OUTLOOK BETTER IN CONTACT CAMP

ORE HAULING HAS COMMENCED TO WELLS.

American Smelting & Refining Company Wants High Grades at Salt Lake and Agent Gathers Up a Lot from the Dumps.

George Deuser, the veteran freighter, has secured a contract to haul sixty tons of high grade ore from Contact to Wells, Nev., for which the rate is $28 per ton, and is reported as having already begun the execution of his job.

The ores are said to carry an average of 22 per cent copper, a little silver and gold, and to come from the dumps of several of the mines of the district, which have made these gigantic yields during the progress of development.

Purchaser of these ores is a representative of the American Smelting & Refining company at Salt Lake. The smelter is reported as having been glad of the opportunity to get these ores, and intends to utilize them to good advantage in conjunction with the siliceous ores of Utah mines.

Reports are to the effect that if the shipment of this sixty tons proves satisfactory to the smelter there will be inaugurated a continuous heavy shipment of the same class of ores from Contact. Therefore the feeling there is exceedingly optimistic, and claim owners think that there is henceforth going to be a gradual recognition from the mining investment world which will culminate, in the early spring, in the general re-investigation over three of all classes of operations.

W. J. Armstrong, Mose Jones, Hugh C. McTaggart, D. G. Benedict and S. M. McConkey, all being the camp's supporters, declare that it is only a question of time when there will be produced from the district vast quantities of ores which the smelters must have.

Therefore they are pushing everything along as rapidly as possible. The hotel and reform townsite is being pushed to completion.

The Delia road is said to be along about the grade to furnish a large tonnage of high grade ore, which can be hauled out to the railroad, whenever the road shall have been established. The camp on provisions, demands, as will be the case with other large operations are under way and there are even better days ahead. It is expected that the railroad will be completed near Twin Falls through the camp to the main line of the Oregon Pacific

SCRIPT REJECTED BY GOVERNMENT

AN AWFUL SLOW IS DELIVERED TO HOLDERS.

Washington Officials Hold That These Evidences of Labor Performed on Reclamation Projects Were Issued Without Law.

An order has been promulgated by the interior department, copies of which were received by the officers of the reclamation service in Boise on Oct. 29, instructing them not to accept scrip in payment for water rights under government irrigation projects.

Therefore, without a special act of congress providing for their redemption, all these certificates for labor performed by settlers upon canals, are worthless.

The order is based on a recent opinion by Attorney General Wickham holding that the scrip was issued without authority of law and cannot legally be accepted in payment for water rights.

There is in Idaho alone, according to statements of officers of the reclamation service, fully $500,000 of this scrip outstanding, principally held by contractors and settlers under the Minidoka and Payette-Boise projects, where it has always been accepted by merchants and others at face value and has been virtually a medium of exchange. Similar certificates have been issued to settlers for labor on projects in various parts of the west and the aggregate face value of the scrip outstanding is estimated at from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000.

Issuance of the certificates in payment for labor was the result of a semi-co-operative plan, devised during the administration of Secretary Garfield for the purpose of enabling the reclamation service to go ahead with construction work on irrigation projects when actual funds were not available, and at the same time affording the entrants an opportunity to spend their time profitably when not occupied with work on their claims.

The plan of distributing the scrip was to contractors, who would be awarded the construction of portions of canals, dams or reservoirs and who in turn issued it to the entrants.

Settlers who have performed work for which the contractors have not received scrip will receive their compensation in actual cash.

DON'T READ THIS AD Unless You Can Come to the Carey Act Opening, Medbury, Nov. 16

You Can Tell Whether or Not We Have Over-estimated Our Project.

We want to appeal to Fruit Growers

who are competent to judge fruit lands, who know the value of fruit land that is really WITHOUT QUESTION FRUIT LAND. If we attract men who know we will be satisfied to rest upon their verdict.

You can't buy land for what it cost

in any irrigated tract in Southern Idaho. There has been approximately two million acres of land reclaimed in Southern Idaho within the past five years and EVERY MAN WHO HAS BOUGHT AN ACRE HAS MADE A PROFIT.

The land reclaimed has been all of the same character. The best farming land in the world, where big crops of all grains and grasses, and other farm products can be raised year after year without failure, and perhaps some kinds of fruits some years. Yet the great demand for LAND, LAND, LAND, cannot be filled even with the millions of acres. The price goes UP, UP, UP all the time.

In all the Great Irrigated West there is only a very small acreage where fruit growing is a success

Go to Hood River, Wenatchee, Yakima, or any of the great fruit centers and ask the prices. From $300 to $2,500 per acre are common prices and the owner of the land doesn't even bat an eye when he asks the price. That is because

The supply of fruit land is limited. He can make interest on the price quoted. You can't buy that kind of land unless you buy it at one of these places.

AT THE CAREY ACT OPENING, NOVEMBER 16, MEDBURY

You Can Get This Same Grade of Fruit Land at Less Than Farm Land Prices

MEDBURY is another Hood River, or Wenatchee, or Yakima, or Lewiston, or in fact BETTER THAN ANY OF THEM. The last statement sounds like a boast, but we are not alone. Alex. McPherson declares in decided terms, "Medbury is the best orchard tract he has reported on in his twenty years' experience as an expert horticulturist and irrigation expert." Numerous other authorities have reported to the same effect and as further argument of their belief, THEY WANT LAND HERE.

We know by experience that we can grow any product here grown in the Northwest and reach the market with early fruits, melons and fruits from ONE TO THREE WEEKS EARLIER THAN ANY TRACT NOW IN CULTIVATION. Now, to reach the point.

What is the answer?

Medbury prices in one leap will take their place beside those of other fruit centers.

ALL fruit land like MEDBURY LANDS has not reached the price they will reach, for the SUPPLY IS LIMITED.

If you get a Carey Act Selection or an Acreage Tract in Medbury you have made a small fortune

The railroad runs right through the center

Besides being the best fruit tract in the Northwest Medbury has unsurpassed transportation facilities. The main line of the Oregon Short Line railroad runs lengthwise through the center of the tract and perishable articles can be rushed to their destination without delay of transfer, EVERY ACRE OF LAND IN THE PROJECT IS WITHIN THREE MILES OF A RAILROAD STATION.

Your chance is good if you come

Besides 16,000 acres of Carey Act land to be opened at Medbury, November 16th, of which a part is preference right land that you can select now and file on at the time of the drawing, there will be a large number of

Acre tracts on easy terms

Every tract will be sold at one price, $1,050. A CAREY ACT DRAWING SYSTEM will be used to sell the tracts. The first choice may make the first selection from the entire tract. The tract run from 2 1/2 to 22 acres, $210 will be required to be paid at the time of the drawing and out of this amount the company makes the first payment on the water, so

$210 includes all payments for the first year

Don't fail to register

To participate in the drawing it is necessary to register before the drawing. Registration books will be open at Medbury, November 11th.

APPLE CULTURE ATTRACTS MANY

IS A BUSINESS OF LARGE POSSIBILITIES.

All the World Wants American Pippins, Jonathans, Winesaps, Ben Davis and Other Standard Excellent Varieties, and Industry is Growing.

The propagation of the apple is becoming one of the most profitable features of American horticulture, and it appears altogether probable that there is going to be a yet larger development of this field of labor and capital in the future than in the past.

Therefore the exceptional adaptability of much of the Twin Falls region in soil and climate for apple culture forms a most valuable asset, which was scarcely foreseen five or six years ago when projectors of these large irrigation enterprises were contemplating the production of the cereals and grass crops here principally.

Apples twenty-five years ago did not command nearly so high a price in the estimation of the world, and were developed on farms merely as conveniences and luxuries of the family. Nobody thought of engaging in their growth for the money there might be in them.

Montana there have been discovered many nutritious qualities in the apple, and today it is highly regarded by the medical profession, and there are thousands of persons in every community who declare that mankind may subsist most healthfully on this fruit and a few English walnuts.

Apples fulfill so many other services in the culinary world that the time has come already when no household, nor restaurant, can remain long without supplies thereof. Millions of bushels are necessary to supply these demands, and the best apples are much sought by all nations.

The most famous fields of the United States are now recognized as the peers of the world in producing the highest grades, and the result is that the very best apples raised in this country are shipped to the largest European cities.

These foreign consignments have been made possible by the very high development which the refrigerator services of the railroads and the steamship companies have reached.

Altogether, the enormous demand for the apples, and the fact that they can be consumed in all their glorious flavor and appetizing appearance, many thousands of miles distant from the place of their growth, has opened up one of the grandest sources of profit to which American farmers have fallen heir.

The most conspicuous illustration of these possibilities was shown a few weeks since, when there was sent out of Grand Junction, Colo., a carload of the best apples raised this year in that region, consigned to Australia. It went via San Francisco, and will be distributed among the consumers of Melbourne.

Orders have also been received from the commission merchants of San Francisco by the Grand Junction Fruit Growers' association (which handles foreign consignments) for additional carloads.

The first car sent into the Australian market was filled principally with the Ben Davis variety. They were sent to London in Australia for the largest prices ever paid for such fruit in that country.

Provisions to these foreign shipments the Grand Junction growers had made commitments to every other civilized country on the face of the earth, and the announcement is made from that great Colorado field of fruit culture that hereafter the most attention will be given to development of apples for the foreign market, inasmuch as it has proven exceedingly profitable.

Foreign markets are also taking account of the Hood River (Ore.), apple crop. Growers in that, and also the Grand Junction fields have brought the packing of apples to a very scientific basis, which is said to account, to some extent, for the success which has been experienced in extending their products to the world's most desirable points of apple consumption.

It is not a matter of wonder therefore that with an ever-increasing demand for apples, and with the world's population growing rapidly, the outlook for the apple growers everywhere in the United States should be a most auspicious one.

So highly is it regarded that there is an awakening everywhere to the necessity for improving apple qualities, and to this end there are numerous organizations springing up, which lead to the dissemination of whatever may have been learned lately of best methods to be followed by orchardists engaged in this business.

There is a national apple show scheduled for Denver this winter, which is expected to be one of the greatest affairs of this kind ever held anywhere.

have been described to the Twin Falls region, and it is estimated that the absence of systematic efforts in marketing the fruit.

"It does not pay to raise apples," said the average orchardist, "until so many years ago, and to the industry declined.

Yet in the Northwest, in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, several thousand miles from the rest of the world, the orchardists made the crop pay. They did more than make apples pay big dividends on the investment—they supplied an eager market and attracted world-wide attention to the districts west of the Rockies. The difference is in the methods of growing and marketing them; the difference between a commercial basis and a fruit growers' association method and the haphazard cultivation eastern way.

The fact that the exports were more than 3,000,000 bushels in 1903, as against 3,000,000 bushels in 1902, shows what can be accomplished by systematic and intelligent business methods. If the fruit growers of the Northwest had acted independently and each treated his orchard merely as a farm adjunct, apples grown in Idaho and Colorado would not have been sought by dealers from Great Britain, Germany, France, Belgium and the orient. It is fully as important to find a market for one's crop as it is to grow it, particularly if that crop is apples.

Many thousands of acres are being planted to apples throughout the Twin Falls tract, because experience has shown that this fruit can be raised here with exceeding profit, and of a quality which is superior in many respects to the best apples ever produced anywhere else. Twin Falls

LARGE ORCHARDS FOR TWIN FALLS

EIGHTY ACRES ARE SOLD FOR APPLE CULTURE.

Another Gigantic Tract of 820 Acres Also Said to Be in Line for Diversion to Similar Uses in Near Future.

The Twin Falls Realty company has just sold, as agent, eighty acres, covered by the north half of the northeast quarter of section 17, township 10, range 17 E. B. M., to George E. Davis & Son, who are expecting to plant the entire area in winter apples, and then subdivide the same into ten-acre tracts for disposition to investors and horticulturists who may desire to engage in the fruit business, as thousands of acres within recent years, embarked in the Pacific coast states, to great financial advantage.

H. A. Moore of Twin Falls sold this land to those most recent owners, and is said to have profited quite handsomely on the deal.

The region wherein the tract is located is held to possess many specially favorable attributes for the fruit growing business and may soon become a gigantic orchard region. Some 820 acres in section 18, (adjointing section 17) is all to be put in fruit trees and subdivided into small tracts, according to S. H. Bolton, president of the Twin Falls Realty company, as well as others who have made a study of the climatic and soil resources.

Mr. Bolton also says it is his belief that in the near future, within a comparatively few years, when a large percentage of the Twin Falls tract will contain continuous apple orchards, as a result of the disclosure of their wonderfully prolific money-making features, which is now progressing quite rapidly throughout the county wherever orchards are growing.

EARTHQUAKE IN CALIFORNIA.

Severe in Northern Part of State, but Not Felt in San Francisco.

On the 23rd of October an earthquake shock was felt in Northern California and Southern Oregon, reported from several places to have been more severe than any experienced for several years previously. Vibrations continued from 10 to 25 seconds, shattering windows, demolishing chimneys and breaking dishes. The disturbance was not felt at San Francisco nor was it recorded by the seismograph at the University of California, across the bay. Humboldt county appears to have been the center of the seismic wave, the movements apparently being from north to south.

STATEMENT OF TAXPAYERS' LEAGUE

Also Names of Charter Members of this Most Representative Organization ever presented in this County

We, the undersigned business men and taxpayers of the County of Twin Falls, being at this time opposed to the county voting dry, submit the following reasons why we are so opposed:

We believe that the county is too young to try an experiment which may be vital to its growth. There are in the county a number of construction companies who employ from 1500 to 2000 men, who come here and spend their money with our business men and merchants as soon as their pay checks are received, because of the fact that saloons are here and open for their entertainment.

We cannot afford to lose this kind of patronage. If the saloons were to be voted out in this county, this class of trade would necessarily leave the county and would go where they could buy liquor and spend their money there.

If the advocates of a dry county are successful, there will be in the city of Twin Falls several vacant buildings that will be for rent, to say nothing about the license fees that the city and schools will be deprived of amounting to over $5,000 annually, for the schools alone.

We are of the opinion that a dry vote does not prohibit the sale of liquor, but will simply remove the revenue derived from the license, and leave us nothing but the violations of the law and the evil that comes from the secret sale of liquor.

We believe that the saloons should be regulated; that they should be closed on Sunday; that all blinds should be removed from their places of business; that there should be no card playing or gambling in any rooms in any way connected with their places of business, and those who fail to comply with these restrictions should forfeit their license.

On Wednesday night of last week an attempt was made to burn the store belonging to Ida Leo Beers. The culprit did not do a good job. On a shelf in the cellar was a box of bottles containing sewing machine oil, packed in sawdust. The bottles were broken and the oil and sawdust were set on fire. The contents of the box was partly burned, also the bottom of the box and the shelf, then it showed that the remainder of the sawdust bottles had tapers dropped down below, fortunately only a pile of bottles, doing very little damage. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the deed yet. Mr. Beers says there were some very plain tracks in the dirt floor.

E. M. Hooper went to Twin Falls Monday to assume the foremanship of the Twin Falls Transfer company.

They have sold a large amount of orders here and shipped in a full carload of trees, which have been delivered to the fruit growers and farmers around Kimberly. Considering that numerous other nurseries have sold here, as well as sales made by our home people, Tyler Bros. nursery, and also those sold by the Twin Falls nurseries, one can readily see that this will soon be a fruit country.

Mr. Conrad Fritz has returned from a few weeks' trip to his former home in Illinois. He reports everything very dull there and no demand for property and is much pleased to get back to Idaho.

Old-fashioned Halloween games were indulged in and much merriment caused by a revised version of the old-fashioned potato race. A beautiful chicken supper, with all the accompaniments was served about 9:30 and before midnight the merry guests departed, thanking the ladies for a most enjoyable evening. "EVERYTHING TO EAT AND WEAR"

PENDLETON LIE EXPLODED

The campaign of the wet from the beginning is a series of movements intended to deceive and hoodwink the people. Their forces were led and whipped into line by an ex-saloon keeper. They have their "voluntary" dealers here from Pocatello to dealers here from Pocatello to Salt Lake. They present to the people specious arguments, distorted facts, misleading statements. It is enough to make our citizens blush with shame to think that they should even be suspected of being so easily gulled.

Take, for instance, the Pendleton lie in last week's News. This same article appeared in the Boise papers during their campaign. Upon its appearance, C. B. Cox, Esq., president of the Idaho Title & Trust company, visited Pendleton, and he found that the Rains interview grossly misrepresented the facts and that it is in many respects wholly untrue.

William Moore, president of the Commercial club, agent for the Pacific Elevator company, and a member of the water commission, one of the men whose interview had been grossly misrepresented by Rains, said:

"I am in the grain buying business and handle a large percentage of the grain raised in this community and will say that our crop of 1908 was thirty-five per cent below normal and below what it was in 1907, and this year's crop is not any better. Taking that with the general business conditions in the country, I think that our business is very good. I do not believe that there are any more vacant houses than a year ago. As a member of the water commission I know that our collections for city water are more than they were a year ago. I believe that the conditions now, in regard to liquor, are so much better than a year ago that there is no comparison at all. Formerly a woman could not go along one side of Main street without danger of being insulted and now she can pass along any time of the day without inconvenience."

A prominent groceryman said that his business had increased wonderfully during the last year over previous years. That during the last eight months he had sold two thousand dollars more than for the corresponding time in 1908. He said he was collecting in full accounts that he would gladly have taken twenty cents on the dollar for a year ago. Alexander's large department store, Mr. Alexander, Jr., said that their business had increased wonderfully during the last year in every department, and they were doing the best business the firm had ever done. He called up the man in charge of the shoe department and asked him how the business for the last year had compared with the previous year, and the man assured him that they had sold fully twice as many shoes. Mr. Alexander then said that he simply could not understand the situation; that he and his father were very much opposed to prohibition in the town and while their business was so much better, he could not see how it could not be one that did not admit there had been a wonderful change for the better caused by the elimination of a very large per cent of the tough element. Many of them assured me that Pendleton could by no possibility ever be voted "wet," and many of these business men, who formerly voted "dry" would vote "dry" should the question come up again. Before the town went "dry," the farmers had considerable trouble with their help. A large per cent of the harvest hands would invariably come to town every Saturday and got beastly drunk and riotous. The farmers would have to come to town the next week and get them sobered up and bailed out of jail, or else get a new crew. The condition had become intolerable and it was largely upon that account that the farmers had forced Pendleton "dry." Today the farmers can get all the help they want and the men invariably stay until the work is completed.

I endeavored to call on the leading firms in practically every line of business, regardless of their attitude on the liquor question. The following is a result of my late of not property; in no case less than eight per cent. There are not to exceed ten or twelve vacant store buildings in town, and of these three only are on Main street at the extreme lower end, and the others are on side streets, and some of them have been vacant for more than a year. There are not as many vacant lots as when there were prior to July 1, 1908, and I believe that all the places not now occupied are vacant because of the short boom three years ago when many stores and houses were built than the city required and there have been vacant stores and dwellings in town ever since."

Reported by the Resolutions Committee and Adopted

Your committee on resolutions, feeling that the conditions existing in the county and city of Twin Falls, at present, are not entirely as they should be, and that to properly regulate and correct the evils now existing, suggest that the city council and county authorities be memorialized requesting them to draft ordinances, and to make such laws, as will embody and fully cover the following points:

1. That but one saloon to each 1,000 population be granted license for the sale of intoxicating liquors in the city of Twin Falls.
2. That not more than one saloon facing on each street in any one block be permitted.
3. That no license be granted for saloon purposes where the premises petitioned for are on a street corner.
4. That all screens, portieres, booths, wire or card rooms, or devices of any kind that may obstruct a free and uninterrupted view of the interior from the outside be not permitted in any saloon, except a screen that shall extend to a height of not more than four feet above the common floor level.
5. That but one outside entrance be permitted to any premises occupied as a saloon.
6. That during the hours of closing, which shall be from 12 o'clock midnight to 6 o'clock the following morning, on all week days, no one, under any pretext whatever, shall be allowed within any room occupied for saloon purposes.
7. That all chairs, stools, tables, or furniture of kindred nature, except that reserved for the individual use of the proprietor and his assistants, be removed from the premises occupied as a saloon.
8. That from 12 o'clock midnight of Saturday until 6 o'clock in the morning of the Monday next following, no room used for saloon purposes shall be permitted to open.
9. That strict ordinances be drawn forbidding the sale or other disposal of intoxicating liquors to minors, intoxicated or prescribed persons, and that this ordinance shall be so construed to cover the sale of intoxicating liquors in original packages to such minors, intoxicated or prescribed persons.
10. That all minors be forbidden to enter any room used for saloon purposes under any pretext whatever.

We further believe that ordinance should be drawn against any loitering on the street, and also against sitting on sidewalks, or any other public places.

We believe further that outside of incorporated cities and towns not more than one saloon should be permitted to each 1,000 population.

We recommend that it be the sense of this league to bring about strict adherence to the laws above suggested; that any license granted to any person for saloon purposes be granted under conditions that they may be revoked at any time for good and sufficient cause. We further suggest that in event any person or persons holding a license maintaining him or them to conduct a saloon business shall be guilty of any infringement of the regulations governing the conduct of his saloon, that his license shall immediately be cancelled, and that the money paid therefor be forfeited; that such person shall never again be permitted to take out a license, either as a principal or agent, to conduct a saloon business again, and that no license shall thereafter be granted in the premises in which infringement occurred.

Respectfully submitted,
F. D. KIMBALL,

Editorial, Ladies' Home Journal, Issue November, 1909, page 6, column 1, paragraph 3:

"When three years ago Uncle Sam said to the patent medicine manufacturer: 'You must put on each bottle the amount of alcohol in your medicine,' there was strong resentment. Every effort was made to defeat the law. But the law was inexorable and the line '25 per cent Alcohol' appeared on various bottles. Every care was, however, taken to have the line appear in as small type as possible. Then a curious change took place. The line '25 per cent Alcohol' suddenly appeared in larger type and stuck out prominently on the wrapper. Because the law demanded it? The law was the same. The change came, curiously enough, at the same time with the great wave of prohibition throughout the country. To the average mind, there would seem to be no special connection here until the significant fact comes out, that in nearly all the states that have by law recently gone 'dry' the sales of patent medicine having the large amount of alcohol in it: 'These states going 'dry' are all right,' and then he laughed comfortably. But that laugh meant no good to the public. (Adv.)
