Perky of Boise—Merchants Will Close Their Doors and Assist in Celebrating the Holiday.

Labor day, the only legal holiday, will be joyfully celebrated in Twin Falls on Monday, September 7. The local merchants have agreed to close their doors and have been liberal in donating prizes. The local labor unions have been active in promoting the celebration and have succeeded in preparing attractive programs. There will be a large number of handsome floats in the parade, which gives promise of being the most picturesque spectacle of the kind ever witnessed in Twin Falls.

The oration of the day will be delivered by Judge K. I. Perky of Boise. James A. Waters will be master of ceremonies and C. W. Dyer marshal of the day.

The line of march will form in front of the Odd Fellows hall on First street, south. The parade will be west to Shoshone avenue, north on the avenue to Main street and east on Main to the baseball grounds.

The first feature on the program will be a bucking contest for which Miller Evans has secured some of the most and most vicious "outlaws" in the state. The first prize will be $15 cash, the second $10, the third $5 and the fourth a pair of riding boots offered by the Idaho Department Store. ## TO DOUBLE ITS CAPITAL STOCK

MCCORMICK & CO. TO ADMIT LOCAL CAPITAL.

Stock Will Be Increased from $50,000 to $100,000 and Name of Bank Will Be Changed—New Stock is Already Over Subscribed.

The capital stock of McCormick & Co.'s bank in Twin Falls is to be increased from $50,000 to $100,000 by the admission of local stockholders who have already subscribed more than the required amount. Mr. McCormick will still retain the controlling interest in the institution, which is to be known as the Twin Falls Bank & Trust Co. In all about 20 local stockholders will be added, prominent among whom are I. B. Forline, Truman O. Boyd, H. O. Miller, C. E. Booth, P. H. Smith and Fred A. Volgt of Twin Falls and A. C. Miller and C. A. Wilfong of Salt Lake City. Mr. Wilfong will be in Twin Falls next week and is to remain as an officer of the bank.

The business of the bank has increased to such an extent that Mr. McCormick decided to enlarge the scope of its operations by doubling its capital. He yielded to the wishes of Twin Falls citizens who desired stock in the bank and the fact that the stock was immediately over subscribed was gratifying proof of public confidence. It also demonstrated the very interesting and pleasing fact that there was an abundance of local capital to invest.

The new bank, if such it may be termed, will have splendid quarters in the building which McCormick & Co. are now erecting adjacent to the present location.

THIS ROAD WOULD HELP SOME

Oregon Short Line Talks of Building South from Twin Falls.

Surveying parties have been placed in the field by William Ashton, chief engineer of the Oregon Short Line, to run a line for a railroad between Twin Falls and Wells, Nov. The proposed line will be about 90 miles long, and will be built for the purpose of getting the districts around Twin Falls an outlet to Nevada and California.

"It is expected that the region around Twin Falls will become a great producer," said Mr. Ashton yesterday. "The proposed line will be for the purpose of reaching the Southern Pacific main line at Wells so that the Twin Falls region will have an outlet for its products and for passenger traffic to Nevada and California."

The Twin Falls region, which is rapidly filling with settlers, is reached by a branch of the Oregon Short Line running from Minidoka. To get to Nevada or California at present, it is necessary for travelers from Twin Falls to go east to Pocatello and then south to the Southern Pacific main line or west to Portland—Salt Lake Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Nims and family arrived from Red Cliff, Colo., on route to Jerome, where Mr. Nims is about to publish a good Republican newspaper. His building is completed and his plant is on the way.

FINE DISPLAY OF BLOODED HORSES

George Eveleth and Ed. Braun of Buhl Draw the Gift Stallion—Handsome Prizes Awarded Owners of Colts Sired by Horses Sold.

There was an excellent display of blooded horses at the sale conducted by Colonel E. Masters of Boise for C. A. McMaster in Twin Falls on Thursday, Sept. 3. Before the exhibition and sale at the ball grounds a parade was given on Main street headed by the Twin Falls band. The horses and colts made a splendid showing, and many words of praise were spoken as the animals passed along the street towards the grounds. The judging of the colts was the first thing upon the program. Messrs. Worthington and Ferguson acted as judges. Those who won prizes for showing also best colts sired by the different horses were as follows:

Colts sired by Frank E. A. P. Senior, $15 for colt "Beauty"; from Silvano, T. T. Rutledge, $15 for colt "Anderson"; from King Brilliant, John E. Eichert, $15 for colt "Betty"; from Bob, the $15 for colt "Betty". Following the judging, the drawing took place, Georgia McEaster and Gyneth Young drawing the tickets from the box as they were counted. It had been advertised that the 50th number would be the lucky one, but the plan was changed so that the man holding the last ticket in the box was the one to have his choice of any of the horses. Towards the end of the drawing large bonuses were offered for the remaining chances, but no one seemed to yield. Finally the last number, 153, was called, and Ed Braun and Frank Eveleth of Buhl proved to be the fortunate holders of that ticket. They took King Brilliant, the Percheron, as their choice, following which the auction sale of the remainder of the horses was held.

Charles Hedrick and Jno. B. White purchased the following: Frank E. Senior, Bob, $300; Silvano, $1000; Betty, $250. H. B. Luo, who assisted in the auctioneering, sold for W. E. McMaster a 2-year-old stallion to Joseph Nelson of Hansen for $450. A span of yearlings owned by McMaster and Burdington was purchased by C. A. McMaster for $675. The grand stand was full of sightseers, many of whom were ladies. The show and sale was a big success and Mr. McMaster deserves a lot of credit in arranging such an exhibition of blooded horses.

Rev. Layton, who has been acting as pastor of the Baptist church for the past four months, resigned last Sunday evening, his resignation to take effect at once. Rev. Layton will devote his time to other missionary work in a different part of the state. Until a permanent pastor can be called it is probable that the Rev. Harmon will serve as a supply. At the Sunday evening service resolutions extending the thanks of the members of the church to Mr. Layton for his good work he has accomplished while in this city were adopted.

DEMOCRATS WILL CONVENE AT BUHL

COUNTY CONVENTION SET FOR SEPTEMBER 30.

Primaries Will Be Held on the 28th—Party Will Nominate Candidate for the Office of County Clerk and ex-Officio Auditor and Recorder.

The Democratic county-convention will be held in Buhl on Wednesday, September 24, the primary election was set for Monday, the 25th. It was at first intended to hold the convention in Twin Falls, but Buhl put in a bid for the convention and the county committee concluded to favor the west end town. It will be a freight primary, no effort being made to nominate candidates there. The Democratic call includes the office of clerk of the district court and ex-officio auditor and recorder in it is list of officers, it being the intention of the party to contest for this office on the ground that the present incumbent cannot hold over for another two years, although the bill treating the county of Twin Falls was drawn with that intent. The Democrats claim that the bill cannot be so construed and they intend to put the question in the courts if necessary. The Republicans have made no nomination for the office and at present it is not their intention to do so, though the convention may determine otherwise.

Candidates for office on the Democratic ticket are tardy in coming forward, thus far there has been no finalization of names on any ticket except that of Sheriff, for which W. Dyer of Twin Falls apparently has a clear field.

This is a picture of a little picnic party, taken in the locust grove of James A. Waters at the Twin Falls Nursery. The locust trees shown in the picture were planted May 10, 1905. By an accident they were irrigated too late in the autumn of that year and they were winter killed. In the following spring, or about two years before the picture was taken, they commenced to grow up from the roots and they are now 20 feet high and in splendid condition. The grove is covered with white clover, which shows directly in the picture. Seated around the table from left to right are Mrs. Waters, Mrs. McCollum, Mrs. H. O. Miller, Miss Elva McCollum, R. M. McCollum, James A. Zora Waters. When the water was turned into the Twin Falls canal on March 1, 1905, Mr. Waters was just beginning to set out his nursery. A visit to his place today will convince anyone that no section of the country can produce better trees in a shorter space of time than Twin Falls.

STREET LIGHTS FOR BUSY BUHL

POWER LINES TO BE EXTENDED FROM FILER.

Waterworks System Enlarged to Cover an Additional 14 Blocks—Charlie Coker Placed in Charge—Buhl Brick Turning Out Fine.

BUHL, Idaho, Sept. 2.—A large crowd of men under J. D. McElrath commenced work on the extension of the water mains this morning. The water mains will be numbered 14 blocks in various directions through the center of the town and into the residence districts. Superintendent J. R. Conroy has in charge the work. Mr. Coker was appointed superintendent of the waterworks system in his place. Mr. Coker will push the work of extension as fast as men and money can do it. Mr. Conroy's interests in and around Twin Falls, including a 60-acre orchard, coupled with the fact that his family lives in the Magic City, makes him glad to leave Buhl, although he has the highest regard for its people and unlimited faith in its future greatness and prosperity. The Buhl waterworks system will be improved in many ways. The purity of the water, since the opening of the townsite, is acknowledged by all who have drunk it, to be the best of any water in any of the towns on the tract, and its purity will be materially improved by the new mains. The Democrats of Buhl precinct held a meeting last Saturday night for the purpose of organizing a Bryan Democratic club. The meeting was well attended and the club organized by electing P. W. Monahan president and E. A. Wyatt secretary. A committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws. The meeting then adjourned until Thursday evening, the 10th, at 8 o'clock p. m.

A special session of the village trustees held Monday night an ordinance was adopted granting the Great Shoshone & Twin Falls Water Power company a franchise to build its lines into the town and a contract was entered into with the company for five arc lights, the number to be increased as the demand requires. The franchise was secured as those in Twin Falls for light and power purposes. The life of the contract is 10 years. Mr. Schneidloch, the trustee who reported the franchise, was present at the meeting. He promised the trustees that work would commence on the extension of the electric lines from Filer towards Buhl promptly at 6 o'clock Thursday morning and would be vigorously pushed to completion. In a few weeks it will be bright and sunny in Buhl.

The brick from the Buhl brick factory is being hauled to the schoolhouse and work on the construction will be continued on the structure without further delay until it is completed. Meantime the temporary schoolhouse is rising rapidly and will be ready for occupancy by the opening of the school year. The brick is of a very fine quality and much better than even the most hopeful expected. Buhl is it, with a big I.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Conner came up from Filer yesterday on a business and pleasure trip. Of course Dan had to talk some politics while in Buhl, just to let us know where he was at.

John B. Hinkley is now in the transfer business and ready to move or transfer anything from a spool of thread to a brick house.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruby Roth were in from the Tonkawa ranch Friday.

Watermaster Frank Coffin came up from Twin Falls last week and spent a few hours in Buhl.

Eugenia F. St. John delivered two temperance lectures here Friday and Monday nights of last week and this week.

W. S. Minnick of Twin Falls was a Buhl business visitor Thursday.

H. C. Judy of Pendleton, Oregon, was among the last buyers on this end of the tract last week.

Archie Anderson came up from Twin Falls for a short business trip Friday.

W. O. Syster was up from Clear Lake Monday.

H. P. Brandon of Portland, Oregon, resided at Hotel Buhl Friday.

Dr. W. S. Duckett was in from the ranch Saturday. He says that Judge Boggs is behaving well lately and thinks that he will continue to do so unless he meets Don McKay.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nihart left Sunday evening for Tremonton, Utah, for a short visit with relatives there. J. L. Nihart of Garland, Utah, brother of Fred Nihart, spent a week visiting his brother and returned home Sunday. He was favorably impressed with Buhl and the surrounding country.

H. M. Miller was in from his ranch four miles south of town Monday evening.

REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM

Following is the platform of the Republican party of Idaho adopted by the state convention:

The Republican party in delegate convention assembled again presents its declaration of principles to the people of this state and confidently ask their support thereof. Mindful alike of its success and its responsibilities, it takes the people into its councils, confident of a renewal of that allegiance so many times bestowed in its political organization. It has been, and is, a party of constructive ideas and policies, as distinguished from its leading opponent, which is one of destruction and negation. Our political organization has been the vanguard of American progress, and the people have always known the position of its candidates on all of the great questions and issues which confront them. The Chicago convention of 1908 announced those principles, convictions and purposes in language so clear that none can misunderstand. That platform defines the position of the Republican party on all the great questions which confront our people at this time. We reiterate and affirm those purposes and declarations, and the Republican party of Idaho joins with the Republican party of the nation on these issues thus presented.

We unite with the whole world in congratulating civilization in the many advances made for popular government by our illustrious president, Theodore Roosevelt. He has given the masses of the people renewed hope in our form of government; he has shown them, as no president ever did since the immortal Lincoln, that the people do rule. He has awakened the public conscience and given a new definition to the word "honesty." Because of the force of his character, and the energy of the man, every public official from the highest to the lowest in the land sees a new duty before him. Because of the example he has set, public office involves such a service to the people as was never contemplated before. He has given us such a record of official life as meets the universal approval not only of our party but of all parties and of all people. We have a right to be proud of his administration and to ask the approval by the people of the political organization he has so highly honored.

Taft and Sherman.

We join with the Republicans of the nation in support of our candidates for president and vice president, William H. Taft and James S. Sherman. We congratulate our party and the country upon the nomination of William H. Taft for president. He is a man of the highest character and the ripest experience in all those qualifications so essential to the high office for which he has been nominated. He has that ideal mental equipoise which comes from his long judicial experience. He possesses the very highest order of executive ability, as evidenced by his career as a cabinet officer and in the service of his country in other capacities. He has at already been tried in almost every situation that can confront him as president, and has in each instance risen to the full stature of the position. He has been thoroughly trained in the great school of the present administration, and represents in every way its policies. We know from the record of the man himself, made in the official stations which he has occupied, that he stands for all that our great President Roosevelt represents, and that, if elected, he will carry out those policies and principles. The American people are not willing that any backward step shall be taken or that any experiment shall be tried at this time. They believe, as we believe, that Roosevelt stands for the very best there is in popular government, and that our candidate for president of the United States will continue in the same course to the end that the people of this country may govern themselves in letter and in spirit, and that we may have, as was intended from the beginning, a government of the people and by the people.

Shame of Democracy.

We point with shame to the insult tendered the people of this state by the factional contest now being carried on in the Democratic party, and the complete surrender of principle and party policy to factional strife. The incompetency of the party and its inability to control the affairs of the state clearly appear by the acts and assertions of those claiming to be its leaders.

Congressional Delegation.

We refer with great satisfaction to the record of our senators, W. B. Heyburn and William E. Borah, and our representative, Burton L. French. They have represented this state with credit and honor, and their course meets with the approval of our party here and throughout the country. Our senators and representatives have especially distinguished themselves in the councils of the nation. No state in the Union can boast of higher character or greater ability than those possessed by the delegation from this young commonwealth. Senator Heyburn has completed his first term with a record which is the pride of every citizen of this state, regardless of party. He has stood in the fore front of every great contest which has come before that body in the last six years. Through his efforts the pure food bill, a statute fraught with more beneficence than almost any single piece of legislation in this generation, finds a place among our laws. The powerful influences allied in the interests of food adulteration have prevented the enactment of this legislation for more than 20 years, and it remained for a senator from Idaho to force the passage of this great reform measure. His colleague, Senator Borah, not unmindful of the traditions of the senate, has, with becoming modesty, waited his opportunity. Nevertheless, in the short time he has represented us in that august body, he has forged to the front and taken a place in the very foremost rank of leadership in the highest representative body on earth. His ability as a statesman and orator has been recognized by the president of the United States and his associates in the senate, and today our brilliant young senator is fighting the battles of our party in the very center of the contest, in the great eastern commonwealths. The work performed by Burton L. French during the term of his service in congress for the protection of the interests of the people of Idaho shows that he is well fitted for the position that has been entrusted to him. We especially endorse his stand in opposition to the immigration of Chinese and Japanese into the United States, and his efforts in favor of a bureau of mines and mining.

State Administration.

We endorse and commend the record of the administration of Governor Frank R. Gooding and the able state officers, who have served with him. Without ostentation or display it has been carried on in an able and businesslike manner, and always for the best interests of the people of this state.

Economical Administration.

We declare in favor of economy in public expenditures in the administration of state and county affairs, so that the people may not be unnecessarily burdened with taxation. The burden of government should be equitably distributed, that each and every citizen may share his just proportion thereof and in order that the wealth of the country, which is protected by its laws, shall pay its proportionate part of the cost of maintaining the government. We call the attention of the people of this state to the fact that during Republican administrations corporate wealth, for the first time, has been forced to bear its share of the burden of the government. During Republican administrations the railroad, mining and other corporations, for the first time in the history of the commonwealth, have been required to pay their just proportion of the expenses of state and county government. This great reform has not been spasmodic, but has been continuous ever since the Republican party was given control of state affairs. While our party has done no injustice to corporate wealth, nor any other kind of wealth, nevertheless it has properly added millions to the public assessment, which the corporations of this state had heretofore evaded and prevented.

Tariff Revision.

The Republican party stands, as it has always stood, for the principle of protection to American industries. Tariff schedules, as all other legislation, need revision from time to time as new conditions arise. We believe this revision should be made by the friends of this legislation and not by its enemies. We contrast Democratic revision of the tariff with Republican changes. Democratic revision has always been followed by disaster; Republican revision by prosperity. Idaho is essentially a producer of raw material, and comes in competition with all the world in that direction. We believe that raw material should have protection, as well as the manufactured products, to the end that the laborer who produces both should be properly protected against his competitor in other lands.

Local Option.

The constitution of this state declares that the first consideration of all good government is the virtue and sobriety of the people and the purity of the home, and that the legislature shall further all wise and well directed efforts for the promotion of temperance and morality. We, therefore, declare in favor of an effective county local option law, so that the people in every county in this state can have the power to decide whether or not the liquor business shall be carried on within their respective county boundaries, and we pledge the support of the Republican party of this state to the enactment of legislation which will bring about that result.

Educational System.

Our system of public educational institutions consisting of the numerous public schools and high schools of the state, the normal schools at Lewiston and Albion, the Academy of Idaho at Pocatello, the state industrial school at St. Anthony, and the University of Idaho, composed of a college of letters and arts, the college of agriculture and the college of engineering, located at Moscow, should be the first concern of the people of the state. We therefore pledge the Republican party of this state to maintain the integrity of these state institutions, as described by the act creating them, and to support each of them in maintenance and growth as far as the finances of the state will allow, recognizing that on the growth and development of these institutions depends the upbuilding of the moral and intellectual welfare of the youth of Idaho. And to this end we urge the legislature to take up and pass the appropriation bills for all educational and charitable institutions as soon after convening as possible, and before the other work of the legislature shall be taken up.

State Anti-Trust Law.

We recognize the good work done by our national administration in its mighty contest with trusts and corporate greed. We have seen the ban-ful effect of these influences at work within the limits of our state. We therefore declare in favor of state antitrust legislation within the purview of our constitutional provision on that subject, to the end that the people of this state may be relieved of the evil influences of these combinations which stifle competition and restrain trade.

For Good Roads.

We declare in favor of a policy of general highway and road improvement in this state. We believe that one of the greatest wastes in the economy of production and distribution is caused by bad roads and defective highways. We promise that our party through the legislature and in every other way will endeavor to bring about a decided improvement in the

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

United States Senator—Weldon B. Heyburn, Shoshone.
Justice Supreme Court—Judge J. F. Allabie of Idaho.
Congressman—Thomas R. Hamer of Fremont.
Governor—James H. Brady of Banrock.
Lieutenant Governor—L. H. Swisher of Cassia.
Secretary of State—Robert Lanson of Washington.
Attorney General—D. C. McDougal of Oseida.
Auditor—S. D. Taylor of Bonner.
Treasurer—C. A. Hastings of Nez Perce.
Mining Inspector—F. C. Moore of Shoshone.
Superintendent of Public Instruction—S. Belle Chamberlain of Ada.
President of the Electors—Edgar Wilson of Ada, John Lamb of Owyhee, A. A. Crane of Kootenai.

It is unfortunate that many of the voters employed on construction work at the Salmon dam site should be compelled to travel a considerable distance to cast their votes, but the county commissioners could scarcely be expected to create another precinct for that section. The dam site is within the Butte precinct, the voting place for which is at the Butte schoolhouse, 12 miles from the dam. Those who are qualified to vote in that precinct will find a good road to the polls.

The ticket nominated by the Republican state convention merits in every respect the support of the people of Idaho and reflects the untried will of a party free from domination or factional jealousy. It was a fair and open contest, and while some of the selections were unexpected they are none the less the will of the majority of those chosen to represent the members of the party and for which no apology is necessary. The convention was remarkable in that those hitherto regarded as the leaders seemed powerless to concentrate their forces as they wished and it developed into a free for all contest in which the strongest candidates won. For the Republican party the campaign opens with the brightest prospects of success. The state of Idaho was never so prosperous. Millions of dollars are being spent in development work and the wealth and population are increasing at a pace undreamed of in the immediate past. Especially is this true of the Snake river valley, which has more than doubled in wealth since the Republican party came into power, six years ago. This is due in a large measure to the operations of the Carey act and the government reclamation act, both of which had their inception in a Republican congress and which have received the constant and loyal support of the party. Capital is seeking investment in Idaho, secure in the knowledge that its rights and those of the labor it employs will be amply protected by a Republican state administration. James H. Brady, the Republican candidate for governor, has been personally instrumental in interesting outside capital in the development of Idaho's manifold resources to a marked extent and as chief executive of the state he will continue to work for its upbuilding. The candidate for lieutenant governor, L. H. Swisher, has from the day he attained his majority been vitally interested in the progress of Idaho and has worked unceasingly for the development of its latent resources. Justice Allabie has an honorable record of six years on the supreme bench to commend him to the people. Secretary of State Lanson, Treasurer Hastings and Superintendent of Public Instruction Miss Belle Chamberlain have clean records to present. The candidate for attorney general, Mr. McDougal, is a sturdy Republican who stands high in his profession and possesses all the qualifications demanded in the high office to which he aspires. Mr. Moore, the candidate for state mine inspector, is likewise particularly fitted for that important position and Mr. Taylor will bring to the office of state auditor a valuable experience and an unblemished public record. Colonel Hamer is admittedly one of the most talented attorneys and brilliant orators in the west. He has been a mainstay of the party in many political campaigns and in the uniform of the United States army he won credit for himself and renown for the state of Idaho in the Philippine campaign. Senator Heyburn "needs no bush." His record is such as to place him in the front rank of American statesmen, a position which he has won by hard endeavor and consistent work. The ticket is one of which the Republicans have reason to be proud and it will sweep the state by a larger majority than it has ever been the good fortune of the party to receive before.

A. N. SPRAGUE SELLS PHARMACY

Purchase Made by H. W. Calkins, Who Now Has Possession.

A. N. Sprague has sold his drug store to H. W. Calkins, who is now in possession and is taking an invoice of the stock. Mr. Sprague was not tempted to sell for reason of any lack of confidence in Twin Falls or its future, or through business depression. Mr. Calkins wanted the store offered a price that Mr. Sprague could scarcely afford to refuse, hence the deal. Mr. and Mrs. Sprague will not leave Twin Falls, though they have not fully decided on their future movements. It is doubtful if the citizens would allow them to leave, as they are almost as much of a fixture to the citizens as the town itself. Mr. Calkins will grant a restraining order if they attempted to quit a community in which they are so highly regarded.

Mr. Calkins holds a degree of Ph. C. from Ann Arbor university and was for two years manufacturing chemist with Parke, Davis & Co. He also passed the European examination, obtaining a senior certificate, the highest possible. For 11 years he was in business in the east. After that he spent several months in the west, and he decided that Twin Falls was the best place in which to locate.

Associated with Mr. Calkins is Kirk Boott, a graduate of Toronto university with a first class standing. Mr. Boott came here for his health and the climate suited him so well that he concluded to remain.

Mr. Calkins is building three cottages on the hillside and thinks very highly of the city. It is a good location, and he and Mr. Boott are welcome additions to business circles.

OVER THE HILLS IN AN AUTO

Party from Twin Falls Visits Southern Hercules Mine.

A. N. Sprague, W. O. Taylor, J. M. Maxwell, E. J. Hunter, C. H. Jackson, T. J. Woods, Dennis Holahan, O. M. Galt, St. John Skinner and W. S. Starr were in the city on Saturday evening in two automobiles for the Southern Hercules mine, 10 miles south of Albion. They are reported to have taken two boys from the mine out of house and home, and they straggled back to Twin Falls looking as though they had served an apprenticeship with a threatening roar. Tommy Woods is still threatening and is said to be trying to climb Mount Cleveland and Mount Harrison, just to demonstrate that his machine is a star flyer. The tourists were exceedingly well pleased with the mine which, they say, is a splendid silver-laden property. Machinery will be installed at once and an smelter built to handle the ore.

One day a well known politician was enjoying a chat with a friend at a London hotel when a strange young man came up and said:

"Can't see you for a moment, Mr. Dash?"

"Certainly," answered Mr. Dash rising.

The young man led him across the room and seemed to have something important to say to him. Arrived in a corner, the stranger whispered to the politician's ear:

"I am on the staff of an evening paper and I should like you to tell me what you think of the situation in the east."

Mr. Dash looked a little puzzled at first, then he said:

"Follow me."

And leading the way, he walked through the reading room—down some steps into a drawing room, through a long passage into the dining room, and drawing his visitor into the corner behind the hatrack, he whispered:

"I really don't know anything about it!"—Christian Observer.

are obliged to move our stock and as a temporary location we have opened up in the room just west of the postoffice, with the Twin Falls Transfer Co., which we will occupy for thirty days, and in order to reduce our stock preparatory to moving into our permanent location we are going to disregard profit on a long list of items. While we are too much torn up at present to give a detailed list of them, we will say that Children's Shoes will receive the heaviest cut and we have a very complete line of them from which to select.

Also all broken lots of Summer stock in both Ladies' and Men's, and all Oxford.

Of course you will need some of these.

Reserve your business until you look over our stock and get our prices.

We are going to make them interesting.

POSTOFFICE FOR THE SALMON DAM

IS BEING ASKED FOR BY THE COMPANY OFFICIALS.

Large Force of Men Employed on Work and Postal Service is Absolutely Necessary—Domestic Water Supply Will Soon Be Available.

SALMON RIVER DAM, Sept. 1.—The wiring of the buildings of the concrete dam is about completed and the electric lights were turned on the evening of the 26th, giving the camp a much more cheerful aspect.

Over the past week the air compressor, drills and the motor to be used in the operation of the pump for the camp water supply have been hauled by the river. The pump which is needed for the furnishing of water for the camp has not yet arrived so that it is still necessary to haul water from Antelope springs. It is expected that within another week this system of supply will be replaced by something more satisfactory and that numerous families now living down by the river will be able to move into the camp and be furnished ample water.

The diamond drill work will probably be completed within the next ten days. The testing for bedrock will total up nearly 500 feet drilling into the rock which is to furnish the foundation for the dam. No bad places have been discovered and the engineers expect to be able to begin clearing the foundation in a short time.

Owing to the restricted space and the dangerous character of the work, the excavation for the stairway leading to the bottom of the canyon has made now progress but the present indications are that the carpenters will begin placing the timbers in about a week.

The construction of a road leading from the main road to the powder house has just been started for the use of the traction train, which will soon haul out a carload of powder. The powder house is located about a mile north of the camp and is excavated into solid rock.

News. Posters Hill, A. J. Wilby and P. C. Horne arrived in camp by auto on the evening of the 23rd and returned to Twin Falls Sunday after having made an inspection of the works. Plans were formulated for rushing the installation of construction machinery so that the placing of concrete may be well under way before the cold weather sets in.

Considerable trouble has been experienced in locating the relatives of Mr. Paulsen, who was accidentally killed last Friday while at work on the construction of the stairway. It seems that Mr. Paulsen's first name was not William but the nickname "Bill" had been used so much by his friends that he adopted it. This caused confusion in trying to identify him, but his brother has now been located and is on his way here to take the body home.

A. K. Seaver, otherwise known as "John Wanamaker" on account of his strong facial resemblance to this well known merchant, is managing the mercantile store of the camp and doing a rushing business. Mr. Seaver's store is a model of neatness and he is justly proud of his stock of recent Farish imports (from Twin Falls).

A movement is now on foot to establish a postoffice at this point. Mr. Schneeloch, who was recently here, is taking up the matter with Major Reed and the postoffice inspectors who are looking into the needed enlargement of the Twin Falls office.

The action of the Salmon river camp are surprised that local politicians have not yet considered the establishment of a voting precinct at this point. Because we are isolated is not just cause to think we are not interested in the campaign.

Notice.
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for nomination on the Republican ticket for county commissioner for Buhl precinct, subject to the action of the Republican primaries to be held September 14.

W. S. HARRIS.

Notice.
I hereby announce my candidacy for representative from Twin Falls county on the Republican ticket, subject to the will of the people as expressed at the primary election to be held September 14.

REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM.

condition of our roads and highways. Eight Hour Law.

We congratulate the people of this state on the enactment of an eight hour law, brought about by the Republican party. We declare in favor of such extensions and amendments to this law as experience may make necessary in order that the interests of the laborer may be protected.

Employers' Liability.

We call the attention of the country to the enactment of an employers' liability law by a Republican congress. As supplementary thereto, and in aid thereof, we declare in favor of an effective employers' liability law for this state, in order that those engaged in employment other than interstate commerce may also be properly protected.

Judicial Relief.

Recognizing that certain judicial districts of this state are overworked with business and that litigants cannot have a speedy hearing, we pledge the Republican party to take such action as shall be necessary to grant relief to such districts in order that litigants may have a speedy hearing and that justice may be administered without delay.

Homestead Disputes.

The Republican party is the father of the homestead law and the friends of the bona fide homemaker, and we, as the Republicans of this state, recognize the fact that there is a controversy existing between the state and certain of its citizens respecting certain lands withdrawn for the benefit of the state under the act of 1894. We therefore recommend to the legislative and state nominees to carefully inquire into the merits of any homestead settlement on said land and where the same has been made and held in good faith and honestly to relinquish any claim of the state to said land.

Open River to Sea.

Realizing the great importance to this state of cheap transportation, and that the opening of the nation's waterways is the surest guarantee of this condition, we favor the opening of the Snake and Columbia rivers to the sea.

An Anti-Pass Law.

We are opposed to the issuance of passes by transportation companies to or at the request of any official, either state or otherwise, and promise the enactment of legislation which will bring about such reform.

Nomination of Senators.

We favor the nomination of a candidate of the party for United States senator in this state convention. We have tried that experiment in the nomination of our present senator, the Hon. William E. Borah. The great success attendant upon the movement then has proven to the people of this state that our party did not make any mistake in the course it pursued. What was then an experiment is now a satisfactory conclusion, which has met with the approbation of all the people of this state regardless of party. We therefore declare that this convention shall nominate a candidate of the party for United States senator, and we hereby pledge, the good faith of the party to the election of such candidate by the legislature, and all candidates for the legislature, whether the same have been heretofore nominated or shall hereafter be nominated, are hereby pledged to the election of the candidate of the party nominated in this convention.

EXTERMINATION OF PARASITES
Cultivated Insects Which Are Fatal to Fruit Pests.

The department of agriculture cultivates insects that destroy any and all crop parasites. The polygnotus biemalis can whip any Hessian fly over born; the typhlebus iridit is death on the green bug. The green bug eats the other, which promptly lays its eggs inside its devourer. The young eat their way to the open air, thus killing the green bug, says the Van Nordan Magazine.

To one lone lady bug is due the destruction of the San Jose scale, which did millions of dollars' damage to the fruit trees of California. When the pest had become a positive menace the department heard of a species of bug in North China which was fatal to the scale. A large number of the bugs were procured, but all were dead except one when they reached this country. The one insect was taken to Washington and became a ward of the government. She rewarded her keepers by laying about 5000 eggs. In an incredibly short space of time she had a flourishing family of seven billions and the reign of the scale was over.

BAKER'S CAKE

Why is it BAKER'S CAKE is such a JOKE the world over? It is because most bakers substitute cheaper materials for those that any good housewife cook would use to make a cake taste good. They try to make a CHEAP cake instead of a GOOD cake and the result is an article that a discriminating person will not have as a gift. Ladies come into our store and say, "Your cakes LOOK very nice, but are they regular baker's cakes?" We say, "No, they are made as you would make them if you are a good cake maker—to taste good."

"THEY TELL AT THE TABLE."

Even if you have a bad opinion of BAKER'S CAKES we want you to risk the price of one of ours and see if it is as we claim—good.

SUNNY SOUTHERN IDAHO Carey Act Lands

Practically 15,000 acres of CAREY ACT LANDS are being reclaimed and put under irrigation by the KINGS HILL IRRIGATION & POWER COMPANY, in the famous SNAKE RIVER VALLEY in SUNNY SOUTHERN IDAHO. THE COMING FRUIT AND ORCHARD COUNTRY OF THE WEST, where failure is reduced to a minimum, and where there is no apple scab, no fungus growth, no rotting of fruit resulting from too much rain and moisture. Here spraying is most effective—there are no rains during the spraying season to wash it off immediately after spraying. Hence the codling moth is kept away from the trees, permitting the fruit to mature in perfect condition, and free from worms, thus enabling the fruit grower to realize the top market price for his fruit.

There is no rain during the blossoming season to prevent perfect fertilization or pollenization of every blossom, and there is so much continued sunshine that honey bees are numerous and assist in pollenizing the blossoms, causing everyone of them to produce fruit, and making it necessary to thin out or pick off half or more of the green fruit to prevent breaking off many limbs of the trees. Here the greatest danger is in allowing too much fruit to remain on the tree to permit its growing to perfection.

This is certainly a land of opportunity, an empire of prosperity for the man who exercises his brain power and is willing to work and take advantage of what Dame Nature and irrigation will provide for him in a most lavish manner.

SNAKE RIVER VALLEY, and especially the KINGS HILL IRRIGATION & POWER CO.'S project, will gradually advance to the front and stand first in position of production of fruit, surpassing Yakima, Wenatchee, Toponish and Hood River apples, peaches, apricots and pears in size, color and flavor, and beyond question the best keeper and shipper in the world (this quality results from our cool nights), in which no fruit country can excel us.

There is sufficient sun heat during the long days to make this project famous in the growth of water melons, canteloupes and all kinds of berries and vegetables to the highest degree of perfection.

OUR LAND LIES ALONG AND ON THE SOUTH SIDE OF THE SNAKE RIVER, and the lava bluffs which rise up from our land to a height of 300 to 400 feet give protection from the cold north winds and yet cause sufficient air current to prevent frost in the budding and blossoming season. This condition is our guarantee of a full crop of fruit, berries and melons every year.

What is true of fruit, etc., also applies to grains and grasses. Nowhere in the Northwest can they raise more per acre, nor of a better quality, than in the SNAKE RIVER VALLEY, SUNNY SOUTHERN IDAHO.

Poultry raising should also be very profitable on account of there being no rain during the Summer months.

THE MAIN LINE OF THE OREGON SHORT LINE RAILROAD runs along this land its entire length, and there are THREE STATIONS or shipping points, supplying excellent shipping facilities.

THIS is the land of plenty. Come and get busy. Take advantage of the opportunity while it is yet possible. He who deliberates too long loses thereby.

OUR "LAND OPENING" takes place at KING HILL, IDAHO, OCTOBER 12th, 1908.

For further information write for booklet "C."

To All Land Owners and Water Users.
At a meeting of the governing board of the Twin Falls Canal association it was decided necessary, upon the best legal advice obtainable, to procure a decree from the courts showing the standing of the water right for the land on the original Twin Falls tract. This is necessary in order to secure the rights of land owners in case a dispute arises as to the prior right of the South Side Twin Falls tract over the surrounding tracts which have been filed on the waters of Snake river, or in case any of the surrounding tracts show a disposition to encroach upon the rights of settlers on the lands of the South Side Twin Falls tract.
Every owner of land on this tract, which includes the original segregation of 30,000 acres on the North Side, is invited to join as a plaintiff in this suit to be brought, and if he so joins the expense will be nominal. If he fails to join as a plaintiff he will make a defendant in the case, making it necessary for him to secure legal help at a considerable expense.
The secretary of the Canal association will be in his office over the Commercial Savings bank in Twin Falls every Saturday from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. and will receive the names of all those wishing to be made plaintiff, and answer any questions to those desiring information.
The secretary has also been instructed by the governing board to call upon as many of the land owners as possible for him to see and give them an opportunity to become plaintiffs in the case.
Messrs. Stockinger & Bowen are the attorneys for the association and will conduct the case. They, as well as others who have given this matter much thought and study, consider an action of this kind the most important, and it is necessary in order that the decree be of benefit to any particular piece of land that the owner of that land shall signify his intention to join in the suit. The whole tract cannot be treated as a body, and the fact that your neighbor has a decree does not put your land in the same standing as his unless you and a plaintiff in the suit, so it is important to you that you are not overlooked.
GEO. E. HARLAN, President.
IRVING R. DARROW, Secretary Governing Board.

Notice of Primary Election.
Notice is hereby given that primary elections will be held in the various precincts in Twin Falls county, state of Idaho, on Monday, the 28th day of September, 1908, for the purpose of electing delegates to a Democratic county nominating convention for said county to be held in the village of Bull, in said county, on the 30th day of September, 1908, beginning at 2 o'clock p. m., at which said convention candidates for the following offices are to be nominated, to-wit:
One state senator, one representative, clerk of the district court and ex-officio auditor and recorder, sheriff, prosecuting attorney, probate judge, surveyor, coroner, county commissioner for each commissioner's district in said county and two justices of the peace and one constable for each precinct in said county.
The several precincts in said county are entitled to delegates to said convention as follows: Milho precinct 2, Murtaugh precinct 1, Hansen precinct 4, Rock Creek precinct 4, Twin Falls precinct No. 1, 6; Twin Falls precinct No. 2, 6; Twin Falls precinct No. 3, 6; Twin Falls precinct No. 4, 5; Filer precinct 7, Bull precinct 10, Maroon precinct 3, Castleford precinct 1, Roseworth precinct 1, Butte precinct 1.
Said primary elections are to commence in country precincts at 3 o'clock p. m. and continue until 6 o'clock p. m. and in city or town precincts to commence at 2 o'clock p. m. and continue until 7 o'clock p. m.
By order of the Democratic County Central Committee of Twin Falls county, Idaho. P. H. SMITH, Chairman.
W. A. BABCOCK, Secretary.

BENEFITS OF THE CAREY ACT
Are Lucidly Explained by the Boise Clipper.
If the national reclamation act were not already upon our statutes it is doubtful if it would ever become law. The main reason urged for its passage was to meet a condition with which private capital appeared unable successfully to cope. Until only a few years ago almost every irrigation scheme had resulted in disaster to its promoters. The irrigation business was an experiment, and more than that, laws under which capital could safely undertake reclamation work were inadequate. Under the national reclamation act the government seeks to do that which capital has since proven that it can do with marked success—"The government is already doing much to transform the desert wastes of Idaho into fertile fields, as witness the Boise-Payette and Minidoka projects. In this connection it is interesting to note what private capital is doing under the Carey act. Under that act Idaho, as well as other western states which contained large areas of arid lands, was authorized to reclaim one million acres of land. Idaho is carrying on this work so successfully that the entire west is interested in knowing our methods in order that other states may do the same. Take, for instance, the Twin Falls tract of land embracing 400,000 acres. This is the largest single body of land placed under ditch, though other tracts of greater extent may be reclaimed in the future. The Twin Falls tract five years ago was a vast expanse of plain covered with sagebrush, creosote and an occasional juniper shrub. It had been regarded as impossible of development except by the expenditure of millions of dollars in the erection of a dam in the Snake river and the construction of a canal so large as to be a river in itself. The work was undertaken. The dam and canal were built at a cost of about $1,000,000. The main canal has a length of 69 miles and a width of 120 feet at the top and 50 feet at the bottom. It is 14 feet deep and carries 10 feet of water. Lateral canals and ditches were constructed, and the completion of the system would aggregate a length equal to more than one-third of the distance across the United States at its greatest width. Four years ago that spilling the lands were open to settlement and today contain a population of 10,000 people and an assessed valuation of more than $4,000,000. Numerous thriving towns are scattered over the tract, the largest of which is Twin Falls, the county seat of the new state of T. T. Falls.

The entire one million acres which Idaho was authorized to reclaim is reclaimed, it is in process of being reclaimed, or has been applied for by companies capable and willing to undertake the great work of bringing water to the lands. In the last congressional session the delegation did inestimable service for the state by passing through congress authority for the reclamation of 2,000,000 acres of land, and after the legislation had passed the senate, but before Representative French secured its passage through the house, nearly half of the entire amount had been applied for reclamation. Assuming that the Twin Falls tract represents a value that will be attained by the other Carey act lands to be reclaimed there will be added to the value of Idaho, under her 2,000,000 acres of Carey act lands, $200,000,000 and to her population 130,000. Nature's estimates are far below what the population and wealth will be when the newer lands shall attain the value of the older and more improved land of the Boise, Payette, Weiser and other well improved sections of the state.—Boise Clipper.

KIMBERLY, Idaho, Sept. 2.—E. U. McIntire was in Twin Falls Monday on business.

L. A. Dibble, special agent, was here Saturday looking after the local insurance agencies. He has headquarters at Boise.

Al S. Soule is still at Pocatello with his brother in the hospital there. Mrs. Soule and daughter are also there now.

J. G. Highley is doing contract work on the North Side project, clearing and plowing land for the settlers.

Frank Burritt and F. M. Kendall threshed Tuesday. The yield, and quality were both excellent. Moore & Peterson did the work and they are now working southward and expect to thresh for Nick Smith at Hanson in a few days.

The representative of the Twin Falls directory was here this week getting information and subscribers for the forthcoming edition. H. D. Scott will canvass this end of the tract for the company.

E. W. Tilley has a new horse and buggy and is ready to make the trip to his homestead quite regularly.

The Republicans held a meeting in the Kimberly hall a few nights ago and invited all members of the Republican party on the east end of the tract. They endorsed the national and state administrations and then discussed the interests of the county. H. D. Scott was elected chairman and E. U. McIntire secretary. Various names were proposed for office which were decided by vote of those present. E. T. Newbury was decided on for state senator, E. U. McIntire for sheriff, and H. D. Scott for county commissioner from this end of the tract. All are good men and well known by the people in this precinct. All have been living here since the tract was settled and will make good officers if elected. It is reported later that Mr. Newbury has refused to run for the office of senator.

F. O. Cunningham has moved back to his residence in Kimberly after living several months on his homestead near Rock Creek.

W. R. Ashdown was in town Monday. He has been living in Twin Falls for some time but expects to return to his land southeast of here at once.

The mill is busy washing wheat and is ready to begin the fall work of turning out flour.

H. D. Scott has resigned as ditch rider as the irrigating season is about over and the work he had been assigned to the riders having territory adjoining it.

Kimberly has been visited by another disastrous fire. About 2 o'clock Sunday morning the alarm of fire was sounded and it was found to have great headway on the new rooming house owned by J. E. Syrett and S. E. Cavanaugh. It was first discovered by one of the roomers and the first he knew of it was the noise and smoke caused by the door to his room falling in. He made a hasty departure through the window and roused the other inmates just in time to save them, especially the children in the building. The force pump and hose was used on the store and post office building owned by the A. D. Norton estate, but owing to the high wind from the west it was soon found impossible to save the buildings and all efforts were used to save the contents. Practically nothing was saved from the rooming house. Next was the dwelling formerly occupied by Mrs. Norton, which was soon in flames. Then the store was soon afire. The postoffice was in the west end of the building and only part of the mail was saved and all the supplies were burned as well as the fixtures. Very little of the contents of the general merchandise store were saved. The dwelling and storeroom south of the store were burned as well as the house tent owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brecken. They were able to save only a very little of their household goods and the loss falls heavily on them as they had no insurance. The store and rooming house were probably insured for about 50 per cent of their value. This is the second fire for Kimberly this year. The Kimberly Supply Co. burned out in January. It is thought that the fire caught from sparks from the circus train that passed about an hour before the fire broke out and several of the people who were up noted that the engine was throwing fire to an unusual extent. A spark probably fell in the dry grass and shavings near the rooming house, which had just been completed, and the wind soon had the flames beyond control.

Mr. Hill, who was sleeping in the house, had $250 in currency which was burned. Mr. Cavanaugh and Mr. Syrett were both in Twin Falls that night and the latter had about $50 in his trunk which was also burned.

Temporary quarters for the post office have been fitted up in the office of the Nibley-Channel Lumber Co. and the Bell Phone Co. have their office there also. The rooming house will probably be rebuilt at once. It is not known whether the Norton estate will put in another store in Kimberly or retire from the mercantile business. The manager of the store—James McMillan—is in Boise and will return as soon as the Republican convention is over to look after the interests of the store.

Glaude C. Parks and wife were in Twin Falls on business Wednesday. H. D. Scott made a trip to Buhl to look after his land today.

C. W. Rice and Frank Burritt are busy planning the program for the Modern Woodmen entertainment to be given in a few days. The ladies will be invited as well as the friends of the order.

Rev. G. R. Archer has begun work on the foundation for his residence near the new Methodist church in Kimberly. Everyone was very glad to learn the conference had returned him here for another year, and more especially so since they have learned that he is to erect a nice house and live here.

"ALASKA WHEAT" IS CRITICISED

IS SAID TO BE GREATLY OVER-ESTIMATED.

Department of Agriculture Advises Farmers Not to Buy It—Alex McPherson, Who Visited Adams' Farm, Says It Is Old Egyptian Wheat.

The so-called "Alaska wheat," which has been talked of and written about so much of late, is now catching fire on all sides. The department of agriculture is advising American farmers not to buy the wheat at the fabulous price asked for the variety, and wheat expert agriculturists say the alleged new grain is nothing more than an ordinary sample of the "Egyptian" wheat, or seven-headed variety which had its run some years ago.

According to the fairy tales of the "Alaska wheat," the grain was found accidentally by a traveler on a mountaintop in Alaska and was developed at Julianna, Latah county, Idaho, by a Mr. Adams. Wonderful stories of the remarkable yield obtained from the Alaska seed found their way into many prominent eastern and western newspapers and magazines which "fell" for the yarns so easy that Idaho received a plethora of undesirable advertising.

Alex McPherson of Twin Falls, who returned this week from a meeting of the state board of horticulture, held in Lewiston, said:

"After reading the wonderful article in the Saturday Evening Post about a still more wonderful wheat grown by one Adams at Julianna, Idaho, I took it upon myself to investigate the truth of the matter. I find that it is just one more of the fables that have originated in that country."

"Probably it is still in the memory of some of the wonderful grain known as 'corn wheat' that a certain gentleman in that country claimed he obtained from the crop of a Norway goose that he shot flying over his farm. After planting this seed he got a strange grain, and after analysis it showed that it contained the same ingredients as the common Indian corn. He then named it 'corn-wheat.' This got in the Associated Press, and this man made a fortune selling this seed. Later upon investigation it was found that a friend of his had been in Poland and had sent him a sample of the Polish rye. He planted it and then made money by gulling the people."

"Later another individual in another section of the country started the same story with regard to what is known as the seven-headed wheat. This wheat, it was claimed, would produce seven times as much as the ordinary wheat. I tested some of this wheat and found that it really did have seven heads, but was nothing more nor less than the old Egyptian wheat of poor quality, and would yield no more or as much as the best wheat we are now growing, and in the market he of very little if any value."

"This wonderful wheat referred to is just another species of Egyptian wheat of poor quality, nothing to compare with wheat of the present day either in yield or in quality."

"The field referred to in the Saturday Evening Post really yielded 35 bushels per acre and was quite a mixed and therefore unfit for seed in any case. I got some samples of this and they seemed to be an abortion of the seven-headed variety brought from California. I interviewed Professor H. T. French, director of the experiment station at Moscow, and submitted some samples of the wheat that I got, and he emphatically said that the sample of wheat that they analyzed was not the same kind as the sample I showed him. He stated very strongly that their station chemist, Mr. Jones, had been deceived as to the kind of wheat and the sample that they analyzed did not correspond to what they claimed, and was a good wheat, but the grain that was grown by Mr. Adams as evidenced by his own this year was not the same variety.

"This business of wonderful productions so eagerly grasped at by the sensational press and magazines of repute, which it serves to advertise, does not put us in a very good light. Mr. Adams claims that he did not give the papers the data that they based their stories upon, but he did use the report of Mr. Jones to bolster up his contentions."

"The sooner this is given to the world the better, as it will place Idaho right in the eyes of honest thinking people, that they will know all facts, and notwithstanding such extravagant claims as made by Mr. Adams, not to be believed by the public, we really do produce most wonderful crops of wheat, for we have produced under sworn statements, and verified by hundreds of people, as high as 84 bushels of wheat per acre on the Twin Falls tract. This in itself is a record that has never been touched by any bona fide crop of wheat in the United States or elsewhere."

The department of agriculture advises American farmers not to buy "Alaska wheat" at $25 a bushel, or at any price. The department speaks after having made an investigation of the reported remarkable grain said to have been discovered in Alaska and developed, after years of culture, at Julianna, Idaho.

"Alaska wheat" has been cleverly advertised from one end of the United States to the other, through the medium, first, of country newspapers; then through weeklies, and latterly through the daily press and a creditable magazine. But never has the advertising been done in the advertising columns. So thoroughly has the country been covered with stories telling of the wonderful productivity of this wheat that the department, for more than six months, has been answering inquiries from farmers who contemplated investing in the Julianna wonder. All such inquiries have been answered, and in every instance the department has advised against investment, not alone because the price is exorbitant, but because the wheat does not come up to the standard claimed by its distributor.

Not New Discovery.

In the first place, "Alaska wheat" is not a new discovery, as claimed by Farmer Adams, who is offering it for sale, though it never before was known under this name. Twenty years ago this country and France was deluged with this same identical grain, called at that time, "Egyptian wheat" or "mummy wheat." Then, as now, the exploiter of the grain had come upon his first seed in a rather remarkable way. He had been journeying through Egypt. One day he was overtaken by a storm and sought refuge in a cave. He discovered that the cave was an abandoned tomb, a relic of the days of Pharaoh. Looking about him he discovered a single stalk of wheat growing out of the decayed wall of the tomb. The grain bore a phenomenal size. So the explorer plucked it, guarded it carefully, planted it when he got home, and from that single head, in the course of years, he had raised a great quantity, which he like Farmer Adams, was philanthropically offering to the public at an unprecedented price, but, like Adams, he was selling it only for seed. His was the "mummy wheat."

Some years later another benefactor sprung up in Virginia with another wheat that was going to prove a boon to the farmer and the salvation of the miller. His wheat possessed all the characteristics of the "mummy wheat" of old and the "Alaska wheat" of today. This Virginia benefactor is known as "Seven head wheat," getting this latter name from the size of the head. This Virginia benefactor is reported to have made a great success with his wheat, for he sold out his entire crop, with exclusive rights, to a Chicago concern for the handsome sum of $250,000. When the Chicago buyers took their wheat to the mill they concluded they had bought a gold brick. Their wheat possessed very low milling qualities, and was inferior to all the standard wheats of the day, though handsome in appearance, because much larger. It was a starchy wheat, but contained little gluten.

Agricultural scientists have ways of their own of identifying different grains. The best men in this line are employed by the government, and these grain experts, under Secretary Wilson, have made a study of Farmer Adams' "Alaska wheat" and unite in declaring it to be the same identical grain that was exploited here and in France more than a generation ago. Gives Good Impression.

That it is a big, handsome grain they admit; that a farmer, looking over a field, might naturally conclude that it would return a phenomenal yield per acre they also admit, but that it has qualities making it desirable they deny. Conceding that "Alaska wheat," as claimed by Farmer Adams, will yield from 100 to 200 bushels to the acre, the grain experts of the department declare that it is not as good an investment as the standard wheats grown throughout the United States. An acre of "Alaska wheat," whether the yield be 200 bushels or less, has less value to the mill than 40 bushels, or even 20 bushels of standard hard wheat of recognized variety. Many mills absolutely refuse to buy this mammoth "Alaska wheat," and others grade it very low, and pay for it accordingly. "It is not adapted to four making, and reputable manufacturers will have nothing to do with it."

But the department does not concede that "Alaska wheat" will run 200, or even 100, bushels to the acre, and it is believed Farmer Adams will reduce his claim later on. He merely estimated his crop, say the officials, figuring that one head of "Alaska wheat" was equivalent in bulk to seven heads of standard wheat, a basis which they claim is far from accurate. It is admitted that the yield may be unusually heavy, but how great it is the department is not now ready to say. It contents itself with the statement that, regardless of yield, "Alaska wheat" is less valuable than the standard grains, and is a poor investment for the farmer, even if he buys it at current wheat prices.

The agricultural department is going to learn more about the production of "Alaska wheat" than it knows now. W. M. Jardine, one of the grain specialists of the department and expert on dry land cereals, has been instructed to go to Julianna to make a thorough study of the Adams farm and the production of "Alaska wheat." He will ascertain for himself how heavy the yield actually is, under what conditions the grain is grown, whether the soil is especially fertilized or in its natural condition and all manner of things about the cultivation of this year's crop. It may be, say the officials, that Farmer Adams has a show plot, where his best wheat is grown, and that particular tract may have been highly fertilized so as to increase the yield. Or it may be the wheat was sown by hand, a rougher than broadcast custom that is sometimes resorted to by the inexperienced farmers of France—in order to increase the yield. While special cultivation in rows, each grain planted individually, the grain six inches or more apart in rows. When sown in this way, known as "stooling," sends up a few stunted stalks, with a many heads, but the heavy cost of planting makes this process impractical in this country. No wheat is so planted in the United States. Labor is too costly.

As to Yield. As a matter of fact, the department of agriculture regards 60 bushels to the acre as an exceptionally good yield of wheat; 60 bushels is very extraordinary, and the records of the department show that 80 bushels to the acre is the heaviest yield known where wheat was grown for market. That maximum was attained in France, where wheat was sown by hand, in rows, each grain planted individually, the grain six inches or more apart in rows. When sown in this way, known as "stooling," sends up a few stunted stalks, with a many heads, but the heavy cost of planting makes this process impractical in this country. No wheat is so planted in the United States. Labor is too costly.

From correspondence which has passed between Farmer Adams and the department of agriculture the officials are not inclined to believe that the grower of "Alaska wheat" has willfully undertaken to defraud American farmers. They rather incline to the view that he has accidentally got behind some of this large grain, believed to possess remarkable qualifications and entered upon its systematic production, confident that he had made a new discovery. That he may have fallen into the hands of less careful agents is thought to be probable. But that is one of the things the department wants to know more about, and that is one of the reasons Mr. Jardine is going to Julianna. If it develops that Farmer Adams is aware that he has been exploiting an inferior grain, making false claims for it, the department will make a systematic effort to break up his business, but if he has acted in good faith he will not be disturbed.

Not Phenomenal Grain.

However, as the friend and protector of the American Farmer, the department of agriculture reserves to itself the right to give to the agricultural interests the benefit of all its information, and it knows positively and several all quarters that "Alaska wheat" is not the phenomenal grain which it is advertised to be; hence the advice to prospective purchasers. The power of the government to protect "suckers" is apparently limited. Some years ago some 20 firms sprung up over the country, advertising mushroom spawn for sale. Many of them were selling compressed sawdure, absolutely devoid of spawn. All such firms were put out of business by the postal authorities, at the request of the secretary of agriculture. But another firm sprang up in St. Louis and advertised "the best mushroom spawn in the world" at $2 a bushel, the current market price was 6 cents. All manner of claims were made for this particular spawn; claims that were never fulfilled. The scheme was a fraud on its face, for the firm was obtaining money under false pretenses. The agricultural department reported the facts to the postoffice inspectors, and after investigation the latter reported they could not touch the mushroom artists for they were actually selling spawn and the authorities could not prosecute them for merely exaggerating their claims. Buyers were supposed to know that when the market price of spawn was 6 cents it would be utterly out of the bounds of reason to produce any spawn worth 30 times as much.

So it was with the "mummy wheat" that fooled many farmers 20 years ago. The promoter of "mummy wheat" was actually delivering the grain at his advertised price, and if it did not come up to expectations, that was the loss of the purchaser. The "mummy wheat" craze did not last long; the department does not expect the "Alaska wheat" to survive. There will be purchasers, of course, even at $20 a bushel, but it is the honest conviction of the department's grain experts that all such buyers will get, say $1 worth of wheat and $19 worth of experience.

REMARKABLE RISE OF J. G. WHITE

WHO HAS EXTENDED OPERATIONS INTO IDAHO.

Inspiring Story of Young Western Engineer Who in 12 Years Built up the Most Extensive Business of its Kind in the World.

The advent in Idaho of J. G. White & Co. naturally aroused interest in this remarkable corporation, which is synonymous with industry and development in almost every country on the face of the globe. The engineering work on the west of Salmon extension, which will add an additional half million acres to the Twin Falls south side tract, has already been started by J. G. White & Co. and it would not be a bad guess to predict that the company will likewise build the works. J. G. White & Co. have taken over the works started by the Idaho Irrigation company for the reclamation of approximately 150,000 acres of excellent land in Blaine and Lincoln counties, which borders the Twin Falls North Side company's system on the north.

The remarkable personality of Mr. White and the phenomenal success which has attended the work of the corporations with which he is affiliated are set forth in part in the following story of his life's work taken from the Salt Lake Tribune:

The name of J. G. White ranks high among the romantic figures of the age, and the story of his career constitutes a romance compared with which those of a score of classic heroes pale into insignificance.

J. G. White is an engineer who is also a contractor. His activities are world wide and international. He is the kind of man who has materially contributed to the nation's supremacy in the industrial world. His activities in this, the iron age, have brought countless millions of dollars to our manufacturing enterprises and found a market for the product of American brains and brawn. He is building, installing and operating steam and electric railroads, water and power plants, gas and electric plants, steel buildings, electric power transmission stations, irrigating dunes and harbor works in every continent and in almost every country in the civilized world.

Go to London or any of the other great British cities; go to Australia or to any of the other English colonies, and you will find the name of J. G. White & Co. a familiar one; go to Bombay, France, Holland; go to Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay, Chili, Cuba, Mexico, Puerto Rico, the Philippines, and you will find it no less familiar, but ask the average New Yorker something about J. G. White and he will stare at you in frank ignorance. For, world wide as his name and fame are, J. G. White may be said to be practically unknown to the reading public in the city where he has established the headquarters for his vast and numerous enterprises. The reason for this apparent obscurity is that, in spite of his great wealth and international reputation and acquaintance, Mr. White has thus far continued to live in the same unostentatious simplicity, in the same modest apartment in West End avenue that he lived in when he came here, an ambitious young fellow, some years ago.

In those days, and it is only about a dozen years ago, Mr. White laid the foundations of his present firm in a pair of cramped offices down town. He had just come out of the west, and had little, as indeed he yet retains, the unmistakable air of the young college professor. But if J. G. White has not spread out so far as domestic and social luxuries are concerned, the same cannot be said of his business environment. In a dozen years those two cramped offices have grown until they now occupy three floors, the twenty-first, twenty-second and twenty-third, of the great skyscraper at No. 43 Exchange place.

On the twenty-third floor are the private offices of the great engineer himself, a man still in the heyday of his life, as, indeed, when he was not when his years numbered only 47.

Mr. White is a tall, slender man with a black mustache, black hair just beginning to turn gray, a large, well-shaped nose and brilliant brown eyes that pierce to the heart of a man and suggest a mind behind them which instantaneously passes judgment.

He is absolutely game and willing to abide by his own mistakes and to concede those of others if they are made in an effort to do right. Such a man commands the faith and loyalty of his employees.

Mr. White believes in young men. Recent graduates from the technical colleges form the bulk of his staff in all his offices—men who are not afraid of hard work and on whose judgment and efficiency he can rely once they have realized the spirit in which he treats them. A mistake made in an honest effort to accomplish a desired result is not a mistake in Mr. White's eyes, but a mishap occurring through laziness or neglect is one of the seven deadly sins. It takes only a few examples one way or the other, for Mr. White to definitely determine whether a man is the sort of man he wants in his office or not.

When the American government employed him to construct the naval coaling station at Olonzapo, Sulphur bay, Mr. White sent out a pink-cheeked boy, with red hair and a chin covered with fuzz of erenety down that had yet to have its infantile skirmish with a razor. This youth took charge of the preliminary work, and upon his report alone all the plans were made. The fact is worth noting, however, that before the young man was sent out Mr. White had explained to him verbally, clearly and without undue emphasis, that much more than the reputation of even J. G. White & Co. was at stake and that the United States government coaling station must be a success.

So it is with all his business—young men everywhere. The three floors his firm occupies are so filled with every kind of the best of the class rooms in a college than offices of a concern that is building bridges, railways, electric light plants, reservoirs, hotels and dams in every part of the globe.

To list the contracts which J. G. White & Co. and its dependent companies now have in hand would read like Homer's Catalogue of the Ships with all of its wearisome iteration. Nor is there any statistical department eager to hand out a schedule showing exactly how many millions are involved in all of the outstanding contracts. The statistical department is busy figuring out other things, such as how much stress a certain grade of iron will stand within the limits of reasonable safety, and how much power can be generated in a type of powerhouse with a given flow of water. For co-operation is also one of the watch-words of J. G. White & Co. The great amount of liberty compatible with every effort to assist would seem to be the motto of the firm.

In South America the activities now directed by Mr. White include the construction of tramways at Buenos Ayres, in Argentina; Montevideo, in Uruguay; Monterey, Mexico; Havana, Cuba; San Juan, Porto Rico, and the reconstruction of city tramways and the erection of a modern power plant at Para, Brazil.

The White organization consists of a number of companies independently organized but closely allied. It is on account of this very affiliation which he himself has created that Mr. White's own personality is so difficult to get at. J. G. White & Co., Inc., of New York, may be regarded as the parent company, and J. G. White himself, as its creator, bears the same relation to the affiliated companies as the heart does to the other organs of the human body. The development of the allied companies has reduced the field of activity of the home company until it is engaged in an engineering, contracting and operating business restricted to the United States, Mexico, Central America and the Philippines.

Mr. White is a rapid and hard worker and in times of stress will bear his full share of the extra work, asking no employee to do a thing which he would not be willing to do himself. He is a man of decisive action and his conclusions are final and apt to remain unchanged. A member of the firm was asked why it had never done any work in New York. He smiled somewhat grimly as he replied, "We don't want it. We prefer business where there is no dirty politics in it. No man can make us pay graft, so we simply let New York business alone."

Imagine the president of a New York firm big enough and with the moral courage to take a stand like this, and eliminate New York itself from the sphere of its activities, and you have to some extent the measure of the man.

J. G. White & Co., Ltd., of London, is carrying out a variety of engineering and contracting work in parts of the world other than Canada, the United States, Mexico, Central America and the Philippines. The Warburg White Co. of London is responsible for the steel structure of the new modern American building lines which have already been referred to in Canada the field is covered by the range of the company's activities. Thus practically the entire civilized globe, and also those parts where civilization is just penetrating, are covered by the White companies.

Mr. White is known to be a man in entire sympathy with all movements which look to the betterment of social conditions and the general uplifting of men, especially those of the younger generation. He is not a perfunctory member of clubs and other organizations, but takes an active interest in those with which his name is connected. The scope of his interest in public affairs may be well illustrated by giving a list of the clubs and organizations of which he is a member. These are the Chamber of Commerce, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, Pluribus society, Pennsylvania society, Metropolitan Museum of Natural History, National Geographical society, University club, Engineers' club, New York Athletic club, Sons of Revolution and Cornell University club of New York; the Maryland Merchants' club of Baltimore; the Ranshaw club, general committee American society, and Institution Electrical Engineers of London; the above organizations is proved by his able writings on the subjects which are of interest to them. The wonder of it to all his friends is where he finds time for his phenomenal output of work. He acted as chairman of the Electric Railway Test commission at St. Louis in 1906.

When one stops to reflect that, added to the imposing list of activities just recounted, Mr. White is also president of J. G. White & Co., Inc., of New York; chairman of J. G. White & Co., Ltd., of London, and a director in the following companies: The Warburg White Building company, Manila Electric Railway and Lighting corporation, Netherlands Tramways corporation, Canadian White company, limited; Chilian Contracting company, the Helena Light and Railway company, the City Railway and Light company, Philippine Railway company, Eastern Pennsylvania Railway company and the Engineering and Electrical Securities company, one cannot but reflect that without precisely the early training and self-imposed restraint of his early years he never could accomplish the appalling amount that he does.

Underlying his work is a well defined purpose which seems to have possessed him from the first. Upon a small beginning, such as is open to any young man in America, he built a thorough educational foundation, equally balanced between the theoretical and practical sides of engineering. Then, through advanced research in scientific laboratories and practical analysis in shop management and construction, he attained a broad, fundamental training upon which to build a still broader and more far-reaching engineering career. He has taken the pains to be thorough at every step, and any one who follows Mr. White in his writings or in his business activities is at once impressed with that fact.

WAGING WAR ON THE VARMINTS

Forest Service Hunters' Renal' Good

Uncle Sam's professional hunters and trappers, who have been assigned to duty on the national forests to rid the range of predatory animals, are apparently accomplishing good results. Hunter Bredenstein, employed on the Boise national forest, Idaho, has just presented to Supervisor E. Grandjean the scalps of 27 coyotes, six wild cats and one bear killed during the past season.

Conservative estimates by the stockmen who lose thousands of dollars annually by these pests place their losses each year by each animal at $100. It will be seen in this instance alone that the forest guards, with the aid of a few No. 4's and his best friend, the 30-40, saved the nation within one national forest stock valued at more than $25,000 which otherwise would have been destroyed by these varmints at a cost to the government of $1,195, the amount of his salary paid by the forest service.

The forest service, appreciating the importance and necessity of assisting the stockmen in ridding the range of predatory wild animals, has assigned forest guards with knowledge of conditions and western training to the work of hunting and trapping wolves, cougars, mountain lions, coyotes and wild cats. They were assigned to duty early last year on national forests in various western states, where their services were most needed, with the viewpoint of exterminating the pests which are a hindrance to the livestock industry and which have in hundreds of cases absorbed the stockmen's legitimate profit of the business by their wholesale prey on the calves, colts and lambs.

MARKETING THE POTATO CROP

Eugene Grubb Gives Some Whole-some Advice on the Subject

Eugene Grubb of Carbonado, Colorado, the famous potato grower, who visited Twin Falls last autumn and addressed the farmers on potato culture, has this to say concerning the marketing of the potato crop.

Our methods of packing and selling potatoes have been the most crude of those used in handling any good product. By the time they reach the consumer they are bruised and jammed. I have been eating some potatoes for the forty New York and up and at the present time favor forty-pound crates. We might either decrease or increase the size of the crate or make various sizes. The ep-ture or wealthy consumer in the town to whom we should cater. I think there would be no trouble in selling good potatoes at five cents a pound in the crate. I am trying to educate the public to the delicacy of a first class potato.

Some Debeque farmers shipped some potatoes to New York and the purchasers were very well pleased with them. The Palisade fruit growers were last year shipping pears in nine-inch boxes to New York but soon exhausted the supply of nine-inch boxes and began using peach crates. The peach crates filled with pears did not last a day in New York. People would take a peach crate of pears home and this style of packing yielded 60 per cent more profit than those packed in nine-inch boxes. As a rule the wealthy people buy only in small lots, about 50 cents a purchase. So I believe that when we produce a high quality of potatoes we should put them in crates and ship them. We need not be afraid of freight bills if we can furnish something better than anybody else.

Hood river grows practically only strawberries and apples and of apples practically only one kind, but a rich and honest system of packing is enforced. They do not put in a single apple that is not first class. They do not put a lot of poor ones in the crate and good ones outside. I say, do not put anything in a sack that you would not be afraid of freight bills if you come to marketing potatoes we should consider what kind of potatoes we should grow. I have seen bins of potatoes that are especially uniform and would get as good a tonnage and more desirable potatoes, that would bring more money than large ones. Very few markets, except in the south will pay a good price for our large potatoes.

Few realize what the potato crop means to the world as food. My neighbors are always fearful of the market will be overstocked when they hear of someone putting in forty or fifty acres of potatoes. Three hundred million bushels of potatoes are produced in the whole United States and they are all grown in a few states, while Germany grows one billion, eight hundred million bushels annually. Without the potato crop in Europe there would be nothing to keep people from starving to death. It is the food crop of Europe and the time will come when it will be the food crop of America. Our average yield in America is about 97 bushels to the acre, while in Germany it is over 200 bushels to the acre and about the same in England, Ireland and Scotland. That gives some idea of what science and knowledge have done. Those people study conditions, have a knowledge of the soil and everything pertaining to potato culture.

FORESTS GIVEN HISTORIC NAMES

TO PERPETUATE HISTORY AND SENTIMENT.

Pioneers Whose Names Are Linked with Western Progress Are Remembered by the Department in Naming the Redistricted Forests.

In the process of redistricting the national forests, which has just been completed, numerous changes in name were made. These changes were by no means haphazard or arbitrary. The new names have been chosen on account of their importance in local and national history, and will serve for all time as reminders of men and events connected with our progress from the pioneer days. Merely to read them understandingly is to trace the salient facts of western growth and development.

The national forests in Utah, with the significance and derivation of their names are as follows: The Ashley national forest is named for William B. Ashley, an enterprising fur trader, who in 1822 organized a company of 200 men which penetrated into the Rocky mountains and formed trading relations with the several Indian tribes. He was lieutenant governor of Illinois in 1828 and represented Missouri in congress in the early thirties. This forest has an area of 894,660 acres and is in charge of Supervisor William M. Anderson, with headquarters aternal. The Cache national forest takes its name from the county, stream and valley of the same name in northeastern Utah. The name is of French origin, meaning "hiding place," and was probably applied because of the excellent opportunity the early explorers had to hide their treasures down in the valley. This forest comprises an area of 536,360 acres and is under the supervision of W. W. Clark, with headquarters at Logan.

Southwestern Utah was locally called the "Dixie country," because of the similarity of its climate to that of the southeastern states, or "Dixie land," and because of the fact that in the early days this region produced cotton for the use of the Mormon settlers. The Dixie national forest receives its name in this way. This forest contains 1,091,129 acres, including the Mt. Timpanoh and the Shilwits additions in Mojave county, Arizona, consisting of 625,880 acres, on the north of the Grand canyon of the Colorado. The headquarters remain at St. George and C. I. Middle is the acting supervisor.

The Fillmore national forest, which was named after Millard Fillmore, the thirteenth president of the United States, is one of the six national forests named after presidents. The other forests are the Madison and Jefferson, in Montana; Lincoln, in New Mexico; Washington, in Washington and Cleveland, in California. The Fillmore forest has an area of 682,699 acres and is under the supervision of William Hurst, with headquarters at Beaver. The Flathead forest gets its name from the lake of the same name. This lake received its name on account of the large amount of fish to be found there. This forest is under Supervisor N. E. Snell, with headquarters at Sallina. Its area is 537,233 acres.

La Salle national forest is named after the famous French explorer, Robert Chevalier de la Salle, who, in 1659 set out upon a tour of western exploration in the course of which he discovered the Ohio river, and a year or two later explored the upper part of the Illinois. Later he led a band of colonists from France, intending to found a settlement at the mouth of the Mississippi. He landed at Matagorda Bay, Texas, which he mistook for a western outlet of the river, but was abandoned by some of his appointed followers near a branch of the Trinity river, Texas. This forest comprises an area of 474,138 acres and is in charge of Acting Supervisor John Ellis, with headquarters at Moab.

The Manti national forest is so named from the town of Manti, the capital of San Pete county, Utah. The name is taken from the word of the ruined city of Manti, near Caracas, Venezuela. The forest embraces 786,088 acres and is in charge of Supervisor A. W. Jensen, with headquarters at Ephraim.

The Minidoka national forest derives its name from a Shosh Indian name, possibly a collection of "min," "water," and "Tokahyna," "the first," "the first water," or "toka," "enemy," "water of the enemy." This forest is in charge of Supervisor William McCoy, with headquarters at Oakley, Idaho, and covers an area of 726,497 acres.

The "Lonely Mountain" in Palestine is perpetuated in the mountain of that name in the Wasatch range in Utah. From this mountain the Nebel national forest is named. It contains 353,000 acres. Its supervisor Dan S. Pack is in charge, with headquarters at Payson.

The great Indian chief, Pocahontas, has given his name to the seat of Hancock county, Idaho, on the Port. Noun river. From this city the Pocahontas national forest derives its name. The forest covers an area of 104,209 acres and is under the management of Supervisor C. G. Smith, with headquarters at Pocahontas, Idaho.

The Powell national forest is named after the great geologist, explorer and scientist, Major J. W. Powell, former director of the United States geological survey. His last work was an "Exploration of the Colorado River of the West" and "Introduction to the Study of Indian Languages." This forest is under Supervisor George H. Barney, with headquarters at Escalante. The area covered is 726,169 acres.

That with the Creek Indians in 1812. In this forest is included 710,520 acres, under the supervision of T. C. Hoyt, with headquarters at Panguitch. Utah county and the well known mountain range in Utah give the name to the Uinta national forest. The name is taken from a branch of the Ute Indians, the word said to mean "the land." Acting Supervisor R. V. Reynolds is in charge of the forest, with headquarters at Provo. The forest covers 1,155,040 acres.

The Wasatch national forest is named from the Wasatch mountains which extend from north to south through Utah. This is a Ute or Paiute word, the meaning of which is not known. This forest embraces an area of 219,510 acres, which is under the management of Acting Supervisor C. F. Cooley, with headquarters at Salt Lake City.

As new forests are created it is the intention of the forest service to name them so as to perpetuate the names of men and events prominently connected with the history and development of the western country.

ALBION STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

Presents Exceptional Advantages to Students

The State Normal school at Albion will open for work Tuesday, Sept. 8, 1908. The prospects for a successful year are outstanding in every way. Several changes have been made in the faculty. Professors Carter, Shepherd and Pike and Miss Pink have resigned. The new faculty will start on the opening of the year is as follows: G. A. Axline, M. A. (Parsons, Chicago Normal academy), president, education and psychology. C. E. Boeckel, B. S. (Illinois), Chicago), dean, science. B. C. Thompson, M. A. (Harvard), German and Latin. Eva Smith, B. A. (Monmouth, Chicago), dean of women, history. Elizabeth Van Hook, B. A. (Nebraska, California), English. Mary Frazer (Indiana State Normal school), primary critic. Belle D. Donahue (Chicago Kindergarten college), kindergarten. J. J. Jackson, B. A. (Park), music and public speaking. George D. Kalpe, M. A. (Baker, Kansas Academy), supervisor of training department. J. L. Stenquist, M. D. (State Normal, industrial school), manual training, chemistry. Louis A. Bauman (Milwaukee Normal school), preparatory branches. Arthur J. Lewis, B. A. (Denver), mathematics. Eva B. Lyville, B. Ed. (Colorado State Normal school, Columbia), intermediate critic.

Of the new teachers, Professor Kalpe has been professor of pedagogy in the Northwestern State Normal of Oklahoma for the past six years and director of the training department and vice president of the same institution for the past four years. Only a succession of fortunate circumstances enabled the normal school at Albion to secure his services. Professor Stenquist comes from Walla Walla, where he has been director of manual training in the high and city schools for the past five years. In addition to his manual training school he is a musician of no mean ability, having had charge of the high school band and orchestra. No man could ask for higher recommendations than those received by Professor Stenquist.

Professor Bauman is vouched for by some of the greatest educators in the state of Wisconsin as a teacher of great ability and a man of irreproachable character. In addition he has an enviable record as a public speaker.

Professor Lewis comes from the preparatory school of the University of Denver, of which school he is a graduate. During the past summer he has had charge of the mathematics in the summer school of that university. The head of the department of mathematics says that in 30 years experience he has had but one student in his classes who was superior to Professor Lewis as a mathematician. Professor Lewis during his college course won the Interstate oratorical contest and was a member of the championship basketball team which won the championship. From the best teams in three states.

Miss Lyville comes from the state normal of South Dakota, where she was a critic teacher last year. She has made a specialty of reading and has taught it in two normal schools. She also holds a diploma as a graduate in education.

Altogether the faculty is the strongest the school has ever had and prospects are bright for a very successful year. Cost of living at Albion is cheap. In the dormitories, both boys and girls, board, room, light, heat and bath privileges cost $18 per calendar month. Albion is an exceedingly healthy place and one in which the students have opportunity to do good work. The school has made great strides during the last few years and now is well fitted to train teachers and give good preparatory work as any school in the northwest.
