggestions for work in the future, some of which are given below.

Mrs. A. A. Garlock, a most efficient state president, was unanimously re-elected.

Mrs. St. Johns promised to return to Idaho for a few months next year to organize unions in the new districts. During her visit to the industrial school at St. Anthony she was impressed with the fine discipline of the school. She noted the need of pictures for the walls and a great need of suitable books for the boys and girls.

An effort will be made to provide funds for legislative work this year, and a Temperance worker was appointed.

Reports indicate that much has been done throughout the state in the different departments, prison work, flower mission, distribution of literature and the moral contest work, from which latter department much is hoped for here with Mrs. Stalker to assist.

The meeting adjourned until November 18 when the union will meet with Mrs. Brunk. All members and those interested are urged to attend.

Entered as second-class matter, December 2, 1905, under postoffice No. 1145, Idaho, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The present hurry in eastern financial circles, the effects of which are already manifest in the west, is viewed in a like spirit by the western press and serves to emphasize the oft repeated claim that western securities are much more stable than they have been accorded. It matters not how the unfortunate monetary conditions were brought about, they are none the less harmful to all sections of the country. Western securities have not suffered, excepting in cases where they have been sacrificed to provide ready money for their holders who were pinched in the recent upheaval.

In Idaho, land values are increasing, the prices of fruit and grain are higher than they have been for many years and Idaho livestock is bringing in golden returns. The following editorial from the Breckers Gazette of Chicago reflects the sentiment of the west.

Stock speculators have been in a panic during the past week. Not the buyers and sellers of live stock but the gentry dealing in railway and industrial securities and juggling banks down on the Manhattan island. Much of the paper they handle there represents steaming value; especially since the terrific decline experienced during the past 12 months, and shrewd folk with idle funds are said to be quietly sorting out the sheep from the goats which finders and investors are forced to cash in these days and taking the good things out of the market.

It is said that an industrial depression, already forebadowed by the great slump in the metal shares, steel, copper, and smaller stocks have been on the horizon. Therefore, the "ed" economies by the great railways are responsible for a slackening in the volume of orders going into steel works and foundries. The chain of events has already been in motion. There is talk of hard times ahead. Hard times for some folks are already here. The chain with a gold brick down the middle is no longer a market for his glittering bait at fancy price. Hard times for promoters of all sorts of "wildcat" propositions are already here. The "wildcat" for corporate law breakers—high and low—seem to have arrived; and unfortunately, in the house cleaning, the "wildcat" has been found. The "wildcat" life insurance scandals and other such socialist sentiment has developed some unjustifiable credence against capital and credit. The "wildcat" has been hit. Those who depend upon credit operations to extend their business, no longer have the same needs or how legitimate their requirements have been made to feel the effects of the loss of confidence consequent upon the "wildcat" business of designing politicians.

The question of state and federal control of corporations is now a hotly unquieting business in certain directions, and in the complex organization of the modern commercial world we cannot seriously erode any part without injury to the whole. Just how far the states and the general government can go into this regulating business without endangering credit and prosperity, is a mooted question; one which The Gazette does not care to discuss. It is a road, thing to approach intelligently and in a spirit of honesty and fairness all around. There certainly have existed and should be rooted out, but on the crest of the wave of every great and good reform there always hide a lot of "holes" and "bushes" and "blatant" blather-sketes who know little and care less about practical business affairs, and are just as well as a time for the present for the level-headed thinking men of this country to make up their minds to help settle this question right, without the aid of the demagogue whose chief stock in trade day and night is "soak the railroad," "drain property rights in America," and "take the life out of the country." These are the kind of men who are going to be the ruin of the country. The population will not let this fair play which in the long run always favors the American people.

Some time while all this wrangling is going on and Wall street is blue in the face with pessimism, there is no use talking about another era of free earth. Mother Earth can be depended upon in these United States under present conditions to sustain the business of the nation under any ordinary and reasonable level. The "wildcat" of everybody's bill and he is just as well as a time for the present for the level-headed thinking men of this country to make up their minds to help settle this question right, without the aid of the demagogue whose chief stock in trade day and night is "soak the railroad," "drain property rights in America," and "take the life out of the country." These are the kind of men who are going to be the ruin of the country. The population will not let this fair play which in the long run always favors the American people.

ally and does not share in the gloomy forebodings that come out of the east. Come west you broken gamblers and see people working hard and throwing seed—Breckers Gazette.

Simultaneously with the publication of the above editorial in the Breckers Gazette appeared the following in the Boise Statesman:

Probably not a few eastern people who have been confronted with a day of reckoning for their speculative land in newly opened sections of Idaho have wondered by what calculation the holders arrive at their valuations. The owner has not taken the trouble to figure it out, with the result that some of the prospective purchasers have failed to take advantage of the opportunity offered. They have been scared out by what they term excessive prices. Going back to their own farms in the east, they have discovered all too late that they had overvalued a good thing.

Land essentially is only worth the interest it will earn on the money invested. If it will not earn 8 per cent the speculator does not want it. The homesteader, to be sure, does not figure it exactly on that basis. Interest does not bear in his mind the importance attached to it by the man who farms in figures. He looks more to the possession of a home where he can make a good living and secure the benefits of advancement in values resulting from cultivation and development of the country. If he had in cash the value of his holdings the interest would not provide him a living. But his garden and his field will furnish it. So he does not figure the investment down to an interest basis.

But let us suppose that every purchase were founded on interest, without regard to considerations of home and assurance of a living. In this part of Idaho there is much land, now under cultivation, and having good water rights that can be bought for $200 an acre. We will assume that $200 is paid for 10 acres, and that it is in alfalfa, producing five tons to the acre or 50 tons in all. That hay will bring at least $5 a ton in the stack. This year it will bring more; but figuring at $5 a ton, he will receive $250 for his crop. In order to have earned 8 per cent on his money he must receive $160 net, and if it costs him $50 to put in and care for the crop, which it would not, he would have netted just 8 per cent. That is regarded as a perfectly satisfactory from a purely investment standpoint. So he has given ample proof that his land is worth all he has paid for it.

Let us assume, however, that he bought only five acres and put the land to more profitable crop than hay. The cultivation of berries. From five acres he could raise easily $1500 of fruit. If it cost him half his gross income he would still have $750 left, and that pays pretty good interest on the $2000 he invested. The question may be asked: On what basis do you figure to arrive at $1500 sales? We reply, the experience of those who have demonstrated a much higher output. Three acres of land in South Boise last season produced enough berries to give the owner a net profit of $2000. Mr. Henry of Twin Falls, who is now a Boise visitor, raised $350 (gross) of berries on half an acre. Evidence could be piled up on this point, but it is not necessary. Five hundred dollars is a small estimate on the value of a crop of berries from five acres.

The subscriber is not content to be definitely but the proof would be more convincing than these few illustrations that from any basis of calculation Idaho land is a most valuable thing. It will produce the speculator's interest; it will give the homesteader a free home, with abundant crops and a healthful increase in valuation.

This state is rapidly settling up. New markets are constantly being opened. Today our farmers cannot supply the demand. And it will be some time before they will be able to do so, it ever. There is no more attractive spot in the country today for the farmer than Idaho. There are no good rich quick schemes here, but the state teems with opportunities for those who are satisfied with bountiful crops, steady incomes and happy homes. The west is healthy, financially and otherwise. It offers the best field for investment today. The remarkable development wrought by irrigation calls for more railroads and more industries. Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, with a combined area of 268,000 square miles, have 26,412 miles of railroad. Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Arizona, Idaho and Utah, with a combined area of 317,000 square miles, have 12,876 miles of railroad. The west offers a field with millions of rich acres capable of producing ample tonnage for transportation companies. Farmers are leaving their worn-out holdings in the east and coming to Idaho where they are free from cyclones, crop failures and blighting frosts; where every farmer controls his own welfare, supplying moisture to his fields as they need it; where droughts and floods are unknown and every man has a chance to make money.

It is not within the recollection of the people of Twin Falls when the mail and express train on this branch made the trip on schedule time. Of late it has resembled a bargain sale, marked down from 12-15 to anywhere from 3 to 5 o'clock. Since the present time card went into effect months ago the passenger train has not been on time one single day. The mails come in late in the afternoon, just at a time when the postal employees are making up the outgoing mail matter, and it is impossible for business men to answer letters until the day following, their receipt.

The uncertainty of the service is doubtless due to heavy traffic on the main line and inadequate power facilities. To thoroughly appreciate the superlative excellence of the service it is necessary to make the accommodation train, otherwise known as the grasshopper. This train is supposed to leave Twin Falls at 6 o'clock in the morning. The wretched traveler breaks away from the arms of Murphy at 5 o'clock and bolts his breakfast. At the depot he encounters a holy hush, a sepulchral silence, broken only by the mournful song of the coyote and the chattering of the sparrows. Fortunately Mr. Harriman has carpentered the station platform with gravel and the traveler can exercise without fear of arrest-for-trespass on the right of way. By 8 o'clock the traveler has probably consumed his last cigar and looked at his watch for the 15th time. He begins to grow impatient. A small cloud of smoke to the westward cheers him for a few moments until he discovers that it is only some onerous farmer-burning sagebrush. He fears to leave his grip and he hates to carry it to the nearest telephone. Finally he does make a mad rush up Shoshone avenue and after spending two bits (for telephone charges) he finds himself as ignorant as he was before regarding the whereabouts of his train. By 10 o'clock he is ready for another breakfast and perhaps a game of billiards. He begins to regret that he did not file on a piece of land and prove up while waiting for the train. Just as he has settled down to lunch, he hears a locomotive whistle and away he goes in another mad rush for the depot. He has missed connections at Minidoka and bust his plans all to smash. This has happened almost daily of late and there is no assurance that it will not continue indefinitely. The members of the last Idaho legislature, their pockets bulging with passes, enacted a law compelling railroads to post the arrival time of trains. There is no telegraph line to Buhl or Ellier and information concerning the movement of trains cannot be obtained by telephone, apparently. While the Short Line may be excused for failure to move its trains on schedule time, it might make some effort to save its patrons needless waste of hours and unnecessary inconvenience.

BREVITIES

Mrs. L. J. Miller has returned from a visit with her relatives in Boulder, Colorado.

County warrants for the commission of the crime of being are now ready for signature on application to the county clerk.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Leonard and family have arrived from Pueblo, Colorado, and are preparing to make their home in Twin Falls. Mr. Leonard is an attorney but he proposes to secure a farm and get back to earth again.

E. W. Davis returned on Wednesday from Pueblo, Colorado, where he was called by the illness of Mrs. Davis. He brought home word that Mrs. Davis was improving and was now out of danger, news which will delight her many friends in Twin Falls who hope for her speedy recovery.

L. G. Bradley came down from Milner on Wednesday evening with four monster river trout which he caught in the riffles below the dam. He caught five fish which weighed over three pounds. They were all well and the writer can testify to it.

McKinley & Larson, the well-known writers can testify to it. They have secured a suite of office rooms above the Commercial bank. The rooms are spacious and nicely furnished. They are also equipped with a mirror and a tear urn for would-be divorcees and they always keep a box of cigars for gentleman callers. They are associated with Judge Stock, a slager in the action brought by the water company against M. P. Gamble.

Ralph Harder of Harder Bros., La Grande, Oregon, is now in Portland where he has purchased machinery for the Twin Falls creamery. He will shortly return to Twin Falls and put the creamery building in shape, which will be a comparatively easy task. Mr. Harder will also put up an ice house and store ice for use during the coming season. This will be good news for the farmers as it assures them a constant market for cream and butterfat at home.

Presley F. Horne of the Idaho Irrigation Co. was in Twin Falls this week in the interest of the Big Wood river project. He has secured $20,000 in bonds for the project. The great project of Jerome only seemed to what the pettles of those who want land and the Big Wood river enterprise offers farms which cannot be excelled. The Gooding township will also be opened on November 14 and because of its favorable location and magnificent surroundings it is bound to be a big city.

George M. Batty, who has sold his ranch at Kimberly, is going back to Utah.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dunn have moved from Pioche to Golconda, Nevada. Mr. Dunn still has interests in Pioche and his faith in the camp has not waned.

Bob Steele is walking on air and arrived on Thursday afternoon. He is a boy, weighing 150 pounds, and is doing splendidly. He is now in the hospital and is being treated for his wounds. He is now in the hospital and is being treated for his wounds. He is now in the hospital and is being treated for his wounds.

W. H. Blunt of the Hazelwood creamery of Spokane is here looking over the tract with the view of putting in a creamery if conditions warrant. He will meet with the Filer farmers this evening and discuss a proposal to locate the creamery there. The Hazelwood company operates extensively in the northwest and would be interested in making the Twin Falls tract a famous dairy section.

W. E. Nixon of the First National bank was married at The Dalles, Oregon, last evening to Miss Rosa Mitchell. The business of transplanting the young men of this city to the Dalles is now being carried on. Rumor has it that the young men are being carried to the Dalles by the water company. The young men are being carried to the Dalles by the water company. The young men are being carried to the Dalles by the water company.

Edwin V. Borg, who has been with the engineering department of the Twin Falls Land & Water Co. for some time, has decided to embark in business for himself and has secured an office in the First National bank building. Mr. Borg is an experienced engineer, an excellent draughtsman and possesses all the qualifications necessary to succeed in his profession. He has a host of friends who will be glad to know that he is to remain in Twin Falls and give the tract the benefit of his talents.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving R. Barrow were given a startling surprise last Friday night by a number of their friends. Mr. Barrow was awakened by a number of shots fired close to his bedroom window which were followed by a command to get up and receive his guests. He was not expecting any callers but when he protested that they had not given him warning, they told him of the fact that he had been invited to a party. The party was given by Carl Peterson, John Peters, Bonham, Deising, John Irons, Charles Stinson, Miss Reimann, Miss Carke and Mrs. Bonham. They took possession of the house and had a glorious time. Refreshments were provided and the jolly party made merry until a late hour.

Mrs. Tush returned yesterday from Boise where she has been visiting with Mrs. R. W. Faris.

Dani Bryan, Guy Storer and N. C. Beebe are in the Twin Falls after big game. They carried artillery and will doubtless come back with heavy loads (of meat).

The Republican county committee met Tuesday afternoon in the office of Assessor McMillan for the purpose of repairing fences and organizing the next campaign. Mr. Ford R. Reed of Milner was appointed committeeman for that precinct. G. G. Conover for Rosworth, Charles F. Gloytch for South Twin Falls and H. Carahan for Filer. Another meeting will be held November 4 at which officers will be elected.

Dr. Frank F. McAttee of Blackfoot will shortly be associated with Dr. G. F. Baker in the practice of dentistry in Twin Falls. Dr. McAttee is an old friend of Dr. Baker whom he has visited several times. He is now taking a six week's post-graduate course in Chicago after which he will come to Twin Falls, arriving about December 1. Doctors Baker and McAttee will equip offices in all towns on the Twin Falls branch which they will visit on certain days of the week.

A band of white crepe suspended from the door knob of S. T. Hamilton's office, to which was pinned a card announcing that the office was closed on account of the death of Mr. Hamilton's little daughter, Ruth, brought pangs of sorrow to hundreds of people gathered in front of the door. Their tears failed to overflow with sympathy for the bereaved parents. Ruth was ill when she left Twin Falls with her mother and sister for some weeks ago. She grew worse and Mr. Hamilton was summoned to Colorado Springs last Thursday arriving before his daughter's death. Ruth was one of the sweetest children that ever lived and her demise is a terrible blow to her parents who have the heartfelt sympathy of all in their hour of sorrow.

The city council met last evening and discussed the proposal to issue bonds for the construction of a municipal light and power plant. Fairbanks, Morse & Co. offered to put in a plant of 1000 kilowatt capacity at Clear Lake and wire the towns of Twin Falls, Buhl and Filer for $50,000. This amount does not include the cost of acquiring the power site which is $2500. There are several questions in connection with the proposal which need careful investigation and the members of the council are disposed to be very cautious in dealing with so important a question. The local papers will be thoroughly looked into and necessary information on all points obtained before the citizens are asked to vote upon the bonds. In the opinion of many the bonds could be sold at home. The question will probably come up again at the regular meeting on Monday evening, November 4.

The Dunkard Brothers will hold their communion service on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

W. J. Trentowsky came down from Genoa this week to look at his ranch. He was astonished at the improvement since his last visit two years ago and went back delighted with the outlook.

Dan Conner of Filer has been appointed Democratic county committeeman. Dan is a worker and he will have the members of the party in line at the right time.

Charles E. Colles of the News, who was a fever victim, is on his pins again and will soon be himself once more. He is able to take light exercise and will be back at his desk in a few days.

Mr. Thomas of the Kimberly flour mill, who has handled many carloads of wheat on the Twin Falls tract this season, reports that the grain is free from smut and uninjured by frost and above the average in quality.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Sprague are visiting with Mr. Sprague's brother at Newport News, Virginia. Mr. Sprague is taking a good rest after a hard summer's work and may not come home for two or three weeks.

John E. Hayes, who has been down with fever for several weeks, is able to attend to business again. His clothing fits him somewhat recklessly but his appetite is working over time and he will soon be as rugged as ever.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Allen have arrived from Tekonsha, Michigan, and will make Twin Falls their home. Mr. Allen was here in the spring and he thought so well of the town that he decided to return and locate here. He made many friends who heartily welcomed him back.

Mr. and Mrs. George Richmond have gone to California for the winter and may remain there. Mr. Richmond, who was watermaster for the Land & Water Co., said he hated to leave Twin Falls and would not have done so had it been that Mrs. Richmond's health demanded a change of climate and lower altitude.

The Twin Falls Waterworks company has laid one mile of main since September 1 on Twelfth, Sixth and Shoshone avenues. The pipe was four and six inches in diameter and the Shoshone avenue main will improve the service materially in the business district.

John R. Hunt of La Grande, Ill., has been visiting his nephew, Harry Fisher, at Buhl. Mr. Hunt tried his hand at grubbing sagebrush but he did not like the work. He said the worst feature of farm life at Buhl was the cooking, as his appetite increased to such an extent that he was kept busy all the time getting food.

Health Preservation

It is a certain thing that health is much less diseased than it is. If every individual would be careful to preserve his health, we could not be too healthy in our habits. Cleanliness is not only next to godliness, but a sure keeper of good health. We should daily wash the skin with a good antiseptic soap, brush and clean the teeth well, and see to it that our person and personal effects are beyond reproach as regards cleanliness. Every facility for the Bath and Toilet are here.

A FATAL MISTAKE

Is Often Made by the Wisest of Twin Falls People.

It's a fatal mistake to neglect backache.

Backache is the first symptom of kidney ill. Serious complications follow.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them promptly. Don't delay until too late.

Until it becomes diabetes—Bright's disease.

Frank Schell, the well known retired Veteran, residing on Cleveland avenue, North Pocatello, Idaho, says:

"Ever since I left the army, at intervals I had pains in my back. It grew much more severe in the fall of 1892 than it ever was before and I was compelled to do something for it. I called on a druggist and told him about my condition. He recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I took his advice. Before I finished the box, the pain in my back ceased and I noticed that the rheumatic pains were lessened. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good preparation and I endorse the claims made for them."

For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Twin Falls, to Mr. and Mrs. Everett Miller, Swedes, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Crowe, Bedford, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Mull and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas James Woods, Friday evening November 1st, your correspondent being one of the recipients.

An article appeared in the last issue of the Buhl Pioneer, relative to money donated by the company for the repair and improvement of the streets of this town. It was stated in the article that a portion of the money was given to be expended on Maple Street and a portion to be used on Broadway. But it did not say on what particular part or parts of those streets the money was to be expended. As to Maple Street itself, probably it exists and could be found on the map. If the sledgebrush was cleared off where it is supposed to be. There was no place on the townsite, or on the whole tract for that matter, that was more in need of repairs and improvement than the crossing at the intersection of Main and Broadway. This crossing had been a menace to the safety of person and property for more than a year, and was made so by water being turned into the streets and allowed to run in them until deep ruts were cut in them. Nothing was done in the way of improvement until about two weeks ago, when B. Boyd, the local manager of the Western Lumber company, in a generous public spirit and for the purpose of preventing serious injury to persons and property, donated lumber for a culvert, which was put in to the crossing graded up by the citizens. No sooner was the crossing put in, however, than it became manifest that the repairs were contrary to the desires and wishes of some persons or persons, who the next day turned water into the middle of Broadway, which if allowed to continue running therein would soon make the crossing as bad as it was before, if not worse. DOG WAS TOO FOND OF PORK

Walter Craven Destroys a Valuable Bloodhound

J. Walter Craven has retired from the dog business. His celebrated Bulgarian bloodhound, "Zeke," has gone to the happy hunting grounds. "Zeke" was a canine marvel. When he was eight months old he tackled a large thoroughbred Poland China hog and when he got through Walter had about 400 pounds of spoiled pork on hand. "Zeke" was tied up with a logging chain after this performance but he broke loose and slaughtered another hog. This behavior on the part of the dog annoyed Walter and he gave "Zeke" away. But the faithful dog returned and did some business with Walter's sheep. Once more the ball and chain. The climax came when "Zeke" was observed looking at one of Walter's mules and kicking his chops. Under the laws of Missouri, which differ slightly from those of the United States, it is a capital offense to kill a mule. "Zeke" was suspected of being an accessory before the fact and was snuffed out of existence with a 30-30.

The youngsters had a high time last night celebrating Halloween. Everything movable was seized and placed where it did not belong and Chief of Police Prothero was kept busy chasing the cut-ups. The boys were good natured and they did no damage.

The Pavila dramatic and musical company will give entertainments at the rink on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week, November 4 and 5. The company has been well received all along the line and its programs have been highly praised. The program will be changed nightly and will consist of character acting, singing, dancing, acrobatic work, etc.
