

MAIL CARRIERS COMING NEARER

POSTOFFICE ARRIVED HERE TO REPORT ON SITUATION.

Spent Several Days This Week Investigating Twin Falls' Qualifications and Expected to Make a Favorable Report to Washington.

Various incidents are leading up to the realization of hopes that Twin Falls will probably soon have carrier service.

Following the announcement from Washington last week, in a letter from Senator Hoyburn, that he has called the matter under the attention of the postoffice department, and that the officials thereof had promised to give the matter immediate investigation.

Mr. Flavin remarked incidentally that he would have preferred to have seen the field when less rain and mud were prevailing.

Subsequently the inspector looked over the city to discover how thoroughly the houses numbering 1000 had been checked.

No expectation is entertained, however, that it will be inaugurated until the coming of the next winter.

The inspector was greatly aided in his investigations here by City Engineer Chas. H. Tuttle, who took great pleasure in furnishing information.

He found that there has been an increase of population in Twin Falls the first three quarters of 1900, compared with the first three quarters of the preceding year.

The inspector said that a few more street signs must be erected, and that most of the houses are numbered except the recently erected structures.

BRIDGE OVER ROCK CREEK.

Contract Has Been Awarded to the Lowest Bidder.

The contract for the bridge across Rock creek will be constructed at the expense of Road Improvement District No. 1, recently created, with the work awarded to Chas. G. Shelley & Co.

TO BUILD PLANT AT CLEAR LAKE

COMPANY EXPECTS TO "PROVE UP" ON WATER POWER.

Contemplates Spending $60,000.00 on Project, and to Handle Same Commercially, Should Citizens Not Care to Engage in Public Ownership.

A holding company will soon be incorporated for developing the Clear Lake water power, whose proprietors recently informed the holding company public that the people of the county were welcome to accept it if they would provide ways and means for practically utilizing same as a public utility.

In response to this widely publicized announcement of these gentlemen, about a month ago, meetings of citizens were held in Buhl and Miller, at which times propositions were discussed under which the people might take title to the project.

Approximately 5,000 horse power may be generated, according to the promoters' measurements, which is considered sizable throughout the Twin Falls tract.

The details, however, which must be worked out incidental to the taking over of this project by the people require considerable time, inasmuch as the county must be bonded for capital stock to reimburse the parties who have made the appropriation of the power site.

If the public does not decide to vote the bonds, and take the project over, the promoters declare it will have to be disposed of otherwise.

THE "DRY" TOWN IN VERBE.

Southern Idaho's Post Licensure Discusses Recent Election.

From Fremont, Nov. 26.—The week the New York was showing signs, inflamed by Twin Falls' post laureate, while he was driving through several rural districts before proceeding on his way to the city.

The day has dawned of brighter hue. Twin Falls shall be a city now. We'll push her fate like a hot iron.

IDAHO IN CHICAGO SPOTLIGHT.

Geo. Fraser and Alex McPherson Are Lecturing.

A special lecture from Chicago to the Boise State school of last Monday, says: With three-fifths of the space and with a display of products as convincing as it is attractive.

The lecture course was opened by Professor French who spoke to an audience which packed the big lecture room.

HEAVY RAINFALL IN TWIN FALLS

ALMOST THREE INCHES IN TEN DAYS' RECORD.

Frak of Jupiter Pluvius That Has Been an Innovation, Surprising to the Pioneers—Promises to Fill Salmon Reservoir.

During the ten days rainfall, which began in Twin Falls on the 8th inst., and continued up to the night of Nov. 19, there was recorded by the local United States weather bureau a total of 2.89 inches precipitation, as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Date and Rainfall amount. Includes dates from Nov 9 to Nov 26.

This downpour was almost continuous and was considered as heavy at any one time for any considerable period.

"This rainstorm is most unusual; it means that the Salmon reservoir is full of water for the first time in many years."

"I do not remember any previous season, however, when there has been so much rain in this time of year."

TWIN FALLS MARKETS.

Market prices for various goods including wheat, flour, and other commodities.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Cattle Higher and Sheep in Good Demand.

SOUTH OMAHA, Nov. 26.—We have had a fair run of cattle here this week. The moderate offering of killing steers has caused continued good demand for this class and as a consequence values are higher.

ARTESIAN CITY RECEIVES GOODS

HOOD BUYERS WANT PORKERS FOR PORTLAND MARKET.

Well Drillers Continue, but Are Experiencing Many Drawbacks, Regardless of All Efforts, to Avoid Them—Personal Mention.

ARTESIAN CITY, Nov. 24.—O. L. Pomory of Woodburn, Ore., and F. W. Peaslee of Salem, in that state, were here last week looking over with a view to investing. The gentlemen were very much pleased with the appearance of the city and the country in general.

C. Medley was a business visitor to Twin Falls last Thursday.

Mrs. J. M. Bower arrived last Saturday from an extended visit in contact. They will make their future home at Artesian City, where Jim has property and has built a new dwelling.

Baker & Frost of Caldwell, Idaho, came over to the Bower ranch Sunday looking up fat hogs for the Portland market.

Two more loads of goods arrived at the Bower's store, forwarded from the Mountain store. The shelving is being put in place and Mrs. Bower expects to open up for business by the first of the month.

G. W. Shoemaker of Hillyard, Wash., is visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. T. Rutledge.

The drilling rig at A. J. Fuller's ranch is making slow progress, having struck a crevice at 500 feet, which is giving them grief. They expect to go down, for a flow.

The drillers at Warm creek are not having a pleasant time, they having lost the drill bit in the hole at 230 feet.

Artesian City wells are still spouting their maximum flow. On frosty days the line of the ditch can be traced from a distance by the rising steam.

Restoring Steel Workers' Wages. The wages of several thousand employees of the Bethlehem (Pa.) Steel company will be restored to the scale in vogue before the 1907 depression, according to an announcement made by Charles M. Schwab, president of this corporation. In general the increase will amount to 10 per cent and will affect employees in the machine shops, foundries, blast furnace and unskilled labor departments.

HANSEN PEOPLE BUILDING HOUSES

CONSTRUCTION OPERATIONS IN STRONG EVIDENCE.

Also Many Other Preparations for Winter Being Made, While Other Citizens Are Announced as Departing on Vacation Trips.

HANSEN, Ida, Nov. 23.—Carl and Miss Thelma Canine of Twin Falls were Sunday visitors at the Towne home.

Frank Brewer began the construction of Leph Larson's residence Monday.

Mrs. Bruce E. Rose went to Ellon Monday evening, where he is being held.

Mr. Shively is remodeling his house this week.

Frank Brewer, Hanson's carpenter, will build a shop here as soon as possible. He now has two assistants in his rush of work.

M. D. Cunningham intends building a residence in the west part of the Hansen townsite this fall.

C. H. Warrington of Twin Falls was in Hansen Thursday, in the interest of the Prudential Insurance company.

J. Warren White, editor of the Bull Pioneer, was a Hansen business caller Thursday.

Mrs. D. P. Albee of Albion arrived on the train Thursday and took the stage for Rock Creek, where she remained until Saturday.

Mr. Sturgeon has sold his ranch two miles northeast of town, to J. M. Goodman of Washington. Mr. Goodman was an overnight visitor at the F. M. Towne residence.

Sturgeon McCoy left this week for Lancaster, Ohio, where he will visit his parents until spring, then returning to care for his valuable and well-kept ranch, situated one-quarter mile northwest of Hansen.

E. P. Hinton is building a four-room residence on his ranch, one mile northwest of here.

Mrs. Charles Upton of Kimberly, Idaho, was here Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Bunnell of Golden, Wash., were visiting Sunday with Mrs. L. M. Good of Hillyard.

Mr. Eugene, Ore., has leased the S. Newton ranch, joining Twin Falls, for one year.

Ira Dolhaus of Buhl, returned from his vacation Monday evening, where he has been visiting friends.

Messrs. Arthur and George Shoemaker of Hillyard, Wash., are here visiting their sister, Mrs. L. M. Good. The former Mr. Shoemaker will remain for an indefinite time, while the latter will leave soon for Montana.

Mrs. M. and Mrs. H. H. Hunt Monday for Weller, to visit their daughter, Mrs. H. H. Bond. Mr. Hansen returned Thursday, but Mrs. Hansen was unable to accompany him.

A number of Hansen people attended the sale at the J. D. Schubert ranch, November 18. Mr. Schubert has sold his farm and bought a two-acre orchard tract near Twin Falls, of John R. Newton, and will move there this fall.

A basket social was held in Hamilton hall Wednesday. An interesting Thanksgiving program was rendered, and a good, jolly time was enjoyed by all. The proceeds will be used in buying chandeliers for the school house.

Died.

YOCAM.—On Thursday, Nov. 25, 1909, at 11 p. m., his residence, one mile east of town, after a three weeks' illness. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Jessie E. Yocham, and seven children; three sons and five daughters, besides two brothers. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the Presbyterian church, Rev. Courley officiating. Interment in the family lot in Twin Falls cemetery under the direction of H. E. Hunt & Co.

STRATTON.—The funeral of E. F. Stratton, who committed suicide at the Twin Falls house, last Wednesday, was held from the Mormon church Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and was very interesting. Interment in the family lot in Twin Falls cemetery, under the direction of H. E. Hunt & Co.

This Year's Gold Output.

It is estimated that the world's output of gold for 1909 will be not less than $450,000,000, as compared with the average output of $424,000,000,000,000; and should the present rate of annual increase be maintained for the next three years it will in 1912 exceed $500,000,000.

L. B. Stanley of Kentucky has recently brought to Twin Falls a carload of fancy bred Jerseys, which are now on sale at the Farmers' Real Estate, Grain & Live Stock company's sale barn. These cattle are from the herds of L. A. Stanley & Sons, Allison Dale Farms, one of the best show herds in the east, seven prizes having been won by them this month at the International Dairy show held at Milwaukee.

Among these are five Golden Lad bulls (one imported), which Mr. Stanley prices at $100 each. The heifers are valued at about $75 each. Mr. Stanley wishes to introduce his cattle into this state and to build up a market for the increase of his herd. He is selling nothing but the best producing stock and we believe that he will have a ready sale for them at these prices. All have been tested with the tuberculin test by the state veterinarian and are in a healthy condition, notwithstanding the long shipment and disarranged weather; they have been subjected to what they are now on sale and can be seen at the Farmers' Real Estate, Grain & Live Stock company's sale barn. Anyone wishing information can write to or call upon Mr. Stanley at the Rogerson Hotel. This is the very best bred stock and we believe that those who are interested in the dairy business and want good stock will patronize Mr. Stanley, after having shipped so long a distance.

AMERICAN WOMAN WILL MARRY JAP

IS A DAUGHTER OF THE NOTED
ACTRESS, LILLIAN RUSSELL.

Her Future Husband is Nephew of the Mikado, and known as "Prince Mutsuhito," Whom She Met While
He Was a Student at Yale.

A recent telegram from Los Angeles, Cal., says: "Not having a great fortune to pave the way for a European title, Miss Dorothy Russell, daughter of Lillian Russell the actress, has decided to become an oriental princess."

She admitted tonight that she was engaged to Aekki Sumitral, Prince Mutsuhito, a nephew of the Emperor of Japan. She is waiting in Pasadena, accompanied by Miss M. A. Driscoll, who is to act as her chaperone, she says, until she becomes "Princess Mutsuhito."

The prince has sailed from Japan and the wedding is expected to follow his arrival here. The romance, Miss Russell says, began when the prince was a student at Yale.

Although Dorothy Russell is only 28 years old, this will be her second matrimonial adventure. In 1903 she eloped with Albert Louis Einstein, the son of a New York lawyer. She divorced him three years later. The newspapers at the time were full of the affair and pointed out that her name had been used by the prince.

Concerning her divorce Miss Russell was quoted as saying: "At first I thought it would be a grand thing to have Mrs. A. to a credit to my name. I was in a convent, where I had been for twelve years, and I did not know much of the world or men. When I was married I would not speak to her for a whole month, for I thought she might be against me for marrying Mr. Einstein."

"I soon found out that married life was not what the girls at the convent thought. I was obliged to support my husband. He collected my salary when I went on the stage and lived from the sale of my diamonds before I was working. I submitted to that, but when he kicked me, choked me and blackened my eyes I could stand it no longer. I was very happy after divorce; now I'm going to be."

A year after her divorce Miss Russell announced her engagement to Arnold Rothstein, a son of Milton Rothstein, a wealthy woolen manufacturer, but for some reason the marriage never took place.

WINTER STYLE FORECAST.

Hints of the Coming Novelties for Women's Wear.

The French tailors are making a great effort to give us a look of the new coat a small, contracted look. The waist for afternoon wear can be made with Dutch round neck or with the high collar and buttons.

One of the most popular waists for dressy wear this season is the model with the bib effect.

The star belt is made of dull gold covered with tiny silver sequins in the shape of stars.

The changed definition of the waist line is one of the most striking features of the new gowns.

The tunics, which are many and various, are reversed mostly for visiting gowns and house dresses.

The one-button coat is very effective, and, though one covered with a coat material might be used, the jet button is more striking.

Bedford cord in the silk or wool weave and the silk serges is used for making the dressier models, while mohair and serges are preferred for dresses which will receive hard wear.

Evening hats are more to the fore. They grow more and more lovely, in spite of the fact that they must be removed in most theaters.

White beavers are being made more fashionable. Frequently they are faced with black velvet. Clifton and Tancy net are the other favorite materials. In the case of these latter materials they are chosen mostly to match the gowns.

They may be made at home, as they are built on wire frames, and may be both plaited and shirred.

FURS USED IN EVERYTHING.

Are Put to Very Odd Uses This Season.

New York Sun: You may look for fur in any part of a woman's wardrobe this season, wherever the most original dressmaker might be led to introduce it. All classes of gowns, wraps, and hats are employing it. The sturdy cloaks that will be needed hereafter for protection against the winter gales are lined and furnished with collars and cuffs that would defy an arctic night. And the rich, filmy wraps that are made for the opera are decked more or less generously with skins of beastes according to their effect on the eye if not to their actual comfort.

The walking suit is banded, and colored with fur, and the afternoon tailored, the sumptuous evening gown, and the lounging robe worn only in millinery sitting room are all trimmed with it.

The milliner, too, is not left behind, and if hats were as heavy as their fur crowns or brims they often would lead one to believe the heads under them would be bowed low with their weight.

BIG POWER SITE IS WITHDRAWN

GOVERNMENT TAKES ACTION FOR PEOPLE'S PROTECTION.

Cause of This Order Said to Be the Activity of Power Companies in the Locality of the Land Involved—
Congress Yet to Act.

Boise Statesman: A large tract of land, bordering on the Snake river, between Tarnes and Horner's Ferry, has been withdrawn by the secretary of the interior in the aid of proposed legislation for the conservation of power resources. This withdrawal, notice of which was received by the register and receiver of the Boise land office Monday, is considered of much importance in view of the activity of power companies in that locality and the excellent power site the river is said to afford at the big bend north of Bruneau, which from the description given, is partially included.

The land is withdrawn from all form of entry, selection, disposal, settlement or location and the tract extends along the river for a distance of two miles.

The withdrawal, dated November 6, involves six entries, and under it these entries proceed to a point of final proof, but cannot go to patent, placing the government in a position where congress can authorize the sale of the interior to private parties for the improvements and take the land, or provide other relief for the settlers by authorizing the issuance of strip title claims, which will in all probability be done should congress decide to make the withdrawal permanent.

Stockholders of the Wells Fargo Express Shareholders Well Rewarded.

Stockholders of the Wells Fargo Express company last week received a dividend of 300 per cent on the capitalization, which was the richest melon cutting Wall street has ever witnessed. The company that started as the "pony express" away back in the early history of the West before railroads had made their advent, it has now a capitalization of $2,000,000, which is very closely held, presumably by people having ownership in the principal railroads, and evidently constitutes an asset which exceeds in value the most remunerative national bank stock in the Nation.

STOCK PAYS BIG DIVIDENDS.

Wells Fargo Express Shareholders Well Rewarded.

Stockholders of the Wells Fargo Express company last week received a dividend of 300 per cent on the capitalization, which was the richest melon cutting Wall street has ever witnessed. When the announcement was made of the declaration of so large a dividend by the Wells Fargo board of directors, a huge sensation followed in Chicago, whose business men had concluded quite recently a formal protest against the charges for services imposed by this corporation. While this protest had been under presentation, officials of the company specifically declared that charges for carriage of express matter could not possibly be reduced without seriously jeopardizing the interests of the owners, and therefore any concessions looking to lower rates were impossible. Thereupon, instead of reducing the rates, the company advanced same quite considerably on the west side of the middle-stato commercial world is fomenting a formal protest, to be presented in Washington as early as possible.

CASTLEFORD NEWS NOTES.

More Road Signs Are Aaked by That Community.

CASTLEFORD, Id., Nov. 23.—Cephas Thompson of Houston, Tex., arrived Monday evening to visit Mrs. Ed Delbrill.

The News correspondent is informed of several people being misdirected to Castleford by the sign boards along the road to Castleford, and partly during a storm, traveled around several times on the west side of the Salmon river hunting for Castleford and some day the parties interested will be sorry, for some are being lost on the west side of Alfalfa.

A sign board should be posted at the point where the road to Castleford postoffice leaves the road to Castleford grade.

Mrs. W. D. Southworth left for Twin Falls as witness of Mrs. Delbrill, who is suing for divorce.

Steve Clift took Mrs. Ed Delbrill, Mr. S. Thompson and Ed Cause to Buhl Monday, where they will go to Twin Falls where Mrs. Delbrill will sue for divorce.

Frank Palmer and Ed Delbrill went to Hatley Tuesday returning Thursday.

The third "Timo party given at the school house was a great success. The music was furnished by Mr. Heynes and Mrs. Gates.

New Bulletin on Alfalfa. The department of agriculture at Washington has prepared for free distribution Farmers' Bulletin No. 373, entitled, "Tripartite Alfalfa," which discusses methods of watering the crop and furnishes much valuable information in connection therewith. The little booklet contains valuable hints with reference to the amount of water to apply, and how and when to apply it. This bulletin is a far more practical guide than any former bulletin issued by the government on the subject. Farmers can secure it by writing their members of congress and requesting it be sent to their addresses.

State School Debates. This year the University of Idaho will have but two debates, one with the University of Oregon and one with the University of Washington. Both of these contests will take place on the last Friday in March. The subject to be debated is "Federal Incorporation for corporations engaged in interstate commerce." At Eugene, where Oregon and Idaho debate, the Idaho will win the contest. At Moscow, where Idaho and Washington debate, Idaho will have the affirmative.

WHY AGRICULTURE HAS BIG FUTURE

ENOUGH FOOD IS NOT RAISED AT HOME.

United States Actually Imports Potatoes and, Unless Greater Intensity of Farming Occurs Soon, Other Necessaries of Life Will Be Brought In.

Boise Traveler: The United States has the most fertile soil and most favorable climate in the world, but by careless methods produces an annual average yield of less than fourteen bushels of wheat per acre, while England produces more than thirty-two. Germany about twenty-eight, the Netherlands thirty-four and France twenty.

Of all the United States produces an average yield per acre of twenty-three bushels, England forty-two, Germany forty-six and Holland fifty-three. In potatoes the United States produces eighty-five bushels per acre, Germany, Belgium and Great Britain average 250 each.

Germany, with an arable area no greater than some of our largest states, produces approximately 2,000,000,000 bushels of potatoes annually, while the annual crop of the United States averages 275,000,000 bushels per annum. In the year ending June 30 we imported 8,350,000 bushels of these tubers.

In the ten years since 1898 the average in the United States increased 25 per cent, while our exports decreased 67 per cent, showing that in a few years we will be obliged to import the necessaries of life. The annual average yield of wheat per acre is less in the United States today than it was thirty years ago.

WANTS SILVER REMONETIZED.

Revival of This Subject by Sir Moreton Frewen.

Sir Moreton Frewen will address the business men of Salt Lake Dec. 1, and those of Denver Dec. 8, on the reversion on silver as a medium of financial exchange.

Mr. Frewen will be remembered as one of the world's most ardent advocates of bimetallism during its discussion in the United States ten years ago.

He is said never to have abandoned belief that eventually all nations must adopt the double standard, and to have equipped himself with data at this time which proves bimetallism is the only safeguard against an ultimate world's financial catastrophe.

He landed in San Francisco a few days ago on route to England from the Orient, being on a world's tour in this cause.

TERRIBLE MINE DISASTER.

Twenty Men Recovered Alive After a Week of Entombment.

At Cherry, Ill., on the 18th inst. the first of more than 25 bodies were rescued from the then burning St. Paul coal mines, following almost a week of ceaseless but previously ineffectual endeavor.

The rescue work was accompanied by much danger and in it had been recruited a number of experienced Chicago firemen, who were the first to enter the shaft.

After recovering the first dead entombed, twenty men were found alive. They had almost famished for lack of food and water during their six days entombment. By Sunday night there had been recovered ninety-two dead and 198 were yet missing.

LOCAL LAND VALUES.

Advances Proven by Sales in Twin Falls County.

Buhl Pioneer: A farm of 160 acres two miles north of Filer, and generally known as the Lind place, was sold last week to C. E. Bowers of Wenatchee, Wash., for $100 per acre. The former owner, Mr. Rabout, who has had possession something like ten years, paid $75 per acre for this place.

A 160-acre ranch on Ferguson flat was sold this week by a local real estate firm, bringing $130 per acre.

DANGEROUS AIR SHIP TRIP.

Balloonist to Fly Over Atlantic Within Six Months.

A telegram from New York says: Joseph Bruce, whose project for crossing the Atlantic ocean in a dirigible, after having "strayed" some at times last spring, now makes the announcement, from Berlin, that the trial will be made within the next six months.

The dirigible, which is now being built, and several other foremost aeronauts of Europe consider his project feasible. The trans-Atlantic air craft will carry three or four men and be equipped with life boats and other safety devices. It will be followed by speedy submarines or other craft.

Electricity for Heating.

The experiments with electrical heating, looking to furnishing the residents of the Shilohska project with cheap fuel during the winter months, are proceeding in a most satisfactory manner, says the Burley Bulletin, and from the knowledge thus far gained the indications point to the ability of the government to furnish electricity for heating at a price which will be cheap and perhaps at a less cost than coal. Even so, electricity would be much more desirable for fuel than coal.

A Happy Home or Cash Dividends.

"Do you think I ought to consider wealth in selecting a husband?" said the confiding girl.

It depends, answered Miss Caspary, "on whether you are looking forward to a happy home or to divorce that will pay dividends."

Entered as second-class matter, December 2, 1904, at the postoffice at Twin Falls, Idaho, under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Reports from contractors, lumber dealers and real estate men of the city of Twin Falls show that since last Jan. 1, there has been approximately extending here almost $1,000,000 in building operations. It is to be hoped this record will be continued next year, and there is reason to believe it will be, inasmuch as every farmer who goes on easy street anywhere on the tract wants to come here and build a home. This fancy for the Magic City of Southern Idaho is identical with that of Denver, where all Coloradoans aspire to reside as soon as they secure sufficient money and a steady income is assured from mines or farms; it is a disposition which most all Californians entertain and which brings them into Los Angeles whenever they have acquired small fortunes anywhere in that state, and incidentally it is the same lode stone which attracts all Utah incomes here as soon as they are through people to Salt Lake or into the Utah polenta. This drifting into Twin Falls alone will build a very large city here, in the course of a few years, even were there no arrivals from other states. With this outlook, real estate here is a buy, and the close student of the future can scarcely reach any conclusion but that both residence and business property here is as low as it will ever be, except in possibly a few isolated cases perhaps of forced sales for emergency realization, which are always occurring in the best regulated communities.

There are republished in this issue of the News, by request, two articles for which the demand last week far exceeded the supply. One is entitled "Apple Stocked Paves Greenery" and the other appears under the heading "In Twin Falls to Raisin Fruit." Both first went to the public in the special edition of the News, issued last Wednesday evening a week ago, giving first returns on the county election, and which was quickly absorbed by eager readers. That special edition's most attractive features were, however, according to the testimony of inquirers for it the following few days, the stories relating to apple culture. These were regarded of more importance than the election returns. These articles had been prepared for the regular edition of the News, of Nov. 19, and their appearance in the special election edition were merely incidental to filling the pages thereof. The fact, however, that so many readers are inquired for hundreds of copies after both the special and regular editions had been exhausted (notwithstanding several hundred extra had been added to the usual press run) is assurance that a widespread local interest exists in the apple and other fruit growing possibilities of Twin Falls county, and therefore we felt justified in again giving space to both articles, even if special requests thereto had not been made.

The price of alfalfa throughout Twin Falls county is limited by the man who would offer anything less than $10, and it is a long time yet, furthermore until Christmas, so the party who believed last August that there would be so much of a crop that $8 would be the limit until after the holidays is grievously disappointed, especially if he did not buy early.

There was positively very little satisfaction to the disciples of Bacchus in the fact that, after the announcement of Twin Falls county going "dry" last week, in reality the entire halliwick went extremely "wet."

There is a slight possibility that a number of dry stacks which were indifferently put together by negligent farmers in the vicinity of Twin Falls this fall, have been somewhat moistened to the center.

The probability is that Kink Alcohol will depart from Twin Falls county about the 17th of February, with-out formality, and the druggists say they positively will never dispense of a drop of whisky except for medicinal or scientific purposes.

Last week's extended rainstorm was an awful thing for those Twin Falls young ladies who wear loose shoes—and incidentally terrible for the shoe.

When Senator Borah last January predicted that all Idaho was going to be voting for prohibition, he manifested an extremely high degree of "second sight."

TWIN FALLS CHICAGO EXHIBIT.

Went Through Wreck and Rain, but Still in the Ring.

Secretary J. F. Stotts of the Twin Falls Commercial club has received the following letter from Alex McPherson, representing this organization at the Utah State Fair and Irrigation exhibition at Chicago, under date of Nov. 23:

"We arrived in Chicago Saturday morning. Found that the stove which was broken in Twin Falls had been in a wreck, and was badly mixed with other exhibits. As the show was on, we had to wait until midnight to get the stove worked all night and until Sunday at 11 o'clock getting our exhibits out and re-installing them. While some of our best stuff was ruined, as much of it had been wet (undoubtedly in the rain), we were yet able to put up a very creditable exhibit for Twin Falls. On account of the space which we had at Chicago, it is sometimes quite difficult to keep Twin Falls from being confounded by spectators with Idaho. In fact, the finest of all the state exhibits, both in point of quality and amount. Everybody is working harmoniously with Idaho, and no one here will be set right in regard to Idaho's resources, in a way that would be impossible otherwise. The Council Bluffs people came in this morning very jubilant over the number of prizes they had, taken, which doubtless you have been notified of by this time by Mr. Senler."

Local Brevities

Ed Kuhl, a pioneer on the Twin Falls tract, having come here as a surveyor and engineer when the canal system was begun, arrived Tuesday to see what his land is doing while he secured when the tract was first surveyed. He has about 200 acres, 150 of which is two miles south of Filer. "I have been offered since I came the other day," he said, "480 per acre for that ground, but I don't believe I will sell just now. Instead I will plant forty acres to alfalfa next spring." Mr. Kuhl is engineer in charge of the new canal system that is going in near McCommannon on the Oregon Short Line, and known as the Portland-Marsh valley project. His many visits here have been making the most pleasant in various social ways.

William B. Ewing of Chicago is visiting the tract, looking over the land he owns, which he has made a good investment.

J. R. Conway has returned from the Spokane Apple show, which he says was a big affair, in many respects. He has brought into the city many business, having fifty cases of trees on the Twin Fall tract which will come into bearing next year.

Messdames A. W. Sprague and J. W. Voorhees of Rupert, were hostesses at a most delightful afternoon of "500" last Friday. Although the day without food and drink and gloomy, the scene within, with its array of lights and charming costumes, was jolly enlivened. Assisting in serving were Messdames Mitchell and Hamilton, and the Misses Sprague, McManis and Greenhow. The guests present included: Messdames Clouch, Boyd, Pike, McCollum, Storor, Hill, Hill, and the Messdames Williams, Sweely, Bedford, Greenhow, Stalker, Woods, Baker, J. W. Voorhees, Thomas, Oakley, L. F. Morse, Tyler, Craven, Martin, Hartigan, Davidson, Wright, Butler, Fenway, Misses Ford and Greenhow. The high score prize was won by Mrs. McCollum and low score prize by Mrs. Channel.

P. L. White of Moscow passed through Twin Falls Wednesday, on route to Lone Beach, Cal., where he intends spending the winter. Like hundreds of others seen among Twin Falls visitors Mr. White had come to see his land investment and was made glad by not only its past record but its future net earning capacity and promise.

The prisoners in the county jail were served a turkey dinner Thanksgiving day by Sheriff Dyor and Deputy Sheriff Shindler.

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, Judge Ben Lindsey of Denver, and Dr. Susanna of Columbia University, New York, are among the announced speakers.

GOOD VAUDEVILLE AT ORGIS.

Twin Falls. Rejoices in its Nightly Entertainment Availability.

The evolution of the Orals theater from a moving picture showhouse to the place of an interesting vaudeville theater was accomplished successfully last night. The Orals theater is approved by bestowing on the show that was given a generous patronage, and convinced the management that Twin Falls wants to see vaudeville of high quality.

Immediately therefore preparations were made to finish the alterations required in the interior and by last Sunday night the transformation was completed.

The Orals meantime has booked a splendid program for the coming week. On Saturday afternoon a matinee will be given when the admission charge for children will be 10 cents. Appreciation of these modest efforts of the management for the Orals please patrons is expected, in which case those in charge of this popular playhouse say it is their intention to improve the quality and compass of its programs from week to week.

J. G. AND GLENN HARPER

Presenting Joseph Detrick, Supported by the Harper Company

will open a week's engagement at the Orals theater, commencing Monday, Nov. 22. The opening bill will be the interesting drama, "Sherlock Holmes," the story of the life and adventures of a great detective. The success of this play is due to its strong realism and the consistency of its story. The mysterious revelation of its plot holds the audience with a spellbound interest from the beginning to the end. Joseph Detrick in the title role has a part particularly suited to his ability and one in which he has achieved much success, while the supporting company is first-class in every respect.

The management has mounted the play in truly metropolitan style. All necessary effects are used to make the production attractive and pleasing. The play for Tuesday will be "Lost Paradise," in which Mr. Detrick appears in the role of Edward Kingsley, the superintendent of the factory and a man among men. This is a very interesting play that deals with capital and labor, showing the conditions of the homes of the rich and also the homes of the poor; the rich man's daughter and also the poor man's daughter. There is a light vein of humor running through the play as well, which goes to make it a decided success.

The other plays for the balance of the week are "Tip Van Winkle," "The World's Greatest Hero," "Hazel Kirke," "Lena Rieger" and "Ole Olsen." Prices, 35c, 50c, 75c. Seats now on sale at Bedford Drug company.

Insure in the Prudential. Ask the agent to call. C. H. Warrington, Twin Falls.

Amateurs, if you have a film you would like an enlargement from, take it to Blabbe's.

FOR RENT—A two-room bungalow (and furnished) in the best of small tract of land. Address: W. T. U. News office.

THE ELDRIDGE CLOTHING CO.

IN TWIN FALLS TO RAISE FRUIT

EXPERIENCED HORTICULTURIST HAS 73 ACRES YOUNG TREES.

Came Here With the Fruit Trees. That He Had Personally Bred in Colorado's Best Field, and Invests Entire Fortune in Orchard.

J. H. Baisch of Kimberly, and owner of the biggest orchard in Twin Falls county, will spend the winter in California, with his family. He takes great pride in having accomplished much, since arriving in this region, three years ago.

"I have thirty-three acres in orchard, just three and one-half miles northwest of Twin Falls. I have 2,500 trees on Alberta peaches, 1,500 pears and 3,000 apple trees.

"I made a big success growing peaches in Palsalido, Colo., and my experience there taught me that peach trees reach the age that mine have attained here. It will easily stand the climate. I look for a big crop of fruit of my orchard next year, when it will come into bearing.

"I have altogether seventy-three acres in fruit in this county, including tracts in the vicinity of Twin Falls and Kimberly. I have been exceedingly successful here, just as in Palsalido, where I sold a fruit orchard for $1,000 an acre which cost me but $50 per acre, undeveloped. I located in Twin Falls because I thought it was superior to anything in the entire west. I would not take $1,000 an acre for my big Twin Falls orchard now, because in fact the crop of fruit therefrom will pay for the whole place. I have refunded already $600 an acre for a part of it.

"I have been the means of bringing seven families to Twin Falls, got all of them located, and they are all satisfied."

And then Mr. Baisch smiled and his eyes glistened with a feeling evidently of pride in what he has accomplished, since arriving in what is now a very young town. Even now, he appears not much more than thirty years of age.

"That which has been secured," he continued, "has been only after some very harsh experience. For instance, I was brought out from Illinois into the Palsalido country of Mesa county, Colo., by land men who were then selling in small tracts. It was the most forbidding region that any man ever moved onto. Although supposed to be irrigated, in fact the facilities for this work were ineffectual, almost a total failure. I soon saw I was 'up against' a very hard proposition.

"The fruit-growing resources there were as yet unimproved; the ground was merely a continuous waste of whitish-looking soil which presented more the appearance of alkali several feet thick. This material was, in fact, feldspar, which subsequently proved the most valuable element in the growth of peaches and other fruits in that region.

"Picture my position, and that of the other settlers there. We had to set our orchards out, and wait until the trees matured; nobody had any money, and work was extremely difficult to obtain. When employment was found the pay was small. One dollar a day was all I could get. What potatoes I raised on my ground were sold for less than their cost. The corn I raised to hogs, and then sold them for less than the worth of the corn. Many times I would have sold out my land for Palsalido if I could, while waiting for the orchard to come into bearing, for sufficient cash to get out of the country. Many of the settlers did secure money for railroad fare out, and deserted their property.

"Suddenly, when the orchards commenced to bear, everything changed. There were the money-getting yields of peaches the west has ever seen. The prices of those orchards jumped rapidly. Some have sold since I left there for $500 an acre. I sold a part of mine for a stake, and after that I was on easy street. I have been prospering ever since, except that I managed to be in San Francisco when the firm had been spending the spring there searching for health; I did not get out for quite a time. Then I went prospecting for fruit lands in California because the Grand Junction climate never did agree with my constitution and I had to make a change. I looked over Washington, Oregon, and Southern California, but failed to see anything out there that a man could engage in and I never found any place, until I came here, which I considered attractive.

"It was not until after buying here that I decided to sell out my lands here in Palsalido. When I landed there with my own young developed fruit trees in the early spring the weather was stormy, and Banker J. M. Maxwell told me since that he really felt sorry for me, at that time, believing that I would get out those trees, and lose all my money. At that time Twin Falls was not known to be so well adapted to fruit growing as it is, but I knew what I was doing.

"Ever since then I have been watching the trees, and more encouraged every year and have put every dollar I could get into them. My lands here will amount the nation hereabout when those peaches commence to yield. You notice the price of land jump up on account of this. Nothing I have here is for sale. I have told Mr. Baisch told his family along and said he expects to stay all winter in Los Angeles resting, and will return here in January bringing with him his fruit trees blooming.

COST OF SCHOOLS IN TWIN FALLS

REVENUES AND EXPENSES DURING LAST FISCAL YEAR.

Showing That Illustrates How a Very Narrow Margin Requires the Board to Exercise Judicious Economy to Provide Service Demanded.

The erection of a four-room temporary structure, adjoining the Block school, has been decided on by the board of trustees as the only solution of the overcrowded conditions of the Twin Falls public school until the proposed new high school may be ready for occupancy. The attendance last week had reached a total of 1,020 and an enrollment of 1,100. This week twenty-two more students were recorded as enrolled and present, and the total enrollment had reached 1,042 and an enrollment of 1,120. This continues the enrollment for the year will be 1,042.

These figures of the probable demands on the accommodations of the rooms, and the time of the teachers, sustain the predictions of Superintendent Elliott and the declarations of the trustees three months ago, that greater provision must be made to afford all scholars public school advantages.

And in view of the growth of the Twin Falls population, the needs of the district for the fiscal year ended June 1, 1909, is of interest to all citizens. It shows:

Balance on hand June 1, 1908	$37,642.87
County and state appropriation	6,166.82
Miscellaneous	1,116.78
Taxes, general fund	5,245.69
Taxes, sinking fund	3,217.38
Interest	2,375.00
Rebata school tax	223.04
Tuition	42.00
Sale lumber	46.00
Electric subscription	44.00
Refund	14.78
Lincoln school bonds	20,000.00
Deficit	6,494.23
Total	$114,769.31

DISBURSEMENTS.
Library	$ 100.00
Printing	1,116.78
Furniture (typewriters, etc.)	169.00
Water rent	65.40
Light and power	299.30
Telephone	40.75
Insurance	1,671.30
Fuel	1,153.73
Wagon account	184.25
Repairs and alterations	8,188.70
Salary teachers	20,808.68
Director's salary	5,313.63
Fire escape	727.00
Books bought	2,704.40
Interest, bonds	2,750.00
Interest, warrants	381.76
Interest, bonds	224.50
Furnishing	304.78
Lincoln school	62,448.91
Loan (sinking fund)	4,000.00
Total	$114,769.31

It will be noticed there was a deficit, or in other words, the district is in arrears, of about $6,500. Also it is worth noting that without the school license revenues during the first six months of 1910, this deficit will be increased by some $2,500. Every month, therefore, the district is in arrears, and the expenses incident to the schools have been paying about one-quarter of the total annual teachers' salaries and the board is looking for some financier wise enough to evolve a scheme for maintaining the schools, without exceeding the revenues to a much greater extent than has been necessary in the past.

The expenditures have been held to the minimum point, and no unnecessary item whatever appears in this bill. The existing law has not yet been developed through the unprecedented growth of the city's population requiring public school facilities.

SCIENTISTS DISCARD LEADER.

Mrs. Stetson is Excommunicated for Violating Rules. Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson of New York, for years one of the most prominent and powerful members of the Christian Science Society in the east, was excommunicated last week by the board of directors of the mother church of Boston, the supreme governing authority of the organization.

In their order of excommunication the directors stated that a conference held in New York last week had convinced them of the truth of the charges against Mrs. Stetson—namely, that she had worked against the interests of the church, and had been a follower, and that she had perverted in teachings and practices contrary to Christian Science.

Excommunication rarely is resorted to in the Christian Science church, and in view of Mrs. Stetson's prominence this action was regarded in the most drastic in the history of the denomination. Mrs. Stetson formerly was first pastor of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in New York City, and until her suspension was the pastor emerita of that church at a salary of $5,000 a year.

APPLE STATISTICS FAVOR GROWERS

TWIN FALLS COMMERCIAL CLUB MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT.

Declares That There is Little Probability of Any Over-Production of This Crop Regardless of Increased Acreage of Orchards.

The claim is frequently made that with the increased acreage in orchards the apple market will soon be flooded and thus check or ruin the industry. Although at late years the expansion of apple orchards has been phenomenal, yet of this over-production of apples there is apparently little danger. Commercial statistics of the fruit show that the annual production of this delicious and most hygienic of fruits is apparently becoming less in proportion to consumption each year, and actually has less in the aggregate the last few years than formerly. The figures since 1895 are as follows:

Year	Barrels
1895	60,453,000
1896	69,070,000
1897	41,630,000
1898	28,570,000
1899	38,455,000
1900	56,820,000
1901	26,970,000
1902	48,225,000
1903	45,280,000
1904	45,380,000
1905	24,310,000
1906	38,230,000
1907	28,650,000
1908	32,025,000

We know that orchards in the east and middle west have for some reason been growing less and less productive. In the fruit power of the east and northwest is giving his orchard more care and attention and scientific study than ever before. This accounts for the great demand for our products. Nowhere is such perfect fruit grown as in this section. There is a large and growing demand for our apples in foreign countries, especially England, Germany and even Australia is taking thousands of boxes of our best apples. The world is our market and there need be no fear of limited over-production. It will not so long as we produce a perfect apple.

WILL AID LAWS ENFORCEMENT.

Chairman Sherman of Commissioners' Board Makes Announcement. The following has been received by the News, from County Commissioner E. R. Sherman of Buhl, with request that it be published:

To the Voters of Twin Falls County: The election of the local option issue of our county is passed and is about to be voted on by about 400 of the voters saying that they did not want intoxicating liquors to be sold in beverage in Twin Falls county. Before the election I was to some extent opposed to the local option issue. As one of your citizens I had a right to my own views in the matter, and grant to every citizen of our county the same right, but I, as one of the commissioners of your county, stand in an entirely different position and have this to say to you, without any reticence, that as chairman of the board of county commissioners I will use every honorable and proper means at our disposal to enforce the local option law in this county and pledge you by word that any information brought to my attention that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons, firm, or corporation, who in the least violates the prohibitory law of our county will be prosecuted to the utmost. Let him be who he may, saloonkeeper, druggist, bootlegger, or private citizen, and to that end ask the support of all law-abiding citizens of this county. E. R. SHERMAN, Chairman.

STANDARD OIL CO. OUTLAWED.

Judge Sanborn Holds Its An Illegal Combination.

In the United States court of appeals, at St. Paul, last Friday, Judge Sanborn handed down a decision, sustaining the government's suit for the judicial dissolution of the Standard Oil company, on the ground that this corporation is in violation of the anti-trust laws and in restraint of commerce.

Attorney General Wickersham, representing the plaintiff, declared that it was one of the most important decisions ever rendered in the United States.

The suit was filed in 1906, and during the several hearings there were 44 witnesses examined, after which the court took the case under advisement last April. The announcement was made from New York, immediately after the decision was rendered, that the Standard Oil would appeal to the United States supreme court. Two or three years will therefore elapse before the public knows positively whether or not Judge Sanborn's decision stands. Should it be sustained by the higher court the Standard Oil company will cease to exist, and it is expected that the Standard Oil company and its subsidiaries corporations comprising it will cease to do business on its own responsibility, unless the great Standard Oil trust should have, by that time, conceived and developed some other scheme for perpetuating the combination further without infringing the anti-trust laws.

Bought a Fortune for $275. Andrew Klein and Joseph Bolts, Abert, N. Y., merchants, at present victims of a French traction line, worth $150,000, with accrued interest since 1903.

CHICAGO BROKER ON TWIN FALLS

GIVES LUMINOUS TALK TO THE EXAMINER REPRESENTATIVE.

Booster is a Friend of Peter Costello of This City and Speaks Volumes of Praise That Are Valuable as an Advertisement.

Peter Costello of this city is in receipt of a copy of the Chicago Examiner, containing an interview from an old-time friend who is in the grain buying business in that city. The gentleman the Examiner representative had an interview, during which he said:

Speaking from the standpoint of a dealer in grain who has watched the ever-increasing volume of the demand for foodstuffs, I believe that the grain opportunities of the west are to be found in the Western irrigated farms. I base this statement on facts which I have come under my personal observation.

I am convinced that the National Farm Land congress, by spreading broadcast information concerning the chances for independence and wealth that await the irrigation farmer and by giving impetus to the great work of reclamation, will accomplish a work of incalculable value to the nation at large.

Beginning about two years ago, vast quantities of wheat, oats and barley have come to the Chicago and St. Louis markets from the irrigated farms of the West. Within a few months my own farm handled 200 cars of these grains from the state of Idaho. Montana, Oregon and Washington are also becoming big and important factors in the East's supply of wheat.

The rapidity with which fortunes are made on these Western ranges is amazing. It is nothing uncommon to see a man acquire a fortune in a few months on the first crop. On one farm near Twin Falls, Idaho, the yield was seventy-three bushels to the acre. Just this year the yield was 100 bushels of wheat and figure out the profit.

There is a special demand for the wheat from the irrigated farms. It is soft, and produces white flour especially suited to the finest baking, and used extensively by the big biscuit manufacturers.

"I have shipped grain to Mr. Cooke," explained Mr. Costello, "and there is no more influential friend of Twin Falls than he is. I am informed from other sources, furthermore, that Mr. Cooke is talking about Twin Falls in the same strain that he is."

MICHIGAN'S OLDEST WOMAN.

Very Wonderful and Rare Instance of Longevity.

Mrs. Edward Jones, who has just lost her husband at the age of 80 years, makes her home with the Sisters of Mercy, at the hospital in St. Raphael, Mich. She is now nearly 100 years old, and is still in good health and remarkably vigorous. She is the mother of eleven children, four of whom are living. Her descendants number 130 persons and include five generations. Her maiden name was Catherine Duffy, and she is of Irish descent and a devout Catholic.

LAPOLLETTE FOR BONDS.

Wisconsin Senator Favors Issue for Reclamation Projects.

Pocahontas Tribune: When asked as to his attitude on the bond issue to come before the next session of the congress for the completion of national reclamation projects in the west, referred to by President Taft in his Spokane address six weeks ago, United States Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, who was Pocahontas yesterday, replied:

"I am in favor of and will be pleased to support a bond issue for the completion of the irrigation of this state in connection with these great areas should be reclaimed and if there is a shortage in the funds provided by existing law, it is at once become the duty of congress to provide additional funds for the accomplishment of the results, especially as applied to the projects already begun and a bond issue is the only and the speedy remedy and I am for it."

COUNTY BOARDS WILL MEET.

To Discuss Methods of Transacting Public Business.

Gov. Brady has called a convention of Idaho county commissioners to assemble in Boise, Dec. 13, in justification of which he says: "In response to my letters suggesting this meeting, to all the commissioners, I have heard from eighteen out of the twenty-three counties. All these responses were favorable. The subjects for discussion will be: 'Uniform county and state assessment and taxation.' 'Care of the sick and indigent and feeble-minded children.' 'Constitutional amendments.' 'Methods of transacting routine and other county business.' 'The time has arrived when we should decide upon some definite, particular and business method of handling both our state and county affairs in the best and most economical manner.' 'I look forward to good results from this very important convention.'"

DOUGLAS IS HELD TO GRAND JURY

HIS TWIN FALLS LAND SCHEME CAUSED TROUBLE.

Defendant Freely Unwielded Project to Postoffice Inspector Disguised as an Applicant for Job and Involved Himself in Serious Dilemma.

After a hearing, before the United States commissioner in Boise last week, Frank Douglas was held in $500 bond to the United States grand jury on charges of using the mails to defraud, his particular offense having been the operation of the "Douglas Land Drawing" scheme which he began to place before the public in Twin Falls less than three months ago. At last accounts the defendant was in jail in the capital city but his attorneys expressed the belief he would furnish bail and be released very soon.

Douglas' operations in this city were rather more suspicious than many people believed they should carry, so he did not stay long. From here he went to Pocatello, where bolder methods were adopted. In Boise he entered too far on the sea of fiction, used the mails, explained his methods to a postoffice inspector and was arrested on complaint of this official. After the latter had made a special trip here last week to learn what he could of Douglas' bold methods, he returned to Boise, and then the official inquiry was undertaken before the commissioner. It was then developed that Douglas opened offices in Boise and secured a young lady stenographer to attend to the correspondence and advertised for solicitors to sell blocks of tickets to a lottery to secure lands, etc., in Twin Falls.

The mails were also used for the distribution of his literature advertising the scheme. Changes in the lottery were sold direct to individuals or through money orders for 25 cents each. Solicitors could secure them at a reduction. Inspector Nelson applied to Douglas for a position as solicitor.

The two talked over the matter and Douglas told Nelson he was conducting a lottery, but he had been informed by prominent attorneys that the law could not touch him. He planned to leave the city just before the date of the drawing.

In the course of the conversation Douglas offered to take Inspector Nelson in as a partner. The latter asked the defendant if he was not afraid he was violating the postal laws, but the latter replied he had operated the scheme extensively in the act and had never been stopped. Nelson then went to McDaniel and through a letter, ordered $5 worth of chance tickets. He received the tickets and it was then he arrested Douglas.

Notice for Publication, United States Land Office, Halley, Idaho, Oct. 28, 1908.

Notice is hereby given that the Northern Pacific Railway company, whose postoffice address is St. Paul, Minnesota, has this 28th day of October, 1908, filed in this office its application to select under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved July 1, 1898, (30 Stat. 587, 620), NW 1/4 of NE 1/4 of section 12-23S-16 E. B. M. Any and all persons claiming adversely the lands described, or desiring to object because of the mineral character of the land, or for any other reason, to the disposal to applicant, should file their affidavits of protest in this office, on or before the 23rd day of December, 1908.

Mrs. Sumner Musser has been on the sick list the past week.

Several of the young Filorites attended the ball in Buhl Thanksgiving evening.

James Garrett of Boise arrived in Filer Wednesday, being a guest at the Carnahan home. Mr. Garrett and Miss Alice were formerly school mates.

Chairs purchased from the Filer Hardware company for seating the old school house to be used as a temporary church by the Methodists, have arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Moore were the guests of Chas. Arthur on Thanksgiving day. Mr. Arthur is one of the old timers, having lived on his ranch at Riverside for twenty years. Those who have visited there say Mr. Arthur is a splendid cook and a royal entertainer.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Connor served a delicious turkey dinner on Thanksgiving day to Mr. and Mrs. A. D. McKinley of Twin Falls and Miss Maude McKinley of Filer.

The families of Truitt, Daigh and Newberry were entertained Thanksgiving day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Reynolds.

Options for Bruneau Reservoir. Josh Munn, a well-known character residing on what is known as the Snake Island ranch, visited Pocatello recently, and announced that agents of the promoters were already working to secure options on lands required above Pocatello, in the Snake river valley, for the gigantic reservoir which is to store waters required in the operation of the Bruneau irrigation project. He told the interviewers in the Gate City that the dam would back up water almost to Blackfoot, when completed, and that there were evidences in sight suggesting that the work would begin next year.

STEAL A LOCOMOTIVE.

Lads Take Exciting Ride, Ending in Disasterous Wreck.

At Birmingham, Wash., recently, forty boys stole a mogul locomotive that had been sidetracked by a construction crew and ran the engine several miles. They then reversed the engine and started back to Birmingham, throwing the throttle wide open. The boys were unable to stop the locomotive and jumped off.

All were injured, five seriously. The engine, which attained a speed of more than a mile a minute, crashed into a freight train in the Birmingham yard and was wrecked.

SCIENTIFIC TESTS OF INTELLIGENCE OVER SNAKE RIVER

DEGREES OF MENTAL LIFE ARE DISCUSSED.

Declaration That Memory is Only One of the Many Factors by Which a Standard May Be Established for Measuring Ability.

The multiplicity and diversity of those intellectual forces which individually or collectively are called intelligence, is only too often under-rated, says the Scientific American.

In a recent number, E. Stranely draws attention to the error generally made in conducting scientific intelligence tests, so called, by choosing a single aspect of mental life as representative of its totality.

It is a common mistake to mix up scientific training with intelligence, appreciating the mental capacity of a person according to the number and character of the tests assimilated at school and outside of it.

Though a man, by frequently using abstract notions, gives evidence of a high intellectual capacity if these notions are not necessarily any subjective superiority over lay people who have no occasion to deal with the same matters.

Generally speaking, it may be said that memory is by no means the only one, and still less, the most elevated of intellectual properties which, combined, make up the intelligence of a man.

Again, memory is of two different kinds, possessing different value, viz., either impressive or associative, meaning in the first case the more or less durable impressions left by our perceptions, or to the system of intellectual associations by which new perceptions are united to pre-existing associative elements.

The former kind of memory obviously is far more primitive than the other, and cannot possibly be taken as a gauge of intelligence.

It is, in fact, generally known that adult persons, having assimilated a large amount of associative elements, such as from being so impressive as children, whose minds are just being formed, the most intelligent persons often forget the most rapidly, and absolutely what they have learned at school, in a manner which is a matter of course, even though those matters belong to their special branch.

A celebrated physician, Dr. Billroth, has said in this connection that the "really educated person is just the one who has forgotten more than others."

The intelligence tests recently made in different classes of subjects chosen among the lower classes, have given especially instructive results in this connection by showing that the majority of the subjects of the most common nature, ignorant of an individual perfectly capable of his mental capacities of earning his living and governing his household, are not able to do so.

Memory is only one of the different components of intelligence, and that judgment and power of combination are particularly important among the remaining functions of our intellect. In appreciating the comparative mental forces of school children, this undeniable truth is too frequently neglected, and the matter is merely based on the matters absorbed in a more or less superficial manner by the memory of the individual, and accordingly the person is inclined to commit the same serious mistake.

In a previous number, the author has pointed out the individual diversity existing in the intellectual and psychical reaction to the outside world. There are thus individuals whose inner intellectual life in its ordinary workings is not so fully evident, owing to a relative impotence of mental or merely linguistic manifestations.

Another group comprises those who have not always at their disposal a frequently rather extensive knowledge. These individuals require tranquillity, generally speaking, a course of circumstances propitious to their individuality in order to manifest in their entirety their knowledge, judgment, and imagination. They become capable of accepting the most peculiarly remarkable things, whereas when compelled, to give evidence of their capacities and knowledge in a less propitious situation (as, for example, for instance) they appear miserably to fall, and to appear dull, and even stupid.

On the long way favored by thought before its outside manifestation—there are—numerous—obstacles—sufficing to close against the outside world an abundantly gifted intelligence.

From what has been said will be understood what value may be ascribed to intelligence tests made according to the method of watching or meter in hand, which mainly relate to memory, promptness of repartee, and adaptability of the mind.

It would certainly be interesting to test by a really scientific method also the mentality of those particularly gifted individuals whose intellect is combined with combination rather than reception.

Some methods have already been suggested in this connection; the late Dr. J. H. Woodworth has endeavored to use as gauge the faculty of supplementing words, and on this basis the author has developed the method of word differentiation.

However, all these methods, so far from showing the comparative value of intelligence, at most yield some information as to a given intellectual faculty.

At a successful banquet this and other material matters were discussed last Monday evening when many leading citizens were present.

BUHL, Ida, Nov. 24.—The Commercial club committee, appointed to view the bridge site over Snake river last night, yesterday, and although not having time as yet to make an official report they nevertheless they found a splendid site for a bridge over Snake river can be crossed by a span of only 140 feet, far above high water mark. The cost has not been concisely estimated yet, but it is believed to be about $100,000 more than likely that the bridge will be built.

The banquet by the Buhl Commercial club Monday night was brilliant and highly successful. The first event of the city's remarkable history to date. There were about 150 guests who composed a jolly crowd, ready for fun, frolic and serious consideration.

The affair was held in the Woodman's hall, in the Moucho-Shark building, on Broadway. The room was gorgeously decorated. The table was set with everything that the country affords, and that means the best of everything on earth, for the Buhl country produces the best of everything that is produced in the temperate zone. There was venison from Jackson hole and roast pig from Buhl, oysters from the Atlantic coast, and a number of other things to mention, to all of which equal justice was done by those present.

One of the speakers said that Russ W. Allen had promised to have an exceedingly rare fish for the feast, but was unable to make good for the reason (as he was reported to have said) that he was unable to find a fish to suit the limit; but George A. great jester. Before inviting the guests to be seated at the board, President Wilkinson narrated the history of the club and the arrangements, and outlined the work it intended taking up in the future, after which several witty and humorous short speeches were made by the members of the club.

Deputy Sheriff W. E. May, who captured Mathews, the Omaha train robber here last spring, returned Saturday from Omaha, where he had gone to see the man who had been arrested for the robbery, and who knows him as "Genie's" friend and all hope that he will receive his share of the reward.

Christian R. Cortfield, a relative of E. A. DeLair, has returned from his trip to Pennsylvania to spend the holidays with his parents. He will be on hand in the spring and take up his residence at the country headquarters residence, for the building of which he has the contracts, and help to make Buhl beautiful.

Among the speakers were George W. Allen, J. H. Woodworth, J. H. Minner, Mayor Hays, C. W. Smith of Walla Walla, (Wash.), Chas. McQuinn, Mathew Scully, J. W. Farris, Russ W. Allen, Thomas A. Warner of Twin Falls, President Wilkinson, Dr. McCleskey, P. W. Monahan and many others.

P. W. Monahan took exception to the manner in which the roost pig was such upon the ground, and for killing his wrath will not be mentioned here. He protested loudly against treating his old time friend in such a manner, and insisted while he was willing to eat him when dead, and properly raised, he insisted that he should be treated with more respect and that he would not allow an insult to be put upon the pig.

C. W. Smith, a bridge builder, told several funny stories, and with the other humorous speakers, helped to make the evening a happy one. He also a business man, he also discussed material matters. He said that the Snake river could be bridged at Clear Lake Falls comparative small cost, and cited the advantages that would result to the inhabitants of the West End, on the north side, as well as those of the West End on the south side, by a bridge at that point.

Mr. Scully, in a few pointed remarks, urged the citizens to vote for the bond issue for the waterworks, advising them that there was nothing better calculated to advance the growth of a city so much as owning its own water supply. He expressed the hope that the people would see in the light that he did, and purchase the works now, while they could be bought so cheaply, saying that they could be bought later at a much higher price in the future, because as the city grows the franchise will become more valuable.

The sentiment of all those present was that the waterworks should be purchased. The Buhl band played during the evening and added much to the entertainment.

At the end of the speech-making, Secretary McQuinn stated that one of the objects of the club was to make the city the most beautiful and healthful in the country, and that he put forth its utmost efforts to have roads planted in the spring and the city cleaned up and kept clean. A short business session was then held, and a committee, consisting of W. T. President Wilkinson, Dr. Monroe, Secretary McQuinn, John McDonald, the civil engineer, and P. W. Monahan, were appointed to accompany Mr. Smith to the Snake river, the next day to view a bridge site at Clear Lakes and estimate the cost of building one that will be permanent.

WANTED BY MANY STATE LAND BOARD HAS NUMEROUS APPLICATIONS.
 Southern Idaho Irrigation Commission Are Anxious to Secure Parts of This Barren and Unproductive Area Under Discussion.

With delegations of citizens and workers of Sunnyside and Mountain View representatives of the Brunson Reclamation Co. and Southern Idaho Reclamation company, together with E. Perrine and S. H. Hays of the Twin Falls Land & Water company in the senate chamber of the state house at Boise on the 10th inst., an important meeting of the state board of land commissioners was held with a view to disposing of the conflicting claims.

Through a compromise effected by the interested companies, the Brunson company will restore the project of a plan embracing some 40,000 acres of the original segregation of 70,000 acres made at the request of E. B. Perrine and S. H. Hays over the Twin Falls Land & Water company withdrawing from direct connection with the project.

Water rights will probably be fixed at $10 an acre, the estimated price in the original application.

A compromise with respect to the conflicting claims for the Sunnyside project to the south of the Brunson Idaho Reclamation company, reclaim 25,000 to 30,000 acres and allow the Twin Falls Land & Water company to take over the remainder of the lands in a project of 200,000 to 200,000 acres, was presented to S. H. Hays, but rejected by the Southern Idaho Reclamation company, which insists on a project of 67,000 acres as applied for with water rights at $70 per acre.

The segregation of the entire 67,000 acres was opposed by representatives of the Twin Falls company who stated that their project would not be commensurate in the event of such a segregation for the Southern Idaho Reclamation company. The price of water rights of the Twin Falls company is placed at $85.

BACHELOR GIRL'S REFLECTIONS.
 Cogitations on the Insecurities of Modern Man.

Maritmony is "the bread of life"—but bread has come to be only a side dish nowadays, says Helen Rowland in the Chicago Journal. She continues:

It takes thirty years to form a man's character—and all of the rest of the time to reform it.

Trying to kiss a girl before telling her that he loves her is a "cash-in-advance" system which is exceedingly popular with the modern man.

To the average man a love affair is just a matter of research, and a kiss merely an interesting experiment in the hunt for a new thrill.

The quickest way to kill love is to start with the statement, "I am a man devoted to a woman is to think of her constantly—even when he is kissing another girl."

According to the divorce records, people who live in the houses have a dreadful way of throwing glasses.

A man's love may be blind, but it is seldom deaf when a pretty widow's money is in the picture.

God made man first, but woman was as much of an improvement over the original invention as the Luskite started with the statement, "I am a man devoted to a woman is to think of her constantly—even when he is kissing another girl."

MR. AND MRS. JARR DISCUSS HER ACTS SHE APPEARS IN ROLE OF PHILANTHROPIST.
 Husband is Berated Soundly for Family's Poverty, and Nevertheless the Wife Willingly Divides Money to Help "the Poor."

"We just had a lovely day today!" said Mrs. Jarr, bustling in with a happy smile and heightened color.

Mr. Jarr, who had reached home before her, expressed himself as pleased that it had been a fabulous day for his bride. "I suppose you were shopping," he suggested.

"You always suppose I have been shopping," said Mrs. Jarr, "but I'd like to know what money I have to go shopping on? Of course I should go shopping; the children need school coats, and the way little Emma has outgrown those heavy dresses I bought for her last spring is very disheartening."

"Wouldn't it be more disheartening if little Emma didn't grow at all?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Yes, I suppose so," said the lady of the house, "but, then, when one does spend quite some money into in the season on clothes for children and have to put them away till fall and be worried sick all the time for fear the motto will get in them, and then to take them out and find they are almost too small for the lot, although you got them two years older in size when you bought them—it is annoying!"

"Why did you buy clothes for this winter last spring, then?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Because it was a sale at the end of the season, and they were so cheap," said Mrs. Jarr. "Why couldn't I have bought the materials for that money, let alone the making of them?"

"How about Wilho?" asked Mr. Jarr. "You didn't buy ahead for him."

"Indeed I did not!" said Mrs. Jarr. "I can't buy clothes to keep up with the way he wears them out, let alone buying anything ahead for him. And yet, when I come in and tell you I have had a pleasant day, you ask me if I have been shopping."

KIMBERLY HOGS GO TO PORTLAND

PORKERS SENT THERE BY MAN

Land Sales Few, Because Owners Are Holding Prices Above the Offerings and Buyers That Are Plentiful Do Not Make Deals.

KIMBERLY, Ida., Nov. 24.—W. B. Rogers and family left last Sunday for Western Oklahoma, where they formerly resided. Mr. Rogers has been here two years and says he expects to return to Idaho in a year or two.

The Shubert sale last Thursday was fairly well attended and property brought about its usual price. Horses sold as high as $210 per head, and hay in the stack at $2.75 for first cutting. Mr. Shubert and family will soon move to Twin Falls to reside.

Charles Roraback was here from Wendell the first of the week. He formerly lived at Rock Creek and has just sold his ranch there for $9,000. It was a very fine piece of land and is watered out of Rock creek. Mr. Roraback is shipping a carload of fat Thanksgiving turkeys are selling on the local market from 17 to 20 cents per pound, live weight.

Ed Donrose has rented his pool hall and expects to take his family to Michigan to spend the winter. Walter Fix was in Twin Falls Tuesday marketing his turkeys and ducks. The Modern Woodman lodge is getting up a local talent play to be given here soon.

He reports prices good and also a large supply on the market. Mrs. E. L. McIntire was a visitor in Twin Falls Tuesday. G. W. Osborne has the contract to build the new residence for O. S. Mend, a mile north of Kimberly.

W. M. Sharp is plastering the new house being built by Sam Strong. Several land buyers are around now, but not many sales are made on account of the rise in the price of land, the owners keeping just a little above the buyers' price. The new vault doors have been placed in the bank building and are among the best doors that Moeke Safe company have sent to Southern Idaho.

The recent rains have been good on fall wheat and will also lessen the amount of irrigation required next spring. But very little sickness is reported around Kimberly now and the schools will probably open in the very near future.

JARBRIDGE CAMP

gold mines located in the northwest for some years is all that has been reported of it, according to the views of A. E. Carlson and E. W. Leonard, of this city, who returned this morning after consulting a trip into the new gold field, for they brought back with them samples of the ore which it is believed will run high in value when assayed. Samples of the ore can be seen at the Overland Cigar store. These have been examined and the colors can be plainly seen with the naked eye.

There has been a rush into the southern country on the part of mining men and no less than eighteen miles of claims have been staked out by those who believe it will develop into one of the very latest roaring gold camps that has been brought to light in the northwest for a number of years. Mr. Leonard, it is understood, went over to the locality of the new strike on behalf of the local investors in the company which controls the best property and will make a report to them on his findings.

The one stands out prominently in the form of a dyke along the Jarbridge creek, called by the Indians in the early days the "Sabajitah" creek. The district is held in great fear by the Indians who claim that in the early days there was a terrible volcanic eruption there and many of their tribes were killed by it. It was thought those are just as good as received its name. So great is the fear that the redmen hold of it that they refuse to go near it at all. It is understood that in some truth to their story and that even the white settlers of the pioneer days feared the volcanic section.

H. E. Reed arrived here from the scene last Thursday, having been about ten days and brought over more enthusiastic reports than preceding visitors. He immediately proceeded to get together a very comprehensive outfit, including provisions for eight months for three people, and left for the Jarbridge area Saturday taking a trail to the Jarbridge area. Accompanying Reed were his wife and two children. Reed on the latter's farm about a mile south of Twin Falls.

"I got into the camp last Monday night," he was asked, "and found Reed and his wife and two other miners. He is the discoverer of the ledge, and has his claims all assessed up. His samples show much gold to the naked eye, and his assays run as high as $35,000 to the ton; but he has many samples that do not need to be assayed to recognize their great value. In crawling over one side of the ledge, one cannot find a place that will not show gold, this being in an oxidized quartz-porphyr mass, freely spotted with nuggets of gold, and being fractured from the ledge. It is these particles sliding down into the creek that I believe have furnished the gold which has been brought out of there from time to time by the Indians."

"I secured several good claims on a ledge alongside of the one whereon Bourne's claims are staked, and I think those are just as good as any one which has furnished the sensation. In reality, however, that one ledge does not contain all there is there. It is a very large mineralized territory, and will bear prospecting over quite a large area."

"In my opinion, Mart Estes has a richer group of claims than Bourne has, and Estes' locations are all on another ledge, quite a distance removed from what at first would seem to be the richest spot."

"Estes is a cattleman residing at Three Creek, who went in as soon as he heard about Bourne's strike. The camp is about 10,000 feet high, and there was over a foot of snow there when I left. I shall stay in the district all winter, and my wife is so glad over our prospects that she is going in with me. We do not expect to have many comforts, but I do not believe we will suffer any. By spring I believe we will have a good group with fine showings."

News of W. J. Bryan.

Mrs. W. B. Millson and daughter arrived Wednesday evening from Lincoln, Neb., where they had been visiting the family of W. J. Bryan, uncle of Mr. Millson. The distinguished defeated presidential candidate and lecturer, Mrs. Millson says, has just returned on a six month tour of South America, and is booked up solely for lectures throughout the United States and Canada for a year. After he returns from the trip he is now taking, which is for the purpose of investigating South American and Panama conditions.
