

FAITHFUL DOGS GUARD MASTER

AND PRESERVE HIS LIFE FOR FOUR DAYS.

Canaro Undaco, a Sheep Herder, Rendered Helpless by an Accident, Suffers Exposure to Storms Which Results in His Death.

With his left leg shattered between the hip and the knee by a bullet from a high power rifle, Canaro Undaco, a Spanish sheep herder, in the employ of John Curran of Hagerman, Idaho, lay prostrate, face toward the snow, in a soggy scrub near Skeleton butte on the North Side tract, from Friday morning, January 16, until Tuesday afternoon, January 19, when he died. On Tuesday evening and died on Wednesday night. Herole efforts were made by physicians and nurses, to preserve his life and it is almost incredible that he was able to hold out so long. His feet and legs were severely frost bitten and his circulation was at a very low ebb. That he did not die in the brush was due to the faithfulness of his two dogs, who lay beside and upon him and kept the trunk of his body warm.

Undaco had charge of a band of sheep which he was grazing around Skeleton butte, about 10 miles east of Shoshone falls. On Friday morning last he started after a coyote which was bothering his flock. He carried a 30-30 Winchester rifle. While picking his way down the rocks into a hole, noting the loaded rifle as a snare, the weapon slipped from his grasp and was discharged, the bullet penetrating the bone of his left leg, which was shattered to splinters.

Taking the leather lace from one of his shoes, Undaco formed a crude tourniquet which he fastened above the wound. The leather cut deeply into the flesh and was almost invisible when the wound was made. After his endeavor to stanch the flow of blood, Undaco crawled for some distance in the direction of the camp. It was raining heavily at the time and he soon collapsed, falling on his face with his arms outstretched. When he regained consciousness it was night and his two dogs lay on either side of him with their heads and forepaws on top of his shoulders. They nosed and pawed the snow from his head and he frequently licked his face. He tried to move his arms, but they were numb. During his thirst, he licked the snow as far as he could reach with his tongue. In this condition he remained until Tuesday afternoon.

Undaco's companion, Vincent Zethasola, missed him and suspected that he had met with some accident. He handed the sheep, leaving his dogs with the band, and started to search for Undaco. The storm had obliterated his tracks and his two dogs had wandered far from the scene of the accident. Zethasola worked under difficulties. He frequently fired his rifle and shouting ran toward his spouse. On Tuesday afternoon he heard the bark of Undaco's dogs, which guided him to the spot where his wounded friend lay. Until he was freed, the two dogs remained steadfast beside their master.

John Shields was passing on the road not far from the spot where Undaco lay and he was halted by Zethasola. The condition of the accident was placed in Mr. Shields' wagon and brought to the Twin Falls hospital. His feet and legs were frozen and his face and hands were swollen out of proportions. He had lost considerable blood and though comatose he was barely alive. Dr. Thorne ordered that he be given administering saline solutions and massaging to restore circulation.

On Wednesday morning Undaco's pulse was quite perceptible and his mind was clear. He continued to grow stronger until about 9 o'clock on Wednesday night, when he began to sink. He lingered until 6 o'clock on Thursday morning, when he expired. The body was taken to Hagerman, where it was buried.

Undaco's vitality was marvelous. During the period of his exposure to inches of snow and he was frequently deluged with showers of rain. He was drenched to the skin probably within an hour after the accident, as he wore light clothing and had no overcoat. His two dogs were with the sheep when Undaco started after the coyote and they did not come to him until after he became unconscious. His two dogs were with him on each side of him and nestled down with their heads and forepaws across his shoulders. In this position they kept him warm and they kept the snow from their master's neck and the back of his head, and to nose it away from his back. Undaco said that while he was frequently asleep or unconscious, he was certain that the dogs did not leave him for food or water during the entire four days and nights. They were starving when Zethasola arrived but they followed the wagon in which Undaco was taken to Twin Falls and Zethasola had to coax them away from the hospital doors. Their efforts of fidelity has seldom been equaled and they will never lack a home and good care in the future.

Undaco was a young man, probably

TWIN FALLS PATRONS REJECT COMPANY'S OFFER.

Refuse to Be Placated by Donation of $1000—Representatives of Independent Companies to Meet Council and Citizens Monday Evening.

At a mass meeting of telephone patrons, held in the Commercial club rooms on Wednesday evening, January 20, the offer of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone Co. to donate $1000 to the Twin Falls Commercial club and rebate 20 days rental was spurned by unanimous vote. Without a dissenting vote it was decided to refrain from using the Bell service until such time as two-thirds of those who signed the agreement to take out their instruments should agree to re-sign with the Bell company. The meeting was carried with much enthusiasm and applause. The telephone company was discharged with thanks and the president of the club was empowered to appoint another.

On Wednesday afternoon word was passed around that the telephone company had offered to donate $1000 to the club and rebate 20 days rental, whereby the company was to rebate the January rental to date and give the Commercial club $1000 to be used for public purposes. The offer was not being accepted. The report was carried by word of mouth and was improved. Patrons were notified that they might hang up their receivers and many resented serious efforts to improve the service was to be improved. Patrons were notified that they might hang up their receivers and many resented serious efforts to improve the service was to be improved.

At the mass meeting on the evening, however, the public temper was shown and a more bitter spirit of hostility toward the Bell company than had hitherto been manifested was developed. The report was submitted by George D. Allen, who went to the office of the company. Mr. Allen said the terms of settlement offered were the most satisfactory that could be obtained. The company, he stated, wanted to show its good will toward Twin Falls by giving $500 toward the purchase of the site for fair grounds and $500 for the Rock creek dam. It was offering the best service also, and would not charge for the 20 days past January.

Instantly a half dozen men were on their feet and in a few minutes a cry of "Are we sold out?" "We were pretty cheap." "Let them keep their money, they can't buy us." "We won't take their money." "Give the thousand to their half paid employees." "We are not for sale." "Cut it out." "No more of patience for us." "Who goes the money?"

A motion was offered that the action of the committee be repudiated. After some discussion the motion was withdrawn and the committee was discharged at its own request and thanked for its efforts. That portion of the report pledging a rebate for the 20 days past January was accepted and the remainder rejected. The resolution to stand pat was adopted and a committee was appointed to notify all patrons that no compromise had been effected and that they would be expected to stand by their agreement and not take the service.

An invitation was extended to the officials of the Butte and Salt Lake companies to meet with the Commercial club and the city council on Monday evening, when the disputed franchise question will be taken up.

Furry Over Bridge.
Prior to the telephone disaster, the club wrangled for the right over the Rock creek bridge problem. The Rock creek committee reported that it had been unable to raise sufficient funds. The new nursery which was needed ground and that $500 had been expended on the foundations. A proposal was made to transfer the money to another bridge in the worst of the city. This brought about considerable discussion which waxed warm at times. It ended in the committee being furnished in forming an alliance with them.

about 30 years of age. He had been in the employ of John Curran for three months. So far as known he has no relatives in Idaho. His companion, Zethasola, has been advised to return to Hagerman, where he expected to return to Twin Falls. He is expected to return to Twin Falls. The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Hagerman.

The contract for the poor farm with the clerk of the board on later than 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Monday, January 25, at which time the proposals will be considered. A county poor farm and hospital is needed now and the commissioners believe that a location can be obtained for less money at the present time than the roads are extensively worked.

By resolution adopted on Saturday, January 16, the board re-committed the order given to the Portland Safe & Lock Co. for the construction of other jail fixtures, and the clerk was instructed to so inform the company. This order was given by the former board and the present commissioners have since received much more favorable proposals from other companies who did not compete for the reason that they did not know the county was ready to buy jail fixtures. County Attorney Guthrie, in a written opinion, advised the commissioners that the contract for the safe was former board with Charles Harvey Smith for the preparation of plans for the county courthouse and for the construction of the construction of the building was extensively worked and could be enforced.

The board has decided to purchase new graders and drags and will see that the contract for the graders this year. A question of vital importance discussed and acted upon by the commissioners this week was the pollution of the ditches. It was also decided to prohibit the carcass of any animal, for which he is responsible to remain exposed in any location will be prosecuted under the statute provided for a felony in regard. In cases of gross negligence or carelessness, such warrants and complaints can be issued without notice to the attorney.

The board authorized the clerk to purchase two sections of roller stock and one section of steel files for the probate judge's office, also a typewriter for that office.

The petition of J. M. Harris and others for the abatement of a nuisance in road district No. 8 was referred to the commissioner of the first district.

Big Wood River Project

UNDER THE CAREY ACT
Now Under Construction by J. G. White & Co., of New York.

This project adjoins the Twin Falls North Side tract on the north and embraces some of the best agricultural and horticultural land in Idaho. Within its confines are farms which have been developed for years and on which unexcelled fruit is being grown. A portion of the segregation is now open for entry and the remainder will be opened next spring. The water supply is obtained from the Big Wood river, one of the most dependable streams in the state, and the storage capacity provided for is far more than sufficient for the lands to be irrigated. Fifteen miles of the main canal has been completed, the diverting dam is ready for use and work is in progress on the reservoir. Water rights cost $35 per acre and there is no better value for the investment.

Although the weather was wretched, they enjoyed their visit.

SHOULD CREATE HERD DISTRICT

HILLSDALE RANGERS ANNOYED BY RANGE GATTLE.

Pumping Plant to Be Installed for the Irrigation of High Land on the First North Side Segregation—Roads Are Very Soft.

HILLSDALE, Idaho, Jan. 18.—The Hillsdale ranchers are being annoyed by range cattle. The animals have been driven about by the recent storms and have become a nuisance. Many of the farmers have not had time to fence their fields which are being invaded. Steps will probably be taken to create a herd district which will embrace the entire segregation.

M. B. Corcoran visited at Nichol & Paulson's camp on Friday last.

Several transfers of farm property on the first segregation, have recently been made, among them the sale of 50 acres by W. J. Hatfield of Portland, Oregon, to Mr. Louis of Chicago.

A pumping plant is to be installed early in the spring for the irrigation of the high land in the vicinity of Wilson butte. There is some magnificent land just above the canal which can be covered at a cost of about $50 per acre. As it has been demonstrated that the supply of water is unlimited and can be obtained at a reasonable depth for pumping, it is confidently believed that the pumping plant can be profitably operated.

J. H. Nichol of Nichol & Paulson went to Twin Falls last Friday, returning on Saturday.

The roads are very soft as the result of recent rains.

Money to send on improved farms near Twin Falls. Henry J. Wall.

on which water will be available for the irrigation season of 1908.

This fruit and farm land is all tributary to the towns of Gooding, Wendell, Jerome and Hillsdale, which will shortly be connected by electric railway, on which the steel is now being laid. It is certain to double in value as have other lands under the same system. Several wells have been drilled, showing the water plain to lie at a depth from 100 to 300 feet, at which an abundance of the purest water is obtainable.

Splendid realty investments and business opportunities are offered in the above towns, which are now rapidly building up. They have the advantages of electric light and power, railway facilities and the secure backing of a large and productive area of irrigated horticultural and agricultural land.

Terms, one-fourth down, balance in one, two and three years at 6 per cent. Land, 50 cents per acre; 25 cents at time of filing. Water rights, $35 per acre; $3 per acre down, balance payable in five annual installments.

40,000 Acres of Magnificent Land in the Clover Creek Extension

Will be opened for entry at Gooding, Idaho, on Monday, February 8, 1909.

PROGRESS UNDER THE CAREY ACT
 QUICK ACTION AND ABSENCE OF RED TAPE.

Attention of Eastern People Now Being Attracted by the Operation of the Act in Idaho—Interesting Contribution from H. L. Hollister.

(From the Chicago Record-Herald.)

The following appeared in the Sunday Record-Herald of January 10 and close statements concerning the operation of the Carey act that has appeared in an eastern newspaper. The Record-Herald professor Mr. Hollister's story as follows:

The remarkable development of southern Idaho during the last three years has demonstrated the great possibilities of what is popularly known as the Carey act, a bit of legislation which has accomplished far more than its original sponsors hoped for. The progress being made in the west, in other states as well as in Idaho, has caused easterners, both settlers and investors, to give more attention to the Carey act than before. On account of this general interest a request for an outline of the workings of the statute was made to H. L. Hollister, one of the foremost irrigators in the west, in reply Mr. Hollister said:

"A phase of development in the west which has come more and more to the attention of eastern people during the last year is that of irrigation under the Carey act. This statute differs in many important particulars from the usual irrigation act, under which the lands to be irrigated are taken by settlers under the old homestead law.

The beneficial operation of the Carey act in reclaiming lands and encouraging home-building has been shown again and again in the recent developments. This act stands next in importance to the reclamation law. By the latter the government supplies the money to build irrigation systems and by the former act the land is provided from the public domain which private capital may irrigate.

Law is Aid to Idaho.

"The state of Idaho has been very enterprising in taking advantage of the liberal provisions of the Carey act and the last year has seen noteworthy developments in reclamation work in that state. The Carey act is named in honor of Joseph M. Carey of Wyoming, who led the work in the United States senate of securing its enactment. Originally it provided for the gift of 1,000,000 acres of land to each southern state for the purpose of irrigation. The territories of Arizona and New Mexico were inadvertently omitted and have never been able to secure the application of the law to lands in their boundaries.

Idaho has exhausted its original allotment and has been granted 2,000,000 acres more. These new grants were made in the last year and since then have been taken looking to their irrigation. The state itself cannot take the initiative in irrigating the lands, but it set open to private investment, private capital to enter into contract with the state for building irrigation systems. Private citizens or corporations select the land conveniently situated with reference to streams from which the water is to be taken and the claims in the water for irrigation. The land to be irrigated is surveyed and application is made to the state for this segregation from the government domain under the Carey act.

"The state first satisfies itself of the financial ability of the petitioners to construct the proposed system and a time is set within which the work must be done. The state board of land commissioners represents the state in these negotiations. The government patents the land to the state and the state to the settler. Each settler is limited to 160 acres, and the state may choose him no more than 50 cents an acre. The price of the perpetual water right is fixed by the state and is based on the cost of building the irrigation system.

Down Payment Small.

"The down payment is made as small as conditions will permit, being generally $3 an acre, in addition to the 25 cents an acre for the land. The balance is arranged in a series of payments extending through ten or twelve years, with the idea of enabling the settler to pay for his holdings from the surplus earnings of his farm. Interest is paid on deferred payments at the rate of 5 per cent, although bank loans in Idaho are commonly made at 10 and 12 per cent.

"The conditions under which title to the land is given to the settler are liberal. He must establish a residence on the land within six months after water is available for irrigation, having previously entered the land at a drawing. He may delay taking his patent for three years, or he may publish his notice of final proof after retaining one-eighth of his holding, and secure the patent by a residence of only thirty days. The fact of his making the first payment and entering into a contract for water is accepted as an evidence of good faith, and he is excluded from the onerous requirements of the homestead law. The water contract remains as a free lien on the land, but the settler does not forfeit his equity after securing his certificate of final proof. The water contract operates as a first mortgage and titles are transferred subject to this encumbrance. A lively business results from transferring of this sort, and many people are attracted to the new region with money for investment and development.

"The Twin Falls country, embracing the several large tracts on the sides of the Snake river in Twin Falls and Lincoln counties, Idaho, is the most conspicuous success under the Carey act. Several millions of dollars have been expended on the most elaborate system of irrigating canals to be seen in any country. The last year has been one of continuous activity, and great things have been accomplished.

The main canal, some 65 miles long, has been built for this tract, and the cost of the five tracts embracing 1,000 miles of main lateral ditches has been constructed. Twenty-five miles of railroad have been built and put into operation connecting the town of Yoncalla and some with the main line of the Oregon Short Line at Gooding. The lands of the tract have been sold. To prospect settlers over 2,000 contracts having been executed. The people who have made filings are coming from all parts of the country, even from the Philippines and from the canal zone at Panama, to occupy and develop the lands.

"Such is the interest in irrigation and the eagerness of the people to buy the lands are bought and the first payment made, in some cases two years in advance of the delivery of the water. For example, when the Twin Falls main tract was opened for entry June 1, 1905, an announcement was made that there would be no water for irrigation until 1910. Five hundred quarter sections were placed on the market by the state, yet there were 4,020 applications, the first payment of $3.25 an acre being deposited with each application. The price of this land was $40.50 an acre, payable in two yearly installments, the second payment falling due a year after the delivery of water.

"The Twin Falls North Side tract, which will be brought under the plow this year, embraces 180,000 acres. A small part of it was irrigated in 1908, but the great achievement of sending water through 1,000 miles of main laterals will be the crowning event of the Pacific northwest in the coming spring. Each place of forty to 100 acres must have its farm equipment the coming season and other buildings must be supplied with its own small system of irrigation, as perfect in its way as the larger system.

"While discussing the larger things, the mind naturally reverts to the details of this development. Towns must be built and are already in the process of building. Hundreds of farm houses must be constructed and thousands of miles of fencing must be built. Carloads of supplies, literally by the thousand, must be brought from all directions and unloaded in the new country.

"In the town of Jerome, months before the time for the first irrigation began, one may see numerous stores crowded with buyers, hotels and lodging houses overcrowded and the several lumber yards doing a business that keeps the proprietors on duty every day and far into the night. A water works system has been put in, with fire pressure for immediate protection, thus accomplishing at once what usually requires several years in the east. Warehouses are being built, schools are already in session, and churches have been organized. The season's activity has begun in earnest, and by February and March every part of the great tract will be alive with its new inhabitants, who will represent every state.

"South of the Snake river canyon is the older tract, where three seasons of irrigation have transformed a desert into a highly cultivated and productive region. Twenty thousand people are in this locality, while in the town of Twin Falls nearly 5,000 inhabitants are enjoying unimpaired prosperity and luxuries and conveniences such as are to be found in eastern cities. As an instance of what is within reach of the settlers, I make mention that there are houses in Twin Falls that are heated with electricity.

"Within a short time, probably on February 15, a tract of 10,000 acres adjoining the north side land will be opened for entry under the Carey act, and inquiries are such that one believes all will be filed on within a few days after the opening. This land will be irrigated by extending the main north side canal until it has reached a length of 100 miles or more. The town of Bliss, on the Oregon Short Line, will become a bustling municipality under the influence of this new activity."—Chicago Record-Herald.

 At GOODING, IDAHO

The drawing will be under the supervision of the State Land board and will begin at 1 p. m. and will be similar in character to previous Carey act drawings, preference being given to entrymen in the order in which their numbers are drawn.

The cost of land and water rights under the Clover Creek extension is $45.50 per acre, $15 for the water right and 50 cents for the land. The first payment required is $3.25 per acre, of which $2.00 is applied on the water right and 25 cents on the land.

STILL BEING CONSTRUCTED AT KIMBERLY.

Street Commissioners Active—Proposed Road Improvements Are Welcomed—Woodmen to Give a Smoke on the Evening of January 26.

KIMBERLY, Idaho, Jan. 20.—The child of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Morgan has been very sick the past week or more.

A smoker will be given by the Woodman lodge at their hall on the night of Jan. 26. They want all their male friends to be present whether they smoke or not. New officers are installed now and will try their hands at entertaining. Come out—remember the date.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lewis is better, having been sick nearly a few days ago.

Some real estate buyers were in town this week. The real estate men do not seem to be standing in with the weather man these days—too much rain and mud to do much business.

Ed Domrose has been laid up for a few days with rheumatism but is getting better.

C. R. Roberts was here from Rock Creek the first of the week on business.

The sidewalk brigade is still at work under Street Commissioner McIntire and Judge Brecken, and their efforts are greatly appreciated. What Kimberly needs next is to have the streets graded and a few more hitch racks for the benefit of our country patrons. Both of the above can be accomplished by each one getting in and doing his part either in work or money. It will be a drawing card for Kimberly, so let's get busy as soon as conditions permit.

George S. Trueblood has traded 40 acres of his ranch east town to C. G. King for five acres of fruit land in Vineland, Astoria county, Washington. Mr. and Mrs. King will take possession of their new home in a few weeks, and Mr. and Mrs. Trueblood will move to Washington. The latter still have 20 acres here which they intend to lease them to keep so they can move back to it after a short trip north. Mr. Trueblood will have a public sale in about a month and dispose of his surplus stock and machinery, etc.

Mr. Carroll of Utah is here canvassing for a 10th edition encyclopedia, which is highly recommended.

E. T. Newberry, county commissioner from the east end, has returned from Twin Falls, where he has been looking after county business the past week. The new board made a good start, and the people around here are well pleased. Their action in regard to securing more road graders is one that the people here have been waiting here for a long time. The road overseers around here tried all summer and fall to get the graders in this district but were never able to get a slight bit hence the roads are in poor condition now. Also a good move stopping the practice of running irrigation ditches in the road and taking dirt from the road to make ditches.

Thomas Logan sold his lot on Main street to Jones & Turner for $275. This lot includes the two lots on the corner of Main and Center streets which was recently purchased by the Bank of Kimberly from the Kimberly Townsite Co. The bank expects to erect a hotel building on this corner the coming summer, and has engaged Mr. Hummel of the firm of Tamplin & Co., of Boise to draw plans and specifications.

Messrs. John Busch and C. W. Rice were appraising the estate of the late J. H. Mayby this week. George Peterson is administrator and is winding up the affairs.

Newberry Bros. & Clyde have their dray wagon in commission now and are doing a part of the local dray work.

The school wagons are each using four horses now and they are increasing their salaries. It is reported that the wagon at Hanson has been laid off until the roads get better.

J. H. Mudd has leased his Shocore ranch to A. P. Truesdale of Colorado and will move to Twin Falls, where he has bought property. Mr. Mudd will deal in real estate and boost for the Twin Falls tract. He has a house where the best land is and we expect to see him being the buyers up this way in the spring.

Ray and Ed Perry, who have been holding down their households east of Rock Creek the last year or more, will move up in the near future.

E. M. Stippes and wife went over to Wendell Tuesday, where they are getting their land in shape for a crop near the out-lying North Side town. Sorry to lose these people from Kimberly.

The Utah-Idaho Elevator Co. is shipping in clover seed, alfalfa seed and timothy seed, getting ready for the spring sowing. They already have their bins full of seed wheat and oats, which they can clean by electric power right in their own plant. They also will have in a car of corn which some of the local people want to feed their hogs.

Swarcanson & Wilson, the new business and furniture people, are doing business in their new store. They have not finished placing their goods in the shelves yet, but are getting things in shape right along.

E. E. McIntire and wife have been Rock Creek visitors the past few days.

E. W. Tibbels, our constable, made a trip south of Kimberly several miles last week after his man, but came back empty handed. The man had left before his arrival.

Mrs. Mollman arrived Sunday from St. Louis and is staying with Mrs. Burdington until their new house is completed south of town on their ranch which Mr. Mollman recently purchased.

Six large bars of Light House soap and a beautiful picture, all for 25c, at the leading grocery store this week.

New Cashier for Wendell Bank Arrives From Fremont, Nebraska—Bert Schultman Starts With Crew for the Salmon Falls Power Plant.

O. H. Andrews of Gooding has let the contract for a business building on Avenue A.

Mrs. H. D. Barrett and Miss Marchant Watson spent Saturday at Sand Springs.

C. L. Dingler, manager of the Osterlander Reed lumber yard here, was a Jerome visitor Friday.

Bert Schultman took a force of men to Salmon falls to begin work on the contract which he has with the Great Shoshone & Twin Falls Light & Power Co. They will start to dig for these falls for the North Side electric line, and also to furnish lights for Wendell.

F. W. Rouziska of Fremont, Neb., arrived last week to take the position of cashier in the Wendell State bank.

Mr. Rouziska has been connected with the First National bank at Fremont for several years. He also represents a number of eastern capitalists.

H. K. Mead and Arthur Trimble of Chicago arrived Tuesday and are making preparation to go upon their land.

J. C. Weaver of Pocatello, president and manager of the Weaver Lumber Co., was in town one day last week.

R. C. Noel of Peens Valley, New Mexico, is here, making preparation to go on his ranch east of Wendell.

Mr. Noel has had a good deal of experience with irrigated lands and he says this will make a wonderful country.

F. W. Hastings has made plans to erect a building at the corner of Idaho street and Avenue B in which he will put a line of farm implements and wagons.

John Smith of Lane Park, Canada, spent a few days here last week looking over the country.

A car load of flour just arrived—the kind you have been looking for—Snow Drift, at the Twin Falls Grocery & Merc. Co.

Planting That Orchard.

The leading commercial varieties of apple trees are generally scarce this year all over the country, and nurserymen practically have booked orders covering their entire stock. The PLANTING COMPANY has made a heavy planting of commercial apple trees last year and still have a few unsold. If you are thinking of starting an orchard this spring, write or call at the nursery and place your order at once.

We are banking orders right along for the 25, 50, 100 and 1000 acre farms. Our trees are regarded the finest grown in this country. They are strong, thrifty and healthy. Did you ever see a man up in the air? There was one in Jerome last week, but he was brought back to earth again by the Stroud-Sprague Realty Co., Ltd., who showed him how to get down to earth. He was, of course, blown away. If you are in the same position, we guarantee to do the same by you so as you will never want to leave it again. This is not a joke, but a fact, cheerfully given and demonstrated by our representatives in Twin Falls, Jerome and Wendell, who will gladly give you any information concerning Southern Idaho, and particularly city or farm property in or around the above mentioned cities. Correspondence solicited. Stroud-Sprague Realty Co., Ltd.

Have you seen the premium list of the Poultry show? It's a peach, sure, but go to the show and they'll show you some birds that outshine that by odds. By the way, if you haven't seen one, write Mrs. B. F. McPhereson, Peavey, Twin Falls county, Idaho, who will send you one.

Dame rumor has it that the minstrel artists are in line shape for the minstrel show to be given in the opera house Friday night for the benefit of the Buhl brass band. Who the pugilists are to be could not be learned, but from the meagrely notices that are heard in the papers it is an important establishment in the hour of night lately, it is reasonable to suspect that Bob Hays is either a principal or a trainer of one of the pug. And like Punch has been noted as wearing a decidedly soldierly cast of countenance lately, which seems to indicate that he does not know whether he is going to knock out or to be knocked out. Professors Frankton and Shinn of the Moscow university attended the farmers' institute today and delivered lectures on the subjects of dairying, creameries, condensaries and horticulture to a large and deeply interested audience. The institute meeting was held in Woodman's hall. Alex. McPherson of Twin Falls accompanied the professors and gave a talk on the same subjects as those treated by the gentlemen from Moscow. Another meeting will be held tonight. The people of this end of the tract are very much interested in having creameries or condensaries established in Buhl and there is a movement on foot to build a condensary here the coming summer.

Marriage is a lottery. So, at least, no doubt, thinks a Buhl bachelor who tried it recently but does not know whether he has won or lost. At any rate, his experience will prove an object lesson to the rest of us lovers of single blessedness, and make us fight still more shy of the bewitching charms who may have designs on our liberties.
