PERCENTAGE OF WATER IN FOOD is Much Higher Than the Average Person Imagines. While we fully recognize the importance of water as an indispensable condition of life, we seldom realize what quantities of it exist in our daily food, or what high prices we have to pay for it in the ordinary course of our purchases at the grocery market. Take for instance, the butcher's bill, which is usually the most serious item of domestic expenditure for a tract of food, and to be told that when the thrifty housewife expends money upon the best cuts of beef, no less than three-quarters of her purchase is for water. Yet such is unquestionably the case—vouched for by the highest analytical authorities. Uncooked beef of medium quality contains 75 per cent (or three-fourths of its whole bulk) of water.

Other kinds of meat are less fluid in character. Lamb, for example, contains only 64 per cent of water. Pork has still less, the amount varying from 50 to 60 per cent. But these are but small, but really important, facts, the greatest amount of solid satisfaction for their money, for this meat seldom contains more than 22 per cent of water. In the fatty parts of food, hydrogen and oxygen do not exist in the chemical proportions necessary for the formation of water. Therefore, it may be laid down as a general rule that the more fat or oily the meat, the less water will it contain. The fat of water is water, as fat increases, is well exemplified in the case of poultry. The flesh of pigeons contains 75 per cent of water, while a fat goose may have as little as 38 per cent of water in its composition.

To All Land Owners and Water Users. At a meeting of the governing board of the Twin Falls Canal association it was decided necessary, upon the best legal advice obtainable, to procure a decree from the courts showing the standing of water rights for the land on the original Twin Falls tract. This is necessary in order to secure the rights of land owners in case a dispute arises as to the priority of the water rights for the land on the surrounding tracts which have made filings on the waters of Snake river, or in case any of the surrounding lands should be reclaimed, or in case upon the rights of settlement upon the lands of the South Side Twin Falls tract. Every owner of land on this tract, which includes the original survey of 30,000 acres on the North Side, is invited to join as a plaintiff in this suit to be brought, and if he so joins, he will be relieved of all expense. Charles A. McMaster, administrator of the estate of J. Noble McMaster, deceased, having filed his petition for the partition of the estate of the real estate therein set forth, it is therefore ordered by said court that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased appear before the said Probate Court on Monday, the 9th day of November, 1906, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, in the court room of said Probate Court in the city of Twin Falls, in said county, to show cause why an order should not be granted for the partition of the estate, or sell so much of the real estate of the said deceased, at private sale, as shall be necessary; that a copy of this order be published in the Twin Falls News, a newspaper printed and published in the city of Twin Falls, in said county, on the 21st day of October, 1906. F. E. CHAMBERLAIN, Probate Judge.

F. E. CHAMBERLAIN, Probate Judge.

The secretary of the Canal association will be in his office over the Commercial Savings bank in Twin Falls every Saturday from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. and will receive the names of persons who desire to file affidavits and answer any questions to those desiring information. The secretary has also been instructed by the governing board to call upon the land and water owners as possible for him to see and give them an opportunity to become plaintiffs in the case. Messrs. Stockelager & Bowen are the attorneys for the association and will conduct the case. Those who have given this matter much thought and study, consider an early action of the courts most important and it is necessary to give notice that the decree be of benefit to particular piece of land that the owner of that land shall signify his intention to join in the suit. The whole tract cannot be reclaimed, and the fact that your neighbor has a decree does not put your land in the same standing as his unless you are a plaintiff in the suit, so be not overlooked to you that you are not overlooked. GEO. E. HARLAN, President.

DISTRIBUTION OF THE APPLE CROP

TWENTY-FIVE MILLION BARRELS GROWN THIS YEAR.

Interesting Statistics Gathered by the Secretary of the National Apple Show Which Will Be Held in Spokane December 7-12.

If the apples harvested in the commercial orchards of the United States this year were converted into pies, the army of bakers needed to do the work would turn out 6,250,000,000 of them, and these placed side by side would make a path of almost 975,000 miles. The total weight of this mountain of pastry is estimated at 8,250,000,000 pounds, including 6,125,000,000 pounds of flour, lard and other ingredients in the popular American after-dinner dessert, requiring 154,166 cars of standard capacity to transport them from the ovens to the consumers.

Twenty-five million barrels, or 62,500,000 bushels, is the estimated yield this season, according to reports received by Harry J. Neely, secretary of the National Apple Show of Spokane, from 15,000 growers operating in the various belts in the Union.

The returns show that while drought, excessive rains or pests wrought havoc in many districts in the middle-western, eastern and several southern states, the entire crop is fully as large as in 1907, and it is better distributed. Prices also are higher than last year. However, the domestic supply is smaller than at any time since 1895, for the reason that the demands of the export trade are heavier and increasing yearly.

Reports from a majority of the growers indicate that the condition of summer and fall apples is the best, but that in numerous districts the winter varieties do not up to the standard. This, it is stated, is true in Maryland, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Arkansas, while Massachusetts will harvest less than a 50 per cent crop. Connecticut, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont report as much fruit as in 1907, but the crop in Maine will be smaller than it was last year. However, the quality is fair in most of the districts.

While the yield in Niagara belt is reported to be holding up well, the state of New York as a whole will produce more than 50 per cent of its normal crop, the cause assigned for this being heavy rains and lack of spraying at the proper time. The crop in New Jersey is fair. Reports from Ohio give estimates ranging from 20 per cent of a full crop to 75 per cent, it being added that in most parts of the state the yield is better than in 1907, though the crop of winter apples is light. In Michigan is estimated at from less than 20 per cent to 75 per cent, according to locality. Pennsylvania's yield is about in some districts following a large crop in most of the state in 1907. The yield is expected to harvest a 25 per cent crop of good quality fruit throughout the state. Virginia and West Virginia each report a 25 per cent crop. The quality is good and prices will be a shade higher than last season.

Kansas has a little better than a third a crop, while a report is expected to be better than 1907, while Kentucky reports a light yield, which, it added, however, is better in most districts than in 1907. The yield in Iowa and Nebraska also is smaller than in 1907. Iowa reports a 25 per cent crop of varying quality, while Nebraska growers say that the yield will be about 50 per cent in the favored districts, but that the quality is below the standard.

Orchardists in the Carolinas are harvesting fairly good crops, and Tennessee will have a yield of from 30 to 35 per cent of fall and winter apples of good grade. It is reported that the yield is better than in 1907 in most of the districts. Crops are also light in Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, and Texas and Oklahoma each have a little better than a 25 per cent crop of medium quality fruit. Reports from Minnesota, Wisconsin, the Dakotas and Wyoming are not complete, but indications are that the yield will be fully as large as in 1907. The grade is fair to good, with choice fruit in some of the favored districts.

The northwestern and Pacific states report crops of quality and quantity. California heads the list with a normal yield, while Colorado, Oregon and Idaho have yields ranging from 65 to 85 per cent in the order named. Utah also has a good yield with larger average than in previous years. Growers in Washington report that in most districts, notably the Yakima, Wenatchee, Prosser, Spokane and Okanogan valleys, the yield will be about 85 per cent, with a larger average than ever before in the history of the state.

Growers in the Pacific states probably will receive better prices for their product than in former years, for the reason that the buyers' pool has been broken and it is predicted that before the close of November or early in December there will be a general scramble of representatives of commission houses to load up on the apples not already sold. In this connection it may also be mentioned that several orchardists in the central part of Washington have turned to the Australia and London trade, where their apples bring the top market price.

For reasons that have never been satisfactorily explained the apple industry has been decreasing rapidly in the districts east of the Rocky mountains since 1895, and if it were not for the great activity of the growers and the opening of thousands of acres of orchard lands in the western country the people of the United States would be obliged to import the king of fruit. As it is the entire crop for domestic purposes this year means only a little more than a peck per capita of a population estimated at 85,000,000.

To show the decrease in the production of apples in the Union in the last 12 years, these statistics, compiled by the federal department of agriculture, are quoted: The growers produced 60,540,000 barrels of commercial apples in 1895, and 69,070,000 barrels in 1896, the banner year in the history of the country. This was a major of 17,745,000 bushels, or more than nine pecks per capita. There was a decrease of nearly 23,000,000 barrels, or more than the entire crop in 1897, when the yield amounted to 41,536,000. Another decrease followed in 1898, the yield being placed at 35,570,000 barrels, but in the next two years, 1899 and 1900, there were substantial increases, placed at 37,550,000 and 47,950,000 barrels respectively. There was a drop of 20,880,000 barrels in 1901, while in 1902 there was an increase of 20,556,000 barrels, the crop being estimated at 47,625,000 barrels.

Forty-five million barrels of fruit was produced in 1903, and in 1904 the yield was 300,000 barrels greater. Then, in 1905, it dropped to 25,500,000 barrels, and in 1906 it increased to 30,130,000 barrels. The crop of 1907 fell off to 25,000,000 barrels, which is the estimated yield for 1908.

The total yield for the 13 years amounts to 559,701,000 barrels, or 1,679,283,000 bushels.

BIG WOOD RIVER PROJECT

Now under construction by J. G. White & Co., of New York

150,000 acres

CAREY ACT LANDS

of which

40,000 acres

are now open to entry

Perpetual Water Rights, $35 per acre. Works, when completed, revert to the settlers.

This project adjoins the Twin Falls North Side tract on the north and embraces some of the best agricultural and horticultural land in Idaho. Within its confines are farms which have been developed for years and on which unexcelled fruit is being grown. A portion of the segregation is now open for entry and the remainder will be opened next spring. The water supply is obtained from the Big Wood river, one of the most dependable streams in the state, and the storage capacity provided for is far more than sufficient for the lands to be irrigated. Fifteen miles of the main canal has been completed, the diverting dam is ready for use and work is in progress on the reservoir. Water rights cost $35 per acre and there is no better value for the investment.

FARMERS REQUIRE AN ORGANIZATION

ESPECIALLY IS THIS TRUE IN IRRIGATED SECTIONS.

Gifford Pinchot Points Out the Need of Co-Operation—The Farmer Cannot Contend Single-Handed Against His Organized Competitors.

In a letter to Frank C. Goudy, president of the Sixteenth National Irrigation Congress, Hon. Gifford Pinchot, chief of the forest service, urges an organization of farmers. He points out that the farmer, who feeds the world, is contending single handed against highly organized competition, with the result that he is not getting the best results for himself. Mr. Pinchot writes in part:

"Ever since I came to have first hand knowledge of irrigation I have been impressed with the peculiar advantages which surround the irrigation. Such high productivity of irrigated land, resulting in smaller farm units and denser settlement, as well as the efficiency and cheapness of the irrigator, have combined to give the irrigated regions very high rank among the most progressive farming communities of the world. Such rural communities as those of the irrigated west are useful examples for the consideration of regions in which life is more isolated, with less of the benefits of co-operation, and generally has lacked the stimulus which has sent the men whom this congress represents so far along on the road to the ideal country life. It is for this reason that I venture to send you the following considerations bearing on the work of the President's Commission on Country Life, because you have gone so far on the road he wants others to follow.

"The object of education in general is to produce in the individual, so in the man or woman, three results. First, a sound, useful and usable body; second, a flexible, well equipped and well organized mind; and third, to gain interest and assistance from contact with nature and co-operation with other minds; and third, a sense of true and valid self-worth to gather to itself the higher things that best makes life worth while. The use and growth of these three things, body, mind and spirit, are factors found in any effective system of education.

Manifold Benefits.
"The same three-fold activity is equally necessary to a group of individuals. Take, for example, the merchants of a town, who have established a chamber of commerce or board of trade. They have three objects: First, sound and profitable business; second, organized co-operation with each other to their mutual advantage, as in settling disputes, securing satisfactory rates from railroads, and inducing new industries to settle amongst them; and third, to make their town a more attractive, healthful, and generally a better place to live in. Take a labor union as another example, and you will find the same three purposes. The union admits only good workmen to membership in its sound body; the members get from the union the advantages of organized co-operation in selling their labor to the best advantage, and in addition they enjoy certain social advantages often of overwhelming importance.

Practical Results.
"The practical value of organization and co-operation is obvious, and they are the qualities which will win for every branch of a national life. But what is the case with the farmer? The farmers are the only great body of our people who remain for the most part substantially unorganized. The merchants are organized, the wage workers are organized, the railroads are organized, the farmer competitor are organized to get the best results for themselves in their dealings with him. The farmer is engaged, usually without the assistance of an organization, to compete with these organizations of other groups of citizens. Thus the farmer, the man on whose product we all live, contends almost single handed against his highly organized competitors.

"How have the agricultural schools and colleges and the departments of agriculture of state not made out in this situation? Largely by the assertion, in word or in act, that there is only one thing to be done for the farmer. So far as his mind is concerned he is concerned they have tried to give him a sound body, a trained mind and a wise and valiant spirit. But so far as his calling is concerned they have stopped with the body. They have said in effect: We will help the farmer to grow better crops, but we will take no thought of how he can get the best returns for the crops he grows, or of how he can utilize those returns so as to make them yield him the most and happiest life.

"It is not wise to stop the education of a boy or a girl with the body, and to neglect the mind and the spirit. But we have done the equivalent of that in dealing with farm life. We have done more, and have done it more effectively, for the farmer shall not be a better citizen than any other nation. But we have done little, and far less than many other nations, for better business and better living on the farm. Hereafter we shall need not only the work of departments of agriculture in state and nation such as we have now, but we shall need to add to that work such functions such duties as will make them departments of rural business and rural life as well. Our departments of agriculture credit themselves the whole life of the farmers' life. It is not enough to touch only one of the three great country problems, even though that be the first in time and in importance.

Much to Gain.
"Of course we all realize that the growing of crops is the true foundation on which the well-being not only of the farmer but of the whole nation must depend. First of all we must have food. But after that has been achieved, is there nothing more to be done? It seems to me clear that farmers have as much to gain from good organization as merchants, plumbers, carpenters, or any of the other trades and businesses of the United States. After we have secured better crops, the next logical and inevitable step is to secure better business organization on the farm so that each farmer shall get from what he grows the best possible returns.

Ireland's Success.
"Consider what has been accomplished in Ireland through agricultural co-operation. The Irish have discovered that it is not good for the farmer to work alone. Since 1894 they have been organizing agricultural societies to give the farmer a chance to sell at the right time and at the right price. The result is impressive. In Ireland there are 354 creameries producing about half the butter exported. There are 40,000 herds in the societies for co-operative selling, which, as we know in this country, means better prices. There are 200,000 agricultural societies with a membership of 15,000 and a capital of more than $200,000. There are other agricultural societies with 20,000 members. It is worth in Ireland, which we have not yet to consider as far behind us in all that relates to agriculture, there are 925 agricultural societies with an annual business of $50,000,000. Since 1894 their total business was more than $300,000,000.

Ideal Country Life.
"But after the farmer has begun to make use of his right to combine for his advantage in selling his products and buying his supplies, is there nothing more to be done? As well might we say that, after the body and the mind of a boy have been trained, he should be deprived of all those associations which make his life more worth living, and to which every child has an inborn right. Life is something more than a matter of business. No farmer who has had the opportunity of being living it more on a business basis. There are things higher than business. What is the reason for the farmer's movement, from the farms into the cities? Not simply that the farmer understands that there is no more dignified calling than his own, none that makes life better worth living. The social or community life of the country should be put by the farmer, for no one but himself can do it for him, on the same basis as social life in the city, through the country churches and societies, through better roads, country telephones, rural free delivery, parcels post and whatever else will help. The problem is not merely to get better crops, nor merely to dispose of crops better, but in the last analysis to have happier and richer lives of men and women on the farm.

"I have ventured to lay this state-ment before you because irrigators are natural leaders in this great movement, and to urge you to add this problem to the others in which they are so active. The activity of the National Irrigation Congress have been of such effect and value to the whole nation."

THE PROPER MAN FOR THE SENATE

M. J. SWEeley, REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE.

Would Ably Represent Twin Falls County in the Idaho Legislature—A Friend of Union Labor and Skilled in Statesmanship.

In the person of Marlin J. Sweeley the Republicans present a candidate for state senator who combines all the qualities essential in a representative. Mr. Sweeley not only possesses the true Twin Falls spirit, but he has the ability to impress others. He is a man who has made himself a power in legislative bodies and he can be safely depended upon to look after the interests of Twin Falls county in the best manner possible.

MARLIN J. SWEELY, Republican Candidate for State Senator.

A Friend of Labor.
That Mr. Sweeley is a tried and true friend of union labor is clearly shown by the following:

From the Iowa Unionist, an independent labor journal, issue of March 12, 1902, published at Des Moines, Iowa:

"Representative Sweeley of Sioux City.

"Marlin J. Sweeley of Sioux City is one of the honored representatives of the general assembly from Woodbury county.

"Mr. Sweeley has respectfully earned for himself the enviable reputation of being one of the most industrious members of that body.

"Among members of organized labor Mr. Sweeley does not need an elaborate introduction. His record is well known among those who have kept track of the actions of public men of the state. Mr. Sweeley took a prominent part in the struggle for the right during the strenuous days when the Temple amendment was being agitated among the people of the state, and it is believed by his constituents at Sioux City that he took in that memorable and worthy movement more of much importance in that it saved the Eleventh congressional district from being divided at the Cedar Rapids convention of the Republican party in 1897.

"When it was known in Sioux City that Mr. Sweeley was a candidate for the general assembly there were none who halted the opportunity to support him more than the members of organized labor of his district. How well they decided has been demonstrated by his activity and watchfulness for their and the people's interests in general. During the present session his efforts are especially noteworthy in connection with the work that has been done to secure the enforcement of the lower house for the anti-injunction law, known as the Hoar-Grosvener bill, which is now before congress. So far his salutary measure has not received the support it should by the members of the house of representatives, but every time it has come up for discussion Mr. Sweeley has bravely and cleverly borne his share of the endeavor to persuade the house of the righteousness of the bill.

"Mr. Sweeley is an orator of more than ordinary ability; he has the faculty of persuading men to change their views and by his earnestness instantly secures and holds the attention of his colleagues until he has closed his argument.

"It would be well for the state, and especially that class of our citizens who get their daily bread by the sweat of their brow, if they would always select men of the caliber of Mr.

Sweeley for their representatives and public servants."

Allison's Regard.
The following letter from the late Senator W. B. Allison of Iowa shows that distinguished statesman's high appreciation of Mr. Sweeley:

January 12th, 1906.
Hon. Fred T. Dubois, U. S. Senator, Washington:
Dear Senator Dubois—I take the liberty of introducing to you favorably and kindly Hon. M. J. Sweeley, attorney at law, of Sioux City, Iowa, and a highly respected citizen, who has decided to make his home at Twin Falls, Idaho. You will find him a valuable citizen who will do his share of the work of the state. He has been twice a member of the general assembly of Iowa and is highly esteemed as a citizen at his home, which we are desirous to have him leave. I hope for him success in his new home. Any courtesy you may extend to him will be greatly appreciated by him and also by, very truly yours,
W. B. ALLISON.

Deliverer's Tribute.
Senator Dubois of Iowa thought enough of Mr. Sweeley to introduce him, thus:

December 27th, 1905.
Hon. Fred T. Dubois, Blackfoot, Idaho: My Dear Senator Dubois—This will introduce to you Hon. Marlin J. Sweeley, formerly of Sioux City, Iowa, and who has now become a resident of Idaho. Mr. Sweeley was a member of the general assembly of Iowa preceding the present legislature and for many years has been a prominent lawyer of the state. It will be a source of great regret for me to see Mr. Sweeley leave the state, but our sense of his worth and gain and I commend him to you.

With cordial personal regards, yours very truly,
J. P. DOLLAVER.

Cummins' Compliment.
Governor Cummins of Iowa evidently appreciates Mr. Sweeley's good qualities or he would not have given him this introduction to Governor Gooding of Idaho:

Executive Office, Des Moines, Iowa, November 16th, 1905.
My Dear Governor—It gives me pleasure to introduce to you Hon. M. J. Sweeley, who has been a resident of a citizen of Iowa, but who is about to become a citizen of your state. I have known Mr. Sweeley for many years. He is a high-minded, accomplished gentleman. He has represented one of the most important counties in the state in the general assembly and has attained high rank in that body. I am sure that you will be glad to know him, and assure you that he is worthy of your entire confidence.

With high regards, I am, yours truly,
(Signed) ALBERT B. CUMMINS, Governor of Idaho, Boise, Idaho.

Active at Home.
Mr. Sweeley has been an active member of the community ever since his arrival in Twin Falls. He was chairman of the committee appointed to bring about the division of the county and he performed his duty thoroughly. He was also chairman of the committee appointed to raise Twin Falls from a village to a city of the second class, a task which he accomplished through the courts to a successful issue. He was also an active member of the committee in charge of the canvass in favor of the courthouse bond issue, attending every meeting and making votes for the bonds by his powerful arguments. Mr. Sweeley is not attorney for the Twin Falls Land & Water Co. in any matters affecting the original Twin Falls tract. He will have charge of the legal work of the new company that is to reclaim the west of Salmon extension. That a company which proposes to spend millions of dollars should select Mr. Sweeley as its attorney is positive proof that he has the ability, and ability is what counts in these days.

The fishermen of the city will have a ball dance at the rink Wednesday evening, October 23. The proceeds will be used in establishing a fund to be used in caring for any fishermen who may be injured while on duty at fishing areas.

Dr. Billington has returned from Draville, Mo., where he was called the illness of his youngest daughter, who has since recovered. He was the Colorado Midland wreck near Woodward, but escaped unhurt. The doctor has resumed his practice.

When the attention of the freight department of the Short Line was tied to the excessive charge upon a load of coal from Twin Falls to Tiner, the rate was reduced nearly a half. It was explained that there is really no rate on coal between these points as there was no prospect of movement.

The Midland Jubilee Singers will be the third number in the lecture series on Saturday night, November 21. The Midland singers in the few years have won a splendid reputation on account of their exceptionally fine concert work. There are eight people in the company and they give a very popular form of program.

William Hutton, L. R. Henderson and A. A. West all of Nevada, Iowa, are visiting C. A. De Water the owner of Twin Falls tract and it is probable that the gentlemen will be returning to Twin Falls early in the morning to locate here permanently. They carried home a lot of choice apples and potatoes to show their Iowa neighbors what can be grown on the Twin Falls tract.

At the meeting of the Twin Falls association on Saturday, the morning board accepted the proposal the Land & Water Co. to run water to the canal during the winter. The expense of operating the system from October 20, 1908, until 1, 1909, will be charged as such it was. Inquiries during the rating season of 1909, and cents a acre will be collected for each acre irrigated during the rating season of 1909.

The Twin Falls county Sunday school association will hold its annual convention beginning today and continuing until 4 p. m. Saturday afternoon. Meetings at Kimberly from the evening of Oct. 25 until 27, Oct. 28 and at Antelope from the evening of Oct. 28th through 27th. Among the speakers at the convention will be Rev. Bowler, state superintendent, Walter Myers, state secretary, and Mr. Peacock of Blackfoot who is the Sunday school missionary of the American Sunday School union. It is probable there will be no Sunday evening services in the city so that all may have an opportunity of attending the convention at Kimberly that night.

Twin Falls is to have an orchestra composed of local players who have banded together for mutual benefit and entertainment. There are a number of talented musicians in the city who have hitherto been unacquainted. Invitation of H. H. Miller they this week and practiced together. Miller is experienced in orchestra band work, although he has never led a business. It was his suggestion that the band be organized and get together and form a home orchestra. It is probable that a concert will be given when sufficient attention in the way of rehearsal and practice has been had. Such an organization will be of great benefit to the city, being, as it would, a high class form of entertainment of a character which has been lacking here in the past.

C. Horns, A. J. Wiley and R. W. Lett of the Salmon dance the other night with never a care on their faces. They were headed for Twin Falls in the handsome Maxwell car. The driver, who is a full grown man. Across the desert they moved through the wind-driven rain, thick with the cheerful fire and the warm air wafting them in the metropolis. About half way home the auto a few furlongs and stopped. An attendant showed that the supply of fuel had been exhausted. A far better night with a thick fog and rain with a hay rack. He pulled out for quite a distance until the car was not by a rig sent out from Twin Falls. The travelers were 10 miles on the road and they don't report the experience.

KIMBERLY NEEDS SUPPLY OF COAL

The postal department has authorized the employment of an additional clerk for the space of four hours daily.

Miss Edith Young, who spent the past year with her brother in Tacoma, returned to Twin Falls yesterday afternoon.

George L. Doughty has gone up to Olyn's hot spring to seek relief from an attack of rheumatism which has troubled him of late.

Mrs. W. A. Stuart is the guest of Mrs. E. J. Johnson. Mrs. Stuart has a desert claim in the Salmon tract which she is now improving.

The next "club dance" will be given at the rink on Friday evening, October 30. These dances are held every fortnight and are very enjoyable.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Warner will entertain tomorrow evening in honor of the arrival of Mrs. L. A. Warner. The hours will be from 7:30 to 10 o'clock.

It is reported that grades will be built and water installed for the Snake river on the township line between Auger falls which will affect another route to Jerome and Wendell.

Frederic Conger, representing the Western Union Telegraph Co., was in Twin Falls this week looking into the question of opening up a new office, for which there is urgent need.

The recent storms have driven the cattle down from the hills and the stockmen are making strenuous efforts to keep the animals back from the high line canal, which is quite a task.

The running time of the accommodation train has been changed again. The train is now supposed to leave Twin Falls for the east at 10:30 in the morning and for the west at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Rev. Frank O. Leonard of Springdale, Utah, preached at the Presbyterian church last Sunday night. Mr. Leonard is pastor of the church in Springdale and was one of the lucky ones at the King Hill drawing.

James G. Young, formerly of Walla Walla, and recently of this city, died Wednesday forenoon after a short illness. His body is at Miller's undertaking parlors pending word from a sister who lives in North Vernon, Ind.

The German Lutheran congregation was celebrating reformation festival services at the Christian church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by the pastor, Martin O. Mueller. All Germans are cordially invited to attend.

Judge Lawrence Hansen of Rock Creek, who was a Twin Falls visitor this week, reports having finished a large crop of Bob Whites on his ranch. The judge said he had a good crop of the birds and they were the genuine old-fashioned quail. He will see that they are protected so long as they remain on his property.

L. J. LaFrance, who has been in Bishop, Calif., for the past 14 months, has returned to Twin Falls. Mr. LaFrance was among the earliest arrivals on the Twin Falls tract. While in California Mr. LaFrance was employed by the Nevada & California Power company. He intends to resume his work as electrician in this city.

Robert Fraser was over today from Jerome. Mr. Fraser said he started a concrete works to get blocks for the new building here, but was unable to do more than supply the outside demand. Being anxious to help others who desire to build in Jerome, he has been grinding out blocks as fast as he can and he hopes to lay by a few for himself before it gets too cold. Jerome is growing at an amazing rate.

SPLENDID MUSICAL PROGRAM

Given by Four Great Artists at the Auditorium. Unquestionably the best musical attraction enjoyed in Twin Falls was the lecture course number last evening in which Forrest Dabney Carr, Florence Florence, Gertrude Smith, soprano; Earl J. Piruta, violinist, and Edwin M. Shonert, pianist, furnished the entertainment. The program was a classic with a sufficient tinge of lightness to make it please all. It stirred the audience from first to last and drew applause and a volume seldom heard in Twin Falls. Mr. Carr has a big, resonant basso under masterly control. His tone, diction and enunciation are perfect and in the selection of his numbers showed the artist. The low coiling in the auditorium tends to smother the low register and Mr. Carr was palpably handicapped by the acoustics, yet he made a magnificent impression and won a recall with every number. He is easily the best vocalist that has ever visited Twin Falls.

Miss Smith showed the effects of her long journey from Grand Junction, where the company stopped on Tuesday evening. Her voice is sweet and pleasing and she has a winning personality. Earl Piruta contributed several songs. His technique is perfect and his tone true and mellow. Devoid of affectation, he quickly won the audience and they required many encores before they released him. Mr. Shonert is a pianist of national reputation. He played with an authority that was both convincing and thrilling and the audience showed appreciation in an unmistakable manner.

It was a delightful entertainment and the management of the course has received all sorts of congratulations on the engagement.

I make a specialty of collecting bad debts. I have a correspondence in every city and town in the United States. If you have claims you desire collected, call and see me. J. H. WYSE, Room 5, Commercial & Savings Bank Building, Twin Falls, Idaho.

FAMINE IS HITTING THE EAST END HARD.

Sagebrush is No Longer Available and Citizens Are Unable to Obtain Fuel — Cold Weather Retards Thrashing Operations.

KIMBERLY, Idaho, Oct. 21.—J. D. Armstrong, who had been working for E. W. Davis the past summer, left for Colorado a few days ago to spend the winter. Mr. Armstrong has some land on the North Side and will return in the spring to take charge of the place.

Mr. Halferty's relatives from Iowa are expected to arrive this week and will make their home in Kimberly.

C. C. Parks and wife left Saturday afternoon for Payette and will then go on to the coast and spend the winter at Los Angeles. If they find nothing better we expect them to return to Kimberly in the spring, so of course all look for them back soon.

Sam Batty has been sick the past week. He has been painting at the elevator and has painter's colic but is improving at this time.

L. P. Larsen from Rock Creek was here Monday getting a load of feed for his hogs from the mill.

Professor E. C. Davis and wife have moved into their residence at the southwest part of town and are now ready for the winter.

The recent cold weather has been bad for threshers and delayed them a great deal. The cold has probably damaged some of the potatoes that were not yet dug.

Coal is quite a problem here now. There is none in town except that owned by the three men, who have it for threshing only. Sagebrush is getting scarce and with winter coming on it looks hard to be without coal.

Several went to Hansen a few days ago and obtained a little from the car shipped in there and a number went to Twin Falls and were able to get enough to last a few days.

Charlie Cline, who owns several lots at the south part of Main street, has decided to build a cottage for rent. Work will begin at once and will be pushed to completion. E. U. McIntire has charge of the business for Mr. Cline and will push things as fast as possible. He has already two applicants wanting to rent the dwelling as soon as completed.

Several Democratic speakers were here Tuesday night and addressed a few of the voters on the issues at the hall. They stayed over and were getting acquainted with the people the next day. Among the number here were Lawrence Hansen of Rock Creek, James L. Darnes of Hansen, P. Mionan of Butte and E. A. Wyatt. They expect to come to Kimberly next week. The Republicans expect to have a rally at Kimberly the night of the 23rd. A full delegation of speakers will be here and want to get acquainted with the voters.

Mrs. O. M. Banta is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Roy McManis while Mr. Banta is in Colorado.

Several houses are ready for plaster here, but all the plasterers are out of town so the work will have to wait until Mr. Sharp or others can get around to it.

H. M. Fletcher has been in Twin Falls for some time and expects to farm near Buhl next summer.

J. G. Hightley is visiting home a few days. He has been at work on the north side holding R. C. Larkins prove up, and expects to return and take other contracts this fall.

M. Elgner and Barney Leonard are assisting in the warehouse at the mill while the grain rush is on.

A new supply of stationery, candy, cigars, etc., has been received at the mail store and Mr. Druecken feels at home again. He has had quite a vacation since the recent fire.

Mr. Drury of Salt Lake, who has been here visiting his son, Bert Drury, for some time, has returned home. He expects to return soon and may invest in Kimberly property.

RAMS FOR SALE. 300 Rambouillet rams for sale; also 50 head of registered ewes. JAMES PORT, Oakley, Idaho.

Notice. Arthur J. Peavey has been appointed temporary agent to make loans and sell stock by the Western Loan & Savings Co. of Salt Lake City, Utah, as Mr. Storor has resigned and has no connection with the company whatever. P. W. MADSEN, President Western Loan & Savings Company.

PEAVEY HAS A REAL ROMANCE

AT LEAST, THAT IS WHAT THE PEOPLE SUSPECT.

Popular Widow and Prominent Bachelor Are Among the Missing and the People Are Wondering if It is Merely a Coincidence.

PEAVEY, Idaho, Oct. 22.—The auction sale of Lowdon Bros. last week was well attended and an usual everybody wanted to buy and the prices were good. Nothing could have been improved but the weather. The free lunch served by Mrs. Lowdon—the boys' mother—was only a fair sample of her culinary accomplishments.

On the day following the sale Fred Lowdon left for Panama, and the other brother, Theodor Lowdon, left for a school of engineering in New York. Mrs. Lillian A. Lowdon left the same day for Connecticut, or so her friends supposed, but next day when news were counted in our quiet little burg we found we were not only to mourn the loss of our "Merry Widow" but that popular bachelor was also missing. When we remember the long rides in the quiet summer twilight, we feel that this dual loss may only be the culmination of a summer romance. Still we are unconvinced. This is a quiet little place where each one pursues the even tenor of his way, and had nothing of the romantic has occurred. When we realized that we had a real live romance among us we were awfully up with pride and began to assume important airs, but alas we are rudely deprived not alone of our romance but of the presence of our two friends.

The question to us arises, How could this have happened? Has the widow eloped with Jay, and will she keep him away, or will they both come back to brighten our lives and give us a glimpse of their romance before? With their presence as before?

The postoffice at Peavey has a new postmaster to take the place left vacant by Mrs. Lowdon.

We hear that two new houses are to be built in our neighborhood this fall.

It is feared that the hard freeze of the last two nights may have injured the late potatoes to some extent, but the farmers are all busy and if this late weather continues for a few days all the late crops will be in and everything snug for winter.

There are several farmers who have not threshed yet, but those who have report good crops. Two threshing machines in the neighborhood are running overtime to get it finished.

Mr. Peavey has rented his farm to the Cole brothers, who with their mother took possession last week.

Mr. McEwen returned a few days ago from a business trip of six weeks in the central part of the state.

Miss Alice Russell of Cleveland, Ohio, is spending several weeks visiting her father, A. W. Russell, on his ranch near Peavey.

W. F. Stradley and Fred Betts are hauling their wheat to Filer. Several cars have been shipped by other parties from Peavey, but a good many are going to hold till spring.

We are now ready for business and will pay the highest price for grain and potatoes. Call and see us at either Filer or Buhl. HIGHLAND GRAIN CO., Filer and Buhl.

For Sale—160 acres, SW 1/4, 24-8-20; 20 acres under cultivation; 25 acres burned off; three sides fenced; block 10x20; 4 acres of potatoes; first class land, easily watered; a bargain. Address M. T. M., the News.

HAS CONFIDENCE IN LAND BOARD

PROMINENT DEMOCRAT RESENTS
SLANDER.

Charles H. Hammett, President of the King Hill Irrigation Co., Deprecates the Malicious Attack of Democratic State Committee.

Charles H. Hammett, president of the Kings Hill Irrigation & Power company, a non-resident, who is prosecuting one of the very important irrigation projects of the state under the Carey act, is a thorough business man. In the prosecution of the affairs of his Idaho enterprise he has had considerable dealing with the state land board, of which Governor Gooding, now attacked by the Democracy, is the head. Mr. Hammett has been a life long Democrat, but he is first of all, as has been stated, a thorough business man and he knows when business is being properly conducted. In the course of an interview Mr. Hammett made the following statements giving his opinion of the operations of the state land board, the secretary of state, and the superintendent of public instruction, together with the co-operation of the register of lands and the state engineer, and in conformity with the state laws enacted for the purpose of carrying out the objects of the Carey act, which is to provide homes for settlers upon irrigated arid lands, decided to take over the old Glenns Ferry project.

"After carefully examining the business of irrigation in several states I decided that the objects of the Carey act were more fully met under the land board of Idaho than in any other state, and that the laws of Idaho enacted for the purpose of carrying out the Carey act were the most practicable and safe, being both encouraging as to the investing contractor as well as the home seeker.

"I have carefully considered and investigated each and every important construction company working under the land board and have observed a number of companies, and being in many other ways familiar with the business from the land board to the openings, I can truthfully say that in all of my experience I have never known any combination of circumstances relating to the development and completion of such great work as I have found in the unity of action between the land board, the construction contractor and the settlers.

All Rights Protected.
"The plans and action of the land board have been universally firm and fair, and the settlers rise up in support of the laws and at the same time encouraging and fairly treating the construction contractors, always standing ready to do the great work and to protect the settlers in all of the rights under the law and the contract. I am familiar with the organization and re-organization of several of the large companies in the state, and I have viewed every act of the land board to be intelligent, careful and strongly protecting the rights of both sides. I have watched the difficulties made by Mr. Duhl, the Kuhns and the new people of the Idaho Irrigation company, or Richfield, proposition and have never known an instance where they have had or have permitted a violation of any law, rules or intentions of the land board or the rights of the people on the other hand, they have all been loyal to the extent of very great ability the settlers in their work to the end of providing homes. Such another extensive and successful progress has never been known in any part of the United States, and Idaho stands today as being paragon to all such developments of any other part of the world."

Question of Confidence.
"The success of these great enterprises rests upon such general conditions as very different to such a large extent that these deals may be financed by the confidence of the world and being so willing as now to invest in the bonds resting upon the Carey act projects. The confidence of the world and the credit of these projects today stand unparalleled and far above any other bonded projects ever undertaken in the United States, and this great confidence is due to the wise, honest and fair men who have undertaken the construction work, and the confidence in the United States, and in the ultimate cost as well as the greater benefits resulting in the higher values above the proposition at the lower price. These wise and experienced men finally came to the conclusion of settling their differences by each giving and taking, which was done to the satisfaction of both sides as well as the approval of the land board and its representatives.

Cost More Than Estimated.
"All irrigation propositions in this state have cost far more than the original estimates, and I might as well say that they have cost an average of more than 60 per cent above the original estimates, and in the case of the old Glenns Ferry Land company, which I have taken over in the name of the Kings Hill Irrigation & Power company, the ultimate cost will be nearly three times the original estimates made five years ago.

"I can see no other but harm in the late severe criticism of the land board and which in my mind is not based upon the whole of the real facts, but only a part of the story is told. The success of the great companies now undertaking the greatest irrigation projects ever contemplated in the world will depend almost entirely on the past confidence in these matters being maintained before the great investing public, not only by the farmers who will purchase these bonds, but this confidence must be maintained to a greater extent in the minds of the investing public who are expected and depended upon to purchase the bonds to be issued by those companies where the money will be used in the construction of great irrigation projects, water power and electric lines.

Praise for Those Who Do Things.
"No praise too great could be given to such men as the Kuhns and their associates, and Mr. Duhl and his able associates, and now comes recently the new blood of the Idaho Irrigation company, J. G. White & Co. of New York, by three of the strongest trust companies who distribute the bonds and then deal them out to the public investor who keeps them hidden away for the purpose of drawing the interest on a bond which may be sold at a high security and value of irrigation bonds."

Clay, Robinson & Co.'s Weekly Live Stock Market Letter.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 19.—Receipts of cattle continued light throughout last week and the market closed a good deal to 15c higher. There were 3500 cattle on sale today and nearly everything was cleaned up at a reasonable hour at prices steady to 10c higher. The top today being $4.65 for some steers weighing not much over 1200 pounds. A couple of bunches of cows sold at high security and value of irrigation bonds. One of these was sold for Mr. John Ennis of Iron Mountain, Wyo. The killers seemed to want the cattle and they were out early in the morning and trading had a good snap to it. There were also a good many feeder buyers on the market for both cows and steers. The killers bought most of their load of steers, averaging 1112 pounds, for Mr. Ennis at $4.35. Most of the fair to good cows sold at $2.00 to $2.15. There is a good demand for yearling steers at from $3.40 to $3.60, and heavy, fleshy feeders are bringing from $3.75 to $4.25.
There has been a very many sheep on the market here the past week but most of them have been contract stuff. The hog market is in fair condition, the bulk selling at from $5.00 to $5.25.

Those who have tried chickens on the Twin Falls tract have found them to be a good profit producer.

SENATOR W. B. HEYBURN.

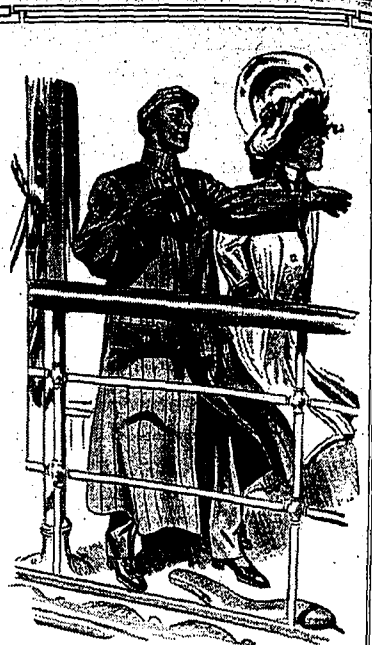

Weldon Brinton Heyburn, senior United States senator from Idaho and the Republican nominee for reelection to that office, has been a resident of the state since 1883. He studied jurisprudence at the Coeur d'Alene mining district in the early part of 1884 and early rose to prominence in political life, soon becoming one of the foremost figures in the young commonwealth.
He is a native of Delaware county, Pa., and was born May 23, 1852, coming from sturdy English stock on both sides of his family. After receiving a liberal academic education, including complete courses in civil and mining engineering, metallurgy and other scientific branches, he studied law and was admitted to practice before the courts of Pennsylvania in June, 1876, and was afterward admitted to the supreme courts of the western and northwestern states, the United States district and circuit courts, and the supreme court of the United States. For over 30 years he has been extensively engaged in the practice of law, largely connected with mining litigation, but his practice has covered almost every branch of the profession and he has met with conspicuous success.
Senator Heyburn was elected a member of the constitutional convention of 1889, which framed the constitution of the state of Idaho, and participated actively in all of its deliberations, serving as chairman of the committee on the judiciary, as well as on other important committees.
Although not a candidate for the office, he was nominated for congress on the Republican ticket in 1892, but was defeated on account of the free silver disaffection at that time. He was a delegate to the Republican national convention of 1892, 1896, 1900 and 1904, and served as national committeeman for Idaho from 1904 to 1908.

In 1903 he was elected to the United States senate, receiving all of the Republican votes in the legislature. Upon entering the senate he was made chairman of the committee on manufactures, which had charge of the pure food legislation in the senate, and distinguished himself by the most able and effective championing of the pure food bill, which is now a national statute. During this fight he demonstrated that he was one of the ablest debaters in the upper house of the national legislature, and since that time has maintained his reputation on many an occasion.

HARLAN, A STRONG CANDIDATE
Thoroughly Qualified and Will Make a Splendid Assessor.
George Harlan, a Republican candidate for assessor, is a native of Indiana and came to Illinois in 1871, an infant in arms. His parents lived on a farm at Monticello, where Harlan was raised. He worked on the farm and taught school for 10 years. After teaching for five years he went to the Illinois Western University at Bloomington, where he completed his education. He taught in the Monticello high school for a time. Mr. Harlan has entered the service of the First National bank of Monticello, serving in the branches of that institution at Ivesdale and Cisco. He was in the Cisco bank for three years and a half, coming to Twin Falls on March 15, 1906. Mr. Harlan was the secretary of the first farmers' association and also of the first farmers' federal union. He was the first street commissioner and the first watermaster in Twin Falls, and he filled both offices admirably. He is the president of the Coeur d'Alene Canal association, a position which he fills with dignity and credit. There is no man in the county better qualified for the office of assessor and none more trustworthy than George Harlan. He is a farmer himself and a man of superior educational attainments in whom all who know him repose perfect confidence.

BOOBERS HEADED EASTWARD

J. W. Howard of Milner Accompanies A. W. Spear to New York.
J. W. Howard, president of the Milner Real Estate and Engineering co., was in Twin Falls for a few days this week, making preparations for an on-again trip. He was accompanied by A. W. Spear of New York City, a recent convert to irrigation. Mr. Spear was so favorably impressed with what he saw on the Twin Falls tract that he decided to go east with Mr. Howard and aid in spreading the good news.
Mr. Howard was one of the first settlers in Milner and his firm has increased its business to such an extent that it is now one of the leading real estate agencies on the tract. Mr. Howard is a good judge of land values and is very careful in his transactions. He has seen the price of land advance from $25.50 per acre to $125 per acre for straight farm property, and if he lives as long as his many friends here he will see the price of farm lands under the Twin Falls canal system sell for $225 per acre before he becomes very feeble.
For Sale—3 ponies and Cyphers incubators, or will trade for work horse or good milk cow. H. G. BARTO, Elmore, Idaho.

BRADY STANDS FOR PROGRESS

FARM TOPICS
BY WILLIAM HEWS.

(This column is open to all farmers in Twin Falls county who desire to express their views on agriculture, horticulture or any other feature of farming. They are invited to relate their experiences in growing fruit, grain or vegetables, or in raising stock.)

Jacob Musser, who lives near Filer, experimented with the Jersey sweet potato this season. The result obtained was very satisfactory. The plants (about one-half dozen) were set in ridges about June 20. They were cultivated in the usual way and watered only once, because these plants require but a little water. It will be noticed that the plants were set out late, yet the potatoes were well matured when the vines were killed on the last of September. The yield was good, the size medium and the quality good. This experiment clearly shows that the sweet potato is one of the many products which may be profitably raised on the Twin Falls tract.

We have recently heard people complain because they did not raise a good tomato crop. We have made special inquiry in order to determine whether the fault is in the soil, the climate or the method of planting, cultivating or watering. H. E. Musser raised a fine crop of tomatoes this year. We do not give his name because he is the only man who has succeeded. There are many others. We simply mention Mr. Musser because we know that he obtained excellent results. What he has done others can do if they use the proper method. Too much water seems to be the principal cause of failure. Tomatoes should not be watered too heavy nor too late in the season. If this is done the vines will become too rank and the tomatoes too small. The result will be too many vines and great tomatoes instead of less vines and ripe tomatoes. After the vines bloom use water very sparingly and good results will be obtained if the crop has been properly planted and cultivated.

Good roads are of vital importance to the farmers in southern Idaho. Perhaps the roads are very good for a newly settled country, yet there is a great chance for improvement. We need more and better bridges, more grades, more cuts and smoother roads. All of these things cannot be accomplished once in each year. We would take a lively interest in the road which lies along the border of his land, general road improvements would be increased. If the farmer would fix that "nasty mud hole" which is near his house he would help himself and every other person who has occasion to use the road. Of course it is too much for an individual to build a bridge or grade at his own expense, but it costs only a little labor to fill up a small mud hole. Our roads would be greatly improved if these "little mud holes" were looked after.

Experiments in scientific feeding show that one and a half pounds of alfalfa meal is equivalent to one pound of bran. This is a productive alfalfa country. An alfalfa mill would be a great benefit to the farmers on the tract. It would furnish a large part of the surplus alfalfa. May this industry be established in the near future.

Trees beautify the landscape and increase the value of the farm. We are glad to notice many thriving young groves in this locality. They indicate that many farmers realize their value.

Republican Candidate for Governor, Who Has Already Been Instrumental in Promoting Irrigation in Idaho, Outlines His Views.

Hon. James H. Brady, Republican candidate for governor, who has been personally instrumental in bringing to a successful consummation two great irrigation enterprises in Idaho, has placed himself on record with respect to the Democratic attacks upon the development of the country.

Referring to the charges made by the Democratic state committee against the state land board in connection with certain Carey act projects, Mr. Brady demonstrated by undeniable argument that the alleged collusion between the state land office and the capitalists who are peddling these projects was entirely unfounded. He declared that that character of attack were persisted in it would ultimately cause much capital, which this state stands in need, to withdraw from further investment here. He pointed out how Messrs. Kuhn and Buhl had been the means of retaining the state land at an expense to them of many millions of dollars.

This land is now producing agricultural crops which are establishing not only merchants and consumers of the United States, but the whole world as well.

"Kuhn and Buhl acted in good faith," declared Mr. Brady. "They acted like honorable men, and no business man can say that they performed in a dishonorable manner in this transaction."

"This land is mostly being purchased by settlers from other states, who are bringing millions of dollars to Idaho. If the Democratic party gets into power, with their idea of doing business, the whole project will be failure."

"I promise that if elected I will do my utmost to have every acre embraced in the Carey act grant put under cultivation."

SPLENDID BOOST FOR TWIN FALLS

PRINTED BY "BLACK DIAMOND EXPRESS."

Comprehensive Review of the Wonderful Development in Southern Idaho in the Past Few Years Made Possible by the Carey Act.

The October number of the "Black Diamond Express," a monthly magazine published by the Lehigh Valley valley and devoted to industrial development, contains a splendid story of development by irrigation in southern Idaho. The magazine is being widely circulated by the engineering department of the Oregon Short Line, of which D. E. Burley is the head and D. S. Spencer assistant. These two gentlemen never overlooked an opportunity to put in a good word for Twin Falls. They have laid here and they appreciate what is being done.

The story follows: Horace Greeley said, "Go West, young man, go west," but little did he realize the wealth contained in this advice as exemplified by conditions today. Go west—young men, middle-aged men, old men—for there are opportunities today there greater than ever before. But let us untraveled easterner think that the real west lies on this side of the Missouri river, as did the west referred to by the far-seeing Greeley. In his day, to have settled the desert wastes of the arid states would have meant untold hardship, disappointments and defeat. Today, however, this vast expanse of treeless barrens, with vegetation restricted to the "mottled growth of cancerous sagebrush," and with howling coyotes and curious jack rabbit as its only population, is being revolutionized by that priceless boon to this country's prosperity—"irrigation."

When it is considered that two-thirds of all the United States consists of arid land—that is, land upon which crops cannot be successfully grown without the application of moisture artificially supplied—to some degree may be appreciated the enormous benefits accruing to the nation at large through the reclamation of this enormous territory once dormant and useless to man and beast. To fully appreciate the benefit, however, means a practical eyesight knowledge of the transformation which the application of water brings over the desert. Lands today valueless and even repellant to the homeseeker are tomorrow converted into the most luxurious farms, burdened with their heavy headed grain fields, or into magnificent orchards rich with the variegated hues of ripening clustered fruits.

Arid Lands the Richest.
It is well known that much of the land of the arid regions is far more rich in nutriment than is the soil of the rainfall district, rich in mineral ingredients, the soluble salts have not been washed out by rain, as they have in the rainfall regions, but have been retained in the soil. These soluble elements necessary to plant life. Then, too, these rich soils of the arid regions are also usually of the same quality to great depth, and plant roots feeding more deeply, finding good feeding area and ability to resist drought. The rainfall farmer is obliged to resort to the "rotation of crops" and fertilizers to maintain the productiveness of his soil, but where arid lands have been farmed for 40 years there has been no "rotation of crops," proving conclusively the ability of the richness of soil. It must be remembered, too, that in the arid regions the lack of rainfall during the time of growing crops is an advantage, inasmuch as the irrigation farmer is thus afforded the additional benefit of abundant sunshine, which together with soil and regulated moisture forms the basis of successful crops. Nor has he to contend with the possible damage to his crops in the critical stage of blossom, nor the danger of delay or ruin at harvest time, after an anxiously spent season of careful cultivation. He is the power to manufacture crops, rather than to raise them, for with equal certainty he can produce crop results as can a machine shop man with his materials turn the steel billet into a finished product. His ability to regulate the quantity of water applied and the time of its application to a growing crop means that he is able to secure every characteristic of the growing plant in its highest development.

Great Development.
The federal government has been wide awake to the advantages afforded by irrigation in the reclamation of its public lands, and has already appropriated $40,000,000, much of which has been already expended in this great work, and is prepared to expend as much again in an investment so profitable to the citizens and itself. It has also donated 1,000,000 acres of land in each of the arid states to the states themselves in consideration of their reclamation by irrigation, and has surrounded the methods to be employed by comprehensive laws just alike to the settler and to those whose enterprise enables them to secure liberal returns for the use of their capital in establishing irrigation systems. An opportunity of a lifetime is held forth to those who have but the energy to prove for themselves what they can find borne witness to by thousands of those who have sold their farms in the east and with the money realized have purchased three times the acreage of their old farm in the newly irrigated districts, producing upon them three times and more the amount of crops to which they were accustomed; in this way not only tripling their incomes but increasing them tenfold.

The Carey Act.
Under the federal Carey act, any citizen of the United States, except married women, may file upon a tract of land limited to 40 acres or multiples thereof, not exceeding 100 acres, and paying to the state therefor 50c an acre in installments of 25c per acre each, provided they shall have also contracted with the irrigation company for water sufficient to irrigate the lands filed upon. A minimum acreage of 30 days on the tract, and its cultivation to the extent of one-eighth of the acreage, will then entitle them to a patent from the state. The state of Idaho is the only state which has so far exhausted its 1,000,000-acre appropriation from the United States government, and an additional acreage is about to be allotted to it.

Water and Climate.
It is not to be wondered at, however, that Idaho lends in irrigation projects operating under the Carey act, for some of the arid states are so well supplied with rivers, whose minimum flow for late irrigation is sufficient to provide ample water without the resort to storage reservoirs. Nor is there any soil in the United States which excels in richness the volcanic loam of the Snake river bench lands. The climate, too, of the Snake river basin is ideal for men and crops alike—a land of sunshine where 300 cloudless days each year may be found; cool, hot winds and devastating storms are unknown. Mild winters with zero weather a rarity and long summer days for the rapid growth of plants, with temperature seldom reaching 100 degrees, and nights quite cool enough for a refreshing sleep, form a combination hard to surpass, and the clear, dry, invigorating air renders sensibility to the extremes of hot and cold less noticeable.

Twin Falls Leads.
Of all the irrigation projects so far attempted in the United States, the largest and most successful is found in the Twin Falls country on the Snake river, located on both sides of the Snake river canyon in Southern Idaho. It was in 1905 that water was first turned on the 240,000-acre tract of the Twin Falls Land & Water company, and in March, 1906, the Twin Falls North Side Land & Water company first turned the water on a 30,000-acre tract. The result of the balance of which will receive water in time for the irrigating season of 1909. In 1907 another year has rolled around, and the Twin Falls South Side tract, and bordering on the Salmon river, will be thrown open for entry also. It is not too much to say that within three or four years all of this district, embracing a compact territory of 600,000 acres, will be the most densely populated farming community in the Mississippi—an inland empire in itself.

Wonderous Growth.
To tell of the wonderous growth and transformation from the barren desert tract of the Carey act of the season of 1907 is but to tell of the initial development, marvelous and miraculous, and by suggestion to indicate the future of the region, which has been the experience of centuries, that it may avoid the pitfalls and mistakes, the lack of foresight and the adherence to antiquated methods, and the narrow policies so much in evidence in the older settled communities of the east and middle west.

The growth covered by our (bird's-eye) review of the Twin Falls country, a wilderness of sagebrush at its beginning—we find 4,000 settlers already housed in the homes, which dot the landscape at frequent intervals all over the tract, besides the busy population of the half dozen or more already mentioned towns, which claim from 1,000 to 4,000 inhabitants each. Cassia county has been divided, and the town of Twin Falls is the county seat of the new county. The most modern conveniences attach to this town, including an excellent water supply, sewerage and telephone system, electric light and power, and a number of hotels, one of which, erected at a cost of $100,000, is hard to find the equal of in any other town of similar size. The result of the investment of over half a million dollars, and its mercantile life do credit. Manufacturers are being rapidly established with their own capital, and electric power, and as fast as the supply of labor can be depended upon.

Educational Facilities.
The schools are of an excellent, and in keeping with the liberal policy of the state of Idaho, justly guarding the education of the young. There is a high school, a central high school, accommodating about 600 pupils, who are brought in from the surrounding country by large wagons, which travel over several different routes, bringing the children to school in the morning and taking them home in the afternoon. The schoolhouse was erected at a cost of $20,000, and another schoolhouse of artistic design and with even greater capacity is now being erected at a cost of $60,000.

Easy Babi.
Seventeen miles below Twin Falls, on the western edge of the tract, is the town of Babi, a thriving commercial place, at the present the terminus of the Oregon Short Line railroad, which runs through the tract, joining the Oregon Short Line at Minidoka, 75 miles above. This rail road was constructed at a cost of about $1,000,000, simply to meet the demands of this tract, and is said to be today the second best paying branch of the Oregon Short Line.

Millers by the Dam.
At Miller, 28 miles east of Twin Falls, a town of 1200 to 1500, and where the great Miller dam, the diversion dam of the Snake River, is located, the electric line now building from Gooding on the Oregon Short Line to the southeast will form a circuit and connect with the Snake river, the development of this town is proceeding on industrial lines, its close proximity to hydro electric power, its railway connection, and its river navigation (for the Snake river is here navigable for some 30 miles or more) assisting in locating creameries, canning factories, sugar beet factories, flour and alfalfa mills, breweries, cement packing houses, etc. The source of the power referred to is found in the secret falls of the Snake river canyon, 60 miles in length, which divides the two tracts. These are the Great Shoshone falls, with a head of 110 feet, 25 feet higher than Niagara falls, Twin Falls, Auger falls and Salmon falls, indicating an aggregate possible power development of 150,000 horse power. Electric power is now being distributed on both the north and south side tracts, and the settler can enjoy electric light in his home at cost of about one cent per hour for a 16-candle-power light. The towns of Jerome and Wendell on the North Side tract are fast building and will doubtless hold prominent positions not only in the commonwealth, but throughout the entire northwest.

The Men Behind.
Too much credit cannot be given to those behind the two irrigation companies, the Twin Falls Land & Water company and the Twin Falls North Side Land & Water company. The former company was first conceived by Mr. Ira H. Perrine, the pioneer settler of the district, ably assisted by Mr. H. L. Hollister of Chicago, in securing the capital necessary for the prosecution of the work, and including Messrs. Buhl of Sharon, Pa.; Miller of Salt Lake City and ex-governor Bess of Michigan, who displayed great courage in the investment of millions on what seemed to be a daring experiment. Their expectations, however, were not more than borne out by the results, although unfortunately the two latter gentlemen did not live to see the full fruits of their efforts. He found the Twin Falls North Side Land & Water company stands the American Water Works and Guarantee company of Pittsburgh, Pa., whose officers, Mr. B. B. Smith and Mr. W. R. Kuhn, and Mr. H. B. Purdy have again defended their straightforward, far-seeing and energetic methods in mak-

Set a record in the installation of the North Side irrigation system.
With such strength behind the development of this district, in addition to its natural advantages, and the high class of settlers already on the ground, the investment of money in the form of progressive development is in store for the Twin Falls country.

Great Fruit District.
On the Twin Falls North Side tract is located Ira B. Perrine's famous mixed apple tract, which has won the first prize and gold medal at the Trans-Mississippi congress, Buffalo exposition, World's fair at Paris, and Lewis and Clark exposition, for the best fruit exhibition. In this orchard are produced almonds, walnuts, apples, pears, plums, peaches, prunes and many other varieties of fruit. In fact, no district has fair to be such a fruit growing district as does this. To tell of the marvelous agricultural crops on these lands is but to tax the imagination.

The yield of wheat has run as high as 84½ bushels, yields of 60 bushels being of common occurrence. Cattle mixed averages 119 bushels, potatoes 524 bushels, sugar beets 22 to 24 tons, while three annual cuttings of alfalfa have given nine tons, the average of the tract being seven tons per acre. It is estimated that there are 4,000,000 sheep quartered in Idaho, and that 100,000 head of cattle are fed in this tract being seven tons per acre. The products of this land are abundant. Over two-thirds of the northwest fruit sold in the city of New York came from Idaho and from 200 to $300 per acre is paid for it, as a premium because of its excellent quality. Salt Lake City and Boise are both within a few hours' distance by rail, and the many mining camps are excellent customers, located but 400 miles from the Pacific coast, with the fact being connected by the Oregon Short Line. The railroads afforded this irrigation district which are denied to those located in the more interior states.

Golden Opportunities.
A settler with $1,000 at his command is able to manage a 40-acre tract of land to excellent advantage, as with the easy payment of 50c down for the land on a total of 50 cents, and $3.00 down for water rights, costing $35.00 per acre, the balance extending over a period of ten years, but the capital is required on the initial investment. In a great majority of instances sufficient net profits are realized to pay for the entire cost of the land and water rights from the first year's crops. It is gratifying to know that the opening of these desert lands is affording homes and profitable occupations for the many thousands who are anxious to take advantage of the great opportunity presented.

At the recent opening of the Twin Falls North Side tract on October 1, 1907, 48,000 acres of land were sold the first day, and a total of over 80,000 acres the first six months. These facts realized that these sales have been made in tracts of between 40 and 100 acres, it may be better appreciated how wisely and judiciously this tract has become.

President Roosevelt said in a recent message to congress that the irrigation movement was probably the greatest movement before the people of the United States today, and to those who have witnessed the wonderful transformation of the desert, the widespread interest that is now being taken by the people of the United States in this movement is not to be wondered at, but a matter of wonder is the fact that so many can remain in ignorance. That opportunity is knocking at their doors today as perhaps it will never knock again, and that their lack of enterprise, which is possible for their neglect to open the doors and be led almost without effort to health, wealth and happiness for the irrigated lands of Southern Idaho, land of sunshine, stands.

LIKES COUNTRY AND SO STATES

PROFESSOR HOLDEN OF AMES IS ENTHUSIASTIC.

Noted Iowa Authority Gives His Impressions of Southern Idaho and Particularly of the Twin Falls Tract, Which He Praises.

Idaho has been attracting a good deal of attention from Iowa, and a large number of them have gone to that state since 1904 to take advantage of the now famous Carey act. . . .

The party visited all the points in southern Idaho that have been recently made productive by irrigation, and to say that they are enthusiastic over the country is putting it mildly.

"Why, I talker with men out there who were there three years ago with little or nothing and are now worth $10,000 to $30,000. One man in particular, an old school teacher, went there three years ago. He had been teaching for 28 years and was $3,000 in debt. He is now worth $30,000— it's marvelous! I don't enthuse easily (I can't enthuse), in my experience it has been necessary to school myself against it, but when I see such marvelous productiveness as is seen in every acre in these irrigated districts I cannot help it.

"Land out there that sold three years ago for $25.00 an acre is now sold at $100 to $500 an acre, and when it changes hands it changes on this basis.

"The Carey act permits a man to take up 160 acres of land, the majority of those fortunate enough to draw land take the full quarter section, plant it all to alfalfa and then sell what they do not wish to hold. I saw a number of men who had sold less than half of their land for enough to pay for all of it, giving them the rest of clear.

"Land in southern Idaho is advancing very rapidly and one can hardly realize it or believe it without actually seeing it. I visited a Mr. Newton, who went to Twin Falls in 1906. He bought 60 acres of land just outside of Twin Falls for $11,000. The original entryman bought the land and water in 1904 at $25.00, so it meant a nice profit for him. In a few months Mr. Newton sold 28 acres for $500 more than he paid for all of the land, or 4 1/2 times more. The value is his 32 acres at $1,000 per acre. This is in a measure due to its being close to town, but many farms bought in 1904 at $25.00 have changed hands at $100, $150 to $300 per acre. When one stops to think how many years it has taken for Iowa and Illinois land to reach $100 and $125 and then consider that only four years ago Twin Falls country was all a desert, the wonderful transformation can, in a way, be grasped.

"Another instance of advance in land was a man who took 160 acres as original entryman, paying $25.00 per acre in 1904, $4,000 for the 160. He sold 80 acres for $8,000, then later he sold 40 acres for $8,000, and now has refused $12,000 for the other 40 acres.

"The school system of Idaho is remarkably efficient, and I found a large number of Iowa teachers employed there. District schools pay from $60 to $75 per month.

"I talked with a number of men from the irrigated districts of California and Colorado and I found that, while they had not object to paying $200 an acre for land, they bought only tracts of 40 to 60 acres, saying they could make sufficient money from that, and that it was plenty for one man to take care of and get all it would yield.

"It is surprising the class of men you find out there. I found college graduates with degrees living on these ranches, and they all said they were there because there was more money and independence in it than in the practice of their professions.

Fine Citizenship. I found the Idaho people hardy, thrifty, intelligent citizens. There is a good fellowship out there, that makes you feel at home at once, and I, talking to Iowans who have taken up their residence there, was curious to find out how they started. . . .

"The lands are all cleared except for sagebrush or rabbit brush, and all that is necessary is to drag a railroad iron across it to break those up, followed by plowing and burning. . . .

"In this connection I would say that I feel sure land can be bought out there, an orchard set out, potatoes planted between the rows and from the potatoes alone the owner will make a living, pay for his land, pay for his trees and planting, and the orchard when five or six years old, be worth $500 per acre. . . .

"There are a great diversity of crops appeared to me as strongly as anything I saw. The Twin Falls irrigation farmer, for instance, is not dependent upon any one crop. He doesn't have to wait until the end of the season to get his money, because there is something seasonable and marketable at all times during the year. . . .

"There are no weeds. It takes moisture to grow weeds, and in this country there is no moisture except where you put it. The land that is irrigated is cultivated in such a thorough manner that weeds do not get a start. . . .

Land Growing Valuable. For 160 acres is a large farm, but as the Carey act permits a man to take up 160 acres of land, the majority of those fortunate enough to draw land take the full quarter section, plant it all to alfalfa and then sell what they do not wish to hold. . . .

Blacks, from 300 to 500 boxes per acre. Apples sell from $1.00 to $2.25 a box in the Twin Falls country. Strawberries bring from $300 to $500 per acre. . . .

IMPROVEMENTS IN BUHL POSTOFFICE

ARE A GREAT CONVENIENCE FOR THE PUBLIC.

First Story of the New Schoolhouse Completed—Change in Management of Hotel Buhl—Political Campaign in Full Blast.

BUHL, Idaho, Oct. 21.—R. H. Cost blew in to Buhl from his ranch north of town Sunday morning.

O. C. Conover of Roseworth was a Buhl business visitor Monday.

The Democrats held a mass meeting in the opera house Friday evening.

The Republicans held a mass meeting in the opera house last night which was well attended.

The Hotel Buhl changed hands
Tuesday morning, Mr. and Mrs. J. M.
Butler, recently of Heyburn, taking charge.

George A. Wolfe came up from Twin Falls Thursday and spent several hours transacting business with our citizens.

William E. Coy of Boise registered at Hotel Buhl Thursday.

James L. Barnes of Hansen, Democratic candidate for county assessor, was among the speakers at the Democratic meeting Friday evening.

A. S. Daly of Twin Falls was a Buhl business visitor Friday.

W. P. Shinn, Democratic candidate for county commissioner of the Third district, was in Buhl Friday looking after his campaign.

Attorney Glenn P. McKinlay of Twin Falls spent Friday night in Buhl.

John P. Kosharek came up from the Magle City with the Democratic county candidates to see that they did not get lost in this big city. He brought them all back with him when he left for home Saturday morning.

W. O. Buel was in from his ranch on Sucker flat today. He improved one ranch on this tract, but as improved ranches are too easy for a man of his energetic qualities, he has taken a raw one to exercise his powers on.

C. D. Thomas was up from Twin Falls Saturday to see how the Republicans were behaving themselves.

W. Dyer, Democratic candidate for sheriff, was in Buhl Friday and Saturday.

J. C. Wester of the Western Lumber Co. came up from Pocatello Monday to look after his company's business on this end of the line.

John E. Davies, Democratic candidate for state senator, was with the rest of the bunch Friday night, as also was Joe Day, the candidate for representative.

W. V. Hart of Park City, Utah, was a land seeker on this end of the tract.
Rev. J. H. Barton of Boise preached in the school house Sunday morning and evening.

Mrs. A. S. Taylor arrived from Chicago Saturday and joined her husband, T. Taylor.

Don O'Malley came up from Hagerman Saturday on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Wheeler of Filor visited Buhl Sunday on a pleasure trip.

T. W. Potter of Twin Falls was in Buhl Monday night to attend the Republican meeting.

James W. Shields, Republican candidate for probate judge, was one of the speakers at the G. O. P. meeting Monday night.

A. D. McKinlay, Republican candidate for representative, was a Buhl visitor Monday.

E. T. Newberry, candidate for county commissioner from the Third district, was among the invaders Monday night.

George Wade was in from Castle-ford Tuesday. He says he can take it easy now for a while. He has all his crops in the granary and in the stack, and the wind may howl as it pleases.

Leo Glass was up from Twin Falls and spent between trains in Buhl Monday.

C. A. Comp of Pittsburg, Pa., registered at Hotel Buhl Monday.

F. E. Allen came up from Filor
Sunday on a pleasure trip.

No more mud in Buhl. Marshall Snowgrass is busy putting in crossings.

E. A. Wyatt, Democratic candidate for county superintendent of schools, left this morning for Twin Falls and the east end of the county on a campaign tour.

The postoffice is now fitted up with all conveniences. The general delivery window and the money order and stamp window are large, which facilitates the transaction of business. The floor is oiled, the walls papered and everything is nice and comfortable.

The first story of the new school house is completed and work is going on rapidly on all parts of the building.

T. T. Davis was in from the ranch
today on business.

Big Well is Being Drilled and Pipe is on the Grounds for the Waterworks System—Young Folks Enjoy a Picnic at the Falls.

JEROME, Idaho, Oct. 22.—The new 12-inch well which is being drilled by Mr. Raaf is down 70 feet. It will augment the domestic supply for Jerome.
Pipe for the four-inch main has arrived and the work of laying it will commence this week.

The Misses Bertha and Mona Trull, Covell, Williams, Dillenderfer,
Mary and Nadine Napton and Messrs.
Graham, Kewey, Bugdes, Burky, Severance, Owens, Schoenthal and Chapin formed a picnic party which visited Shoshone falls on Saturday night, October 19, chaperoned by Miss Christensen and Miss Agnes Miller. Gilmore Kinsey is accused of having kept the party awake all night. The visitors cooked breakfast on Sunday morning and went back home in the afternoon.

The Twin Falls North Side Investment Co. is calling in all the lot contracts for Jerome and Wendell and replacing them with new forms. Those who hold lot contracts are requested to send them in for exchange as soon as possible.

in the new school building on the evening of the 13th.

J. T. Brun, who recently arrived from Pittsburg to take the position of assistant cashier in the Jerome
State bank, is becoming very popular with the younger set.

Semi-weekly dances are being held in the land office and drug store. A dancing club is being organized and plans will be made to secure permanent quarters for weekly entertainments.

The Ladies' Union Aid society gave a social in the tabernacle last Friday evening which was greatly enjoyed by all who attended.
