FALLS FROM HIS WAGON AND BREAKS HIS JAW.

Outfit Ready to Begin Drilling the Deep Well on the Buhl Townsite— Sentiment Favors School Bonds to Be Voted Upon Saturday.

BUHL, Idaho, Dec. 23.—The adjourned meeting of the farmers for the purpose of considering the formation of a farmers' association, held in the schoolhouse on Saturday, was again adjourned to December 23 without taking any definite steps. The next meeting is to hold at the new temporary schoolhouse on Broadway. After the adjournment of the farmers' meeting the school board took up the matter of school wagons which the people present, and the sentiment was unanimous that the wagons should be procured at once. The question of a bond issue was also considered and the necessity for the issue explained to those who did not understand the matter. The question of issuing the bonds will be voted on next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Everyone is necessarily interested in this question, and all should turn out and vote for the bonds, as the money is needed.

Charles Larson, a ranchman about 60 years old, residing about a mile east of town, fell from a wagon on Broadway Monday. The hind wheel of the wagon passed over the lower part of his jaw, breaking the bone, and across the back of the head and neck. The wagon was heavily loaded and it is a mile that he was not killed. He was taken to Dr. McCluskey's office, where he was patched up and bandaged, after which he was sent home.

The deep well boring outfit is on the ground and ready for business. The machinery will soon be in place and then the dirt will begin to fly and keep flying until water is struck, for Buhl once started at anything never quits until victory crowns its efforts.

J. B. Jennings was a passenger to Twin Falls on the freight train Monday morning. Mrs. Jennings spent the day in town shopping.

Doc Whaley is putting up a temporary building on the corner of Main and Ninth avenue, in which to board his men while doing the work on the many excavations for buildings for which he has the contracts.

The show at the opera house last night was very good, and the music and singing were greatly enjoyed.

Excavating in progress on the Milner-Perrine company lot on Main street and Broadway, on which the company will erect a two-story building to block out as the excavating is done. Dan Whaley has rush orders to finish his part of the work.

J. J. Carr of Salt Lake was a Buhl visitor Monday.

Spokane, Wash., was in Buhl Thursday.

W. W. Furbush and wife of Boise registered at Hotel Buhl Thursday.

W. P. Stephenson of Bonner, Colo., is a guest of Hotel Buhl. O. L. Gardner of Wendell was over from that bustling burg. Last week he spent a few hours in Buhl on business.

H. L. Lemay of Hagerman was in Buhl Thursday on business. His 1936 25th birthday came up on Clear Lake Friday on business. Dr. O. M. Drake, the Boise oculist, is stopping at the Buhl hotel and is ready to serve customers in his line.

Mrs. Vada Holsey of Three Creek stopped over in Buhl Saturday on her way home from Albion, where she is attending to her duties. She will spend the holidays at home and then return to Albion.

A. M. McPherson, A. F. Rackow and W. F. T. of Twin Falls registered at Buhl hotel Friday. W. D. Southworth is in town today. From the manner in which he is flying around, it is evident that Mrs. Southworth has a great many orders for Christmas goods.

D. Cameron of Boise was a guest of Buhl hotel for several days last week. B. W. Hays and A. L. Newton attended the rabbit hunt at Filer Friday and slaughtered their full share of the poor innocent bunnies. They returned home covered with blood and glory and without a scratch.

J. G. Wilbur and wife of Hotchkiss, Colo., are stopping at the City hotel. They had a wonderful time in Twin Falls tract and came to see it for themselves, and they said, "The hell has not been told us. They will buy the land close to the water and become citizens of the west end. The town trustees held a special meeting on Monday night and transacted some routine business. B. W. Hays was sworn in as trustee in place of Geo. L. Ebeloth, resigned, and so the board is full again, although no one saw the trick anything.

Mrs. J. W. Bekkan is in town today shopping. The chinaware department of the Parker & Marshall hardware store is gorgeously decorated with festoons and red bells that make no noise. The display of chinaware itself is a decoration which is a pleasure to look at, and is proving an attraction for the holiday pleasure seekers and Christmas present purchasers. It presents a brilliant appearance when lit up at night with the electric lights.

Jack Becker and wife, father and mother of Mrs. Ed Braun, of Russell, Idaho, arrived in Buhl Saturday and are visiting their daughter, who is on a week of weeks, after which they will go to Howell, Nebraska, to visit for some time with another married daughter.

STORING SNAKE RIVER WATERS Government Enters into Contracts with Carey Act Companies.

In the seventh annual report of the United States reclamation service appears the following with reference to water storage at the headwaters of the Snake river: Under date of December 4, 1907, a contract was entered into between the United States and the Twin Falls North Side Land & Water company wherein it was provided that the United States should deliver 10,000 acre-feet of stored water per annum for use on this company's project. A contract dated January 25, 1908, was entered into with the American Falls Canal & Power company for the delivery of 70,000 acre-feet of stored water per annum to that company.

The outlet gates of the Jackson lake dam were closed on July 1, 1936, and about 150,000 acre-feet of water was stored. No attempt was made to store the maximum amount for the reason that it would not be needed during the season of 1936.

This water was, however, turned into the river toward the close of the irrigation season of the year and was wasted over the Milner dam. Measurements showed that the full amount of water estimated reached its destination and that the storage system is perfectly feasible.

MINIDOKA DEPOT IS DESTROYED Fire Consumes Passenger Coach at the Junction Town.

The passenger coach which has served as a temporary depot at Minidoka since the depot building was burned last autumn was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning. The loss is estimated at $3000. The fire started at 4:30 in the morning, at which time there was no one about the depot. Owing to the fact that it was too cold for tramps to be about the place, it is surmised that the fire was incendiary. An investigation is being made.

The Twin Falls train is left connected with the engine so that the passengers awaiting transfer do not suffer from cold. The new depot is now under construction.

Big Wood River Project

UNDER THE CAREY ACT

Now Under Construction by J. G. White & Co., of New York.

This project adjoins the Twin Falls North Side tract on the north and embraces some of the best agricultural and horticultural land in Idaho. Within its confines are farms which have been developed for years and on which unexcelled fruit is being grown. A portion of the segregation is now open for entry and the remainder will be opened next spring. The water supply is obtained from the Big Wood river, one of the most dependable streams in the state, and the storage capacity provided for is far more than sufficient for the lands to be irrigated. Fifteen miles of the main canal has been completed, the diverting dam is ready for use and work is in progress on the reservoir. Water rights cost $35 per acre and there is no better value for the investment.

Entered as second-class matter, December 1, 1914, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The bids for the Twin Falls county bonds by the leading bond houses in the west are the most flattering...

It is the business of a commercial club to look well to the main chance and boost for its town with as small expense as possible.

There is a bunch of thoroughbred boozers at Des Moines, Iowa, who have organized what they call the West End Twin Falls company.

The West End people, after a short time issued the circular, rather than to take the time in writing 15 or 20 lines of explanatory matter.

The new telephone system for Jerome has arrived at Shoshone and this is unlike the Twin Falls system.

der the Carey act in Idaho is held by the state until the water is delivered. This protects the settler in the event that the company should be unable to make delivery.

NEW ARRIVALS CROWD JEROME

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION STILL INADEQUATE.

Town is Growing so Fast That People Have to Content Themselves With Shakedown—Railroad Now Within Five Miles of the Town.

JEROME, Idaho, Dec. 23.—Clyde Kirkpatrick of Milner is now at Jerome, where he will take charge of the accounts of the telephone department.

A large number of Jerome were in Twin Falls Saturday doing their Christmas shopping.

Quite a number of new buildings are going up on Main street. There are two new concrete buildings going up in the fire limits.

C. A. McMillan went to Milner on Wednesday to spend Christmas. G. R. Barley went to Boise on Wednesday for the holidays and to meet some old friends.

H. A. Joselin and A. W. Jaynes were in town on Thursday to spend the holidays with his family.

The new settlers are coming in faster than accommodations are being obtained for them. All the lodging houses are full all the time, and many times numbers have no place to go and have to sleep in the halls or anywhere they can.

The Idaho Southern railroad is now within four miles of Jerome, and the track is now being laid at the rate of three-fourths of a mile per day.

Mr. Schneeloch has commenced clearing and grubbing sagebrush. His traction engine has arrived and will be operated in a few days.

The new hotel the Idaho is now under roof and the plumbers have arrived on the ground and have started putting in the roughing-in work for the fixtures.

Thomas E. Saunders of Gooding, Idaho, is acting as the traveling clerk for the Twin Falls North Side Land & Water Co.

on which water will be available for the irrigation season of 1928.

This fruit and farm land is all tributary to the towns of Gooding, Wendell, Jerome and Hildale, which will shortly be connected by electric railway, on which the steel is now being laid. It is certain to double in value as have other lands under the same system. Several wells have been drilled, showing the water plain to lie at a depth of from 100 to 300 feet, at which an abundance of the purest water is obtainable.

Splendid realty investments and business opportunities are offered in the above towns, which are now rapidly building up. They have the advantage of electric light and power, railway facilities and the secure backing of a large and productive area of irrigated horticultural and agricultural land.

Terms, one-fourth down, balance in one, two and three years at 6 per cent. Land, 50 cents per acre; 25 cents at time of filing. Water rights, $35 per acre; $5 per acre down, balance payable in five annual installments.

GOOD SKATING AT THE MILNER DAM

FINE SPORT BEING ENJOYED BY THE CITIZENS.

Riverside Inn Gaudily Decorated for the Holiday Season—Big Christmas Tree and Entertainment for the Children Being Arranged.

MILNER, Idaho, Dec. 23.—The ice above Milner dam has been open for skating the past week and every one who could get a pair of skates has been out enjoying the fine winter sport.

The children and waffle suppers served Sunday evening at Riverside Inn are delicious and a treat much enjoyed by every one who has the privilege of eating there.

F. R. Gollenbeck, the genial and popular clerk at Riverside Inn, left Monday evening for Ogden to spend Christmas with his parents. Frank ready wit and smiling face are much missed by everyone.

It was with a great deal of regret that the merry festivities at the house had to be good-bye Saturday evening when he returned to the coast. He will re-enter college after the holidays.

Riverside Inn already presents a most delightful holiday appearance. The lower floor has been artistically trimmed in the Christmas tree, red and green and the big tree in the place. Tomorrow evening there will be the Christmas entertainment, to which all the children of Milner and the friends of the inn are invited. Toys and candy have been provided, good music prepared, and it is hoped every one will come and be happy.

Joe Wheeler is off duty for a few days on account of sickness.

Frank Phiney, who has been on the engineering corps of the North Side company for the past eight months, left Monday night for his home in Philadelphia.

Miss Elyne has accepted a position as filing clerk in the Milner office of the North Side company.

A large delegation of Milnerites went to the big city Saturday afternoon to do their Christmas shopping. The party included Messrs. E. C. Kiersted, P. W. Davis, V. R. Cockburn, who remained until Sunday evening, Ansberry Brooks, Leslie McLean, returning Saturday evening.

L. W. Glass came up from Twin Falls Monday evening to look after some business matters.

C. W. Joslyn of the Salmon River dam was a Milner visitor over Sunday.

C. R. Larimer left Tuesday on a trip to each of the engineering camps of the North Side with large packages of fine candy and cigars to be left at a Christmas remembrance to the company.

Tuesday is reported to have had the largest business of any day in the history of the town since the opening.

J. M. Grimm and family will spend Christmas with friends in Heyburn.

FINE TROPHIES TO BE AWARDED

AT THE IDAHO STATE DAIRY CONVENTION.

To Be Held in Caldwell on January 8 and 9—Chance for All Dairymen in the State to Show What Their Cows Can Produce.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, MOSCOW, Dec. 19.—Two magnificent silver trophy cups, each 10 inches in height, and chased and engraved, are now on display at the university prior to their shipment to Caldwell where they will be awarded as prizes to the winning exhibitors at the coming Idaho State Dairy convention, Jan. 8 and 9, 1929.

Professor French of the experiment station offers one cup for the best butterfat record made by a herd of five cows or more. The second cup is given to Professor Franson of the dairy department for the best five-pound butter display at the convention. Competition for these prizes is open to all dairymen within the state, and the cups will be regarded with ever increasing value by the winners as the years pass. Such prizes should awaken the interest, interest and competition among the dairymen of the state. The Caldwell convention offers a fine program. Many dairymen from southern Idaho will speak. Besides these, Professor E. H. Webster, chief of the dairy division, U. S. department of agriculture, will be present and address the convention. This means an unusual opportunity for the local producers to get information from the highest source.

Professor French of the university will deliver the prize address, and Professor Franson will speak on "The Cow and Her Relation to Productive Dairying."

Christmas holidays began December 18 at the university and a large proportion of the students went home, taking advantage of the special student rate offered on all railroads.

Professor Craig of Cornell university and Professor Beach of the Iowa State college visited the university last week—spending the day with Professor Franson, who was acquainted with the gentlemen while at Ames. These experts had been in attendance at the Spokane apple show. They were surprised to find that the departments with which they are familiar were so advanced and so well equipped and equipped at the University of Idaho, and complimented the work done here in the highest terms.

"MISSED HOLE" CAUSES TROUBLE

PROBED BY POWDER MAN WITH USUAL RESULT.

Ed Haverly, an Employee of the Falls, Keel Co. at Salmon Dam, Painfully Burned by Explosion—Cableway Towers Are Being Placed.

SALMON RIVER DAM, Dec. 23.—Ed Haverly, a powder man in the employ of the Falls, Keel Construction Co., was painfully injured by the explosion of powder in a hole which he had drilled in a Haverly supposed the cap had been exploded and he had removed most of the powder before the remainder of the charge exploded. The force of the explosion caught him in the face and on the arms, and it was at first feared that he would lose his eyesight. He was given prompt attention and as the swelling of the face was reduced, his eyes opened and he was able to see. He is now doing very well. The accident occurred on Monday, Dec. 21.

A form of 50 miles is now at work on the dam, of which eight or 10 will spend Christmas in Twin Falls. It is expected that the compressed air drills will be started in the tunnel in about a week. The compressor is now being set on its foundations and the house in which it is set will be completed in three days. When the air drills are put in commission, a night shift will be put on the work, the object being to complete 1000 feet in three months. When this section is completed the drills will then be moved to the second section. The Falls, Keel Co., which has the contract for striping of the open cut between the tunnels will finish its work in about a month. The head of the tunnel is now in 225 feet, an excellent showing for hand drilling.

The blowaway towers are now being set up and the traction trap will come out the last of the week with the main cable. Forberg Bros. of Heyburn will suspend the cable across the 500-foot span, which will be quite an undertaking.

Charlie Smith's engineering party, which is in large cities. Some of the work at Twin Falls will start on the canal work after Christmas, beginning at Hollister.

W. E. Wiley of Cody, Wyo., has accepted the position of master mechanic at the dam.

WORDS OF WISDOM FROM J. J. HILL

"UNCLE JIM" SAYS WE ABUSE OUR SOIL.

Practice of Skimming the Fertility and Seeking Fresh Fields is No Longer Possible as There Are No More New Fields to Skim.

In the Christmas number of the Breder's Gazette (a superb number, by the way), James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, calls attention to the manner in which American farm lands are being worn out and deplores the failure to properly fertilize them and rotate crops. Mr. Hill's railroad hauls more grain than any railway in the country and the president is one of the best posted men in America on farm production. He writes:

"The agricultural interest is to a nation what good digestion is to a man. The farm is the basis of all industry. The soil is the only resource that cannot be produced away. For many years this country paid more attention to foreign manufacture, foreign commerce and other activities than to the development of the farm. The result is an inferior system of agriculture and the decline of the agricultural yield per acre.

"Bad farming, from which the country suffers, is a chronic complaint. The following extracts are from a letter written by Washington to Alexander Hamilton:

"It must be obvious to every man who considers the agriculture of this country (even in the most improved parts of it), and compares the produce of our lands with those of other countries, no ways superior to them in natural fertility, how miserably defective we are in the management of them; and that if we do not fall on a better mode of treating them, how ruinous it will prove to the landed interest. There will not be produced a systematic change without public attention and encouragement; but a few years more of increased sterility will drive the inhabitants of the Atlantic states westwardly for support; whereas if they were taught how to improve the old instead of going in pursuit of new and unproductive soils, they would make these acres which now scarcely yield them anything, turn out beneficial to themselves. * * * In a word, it is in my estimation a great national object.

Wearing Out the Soil.
What Washington foresaw has come to pass. A recent bulletin of the United States Department of Agriculture says:

"Wheat was produced quite successfully in central New York for some thirty or forty years. During the latter part of that period the yields began to decline, and at the end of another twenty years they were so low that exhaustive growing had become unprofitable. Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa have each in turn repeated the history of New York. The soils of these states were productive in the beginning, and it required forty, fifty or sixty years for the single crop system to materially reduce the yields."

Different Here.
Instead of preserving the fertility of the land, our farmers have gone in search of new soils to be skinned and abandoned as soon as the old show signs of exhaustion. Now that they have reached the jumping-off place, and there is no longer a "Great West" to move to, and no "Great West" left behind? The average yield of wheat per acre in New York state only ten years ago was 21.2 bushels and the last year it was 17.3. But for considerable tracts which have been carefully farmed in that state on an early date, the general average would now be much lower. In the same short time the average yield in Indiana has fallen from 15.8 bushels per acre to 14.4; in Minnesota from 15.8 to 13; in North Dakota from 14.1 to 10.9; and in Oklahoma from 14.9 to 9; and in the entire United States from 15.3 to 14. Our population will be 200,000,000 and our wheat consumption for the year 1,200,000,000 bushels by the middle of this century. If the disease of a century ago moves to its crisis, how are the people to be fed?

Reform Needed.
We cannot feed our future population with our present methods. We must improve the method of improvement, taught by many years of experience and scientific investigation is well ascertained. First, the farmer must cultivate his soil less than he can till thoroughly. We less labor he will get more results. Official statistics show that the net profit from one crop of 20 bushels of wheat to the acre is as great as that from two of 16, after paying cost of production. Second, there must be rotation of crops. Twenty years of single cropping will wear out any soil, the richest soils. A proper five-year rotation of crops actually enriches the land. Third, there must be soil renovation by fertilizing and the best fertilizer is that provided by nature itself—burned manure.

Diversified Farming.
Every farmer can and should keep some cattle, sheep or hogs on his place. Of about 600 farmers in three states of the northwest who entered a competition for prizes a couple of years ago, less than 100 could qualify because the conditions required that a man, in order to compete, should have a trophy head of some kind of live stock for breeding purposes. The farmer and his land cannot prosper until stock raising has become an indispensable feature of agriculture. The raising of such animals, the butter and milk, the stock sent to market, add materially to the income of the farm. More important even than the fact that it forage feed to livestock, one-third of the cash value remains on the land in the shape of manure that will return to the soil and fertilize it and keep good land from deterioration. By such a system, the farm may be made a source of perpetual wealth.

Without difficulty, following such approved agricultural practices, the average yield of the United States can be raised from 13.8 bushels per acre for the last ten years to the 25 bushels produced from inferior soil. Germany, the 134 of France or the 32.2 of the United Kingdom, to say nothing of the immensely greater yields than these of all varieties of farm products in Belgium and the Netherlands, on the island of Jersey and wherever intensive agriculture has been followed. The value of farm lands will rise in the same proportion to the value of farm property with improvements, by the census of 1900, divided by the whole number of acres in farms, gives an average value of a little over $200 per acre; divided by the number of improved acres only, the average value is a trifle over $40. It would be a simple matter to raise the market value of farm property the country over to $100 an acre by a system of careful, intelligent, diversified farming. A profit of $12 per acre annually, at 5 per cent on $200 valuation for the land.

Results in Minnesota.
There are two farms near St. Cloud, Minn., which were substantially identical in fertility 25 years ago. On one, dairy cows, hogs and sheep consumed all the feed raised, and the manure from these was returned to the land, the other being left to fertilize the whole area by this means at least once in five years. On the other, the usual system of single cropping without manure or other fertilizer was pursued. For the last ten years yields on the former have been increasing, and on the latter decreasing to a point where they do not cover cost of production. The corn crop of the one is now 70 bushels and the other from 20 to 30 bushels per acre and 35 to 50 bushels of oats, compared with 15 to 30, in acres of this sort might be multiplied indefinitely.

Be Kind to Mother Earth.
The annual value of our farm product is now approaching eight billion dollars every year. The farm supplies nearly three-fourths of our necessities. When the sources of our food and the mines have become empty holes in the ground, the farm lands of the country will remain capable of raising their sources of food and kind forever. But they must have proper treatment. Realize the meaning of that good old word husbandry, by caring for Mother Earth, and we care for the mothers of our children, and we support an indefinite increase of population by increasing our agricultural product to figures that the imagination fails to follow.

To do this, is a matter of self interest and of national safety, is the most imperative duty of our people and of our government. Good, greed and the idea that it needs no brains to run a farm have prevented agriculture from taking its due place in the national life and at least doubling the value of both the soil and its product. They should not be proof much longer against the progress of the world, and are more important all the time from farmers' institutes, agricultural schools and other institutions where the real education of the people for future usefulness is going forward. Upon their universal acceptance, more than upon all the domestic or foreign policies ever which parties contend, and about which legislatures and administrations revolve, must depend the political and social as well as the economic future of this country.

(Northern Idaho News).
Times almost without number has the News urged the people of Sandpoint and the surrounding country to trade at home, but there are still a few who can be seen getting goods sent from catalogue houses, thus draining the country of money that would otherwise be used to build up and develop it. It is encouraging to know, however, that the number of people in and around Sandpoint who send away for goods is a few and far between, and the News believes they are getting less in number.

It seems inconceivable how anyone living in the city could send away for goods that they can get right at their very doors, for the people in a city have a better opportunity to judge of the benefit accruing to the town from money spent at home. They see subscription papers circulated almost weekly asking the merchant to donate for this or that public improvement and see the name of their local merchants on the subscription lists for a good donation. That donation represents a part of their money spent with the merchant—if they have been spending their money at home, and if not it represents a part of the money spent by boys and girls are spending their money at home. Of course there are times when one cannot get what they want of the local merchant, and in a case of this kind no one would be criticized for sending where they can get it. But the ordinary necessities of life are kept in large stocks by Sandpoint dealers, and the prices are such that there is no excuse for sending to Sears & Roebuck or Montgomery Ward & Co.

To the people in the country the local merchant is always the best friend. If he is a man of business, the merchant is invariably ready to extend it. Will the catalogue houses do this? If the rancher wants to dispose of a few pounds butter or a few dozen eggs, a sack of potatoes, a box of fruit, some chickens, or some other farm product, the local merchant will always take it. Will the catalogue houses do this? Not long since the News heard a catalogue patron make the statement that there was two sides to this catalogue business—stating that there were circumstances under which purchase of the mail order houses was justifiable. We must admit that we fall into any reason to justify such a statement, and if there is no excuse for a reason to present, the columns of the News are open for that purpose. In conclusion, trade at home. Put your money into channels where it will help to build up the town, where it will increase the value of your property, encourage home enterprises and help to keep the people of the town together—each for all and all for each."

FARM TOPICS

BY WILLIAM HEWES

According to a statement made by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, the farm products this year will be eight billion dollars. It is not factious values in watered stocks or silted mines, but real wealth which has been dug out of the ground, tangible property, consisting of corn, hay, wheat, cotton and many other things which are counted as the necessities of life. It is probably the largest sum ever added by any nation to the wealth of the world.

One weed takes as much food from the soil as two or three stalks of grain or grass. It is more profitable to raise the grain or hay than allow the weeds to use the plant food. Try it next year and see for yourself.

The farmer who has "time to burn" usually raises short crops.

Give your breeding stock as much care as possible the winter they will do better than they will if confined to close quarters.

Eggs are worth 40 cents a dozen on the Twin Falls tract. Yet there are very few farmers who pay special attention to the poultry business.

With careful study and a small investment, the chicken department can be made the most profitable thing on the farm. You cannot turn chickens in the neighborhood and make money from them, but they will pay you well if you will take the proper care of them.

If a farmer buys $1000 worth of machinery and leaves it out in the weather the chances are that it will not last more than five years. If it is properly housed it will last about 10 years. If he leaves the machinery outside, at the end of five years it will take $1000 to replace it. At the end of 10 years he has spent $2000 for machinery, or $1000 more than would have been necessary if the machinery had been properly housed. One thousand dollars would build the best machine shed on this tract, yet many farmers waste more money every five years by leaving machinery outside than such a machine shed would cost.

We have seen a few good hogs on the Twin Falls tract, but many are of very inferior breeding. It really costs less to raise a good hog than it does poor one. The farmer who has poor hogs will do well to dispose of them and then buy a few good ones for breeding purposes. In selecting a good hog, there are several things to notice. Do not select raw boned, coarse hogs. Get hogs with a large sixth rib of the fore legs, with a short, broad head, short neck and short legs. Get as little of the cheap part of the meat as possible. Be sure that the hogs come from good breeds. Care should be used in raising hogs for breeding purposes. It takes much more than bristles, legs, broad ears and a squeal to make a good, marketable hog.

It will soon be time for the farmer to consider the amount of land to plant to the various grains, grasses or vegetables during next spring. This is very important. No one can tell what crop will be the best next season. In determining the acreage for each crop the farmer should use his best judgment, based upon a few fundamental principles. For instance, hay and oats will probably pay well on account of the demand on the North Side and Salmon River projects. The new settlers on these projects will create a lively local market for potatoes and many other vegetables. Wheat may give good returns and it may not. The price depends entirely upon an outside market. If in all cases whether the price will be high or low, it is best to sow crops which are sure to have a local demand. We can only call the farmer's attention in a general way to the amount of land to plant to each crop; he must use his own judgment in settling the question for himself.

A little farm well tilled is more profitable than a large farm covered with weeds.

About two months ago the writer passed one farm which attracted his attention. The soil and part of the land was excellent. Nature had done its part to furnish that farmer a good living. Instead of raising profitable crops he was raising weeds. Everything was centered about the place as though a cyclone had just passed along. You may wonder how such a farmer could make a living. Well, he did not. A few weeks ago he was obliged to sell his farm at a sacrifice to satisfy a mortgage. The special class of farmers to which this man belongs could not make a living in the garden of Eden.

There are many farmers on the Twin Falls tract who were previous to business men. They have had but little experience in agriculture. Farming takes experience. A man without experience in a profession or business would not be very successful at the beginning. He must have experience before success will follow. Inexperienced men who come to this tract with a strong determination to succeed will become successful farmers if they are industrious and sturdy farmers in a systematic way. The man who comes here with the idea that farm problems are too simple to require thought will make a failure. Successful farming requires earnest, serious thought, conducted in a thorough business manner. There are plenty of opportunities here for inexperienced farmers if they are willing to learn. Those who are not willing to learn would do well to locate where the land is cheap and poor instead of wasting our fertile soil with their foolish efforts.
