

COURT HOUSE TIED UP UNTIL JUNE

Mass Meeting of Taxpayers Instructed the Commissioners, but It Is Alleged the Brick Cannot be Secured for Six Months

The Twin Falls county court house was not built as planned for several years after the time specified in the contract.

But little more work will be done this fall. After settling the walls, the work will be in winter quarters, as it was, until next June.

Not before that date is there any possibility of securing from the Salt Lake masonry the quality and kind of brick required.

The date specified in the contract for having the work finished is June 1, 1910, under the circumstances.

Commissioner Sherman thereupon opened the debate by explaining that several months ago, there had been a meeting held at the main hall, at which time a proposition was discussed having for its object the settlement of this same question; that on that occasion the matter was reached which caused the issuance of an judicial order restraining the use of stone, except as prescribed in the contract.

Mr. Sherman said he could give some figures off-hand, but preferred they come from Architect C. H. Smith.

Mr. Smith was called for, and the board had expected he would be on hand, but he was not. Mr. Sherman proceeded to say, however, that the board was willing to go ahead and build the courthouse just as this mass meeting might direct.

Then the meeting decided to wait until Mr. Smith could be found and Mr. Sherman telephone him to come to town. At this juncture, however, somewhat lively. It appeared from his explanations that the building with stone pillars at the entrances would appear more pleasing to the eye and be the more enduring than to have the walls of the second and third floors in stone trimmings surrounding first floor walls of stone.

At this juncture, Commissioner McMaster said the point that there was doubt if the pillars were to be of stone, under the brick or brick and stone.

Architect Smith was asked about this matter by an inquirer on the other side of the house, but replied that he was not prepared to answer without referring to the specifications.

The mental atmosphere of the meeting began to suggest that it would be better to suggest that something was under uncertainty that taxpayers should know. Silence was reigning a few minutes when somebody called for the story to be told in a guffaw followed. About the same instant several voices yelled, "Let's have the contract and see what it says."

"That's right!" responded several voices.

The contract had to be brought from the county clerk's office, and when it arrived was read, and showed that the pillars were to be of stone.

At this juncture there seemed to be an increasing bitterness among the taxpayers that something was wrong somewhere and a great disclosure might occur at any time.

Somebody yelled that "it seems Mr. Curley is trying to hold us up" and several citizens with whom they had popular, but no satisfactory agreement, were reached among the taxpayers, because the business men and taxpayers who had been participants in the conference did not care to assume responsibility for the alteration of the building program and the cost.

It was to be, on the second and third floors, that the stone trimmings. I would have preferred to see it all stone. But since it is started, I say, let it be finished according to contract and the specifications. You cannot change it now."

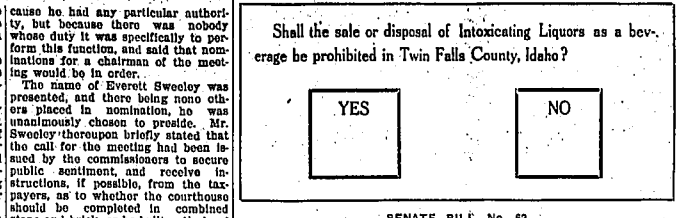

Mr. Hall said the elimination of wood floors would save $100 and his purchase would cut out $5,000 more, but yet there would not be anything to furnish the building.

Mr. Hall said he had reviewed the reading, at this point, a list of figures, prepared by Wm. H. Hornbrook, and between this gentleman and Commissioner Sherman there was a discussion which showed that they were not keeping with the specifications, and inferred that the architect might have intended that the masonry be of this tendency.

The taxpayers of this county will not stand for it," he concluded.

HOW TO VOTE ON ELECTION DAY

Those who wish to vote FOR PROHIBITION place an X in square under the word "Yes," and those who wish to vote AGAINST PROHIBITION place an X in square under the word "No," in the official ballot of which the following is the facsimile:

SENATE BILL No. 52. Sec. 4. The ballots for a special election held under the provisions of this Act shall be in the following form: "Shall intoxicating liquors as a beverage be prohibited in (here shall be given the name of the County), Idaho? All ballots marked with a cross in the square containing the word "Yes" shall be counted in favor of the proposition, and all ballots marked with a cross in the square containing the word "No" shall be counted as opposed thereto.

county will not stand for it," he concluded. Commissioner Sherman replying, said that no man was big enough to make such charges against him.

"I do not know whether you do or not," replied Hornbrook; and then they both gave their taxpaying records as around $100 per year, and Commissioner Sherman punctuated his subsequent exclamations with the statement that he stood Hornbrook's humbreds only out of respect to the Commercial club in whose rooms was a guest, as they were called to order by the chairman of the County Clerk West.

Mr. Thomas of Kimberly made quite an oratorical effort, saying in conclusion, "Gentlemen, whatever the result of this election, I am in favor of all of stone. What if it does cost $10,000, $20,000 or $40,000 more; build a structure so that you will never be called to order by the chairman of the county clerk's office."

Mr. Houghtaling, an architect, said there would be a difference between brick and stone of about $8,000.

P. H. Holahan expressed himself as follows: "It seems to me, Mr. Curley, that it is not the duty of the commissioners to do except go ahead and build the courthouse according to the instructions issued at the time of the injunction."

WHOLESALE HAS FOUND BUSINESS

TWIN FALLS PROVES A GOOD DISTRIBUTING POINT.

Some of the natural features for wholesaling and jobbing, even in its brilliant infancy, which presage grand future in these lines.

The possibilities of Twin Falls as a wholesale and distributing center are well illustrated in the fact that during the last three months Alkon & Company has made rapid progress in the handling of the necessities of life by car lots and their resale to small merchants throughout the tract.

There had not been any doubt of the ultimate success of this class of commercial activity, but it has been seen for there should be a certain connection of Twin Falls with the main line of the Southern Pacific, 138 miles to the south.

Even under the conditions as they exist Alkon & Company report that the large volume of wholesaling and jobbing in the immediate future.

Since of these goods, as reported by the Alkon & Company, the firm, have been made without employment of a solicitor.

What has been accomplished in so short a time led Alkon to conclude that there will develop in this city a very large volume of wholesaling and jobbing, on account of Twin Falls position and many strategic features, from the standpoint of the wholesaler and jobber, which are not possessed by any other city in Southern Idaho.

IDAHO STANDS HIGH. Appreciation of Gem State by Seattle Exposition President.

A. D. McKinley explained this week that, although President J. D. Bulhore of the Seattle Exposition, who is not present to address the public on Idaho day, he entertains the highest regard for the Gem state, as was evidenced by the following letter.

Seattle, Oct. 19, 1909. Hon. A. D. McKinley, Idaho State Capitol, Boise, Idaho.

Mr. McKinley, I had expected to be here on Idaho day, and to address yourself, Gov. Brady, and the other good people of Idaho. Unfortunately I was not able to do so, but I thought that my address should contain the enclosed copy of a poem written by my father-in-law, Maj. W. V. Blinnert, who led the company of Idaho's army post at Fort Lapwai, in 1862.

At this time I take pleasure in again expressing to yourself and to your governor, the Hon. J. H. Brady, my sincere appreciation of Idaho's participation in the exposition; and more than that, our appreciation of that neighborly feeling that caused the partition, and the great kindness and consideration we had received from the governor, from yourself and Mrs. McKinley, and every other member of your party.

With very best wishes for the future prosperity of the state of Idaho, and with kind personal regards to yourself and Mrs. McKinley, I am, Yours sincerely, J. E. CHILBERG, Pres.

KIMBERLY LAND IN BIG DEMAND

INQUIRIES FOR FARMS THERE ARE NUMEROUS.

KIMBERLY, Ida., Nov. 10.—W. H. Kimbrough and wife have bought the Trueload place near the power plant and have moved to their new home. They come from the northern part of the state and are welcomed to Kimberly.

Mr. W. M. Bowle and wife left last Thursday for their old home in Iowa, where they have traded their land. Mrs. Bowle is good people and their Kimberly friends are sorry to see them leave, but hope it will be only temporary.

W. M. Bonnell, who has been here some time looking after the delivery of a car of nursery stock, has returned to his home in Hastings, Neb. Mr. Hily will continue to take orders here for the Queen City nurseries.

Henry Jones was here Monday from Rock Creek on business. John G. Anderson left Tuesday for Colorado on a prospecting tour. He recently sold his ranch to a better country than the Twin Falls tract, which he will never do, so he is expected to return soon.

Mr. J. D. Shubert has bought a nice tract of land near Twin Falls and will move there soon. He will have a public sale and either two cars of flour, one car of milk and one car of apples, peas and beans, respectively, and one car of wagons, although the exact details are not known.

The firm has on consignment, furthermore, two cars of sugar, and one car of corn, two cars of canned fruit, one car of mixed goods, and one car of mixed canned goods, and apples—eaten altogether.

Since of these goods, as reported by the Alkon & Company, the firm, have been made without employment of a solicitor.

RETAINS LARGE AUDIENCES.

Woman Is Married in Runaway but Not Seriously - School Wagons Placed in Commission Before Arrival of Sloppy Weather.

BUHL, Ida., Nov. 9.—A runaway occurred on Main and Ninth avenue yesterday. A lady, whose name your correspondent was unable to learn, was driving a buggy along Main street when the horse became frightened at something and ran across the vacant lot on the corner of Main and Classy's. The buggy struck the corner of the sidewalk and threw the woman out. The horse then ran across Main street and between Dr. McCallister's and Mr. Scholer's residence, and was stopped at the barn of A. V. Mounce. The buggy was badly damaged and the woman was slightly injured.

The concert given Monday night was a great success and highly appreciated by those who attended it.

TWIN FALLS FIRM SPREADING.
Acquires Additional Facilities at Buhl and Filer.

A deal has been consummated, says Buhl Herald, whereby the Twin Falls Milling & Elevator company acquires the interests of the Highline company of Buhl and Filer. The name will be changed to the Buhl Milling & Elevator company, and will remain under the same local management, C. B. Oliver taking charge of the Buhl branch and L. M. Smith remaining in Filer as manager.

The Twin Falls concern has extensive interests throughout this section of Idaho, and will perhaps next summer build an elevator in Buhl. Employees of Buhl and Filer will be glad to know that Mr. Oliver and Mr. Smith will remain in their respective positions as local managers.

ADDITION TO POSTOFFICE.
Work in Progress and More Room Will Soon Be Available.

Thirty feet depth is being added to the postoffice building, owned by W. A. Busch. Under this addition will be the use of the Twin Falls Grocery & Mercantile company, which is requiring more room for storage than is afforded by its quarters immediately to the west.

The addition will greatly relieve the crowded condition of the work room of the postoffice, and facilitate the handling of mail.

Postmaster Greenhouse is eagerly contemplating the day with pleasure, he said, when the new room can be utilized by his force.

Negotiations are in progress between Mr. Babcock and J. B. Perrine, looking to the heating of the entire postoffice building from the new steam plant in the hotel.

The contract has been let for the completion of the third story of the capital building at a cost of $115,000. The lowest bid was made by Murphy & Stary, whose bid of $116,300 was the lowest offered.

MURTAUGH LAND SELLS AT $100.00

MARKET IS LIVELY AT ADVANCING PRICES.

Some of the Purchasers Are Already Large Owners in That Vicinity and Have Confidence in the Future There.

MURTAUGH, Ida., Nov. 9.—Some of the best land sales ever held on this end of the Twin Falls tract took place last week. J. O. Goss bought forty acres from W. H. Emanuel, joining the townsite, for $100 per acre. This ground is all under cultivation, has a good stone house and is a good showing for land that has been cleared of brush but three years. From a waste desert to a garden spot in four years, John Humphrey was successful in this instance, and he is a good showing for land that has been cleared of brush but three years. From a waste desert to a garden spot in four years, John Humphrey was successful in this instance, and he is a good showing for land that has been cleared of brush but three years.

Another sale was E. E. Eden's forty-acre tract, one mile from Murtaugh, at $85 per acre, and another of forty acres, one and one-half miles out, at the same price. John Humphrey was the seller in this instance, J. I. Tolman is the purchaser of the two last named tracts. He owns a ranch joining them. These tracts are exceptionally good, lying on the Artesian City road and near the post-office. The entire eighty acres are under cultivation and have small orchards.

A. B. Overlin was a Twin Falls visitor last Thursday.

J. E. Steinhour unloaded his five cars of hops at Hansen last Saturday night.

Twin Falls visitors Saturday were as follows: A. Q. Lee, W. D. and J. C. Goss and J. E. Dwyer. Many were attending the big horse sale of Smith and McMaster.

Gladys Hight spent Sunday in Twin Falls.

DAIRYMEN COMING TO TWIN FALLS

STATE CONVENTION WILL MEET HERE IN JANUARY.

Commercial Club Quickly Accepts Offer of Executive Committee Secretary of the Association to Hold Meeting in This City.

Twin Falls will have the next annual convention of the Idaho State Dairyman's association, next January. An invitation was read last Monday evening, just after adjournment, of the mass meeting which had considered the courteous matter, from the secretary of this organization, saying that the executive committee would be pleased to bring the session to this city.

The opportunity available at once for securing the opinion of the Commercial Club, (because many members are on hand), was made use of, and resulted favorably. Circulation of a subscription paper was at once undertaken, and within a few minutes almost half the sum asked by the secretary of the dairymen, as a recompense for bringing the meeting here, had been raised.

The balance, amounting to about $100, is soon expected to be available.

It is expected this meeting will prove of incalculable influence in inspiring greater interest in the dairy business on the Twin Falls tract, and therefore a most valuable incident in the history of the city during the early part of the coming year.

Delegates will come from not only all parts of the Gem state, but from surrounding communities, and there are always formidable quotas of agents and representatives of dairymen's specialties on hand at such gatherings, a considerable number of whom will undoubtedly be favorably impressed and disposed to carry word news regarding Twin Falls all over the Union.

Wanted at the Church. A young man lived at some distance from his bride-elect, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. On the eventful day, but off for the station in good time, but being delayed by friends, he missed his train. Then he thought himself of the telegraph. "Don't marry till I come,"—William, was the message he wired.

Exploration of the Causes of High Prices. Breeder's Gazette: Eleventh-hour bidders for feeding-lambs at the stock yards are leading strenuous lives.

Feeder's are paying $6.65 at Chicago for western lambs to take out and finish, which killers start at $6.80 and secure thousands at $7.00 to $7.25.

Illinois is also a contender and thousands of acres, planted with rape after corn had been in the region adjacent to Chicago, have to be sold as waste for the reason that the sheep and lambs intended to eat the rape were not available.

Reliable information regarding the city and county promptly and cheerfully furnished. Address all communications to The News Publishing Company, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Entered as second-class matter, December 2, 1904, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

FARMERS' WEEK IN CHICAGO. Senator Borch will address the National Farm Land Congress...

The congress is considered the best organized effort ever devised to place before the people of the entire country all the facts concerning available farm lands in every section of the United States...

This congress, it will be observed, will have completed its work just before the beginning of the United States Land & Irrigation congress...

Opening at the same time (Nov. 20), in Chicago will be the annual International Live Stock exposition...

It is not estimating the value of these three events, in the center of the Nation alone, to say that their influence for the greater population of the west will be more far-reaching...

Between the three separate shows the probability is that the farmers and live stock men will hold more attention next week in the Windy City...

ABOUT LOCAL STREET CARS. Between the people and the applicants for street car franchises in this city the News feels it must stand...

On the other hand, respecting the people's interests, the councilmen will, before making this concession, demand that the construction begin within a specified short time...

These may be available for one day; that policemen and firemen shall ride free; that children shall ride on half fares; that the franchise shall be a subject of taxation the same as any other real property...

These are important clauses for the council to insist must not be accepted by the company. Twin Falls cannot afford to view of the fact that the city is going to soon become a large city...

Incidentally, it may be suggested, a clause stipulating that whenever the street car traffic reaches a certain high point a percentage of gross revenues shall come into the city treasury...

FACTS SUSTAIN LAND BOARD. The News takes exception to a statement by former Governor and ex-United States Senator W. J. McConnell of Moscow, who visited Twin Falls last week...

There is a difference between the conditions, under which the original Twin Falls tract was irrigated and sold, and those under which it is necessary to irrigate the Bruneau tract...

The original Twin Falls project was a gravity system, without auxiliary storage; was easily constructed; there was scarcely a flume on the tract...

As compared to this, the Bruneau extension project, as heretofore planned, will be compelled to acquire a reservoir site of approximately 20,000 acres...

Furthermore, there will be at least 100 per cent more cost per yard in excavating the canals on the Bruneau tract than had to be paid for this work on the Twin Falls tract...

The other fact, respecting the people's interests, the councilmen will, before making this concession, demand that the construction begin within a specified short time...

THE SAFE COURSE THE BEST. In conformance with its promises, duly set forth in resolutions formed when the Twin Falls Taxpayers League was organized...

This policy is regarded by the moralist, far-sighted business men—those most responsible for the aggressive, rapid upbuilding of the county—as far more preferable than the policy of prohibition...

The effect on the industrial situation of every community where prohibition smites down the licensed liquor traffic is the same, identically, as it would be if a number of any other institutions, whose operations employed people and circulated cash, were closed.

If Twin Falls possessed a factory employing 100 to 200 people, and it closed, there is no man, except a lunatic, but who would readily admit that the community would suffer financially therefrom.

To say therefore that prohibition in Twin Falls will not inflict a disastrous economic blow upon its financial condition is to make an untruthful assertion.

There is no assurance whatever from any source that anything will be gained morally or financially by the other course on this issue.

At best it is an experiment. Most other communities who have tried this experiment have found it a costly one financially for the taxpayers and an utter failure from a moral standpoint.

EIGHT JOIN EPISCOPAL CHURCH. Class Confirmed Sunday—Sermon by Bishop Funsten.

The visit last Sunday to Twin Falls of Rt. Rev. James B. Funsten, D. D., bishop of Idaho, proved a memorable occasion in Episcopalian circles.

The bishop spoke eloquently, in a manner simple, however, in style of delivery and rhetoric. The effect was impressive and the sermon to the converts punctuated with advice...

LOCAL HAPPENINGS. Mrs. H. J. Hill is visiting in Klamath Falls, Oregon. The Evening bridge club met Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Booth at the home of Mrs. Taylor.

The forthcoming Twin Falls county poultry show will be given in the new Shoshone street garage, beginning December 13.

The Monday Afternoon Sewing club met this week with Mrs. A. Peavy. Refreshments were served and was most enjoyable but busy time was spent.

W. L. Huffman, formerly of Twin Falls but now of Portland, was among those who arrived at the city on Tuesday morning to attend the annual meeting of the Idaho State Association of Elevator Company Thursday morning...

TWIN FALLS MARKETS. Oats Lower, Wheat Steady, and Garden Products Strong. The Twin Falls Elevator Company Thursday morning quoted as follows:

Heyburn Review: T. V. Jordan was up from Twin Falls Wednesday night, and was kept busy all summer drilling wells there. Halley News-Miner: Judge J. E. Davlos of Twin Falls was a Halley after some trading with Heyburn merchants, saying he could do so more advantageously than lower down the valley. Mrs. Sam Crismer are receiving many congratulations on their marriage, which occurred on Oct. 26. The bride was formerly Miss Elizabeth Dittler of Minneapolis, Minn. Fred Shaffer is home for a few days from Twin Falls. He has been very successful in finding water on the Carey Act project, and has been kept busy all summer drilling wells there. Halley News-Miner: Judge J. E. Davlos of Twin Falls was a Halley after some trading with Heyburn merchants, saying he could do so more advantageously than lower down the valley. George Bassett, owning a wonderfully prolific orchard, four years old, which has produced the finest Jonathan apples ever grown in Twin Falls county, announces that he secured over 400 boxes and he sold them for $3 to $5 per box. In their contest last Saturday afternoon, at Pocatello, with the High School and the Twin Falls players, were defeated by a score of 15 to 6. The Pocatello press declared the Twin Falls boys played an interesting game, but were outclassed. Dell Sprague and Geo. Wiley have leased the City pharmacy from Geo. Root. Previous to its sale last spring to Calkins & Boot, it was known as Sprague's pharmacy. Calkins is said to have sold his interest to Boot just previous to his departure for California six weeks ago. A charming reception was given Monday evening for Bishop Funston at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Chamberlaine. On serving Mrs. Chamberlaine with refreshments, Messrs. Atee, Allen, J. W. Craven, Homer Craven, Mrs. Bennett of Blackfoot, and the Misses Higgins and Smith. About fifty officers and members of the Episcopal church called during the evening. A dispatch to the Boise Statesman from Washington, says Secretary Ballinger will likely soon announce the removal of the United States land office from Halley to either Gooding or Shoshone, and that neither Twin Falls nor Miller is in the running for this business plan, because government lands contiguous to each are comparatively small, when considered with the other towns named as the likely competitors. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brackett of Roseworth and among the most popular pioneers of that neighborhood, arrived in the county seat Monday on business. Mr. Brackett has the contract for supplying fresh beef to the workmen on the West End and Salmon dams, and is therefore quite a busy individual. The West End, he said, continues to look better to everybody familiar with its resources and possibilities.

Mrs. C. E. Wiggins was visiting in Murtaugh. John Halverson is visiting in Stanton, Nebraska. Miss Mary F. Hurley has returned from the east and expects to make this her permanent home. Previous to its sale last spring to Calkins & Boot, it was known as Sprague's pharmacy. Calkins is said to have sold his interest to Boot just previous to his departure for California six weeks ago. A charming reception was given Monday evening for Bishop Funston at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Chamberlaine. On serving Mrs. Chamberlaine with refreshments, Messrs. Atee, Allen, J. W. Craven, Homer Craven, Mrs. Bennett of Blackfoot, and the Misses Higgins and Smith. About fifty officers and members of the Episcopal church called during the evening. A dispatch to the Boise Statesman from Washington, says Secretary Ballinger will likely soon announce the removal of the United States land office from Halley to either Gooding or Shoshone, and that neither Twin Falls nor Miller is in the running for this business plan, because government lands contiguous to each are comparatively small, when considered with the other towns named as the likely competitors. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brackett of Roseworth and among the most popular pioneers of that neighborhood, arrived in the county seat Monday on business. Mr. Brackett has the contract for supplying fresh beef to the workmen on the West End and Salmon dams, and is therefore quite a busy individual. The West End, he said, continues to look better to everybody familiar with its resources and possibilities.

Mrs. R. M. McCollum entertained the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club at the home at November 10th, 38th avenue. The rooms of the residence were decorated in a pretty manner with flowers and foliage and a most interesting afternoon was spent. Those members present were: Mesdames Alken, Larned, E. M. Sweezy, Woods, H. Craven, Nixon, Tyler, W. Hill, White, J. W. Craven, R. M. McCollum and Miss Jane Maxwell. Kent O. Keyes, commercial agent for the New York Central line, and whose headquarters are in Salt Lake, has been making an extended visit in Twin Falls this week, looking after consignments. The presence of so important a railroad representative here for so long a time indicates how extensively the commercial interests of this county have grown. The transportation companies have their eyes on this city from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and from Alaska to New Orleans. At a business meeting of the Twentieth Century club, held Tuesday, the new year-books were given out and each member of the club who failed to receive one is requested to be present at the meeting next Tuesday, that she may be given one and become familiar with the programs mapped out for the year's work. The program for next week will be in the hands of the history and literature department and all members of whatever department are expected to be present. The work of stringing a second wire, for the Western Union Telegraph company, between Mindoka and Buhl, was finished last week, and the Twin Falls much-improved facilities of this kind. Messages were formerly relayed at Pocatello when destined for Ogden, Salt Lake and other eastern points, and the wires (telegrams directed to this city had to be relayed here. Now it is possible for the Twin Falls operator to work direct in handling this class of business. I can tan your hide and fix your head. Cows and horse hides made into robes and coats. Send for list. Don Bryan is presenting a proposition to impound the waters of Rock Creek and bring same over the dry farming area in the vicinity of Artesian City, and will make the attempt. The land owners co-operate with his plan to a sufficient number. The plan, he believes, can be easily brought through successfully, from engineering standpoint, and he has estimated on good authority, that there is ample stored waters to do the work continuously, and it is properly stored for.

SOY BEAN USES
IN UNITED STATES

ALWAYS VALUABLE TO GROW
FOR LIVE STOCK.

Said to Be at Least 100 per Cent More Nourishing Than Corn, and May Prove the Right Thing in Conjunction With Alfalfa.

The soy bean has been extensively tried recently and much interest is now awakened in that now legume,
says the Chicago Breeder's Gazette.
Comparatively how to use it in America.
It has been cultivated for its bean food
for ages in China, Japan and Manchuria.
The department of agriculture has recently introduced a number of varieties far better than those heretofore grown in America.

Soy beans furnish meal, exceedingly rich in protein and ash, valuable for pigs, lambs and cows. In some sections they have proved valuable, especially in Tennessee, Oklahoma and Kansas. In the corn belt they are not used. C. P. Piper and H. T. Nielsen of the department of agriculture in Farmers' Bulletin 372 present in an exceedingly interesting manner the present state of pioneer knowledge of this plant.

In summarizing their studies they state that for intensive farming the soy bean is the best annual legume to grow for forage in the southern part of the United States and in the southern part of the corn belt.

Whether used as hay, grain, straw, or ensilage, it is very valuable as food for live stock and is practically identical in feeding value with alfalfa and yields from two to three tons per acre. To make good soy bean hay the crop must be cut when about half grown, or just grown and when the top leaves first begin to turn yellow.

Soy bean grain is more valuable than any other grain and a superior feed in the production of pork,
mutton, wool, beef, milk and butter.
A bushel of soy beans is at least twice as valuable for feed as a bushel of corn. As a grain it is usually desirable to grind it into meal for feeding. This is best done by mixing with corn before the grinding to prevent gumming of the mill.

Harvesting ordinarily should be done
when the leaves first begin to turn yellow, as the quality of the straw rapidly deteriorates thereafter and the yield of seed is correspondingly as large as at any later time. From twenty to thirty bushels of grain and one and one-half to two tons of straw per acre are usually produced. If soy beans are grown for the seed alone,
and sometimes this is desirable, the harvesting can be done most easily
by waiting until the leaves have fallen.

Soy bean straw, if the crop is cut before the leaves fall, is fully as valuable for feeding as timothy hay for cattle and is equally valuable for much relish. Even when the harvesting is delayed until all the leaves have fallen, stock will eat the straw readily. Mixed with corn, soy beans are excellent for ensilage. Two crops may be grown together, but it is usually better practice to plant separate fields and mix when putting into the silo.

It is necessary to give the soil thorough preparation in order to be successful with soy beans. Only fresh seed of seed which has been tested
for germination should be planted.
Two-year-old seed is usually not reliable. The seed should be planted shallow, not to exceed two inches in depth, and preferably in rows thirty or better, thirty-six inches apart to permit sufficient ventilation to keep down weeds. For harvesting, soy beans a mow or with a self-rake
or delivery attachment, a self-rake or a self-binder can be used. A blinder can be used only with the tall varieties.

The threshing can be done with a grain separator by using blunt concaves and running the cylinder much slower than for small grains or by the use of a mangle specially designed for handling soy beans and cow peas.

Soy beans and cow peas can be grown together satisfactorily; the hay of such a mixture is better than either crop alone and the yield is generally greater. In planting the two together the seed should not be covered too deeply, as deep planting will result in a poor stand of soy beans.

As a crop in a short rotation soy beans are very desirable. They can be grown as far as to use an entire season in the case of the late varieties, or two crops in one season can be secured from some of the earlier ones.
They can also be used very advantageously to follow a small grain crop
the same season. The important commercial varieties of soy beans are the Mammoth, the Hollybrook, and the St. Ita. Among the most valuable new varieties are the Austin, the Wilson, the Riceland, the Meyer, and the Haberlandt, most of which will be in the hands of seedsmen in 1910.

SHOT HIS YOUNG CHILDREN.

Horrible Tragedy in Household of Indiana Citizen.

At Greengrub, Pa., on the 6th inst., Edward J. Perry, former mayor of that city, shot his three children,
wounding one fatally, and then committed suicide.

Grave of recent loss of his wife
through death, is believed to have damaged Perry's mind to such an extent that he was unable to cope with it, although no previous indication of his bad mental condition had been noticeable.

The shooting occurred in Perry's bedroom, while the three children were gathered around the crib in which lay their infant sister 15 months old. The baby was not injured.

A short time before the shooting
Perry talked with his other two sons
by his housekeeper, and apparently nothing was wrong with him.

NORTHERN IDAHO LANDS ARE HIGH

GROWTH OF AGRICULTURAL PUR-SUITS RAISES PRICES.

Stump Land Sells for $100 an Acre,
and Fine Fruits Are Re-Sold by Spokane Merchants Without Idaho
Credit.

Congressman Hamor returned to Idaho last week after quite a lengthy journey through the northern part of the state, and said to the Statesman:
The growth of northern Idaho are looking forward to an era of prosperity greater than that section of the state has ever known. The mines are running full time regardless of the present low prices of the metals.
Lead is down and the recent drop in copper has not only had a bad effect upon the market, but a tendency to retard its production. The mining and development work, which I am informed brings the real prosperity to the country.

The lumber mills are running,
but there has been some trouble in disposing of the output. Business men and citizens generally I found, however, are confident of a still greater improvement in conditions and believe the coming year will be the most prosperous they have ever had in the north.

The extreme northern counties have awakened to the fact that they possess agricultural possibilities undreamed of a few years ago.

In Bonner and Kootenai counties, stumps are being sold at a rate of two to three dollars per acre. Several miles of the bigger towns is selling in its raw state for $100 an acre for farming purposes. To this, before crops are planted, an additional $50 must be added as expense of bringing the stumps, making the land
cost approximately $200 an acre.
Trails, I am informed, on and about 20 miles from and without were sold for the summer for as much as $50
an acre.

"The farmer in the north is confining his activities along to grains and grasses. Large numbers of growers are setting out small apple orchards,
and while in Bonner county I was presented with some of the homegrown fruit which were in abundance, development and flavor, have been a credit to the celebrated fruit raising sections of Southern Idaho.

As a by-product, I found, is being done to Idaho by Spokane commission men, who are robbing the state of the credit for its own products. While in Lewiston I had an opportunity to talk with a number of growers who ship fruit to Spokane and was surprised to learn that practically all Idaho fruit marketed through that city is re-labeled with the name of Spokane fruit, no matter whether grapes, peaches, or apples. This results not only in placing the Spokane country, which is a commission of growers, and fraudulently before the national consumer and prospective settler, but prevents the advertising of the resources of our state in a manner to which we are rightfully entitled.

CORELESS AND SEEDLESS APPLE
Freak of Nature May Be Commercially Developed.

A telegram from Spokane, Wash.,
states: Coreless as well as seedless are the apples produced on a single tree of unknown variety in an eighty-acre orchard at Moran Prairie, owned by H. K. Shomer, a rancher. The largest of the fruit is three inches in diameter, the coloring being of a yellowish green, streaked with red. The apples have deep pink cheeks, and the flesh is white and crisp. The owner of the tree is between twelve and fifteen years old and is grown in sub-saturated soil at an altitude of 2,225 feet. Shomer claims credit for developing the coreless seedless apple, declaring it is a freak of nature.

Seven of the new apples were brought to the office of the National Apple Show in the National and quartered in the presence of Hon. H.
H. Secretary-manager, Professor August Van Hilderbroek, formerly a commissioner of horticulture in Washington, and several growers
from various parts of the northwest, but none was able to classify the fruit. Professor W. W. Throener, horticulturist of the State College, Washington, has been delegated by J. J. Brown of Spokane, to make a thorough examination of the tree to determine its origin.

Shomer has engaged three watchmen,
each to work eight hours a day as guards in his orchard, to prevent injury to the tree. He intends to graft
the scions on other trees the coming spring. Expert botanists say if the process is successful he will have the first important and profitable commercially important discovery
to Luther Burbank and other plant wizard.

RAILROAD BUSINESS INCREASES.

All Freight Cars in Union Are Reported in Use.

For the first time in nearly two years the Railway Builders' Association has been officially announced that the railroads of the country have no more trailing cars or equipment of any kind than are required to carry on their current business.

This shows an immense improvement in conditions.

About a year ago there were at least 500,000 trailing cars on the tracks or in the shops of the various companies.

Great as the improvement has been,
it has not reached its climax. The business of the road continues to increase steadily, and the probabilities are, if things are allowed to pursue their own course, uninterrupted by official or legislative interference, once, this condition of affairs will continue.

ry & Swank building, north Main av-

MEDBURY DRAWING WILL OCCUR SOON

DATE IS ON NOV. 15, AND RATES
ARE LOW.

Preliminaries Arranged With a View to Easily Show the Land, and All Accommodations Will Be Ample for Big Crowd.

GLENN FERRY, Nov. 9.—An account of the great interest shown throughout the Northwest in the Medbury Carey Act land opening, Nov. 15, the Oregon Short Line and
G. R. & N. R. Co. have granted excursion rates from all points on their lines to Medbury and return.
The rates given are 3 cents per mile each way and the selling dates are as follows: Pocatello and points west from November 14 to November 16.
Points north, south and east of Pocatello, Nov. 15 to Nov. 17. Points on the G. R. & N. R. R., Nov. 14 and 15. All tickets are good for return until Nov. 22.

A large force of men has been employed on the Medbury tracts for the past two weeks, preparing for the accommodation of the crowd that will attend, and it is now stated that there will be ample accommodations for all who come. Some buildings have been erected and a number of large tents secured. The representatives of the company say that good beds and good meals will be provided for all who attend. A remarkably large crowd is expected and the arrangements have been made accordingly.

In arranging for the opening the company has laid the land out so that it can be readily cruised, and every person may see exactly what land he is buying. In the acreage tracts the streets and roads will all be cleared so that every block will stand out distinctly, and the Riverwalk boulevard will be graded in order that there will be no fog for those who possibilities of this delightful driveaway. Trees will be planted the entire length of this boulevard as soon as water is available.

In the corner the block and lot corners are all plainly marked and the streets are laid out so plainly that the new town can be comprehended at a glance. Every street is plainly marked, and the locations of the company's expensive buildings have been definitely decided upon.

On the Carey Act land the corners
are all plainly marked by large posts that are easily found. Teams have been secured and will be at the disposal of the visitors before the opening during opening days. Every prospective purchaser will be shown over the project thoroughly without charge.

The Medbury manager of the company, says he has heard from a large number of his agents, and that the principal attendance would be from the fruit centers of the west, as the fruit which is being offered is of superior quality. The possibilities, are looking for this land.
Alex McPherson, one of the best known authorities in the west on horticulture, has reported very favorably
on the subject and has made personal visit to the large fruit centers in the interest of colonizing this land with people who will start in at once to develop their holdings.

A BRILLIANT THRESHING ODE.

Women's Lamentable Toll Described
Artfully in Verse.

The threshing season has ended, its days have come and gone, the farmer's wife is glad of course, as well as the farmer's son; those mighty meals
flesh and bone and they the men
did eat, was enough to make her sick
at heart and melt beneath the heat;
for 'tis a fact that threshers say, that when they're threshing grain they eat
enough to kill a man without a touch of pain; the chicken roost is raised then, and the butcher comes from town with rumps and ribs and steaks and chops and also one or two down at the farmer's door where the machino is set ready for the fray, and the women folk with lightning stroke get the machine for the day; 'tis mighty queer these women say, they say it
'neath their breath, how the thresher men never miss a meal, but certainly sure as death, they manage with a mustard and vinegar, who are reducing their place, in time to gather round the board and eat as in a race; it does not matter when they come, nor when they go, 'tis done they never leave without a meal, nor the meal until there's none; they eat and thresh, and thresh and eat, a merry bunch are they, and when they've gone, it doesn't take long to put what's left away.

BRUNEAU PROJECT THE LATEST.

Segregation Pending Along With Other Applications.

With the filing of an application for the segregation of 90,000 acres of the Raft River project southwest of Burley, Idaho, witnesses what will probably be the last large project to be promoted and consummated within the boundaries for the reclamation of arid lands, practically all large tracts susceptible of successful reclamation at least have been sold by the federal government long since in course of reclamation or being tied up through application for segregation.

The largest project for which application for segregation is pending, is the Twin Falls Bruneau project situated in Owyhee county and embracing over 600,000 acres. These projects will probably be consummated within a short time in order to supply the growing demand for irrigated lands in Southern Idaho.

CAREY ACT
Fruit Lands
IN THE FAMOUS
MEDBURY VALLEY, IDAHO

In the great canyon of the Snake river, on the main line of the Oregon Short Line Railroad, beginning five miles west of Glenn Ferry, is a valley containing some 25,000 acres of the best fruit lands in the west, entirely surrounded by towering rimrocks which make it safe from frost. Here the climate is the mildest in all Idaho, the coldest weather last winter being 16 degrees above zero. Average altitude is only 2,500 feet. Air and water drainage pronounced perfect by fruit experts. Soil never bakes, being sandy loam. Water supply comes from a river, the flow of which never changes, the system being supplemented by storage reservoirs of two years' storage capacity for the higher lands. Domestic water is obtained from hundred wells at from 30 to 60 feet. None of the land is over three miles from the railroad and there are two stations and three sidetracks on the project. The valley is, say, miles long and five wide and the railroad runs the full length of it.

PREFERENCE RIGHTS UNDER THE CAREY ACT

These are rights granted by order of the State Land Board to the early settlers who held land under the desert and homestead laws, and who relinquished their lands to be placed under the provisions of the Carey Act. The Preference Right entitles the original claimant to file back on the same land or to sell his right by assignment, the purchaser to file at the opening at Medbury, on November 15, next. These rights run to $20 per acre, depending on location. An additional 50 cents per acre must be paid to the state, as in all Carey Act projects. The water rights cost $65 per acre, with a payment of $4.00 per acre on Nov. 15th, next and payment one year after water is delivered, and balance running for a period of eight years, interest 10 per cent. Water will be ready for half the valley in spring of 1910.

These Preference Rights are for sale through the Secretary of the Medbury Valley Development Association, an organization of settlers. We have just issued a folder describing Medbury Valley. Write for it today, and accommodations for all. Come and let us show you the last and best Carey Act project opened

The people of those townships do not pay one dollar of taxes for the principle of prohibition, and yet you ask me to pay for your other municipal expenses...

I may buy a piece of real estate today. From the moment the deed is placed into my hand and possession given to me, the title office of this protecting arm above me...

The law says I may engage in business, and then when I have my investment made, it comes along and represents a life-work—my all—prohibition comes along and says, you can't use that property for the purpose for which it was intended; you can't employ that property in the use for which it was constructed; you may have the bricks and the mortar and laid, but your business we will take away from you, without ever thinking of returning to the compensation that the constitution guarantees; and while Rome is burning he shouts in sleep, because, forsooth, they have not been careful to give public notice...

You cannot enforce prohibitory laws for the simple reason that a strong minority feels that its personal liberty has been unlawfully and unjustly taken from them, and they will go out to defeat the enforcement of the law...

Regulation is a safe remedy. Between the fanaticism of prohibition on the one side and the lawless liquor traffic on the other side, there is a middle ground that is rational and safe...

The license is the keynote to the business man, in whom rest the power to grant the license, the possession of the integrity, intelligence and courage to discharge their duty with fidelity, there need be no other guaranty...

Then enact a law prohibiting the frequenting of saloons by minors, and the law in whom rest the power to grant the license, the possession of the integrity, intelligence and courage to discharge their duty with fidelity, there need be no other guaranty...

I regard the situation as serious, because prohibition will chip the corner stone of our free institutions and weaken the foundation. If you weaken the foundation, if you may say to me what I may drink, you may say to me what I may eat...

I do not like prohibition further, because it appears to every thing that is mainly in me. It says "Thou Shalt Not," and it arouses every particle of resistance that the good Lord has seen fit to endow me with, (Applause)

PERRINE HOTEL GETS BIG BOILERS

HAS GREATEST STEAM HEATING PLANT IN CITY.

Large Enough to Furnish Winter Comfort for a Much Greater Community to Be Erected Next Year, "and Then Some."

The Perrine hotel, in this city, has now the largest steam heating plant ever installed here. It furnishes not only an abundance of heat, but also, at present constituted, but also for a proposed addition which is expected to materialize next spring as soon as the weather conditions permit of the manufacture of concrete blocks similar to those contained in the structure from the foundation up. There will also be steam to heat the entire neighborhood. The realty owners in this central part of Twin Falls desire it from this source.

Projectors of the building four years ago wisely provided originally an area way in the rear, between the two wings, wherein there might be, to the city's best expectations, steam boilers sufficient in size for an enormous structure. A little time has shown the wisdom of the owners, for it has been an easy matter to introduce the additional heating facilities without destroying any cells already invested. Until now this area way has been unoccupied.

Merely an excavation, the placing of the boiler bed, holding the great steel tubes into the bedding prepared for them, their covering with a corrugated iron roof, and connections with the radiators in the hotel, and the task was done in ten or eleven days from the time the work of laying the brick began, the hoteliers experienced the first warm radiations from steam generated in those new boilers.

In the meantime there had been 30,000 Ogdon brick laid, under the skillful management of Pat Hall, a contractor who took the job of setting the boilers and who has the reputation of "doing things" promptly. Under the "boosing" of John Doughton, in whose Twin Falls factory the most competent and skillful brick layer in all the west, the work went through properly with a rush. Behind them stood J. F. Cooney, who had the contract for installing the heating plant and furnished the boilers, which are known as the Kowanow "Tiro box" pattern, through whose tubes the heat travels three times before reaching the chimney vent.

These boilers have a grand total direct radiation capacity of 24,000 feet, and are very superior in their economical character. The first installation is said to have cost I. B. Perrine, owner of the hotel, a good round $6,000; but considering the large, comprehensive capacity of service he has secured, this sum is regarded as a good investment. It affords 18,000 more feet of heat than the building is expected to need until anticipated enlargements are effected.

The plans of Mr. Perrine are said to include second and third floors over the one-story dining room, and the first, second and third floors over the ground now partly occupied by the boilers. These improvements are expected to cost between $60,000 and $100,000, and will almost if not more than double the present capacity of the house.

NO MORE CHEAP HAY.

Conditions Are Assuring Alfalfa Growers of High Prices.

"People who talk about hay having in the West had forecast a very increase in the output of beef and mutton made on that material bemoan ignorance of conditions out our way," said A. DeWitt, a Chicago writer, to a Chicago Breeder's Gazette writer. "Hay is no longer a waste commodity, nor is it cheap. Like corn it has appreciated in value by leaps and bounds."

"I had occasion to realize this while on a jaunt through northern Colorado. At Eaton a lamb breeding center, I saw the hay from $12 to $15 per ton being hauled in to supply local needs. A few years ago lambs were fed of necessity in that neighborhood in market surplus hay, and feeders congratulated themselves when they secured around $2.50 per ton in that way. One reason why Colorado is expanding its mutton finishing operations is the advance in hay. Thousands of acres formerly in alfalfa are being devoted to hays and other crops requiring intensive cultivation and returning larger sums per acre. Colorado is no longer a hay country in the sense that it was a few years back.

"Nor is there an immediate probability of a serious expansion in beef making on hay. One reason is the high price of range cattle at the markets for months past. These prices have driven the range man with a collection of hay stacks there was no incentive to hold steers back for a winter finish on hay when such satisfactory returns could be made by commission men. My opinion is that hay feeding in the Northwest will not expand with sufficient rapidity to keep pace with rapidly developing Pacific coast demand. The productive capacity of the state of Montana, so far as hay is concerned, will very probably be taxed to supply Puget sound markets during the next decade."

The O. R. & N. cutoff to Wallace will be completed by November 1 and the running time between Spokane and Wallace cut to four hours.

Mackay Miner: Parties coming down from Chiles state that the survivors have passed Chiles, and are ordered to keep on up the river to Clayton, and farther, if possible, this winter. The falls are being laid on this line from the river to Salmon City, and it looks as though this company intends to build a road through Custer county via Salmon River.

FARMS AND LOTS SELL READILY

ANOTHER SHOSHONE STREET BUILDING IS ASSURED.

Upward Tendency in Prices and Large Inquiry Stimulate a Real Estate Market That Continuously Encourages Activity in Twin Falls.

The Twin Falls real estate market has been experiencing a continuous inquiry from influential sources for the last month, accompanied by sales of considerable magnitude in the aggregate; but the last week manifested a stronger tone than previously, owing to the elemental influence of greater inquiry from outside sources and purchases by local people as well as outsiders. Values are strengthening the time, and an increasing confidence is noted in all circles that another 20 per cent advance is likely to be recorded in both farm and city property by next March.

Representative A. D. McKinley this week purchased from Isaac H. Willard lots 12 and 13, block 17, Twin Falls, improved with a substantial dwelling for $2,500, and will move to this city from his former home near Plover.

The sale was made by the Twin Falls Realty company, of which S. H. Dolan is president.

Peter Costello and associates in the Home Realty company, sold the Dell Sprague ranch, one and one-quarter miles north of Plover, consisting of eighty acres, partly improved, for $100 an acre, to Mr. Diller, recently from Oklahoma, who has moved onto the place, and is regarded as a good man to have come into that already splendid community of high-grade citizens.

The Idaho Development company report having sold to J. D. Shubert the famous twenty-acre fruit orchard, known popularly as the "J. R. Newton" place, just off the eastern limits of the city for $10,000. Mr. Shubert is a Kimberleyite, who has been active in development enterprises; but he is said to be contemplating permanent residence on his new acquisition, and may sell off part of the twenty acres to parties who may desire to engage in the fruit raising business without waiting for the trees to grow into bearing.

The Idaho Development company also sold an eighty acre tract, five miles west of the city, known as the Fairclough ranch, for $65 an acre, to Williams Bros., recently of North Dakota, and who have taken possession and will proceed to operate the farm on most aggressive lines.

The same firm sold this week also lot 11, in block 14, on Shoshone avenue, Twin Falls, to Mr. Campbell of Kankakee, Ill., another investor who regards this city very highly.

From the standpoint of the speculator or investor, it is hard to locate a home where there will be an advance in values quickly, accompanied with many opportunities for making either out of personal efforts or capital.

J. E. White, agent, has sold the W. R. Leggett building, on Main avenue, near to the pedestrian to H. R. Howe, consideration being $14,000.

Mr. Stafford of Spokane has purchased through Swin & Aldrich, a lot on Shoshone street, opposite the St. Regis apartments, from H. J. Wall. This deal is said to forewarn the immediate erection, on this and an adjacent lot, of a large brick hotel building, which will carry second and third stories, when demand for them may appear, and in which Swin & Aldrich will be parties in later stages.

M. W. Doneyer has purchased the lot on Main avenue opposite the Consolidated Wagon & Machine company's magnificent building, and will improve same with a business building in the near future. The sale was made by the D. M. Denton investment company.

NEW TOWN OF "MCCOLLUM"

Future Lost River Metropolis Named After "Cyclone Bob."

At a joint meeting of the directors of the Big Lost River irrigation company and C. S. Spear, representing the Trowbridge-Niver company, held last week at Boise, it was decided to name the capital of the Big Lost river tract "McCollum," as a compliment to Robert M. McCollum, of Twin Falls ("Cyclone Bob"), whose keen initiative and hustling qualities in the sale of irrigated lands have contributed largely to the great success of the Carey Act projects handled by Clinton, Hurst & Co., and the Trowbridge-Niver company.

McCollum is located on the Lemhi & Salmon Valley railway, an extension of the Oregon Short Line from Corro Grande, on the Mackay branch, to the mineral regions of Lemhi county and the Salmon river valley. Most of the right of way for the railway has already been secured, and the road will be completed to McCollum townsite next spring.

The new town is twenty miles north of Corro Grande and thirty-five miles west of Idaho Falls. It is located in the center of the Big Lost river aggregation of 100,000 acres and will be the metropolis of that tract.

In the sale of Jersey hofers at Idaho Falls last week the average for thirty-eight head was $68 per head. The shipment sold was from the choicest herds in the Kentucky Bluegrass region.

John and Mrs. Fred Johnson, who were married in the city of Los Angeles, were visiting in Twin Falls, Idaho, last week. The bride was charming in a dress of green velvet, and the groom was in a suit of blue and white. The couple were witnessed only by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, the mother and sister of the groom, and by Mrs. Fred Johnson.

The bride, who has a most charming personality, has spent the winter in Southern California, and was the guest of Mrs. Chas. W. Aldrich, of Ocean Park, California. He is a young man of high attainments, and has the highest regard of all who know him. Upon returning from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will be at home in Twin Falls.

Two Men Buried Alive.

On Nov. 2 Frank Moody and Anderson, miners, were buried under a mass of earth and rocks. Moody was rescued after many hours, but Anderson was not. The bodies were recovered after many hours.

PRICE AND COST OF MATRIMONY BRIGHT DISCUSSION BY WIDOW AND BACHELOR

Observations on What Each Alludes to as General Tendencies of the Times, Involving Social and Industrial Ethics in Various Circles.

"Husbands," remarked the Widow, thoughtfully studying the look of her gray-suede slippers as she placed them daintily on the fender, "are so expensive nowadays! No woman in moderate circumstances can afford one."

"The Bachelor raised his eyebrows in surprise. "I didn't know the price had gone up," he began.

"Didn't you?" interrupted the Widow, in mock astonishment. "They're getting higher and scarcer every day. And, like every other article, as the price increases, the quality and durability diminishes. Why, it used to be that one good husband, like one good black silk gown, would require two or three; and the more you pay the less you seem to get. Just look at Boni de Castellano, and the Duke of Marlborough and the Earl of Devonshire. They're all dead!—to say nothing of all the wealthy widows who have invested in young husbands lately at perfectly exorbitant rates."

"Why come high," returned the Bachelor, modestly, "but you must have—"

"Nonsense!" broke in the Widow. "You're just a necessity any longer. You're just a luxury."

"Well," ventured the Bachelor, "the bachelors cost more than the necessities, don't they? But, if you aren't getting any cheaper, either."

"Oh, yes, they are," retorted the Widow, promptly. "Look at the nice, middle-aged women who are willing to pay cash in advance for cheap sentiment or imitation love from good-looking adventurers—and then have found that their young husbands aren't even willing to put up a good, solid bluff at devotion in return for a home, board, clothes and spending money."

"Just a few daily vows," suggested the Bachelor—"a few good, solid, warranted-not-to-inkrink lies and a really convincing goodnight kiss."

OPTIMISM CURE FOR SKIN WARTS AN ERUDITE DEDUCTION FROM SCIENTIFIC WORLD.

In what he calls a "guide word of optimism," W. A. Gill explains it in the Atlantic Monthly as a "sanguine, confident mood," very useful for many purposes, including the cure of nervous diseases and the removal of townsores. According to Sir William Carpenter, it will also cure warts.

This is a serious statement. If anyone has ever talked seclusion, or any other kind of a cure, it was Sir William Carpenter, founder of the science of mental psychology, a great physician, not much of an optimist himself, because he could not get results from it, but convinced by the evidence of results from it in many cases, strange enough to be thought impossible.

He studied these and explained them as "phenomena dependent on expectancy." That is, they are results which can be brought about by being strongly expected, as the mind works along the lines of its own strong expectations. He quotes the evidence of results from it in many cases, strange enough to be thought impossible.

INDIAN FIGHTERS ARE ORGANIZING THESE VETERANS MAKING EFFORTS TO SECURE PENSIONS.

All Who Did Valiant Service in Early Days in Subduing the Red Men Are Asked to Join the Movement to Obtain Pensions.

A circular has been issued by the executive committee of the National Indian War Veterans which is organized "to obtain pensions for all those who, while serving the government, contributed their share toward opening for peaceful settlement this great Western country."

H. Hegwer is national commander and C. R. Hauser (both of Denver) is secretary and treasurer. The executive committee is as follows: A. M. Starzell, Rawlins, Wyo.; R. Batty, Denver, Colo.; Hugh Hynde, Laramie, Wyo.; Luke Cahill, Las Animas, Colo.; T. Kolther, Denver, Colo.; T. Romero, Las Vegas, N. M.; G. W. Durand, Denver, Colo.; Peter Fitz, Bisbee, Ariz.; Donald McCallum, Idaho.

Secretary C. R. Hauser says: "National Indian War veterans as a rule are old and feeble, by reason of former hardships and privations, unable to perform manual labor and on account of age barred from obtaining suitable employment."

"These men spent some of the best years of their lives in their country's service, opening up this great western empire, fighting under such noted leaders as G. T. Merritt, Crook, Miles, Forsyth, McKenzie and others, and should in their last days receive government recognition."

"We request all those eligible to membership in this organization to at once send in their application to the national secretary and treasurer, C. R. Hauser, 1612 Market street, Denver, Colo., when they will receive further information."

PARABLES SPOKEN ON LOVE. Shrewd Observations Are Uttered by Mrs. Solomon.

Oh, my daughter, heed my maxims, for I have labored long in the fields of flirtation. Yea, I have experimented among many men, and at the end of the love problem have I written Q. D.

I say unto thee, better a dioner of herbs and red ink with the right man, than French dishes and champagne opposite a bore. Yet how shall thou know the "right" man? For all his ways are as a pavement on a wet morning, exceedingly slippery.

Behold, thou shalt tell an eligible thing by the way in which he looks at women. For he that exalteth and flattereth them is immune; but he that scorneth and scoffeth at them is as a small boy that whisteth in the park—because he is afraid. He is prepared for the slaughter!

Lo, what is the first sign of love? Verily, verily, it is a man's willingness to quarrel with thee; for as long as he remaineth perfectly polite, I charge thee, he is not serious.

Thou canst not judge a man's heart by his jealousy. For a woman in love shall be suspicious of a store dummy; but how shall a man think that a dioner, on whom his bestoweth himself, can desire anything better?

Behold, how a man feedeth a woman upon flattery before marriage and expecteth her to swallow fairly tales as a woman is not an ostrich, neither is she a goat!

Lo, before marriage a man premiteth glad to "do anything on earth" for a woman; yet after marriage, I charge thee he shall not so much as don a dinner coat on a hot night to please thee.

Verily, verily, a wise maiden will not marry any man until she knoweth him thoroughly—yet, even a foolish damsel will not marry him afterward.

These are the maxims of Mrs. Solomon, the married woman. A wink to the wise is sufficient!

Forget She Was a Widow. "And do you doubt my love?" he asked, passionately. "No, Samuel," she answered, with admiring tact; "but when you say that the day you call me yours will usher in an era of lifelong devotion and tender solitudes you—pardon me, dear, you put it on a little thick."

WHAT THE FARMER HAS. Modern Inventions Have Removed Old Rural Atmosphere. "The country has what it once was," complained the returned summer boarder. "This farmer uplifts business is being overdone. The free rural delivery, the automobiles, phonographs, magazines and so on are taking away all the oldtime atmosphere of the farm. It's impossible nowadays to find rest and quiet or complete change of scene, as in the old days."

Logic of the Taxpayers' League

Statement

The resolutions of the Taxpayers' League give five alleged reasons why the Twin Falls country should vote wet on next Wednesday. In brief, they are:

1st—The county is too young to try experiment.

2nd—Twin Falls will lose money of construction laborers.

3rd—There will be several vacant buildings in Twin Falls.

4th—A loss of revenue to schools.

5th—Prohibition does not prohibit. These reasons are presumably the strongest they could urge and if there were other reasons doubtless they would have been mentioned.

The first reason that the county is too young to try the experiment is truly an anomalous one.

Now, prohibition is no experiment. Already three-fourths of United States territory is dry, and if prohibition is a good thing in an old town or country, why not in a new and thriving one. The Twin Falls tract is probably the most widely advertised agricultural region in the country. The boundless resources of the country coupled with the extensive advertising has made and is making the exceptional growth of the city and extraordinary development of the country. The people that are and have been flocking in from the central West are among the finest citizenship of our nation. It is of these same because of the advantages of the saloon please point out such a citizen. On the other hand doubtless many fathers and mothers have read of the possibilities of this territory with a burning desire to share its advantages but have hesitated to bring their children into the wild West.

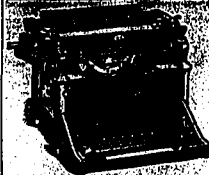

True, in our city our moral conditions are not worse than in many an eastern country but that impression does not prevail in the East and could Twin Falls advertising matter herald the fact that there are "No Saloons and No Gambling" in the county, no one dare say immigration into our midst would not be increased.

Next, they say Twin Falls would lose the money of the construction laborers. Where, oh where, would their money go? Do these logical people think these laborers will go to Salt Lake or Boise to get their drinks; they can't get it much closer. Why not think about this? Many of these men are taking up land and much of the money now wanted to the community and sent to Milwaukee and St. Louis for booze would be used in legitimate channels of trade for the development of our resources.

Again, it is said there will be several vacant buildings. The town is growing so fast that building is hardly able to keep pace with the demands. This must be their "joker."

Then, the loss of revenue to the schools. Is there a man with soul so dead, with ideals so on a par with the dollar, that he would not stand a paltry raise of 5 per cent on his school tax (the percentage furnished by license), for the moral betterment of the community?

And finally, prohibition does not prohibit. It is probably true that under the present conditions of interstate commerce prohibition cannot absolutely prohibit but the output of the breweries in Milwaukee and St. Louis has decreased more than 25 per cent since the recent temperance was started and one-fourth less tears of drunkards' wives dried, and one-fourth drunkards' children better housed and fed in a few short years. Is not the fight worth the effort? If the law shall be violated who will do it? Not the men and women who by their vote would stop the traffic. To which class, dear citizen, do you belong?

He will tell you that the Underwood will cost you more than any other machine, in his shop—

Because the Underwoods that come to him—even after months of wear—are in almost perfect condition and as serviceable as new machines. He will tell you too, that he can sell more Underwoods than he can buy.

Every general dealer in Typewriters knows that the Underwood will stand the wear and tear of every day business use better than any other machine on the market.

Let us show you the reason for this and you will see why the Underwood is

LOCAL OPTION COMMITTEE.

Consider the following addressed to one of the above committees:

Ray, N. D., Nov. 3, 1909.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of 28th ult.

inquiring relative to enforcement of prohibition law in Williams county, N. D., and also as to the business conditions here, will say that as a prosecuting attorney, I have found more trouble in enforcing the law against larceny, than the law against the sale of intoxicants as a beverage.

I have also been prosecuting attorney in Minnesota, and am of the opinion that the proper enforcement of the license laws there, would bring about litigation more expensive and troublesome than has ever been experienced under North Dakota prohibition.

In the matter of business, the difference between license and prohibition is simply the difference between sending out of the community in monthly installments, thousands of dollars in wholesale liquor bills, and the keeping of that money for use at home in legitimate enterprises.

I come to this state an enemy of prohibition, but must say that my eyes have been opened to the fact that the law has saved for North Dakota, untold sums of money, and has at the same time given her improved citizenship.

Yours truly,
VAN R. BROWN.

J. E. Steiour and James Fort have shipped in 1,200 head of registered Ramboulet ewes that are now bred. This herd was owned by J. H. Dredge of Malad. It is the largest herd of registered Ramboulets in the country. These sheep will be sold to the farmers in small lots at a very reasonable price and they will contract to take the increase at weaning time at a stated price. These ewes are a specially selected lot. Anyone interested may write, or call to see the sheep, east of Kimberly.
