MULE-FOOT HOGS SEEN AT THE FAIR

ATTRACTED A LOT OF ATTENTION AT BOISE SHOW.

Returned Visitor Says Twin Falls County Secured as Many First Prizes as Other Counties and That there Was a Big Attendance.

John R. Lischer returned Saturday from a week's visit at the Boise fair, and has been loudly praising its features of entertainment.

"I believe that I saw just as many yellow ribbons attached to the displays of Twin Falls as were received by other counties," he said, "and therefore we seem to have done as well as the average."

The chief curiosities for the people interested in stock growing, I believe, however, were the three mule-foot hogs which Wayne Darlington and Tom Costello.

"Some time ago Mr. Darlington, who is one of the most progressive men engaged in lines of study of the hog breeds of animals for Idaho, publicly announced that the mule-foot was worth more money to Southern Idaho farmers than any other of the swine species."

Mr. Darlington also announced that the mule-foot was worth more money to Southern Idaho farmers than any other of the swine species.

Mr. Darlington also announced that the mule-foot was worth more money to Southern Idaho farmers than any other of the swine species.

"The mule-foot hog is different in appearance from other species of swine in that the head resembles that of the mule and not split as is the case with all other hogs. In size, general build, etc., it is very similar to the pig."

The mule-foot hog is without a hump. Rumors and reports offer Denmark, Holland, South Africa, Mexico, South America and the Sandwich Islands as its fatherland, the country of its birth. From these several countries he is said to have come, and men are living today who say they have known the mule-foot hog in which the first mule-foot received in this county was enclosed.

The various claims have led to a serious controversy over the origin question with the result that none of them are endorsed by reliable stock authorities. It follows that as yet the mule-foot is without a happy home.

"As to the special qualifications and fine points of the mule-foot hog, it is known to have greater vitality than any other hog in the United States. Authorities state that it has never been known of this class of hogs having cholera. It is an easy feeder, developed early and rapidly and is in strong demand on the market at a premium. It is neither a hard nor a bacon, but the happy medium between the two. Generally speaking, the mule-foot is somewhat of a wonder."

RULE FOR MEASURING WATER.

Simple Method Suggested by An Reliable Authority.

The following, credited to the Pelton Water Wheel Company, gives an explanation of a simple method by which any one of ordinary intelligence can easily and accurately measure the water of a stream or ditch, says the Irrigation Age.

Select a stretch on a stream or ditch which will serve as standard, and uniform a course as possible, avoiding pools and obstructions to the normal flow.

If the water is at any point carried in a flume, it is better to measure at this point. Lay off a distance of say, 100 feet; measure the width of flowing water at about six different places in this distance and obtain the average width; likewise at these same points measure the depth of the water at three or four places across the stream, and obtain the average depth. Next drop a float in the stream, noting the number of seconds it takes to travel the given distance. From these data calculate the velocity of the water in feet per second.

The cubic quantity is the product obtained by multiplying the average width in feet by the average depth in feet by the velocity, which (in feet per second) will give the flow of the stream in cubic feet per second.

From the figures so obtained it is advisable to deduct about twenty-five per cent, as the surface velocity of water is in excess of the actual speed velocity.

EFFECT OF MUSIC ON COWS.

Proof Adduced That Melody Influences Their Actions.

A New Jersey farmer has discovered that music plays in the dairy business, says the Boston Journal.

He employed a Swiss milkmaid who yodeled, and the daily supply of milk increased.

The milkmaid left, the cows mooped, and the milk supply fell.

He bought a phonograph and installed it in the stables, and when he put in the kind of music the cows liked they gave down freely. Some tunes made them dry up.

Irrigation in Kansas.

English capitalists are said to be supplying funds for the work necessary to complete the new old Soule Irrigation ditch, extending from Ingalls to Spearville in western Kansas.

Taylor & Gilbert, engineers, are in charge of the work of dredging and extending the canal. Where completed this ditch will supply water to 50,000 acres in Gray and Ford counties.

Philosophy is finding out how many things there are in the world which you can't have if you want them, and don't want if you can have them.

SHEEP ARE COMING TO HANSEN STACKS

BUNCH OF 5,000 HEAD EN ROUTE FROM NEVADA.

Over Third of Flock Going to F. M. Towne's Farm and the Balance to Sucker Flat and Buhl Ranches of Tom Costello.

Following an intention which he formed a month ago, F. M. Towne of Hansen will utilize much of his grain and alfalfa this winter in feeding sheep.

In this way he expects to reap a greater profit than if he sold his large year's crops, among the biggest raised on any farm in that section, as feeders or other feeders, as he had plenty of opportunity to directly after the harvest was gathered.

Mr. Towne has spent considerable time in the search for the kind of stock which he has in mind for his campaign of this kind, for it has not been an easy task, with prices high and the especially desirable stuff required in his plan of operations scarce, to locate the animals in a herd here.

A bunch, however, has been located in Northern Nevada, aggregating 5,000 head, and of which Mr. Towne takes 2,000. All this flock is being driven this way and will arrive in about a month, at which time that part appertaining to Mr. Towne will be taken to his Hansen stacks.

Work on the stubbles and alfalfa fields, and later also his numerous stacks of the "long green" plant.

Mr. Towne's flock will be divided between the Costello ranches on Sucker Flat and Buhl as quickly as they reach their destination.

Mr. Costello has been over in Northern Nevada for a couple of weeks, negotiating the deal under which these sheep are being brought in, and he is said to have secured a fine herd for the purpose desired, which has been on the range all summer in that part of the county and are already in good conditions.

MODERN WOODMEN'S MEETING.

Expect to Initiate 100 New Members Here Nov. 24.

Twin Falls Modern Woodmen will hold a mammoth celebration on Nov. 24, in pursuance of efforts to secure 100 new members, which were inaugurated by a meeting of the camp held last Wednesday week ago.

In the meantime leading workers are being greatly aided by District Deputy Organizer R. Whitney Caldwell, who has been here for some time, stimulating enthusiasm into the order, which carries beneficiary as well as social features, and is an excellent inducement especially for young men and young women.

The membership of Twin Falls camp is being so rapidly increased that a copy possessed by any branches of the various secret societies represented in the county. It is expected that the initiation of 100 new members will occur on the 24th, and that it will be a red-letter evening in the history of the order in this vicinity.

The numerical strength of the Modern Woodmen in the United States is 1,075,000, of which 117,000 were added during the present year.

NEW NORTH SIDE TOWN.

Will Be Called Harriman and to Be Opened Nov. 9, Next.

Thos. J. Clark of Atlantic City, N. J., who has made a section of twelve miles from Gooding and four and one-half miles from Hagerman, announces that he will open the new town of Harriman on his property Nov. 9, next. The site selected is near the point where the Bliss-Rupert rail way cut-off crosses the Malad.

It is surrounded by the irrigated lands of the Shoshone district of the Twin Falls North Side project, and the celebrated Hagerman valley lies within a trade radius of its markets, while to the south the extension of the South Gooding tract of the Idaho Irrigation Company lies conveniently close on the northeast.

Lots will be drawn on a plan similar to that followed in Carey Act openings.

WILL RAISE BETTER SHEEP.

Two Cars of Thoroughbreds Secured by North Side.

Hagerman Sun: George H. Grover, who lives just south of town and owns one of the fine ranches of the valley, has just returned from a month's trip to Iowa, where he went to invest in some thoroughbred sheep.

Mr. Grover has been through the sheep business for years, and his experience of the time had come when it would soon be impracticable to run large bunches of sheep, and that the large flock of better sheep and not so many of them would be best for this section.

While in the east he procured two cars of better sheep and not so many of them would be best for this section.

IDAHO'S PLACE IN CHICAGO SHOW

PLANS MATURING FOR A COMFACT: STATE DISPLAY.

Will Be Greatest of All Exhibits of This State's Resources for Soil Production Ever Made to Eastern and Middle State People.

Southern Idaho will truly "be there" with a stately exhibit when the great United States Land & Irrigation exposition opens in Chicago Nov. 20, and for the first time the state's position in all things favorable aspects for the settler and home-seeker will be seen by Middle State people.

Mr. Costello has been informed from work to week for one month of the fact that Twin Falls county was getting an representative exhibit together for this wonderful event in Chicago, and he has been very pleased in saying that after much personal effort on the part of the representatives of the various leading business firms of Twin Falls, the expenditure of a vast amount of money in furtherance of their operations, together with loyal co-operation of hundreds of Twin Falls residents, the gigantic display desired is compact and will be in place when the big show opens.

A LIVELY WOMAN PROSPECTOR

COMES FROM SEATTLE AND LIKES TWIN FALLS.

She Recognizes the Opportunities for Making Big Money Out of Land Investments Immediately and is Thoroughly Investigating All Parts.

Mrs. Frank L. Crampton, wife of the well-known proprietor of the Antlers hotel at Seattle, arrived here Saturday, looking for opportunities to invest, and she said Wednesday that nowhere has she ever been so favorably impressed with any country, meantime Mrs. Crampton, who is trapped, polished, and deeply interested in material matters, continues to investigate Twin Falls county's resources—and to inquire.

"I am learning more and more every day," she continued, "I like this country very much and it seems to have a wonderful future. I had heard much about it in the Northwest before I came, but of course expected to be disappointed in some respects when I arrived. But I am not in the least. Twin Falls sustains the good reputation it has outside the state."

"It seems to me there are great opportunities here in land for investors, and I would like to have a whole section if I could get it. I think there will be great money here in cultivating the land, and in cattle, sheep and hog feeding."

"Mr. Crampton did not much believe I would find anything here worth noting after, but I know now he was mistaken in his judgment. I am going to Milner today and shall see the entire tract before investing in anything. Then I will do the best I can for the money. I feel assured already, however, that of all places this is the best to invest in land."

"It seems to me there are great opportunities here in land for investors, and I would like to have a whole section if I could get it. I think there will be great money here in cultivating the land, and in cattle, sheep and hog feeding."

Woman 81, Weds Man 51. PITTSBURG, Pa.—Although past four score years in age, Mrs. Evaline Hall, who lives on a farm near Turtle creek, was married the other afternoon to Robert D. Wright, aged 51 years, of 337 Larimer Avenue, Turtle Creek. Weight is exactly 50 years younger than his bride. Mrs. Hall was spry, and gayly tripped over the floor in the marriage license office to show that mere years did not cause one to grow old.

The Stork a Busy Bird. Buhl Herald: On October 2, a nine-pound boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Howard. On the same day, a healthy buzzard girl took up her residence at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mathren. On October 6, a nice little boy arrived at the residence of G. K. Bickelbarr and announced that he intended to stay. About the same time, a girl named very much and it seems to have a wonderful future. I had heard much about it in the Northwest before I came, but of course expected to be disappointed in some respects when I arrived. But I am not in the least. Twin Falls sustains the good reputation it has outside the state.

IDAHO'S RECORDS AND FUTURE.

Idaho never made much noise abroad until a quite comparative recent date when her natural resources and what she could do, because railroad transportation facilities were meager and capital ignored her for what then seemed, and were actually (on account of accessibility), better fields in which to invest.

Now, when given a chance, she accounts for herself splendidly and is beginning not only to make a noise everywhere and even become boastful. That she can thus engage herself so successfully at this time is due to her having two main factors, in addition to the possession of the "real goods" in the way of all natural money-creating certain resources.

One of these are the shrewd old timers who settled years ago in the valleys and by modestly making patches therein "blissom as the rose," proved beyond doubt that the soil and climate would easily produce good crops of everything indigenous to the temperate zone. The other is that capitalists came to her relief five years ago because they had been shown these valleys excelled similar opportunities for profitable investment in other commonwealths.

And the capital was sufficiently powerful to interest the railroad magnates who have taken a "look-in" these last few years. Mention the state modestly and tranquilly itself, in all its then weaker position, began to show its powers a dozen or more years since.

Idaho apples took first prizes at New Orleans, Chicago, Omaha, Buffalo, Philadelphia, and at the Paris exposition, in competition with the world.

At the Oregon session of the Irrigation congress, in competition with the finest fruit exhibits California, Oregon, Washington, Utah and Colorado could produce, Idaho carried away the Clark $600 sweepstakes cup.

At the St. Louis exposition Idaho carried away grand prizes, in competition with every state in the Union, for superior qualities of exhibits of grains and grasses.

And Idaho has just been awarded similar honors, at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, under a much stronger competition.

We have no doubt her greatest triumph in these respects will be realized in December at the United States Land & Irrigation exposition in Chicago, where will be the greatest fancy displays of Western soil products ever gathered in the United States.

Then it may be confidently anticipated Idaho's real day of progress will begin. But most of the noise will be made then, and thereafter for a decade, by hosts of clamoring, ambitious settlers wanting to get in and participate of the good things Idaho offers.

The state has never had a land boom; but, unless all signs fail, the biggest one any state has ever experienced is due to commence this winter.

MR. BURLEY'S "SCENIC IDAHO." In the recent issuance of "Scenic Idaho," the Oregon Short Line Railroad Company has put forth what is probably the most valuable, artistic and costly piece of advertising literature ever printed on this state.

This large-sized pamphlet, containing many illustrations of our scenic wonders, including Twin Falls, may be accepted as a harbinger of the company's intention to feature this commonwealth on its tourist itineraries next season.

graphs, or prints. It excels in artistic features the best that General Passenger Agent R. E. Hooper of the Denver & Rio Grande issued a few years ago, when he was building up eastern tourist traffic for Colorado. The News congratulates General Passenger Agent D. E. Burley, who represents the Oregon Short Line in Salt Lake, and also holds his eagle eye over the destinies of the passenger business in Southern Idaho for this company, on the pinnacle he has reached in devising "Scenic Idaho." To have eclipsed the experienced Hooper in this line of advertising is an honor.

The book will serve well the ends for which it is designated, and "Scenic Idaho" will pass down into history as the landmark that will have first attracted eastern tourists in large numbers to the southern part of the Gem state.

We are not advised fully on this point, but have an idea that Idaho people interested, also those of our eastern subscribers who desire copies of this splendid artistic pamphlet, can obtain same gratis, by sending a request to Mr. Burley in Salt Lake. Every subject in "Scenic Idaho" is worthy a frame and a position on the wall of any house.

The publication of this and other very attractive literature on Idaho is assuring that the Oregon Short Line is going to make strenuous efforts to permanently populate as well as bring much tourist travel into Southern Idaho as quickly as possible.

Eastern and Middle state people are going to be advised largely, through this comprehensive advertising, that Idaho "is on the map," and that she not only has enormous resources for the home seeker, but also a score or more of scenic wonders equal to the best found in any other western state, and many exclusive and phenomenally interesting freaks of nature which cannot be seen anywhere else.

Twin Falls has wearied already of the "improved" mail service that went into effect on the 10th inst., because it is worse than for many months previously. Outgoing as well as incoming mail is delayed in the movement twelve to eighteen hours. It arrives in the evening, after the postoffice closes, and is not all distributed until the next day noon. Every day's correspondence of the Twin Falls business man reposes here until the next day at 11 o'clock. When it is considered that in the meantime there are four passenger trains passing over the Oregon Short Line every day, each way, between Ogden and Boise and Ogden and Portland, and also that one additional train to the present mail-carrier arrives here and departs each day, there does not seem to be any valid excuse for the postal injustice to which this part of the state is subjected. The old star-route service was more perfect in its way. There is ample ground for a formal protest against this inadequate, unsatisfactory treatment of Twin Falls by the federal postoffice authorities, and the Commercial club may well take the matter up, through senators and congressmen, and view to having the department at Washington order a more satisfactory schedule.

The breathless anxiety that had reigned in the heads of millions of men having nothing else on which to mentally dwell for many months has disappeared since Peter Jackson knocked out Stanley Ketchel in the prize-fight ring and is yet the world's champion heavyweight. This feat makes the winner greater in the estimation of the people who live in pugilism than though some scientist had saved the world from destruction. On the same line of argument, it has been possible for the Nation's commerce and industry to resume since the baseball championship was ended last week and the fans were finally assured that Pittsburg has it. That these trivial matters, however, should have so vitally interested the American public is no great tribute to his intellectual status.

In Southern Idaho we are not worrying particularly about politics, as are citizens in other parts of the state. There is too much other and more profitable business, and everybody here is busy attending to it, to bother our heads about whether one or the other of the New York majority candidates is elected, or what color of Idaho politicians is endeavoring to run the state four years hence. One does not hear politics mentioned here once a month.

Twin Falls county received, at the Seattle exposition, a grand prize gold medal for its display of grains, grasses and forage plants, and eight bronze medals for its exhibit of school work. There were similar awards to other counties of the state for similar exhibits, so what this county received in recognition of this kind is not exclusive honor. In all instances, however, wherein Twin Falls earned recognition there was considerable significance, inasmuch as they reflected our splendid educational features as well as our ability to produce very superior alfalfa, wheat, oats, timothy and clover.

Idaho did not do so well as she would, in capturing prizes at Seattle, if greater time had been allowed within which to make preparations for displays; but nevertheless, her record is most creditable; and the way is paved for future undertakings of this kind. Much valuable experience has been gained, and especially has the fact been demonstrated that provision should be made immediately for permanently preserving samples of fruits and vegetables, so the same may be available at any time for exhibition purposes.

A man who knows declares that, just as soon as the Twin Falls Waterworks Company begins to supply this city with greater water pressure, through the sixteen-inch main now under construction, there will be disclosed a lot of imperfect plumbing, and that the increased pressure will burst a lot of weak water pipes and flood innumerable premises. If it is not the leech man, it is the plumber, who figures in and figures out the householders' troubles, so have him "on the line" for these anticipated emergencies.

Caldwell received a valuable and most creditable advertisement in the publication last week, by The Tribune, of a special illustrated edition, which reflects the great resources and material advancement, in every way, of its entire territory. That city should be proud of The Tribune's journalistic energy. We congratulate its management on the splendid showing made in this "boom" issue.

Please mark the fact that Twin Falls schools shone out very brilliantly at Seattle, considering her system is quite undeveloped.

Buhl is receiving a vast amount of favorable comment for the vigor she is manifesting in the building-up line.

Taft and Diaz MEET ON BORDER

OCCASION WAS ONE OF MOST UNUSUAL INCIDENTS.

Spectacular Scene Witnessed by Over 50,000 People at El Paso and Almost as Many on the Mexican Side of the Rio Grande.

President Taft has been spending the most of this week on the great farm, owned by his brother in South Texas, and when the time for his annual visit to the Rio Grande was planned, the chief executive of the Nation would proceed from the Great Southwest to St. Louis, and then journey down to the Mississippi river, as usual.

The president's journey through Arizona after leaving California, was fully as spectacular as it had been all along the Pacific coast, and he made many addresses to the assembled people. In Arizona he talked to the Laguna and Acama Indians and told them he hoped they were working industriously in agriculture and guarding their fields from the marauding Indians, and that the government would look after their welfare.

At Gallup the president was met by Gov. Curry and others, and the citizens of that territory and formally welcomed to New Mexico. He was presented with an especially attractive Navajo blanket, woven by the same Indian woman who presented the very superior class sample of these goods which some time ago was presented to former President Roosevelt on the occasion of his visit to this address the president gave the impression to hearers that New Mexico and Arizona would be admitted as states at the next session, or, at least, but made no specific utterances that could be accepted as assurances on these points.

At Albuquerque, Mr. Taft received a banquet and witnessed the Mammoth Feast, a celebration similar to the Mardi Gras at New Orleans, and declared it was his intention to do all he could to bring steeplechase to these territories.

Last Saturday the president arrived at El Paso, and found preparations had been made for the greatest demonstration ever held in that part of the Nation, on account of the meeting between the chief executives of the two republics on the North American continent, a meeting that had never before happened.

From an early hour in the morning the streets had been filled with soldiers in uniform. Regiments of infantry and artillery were brought from Fort Bliss and Sam Houston to form the brilliant military escort which was one of the most conspicuous features of the international demonstration.

All of the American troops were under command of Brigadier General Albert L. Myer.

On the Mexican side were the presidential bodyguard, consisting of sixty men in gorgeous uniforms of green and gold, several regiments of infantry and a regiment of the famous Chaparraleros. Military bands were everywhere and the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" and the Mexican national air were borne upon the wind.

President Diaz arrived on the American side at 10 o'clock. Assisting in the reception of the Mexican executive were the ministers Dickinson and Nagao, Postmaster General Hitchcock, Governor Campbell of Texas and his staff and Mayor Sweeney and the city officials of El Paso.

The military headed by Brigadier General Myer and staff formed in procession and escorted President Diaz to the stand in front of the chamber of commerce building, where the meeting with President Taft took place. Following the first exchange of courtesies between the two rulers, President Diaz withdrew in the same manner in which he arrived, receiving the same salutes as he received when he first crossed the border.

When the same ceremony was observed when, two hours later, President Taft and his party crossed the international bridge and were received by President Diaz in the plaza in front of the ancient church of San Felipe, erected in the fifteenth century. A distinguished body of Mexican civil and military officials assisted in welcoming the Taft party.

MORE FRUIT LAND SOLD.

Tract Near the Bassett Farm Goes to Horticulturist.

The Home Realty Company this week sold forty acres and one-half one-half miles south of the falls, for C. M. Smith to H. H. Winger, for $100 per acre, who expects to set twenty-five acres to various crops, and the balance, believing this tract to be equally as adaptable to fruit culture as the famous Bassett ranch.

Mr. Winger is an experienced fruit man from Los Angeles, and has been assisting this summer in the handling of the I. B. Perrine fruit crops. He was immediately a close student of the present conditions through the county, and says he does not believe any better territory for fruit exists anywhere.

ARIZONA-GROWN SUGAR-BEET SEED

MENT TO MAKE EXPERIMENTS, OTHER EXPERIMENTS.

Results of Various Efforts to Avoid Paying Tribute to Germany for Nearly 7,000,000 Pounds of Sugar Beet Seed Used Annually.

In view of the probability that Twin Falls farmers will in another year be more or less engaged in the growing of sugar beets, it is interesting to follow from a current issue of the Scientific American, may be of interest throughout the tract, and its preservation for future reference not amiss.

As a result of an experiment which has been conducted near Phoenix, Ariz., it has been found that sugar beet seed from a grower in that section of the country, and better still, that it can be grown in a single year.

In Arizona it is customary to plant winter seed the latter part of November, harvesting the crop the following July.

It has been found that if the seed is planted earlier in the fall the beets will produce a crop of seed the following year.

This takes sugar beets, for that matter, out of the hands of the biennial class, and puts them in the winter annuals. It means the saving of a year in the production of seed, and will greatly simplify the planter's work.

Nearly seven million pounds of sugar beet seed are used in the United States every year. At present the bulk of this supply comes from Germany, and costs the American grower about ten cents a pound.

The German method of producing sugar beet seed is as follows: The beets are dug in the fall a number of the best specimens, averaging in size from twenty to twenty-four ounces, are selected for seed. These are planted in rows from one to three inches apart, and the seedlings are carefully culled and cultivated. From them the seed of commerce is produced.

These methods are divided into grades, according to sugar content, and stored in silos during the winter. Those that fail to come up to the requirements are discarded. In the spring these mother beets are set out and cultivated carefully. From them the seed of commerce is produced. ## POPULAR ORPINGTON CHICKENS.

Breed That is Gaining Favor for Many Good Points.

Because of their many superior points the Orpington chickens have made remarkable progress in the favor of poultry fanciers and breeders. The breed is a comparatively new one, but it has already been found in practically every country. It finds its greatest popularity in England, but many believe that it will soon be one of the leading breeds in America. Some ornithologists even predict that it will lead all other breeds in favor.

There are several distinct varieties, among them the Single and Rose comb, White, Buff, Spangled and Diamond Jubilee. The black variety, which is the oldest, was originated in 1850, but was generally recognized in America until 1893. With the popularity which the Orpingtons gained almost at the start, their cash value rose, and in 1901 they were sold for $100 per pair. There are now many fine Orpingtons upon the Pacific coast and throughout the West. Mr. Cook, the originator of the breed, lived in Orpington, England, the town from which this fowl was named. To produce the Black Orpington he selected for the first mating a pair of mixed breeds and raised a black mouth cock. The first named were chosen because of their large eyes and white and tender flesh; the latter for the number of eggs laid. The pullets resulting were mated with Black Langshan cocks. The Langshans are famous as winter layers. These three made a fowl that matures in a month or more earlier than any one of the original breeds and the pullets frequently begin laying when about five months old.

GLENN'S FERRY LAND OPENING

WILL OCCUR NOV. 16 AND AFFORD GOOD OPPORTUNITIES.

Project Will Irrigate 15,000 Acres, Adaptable to General Agriculture, Fruit and Melon Growing and Afford Supplies for Earlier Marketing

The state land board has set Nov. 16th for the opening and public sale of the lands included in the Kings River canal project, which will irrigate approximately 15,000 acres of land. The company has promised that water will be available for the irrigation season of 1910. The estimated cost to complete the system is $650,000.

The territory embraced in this project includes the land adjacent to Glenn Ferry and the famous Medbury valley. L. G. Bradley is manager of the company. The water for the irrigation of this land will be brought from the Malheur river, and a minimum flow of summer and winter of 1,100 second feet in a large siphon 7,000 feet in length will be brought from the river through a siphon to a canal, fifteen miles in length, which will carry it onto the land.

A reservoir having a capacity of 30,000 acre-feet will be constructed to conserve the complete waters of the Bonnett, Alkali, Cold Springs, Little Canyon and Dry creeks. These creeks drain the large mountainous area known as the Malheur Mountains and will furnish much more water than is required to irrigate the lands now segmented.

It is contemplated, however, that the system shall be enlarged at a later date to conserve all the supply from this watershed. The opening will be held at the new townsite established by the company in Medbury valley.

"I believe the lands around Glenn's Ferry and in Medbury valley are as well adapted to raising fruit as any land in the Northwest," said Manager Bradley. "I had a number of expert horticulturists make an investigation and report on the project, and they all back me up in this assertion."

"Our conditions here are identical with those that prevail in the famous cantaloupe section of the Payette country. I have learned from the experience of the old residents who have utilized the flow of the creek to conserve by the reservoir system for irrigation, that cantaloupes and strawberries can be grown here successfully, and that the soil is well adapted to the market from one to three weeks ahead of any section now under cultivation."

"The horticulturists tell me that there is no question as to the successful growing of potatoes, and that the soil contains 5 per cent of iron, which will give to the apples and pears the rich color so necessary to the products that bring the gold edge prices."

USES OF ALFALFA MEAL.

Wide and Profitable Field Assured for This Industry.

The manufacture of alfalfa meal from alfalfa hay is fast becoming a great industry. It is carried on extensively in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma. Feeders and experiment stations say that the meal is worth the weight to one-half more than the same weight of hay. It contains more protein than bran. In places where its food value is known it sells at the same price as bran. In short time it will sell for a higher price than bran for the reason that it is worth more. Nothing is wasted in feeding or milking it. The stems and leaves are all ground up together. Old toothless sheep will fatten on it; cows will give more milk; horses will do better because they get the fiber along with the tender parts; hogs will grow and fatten and chickens will lay more eggs when fed upon it. It is the most universal fodder grown. It will fatten Belgian hares, and all kinds of poultry, poultry, horses, cattle, sheep and hogs. It is in such form that any cereal can be mixed with it in such proportions to produce a balanced ration. A balanced ration means no waste. A horse fed on corn alone would require thirty-three pounds per day to get the needed protein. He would then consume too much of the carbohydrates to his injury. If fed on alfalfa hay alone he would need to eat forty pounds to get the required carbohydrates. If he were fed a mixture of corn mixed with ten pounds of alfalfa meal he would obtain the required amount of protein and carbohydrates and have no excess of either. This is what is known as a "balanced ration." Other cereals than corn could be used of course.

Alfalfa meal has been selling on the San Francisco markets at about $10 above the price of alfalfa hay. Alfalfa hay is selling at from $11 to $13 the most is quoted at $12.25. It costs no more to mill it than it does to bale it. It occupies one-half the space of baled hay. It is packed in 100-pound bags. The milling of alfalfa hay is a money-making proposition. While it is a new thing in this immediate territory it has been tried in California and the other states mentioned. The San Francisco papers quote it every day.

Machines are made in all sizes from 500 pounds per hour up to six tons per hour. There is a portable machine which can be run by steam, electrical or gasoline power. There is also a small farmer's outfit.

MORE LAND THROWN OPEN.

Was a Busy Occasion for the Land Office at Halley.

Under the latter of instructions to the Boise Statesman, dated last Friday, says: Some 50,000 acres of land in the Minidoka tract withdrawn from entry some years ago for reclamation works of Minidoka was thrown open to entry Thursday at the United States land office in Halley.

Under the latter of instructions from the general land office to the register and receiver of the Halley land office, this land thus thrown open included all lands in the Minidoka project not otherwise withdrawn, reserved or appropriated.

While this land was declared open the 14th of last September, it was not subject to entry or filing until today.

About thirty men came yesterday in order to be here at the opening of the land office this morning. Five of these stood in line at the door of the land office all night wrapped in horse blankets, having their meals brought to them. They thus held their place in line from the arrival of the train yesterday afternoon until 9 o'clock this morning.

The entries began immediately without much disorder, all applicants for land being required to form in line and await their turn. A few entries were made by attorneys but the majority were made by applicants in person. Some took up 200 acres while others were worth $50 per acre. Over 5,000 acres were entered up to 1 o'clock this afternoon.

EVOLUTION OF UNITED STATES.

Greater Agricultural Population Being Forced by Circumstances.

Goodwin's Weekly (Salt Lake): We think the next United States census will show more than 30,000,000 population and an aggregate wealth exceeding that of any other two countries except Great Britain.

If this proves to be the case, then the first great struggle of the great child must be educated in a way to meet the world's competition, for as the population increases the opportunities will grow fewer, the competition for livelihoods more difficult to meet.

Conditions show marked changes from what they were a few years ago. It is now a life-and-death struggle for the wage earner on salaries that are growing lower in fact, and whose purchasing capacity is less and less, thus decreasing further the earning capacity of heads of families.

At the same time the men who own farms on this side are becoming light things. What over a dollar a bushel, corn seventy cents, oats fifty cents, it is a profit in importing them 0.000 miles from Argentina, beef, chickens, eggs, butter, all the products of the farm, and the farms themselves doubled in value in the past dozen years; farmers owning their own automobiles and telephones, farmers' wives in soft raiment every day—transformations in two years, and a landed aristocracy which threatens to become exclusive, verily this puts our republic in a new light.

Canadian officials assert that in the past year 75,000 families, probably 300,000 people, have crossed the line from the United States, to make homes in the dominion. There are sections of the former who still chop, but the environments are such that most recoil from them. More Americans will therefore find land some in this country—under the stars and stripes.

The draft of Americans from our country is a loss which twice the number of immigrants from Southern Europe will not compensate for. But it is Canada's gain and presages a time when it will be hard along the border to tell whether the ancestors in the west moved to their first allegiance to the stars and stripes or to the royal standard of Great Britain.

RAPID MILKING IS BEST.

Results Obtained Through Various Tests of Methods.

Conclusive tests have shown that rapidly is one of the great essentials in milking a cow, says the Scientific American. Massage by the hand on the cover under excites the mammary gland, which in turn stimulates action of the milk glands. The more rapid the massage movements the greater is the amount of milk that will be yielded, says the Journal of Agriculture. Not only so, but the faster the milk is drawn the richer it will be in the butter fat.

Often there is a difference of more than 10 per cent of butter fat in the milk between fast and slow milking in the favor of the former. You can learn to milk fast as well as to milk slow, and when once rapidly is acquired it is easier than the slow process.

BENJAMIN WEST'S TRIBUTE TO PIE

SAYS DISH IS HEALTHFUL WHEN RIGHTLY MADE.

Inaugurated a Period of Protest Against the Reformers Who Have Been Declaring Pie Should Not Be Part of Gastronomical Program.

Chicago Journal: Dietitians, bi-dietitians, low-dietitians, meat-dietitians, non-meat-dietitians, oat-dietitians and oat-dietitians continue from time to time fearful and wonderful regimens for the suffering stomachs of poor mortals.

Water or no water, salt or no salt, three meals, two meals and one meal a day—all these systems have their advocates. Sour milk is the secret of everlasting life for some. Sweet milk is the panacea of others. But, no matter how widely they differ on other matters, all systems of eating for health, strength and longevity agree on one point—they adore pie, and they have made this once necessary attribute of every American feast a byword for indigestion and dyspepsia—the anathema of the culinary art.

It has remained for Missouri, the good old state that always demands to be shown, to show the world that in spite of such general condemnation, notwithstanding the execrations of the food sharps, the real secret of long life and robustness is in the one food that they have hated. We say we had ninety-seven-year-old Benjamin West of Bellevue, Mo., as the friend of mankind—and pie.

We have already suggested that pie was grossly libeled by the food specialists. Now we are sure of it. And we hope that other citizens of the necessary age and experience will rally with Mrs. West to the defense. This concerted attack upon pie is of comparatively recent origin and we do not believe that statistics will bear out the theories and arguments of the anti-pies.

Pie may be made of many different ingredients, but the staple variety, the kind that belongs—or used to belong—with breakfast, dinner and supper, is the good old deep apple pie of tender memory. Naturally, it has followed the apple tree from New England across New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and west, clear to the Bitter Root valley of Montana, the Walla Walla district of Washington and the very shores of Puget sound.

With the apple the pioneer carried civilization across the continent, and pioneers and their descendants to the third and fourth generation are notoriously sturdy and long-lived. The great pie belt across the country is peopled by thousands and hundreds of thousands of sturdy grandfathers and grandmothers, who, it is only fair to admit, must owe some of their good health and ripe old age to the virtues of pie.

We hope the outspoken declaration of Mr. West of Missouri may prove but the first of an avalanche of criticism of this good old article which, which has been so unjustly condemned, and which we shall do our utmost to assist in restoring to its rightful place of honor on the bill of fare. Please pass the pie.

Accommodations Gladly Accepted and Thanks of People Are Also Extended the Company for Adding a Cattle Chute at That Station.

MURTAUGH, Ida., Oct. 20.—J. E. Steinhour was transacting business in Hansen Friday last.

F. Leo Johnson was a Twin Falls visitor Friday.

Mr. Wollhammer was hauling coal from Hansen last Friday.

It seems that our neighboring city, Hansen, has been much worried about its forthcoming depot; but the depot problem here has not caused us much grief as to our surprise. N. D. Brockhart, C. S. L. depot foreman, dropped in on us Monday and placed a neat little waiting room here for the accommodation of the public. The building is 12x35 feet and placed near the water tank and will be supplied with a stove and fuel. W. E. Beers has been employed by the C. S. L. Company to act in the capacity as agent, filling cars and looking after the company's interests in general. Twin Falls visitors Saturday were M. B. Boley, Clint Medley and W. P. Jones.

The R. M. Bell Telephone line crew have the line completed to this point. This is one of the best lines in a city particularly that crosses the state. The line carries four copper wires and four steel wires.

Bridge Foreman M. D. Whalen of the C. S. L. was here a few days last week, repairing the bridge across Dry creek.

Jess Draper is putting in a telephone booth for W. E. Beers, who will have charge of the telephone station at this place. Murtaugh will soon be connected to the line and with her new depot will be "on the map" proper.

Al Engler of Twin Falls, who is working with Jess Draper, is working on the Leo residence this week.

Mr. Geo. Decker was a visitor at Twin Falls Tuesday.

W. E. Beers reports the arrival of two cars of building material from Hansen this week. This lumber is mostly for improvements at Artesian City.

In addition to other improvements by the Short Line Company a loading chute was in set here for the use of the public in loading stock. Mr. Brookhart will put in the chute as soon as he is through with the depot.

W. Walker was a Twin Falls visitor Tuesday.

Newman and Lako are doing some painting and balsamizing for W. E. Beers this week.

Potato harvest is the topic of the day. The crop is of good quality and the yield is better than last year. There seems to be but little demand for them yet.

W. H. Emanuel sold his forty acre tract joining the townsite to James Goss last week. The purchase price was $600 per acre. Mr. Emanuel will have a public sale in a short time and then expects to leave for California.

One week from next Friday the school will give an entertainment and box social, the proceeds to go toward decorating the school rooms. All are cordially invited to attend.

Murtaugh Mercantile Company have in a line of stores for winter.

Mrs. J. W. Whlot and sister, Miss Willa Eden, came from Buhl and spent Sunday with their parents south of town.

Depot Foreman N. D. Brookhart and W. E. Beers went down to the river fishing Wednesday evening. They came back out of breath.

Mr. Brookhart carried a single trout that tipped the beam at 6 1/2 pounds and Mr. Beers had one which weighed 4 1/2 pounds. This breaks all previous records for fishing.

CAREY ACT

Fruit Lands

IN THE FAMOUS MEDBURY VALLEY, IDAHO

PREFERENCE RIGHTS UNDER THE CAREY ACT

These are rights granted by order of the State Land Board to the early settlers who hold land under the desert and homestead laws, and who relinquished their lands to be placed under the provisions of the Carey Act. The Preference Right entitles the original claimant to file back on the same land or to sell his right by assignment, the purchaser to file at the opening at Medbury, on November 16, next. These rights are now being sold by the original claimants, who are reducing their holdings. The lands range in price from $10 to $20 per acre, depending on location. An additional 50 cents per acre must be paid to the state, as in all Carey Act projects. The water rights cost $55 per acre, with a payment of $1.00 per acre on Nov. 16th, and payment one year after water is delivered, and balance running for a period of eight years, interest 6 per cent. Water will be ready for half the valley in spring of 1910.

These Preference Rights are for sale through the Secretary of the Medbury Valley Development Association, an organization of settlers. We have just issued a folder describing Medbury Valley. MRS. JARR'S IDEAS ON JEALOUS WIVES

SOME MORE OF THIS FAMILY'S DOMESTIC INFELICITY.

Warns the Husband Not to Play any Pranks on Her That Serve as Excuse for Wives' Annoyance and to Beware of Using the Telephone.

The Strivers had a terrible quarrel, said Mrs. Jarr.

Quarrels will happen in the best of families, said Mrs. Jarr.

But this one was so foolish, said Mrs. Jarr.

Yes, Mrs. Jarr went on, "none of them are worth loving, and none of them are worth being trusted."

And, besides, said Mrs. Jarr, "no gentleman can be in love with more than two ladies at a time."

What? exclaimed Mrs. Jarr.

Oh, said Mrs. Jarr, smiling unbecomingly, "I didn't say that. I read it in one of Oliver Horeford's books."

With, said Mrs. Jarr.

Yes, Mrs. Jarr went on, "none of them are worth loving, and none of them are worth being trusted."

SHREWD LOGIC OF MRS. SOLOMON

LADY'S PHILOSOPHY: BROUGHT UP TO DATE.

Analyses the Many Follies and Follies of the Human Race, Running All the Way from Ancient to Modern History of Man.

The provverbs of Mrs. Solomon, the discoverer of man, who hath found him out!

Lo, the heart of a woman is like unto fly-paper which sticketh unto one thing; but the heart of a man is like unto fudge, which is divided off into neat chunks that it may be passed around unto the "crowd"—even as caramels.

Lo, the heart of a woman is like unto fly-paper which sticketh unto one thing; but the heart of a man is like unto fudge, which is divided off into neat chunks that it may be passed around unto the "crowd"—even as caramels.

One thing I know not and shall not discover, whether it is more difficult to entice a bachelor into a love affair or to keep a married man out of one; for I have tried both, and neither hath worked.

Consider kissing, oh my daughter; for this is love's tope. It stimulates, it kills it, if administered in over-doses!

A wise woman flattereth a man who knows not it, his head hath out-grown his halo.

A wise wife spendeth her whole allowance upon lingerie; but a simple wife saveth her husband's people and his affluity taketh care of the dollars.

Verily, verily, what hath Peary discovered that is more worthy of investigation than the North Pole? You what hath Cook endured greater than the utterings of a sentimental explorer, even his mother? Then, one, for he ate his frozen toes on strange things. Yes, I have been loved by many and married by one; and I have grown "wiser." Lo, Peary hath returned with a frozen foot and Cook hath returned with frozen fingers, but I have returned with a frozen heart!—Helen Rowland in Chicago Journal.

Over the returned hot surface, a clean wrung out of hot water should be placed. This generates a steam over which the velvet should be held, passing it back and forth until the steam removes the creases by raising the pile.

The surface of the velvet must never be brushed. If the creases are so bad that they refuse to leave the fabric, then the better way will be to mirror the velvet. To do this, first steam, then pass the iron over the face of the velvet the way the nap runs.

Do not stop the iron until the end is reached, because every stop will show. Two pressings are usually necessary. If the velvet is dirty wash it first with gasoline.

Washable laces should be carefully washed in warm white suds, then rinsed thoroughly. A little gum arabic added to the last rinsing water is the best kind of stiffening to use. In the lace on a covered board and leave until dry.

YOUR CHANCES OF DIVORCE

Domestic Passes Reduced to Mathematical Results.

If you are married, or about to be married, the government's latest statistics showing the probability of divorce may be of interest.

From this it is plain to be seen that your chances of divorce are about one in fifteen, so the odds are fairly long that, if you are already married, or later do marry, death, and not the divorce court, will sever your bonds.

Divorce is most frequent in the fourth and fifth years of married life. Actors and showmen are the most frequently divorced classes.

BUHL FARMERS GARNERING CROPS

LAND INQUIRIES CONTINUE TO STIMULATE PRICES.

Several Accidents Occur to the Active Participants in the Development Operations Throughout That District—Personal Mention.

BUHL, Ida., Oct. 20.—Throughout this end of the county the bulk of the farmers are harvesting the last of their crops and calculating the season's satisfactory profits. It is the best year in our history; many are the "starts" in life that have been realized. The inquiry for land by prospectors continues and prices values upward, while many improvements in the town are conspicuously progressing.

The wife and family of George Miller, who was killed here last week by being thrown from a wagon, departed for Allanco, Nebraska, Monday.

N. Lane, who was thrown out of a buggy last Wednesday and severely injured, is recovering from the shock and is able to be out and around again.

Herman Geer and W. M. Olds went to Filer Thursday to work on the new school house in that town. Mr. Geer has the contract for painting the building.

Dr. and Mrs. James Monroe visited Twin Falls Thursday on business. A. H. VanHoy was a passenger on the outgoing morning train Friday, bound for Twin Falls.

Henry Smalley returned Friday from St. Augustine, Fla. Mrs. Smalley and children having returned some time ago. They will reside here permanently.

Dave Ford visited the county seat last week on a short business trip. Mrs. F. S. Marshall, Misses Millie and Middleton and Ethel Benson, were Twin Falls visitors Saturday.

A. J. Milner made a business trip to Twin Falls Saturday on a land deal.

Miss Nan Vance was up from Twin Falls Sunday visiting friends. T. B. Duffy of Blue Gulch is in the city transacting important business.

Ben Williamson made a trip to the Magic City Saturday, to see the sights.

A party of capitalists, consisting of P. H. Smith of Twin Falls, and three other gentlemen, whose names your correspondent was unable to learn, passed through Buhl Sunday morning on their way to Clear Lake, to look at the water power there, in which they are interested.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Seaton moved from Twin Falls to Buhl today. Mr. Seaton has the contract for building the Citizens State Bank building, which will take several months to complete.

H. W. Pitt met with a serious accident Monday while stacking hay on his ranch three miles southwest of town. A guy rope on the stacking derrick parted while he was adjusting it from the top of the stack, causing him to fall off the stack, breaking his wrist and sustaining other injuries. He was brought to town by O. G. Chamberlin and Charles McCaully and placed in the City Hotel, where he is being treated by Dr. McClusky.

Mrs. A. E. Brandon is sick with typhoid fever at the home of her daughter, Mrs. O. G. Chamberlin.

John and Frank Schooler made a trip to Hagerman yesterday to attend a justice court in a case in which Mr. John Schooler sued Ed Thompson of Hagerman for the recovery of a horse belonging to Mr. Schooler, which Mr. Thompson had in his possession. The case was settled out of court.

W. J. Hows, editor and proprietor of the Buhl Herald, was a business visitor to Twin Falls Saturday.

GOOD MONEY GOES AWAY. Greeks Send Heavy Gold Remittances Home. Postmaster Greenhow of Twin Falls thought he was a real banker last Saturday when the money order business of that office was swollen enormously through extraordinary large remittances to their homes in Greece. Many of these foreigners are performing much of the manual labor on the canals and reservoirs under construction in this county.

A payday last week gave them earnings much in excess of immediate needs. Through trusted agents sent to the city from the points where employed, these men remitted to the famous old Athens, and its suburbs, an aggregate of $3,700. This money is said to have represented at least five-eighths of their last month's wages, showing that the state of Idaho profits little by their presence, as compared to what would be realized therefrom by local merchants if the labor these men are performing were being done by Americans, Irish, Scandinavians or negroes.

TWIN FALLS IN DENVER POST. Prominent Position Allotted by Special Edition Writers.

"Twin Falls will have the most prominent position in the Idaho edition of our paper Oct. 31," said D. F. Yost of the Denver Evening Post, last Monday, just before starting east after several days spent here securing data on the county's resources.

"The Post will devote one entire section to this state on that day, which is Sunday, and our Sunday editions are always very large and more interesting than any other Sunday paper published in the West."

"And you may add," interjected S. J. Dutch, who accompanied Mr. Yost,

NEW ROAD TO MILNER. Is Opened Since Steel Bridge at Murtaugh Was Accepted.

Twin Falls county commissioners formally accepted from the contractors, the new steel bridge across Dry creek, at Murtaugh, last week. In addition to its important significance, on account of being the first steel structure of this kind to be introduced in this balliwick, it opens the highway more direct between this city and Milner. This new route is expected to become the most popular on account of the new bridge and the superiority of the roadbed, which the commissioners say they intend to maintain continuously in first-class condition.

Another and yet greater steel bridge is going across Rock creek on this road, near Twin Falls.
