

COLONEL THOMAS R. HAMER
Republican Candidate for Congress.

Colonel Thomas R. Hamer, Republican candidate for congress, is by birth and training fitted for a public career and has already demonstrated to a marked degree his capacity for the duties he will be called upon to perform in the lower house of the national legislature. He comes from a long line of soldiers and statesmen and has himself rendered conspicuous service to his country in the line of military duty, while he possesses all of those qualifications which make for leadership in government affairs. He is a lawyer of ability, a natural orator with a rare gift of presenting his facts in a manner at once pleasing and convincing, and has a charm of personality which wins friends for him.

Colonel Hamer was born at Vermont, Ill., May 4, 1864. He was educated in the high school of his native town, at Heading college and the Bloomington law school. He entered upon the practice of law in his twenty-first year, and removed to St. Anthony in this state 15 years ago, where he opened a law office and has been engaged successfully ever since with the exception of three years which he spent in the volunteer army of the United States in the Spanish-American war. He was a member of the Idaho legislature in 1897, demonstrating at that time his peculiar fitness for the public service in the law-making branch, and enlisted as a private in company E of the First Idaho volunteers the following year, 1898, when the war with Spain began. He was later commissioned a captain of that company by the late Governor Steunenberg and embarked with his regiment for the Philippines in June, 1898, arriving in time to participate in the capture of Manila.

After the surrender of the Spanish army, Colonel Hamer was appointed provost judge of the city of Manila by General Merritt, then in command. He was wounded at the battle of Caloc-chin and for his gallantry and efficiency was promoted to the lieutenant colonelcy of his regiment. While yet in the hospital at Manila on account of his wound, he was appointed to the command of the military district of Cebu and was made military governor of that island by General Otis. As soon as he was able to travel he embarked for Cebu, where he was placed in command of a provisional brigade consisting largely of regulars with one battalion of the First Tennessee United States volunteer infantry, and when the Idaho volunteers were mustered out of the service, on recommendation of General Otis, he was tendered by President McKinley a commission as lieutenant colonel of the Thirty-Seventh United States volunteer infantry, a regiment raised from veterans in the Philippines, and continued to act in his capacity of military governor of Cebu for more than a year.

On account of his legal training and ability he was designated by General Otis to help organize the supreme court of the Philippines, which had not been in session since the opening of hostilities, and was appointed, as one of the three military members, an associate justice of that court, in which capacity he served until he left the service at the close of hostilities.

Colonel Hamer's father, like himself, was a lawyer and a soldier, having served in the military with great capacity with great distinction during the civil war. Like his son, his rise in military rank was rapid. First serving as a captain of an Illinois volunteer company, he soon rose to the rank of major and later to that of colonel and was finally brevetted a brigadier general for meritorious service, having been severely wounded at Stone River, Tenn. The colonel's grandfather served as a lieutenant in the war of 1812 and his uncle, Thomas L. Hamer, who was a member of congress from an Ohio district, served in the Mexican war, reaching the rank of brigadier general like his brother, Colonel Hamer's father, Colonel Hamer's grandfather served through the revolution as a subaltern in the Pennsylvania militia and his first ancestor to land in America was Captain Ralph Hamer, who came to Virginia with Lord DeLaure and was secretary of the Jamestown colony. He was made a vice admiral in the English navy in American waters and eventually settled in that part of the colony which later became a part of Pennsylvania.

Colonel Hamer married Blanche Kirkbride, his boyhood schoolmate and friend and has two daughters, Elizabeth M., 10 years of age, now attending St. Margaret's school in Dolos, an Connell Blanche, five years of age. He has substantial interests in his home county of Fremont, and is one of the solid and well respected citizens of that section of the Gen state.

BRYAN, THE EXTERMINATOR
Don Quixote of Democracy Bill Blaine Away at Progress.

William Jennings Bryan went into business as an exterminator in 1896 and has stuck to it ever since. He got after the "gold bugs" that year and announced that he would exterminate the whole nest, species by species applications of his celebrated free silver powder. He announced his program in a speech in Albany, N. Y., August 25, 1896, in the following terms:

"The Democratic party has begun a war of extermination against the gold standard. We ask no quarter, we give no quarter. We shall prosecute our warfare until there is not an American citizen who dares to advocate the gold standard."

"The war of extermination" which followed that heroic utterance was the most gorgeous free amusement entertainment ever organized in America. In every town where the show appeared Mr. Bryan rode in the street parade and took part in two performances in the big tent every day. He exterminated several millions of "gold bugs" at each performance and specially drove every other circus out of business. The show drew enormous crowds everywhere. The funny clowns delighted the children, the tight-rope acts of the daring artists "specially engaged" astonished all who saw and the owner of the show himself performed various antics on his famous trick mule "Democracy," which alone was considered well worth the price of admission.

The show ended its season in November after a severe frost, but with money in bank and now still strong in its owner's heart. Then, after the big red band wagon, the gaudy trappings and the rest of the outfit had been carefully stored away in winter quarters, some inquisitive person away back East imperceptibly inquired: "But, after all, what did the Great Exterminator exterminate?" To which the ringmaster replied: "Why, the Democratic party, of course."

HON. L. H. SWEETSER, Republican Candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

In selecting a candidate for lieutenant governor, the delegates to the Republican state convention determined upon a man of such breadth and educational attainments as will insure to the state an able executive, should fate call him to the governor's chair, and one who could perform his duties as a presiding officer of the state session with credit to himself and to that body.

Lewis H. Sweetser was born in San Francisco January 13, 1863. In 1872 his parents brought him to Idaho, where his father, Andrew J. Sweetser, had a cattle ranch on Raft river. Four years later he was taken back to California and secured the degree of Ph. B. In the fall of 1899 he returned to Idaho and in 1890 went into the cattle business with H. E. Burroughs in the Snake river valley. Mr. Sweetser has his first vote for standard for Idaho. He was defeated for the legislature on the straight Republican ticket at the time the free silver agitation was high in the Snake river valley.

MISS B. BELLE CHAMBERLAIN, Republican Candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

In the person of Miss B. Belle Chamberlain, the Republican party of Idaho presents a candidate for the important office of state superintendent of schools with full confidence that his choice will be approved by the voters at large. A native daughter of the state and a graduate of the high school of its capital city, it is but natural that Idaho citizens should look upon her career as an educator with pride, but, by work beyond the borders of her native state, she has demonstrated that this feeling is well founded in fact and not only in local prejudice.

For four years Miss Chamberlain taught in the public schools of Grand Island, Mich., a city the school system of which ranks second to none, and there her work was approved as it has been in Idaho. From that time she has been engaged in the educational work in Idaho where she held responsible positions in the public schools of Boise and Wallace.

Under her administration as state superintendent, a course of study and teachers manual has been prepared for the public schools of the state and by its uniformity in the educational system has been greatly facilitated. Her work in the state has been a study of the rural school problem and, as a result, she has been able to help in the state to establish a consolidated school plan in many districts. F. CUSHING MOORE, Republican Candidate for State Mines Inspector.

For state inspector of mines, the Republican party has placed before the voters a man of large experience in mining and real worth as a citizen. F. Cushing Moore, the nominee, was born in Moscow, Idaho, educated in the University of the Pacific at San Jose, Cal., the Chicago Manual Training school, the Northwestern university and the University of Idaho. He was graduated from the latter institution in 1899.

Mr. Moore soon after associated himself with J. C. Reardon, a mining engineer of Spokane, Wash., who was operating extensively in the mining camps of Idaho, Montana, Washington and British Columbia. Since the spring of 1910 he has been located in the Coeur d'Alene mining district. He was chief engineer for the Federal Mining and Smelting company from September, 1903, to March, 1907, and is now engaged in general engineering practice, with headquarters at Wallace, Idaho.

HON. ROBERT LANSON, Republican Candidate for Secretary of State.

Robert Lanson, Republican candidate for secretary of state, is a native son and a representative type of the sort of man who is doing much to push Idaho to the front in the school of states. He was born November 18th, at Weiser, Idaho, which is still his home city, and received his earlier education in the public school on Mann's creek near that place. After his graduation from the high school at Union, Ore., he taught for three years in his home county. When the Spanish-American war broke out he responded to his country's call, enlisting with the Idaho volunteers, and served for 18 months. Later he was promoted from the ranks, under a competitive examination, to the non-commissioned officership, and was mustered out of the service as such.

Allshie, a man who easily, naturally and snugly fits the honor that has fallen to him, a man whom the people on whom he has been appointed respond to every demand upon his difficult and delicate station, and because he is a jurist by learning and experience, a man morally brave, as incorruptible as honor, one whom no force can frighten, no influence coerce, no money buy. The battleship Idaho is the only vessel in the United States navy which has not been supplied with a silver service by the people of the state after which it was named, according to the statement of a former resident of Idaho who was aboard the battleship a few days ago. The wife of the commander lends her silver whenever guests are entertained on board. This condition of affairs has given rise to considerable comment and it might create the impression that the people of Idaho are stingy, which is far from the facts. A movement is being launched in Twin Falls to purchase a silver service for the Idaho by popular subscription with a limit of $1, so that all may have an opportunity to contribute. The citizens of Idaho are proud of the battleship which bears the name of the Gem state and there is no reason why the vessel should not have a silver service and one made of Idaho silver at that.

Valley "roiling" for "an issue to kill the stench of the soap kitchens of 1895, Democracy has been forced back upon its old despairing cry of "Thief! Robber! Help!" The Boise Capital News, now the principal organ of the party, by the grace of the supreme court decision which enabled the Democrats to classify themselves, is leading the cry. Always hostile to Twin Falls, the Capital News is now doing its utmost to save a steep range for its candidate for United States senator by endeavoring to discredit the west of Salmon extension, the greatest irrigation project in the world. It accuses the state land board of having $5,000,000 of the people by entertaining Frank H. Buhl's proposal to reclaim the west of Salmon tract for $50 an acre for water rights, on the plea that the Kuhns offered to supply water for the tract for $45 an acre. The further charge is made that the Kuhns were given the electric power privileges in consideration of their withdrawal. As there are no power privileges even remotely connected with the project, this feature of the accusation is as flimsy as the others. The Kuhns withdrew their proposal to furnish water for $45 an acre after they had ascertained the impossibility of their so doing. Mr. Buhl is now spending a half million dollars to find out if he can afford to irrigate the lands. No contract of any kind has been entered into by the state with Mr. Buhl. He is simply given the right to demonstrate the feasibility of his proposal and the lands which he proposes to irrigate are in the meantime withdrawn from entry to give him the opportunity. The provisions of the Carey act are so plain and the method of procedure so simple that the vicious attack of the Democratic state central committee, through the columns of the Capital News, is indefensible. The people of Twin Falls county are vitally interested in the west of Salmon extension, which will bring a market to their doors and insure a railway connection westward, besides adding enormously to the wealth of the county. No Democrat having the welfare of the county at heart can afford to condone the action of the committee. Such vicious charges can have but one result. They will tend to keep people away from the state and hamper development by irrigation. In their efforts to secure votes the Democrats should endeavor to avoid slandering the state. They had their monopoly of desert during their regime and they left a nice smear of it in the vicinity of Shoshone falls, a bleak monument to the rapacity of their administration. At a meeting of business men, held in the Commercial club rooms yesterday, the following resolution was unanimously passed: "Resolved, that it is the sense of the people of Twin Falls that we deprecate and resent the efforts being made to discredit the west of Salmon extension, commonly called the Brannan project, by the inference that improper methods were used to further the same, and we cordially express our confidence in the integrity of Frank H. Buhl and the Kuhns brothers." These are the sentiments of every loyal citizen of Twin Falls county.

NAT REISS CARNIVAL.

Monday, October 10, will witness the opening of the big street fair and the agricultural exhibit, and it is a foregone conclusion that Twin Falls will enter on a season of fun and festivity the like of which has never been seen in this city.

The special train containing the carnival company will arrive in the city Sunday, and the immense task of getting the White City into place will be commenced at once.

The Reiss aggregation is carrying the largest number of high class carnival attractions on the road at the present time, and the people of this vicinity will see the best there is to be seen at the street fair next week. The Reiss carnival company supplied the amusement features at the picnic and Salt Lake fairs, and judging from the press of both those cities they were all and more than the advance notices claimed for them. With the carnival company this season will be seen a number of the best shows on the road today, among them being the Merry Widow dancing girls. This company consists of a number of handsome little ladies, recruited from the ranks of the leading musical comedy companies. They all have good voices and know how to sing. There is also Lamotte, the lady who flies, floats and dances in mid-air. In order to present this entertainment it is necessary for the professor in charge to place the lady in a semi-comatose condition, and it is while she is in this condition that she will obey his slightest wish and command. She flies high above the heads of her audience, gracefully performs aerial dances, and last but not least, the professor allows a member of the audience to pass a solid iron hoop over the head of the lady, which proves the utter absence of wires or mechanical devices of any kind.

Willie, the man-eating lion, is one of the features of the Nat Reiss this season. This blood-thirsty king of the jungles has already killed several of his keepers, and when his present keeper, Frank Hall, undertakes to enter the cage of this animal he practically takes his life in his hands.

There will also be seen the minstrels, or the Sunny South before the war. It is in this show that you see the genuine southern dandy and hear the old familiar plantation melodies. Mr. Reiss takes a great pride in his minstrel show and is always doing something to improve the entertainment.

WOULD MAKE SPLENDID OFFICER Republican Candidate for Attorney General a Strong Man. D. C. McDougal, presented as Republican candidate for attorney general, was born in Delta, Oneida county, N. Y., June 8, 1863. His family moved to Petersburg, Ill., in 1872, where he resided until 1890. He was educated in the public schools of that place and taught school for five years, after which he took the law course at the Boston university and graduated from that institution in the class of 1888. In the same year he took the bar examination at Springfield, Ill., and was admitted to practice. In 1890 Mr. McDougal located at Malad City in Oneida county, where he has been engaged in active practice ever since. The following year he was admitted to the supreme court of the state of Idaho and the United States district and circuit courts. He has always been active in Republican politics and was a member of the Republican state central committee from 1892 to 1898. Two years ago he was a candidate for nomination, and his choice is a logical acknowledgment of his recognized fitness for the office.

BREVITIES

Mrs. W. P. Guthrie and daughter have returned from Yakima, where they visited for three weeks.

Rev. John Gourley was in Idaho Falls the first of the week attending the meeting of the presbytery and synod.

John Crocker of Maroon, Ill., one of the Twin Falls pioneers and a brother of George L. Crocker, is here for a visit.

There will be a meeting of the Women of the World on Wednesday evening, October 21, in the hall, over the Dime theater. Business of importance will be brought up and a full attendance is desired.

Miss Carolyn Fargo, will return on Tuesday from her visit to the coast, where she has been visiting. Miss Fargo will resume her piano classes in Twin Falls, where she has been a very successful teacher.

Ulrich Milling, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crowe, died at his parents' home early Thursday afternoon. The body will be shipped by H. E. Hunt & Co. to Harrisburg, Pa., the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Crowe.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Savago returned on Wednesday from Indiana and other eastern states, where they have been visiting since their marriage. They had a splendid trip but of course they are glad to be home in Twin Falls again.

Donato Campana, an Italian, aged 51 years, died in Twin Falls on Wednesday, October 13. The body was taken to Hunt's parlors until the arrival of a brother from California, who came from Salt Lake City. The funeral occurred on Thursday morning, interment being in Twin Falls cemetery.

W. C. Williams of the real estate firm of Williams & Jones has gone to Montana on business. He will be absent for a week or ten days. Mr. Williams in Montana Mr. Williams will address two meetings which have been arranged for by people who are interested in the Twin Falls country and who desire to learn something about it.

The North Side company has set aside 100 acres, one mile east of Jerome, for a demonstration farm. The roughest land to be found was selected in order to make the coming of the nation thorough. Fruit and vegetables will be grown, dairy and beef cattle will be raised and every foot of the land will be utilized. Alex. McPhee will have charge of the model farm.

Sarah Jane Hamlin, who recently came here from Chicago, died at the Twin Falls hospital on Tuesday morning, aged 74 years. The funeral services were held in Miller's parlors this afternoon, the body being shipped to Chicago. Mrs. Hamlin and her daughter made many friends since their arrival in this part of the state who sincerely sympathize with the bereaved.

Mrs. Rosa D. Joslin, wife of William W. Joslin, died on Sunday night, aged 27 years. She is survived by her husband, a son aged four, a daughter aged two and a son 18 months. The funeral services were held in Hunt's parlors on Wednesday morning, S. W. Motley and Rev. W. H. Parker officiating. Mr. Joslin has expressed his heartfelt thanks to those who assisted him in his time of sorrow.

The owners of tracts in the De Long addition assembled in the office of Hill & Taylor on Wednesday and drew lots to see who would get the corner tract at the end of Main street, on which the De Long residence stands. The numbers were placed in a box and Miss Britton Wolf, with her dress hunched, drew a cube which bore No. 19, the number of A. N. Sprague's tract. At first it was supposed that Charlie Booth was the lucky man, but it proved that he owned No. 9.

Henry A. Peterson of the Pearson Tract Land Credit Co. of Chicago, was in Twin Falls for several days looking over the country. The firm with which he connected is one of the largest of its kind in America, making a specialty of farm loans. It is represented locally by the Irrigated Lands Trust of Twin Falls, which he never saw anything equal to Twin Falls and declared he would have difficulty in convincing his friends in Chicago of the facts. Mr. Peterson also stated that the authorization of bonds for the building of a courthouse in Twin Falls was a material factor in inducing his firm to put out money in this county.

Franklin Pierce Jolly entertained a crowded house at the Bichel school house Tuesday night with his amusing lecture on "The Jolly Side of Life". Mr. Jolly lectured for nearly two hours and held the closest attention of his audience all the way through. Mr. Jolly's word pictures of the San Francisco disaster and the Yellowstone canyon and waterfalls were wonderful. His remarks were humorous and while at times he spoke quiply yet his enunciation was exceptionally good. This was the first number in the course and it was a decided success.

The event of the season in musical circles will be next Thursday night, when four great musical artists will deliver a concert here under the management of the Twin Falls lecture course. The members of this company were selected from over 1500 applicants received by the bureau the past season. It was selected on the view to solo work alone, but for the great possibilities of ensemble work. Mr. Carr, the basso cantante, and Miss Smith, soprano, have also beautiful duets with violin and piano which will form a pleasing feature of the evening's concert. The equal of Mr. Shurt, the pianist, with a variety never heard in this city for a long time to come, while Mr. Pflantz, the violinist, is one of the most talented and talented of artists in New York City. Seats are on sale at Bedford's drug store.

COME TO THE BOARD MEETING

Members of Canal Association Urged to Attend.

A meeting of the governing board of Twin Falls Canal association will be held in the office of the board over the Commercial & Savings bank on Saturday afternoon, October 17, for the purpose of considering a proposal from the Land & Water Co. to run water in the canal during the winter months. The company proposes to furnish a reasonable water supply during the coming winter and charge the expense of operating the system from October 20, 1908, until May 1, 1909, as though it had been incurred during the operating season of 1908, and collect 80 cents per acre for each and every acre irrigated during the irrigating season of 1908.

The board was to have met last Saturday afternoon but a quorum could not be secured. Mr. Bowen, attorney for the board, will be present tomorrow and it is highly desirable that all members of the board should be on hand at 2 p. m. The expense of bringing Mr. Bowen here last Saturday was wasted and will be wasted again unless there is a quorum. It is imperative that an arrangement of some kind should be made with the Land & Water Co. prior to November 1.

A rousing Republican rally in Twin Falls has been arranged for the night of November 2, when all the candidates on the county ticket will speak at the rink. It will be the closing night of the campaign and every effort will be spared to make it memorable. The speeches will be short and spicy and the program will be interspersed with good music.

CONGRESSMAN JONES IS COMING

Will Deliver an Address in Twin Falls Next Week.

Congressman Wesley L. Jones of Yakima, Wash., who has been nominated by the Republicans of that state to succeed Senator Anthony, will deliver an address in Twin Falls next week on his way home from the east, where he is campaigning for the national ticket. Mr. Jones, who is a half brother of W. P. Guthrie, Republican candidate for county attorney in Twin Falls, is one of the strongest men in his party in the west. He has been an able representative in congress and he won against Senator Anthony by an overwhelming majority in the primaries. He is a splendid speaker, magnetic eloquent and forceful. Furthermore, Mr. Jones has always been friendly to the Twin Falls tract. Many of his old constituents from Yakima are located here and they will turn out to a man to hear him. The date for the meeting has not been fixed as it cannot be determined as yet when Mr. Jones will reach Twin Falls.

GOL HAMER TO SPEAK HERE

Will Deliver Address at the Rink on October 31.

Colonel Thomas R. Hamer, Republican candidate for congress, will deliver an address at the rink in Twin Falls on the evening of October 31. Colonel Hamer spoke here two years ago and made a splendid impression. He is one of the most entertaining platform orators in the west, and his presentation of state and national issues is a delight to hear. Famed in his profession as a lawyer, famed on the field of battle and secure in the confidence of the people of Idaho, Colonel Hamer is making a remarkable campaign. He is being greeted everywhere by large and enthusiastic audiences and his election is a foregone conclusion.

HERE'S THE MAN FOR SHERIFF

Like most of the candidates on the Republican ticket, John Peters, the candidate for sheriff, was born on a farm. He was "made in Germany," being a native of Holstein, whence came the famous dairy cattle. He came to America in 1883 and settled in Grundy county, Iowa. Three years later he moved to Palo Alto county in the same state, where he continued the business of farming. In 1903 he came to the Twin Falls tract, arriving at Blue Lakes on July 20 of that year. He remained at the lakes until autumn, studying irrigation and acquiring knowledge of the country. Returning to Iowa, he began to boost for Twin Falls and induced many of the best citizens on the tract to cast their fortunes here. Mr. Peters took up a farm on Blue Lakes avenue which he still operates. He is interested in the Racket store in Twin Falls and also in the big Rogerson hotel building, of which he owns 25 feet frontage on Main street. Mr. Peters has never been an office seeker. He is a plain, honest man, an indefatigable worker, always a consistent booster and always willing to put his money in Twin Falls. He has done his full share toward the upbuilding of the city and is one of the most public spirited citizens. Mr. Peters stands high in Odd Fellowship, having taken all the degrees of the order. He is the delegate from Twin Falls to the Grand Encampment and is a zealous worker for the good cause. A capable and energetic business man, heavily interested in the welfare of the county, he may be relied upon to make an excellent sheriff.

FARM TOPICS
BY WILLIAM HEWES.

(This column is open to all farmers in Twin Falls county who desire to express their views on agriculture, horticulture or any other feature of farming. They are invited to relate their experiences in growing fruit, grain or vegetables, or in raising stock.)

Present prices indicate that there will be a good profit in hogs this fall. The farmers who have good porkers will be fortunate.

We looked over a 320-acre farm one day this week. One man tried to work all of the land. He ran over everything and did nothing well. He did not get so much on that half section of land as a good farmer would raise on 80 acres. He simply skinned over the ground when he plowed. He did not half level or harrow the ground. The corrugations were poor. He did not water the land at the proper time. The result is this poor farmer spoiled more than 500 acres of good land (so far as this year's crop is concerned) and did not make enough money to pay for his time. The result is not the fault of the soil, climate or season, but it can be traced to the direct cause, the man himself. He was trying to raise a big crop with a little labor. In other words, he was looking for something for nothing. The only thing he got was the nothing. Yet he really got what he deserved. The fewer of this class of farmers the Twin Falls tract has the better it will be for every one concerned. It takes both energy and brains to farm. Without the former the latter is of little use.

Mr. Farmer, if your finances are in a condition that will allow you to build your grain, hay or other farm produce, it will pay you to keep it until next spring. We are not enough of a prophet to tell you whether these farm products will be higher in the spring than they are now.

eastern markets or not. These markets are controlled largely by boards of trade. We do not know whether the bulls or bears will be in control of the large markets, but we know something of the local conditions. Just at present there is a surplus of farm products on the South Side tract. The supply is greater than the local demand. For this reason much of our grain or hay or vegetables will be shipped to the markets of the large cities during the fall and winter. At least 75 per cent of the new crop will be either shipped out or consumed locally before next April. What will the result be? High local prices. Why? Because a surplus of supplies will establish their residence on the North Side tract next spring. These people cannot raise a new crop for several months. They must have something to feed for their stock. The demand on the North Side will be greater than the South Side can supply. The result will be high local prices. The farmer who then has something to sell will be the gainer.

In our travels this week we saw several fields of late oats. Some of these oats are still standing in the field while others are in the sheaf. One field owned by George Drake was sown on June 20. The grain was thin on the ground but the quality is very good. The crop will probably yield about 35 bushels to the acre. We are not giving this as an argument for late sowing but to show that oats can be sown late on this tract and will give a fair yield. We give this as an illustration of the fact that this soil will produce a good crop whenever it is given half a chance.

We notice that some of the farmers are burning their straw stacks. This is a wasteful method. This straw can be turned to profit. If you have a piece of sagebrush, scatter the straw over it. Then set it on fire when the weather is favorable. You will be surprised at the result. If you do not care to use it in this way, let it rot in the stack. It will then make a good fertilizer when scattered over the land and plowed under. If you do not care to use your straw for feed then let it rot in the stack and then put it where it will bring you a profit.

Last Saturday we attended the Carl Farnsworth farm auction sale. The bidding was spirited on dairy cows. They sold for high prices. This is an indication that the farmers are alive to the fact that the future of this country depends largely upon the dairy business. We are raising a large amount of alfalfa. This alfalfa when fed to cows gives a much larger profit than the hay would if sold upon the market. In the near future we will have an over production of hay. The dairy cow will help solve this problem.

Everything being equal, the farmer who does early fall plowing will obtain the best results. This statement is not founded upon guess work but upon results obtained by a majority of the farmers who have tried early plowing.

Those who have tried chickens on the Twin Falls tract have found them to be a good profit producer.

KING HILL LAND IN GOOD DEMAND

THREE-FOURTHS OF THE TRACT ALREADY TAKEN.

Twin Falls People Prominent at the Drawing—Bonus of $1000 Offered for Early Choice—Henry C. Jones of Twin Falls Draws No. 1.

The opening of the King Hill tract Monday was a splendid success in every particular. Of the 11,500 acres opened for entry by the King Hill Irrigation & Power Co. more than 8,000 acres were taken in 24 hours, and filings are still being made. The applications for land greatly exceeded the acreage to be reclaimed. Henry C. Jones of Twin Falls drew No. 1. J. P. Johnson of Twin Falls drew No. 5 and filed upon 80 acres, and G. H. Remenschneider of Twin Falls drew No. 6 and filed upon 40 acres. Other Twin Falls citizens secured good locations and were glad of the opportunity to get good land and good water rights for $85 per acre. There was a larger representation at the drawing from Twin Falls than from any other section of the state and they were all boosters. A Payette representative, who was trying to boost for that section and was knocking the King Hill tract, was put on a westbound passenger train and told to keep going. Many filings were made by prominent farmers and orchardists, and it is predicted that the tract will soon be one of Idaho's beauty spots. The attendance was splendid and the drawing was conducted in the fairest and most satisfactory manner.

HON. JAMES H. BRADY.

Republican Candidate for Governor of Idaho.

A history of the life of James H. Brady, Republican candidate for governor of Idaho, is replete with details of accomplishment which emphasize his exceptional fitness for the office of chief executive of the state. "Harmony Jim" Brady he has been called and the term in its most commendable sense is applicable.

Born in Indiana county, Pennsylvania, June 12, 1862, an ancestry of Scotch-Irish on his father's side and German on his mother's, were united in him. Both branches of the family possessed records of service and loyalty to the United States which extended back for 150 years. Captain Samuel Brady, a great-grandfather, first in the ranks and later as an officer, fought in the war of the revolution, and as a scout in the Indian wars which followed, attained distinction in recognition of which a monument was erected to his memory in Kent, Ohio.

During Mr. Brady's early boyhood, his father moved to Kansas, and settled on a farm 15 miles from Kansas City. There he received his education. After graduating from high school, he entered Leavenworth Normal college with the intention of adopting the profession of a teacher, and for three years afterward pursued it, but his natural abilities and inclination fomented the call of business activity which he made no effort to resist, and he abandoned his course and embarked upon a career of even greater usefulness.

In Chicago, his first venture was real estate. It was successful to the extent that branch offices were established in other cities. While in this business his attention was attracted by the wonderful possibilities of Idaho, and the inception and development of the Idaho canal, the Marysville canal and the Fort Hall Indian reservation canal were the result. Under his direction they became the greatest factor in the reclaiming of the Snake river territory, and through these projects he breathed fertility and life into thousands of acres which before had been arid and dead. The Idaho canal in Bingham and Fremont counties now waters 70,000 acres, 45,000 of which are under cultivation; the Marysville in Fremont county supplies 20,000 acres, and the reservoir in Bingham and Blaine counties furnishes the lands in the Fort Hall reservation. The Great Feeder canal in Fremont and Bingham counties, a later enterprise, is one of the largest irrigation ditches in the state and waters 100,000 acres, of which 70,000 are under cultivation. These canals were built purely as private undertakings and supply water to lands under them at fixed rentals per acre. They were constructed under the Carey act and have been unassailed by contention.

Mr. Brady made Idaho his home in 1886, and became interested at that time in the electrical development of the water power of the southeastern part of the state. He is now president of the Idaho Consolidated Power company, which owns and controls a mammoth plant at American Falls, furnishing light and power to American Falls, Ross Fork, Pocatello and Blackfoot, and has a theoretical capacity of 60,000 horsepower and an actual estimated capacity of 50,000, though but comparatively little of this gigantic resource has been developed on account of the absence of a market. Street lighting in American Falls is furnished free of cost, and the boast in Pocatello is that a greater proportion of the residents use electricity for all purposes than in any other city in the world.

Despite these great undertakings, Mr. Brady cannot be considered a corporation man in the sense politically used. Although he has been until recently the guiding spirit of institutions which have been vital to the progress of the state, neither he nor they have anything to ask or receive of the state government.

The political activity of Mr. Brady dates back to his residence in Chicago, where he was recognized as an organizer and a leader. The foresight, consideration, ability and capacity which characterize his business experience are evinced in his interest in statecraft. In 1894 he was made chairman of the Republican state central committee. Two years later he was named to an office for the first time, being a candidate for United States senator against the present incumbent, Hon. W. E. Borna. The contest was close, and at a critical period, in order to reserve the organization of the party, he withdrew from the race, but upon the request of the central committee resumed his leadership of the party and generated its notable victory in 1906.

Mr. Brady is a man of many friends who respect and admire him, and has many small philanthropies which are a source of much satisfaction to him. Above all, he is a citizen of the highest type of usefulness. He is a widower, his wife having died two years ago, and he lives with his two sisters in Pocatello.

 Enrollment—Boys 388
 Girls 401
 Total 789
 Average number belonging, 743; average attendance, 722; average absence, 21; per cent of attendance, 97;
 number neither tardy nor absent, 325;
 number wagons running, 19; average distance, one way, 5½ miles; total distance each day, 110 miles; average number pupils riding, total 220; average number pupils per wagon, 22.
 Condition of roads reported good. No wagons tardy. No accidents.
 There is a prevalent misunderstanding among our people and especially the "new comers" as to our accommodations for handling the children.
 The present seating capacity of our buildings is 600. We have a ample room for 100 more pupils in our present quarters.
 Although 20 per cent of the grade pupils, 40 per cent of the high school pupils and 70 per cent of our teachers were new to our school, everything being in readiness, we experienced no delay in getting down to work. All adapted themselves to the new conditions and our school is at present in a good working condition.

 S. D. PARKE.
 The boys of the high school have been working to get a basket ball team. They have a small sum subscribed to them and they expect to have a good team in a few weeks.
 The high school has been practicing on yeils for Saturday and have some good ones. Come out and help us root.
 Parents and guardians of children of school age who are not in school may expect a visit from the probation officer, and all persons employing children to work during school hours are advised that it is contrary to the school law of Idaho, which punishes such offenses with heavy fine and imprisonment. This law will be rigidly enforced.
 Saturday the high school football and basket ball teams meet the Pocatello teams on the local grounds. Our teams have been working hard and are playing well. Pocatello is reported to have a number of fast players, so we expect a hard struggle.
