COURT RULING IN LIND CASE

FULL TEXT OF OPINION BY THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

Meaning of the Words "Irrigating Season" Construed—Held to Signify the Entire Irrigating Period Embraced in One Year's Time.

Following is the full text of the opinion rendered by the supreme court in the Nels Lind case:

This action was commenced by the appellant corporation to recover from the respondent water rents for the year 1906. Judgment was entered for the defendant and plaintiff appealed. The appeal involves the construction of two separate contracts. On January 2nd, 1903, the appellant corporation entered into a contract with the state of Idaho whereby it agreed to construct a system of irrigating canals for the irrigation and reclamation of arid lands under the Chroy act, and in that contract there is contained the following paragraph: "It is hereby agreed that every purchaser of shares in said canal or holder of stock in said Twin Falls Canal company, limited, shall be entitled to have delivered for the irrigation of his land his full amount of water as heretofore provided, and it is hereby stipulated and agreed, that while it retains possession and control of said canal system the party of the second part may make a charge for the delivery of said water for irrigation, to the purchaser of said shares, on the following basis in the following manner: All of the water dedicated to his land shall be delivered free of all charges during the first irrigating season that water is delivered to said purchaser, and thereafter an annual charge not to exceed 80 cents per acre may be made for each and every acre irrigated."

After the appellant company had entered upon the construction of the canal and ditches and the lands had been opened to entry and settlement, the respondent herein in contemplation of entering and filing upon a tract of land under the canal system, entered into a contract with the Land & Water company, which contract, among other things, contains the following paragraph: "The company agrees that so long as it retains possession of said canal system it will keep and maintain the ditches, main laterals, and canals in good order and condition, and in case of accident to same will repair and injury thereto as soon as practicable and expedient."

"For the purpose of defraying the expense of delivery of water for irrigation and expense of maintaining and keeping in repair the canal system, the company has the right to levy against the purchaser an assessment or canal charge sufficient to raise equally and ratably from all users and takers of water a sufficient sum therefor, provided, however, that no such charge or assessment shall be levied or assessed against any purchaser during the first irrigating season after water is delivered under this contract, and thereafter an annual charge or assessment not exceeding 80 cents per acre may be made for such purpose for each and every acre irrigated."

The respondent settled on his land under the appellant's canal in March, 1905, and notice was thereafter given him that water would be ready for delivery to him on or about June 26th, 1905. He actually received the water on July 6, 1905. He used the water during the balance of the season and cultivated about 22 acres of alfalfa, though made no crop, and by reason of having water on the land made small profit during the fall of that year, and thereby became entitled to his water rent for the following year, 1906, on the ground that the law does not require the water for "one season" that he had received the water and that under the contract he was entitled to have the water free for that season. He contended that since he did not receive the water during the whole of the irrigating season of 1905, he could not be charged anything for that year, and that he was entitled to one full irrigating season free of charge. The trial court agreed with his contention and decreed to give the canal company judgment for any sum whatever for the use of water during the year 1906. Although the respondent acted on the land in March, 1905, he was under no obligation to do so until water was ready to be delivered on the land. It was not obligatory on the defendant to make settlement on the land at the time he did, nor was he obliged to receive the water during the year 1905. In other words, he was under no obligation to accept and use water for a portion only of the irrigating season. He might have declined to accept it for that year on the ground that if he did so he could only raise a partial crop, and that he could not get the benefit of a whole year's irrigation. On the contrary, however, he did accept and use the water, and as we view the contract under consideration, he was liable to be charged with his free period of use from the date he received the water, and that at the expiration of one year from that date his liability to pay water rents would attach. The respondent calls attention to section 15 of the act of February 25, 1899 (Session laws 1899, p. 38), which provides that canal companies owning and controlling ditches and canals for the purpose of irrigation, shall keep a flow of water in such canals sufficient for the requirements of all persons entitled to use water therefrom at all times from April 1st to November 1st of each year. Counsel insists that under the provisions of this statute, where the term "irrigating season" is used in the contract, it is intended to mean the period from April 1st to November 1st, and that during such

He so stated his intention to the rancher. To Mr. Smith's surprise, the latter asked who Washington was. The rancher refused the check and demanded legal tender in payment for his stock. Mr. Smith made a trip to a nearby bank and procured the long green for his friend. While the money was being counted out the rancher again protested and said he wanted nothing but silver.

TWIN FALLS GETS ONE CONVENTION

DEMOCRATS TO MEET HERE ON JUNE 3.

To Elect Delegates to the National Convention—Nominating Convention Will Be Held in Wallace on August 4.

After a hard race with Nampa, Twin Falls secured the Democratic state convention at which delegates favorable to William Jennings Bryan will be nominated. The convention will be held on June 3.

Twin Falls was strongly represented at the meeting of the state central committee in Boise. Dan Connor, the Democratic county chairman, was backed by F. H. Smith, Pete Holohan, Glenn McKinley and others who believe that Twin Falls is the only place on the map. The first vote resulted in 11 for Nampa, 9 for Boise, 6 for Weiser and 12 for Twin Falls. On the second vote Nampa received 13, Boise 9 and Twin-Falls 16. The third count showed 20 votes for Nampa and 19 for Twin Falls and everybody thought Nampa had won. Not so with your Uncle Pete Holohan, however. Pete was keeping tabs and he found that there were more votes than there were delegates. The Nampa men were on their feet in an instant and declared that they would not tolerate anything but a square deal and if they could be shown that Twin Falls had won fairly they would move to make the vote unanimous. Judge Perky suddenly remembered that upon one momentous occasion he has been supplied with a sweater in Twin Falls and he switched his vote to the host town in the country and Nampa was routed. Nampa is the home of Jake Lockman and it is a live wire.

The convention was harmonious. Endorsed William Jennings Bryan and incorporated in the resolutions an anti-Mormon plank. The nominating convention will be held in Wallace on August 4.

BABIES' DAY AT BISBEE'S THIRTY-TWO TWIN FALLS BEAUTIES. WHERE CAN YOU MATCH THEM?

CREAMERY BUTTER FOR TWIN FALLS

HOME PRODUCT IS NOW ON THE LOCAL MARKET.

Jacobson & Hoops Made Their First Churning on Tuesday—Well Supplied With the Finest Quality of Twin Falls Cream.

Creamery butter, faultless as to color and flavor, made from cream supplied by Twin Falls, Filer and Kimberly farmers, churned by power from Shoshone falls, was placed on the local market on Tuesday when the Idaho Department Store and Perrino & Burton offered to the public the output of the first churning by Jacobson & Hoops. Ordinarily there would be nothing thrilling or romantic about it. It also means more cows to eat the Twin Falls alfalfa.

No less than four years ago the Twin Falls tract was a cattle range, nothing more. True, the canal system and dam were well under way, but the tract was a dull sea of sagebrush. At that time any man who predicted present conditions would have been sneered at. The promoters spoke of power from Shoshone falls, of wonderful settlements of increased land values and of great industries to come, but they found it difficult to get a serious audience. Now 10,000 dairy cows, of the best strains and free from disease of any kind, are wanted on the Twin Falls tract. Oh, creamery is already in operation and another will be ready for business in a few days. The motive power for both is electricity from Shoshone falls.

"We started our big churn on Tuesday," said Mr. Jacobson, "and our first churning amounted to 240 pounds of good fortune. It has ever been my good fortune to be a farmer. Of course we are rushed as yet, and we haven't everything in shape as we will when we are straightened out. The creamers were anxious to have us begin and we crowded matters. The cream for our first churning was supplied to 10 customers in the vicinity of Twin Falls, Kimberly and Filer. It was first class cream and our initial attempt was very encouraging. The Idaho Department Store and Perrino & Burton were the first legal merchants to place Twin Falls creamery butter on their shelves. The quality is such that we need have no fear in the line of competition. The Twin Falls product will hold its own everywhere.

"To make good butter it is necessary to have good cream and that, I am confident, the Twin Falls farmers will supply. Our first lot of cream tested fine. We are very well satisfied and we will continue our efforts to furnish a product which will give the Twin Falls tract a reputation as a dairy county. As I said, we have been rushed, but we are getting things up and we will continue our work. We can take care of all the cream that is offered us right now and we will be in position to do so from this time on."

When the cream is brought to the creamery in cans supplied for the purpose, it is first sampled and weighed. It is then placed in cold storage until there is a sufficient amount for churning. First-class cream is placed in a starter and from thence it goes into the churn. In a short time Messrs Jacobson & Hoops will have a sterilization plant which will have a sterilization plant in operation when they began operations but it was slow in arriving.

The churning operation occupies about half an hour, the time varying according to the temperature of the cream. Every sanitary precaution known to modern butter makers is employed to insure the purest quality of butter. Messrs Jacobson & Hoops are going to add many improvements to their creamery so soon as time will permit. They have accomplished a great deal in a remarkably short space of time and they are delivering the goods already.

The greater price of Twin Falls creamery butter is 35 cents per pound. It is not so long ago that the News was obliged to chronicle butter famine in Twin Falls. The gasoline famine still visits us but we can at least provide that there is some difference between Twin Falls citizenship and Standard Oil management, even though the unctuous Mr. Archbold would have us believe that Mr. Rockefeller and his satellites are merely angels temporarily sojourning upon earth.

Sealed bids will be received by the clerk of the board of county commissioners for the building of a county poor, such bids to include all expenses of such burials, the grave and opening and closing of the same, to be filed with the clerk of the board prior to the next regular meeting, April 13th, 1908. # COST OF COOKING BY ELECTRICITY

5 1-2c PER DAY PER PERSON

THE FOLLOWING IS A COPY OF A LETTER, WHICH SPEAKS FOR ITSELF:

Portland Light & Power Co. Portland, Oregon, August 26, 1907. City. Gentlemen: In reply to your request for a statement of how much it costs me to cook by electricity, I take pleasure in informing you as follows: The outfit that I have in use consists of the following devices: 1 oven, 1 5 in. frying pan, 1 broiler, 2 2-qt. combination cookers, 1 8 in. disc stove, 1 chafing dish, 1 7 in. frying pan, 1 1-qt. water heater, 1 coffee percolator 300 watt size. The average amount of current consumed per day during the test was 2.76 K. W. H., which at 5-cents per K. W. H. amounts to 13.8 cents per day, or $3.87 for the 28 days of the test. The first two weeks of the above record there were two in the family. The last two weeks there have been three. The cooking has been done by my wife all of this time, and all of our cooking has been done on the electric outfit. THEREFORE, the cost per person per day was 5 1/2 cents. The advantages of the electric outfit are the cleanliness of the utensils and the easiness with which they are kept clean; also the absolute lack of offensive odor during the operation of cooking. This latter reason is practically the strongest point for its use in Portland as it was the principal cause which led me to install the electric outfit. My wife used to be nauseated from the offensive odor of the gas that she was practically unable to eat after cooking the meal. ### TIPS ON CROSS-BREEDING HOGS

RATHER RISKY OPERATION—A SURE RULE.

Often Results in Benefit—But—Use Extreme Care in Exercising the Offspring Will Degenerate Back to the Old "Razor".

In view of the extensive breeding of hogs on the Twin Falls tract, and the results of a cross-breed, the following from the pen of Turner R. H. Wright of Boone county, Missouri, which appeared in the Breeders' Gazette, is of interest:

Crossing the breeds of hogs has both its merits and evils. It is not to be too highly praised, nor on the other hand too severely condemned. Many times the system has been of benefit, and many times it has been productive of serious results. It is a system which should be employed or practiced only when discretion and judgment are used.

It is well to judge the future by the past. The records of the development of our popular breeds together with the success or failure of the practices of the growers and feeders of today, are the book from which we must read. The various breeds of the present time trace back to a common origin. All have primarily the same ancestry. That is, they are the descendants of a cross between two different species—the wild boar of Europe, and the sus indicus, the hog of southern Asia.

Thus early in the formation of our domestic types has the art of cross-breding been brought to play. The blending of these species gave us the ancestors of the early domesticated hogs of Europe and England. In England there was developed what was known as the Old English and the Old Yorkshire types. In Europe, in northern Italy, there was developed the Neapolitan. These hogs were large, narrow and coarse of bone and build, yet they were a decided improvement over their ancestors. The blending of these three types gave us the immediate ancestors of our modern English and American breeds. The English again has crossing had its influence in the development of the hog.

In the later days of swine breeding, since the impetus for improvement has held away, there has been developed in America principally, the noted types of breeds, namely, the Chester White, the Poland-China and the Duroc-Jersey. The foundation of each of these breeds was the result of crossing.

The Chester White is the result of the blending of three distinct types of white hogs. The Duroc-Jersey has its origin in the mingling of the blood of four distinct types of red pig, with no doubt an admixture of Berkshire blood, making a total of five bloodlines in the cross.

In the early part of the nineteenth century, about the year 1816, the farmers in the Miami valley of Ohio, began to seek a quicker-maturing, better feeding and more profitable type of hog, than that native to the district at that time. Accordingly there were introduced into the valley three distinct types known as the Big Chinas, the Russians and the Byrnes. These were crossed and blended with the common hog of that section. Following this the Berkshire and the Irish Great were used. From this crossing and mixing of bloodlines there resulted what has been developed into the ideal of the fat hog type, the Poland-China.

In each of the cases cited, however, the work was far from complete. There remained the improvement and development of the breed, and this was accomplished not by continued crossing but by careful selections of variations and by the use, in many instances, of a system of breeding exactly the opposite to that of crossing. This is the method of in-breeding. As the farmers, growers and feeders of hogs in the cornbelt have become more and more progressive the improvement in the existing breeds has not kept pace with their increased demands. The cry for an animal that combines the qualities of fecundity, economy in the feedlot and quick maturity is constantly increasing. To meet this demand, the grower, not content to wait for improvement through selection and variation, has resorted to many attempts at crossing. In the great majority of cases the result has been disastrous. The movement instead of being one in advance has been a retrograde.

The feeder, however, has, in many instances, reaped good results from the attempts at the crossing of the breeds. Experience in the feedlot has shown that the mating of the Poland-China and the Berkshire or the Poland-China and the Duroc-Jersey, produces a pig with the fat cross, that is almost ideal for the feedlot conditions of the farmer of the cornbelt. One instance will serve as an illustration. In the spring of 1903 there were farrowed on a farm in Boone Co., Mo., some 20 pigs. Of these one-third were pure-bred Poland-Chinas, one-third pure-bred Duroc-Jerseys and the remaining thirty about one-half were the first cross of a Poland-China-bear used on Duroc-Jersey sows and the other half the resulting cross of a Duroc-Jersey-bear on Poland-China-sows. All the pigs were sired by these two boars, and of the sows used the Duroc-Jerseys and the Poland-Chinas were used. In the majority of the resulting blood lines. These pigs were pushed from the first, with the ultimate end, the market, in view. The average age of each group was practically the same. They were fed in a common feedlot, hence under exactly the same conditions. When marketed in December it was found that the average weight of the Poland-Chinas and the Duroc-Jerseys was practically the same, but what was most surprising the average weight of the cross-bred group was 20 pounds higher.

This was not intended primarily as an experiment, but the Duroc-Jersey was practically new in that locality at that time, and the cross was not yet tried, hence they were watched with interest. Urged on by the success of the hog of the first cross in the feedlot many farmers have endeavored still further to improve by further crossing. The result in the end, in the great majority of cases, has proved disastrous, for, instead of the vigorous, quick-maturing money-maker of the first cross, or the original pure-bred, the result has been a mongrel progeny, weak in the constitution and a disgrace to the feedlot.

Crossing, then, is valuable in the founding of new breeds or types or in the production of a hog for the feedlot and for the feedlot alone—one not intended to perpetuate its kind. But herein lies the danger. There are enough breeds already in existence. Improvement should come from selection and development of the present types. The first cross can be made successfully by the man who understands the nature of the stock, but the merits of the offspring should not urge the breeder to a cross beyond this point, for in the end the result will be atavism and the offspring will resemble not the smooth compact form of the ideal feeder, but the rough ungainly type of the razorback that ate the "mast" in the forest in the days of the pioneer.

Reliable information regarding the city and county generally and especially for the purpose of advertising, is furnished by the News Publishing Company, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Entered as second-class matter, December 2, 1905, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.
A report Ja being widely circulated to the effect that the Oregon Short Line is about to build from Wapli, the first station east of Mindokta, to Fuller, the first station east of Bliss, crossing the Twin Falls branch at Rupert and passing through the Mindokta and North Side tracts, touching Jerome and Wendell. There is a well grounded impression that this road will be built during the present year.

Something should be done to aid the Short Line officials who are endeavoring to maintain freight train service on the Twin Falls branch. There is no reason why this service should have been curtailed. The removal of one crew was not an economical move and has caused a great deal of annoyance. The company cannot plead that the amount of traffic does not warrant the employment of two crews. The freight receipts for February toll a different story.

The decision in the Nels Lind case will not have far reaching effect upon the farmers. The land owners will simply be obliged to pay for water for their second irrigation, regardless of when they may have received the water during the first season. It will be recalled that the company offered to pass the interest payments for 1905 provided the water users would pay maintenance charges. Some of the entrymen paid maintenance, others did not. The Nels Lind suit resulted.

time the farmer irrigates all the crops that he raises during that season to raise the crops he also gets water for one year. It also urges that such period cannot be divided up, in other words, that the crop cannot be started in July and grown up to November and then be returned to the interval. We do not think, however, that the contracting parties had specially in mind so much the raising of any particular crop of crops or of any particular period of time. There is but one irrigating season in each year. That season is defined by law as commencing on April 1st to November 1st. If the settler gets the free use of the water for the full period of one year, he necessarily gets the same benefit if he is saved for some reason from irrigating during the water the first day of the irrigating season and had been able to use it every day during that season. The contracting parties in this case clearly had in mind the exemption of the settler from payment of water rents for the period that water is used during 12 months before entering into the contract no one could tell when the works would be so advanced that water could be delivered to any settler. It was provided, however, that the settler should have the water during the first season. If the settler intended to raise one crop, he would necessarily want the water continuously during one season, but where he is going to continue the use of water, as he must necessarily do in farming, he would need it from year to year. He saw fit to receive and accept the use of the water from July 6th to the end of the season. He found beneficial use to which he could apply the water, and he should be properly charged with that period. If he continues to use the water, he is entitled to have the free use of water from July 6th, 1905, the date on which the company delivered it to him, until July 6th, 1906, at which time he would be bound to pay water rents for the succeeding year. It is contended that it would be difficult to apportion the year's water rent between the different months of the irrigating season. It is contended that he can let whether the water is of more value to the user during the early part of the season or the latter part of the season. That may be true, but he can make no contract for water for any shorter period than one year or one irrigating season. If the settler pays his water rents each time for the period of one year, he will be entitled to the water for the full year on which he first received water at the corresponding date the next year, and will thereby have a fixed and definite period of time covered by the payment of this water. On the contrary, there can be no in-

Use or iniquity done either party by allowing judgment against the defendant for an amount equal to the proportion of the annual rentals which the period from July 6th, when water was received, to the end of the irrigating season. The judgment in this case is reversed, and the cause remanded with directions to the trial court to make findings and enter judgment in favor of the plaintiff for such proportion of the annual water rentals as was used during the season, or at the option of the defendant, for the full year's water rentals, the period to end on the 6th day of July of the following year. Costs awarded in favor of appellant.

A large crowd was in attendance at the Negro school Wednesday. A. E. Green and others are at work on the house being erected by Mr. Blensmoler.
E. W. Davis was in town a few days ago. He will move on his place about the 1st of March. He will probably get his father-in-law to assist in the management of it.
John Balsch is expected in with a crew of house carpenters from Colorado soon. He will have his house completed half a mile south of Kimberly by the time he arrives.
Oliver Morrison unloaded his car of stock and machinery goods here Wednesday. He is from Griswold, Iowa, and is moving to his place near Hansen.
John Auetia of Rock Creek sent a shipment of cooper tools to Freely & Stone, New York, on Wednesday.
A mass meeting was held at Kimberly schoolhouse Wednesday evening and a full house was present. Miss DeBow, county superintendent, and Messrs. D. Thomas and J. A. McMullan were here from Twin Falls and gave interesting talks and good advice in regard to the proposed school building and the issuing of $15,000 bonds. It was unanimously decided to call an election at once to submit the matter to the voters of the district. Some of the advantages of building now will be that the work will be very cheap, that has been given to Twin Falls on shipping in brick during the next 40 days. There are a great many idle men in the county, and labor will be cheaper now than it will until fall. But the main reason why we should build now is to get ready for the fall term for we will have to get more men by the time we start our present work. We have no other option. Our people will be satisfied with only the best and the time to improve ourselves. The school board will post notices at once calling an election to vote on bonds in about 10 days and in the meantime let every one get in and work for Kimberly and its better school, and more inducements for homeowners to locate with us; it means a higher price for our lands and a better market for our crops to live if we want to stay here. Let us carry the bonds unanimously.

No complaint was being made against Golden, the general supposition being that he acted in self defense.

BREVITIES

Rev. David H. Jones of Boise will conduct Episcopalian services in the evening at 7:45. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

Dr. Wright of Pocatello made his first visit to Twin Falls last week. He was shown around by Del Sprague. Mr. Wright said the only thing that did not suit him in Twin Falls, was the anti-Burr sentiment. Otherwise the city seemed to be safe and sane.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church has been reorganized. The work meetings of the society are on the first and third Thursdays of each month. All ladies interested in the work are requested to meet with Mrs. Paul B. A. Bickel on March 5th.

The Guild passed a very pleasant afternoon with Mrs. Greenhow last Thursday. Fifteen ladies partook of the daily breakfast. Mrs. Greenhow pointed, while the three merry little misses, Julia and Suzanne Taylor and Stella Perrine assisted her. The next regular meeting will be held March 5th at the home of Mrs. R. M. McCollum at 2 p. m. At 4:30 p. m. a 10-cent tea will be served to which all ladies are cordially invited.

A Vermont association is to be formed on the Twin Falls tract. All persons of Vermont birth who care to join the organization are requested to either leave their names upon the dresses at W. E. Eldridge's clothing store or mail them to him. As soon as a list of names of Vermonters living either in Twin Falls or on the tract can be secured a meeting in the near future will be held at which time the association will be formed and made a permanent one.

Rev. Dr. Thomas M. Patterson of the Baptist Missionary Union of Boston was in the city for a few days last week. Dr. Patterson preached at the Baptist church both morning and evening last Sunday. It is three years since he last visited Twin Falls and he expressed himself as very well pleased with the growth of the city and tract and believes it will be a rival to Boise within a very few years. Dr. Patterson went to Idaho Falls from here.

Mr. B. Wolpert of Wolpert & Co., the new clothing firm that is to open a store in the St. Regis block, is confined to his house with typhoid pneumonia and is quite sick.

Twin Falls is saturated with romance. The old bachelors are growing nervous and the situation calls for sound judgment. Last week the trouble was started by Daniel E. Regan and Miss Marian E. Litzman who were married at the Catholic church last Saturday morning. Charley Macaulay was the best man. His physician reports that Charley's temperature is getting down to normal but he is still in a critical condition. Mrs. Regan came from Minneapolis and if there are any more like her in that city Twin Falls is willing to pay their fare out. She is a musician and those who have met her say that Mrs. Regan is the luckiest man in the county. Before the boys had recovered from their surprise at the wedding of Mr. Regan, who should turn up but W. F. Brown, the accomplice of R. A. Carter in the real estate business. With him was Mrs. Brown who proved to be none other than Miss Winifred Anderson of Chicago. Mrs. Brown is well known in Twin Falls where she has a splendid reputation as a stenographer. Brown always was lucky, so his friends say. Under the circumstances, Mr. and Mrs. Brown will have to be forgiven. Likewise Mr. and Mrs. Regan, and may they live long and prosper.

Guy Storer returned yesterday from Kansas City. He said the winter had been mild in Missouri. Mr. Storer did considerable boasting for Twin Falls while he was away and landed some live ones.

The Rebeekahs will hold a box social at Odd Fellows hall Saturday evening. All Rebeekahs, Odd Fellows and their families are invited to attend. The ladies are expected to bring lunch baskets which will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. An entertainment will follow the social.

Wednesday evening Mrs. W. F. Nixon entertained the bridge club. Five tables enjoyed an exciting game until a late hour when Mrs. Craven assisted the hostess in serving light refreshments. The winners of the evening was Washington's birthday both in tallies and colors. The favors were won by C. M. Hill and Miss Hilgobee.

Al Page came down from Whidner on Thursday to look after his interests in Twin Falls. Mr. Page is the largest individual land owner on the tract. He said it was muddy up in Whidner but the winter has been very pleasant. Mr. Page is a regular, strong on boys of which he has a large number of beauties.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. John Newton, on Tuesday, March 3. The superintendents of the various departments will be expected to give reports. Following is the program: How may we benefit by studying Miss Willard's life? Mrs. Anna Evans; Why should a church member belong to the W. C. T. U.? Mrs. Alice Glover; Serving by example, discussion of Mark 3, 13-16, Mrs. Peit.

The appearance of the Transcontinental Trio in this city on Wednesday evening, March 11th, will be the last number in the lecture course for this season. The Trio consists of George Bartlett Cutler of Boston, the singing humorist, Miss Maude Annette Drake of Chicago, the dramatic reader, and Miss Helen Goff of Los Angeles, the prima donna contralto. All are exceptionally fine artists in their different lines and will present a unique program that cannot fail to please all who attend the concert.

The regular meeting of the Byranga club was held at the home of Mrs. Sawyer Tuesday evening. The subject of the day was George Washington with Mrs. Beaver leading. A biography sketch was given by Miss Gourley, "Washington's Young Manhood" by Mrs. Chamberlain, "His character" by Mrs. Packard, a recitation by Mrs. Nixon, "Maxims of George Washington" by Mrs. Ault, a reading by Mrs. Sweeley, selection from Edward Everett by Mrs. Clonch and patriotic puzzles by Mrs. Hayes. The next meeting of the club will also be at Mrs. Sawyer's.

Friday afternoon the Luncheon club met with Mrs. M. J. Sweeley. The pleasing personality of the hostess is well known and this affair proved more entertaining than usual. The twelve guests were seated about a large round table, the center piece being a blooming cyclamen. At each cover with the place cards were exquisite water color paintings large enough to frame. The views were all different, but the subjects were water scenes all being the work of Mrs. Sweeley. At the close of the luncheon the ladies perpetrated an amusing surprise on Mrs. McCollum by giving her a kitchen shower, it being her 26th wedding anniversary. The gifts were most acceptable being the latest cooking appliances in nickelware. The afternoon was spent in playing bridge at which Mrs. Nixon won the first prize. Mrs. Maxwell the guests favor, both receiving Binky's embroidered handkerchiefs. The ladies present were Mesdames Lewis, Williams, Maxwell, Pike, Nixon, McCollum, Pickett, Perrine, Cravog, Alkon and Miss McCollum.

Miss Grace Kierstedt came over from Millner on Wednesday for a brief business visit.

George Wise left on Thursday for the east. He will visit Chicago, Pittsburgh and other cities before returning.

The new rates, recently agreed upon at the Omaha conference will go into effect on March 25. As a rule the minimum charges are reduced. The rates affect all points.

Homer Craven is in Portland, Oregon, whence he will go east before his return to Twin Falls. He is loaded with Twin Falls literature, and if he lets anyone get away from him it will be a wonder.

Agent D. E. Sullivan of the Short Line is doing the heavy stunt on his farm, two miles west of town. He cleared 15 acres in two days and netted 40,000 pounds of rock. He will put the rocks back when he sets his feet free.

C. E. Booth has purchased the Golden Rule stock which he will mortgage by special sale. The premises occupied by the Golden Rule in the Triplett building have been rented by O. A. Stalker of the Hub who will take possession next month.

The February freight receipts in Twin Falls already exceed those of last February, which should be convincing proof that the freight train service should not be curtailed. Supt. Olmstead is making heroic efforts to maintain the service and he is entitled to support from Twin Falls.

George Bulles, Sr. father of Mrs. C. E. Booth, Miss Nell Bulles and George Bulles, Jr., died at his home in Twin Falls yesterday. The funeral occurred this afternoon. Rev. John Gourley conducting the services and Undertaker Miller having charge of the interment. A male quartet sang during the service. Interment was in Twin Falls cemetery, the pall bearers being A. N. Sprague, E. B. Williams, J. F. McGrew and O. A. Stalker. Mr. Bulles recently came to Twin Falls from Griswold, Iowa, and although his health since his arrival was such as to prevent his going out to much extent, he made many friends. His death was a great shock to the many friends of the family, whose hearts went sympathetically with the bereaved.

SCHOOL NOTES. Last Friday night the Twin Falls high school won their second victory in a debate. This time Idaho Falls went down before the representatives of the local school. Their work showed great improvement over the debate two weeks ago. The grades are lower, but they are lower as compared with the grades made by the opponents. Curtis Purraz was not able to speak owing to illness, but Kenyon Greene filled his place very ably. The team goes to Pocatello next Friday to debate the Academy there. Twin Falls already has two big feathers in their cap and to win again procures for them the championship of southeastern Idaho. The program was as follows: Vocal solo, selected, Gladys Musgrave; Debate: "Resolved that a system of Postal Saving banks be established in the United States." Affirmative: Kenyon Greene, James Shields and Doll Fuller. Negative: Albert Greenwell, Albert Johnson and Christy Wilson. Instrumental solo, Will Coburn, vocal solo, "Absent", Ethel Davies. Following are the grades as given: Kenyon Greene, 87 1/2; James Shields, 84; Doll Fuller, 87 2/3; Albert Greenwell, 86 1/3; Albert Johnson, 68 2/3, and Christy Wilson, 83 2/3. Affirmative: Argument—82 2/3, delivery—80 2/3 and language, 86 2/3. Negative: Argument, 79 1/3, delivery 76 4/9 and language, 84. Total, affirmative 746, negative 718.

CONTACT SHOWS HOPEFUL SIGNS

PROSPECTS ENCOURAGING FOR COPPER CAMP.

Those interested in banking on the construction of a railway from Twin Falls to the Southern Pacific at Wells, Nevada.

With the assurance of railroad connection; with the certainty that electric power and light in unlimited quantities will be supplied; with a favorable opening and with two or three plants erected in which to reduce area of the district to a high grade product, ready for the railway contact, Nevada is ripe for copper camps in an extremely northeastern portion of Elko county, is just ready to break into the limelight of public favor.

It is not a new camp. It is an old camp reborn. All of the great ore one was shipped out to the railroad and then forwarded to Swansea, Wales, for treatment, and the producers made money. Then it went out of existence, so to speak, like many other camps to give way to the gold-silver-lead camps. It has enjoyed its Rip Van Winkle slumber and is being roused by mining men of the mining world in which ideal formations and heavy mineralization, with generous natural advantages are understood to spell "success".

Last year a railroad was surveyed and grade located between Twin Falls and Wells, on the Southern Pacific, a distance of 110 miles. A. J. Tarbet, of this city, who has been prospecting and acquiring mineral ground for himself and associates for the past few years, helped the engineer locate that line. Within the past few days he has received absolute information from authentic quarters at Omaha that the line will be built this year, and that work will begin just as soon as the season is far enough advanced to permit it.

There is a double object in building this road. One is to secure the business that is known will come through the mines of the Contact district, and the other is to connect the district with the smelters at Ely and make possible the handling of coal from the Washoe fields to all that portion of Nevada by way of the Granger-Pocatello branch of the Union Pacific, and thus avoid the crowding of traffic over the Lucin cut-off.

In the meantime, and in order to get him mining rapidly and secure a powerful foothold in the big camp of copper without opposition, a combination of Seattle capital, at the head of which is A. V. Todd, is now preparing to install a steamboiler power plant on the Little Salmon river, at a point eight miles above Contact. Light and power is to be supplied to the country from this plant, while below and in easy distance of the mines of the district, three different mills and leaching plants are to be built for the purpose of handling the ores from the mines. Pending the construction of the railroad to Wells, traction engine trains are to be provided to haul the product of these plants over the 60 odd miles of good roads to Wells.

Further to facilitate the business of that region and to encourage the filling up of the country about the mines with settlers, the government has ordered the Sparks-Hughes Cattle company, which has hundreds of miles of fencing in the public domain, to remove it and permit the entry of the same by bona fide settlers. This means much to the mining region, and the intention of the government is said to be millions of acres of available land that can be populated and made productive of foodstuffs, etc., that will be required to support the mines employed in the mines and mills before a great while.

The surface ores of the Contact camp, Mr. Tarbet states, are uniformly high grade, while the formation lies no room to doubt that the mines, like those of Butte, will go to the deep. The contact is one between granite and lime and the sulphide ores have already been reached in the Brooke property at a depth of 350 feet. Boronite and all the richer characters of oxide and carbonates of copper, carrying exceptional values in silver and gold, occur in the ledges near the surface and in hundreds of places. Mr. Tarbet says it is going to be highly profitable to mine from the grass roots down. At depths, he believes, the biggest deposits will be found in the granite side of the great contact.

Conditions for mining are ideal. There is everything required in that country, with the exception of coal and lumber, and the latter will not be expensive when it is built. Coal will be required, of course, but with the great adjacent power plants the cost of electricity will be so reasonable that mines can be operated at a minimum cost. To be sure, we will be everything work together is that section that Mr. Tarbet predicts that copper will be produced for cents a pound.

Clifford Hebert, who spent years in Park City, has been joined by Salt Lake and Ely capitalists and will operate an extensive scale in the new camp during the present year. He and his associates own over 50 claims in the camp and a townsite on which it is proposed to build the new city of copper. Mr. Hebert has been going over the various sections of Nevada for more than a year, and he declares that he has seen nothing to compare with the mineralization of the Contact district.

"Just mark what I tell you," said

Mr. Hebert on his arrival from Nevada a day or two ago, "Contact is destined to become one of the greatest copper camps in the world, and within a distance of 100 miles about Rayfield and other new gold camps in Nevada, I predict that Gold Circle will outrank nearly all of their during the present year. It is not King Hebert, but the future, but it has the goods and they will begin to talk for themselves by and by."--Salt Lake Herald.

VICTORY FOR FOREST SERVICE

Cattle Must Not Be Allowed to Drift on Forests.

United States Attorney Carl Rasch of Montana, has notified Clifford Shannon, chief of the United States forest service, that the United States circuit court of appeals at San Francisco, has affirmed the decision of Judge Hunt in the grazing trespass case instituted by the government against Thomas Shannon.

No copy of the decision has yet been received by the forest service, but it is believed that it forbids Shannon to allow his cattle to graze upon the national forests, and that the national forests need not be fenced to prevent such drifting, although the state laws make such fencing necessary for private lands.

In December, 1904, Shannon allowed his cattle to drift upon the Little Belt national forest in Montana. To put a stop to this, suit was brought by the United States, and on March 18, 1907, Judge Hunt, in the United States circuit court for that state, rendered a decision in favor of the government, and issued an injunction perpetually restraining Shannon from allowing his cattle to drift upon the forest. Montana has a fence law by which land owners must fence their lands before they can obtain redress from stockmen whose cattle feeding upon the open public domain, range and injure the private lands.

Shannon's counsel argued that this state law should apply as against the United States, but Judge Hunt held that the power of congress over the public lands, including the national forests, is complete; that congress has lawfully delegated to the secretary of agriculture the authority to make regulations to protect the forest; that the secretary had properly made a regulation that cattle must not range upon the forests without permit, and that consequently Shannon was trespasser who could not have his cattle to drift upon the Little Belt forest, although it was unfenced.

Shannon appealed from this decision, and as Montana is in the 9th circuit, the case came to the United States circuit court at San Francisco. The court has now affirmed Judge Hunt's decision, and this judgment is binding upon all federal courts in the circuit. A similar case is pending in the 10th circuit, at Denver, Colorado, which is in the 8th circuit.

The recent message of the president to congress has rekindled the third term agitation, and has caused a feeling akin to consternation in the minds of the men who are candidates for the position.

"I am in favor of President's Roosevelt's policies, and I believe the conditions in our country today for the most part, that only some one who can be relied upon to carry out the Roosevelt policies can bring the business interests of the country, into such harmonious relations with the people and their interests that the best good for all will result.

How to Pay for Your Farm Out of the First Year's Crop.

PLANT "DICK LOWE" WHEAT

The "Dick Lowe" wheat came from Siberia. Mr. Lowe received a very small quantity, planted same in his garden, and from that source got the best started. Our entire crop raised on our ranch north of Filer was all of the "Dick Lowe" variety, clean, and free from all obnoxious weeds of any kind.

We heartily recommend this wheat to all farmers who are suffering from any other wheat known for fall or spring planting. Hydo, Kelsey & Ward, Springville, Utah.

Spanish Fork, Utah, Sept. 19, 1907. As manager of the Gem Roller Mills of Spanish Fork, I desire to certify that the "Dick Lowe" wheat which is raised in Utah county, and is in general favor with the farmers, is a wheat that yields exceptionally well.

Danger in Delay Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous to For Twin Falls People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, urinary troubles, dropsy, dizziness and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidney with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. James Ricks, living on Main street in the first ward, Rexburg, Idaho, says: "I certainly appreciate Doan's Kidney Pills. Our son had a severe attack of measles some time ago which left his kidneys in a disordered condition. He never complained very much until he had the most annoying symptom of the trouble was his lack of control over the secretions, especially at night. He had no ambition for strength, his complexion was sallow and puffy, spots would appear beneath his eyes. We became alarmed at his condition, kept trying him one preparation after another but he did not receive relief until I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and he began using them. After using them for a few days he was cured, and he has gained in strength and flesh and is well in every way. I am very grateful and thankful for the good Doan's Kidney Pills have done in his case and cannot speak too highly in their praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents.

Reported Marriage of Ed Braun Gives His Friends Deep Concern—Comptrol Club is Considering Fair Day for Every Month.

BUHL, Ida., Feb. 27.—Donald McKay, Geo. L. Eveleth and Ed Braun, who recently purchased the Hotel Buhl, took possession of that popular hostelry Sunday afternoon. The hotel has been thoroughly renovated. Mr. McKay will manage the hotel generally and Mrs. George Eveleth will preside over the kitchen and dining room, which is a guarantee that the house will be conducted in first class style in every particular. If the report that Ed Braun is married turns out to be true, there will be something doing when Ed returns to Buhl. The Bachelor's club has been wearing a downcast look ever since the report has been circulated, for Ed was one of its most prominent and active members. The question what should be done to save the club was considered at the last regular meeting, and it was decided to try Ed for desertion and if found guilty to inflict the severest penalty that the rules provide for. The consensus of opinion was that an example should be made of some one and the sooner it was done the better. Ed will have to stand trial and there is no appeal from a decision of the trial court. A meeting of the young men of Buhl and vicinity is called to be held tonight in the back room of the Ellison Drug company's drug store for the purpose of organizing a Buhl Boosters' club. A feeling exists that, for some reason or other, Buhl is not brought as prominently before the outside world as it ought to be, and an effort is going to be made to let the outside public and home-seekers know what we have. Buhl boasts a town in Idaho for varied natural resources. The best soil on earth surrounds it in thousands of acres. The very best kind of building materials, including sandstone, sand and brick clay lies at its doors. Also a fine quality of fire clay. Add to this the attraction of unlimited amount of water power in the Snake river only a few miles away, and the best sublimely beautiful scenery in the world within an hour's drive of the town, and a faint idea is presented of the opportunities and attractions in and around Buhl. The Boosters will knock nothing, or any other town but boost for Buhl and Buhl only. We are fully convinced of the truth of the saying, that God helps those who help themselves. Flynn Hinkley has been employed by the district canal association to canvass the precinct for members for the association. He reports that all except the very few who belong to the association. Several non-residents have been communicated with and requested to join. Many of them have done so and it is believed that all non-residents who wish to become members. The frost is out of the ground and the ranchmen have no time for anything now but plowing.

N. G. Scott, Mr. McLaughlin and Mick Boon are building a residence on the hill. Ed Braun has much real estate in town. The amount of new building in town is rapidly assuming a civilized and homelike appearance. The prove up breaks are giving way to good substantial farm houses. The school is going up in fire and smoke night and day and plowed ground taking its place. The Idaho Realty company has started work on its building again. Building was necessarily suspended during the cold snap of Tuesday. W. O. Buel of Dunkirk went to Ellers Monday for a load of seed wheat. J. F. Boll of Hagerman, T. S. Boll of Parsons, Kansas, and G. H. Lemon of Hagerman, were Buhl visitors Wednesday.

John S. Hart of Gooding, Idaho, registered at Hotel Buhl Tuesday. W. H. Fraser, D. M. Fraser and J. W. Spencer of Waterford, Wash., were among the land seekers on this end of the tract Friday and Saturday. Richard Sylvester of Washington, D. C. was a guest of Hotel Buhl one day last week. J. N. McPherson and J. M. Bokor of Wallowa, Oregon, were looking over this end of the tract last week seeking a place for new home.

Dr. O. M. Drake of Boise, an able optician, spent Sunday and Monday in Buhl examining eyes and fitting glasses to them. Miss E. B. Graves of Denver, Colorado, spent Monday and Tuesday a guest of Hotel Buhl. F. Smith of Salt Lake, Utah, was in Buhl between train times Tuesday. W. C. Farby of Heber, was doing business in Buhl Saturday. G. M. Edmonson of Denver, Colorado, was among the prospective land purchasers in Buhl Monday. E. P. Taylor of Salt Lake City, spent a few hours in Buhl Tuesday on business. M. E. Bowby of Rupert, visited his mother, Mrs. Sophia Bowby, and his brother, F. Bowby, Tuesday. S. F. Durant and W. H. Lyman of Salt Lake, were circulating around among our business men the latter part of last week. L. F. Wiseman of Billings, Mont., was looking for a piece of land around Buhl last week. A. J. Miller of Des Moines, Iowa, is inspecting the country and seeking a piece of it to suit him. The Commercial club held its regular meeting Tuesday night and discussed the question of having a farm on the Buhl. Something in the nature of a fair day, once a month, and appointed a committee to investigate the subject and report what could be done at the next regular meeting. A committee was also appointed to look into the matter of getting a road through to the river on the east section line of the townsite. Miss Agnes Miller is the head waitress at Hotel Buhl, and sees that the guests are properly cared for in the dining room. The district canal association meeting last Saturday was well attended, and matters of considerable importance considered. S. O. Kerley was a Twin Falls business visitor yesterday. The government is advertising for bids for contracts to carry the mail between Buhl and Three Creek and between Buhl and Austin. Jim Brucette sold his ranch to Russ W. Alford yesterday. W. F. Proctor returned yesterday from an extended trip through eastern Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming. He said that he saw some fine country in his travels but none to equal that which lies around Buhl, and he was glad to get back and tackle the spring work on his ranch. He will set out a commercial orchard this spring. N. Layne of Chicago, is among the strangers in Buhl. He is riding around with the real estate men and will probably make an investment. E. V. Vock of Worthington, Minn., and C. W. Vock of LaGrange, Wis., came in on the passenger train yesterday and are looking over the country with a view to making investments. F. E. Huffman of Spokane, Wash., is registered at Hotel Buhl. Andy Wilson made a flying business trip to Twin Falls Monday, returning the same day. C. Bedford of the Bedford Drug company of Twin Falls came in on the passenger train yesterday and is riding around the country with our real estate men. He is looking for some of our good west end land. A very delightful event of the week was the children's party given Friday evening by Attie Layno and Evelyn Peck in honor of Laura Morgan. The invitations read from 7:30 to 10:30 and promptly at that hour the little Misses—dressed in their prettiest dresses and each one carrying a dollie or a teddy bear arrived at the home of Angie Layno. After birthday greetings had been extended to the guest of honor the children were seated at a table and each one given a hat pin. From a large dish of peanuts in the center of the table they tried to see who could get the largest number of peanuts on the hat pin. Zella Harger received the prize a box of candy. A paper and pencil was then given to each little girl and they were requested to draw a picture of their right hand neighbor. The subject in this drawing contest were little Clarence Peck, Fernie Marshall and Russel Allred. A delicious luncheon was then served to the little people and after wishing the hostess many happy birthdays, they took their dishes and doll rags and departed for their own homes. The following little folks were present: Nellie Allred, Nechua Milner, Zella Harger, Lonnie Wyatt, Etta Marshall, Annie Faris, Laura Morgan, Etta Mounce, Angie Layno, Elizabeth Schooler and Evelyn Peck. The cooked food sale and luncheon given by the ladies of the St. Elizabeth Guild of the Episcopal church last Saturday afternoon and evening was a decided success in every way. Mrs. Faris presided in the cooked food department. The tempting array of salads, bread, cakes and pies found a ready sale. The luncheon was in charge of Miss Nan Vance. Miss Vance assisted by Misses Eva Albee, Day Shank and Edith Milner, presided at the tables and served a most delectable dining luncheon. The menu consisting of creamed chicken in umbales, fruit salad, sandwiches, cake and coffee. About 6 o'clock the ladies were greatly surprised by the appearance of the Buhl brass band. This was the first time the band had played in public and it surely had an enthusiastic reception and the music furnished was highly appreciated. Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. George Marshall and Mrs. Willard Wyatt were Twin Falls visitors last week. Mrs. Tom Holmes is in Twin Falls taking the teacher's examination.
