

BEYOND PAPER STAGE

Electric Line for Tract Seems Assured

Progress made on the Artesian City electric road, is such as to warrant a confident statement that it has gone beyond the "paper" stage. W. L. Cherry of Chicago, who has been looking after the interests of the Chicago investors, will return tomorrow to lay the results before them.

The road will be fifty-four miles long, the terminal points being Twin Falls and Oakley. Starting at Twin Falls, the road will run east to Kimberly, then east to Hanson, south to Rock Creek, then directly to Artesian City. The general direction of the road will be southeast. From Artesian City it is the intention to build a line to the west, through the Goose Creek project. The line has been well planned, and it is expected that it will be built through the Goose Creek project. The line has been well planned, and it is expected that it will be built through the Goose Creek project.

Deeds have been completed for practically the entire distance. As soon as the weather will permit the final deeds will be completed with the farmers for the remaining right of way. ### SETTLERS WILL COME

Brick P. Kuhn States There Will Be Big Movement Here

One of the Twin Falls real estate men, Brick P. Kuhn, believes that there will be a big influx of settlers in the spring. He has just returned from Chicago to Oakley where he was in touch with many prospective settlers. A bumper corn crop in the middle west caused a slump in prices which has caused many farmers to seek other fields. Mr. Kuhn states that business is not at a standstill in the east and that there is not any decided stringency in the money market. He has evidence of any depression being a little higher rate of interest demanded.

This Newspaper---and Your Store!

WOULD you consider that this newspaper was well managed if it issued according to the mood of its publishers--instead of at regular, stated and invariable intervals? Would you think it a good newspaper if it printed a 12-page issue at one time and a one-page, hand-bill size, issue at another time? Would you feel that it was serving its constituency effectually if, now and then, it suspended issue entirely--to be resumed at some time when the publishers felt inclined?

Your store serves your patrons with store news through its advertising. They assume that there is always store news worth telling--store news that is important to them.

Is it not a poor policy for a store, as it would be for a newspaper, to serve its patrons in a spasmodic, un-dependable way? If your store is important to the people of the city, your advertising is important to them all the time--not merely now and then.

The amount of your advertising space yearly should not vary any more than the size of a newspaper varies, and the appearance of your advertising should be as frequent and as regular as the appearance of this newspaper.

MOAB'S ISOLATION COMPLETE

Dwellers in Eastern Palestine Have Always Been Distinct--Always Is Barrier.

Most travelers who visit the Holy Land content themselves with a Jordan that restricted part west of the Jordan. The mountainous regions of Moab as seen by them from Jerusalem are lost in the purple haze that constantly hangs over them and the great stretches beyond are covered by mystery. This is true partly because of the fewer historical incidents connected with the eastern regions, but mainly on account of the great abyss of the Jordan Valley, that has always acted as a barrier. Few who descend into the valley, 1,500 feet below sea level, undertake to climb the hills beyond, which rise to a height of 3,000 feet.

The most striking thing about Moab has always been its isolation. However much connected by race and vicinity with their western kinsmen, the dwellers in eastern Palestine have always been distinct, and their lands have never been occupied by the nations on the west except through acts of aggression and conquest.

Even today this isolation is still felt. In giving an idea of their knowledge of present-day geography one of them remarked: "There are only four seas in the world, two of which are the Dead sea and the Sea of Galilee." Both of these are in sight of their own hills.--Christian Herald.

Favored Age.

When the teacher looked severely at Isadore Leviak, all 16666 Red from him. When asked to name the president, he could think of just five--with four long gaps between them. "I am surprised, Isadore," said the teacher, who had left middle age well in the background. "When I was 11 years old, more than a year younger than you are now, I could recite the list of presidents without a single mistake or a moment's hesitation."

"Teacher, yes, ma'am," said Isadore, humbly; then a brilliant and comforting idea came to him. "But there were presidents to have been half as many presidents to remember then, was there, Teacher?"--Youth's Companion.

Pay No Rent or Taxes.

They ought to be a happy lot of people in the Isle of Tiree, in the West Highlands of Scotland. A special commissioner states that on the island there are 400 families who have never paid taxes nor rent of any kind. The population is 2,000, and is governed by one policeman, who also watches over the life of Cull. He has made an appropriation for over 16 years. There have not been any taxes, premises for half a century, the island is dotted with distilleries.

HE IS NOW JUNIOR PARTNER

How Boy First Came, Unconsciously, to Find Favor With His Employer.

"Our junior partner," said a business man, "came to us as a boy. We had two boys at that time, both equally promising, but one of these boys has since risen only to be a junior clerk in our shipping department, while the other has now become our junior partner. How did we come to know which was which? I will tell you.

"When I came down to the store one morning I found one of the boys sweeping the sidewalk and he was sweeping against the wind. Dust and litter blowing back over the space he had swept, and he was going back to sweep it up again. Nice boy and smart well, but lacked the kindling spark of quick intelligence. It didn't dawn on him that he was sweeping the wrong way.

"Next day I found the other boy sweeping and he was sweeping the right way, with the dust and litter blowing back to be taken up again with loss of time, but everything going with him. He was sweeping the sidewalk cleaner, making a better job of it, and in half the time. Even at that age the boy had good sense and intelligence, a faculty for doing things the right way, and this faculty he developed more and more strongly as he went along."

The Out-of-Door Life.

The man who lives an out-door life who sleeps with the stars above his head, who wags his bodily subsistence at first hand from the earth and water, is a being who defies rain and sun, has a strange sense of elastic strength, may drink if he likes, and may smoke all day long, and feel none the worse for it. Some such return to the earth for the means of life--what gives vigor and developing power to the colonist of an older race cast on a land like ours. A few generations of men living in such fashion store up a capital of vitality which accounts largely for the prodigal activity displayed by their descendants and made possible only by the sturdy contest with nature which their ancestors have waged. That such a life is still led by multitudes of our countrymen serves to keep up our pristine force and energy.--Dr. B. W. Mitchell.

Improving Grades.

There never was a better time to commence the improvement of the grade of cattle kept on the farm. Registered animals are cheap, and a good start can be had for a small amount of money.

WAS SIMPLE LITTLE JOB

Man Orders to Take Partner and Briefly Outlines What He Expects of Helper.

"Here's the whole thing in a nut shell," said Brown to me. "I am now twenty-eight years old, have my own business, have brought it to such a state that I have decided to take a partner."

"Take one," answered I. "There's the rub," he grave back. "My partner must be such an all-around knowing one that I'm afraid I'll have hard work to fill the position."

"My partner must be able to make laws and to enforce them; must be able to carry out complicated chemical work, must be a skilled mechanic, must know something of economics, must be able to buy wares of all kinds with due consideration of my finances, must be able to do tailoring, of a kind, if necessary."

"Hold on, Brown," said I. "Are you dippy, as the vulgarians say?" "No," replied he. "I want a wife. Look around among your friends and see if any one man among them could do all that a good housewife should be able to do. She must make just laws for the family and enforce them."

"She must understand the complicated processes of cooking, baking, mending, washing, ironing and other wise caring for the clothing of a family requires proper care. Bringing up a child properly requires far more knowledge and wisdom than selling dry goods of standard makes and prices year after year."

"Where's your science and skill required then in the sick room? And if the wife does not know how to do all these things how can she direct the work of her paid help, especially if the help knows less than she does?"--American Magazine.

Read Somewhat Peculiar.

That there is not much in a name after all was proved amusingly a day or so ago, says the Philadelphia Times, when a prominent business man received a postal from his son and daughter-in-law, saying: "We are on our way to Hell, but it's not as hot as you would expect. More than that, continued the postcard, "it's as easy to get out of as to get into." The news came as quite a surprise to the man, as, knowing his son and daughter-in-law, he scarcely pictured them on their way to the infernal regions. It turns out, however, that Hell is a village in Norway of 1,388 inhabitants and is in nowise a rival to its namesake. "I wouldn't mind it at all," declares the recipient of the news, "if he only hadn't sent it on a postcard."

HOW THE EYES ARE ABUSED

Headaches, Which Often Mean Eye Strain, Put Down to Liver or Indigestion.

Many a woman who takes great care of her diamonds lets her eyes take care of themselves, often to their lasting injury. Seldom, too, are the eyes of young people watched as they should be. Headaches, which may and often do mean eye strain, are put down to liver trouble or indigestion, and home remedies are administered for these ailments, when what is really needed is a visit to the oculist. And going to an optician merely is not enough, since his business is to suit the eye with glasses only--which they may or may not need. The oculist suits the treatment to the eye, and it is better to err on the side of going to him without reason than to stay away when there may be need to go.

Considering the delicate mechanism of the eye, it is astonishing how much abuse it bears. Women go about peering through veils of heavy and intricate patterns, most harmful to the vision. Both men and women read constantly in street cars, than which nothing is worse. Children are allowed to read in insufficient light and in the gloaming. And seldom indeed does anyone take care, when reading or working, to be in the right position with regard to the light.

Labor That Aids the World.

It is true that all wealth comes from labor, but not necessarily from labor by the hands. The thinkers of the world have added immeasurably to its development. It was a portrait painter who invented the telegraph, a college professor who produced the telephone, and the list might be extended almost indefinitely. It is well thought today, with all our indulgence in rest and play, that we remember that it is intelligently directed energy of whatever kind which makes man better and helps along the world, to the millennial dawn.--Weekly Dispatch.

Thrilling Rescue.
A thrilling rescue on the line at Cambers, Northumberland, occurred recently. Quite unconscious, or careless of the approach of a goods train, a child wandered on to the North Eastern Railway and walked on to the permanent way. The engine driver tried to stop the train before it could reach the little one, but found the weight of the heavily burdened wagons too great for anything but a gradual pulling up. It seemed as if the child's fate was sealed, when the fireman, Coombes, rushed along the footplate, climbed onto a buffer of the engine, and swiftly hooked up the child with his legs when the train reached the spot. Taking the child unscathed in his arms, Coombes then climbed back along the footplate to safety.

Their Task.
In a sketch about Joseph Fels, the English multimillionaire, who makes soap and saphira and other things, Lincoln Stephens, writing in the American Magazine, relates the following anecdote concerning him: "Once, when Fels had been stating his proposition at length a listener, who was impressed by the genial humor, the profound kindness and the serene wisdom of this little Jew, turned to him quietly and said, 'Fels, the Jews call themselves the chosen people; the world has acknowledged the Ute, and I, for example, am willing now, in your presence, to admit that they are indeed the chosen. But what are they chosen for?' 'The Jews,' said Fels, with a careless wave of his arm. 'The Jews were chosen to introduce Christianity.'"

One of Life's Finest Triumphs.
It is a beautiful thing to model a statue and give it life; to mold an intelligence and instill truth therein is still more beautiful.--Victor Hugo.

REDUCTIONS FOR UPPERS.

Man in Uppers Pays Less Than Man Below.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—General reductions for rates of upper Pullman berths and, in certain instances, for lower berths were announced today before Commissioners Frank C. Lane and E. C. Clark of the Interstate commerce commission by G. S. Fernald of the Pullman company. No testimony in the case before the commission was taken.

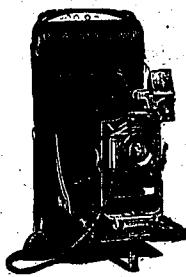

The reduction in upper berth rates offered is 50 per cent where the lower berth exceeds 60 inches. Various reductions are announced for rates on lower berths in specific districts. Today's hearing, at which promise of a reduction was made, was a rebuffing of the petition of George S. Loftus against the Pullman company, the point at issue being the upper berth rates between Chicago and the Pacific coast. The offer of the Pullman company proving satisfactory to the plaintiff, the interstate commerce commissioners heard no testimony.

A CHANCE TO BOOST.

Anyone Going "Back East" Has the Opportunity.

If you want to disseminate the gospel of the booster for this tract, there is no better chance than to do it among the old home folks. If you or your friends plan to get in touch again with the old folks, the thing to do is to work in a little boosting on the side.

The secretary of the Commercial club believes that there is a field for promoting new settlers by the folks who are going back east this month. He asks that all those who are "going back to the old home" to spend the holidays in hand in their name as he intends to put it to some good use.

London, England, has heard of our alfalfa. It appears as though the Englishmen were getting that insidious regard for this tract. They want prices on alfalfa.

C. W. Lee & Co., of 59 Mark Lane are the people that want to know. The British counsel suggested Twin Falls as the logical place to write for information.

They state that due to the increasing demand for the seed, prices have risen during the past few years until they are at a high level today. They ask for information as to the prices prevailing here and the quantity and quality of the crop.

The Hollister Herald made its first bow to the public with Charles F. Diehl as its editor. The new sheet is a credit to the little city of Hollister and to its able editor. Mr. Diehl has been connected with a number of papers in this state and was for some time publisher of the News of this city in the pioneer days.

From the lack of harmony between President Taft and the insurgents the prospects for any legislation during the short term are not at all rosy. There was a small chance to get some of the president's program through by some united effort from both branches of the Republican party, but with the solid stand of the insurgents no progress is possible. After that time the Republicans can sit around and watch the Democrats under Champ Clark legislate under a Republican president. The situation as sized up places no one except the belabored and lambasted trusts, who are assured of a breathing spell for one year, at least.

THE REVOLT AGAINST DIAZ. Francisco Madero's armed revolt against President Diaz, although, in the opinion of most of our editors foredoomed to failure from the start, is acknowledged by these same editors to have its serious side for us as well as for the Mexican dictator. This insurrection, says the Chicago Tribune, is "the most serious indication yet of the growing spirit of unrest and discontent in Mexico." It casts a "dark shadow," declares the Boston Journal, which sees in it "the forerunner of events of the utmost gravity, both to the Mexican Republic and to the United States." The gravity for us consists in the danger to American capital invested in Mexico and the likelihood that Uncle Sam may have to intervene to restore order. The Journal reminds us that more than three-quarters of a billion in United States capital is invested in Mexico, and declares that "the feeling is evident in many quarters in this country that some day we are going to be forced by the pressure of events to extend our boundaries beyond the Rio Grande, whether we want to or not." Other papers do not go so far as this, but stop at the problem of what will happen when the iron hand of Diaz relaxes. "After Diaz, the deluge," seems to be the general fear. "It behooves American statesmanship to look ahead and be ready when the clock strikes," admonishes the Chicago Inter Ocean. The New York Evening Post thinks that political dissent in Mexico "is more marked today than at any time since Porfirio Diaz made himself perpetual President." The revolutionary outbreak, declares the same paper, "is a pretty severe reflection upon the methods of Diaz, and a sobering reminder of what may come after him." "Apprehension is increased," remarks the Philadelphia Inquirer, by the fact that Dr. Ramon Corral, who as vice president would assume the presidency on the death of Diaz, "was not the free choice of the people for the position to which he was elected." Says the New York World: "A wiser and more enlightened ruler than Diaz, although holding to his theories of a strong centralized government, would have prepared for the future by instructing the people gradually in the real meaning of the word republic. Today he is reaping the harvest of rebellion and civil strife which so many autocrats have gathered through blindness to the consequences of their acts and policies."—Literary Digest.

In England the changes of sentiment that cause the oscillations of the political pendulum, putting one great party in power only to dispossess it and restore the other, are under constant study and observation. As members of the House of Commons from time to time either die or resign, so-called "by-elections," or special elections, are held in their constituencies to fill the vacancies. And as a number of these occur in every year, it is possible for experienced political statisticians to note rather accurately the changing trend of public opinion. Although in our larger country, with our party questions complicated by many State and local issues, it is not quite so easy as in England to keep accurate measurement of the changing tides of party strength, it is not difficult in a general way to follow the larger oscillations of politics. We have had a series of Republican Congresses, and the last two—including the one which will begin its short session December 5 and expire on the 4th of March—have had decisive Republican majorities. Yet it has been quite plain to keen and impartial observers that if a Congressional election were to be held at any time since July, 1909, the Republican majority would practically vanish and the Democrats would probably control the House.

The country was profoundly dissatisfied with the Payne-Aldrich tariff, and was shocked to have that tariff praised by those who were expected to do nothing more than to explain it or give reasonable excuses for its faults. The special election in Massachusetts caused by the death of Congressman Lovings, which resulted in the election of a Democrat in a strong Republican district, showed plainly that Massachusetts and New England were in a state of revolution against the Republican party. Mr. Foss had made the tariff the principal issue. A Democratic victory in the Rochester, N. Y., district, following the death of Congressman Perkins, again resulted in a striking Democratic victory, the issues being twofold—namely, the Payne-Aldrich tariff and the misadventures of certain Republican leaders in New York. This reaction against the Republican party was so evident throughout the entire country that as the time began to approach, last June, for primary elections, conventions, platform-making, and the choice of candidates, there were very few politicians in the Republican ranks who had the slightest notion that the party in power could hold Congress or could carry either New York or Ohio. It would be able to deny the fact that the merits of the Taft administration were at that time overlooked, and that it was intensely unpopular.—Review of Reviews.

The National Conservation association have made some wise recommendations as to the disposition of the power sites now withdrawn from entry. Since the Snake river, with its marvellous opportunity for development, is the great factor in building up this section, the disposition of the few power sites withdrawn on the Snake is of surpassing interest to the people of this tract. The suggestions for use of government power sites on the lease basis are some of them below:

1. Water power development should be:
  1. Prompt. Power sites should be developed, not laid unused for speculative purposes.
  2. Complete. Cheap and partial development for large and quick profits should not take place so as to prevent full development for moderate profits. The rich cream should not be skimmed and the milk thrown away.
  3. Orderly. Every stream is a unit from source to mouth. It should be applied to human needs (irrigation, navigation, irrigation, power, etc.) in such order of preference or in such combination as will be of greatest public benefit.
  4. All the above standards should be reasonable in view of economic conditions and business possibilities.
- II. Private enterprise is not self-sufficient to assure to the public such development as is outlined above. Public aid is needed in one or more of the following ways:
  1. Corporate franchises. Especially the perpetual succession and limited liability incident to the modern corporation.
  2. Authority to use private lands without the owner's consent, if consent is refused. (Eminent domain.)
  3. The same as to private water rights.
  4. Authority to use publicly owned lands.
  5. The same as to water rights in public ownership.
  6. Authority to obstruct navigable rivers.
  7. Authority to assess the cost of water storage upon the lands specially benefited thereby. All power sites below the reservoir are so benefited.
  8. Public construction, ownership and operation of storage reservoirs with like assessment of the special benefits. (This is the New York plan.)
  9. The public construction, ownership and operation of transmission lines. (The Ontario Power commission plan.)
- III. In seeking such public aid the water companies may rightfully demand:
  1. Certainty of tenure. Leases and franchises should be irrevocable, except for a breach of condition, for a fixed term of years.
  2. Reasonable compensation to the burdens (rentals, etc.) assumed by the company. (Some men of experience in hydro-electric development say it is entirely practicable to have rental value readjusted by agreement every ten years and in default of agreement by arbitration. Such conditions are, they say, common in leases of privately owned real estate.)

3. Adjudication of differences by an impartial tribunal. The courts should pass upon forfeitures and other penalties for breach of the conditions of the franchise, privilege or lease.
4. A fair chance for a generous profit on the investment. This will encourage development.
5. To these should be added: Fair compensation for permanent works taken from the company at the expiration of its franchise, lease or privilege.

IV. As its part of the bargain the public may rightfully demand, in addition to prompt, complete and orderly development:

1. Efficient service.
2. Equal service to all like consumers without discrimination.
3. Fair prices to consumers.
4. A reasonable time limit for leases, franchises and privileges.
5. Accurate information as to costs and profits.

6. Honest capitalization on the basis of cost.
7. Full rental for public property used. Rentals will not increase the cost to consumers because: (a) The share of rental chargeable to the consumer, roughly fixed by the competition of steam plants, actual or potential.
8. Continuous operation of the plant. There should be no artificial limitation of output to raise prices or restrict service. Good business policy might secure this result without regulation by the public.
9. A veto power on all assignments of privileges. Such assignments and the combination of separate enterprises by tying together several different power developments to serve a single territory are often advantageous to the public. They will sometimes present new problems and require new conditions for the protection of the public interest.

TIMELY HINTS FOR FARMERS

Whitewash a Good Disinfectant.
The barn should be dusted often and whitewashed at least once a year not only to give them a good appearance and make the stable lighter, but to purify them and kill any germs of disease that may be collected on walls and ceilings. Whitewash is one of the cheapest disinfectants known and should be a part of the routine practice every year, and by use of a small fruit spray pump the work can be accomplished more quickly and far more effectively than when applied with a brush, as it can be driven into every crack and corner. The lime should be thoroughly slacked and strained through a fine wire screen or cloth and mixed with water so as to run nicely through the nozzle. A half bushel of lime will make about thirty gallons of whitewash. This should be used while fresh, as it loses its power to kill germ life after standing.

Success With Alfalfa.
The theory that a nurse crop will prevent the weeds choking the alfalfa is apparently a rule not well founded. In the first place alfalfa should not be sown on foot land, and the second place proper disk and harrowing at near intervals for four or six weeks before sowing will disturb or kill far more weeds than can any nurse crop. Besides, the oats or barley sown as a nurse will when cut leave a weedy and good growth or dormant alfalfa ready to spring up as fast or faster than the alfalfa. No nurse crop is ever used with fall sowing. When ground has been thoroughly prepared for the preceding crop and then properly cared for and made ready for alfalfa by the preliminary weed destruction, it will be found advisable to sow alfalfa alone, even in the spring.—From Coburn's "The Book of Alfalfa."

Carrots Good For Cattle.
Those who have one or two cows and pieces of ground that may be filled should not fail to sow a few rows of half long carrot seed. If sown by hand the seed should be scattered so as to make a row of a couple of inches broad. They should be sown fifteen to sixteen inches apart. Keep them clean, but do not thin them when the seed has been prudently sown. When autumn comes the amount of good food furnished will be a matter of surprise. Until freezing weather the carrots may be simply pulled up and fed without chopping or slicing.

Setting the Dairy Herd.
If you have only common cows breed them to a male of standard dairy breed and the result will give grade animals. These half blood grade animals bred in the same line will give animals more nearly pure bred, and this breeding and selection with advantage will result in some of the producing animals that will make money for the breeder or the man who buys them.

ECONOMY OF SILAGE FOR DAIRY COWS.

Result of a Feeding Test at the Ohio Experiment Station.

The Ohio experiment station instituted a careful test to determine the economy and efficiency of ensilage. They took two cows. To one was fed a ration made of 53 pounds of ensilage made of corn and soy beans, 8.5 pounds of mixed hay, 2 pounds of bran and 2 pounds of oilmeal. To the other cow was fed a ration made of 6.4 pounds of hay, 4.7 pounds of corn stover, 6 pounds of bran, 5 pounds of cornmeal and 2.5 pounds of oilmeal. The two rations are practically about the same value, but the cows found a marked difference.

Dust Bath For Cows.
A good dust bath should be provided for all cows at all times. Dry road dust is one of the best absorbents and lice killers to put in the coops or under the perches. In winter it is the best of dust baths. It is very easily obtained and costs nothing but the time of storing it away.

Protection For Orchard Trees.
A lime wash which has been found a good protection for trees against rabbits is simply to wet enough unslaked lime to the point of consistency, add a little carbolic acid to the substance and paint the trunks of the orchard trees.

Test and Weigh the Milk.
When you admit that you haven't time to test and weigh the milk so as to keep a record of each cow you haven't time to dairy right.

IN THE REALM OF FASHION

For the Dance.
French models have shown conspicuously wide ribbon girdles all summer, and the idea will be repeated on evening gowns this winter, especially on costumes designed for young girls. Most of the new evening models show an empire effect, and this demands such ends and beautiful ribbons wide and soft enough to be drawn gracefully about the figure. French models usually show the large Japanese bow at the back, with or without long fringed ends. The effect of the bow is extremely quaint and gives a new touch to the regulation evening gown.

SMOCK WITH NEW BUTTERFLY BOW.

The tunic, which clings quite closely to the figure, is trimmed with pink satin roses, and a festoon of roses and leaves also decorates the white chintilly sounce. The wide sash and ends are of chintilly, and the frills on the cuffs, droupy and sleeves are also of lace.

The gown, which is unusually beautiful, may be developed in a much more simple and inexpensive way, for instead of the lace sash one of ribbon may be worn, and the chintilly droupy may be replaced by one of inexpensive lace or net.

Ribbons form an important part in the millinery world this season, for many of the smartest hats have huge ribbon bows as their sole decoration. When used on the pot stamped hat they are usually very rich, showing gold and silver threads or handsome raised effects.

NEW FASHIONS FOR THE WINTER.

Satin Feutre the Most Unique of All Silk Fabrics.

This unprecedented season of silks is not a mere whim of fashion, but has been an entirely necessary consequence of the fact that the value of silks has increased each season until this, when now it seems as though the pinnacle of success has been reached.

Satin feutre is probably the most unique of the new silk fabrics. During the summer Miss Parisienne created the satin tailored suit. Regular weaves of satin answered the purpose for warm weather and the quite clinging attire of summer. But another satin fabric was absolutely necessary for the success of satin suits for winter. Madame demanded satin! So there was nothing left for the weaver to do but combine it with something else. And he did! A tontre (or felt) stuff was woven on one side and satin on the other. This finish gives sufficient "body" for satisfactory tailoring, besides providing a bit of warmth. Now fickle Paris has become enthusiastic over the felt side of the fabric and is working it up on the exterior instead of interior.

Satin feutre is a similar fabric woven with a lightweight woolen back. This is more soft and clinging and is better adapted for gowns and wraps.

Enormous Muffs in Style.
The enormous muffs which still prevail look very well in wolver's skins, provided the extremely handsome kind is used which bears a likeness to silver fox. So again, in the new season seem Isabella hats they are effective. The very dark gray squirrel with a brownish stripe in the back makes a lovely wide stole and rich muffs combined with dark milk for those who like a combination of furs and so called beaver made up very supple and limp, but this looks best by itself.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

The Remedy.
"Sir," he said as he stalked into the clergyman's study, "you are the man who has the best I believe."
"I beg your pardon?" said the clergyman, looking up from his sermon.
"You performed the marriage ceremony for me, didn't you?"
"Yes, certainly, Mr. Billings. What now?"
"Then you know what the rights of a husband are?"
"Why, yes, in a general way."
"And the rights of a wife?"
"Of course."
"Well, now, sir," said the caller, drawing a chair up to the clergyman's desk and taking a seat, "has a wife a license to torture a husband?"
"Certainly not."
"If she makes his life miserable he has redress, of course?"
"Yes, but should advise—"
"Never mind your advice now. We'll come to that later. My wife complains that I don't share often enough."
"Oh, that's a small matter."
"Is it, sir? Just wait! I told her that that was my affair, and then she taught the children to cry when I kissed them, so that she could say that my rough chin hurt them."
"That hardly showed a Christian!"
"Wait a minute! Yesterday morning I found the children with the cylinder of a broken music box. You know how that seems to the touch?"
"Certainly."
"Well, she'd taught them to call it 'Papa's chin.'"
"Really, sir, I must admit—"
"Wait till I finished. Today one of them got up on my knee, passed his hand over my chin and called it 'Papa's music box.' Now, sir, I ask of you as a Christian man and as the man who has tied the knot, what shall I do?"
"Get shaved," replied the clergyman softly as he returned to his work.—TR-124.

Clever Animals.
The correspondent of the Scotsman who saw a group of highland cattle standing around a sheep that was lying on its back, and further, saw one of the animals proceed to raise it to its feet by inserting its horns under its ribs, comments on the way in which the dog entered a smoking carriage and, objecting to the gentleman who found there finishing his cigar, snatched the cigar from him and threw it out of the window, whereas the gentleman retaliated by treating her dog with a dose of the same article.

Round and Round.
A visiting friend had just given a penny to each of the children in the family and complimented them upon the vast wealth they had in their savings bank.
"Oh, yes," chirped little Jessie. "Every time we take our cent or all without crying mamma gives us a penny."
"And what do you do with all the money?" the visitor wanted to know.
"Mamma buys more cent or all with it."—Success Magazine.

Setting an Example.
Comanche Pete happened along just as the Salvation Army girl at the street corner was taking up the collection.
He glanced at the pile of pennies in the tambourine.
Then he threw in a silver dollar.
"Gosh," he muttered, passing on, "there don't seem to be a real sport in the hull blamed crowd."—Chicago Tribune.

The Effects of Good Fortune.
"How did Pansy take the news of his good fortune?"
"Oh, yes," he replied, "she married him and knocked him speechless."
"Oh, well, he'll get over that."
"I'm not so sure. He was out with the boys all the afternoon and evening, and when I saw him after midnight he was yawning and still speechless."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Natural Query.
My little nephew listened open mouthed at the description of a railroad accident in which a very serious case of strangling—when one of the family remarked, "I think he could get damage from the railroad," the little fellow was puzzled and broke out with, "But, father, hasn't he got damages enough now?"—Delineator.

Some Hat.
Howell—Why did you move out of Rhodo Island?
Powell—My wife got a hat that more than covered the whole state, reaching over to Massachusetts, and I was afraid I'd bump up against the interstate commerce act.—New York Press.

A Good Actor.
"I see you have an actor employed on the farm."
"Yes, I put him on. He's a darn good actor too. I thought he was working the first week he was here."—Kansas City Journal.

A Good Habit.
Success in life is not so difficult as it generally believed. It is a habit. Once acquired, it is as easy as being lazy.—Aitchison Globe.
Summer in Newport.
"Well, old fellow, how's your wife?"
"Which one?"—Life.

THE EYES

Use One-third of the nerve force generated by the brain, and being in the greatest sympathetic nervous system, are at liberty when strained or overworked in any way, to draw an extra supply of nerve force at the expense of the system, such as the stomach, back, head, etc., which in turn you hear from in the form of stomach trouble, headache, dizziness, nervousness, sleeplessness, poor memory, etc., etc. In fact if the eyes are defective and weakening vital forces, if your eyes or head trouble you, take warning and have your sight properly attended to. # CERTIFICATES of DEPOSIT

Of Interest To Investors

The Government Bond idea adapted to Savings Bank methods. This should interest you. Why?

Because this plan is new and a vast improvement over old forms and because the certificates are issued for three years instead of one only, and have interest coupons attached SAME AS BONDS.

Because the interest is 4 per cent, PAYABLE SEMI-ANNUALLY for three years.

Because they are issued in denominations of $100.00 only, so if need be you can cash one without disturbing the interest on others.

Because the trouble of looking after money invested this way is very little. You simply remove interest coupons and cash them at this bank or any other.

Because they can be used as collateral to their face value and are convertible into cash at any time.

Because they can be purchased and interest collected by mail.

Because if you will write us we will mail you a sample Certificate for inspection.

If requested we will send a representative to show these Certificates of Deposit and tell you all about it.

You Can Also Open a Small Savings Account on Deposit of $5, $3 or even $1 and we will loan you free a handsome little steel safe holding about $15.00 in silver. Into that you drop your daily savings and deposit here when convenient. Interest 4 per cent, compounded semi-annually and you can draw your money any time.

HOW RICE PAPER IS MADE

Pulp of Aralia Tree is Used and Not Rice as is Popularly Supposed.

The so-called rice paper is not made from rice, as its name implies, but from the arrow wood pith of a tree belonging to the genus Aralia, a genus represented in this country by the common sarsaparilla and the spikenard. The tree grows in Formosa, and, so far as is known, nowhere else.

The stems are transported to China and there the rice paper is made. It is used, aside from a number of other purposes, by the native artists for water color drawings, and sometimes it is dyed in various colors and made into artificial flowers.

The tools of the pith worker comprise a smooth stone about a foot square and a large knife or hatchet with a short wooden handle. The blade is about a foot long, two inches broad and nearly half an inch thick at the back, and it is as sharp as a razor.

Placing a piece of the cylindrical pith on the stone, and his left hand on the top, the pith worker will roll the pith backward and forward for a moment until he gets it in the required position.

Then, seizing the knife with his right hand, he will hold the edge of the blade, after a faint or two, close to the pith, which he will keep rolling to the left with his left hand until nothing remains to unroll; for the pith has, by the application of the knife, been pared into a square white sheet of uniform thickness. All that remains to be done is to square the edges.

If one will roll up a sheet of paper, lay it on the table, place the left hand on top and gently unroll it to the left he will have a good idea of how the feat is accomplished.

FIND ROOM FOR THIN FOLKS

Traveling Man Saves Hour's Time Because He Gets In With Herd of Cassiauses.

"Because I am thin myself and was fortunate enough to strike a bunch of lean folks I saved an hour's time on my last trip to Boston," said the traveling man.

"About two hours before train time I went over to Harvard night school. A guide who conducts tourists through the university buildings in groups of 20 had just rounded up the registration number, and was starting out on a trip, but when he saw me and two other hatter jawed chaps, he came into view he called out: 'Come on, you three; these are the rooms for you also.'"

"Before we had passed the second exhibit the head guide came up, counted us, and reprimanded our guide for exceeding the number."

"The guide at right," said our man. "They're all thin."

"Apparently that excuse was satisfactory to the head guide, for he nodded and went away, but it caused the herd of Cassiauses to clamor for further explanation. They got it."

"Visitors can see and hear satisfactorily only at a certain distance from the exhibits," he said. "Fat people take up so much room that in a big party some one is sure to be crowded out, but thin folks like you squeeze up close, and two or three more do not inconvenience anybody."

"When we came out an hour later we met the next party just going in. If I had been fat I should have had to waste all that time waiting for them."

Du Quesne's First Fight.

A monument of the gallant Admiral Du Quesne has just been provided at Houchet, where he was buried in 1688, and the story of his first fight is therefore apposite. He was the son of a ship builder, and at the age of 17 was placed in command of one of his father's vessels. He sailed forth, equipped a Dutch vessel, boarded it, compelled it to surrender and brought it into port. Not until he had been carried through the streets in triumph on the shoulders of the fellow townsmen did it occur to the officials that France and Holland were at peace. That fact being admitted, legal proceedings had to follow, as the result of which the youthful captain was warned to be more careful another time. Richelieu, however, heard of his exploit, and without considering the comity of nations offered him a commission in the navy.

Self-Education.

The education, moral and intellectual, of every individual must chiefly be his own work. There is a prevailing and fatal mistake on this subject. It seems to be supposed that, if a young man be sent first to a grammar school, and then to a college, he must, of course, become a scholar; and the pupil himself is apt to imagine that, as he is to be the more passive recipient of instruction, as he is of the light and atmosphere which surround him. But this dream of indolence must be dispelled, and young men must be awakened to the important truth that, if they aspire to excellence, they must become active and vigorous co-operators with their teachers, and work out their own directions with an ardor that cannot be quenched, a perseverance that considers nothing done while anything yet remains to be done.

Build the Fence Strong.

Build the line fence strong enough to keep your own and your neighbor's stock on the right side, but do not have it so high that it will prevent you from being neighborly.

"Give Us More Fruit" Cry The People of the Cities

One of the most serious problems of the present day is the supplying our rapidly growing population with the necessities of life. That the supply is not equal to the demand is shown by the fact, increasing every year, that the Government investigations of these conditions may discover lots of things, but upon the farmer will be laid the responsibility of overcoming them. WE MUST GO BACK TO THE SOIL. The people of the cities are consumers—not producers—and from them.

Drugs up a continuous cry for more fruit—better fruit. "The doctor says," they have better than ever before, that drugs will not take the place of proper food—and the proper food to prevent many of the ills of mankind is fruit. Therefore, they are advising people to eat fruit and plenty of it. You know the old adage: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Doctors are working on this principle, BUT THE PEOPLE CAN'T GET THE FRUIT. What is the city market doing to bring about these things, and is often poor in quality. The farmer who can put into market high-class fruit, packed properly, may demand his own price for it, and a good orchard these days is better than a gold mine—for the mine, may run out. To produce good fruit you must have good trees and plants.

You Have the Place to Grow Fruit, We Have Fruit Trees and Plants—Let's Combine and Win

We grow only tested fruits—the kind that can be depended upon, and we have been supplying trees and plants to the same people for years. Persons who once buy from us come back year after year, and we don't believe there is another nursery in this section of the country that has so many steady customers. This shows that our product is right, and our prices are right.

Let us show you our liberal terms—and we will convince you of the great advantages of getting your trees and plants from us.

MIGHTY RULERS OF EARTH

Elizabeth of England and Theodore of Abyssinia Had Many Traits in Common.

Elizabeth, queen of England, had many claims to great distinction. Her very name was Tudor, a contraction, it seems, of Theodore, "the gift of God," an epithet of happy omen associated with the mighty rulers of the east, among whom may be mentioned the African king, Theodore of Abyssinia. This monarch is described in the Encyclopaedia Britannica as a "man of education and intelligence, superior to those among whom he lived, with natural talents for government and gaining the esteem of others. He had a noble bearing, and a frame capable of enduring any amount of fatigue, and he was the best shot and the best horseman in Abyssinia. He was generous to excess and free from cupidity, but subject to violent bursts of anger."

Elizabeth also possessed many of these royal traits of character, at least she was not really Tudor but rather Owen or Meredith, though "God would not suffer her to have a sir name because by his grace and goodness she should deserve for her imperial virtues to be called Elizabeth the great." "She was," said Coke, "the phoenix of her sex; she was Agrippa's Amor," familiar with French, Italian and Spanish and learned in Latin and Greek; and "as the rose is the queen of flowers."

Who was the queen of queens? You cannot question what rose I mean; for take the rose of the white, she was not only by royal descent and inherent brightness, but by royal beauty also, heir to both."

Whether or not Elizabeth deserved this praise, and even if she had no right to bear the royal name of the rose, she was fortunate enough to lend her own to the most glorious period of her country's history.—Yale Review.

Moving Pictures of Insects.

A French inventor, Monsieur Bull, has perfected a cinematograph by which pictures of insects in flight may be taken, and afterward exhibited in motion upon a screen, or a stereoscopic apparatus. As many as 2,000 images per second may be made, but to stir the movement made by the flying insects, as represented by the images, the latter can be caused to pass with relatively great deliberation, so that only 15 or 16, or even only two or three succeed on another picture. By an ingenious device Monsieur Bull causes the insect, if set to make an electric contact, and thus set the apparatus in motion at the beginning of its flight.

WHAT CURES ECZEMA?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. D., can be relied upon to cure thousands of cases of Eczema. It cleanses, soothes and heals the skin.

Because—D. D. D. starts the cure at the foundation of the trouble.

Because—it cleanses, soothes and heals the skin.

Because—it enables Nature to repair the ravages of disease.

Because—the records of 10 years of complete cures of thousands of the most serious cases show that D. D. D. is today recognized as the absolutely reliable Eczema Cure.

Before you try it today, just to talk over your case with us. City Pharmacy, Sprague & Wiley.

OWNERSHIP OF A LETTER

Mislead Does Not Belong to Person to Whom it is Sent Until Delivered.

Under the postal regulations and the rulings of the highest courts of the United States a letter does not belong to the person to whom it is sent until it is delivered to him. The writer has a right to reclaim and regain possession of it, provided he can prove to the satisfaction of the postmaster at the office from which it was sent that he was the writer of it. Even after the letter has arrived at the office which is its destination, and before it has been handed to the person to whom it is addressed, it may be recalled by the writer by telegraph through the mailing office.

The regulations of the postoffice department of course require that the utmost care shall be taken by the postmaster at the office of mailing to ascertain that the person who desires to withdraw the letter is really the one who is entitled to do so, and the postmaster is responsible for his error if he delivers the letter to the improper or to an unauthorized person.

The vital principle in our political system lies at the bottom of the servant or agent of the citizen—not his master. It remains merely his master if he is an unauthorized person. He is the servant of the citizen, but it cannot stir his responsibility to him.

4000 SHEEP

Can be wintered on the alfalfa from one good quarter-section; and this is one of the best; $100 per acre, 160 A., S. W. 1/4 5-11-18.

$2700 handles it. $1000 per year, beginning 1913. Put this all in alfalfa, then BUY or BORROW the Sheep. This land, handled in this way, will pay itself out with a good balance besides.

$1300 will handle the North 80, with $500 annual payments. In addition to installments on water and state contracts.

DAIRY FARM

80 acres only 1/2 mile from depot at Filer, 60 improved, $85 per acre, easy terms. Would take Twin Falls city property in exchange in amount of $1000 to $1500.

GUARANTEED INVESTMENT

Relinquishment of 40 acres on Salmon R. tract. $500. Worth, at present basis, about $600. This is an unusual proposition, but there are no strings to it. Will give purchaser a written agreement to take it off his hands, at his option, between July 1st and August 1st next year and return him his money in full. We are confident it will be worth $1000 or better at that time.

BOISE, IDAHO

IS AGAIN AT THE HOTEL.

I have been coming to your city every forty-two days now for some years, and you no doubt are familiar with my methods of doing optical work and the success which I have been having in the relief of Eye Strain, Nervousness and Headache. My success is due largely to the fact that I look after each case myself, personally, following it up and watching closely for one year, and any changes in lenses necessary during that time I make at my own expense.

EVEN EXAMINED FREE.

My method has been for 16 years to make a thorough examination for any one who comes to me, explaining to them what is needed and what the expense will be to have work done, but I want them to feel under no obligations to me if the price quoted or the examination is not satisfactory.

This is my special work, and if you are interested you are invited to call, should call also at this time.

HEYBURN HAS MAIL ROBBERY

Thief Lits Window of Depot and Carries Away Pouch.

Heyburn was visited by a burglar or burglars on Wednesday. Early in the morning, between the hours of 3 o'clock and daylight, a mail pouch was taken out of the depot office, and "The Ogle's" postroom was broken into and about $13 in money taken.

The mail pouch was secured at the depot by the thief hitting one of the windows in the lower office, where the sack was lying alongside the stove. The mail bag came in on the 8:15 train from Twin Falls, and the postal authorities say that it contained nothing of value. A United States mail inspector arrived on the noon train and went to work on the case.

Henry Pridan left his place at 3 o'clock A. M., and after that hour the burglar entered the postroom by boring holes in the back door. The slot machine was "touched" and $10 was taken from the cash register. Twenty-one dollars in cash, the proceeds of a raffle, was lying in a cigar box behind the bar, but it was not touched. Ed Hebb was sleeping in his room not ten feet away from the door where the thief entered, but was not disturbed. It is probable that the thief will be caught, seeing that Uncle Sam is on his trail.—Southern Idaho Review.

PAROLE OFFERED ORCHARD.

Man Convicted of Murder of Governor Steunenberg Fears to Leave Jail.

Harry Orchard has admitted that he was offered his parole from the Idaho state prison at Boise. The man convicted of the murder of Governor Frank Steunenberg of Idaho, and now serving a life sentence for the crime, will not accept the parole.

According to his statement he fears death from the friends of the men on whom his confession cast suspicions in connection with the long list of crimes which he asserts he committed, and regards the walls of the state prison of Idaho at Boise as his best protection.

The story of the alleged parole offered to Orchard is given out by "Uncle Alfred" Wright, prison evangelist, who claims credit for the conversion of Harry Orchard in his cell at the state prison. Wright believes the story told by Orchard and has all confidence in the sincerity of the conversion of the prisoner.

The election of James H. Hawley as Governor, may play an important part in the life of Orchard, it is said. Mr. Hawley was chief counsel for the state during the federation trials and used Orchard extensively to prove his case. At that time and particularly after the trial, Governor Gooding was lenient with the confessed murderer, and then warden of the penitentiary showed him every possible favor, even to releasing him, allowing him to be sued as a "trusty." Mr. Hawley will be a member of the board of pardons. It is strongly hinted he will show Orchard all possible leniency.

TO INDUCE IMMIGRATION.

Commercial Club Anxious to Start Movement Here of Desirable Class.

Believing that there is a need for more producers on the farms of this section, the secretary of the Commercial club has this week addressed a letter to the Danish consular in New York, asking him to look into the matter of securing farmers for this section. As is well known, the Danes are thrifty farmers, and can adapt themselves to the intensive farming that will later be the rule on this tract.

The action of Secretary Sjanger is in line with the policy pursued by other states. A number of states have agents in the foreign countries who see that groups of desirable settlers are brought to the states that they are interested in. Instead of the immigrant remaining in the congested portions of the east he is induced to come west.

The preliminary caution is taken that only the desirable immigrants are permitted to make the trip. Then if the group is induced to come to the western state, that state is sure of a good class of citizens.

A Portland, Ore., dispatch, in speaking of this matter in that state, has the following to say:

Obviously, Oregon does not seek foreigners of all classes to populate its vacant lands. But among the arrivals there is a fair proportion of those who are able and willing to purchase or rent farms and who would be glad to come to Oregon for that purpose if they knew of the great opportunities here for such settlers.

Colonies of our business foreigners have been located in various parts of Oregon with splendid results. Southern Oregon has a Bohemian colony that is giving a good account of itself.

Washington county has a settlement of Hollanders whose farms are among the best in the state. Thrifty farmers of this sort are a big asset to Oregon and their additions to the state's wealth each year add to the general prosperity. More producers like them are very desirable.

"I want to see Oregon take steps to get its share of this immigration and to furnish the information division at Washington with full data respecting our state," said Judge Carey in discussing his subject. "I shall endeavor to point out the way in which this can be done without involving the state in expense, and I believe that by utilizing this means we shall be able to get the best and industrious people here in districts that need colonization and settlement."

NOTICE OF WRIT OF ATTACHMENT

In the District Court of the Fourth Judicial District of the State of Idaho, in and for Twin Falls County.

Warner Bros. Plaintiff, vs. Louis J. Miller and Harley E. Chaffer, Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that on Dec. 3rd, 1910, a writ of attachment was issued out of the above entitled court in the above entitled action, attaching the property of the above named defendants for the sum of $255.00. Attorney fee, $25.00.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of my office this 6th day of December, 1910. H. T. WEST, Clerk of the District Court, Dec 6-13 By C. C. Siglin, Deputy, Warner Bros. Attorney for Plaintiff.

To be business manager of a home--which is the position of most every housewife--is to appreciate the helplessness of the ads. For a home that is managed by a housewife who does not read ads is managed EXPENSIVELY.

Merely to find a bargain once in a while is not what makes it PAY A HOUSEWIFE TO READ THE ADS. She becomes EDUCATED AS A BUYER--which is the sort of education a housewife most needs.

Advertising will not sell even a high-class article for more than its worth. Ad-readers "know-it-ness" and merchants know that they do. Hence, if a merchant were trying to sell something at "top price" he would be afraid to advertise it.

WANTED--At The Times' office, clean, cotton rags, at once.

In the Probate Court in and for Twin Falls County, State of Idaho.

In the matter of the estate of Mary L. Stuller, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that L. A. Warner, administrator of the above named estate, has filed heroin his petition for the sale of certain real estate, belonging to said estate described as follows, to-wit: An undivided one-half interest in the south half (S 1/2) of the Southwest quarter (SW 1/4) and the Southeast quarter (SE 1/4) of Section thirty-four (S. 34) Township ten South, Range seventeen (R. 17), E. B. M., and that by order of this court, made on the twenty-sixth day of December, 1910, at ten o'clock A. M. of said day at the court room of said court in the city and county of Twin Falls, Idaho, has been appointed as the time and place of the hearing of said petition, and all persons interested in said estate, are hereby notified that they may appear at said time and place and show cause why said order and decree, or either of them, should not be granted as prayed for in said petition.

Dated this the twenty-eighth day of November, 1910. MURIEL SHIELDS, Clerk.

Fossils and Gold.

In Alaska the bones, and often the entire bodies of extinct animals, such as the mammoth, the mastodon, the reindeer, and the bison, are found most abundantly in layers of soil directly above gold-bearing gravels. So intimate is this association between fossil and gold remains and auriferous deposits that one scientist, who has lately explored Alaska, says fossilic servo prospectors as indexes of the metallic richness of the soil. In ancient times both the gold and the bones and bodies of the animals were deposited at the bottoms of valleys by action of rivers and smaller streams, many of which have now disappeared. Consequently the appearance of fossils is, it is claimed, an almost certain indication that gold will be found in the neighborhood. The cabins of many miners are ornamented with huge tusks and antlers unearthed in the diggings.

As to Absent Friends.

There is an unfortunate tendency with some people to talk in a disparaging way about absent acquaintances. "Oh, she's very nice, but--" and this "but" often leads up to a quite unnecessary and unkind comment. The golden rule to observe in talking about people is to speak exactly as though they were present and say, "How nice. Everything goes by reputation, and I don't always favorably. Bishop Beveridge once said: "Reserve never to speak of a man's faults before his face, nor of his faults behind his back" and faultfinders and fasteners would do well to bear this in mind.

GETTING WHAT YOU WANT

Many Wish to Prosper, But Do Not Wish It Enough to Make Sacrifices.

You ordered your steak well-done. The waiter brought it to you rare. You ate it, although you do not like rare steak. You could have sent the steak back and had it the way you wanted it. You didn't take the trouble. You wanted well-done steak, but you didn't want it enough. That is the way lots of people go through life. They wish to be prosperous, but they do not wish it enough to make the self-sacrifices necessary for saving. They wish to be well-educated, but they do not take the time to read the books that would increase their knowledge. Yet the old German proverb, "What a man wills he can," is true. You can have what you wish, if you wish hard enough.

Suppose you make up your mind that you are going to get to the top in your office. If you really wish to do can. There will be opportunities to master details in positions above yours. If you are really working for your wish, you will grasp these, even if it means unpaid overtime or the sacrifice of personal pleasure. Map out the course in life you wish to follow, get as a goal whatever place you wish to attain, then keep consistently work-walking, doing everything you can to attain your end. You will get there every time--Exchange.

To Business Women.

A recent number of the Commercial Tribune has some sensible remarks on the subject of the business woman's appearance. The personal appearance impresses one with the business faculty of a young woman. "It adds considerably to the business value of a woman, no matter in what humble capacity she may be, to consider personal cleanliness and neatness in dress." Tid garments, topped by a clean, natural complexion and neatly arranged hair, will aid in securing a position and help to hold it. There is something most businesslike in keeping up one's appearance, whether a woman is employed in an office, a factory or in the kitchen.

Nowadays ad-reading women rarely buy a thing simply because it's a bargain--even if it's not needed. Nor do they often buy more than they ought to pay for things that are needed--for they know "how" and "where" and "when" to buy.

WHEN YOUR WIFE FAINTS

New Method of Resuscitation More Effective Than Usual Way of Applying Friction.

When my wife faints, which is miserably often, I do not apply friction in the usual about way--rubbing backward and forward, which must alternately check and accelerate the passage of the blood--but taking hold of one of her hands with my left hand I place the thumb and finger of my right hand tight around her wrist and pass them firmly up toward her elbow. Having brought them back loosely to the wrist I pass them firmly up again, and when I have repeated the operation two or three times, sometimes on both arms, I have the pleasure of hearing the circulation. "I feel better now." When I first had recourse to this means of resuscitating my lady she exclaimed instinctively on two different occasions, without being at all aware that I had had any particular intention, "Oh, that is what I seem to want."

From the invariable and immediate effect of this mode of friction I flatter myself that it is not unworthy the notice of the medical practitioner in the friction of cholera patients, a process which should be much oftener resorted to and more energetically persisted in than it generally is.--Letter to the Lancet.

Sleeping Over a Volcano.

Nature makes many successful experiments in having old dogs, lions, tigers and men go without teeth. As a matter of fact, beauty is the main use of teeth in civilized man. People with bad and rotting mouths, no matter how wealthy they seem, are sweetly sleeping over a volcano that may blow them into eternity any minute. Say along comes a fierce epidemic of grippe, the bad mouth sets up and swells up the whole face and head and throat and lungs, then septic lung fever, pneumonia and death. And there is the eternal danger of cancer from rotten teeth. No teeth are better than bad ones that can't be saved. Crown teeth are all to the good if done right. Millions of crowns in people's mouths today without any sore gums or gum boils or abscesses or swollen head and face.

Business is conducted at such a tension that you don't know your favorite store today simply because you visited it last week--or even yesterday! For a store renews itself every day--and your store may be yours no longer to you today as it was a week ago today.

PLEASURES OF ANTICIPATION

Desire is Much, but Realization is Less Colorful and Pleasurable.

The housewife who complained that she "had longed for ten years to possess a brass bed, but now that she can get one she discovers that she wants a Napoleon bed in mahogany," has unwittingly summed up the whole phenomenon of human life. Practically all of our pleasures come from anticipation. Realization is much less colorful and pleasurable. The woman who had pictured for years a nice solid brass bed sitting on her rosewood carpet beside the mahogany dressing table and had warmed her spirit in the rosyate flames of that anticipation, has practically exhausted all the possibilities in the ownership of such a treasure. The treasure itself amounts to much less.

It is so with life. In youth we look forward longingly to the day when we can buy all the chocolate creams that we can eat, but on arriving at that defunct estate we discover that very few satisfy us. Anticipation dwelt upon a big round seal mound, but realization shows us that round mounds are passed, and that, besides, milk is the thing. We dream of an automobile--and before it is realized the flying machine appears on the horizon. Desire is much; realization is little. Give us our anticipations.

The Exiled Bucket.

It can't be possible that this new law affecting drinking cups and other receptacles really abolishes the "old paken bucket." It is true, of course, that in several towns of the state the well and its bucket are still in public use, and a man with an inordinate thirst prefers the bucket to the tin cup that generally accompanies it. But for sentiment's sake, let somebody that has been shrewd enough when the law was enacted to exempt the well-spring from the clutches of scientific progress. Hell to the disappearance of the public drinking cup, but "woops" for the exiled old bucket!

Death for Bacteria.

Bacteria that survive in sunlight are killed by the ultra-violet rays from mercury-vapor lamps with quartz tubes. Two French investigators report that the killing is not due to the formation of hydrogen peroxide or other chemical poison, but to the direct action of ultra-violet rays of extremely short wave-length. Such rays, abundant in artificial light from the quartz lamps near at hand, are filtered from sunlight by passage through the atmosphere.
