SELECT CULLINGS

The Cadet Finished Second.

General Clarence Edwards, chief of the insular bureau in the war department, tells a story to show that the college taught boxer is not always a match for the street fighter.

When he was a cadet at West Point he and his chum were walking down the street of the town.

"We were dressed from top to toe in the most approved manner," is the way the general describes the incident. "We had our chests thrown out, our backs hunched in, and our feet looked simply grand in shoes that might have been a little too small for us. We thought we could lick any man on earth. Just as we passed a saloon a regular plug-ugly sneered at us and said: "Get on to the lady soldiers!"

"I knew all about boxing, I thought, and squared off to give that fellow the beating of his life. The next thing I knew I was lying in the gutter with my head on the curbstone and a knot as big as a baseball on my forehead. He had given me one good blow and put me to sleep."—Washington Star.

A Tale of Two Cities.

It is nearly two years since Americans put their hands into their pockets for Messina and sent men and materials to build a temporary town. It is natural to ask, therefore, at about this time what Messina has done to recover itself. The answer appears to be: Next to nothing.

According to last reports, the city, as seen from the sea, looks just as it did immediately after the great disaster. It is a screen of masonry behind which are dust and desolation, impassable streets and general sleekness and incompetence.

The Sicilians are still hounding the Messian that is to be. Meanwhile they lodge in the American huts, and not even the rules are cleared away.

During these years San Francisco has rebuilt itself and is as lively, prosperous and helpful as ever. What a difference in the two countries! What a contrast between the two peoples!—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Famous Turkish Regiment.

Acting on instructions issued by the express and personal command of the sultan, measures are being taken by the Turkish war minister to re-establish the once famous regiment known as the janizary. The regiment, originally composed entirely of Christian slaves, chosen for their physical strength and prowess with arms, held at one time a unique position in the Turkish army and eventually gained such remarkable political power that the detroning of a sultan was the direct outcome of their endeavor. In 1826 Sultan Mahmoud II, finding the regiment had become a serious menace to the safety of the dynasty, decided that the corps should be disbanded, but this decision was only carried into effect after a sanguine and long drawn out conflict. The janizary, which is now being re-established after a lapse of over eighty years, will be a regiment of foot guards, forming a body-guard for the sultan.

Announced His Own Death.

New feature of the year is the realm of funeral rites. The printers of society stationery will not object if the example set by the late M. Louis Bousseaud, the famous French writer of love stories, should, become general.

eral. In addition to making all the arrangements for his funeral, he prepared the following notice and left instructions that a copy be sent to all his friends:

"Louis Bousseaud, author, has the honor of inviting you to his funeral, which will take place at Ekerennes (Loiret) on Monday, Sept. 12, 1910, at a quarter past 1 o'clock.

"Inconceivable for the death of his wife, he succumbs in his sixty-third year to a grief which nothing has been able to assuage.

"To his numerous friends and to his faithful readers he sends this supreme farewell!"—Argonaut.

A Smoke Deferred.

Uncle Joe Cannon is proud of the fact that he smokes pretty much all the time in any place he happens to frequent, but one day he met his match. He had lunch in a restaurant in Washington conducted especially for women. After finishing his lunch he put a cigar between his teeth and struck a match. Before he could light the cigar a red haired waitress ran up and snatched the weed out of his mouth. He protested vigorously. "I smoke in the Waldorf in New York," he argued, "and in the!"

"I don't know nothin' 'bout the Waldorf or the nothin' else," said the waitress with the red hair, "an' I don't care 'bout them, but the rules is rules, and it's a rule that no smokin' goes in here."

"I guess I'll wait until I get out," surrendered Uncle Joe.—Popular Magazine.

The Red Cross Dogs.

The important part played by dogs in the Red Cross service is told in Popular Mechanics. The Red Cross in France has a department for the special training of dogs, and through its efforts they are taught to search out the wounded and draw attention to their location. Untiring work has trained them not to bark or howl when coming upon a wounded soldier, but to retrieve some object belonging to him and carry it to the first Red Cross worker that can be found. When the worker takes the object from the dog's mouth the animal turns about and leads the way back.

Madman's Break for Freedom.

A lunatic in Norristown, Pa., won his freedom the other day through a baseball match. While the game between two teams of insane patients on the lawn of the Norristown hospital for the insane was in progress, the one player knocked the ball over the centerfield fence for a home run. William Reed, another inmate of the institution, who was playing in center field, leaped over the fence after the ball. The players waited for his return to go on with the game, but Reed failed to reappear. Then it dawned on the guards that the patient had escaped.

Poor Attention to Detail.

Critic—"My dear sir, your story is very much lacking in attention to detail. Here you say: 'He watched with admiration the fashionable beauty as she went up the street with free, graceful, swinging steps.'" Author—"Well, what's the matter with that?" "If she was a fashionable beauty, how could she walk that way today?"

PEN PORTRAITS OF NOTABLE PEOPLE

Theophile Braga, Head of Affairs in Portugal.

Dr. Theophile Braga, president of the provisional government of Portugal, is one of the most popular men of that country, where he is known as the "wise man." He is a philosopher, a poet and a man of high moral character. It is said that he is esteemed by his countrymen much as Tolstoy is by the Russians. Dr. Braga is about sixty years of age, is of good family and is a man of some wealth. Although he is not a son of the people, he is the most noted speaker in Portugal on republican ideals of government.

For some years Dr. Braga has been an instructor at the University of Coimbra, which is the oldest and largest institution of learning in Portugal. He has always taken an active part in the quarrels between the Monastic and Republican parties and has made speeches all over the country, upholding the Republican as against the Monastic or royal party. About three years ago he became president of the committee of seven of the Republican organization and in that office wielded great political power. He studied medicine in a German university and since a young man has practiced his profession in Lisbon.

Wide spread interest is being taken in the coming intersectional football game between the Pennsylvania and Michigan eleven to be played in Philadelphia Nov. 12. From present indications this battle should be hard fought from start to finish. Neither seems to have anything on the other, but both are sure to be developed to the height of football perfection for a game which means so much for eastern and western football. Michigan defeated Pennsylvania last year for the first time since 1900. The Wolverines also won the western championship from the Minnesota, Captain Benbrook of the Wolverines is considered to be one of the best guards that ever appeared in a Michigan uniform.

Another "Clas of White Race."

While other cities of the country are discussing the pugilistic question and laying their claims to the championship, Decorah, Ia., is likely to again shine in the sporting world. It furnished Farmer Burns and Ole Marsh, two of the greatest wrestlers of their day, and these men discovered and brought out Frank Gotch, and now they believe they have a mightier man than any of these in the person of Albeo Falzer.

George O'Brien, who is well versed in pugilistic matters, says that Falzer is doing wonderful work and that he is today being considered the white man's hope in meeting the championship from Jack Johnson, the big negro. He is under the training of Sam Fitzpatrick, Johnson's former manager. The promising lad is six foot four inches in height, weighs 230 pounds, and has been in the ring for a remarkably rugged build and handles himself perfectly. Besides this, he is a heady fellow and is what is styled a natural born fighter.

Ice Hockey Prospects at Princeton.

Princeton hockey prospects are again bright this year. All but two of last season's championship team are eligible. Captain Peacock's place at goal and Read's at cover point will be hard to fill, but the entire forward line will be composed of veterans. Kay, who is this season's captain, did some spectacular work with the puck last year. Angell was considered the hardest shot in the intercollegiate league. McInerney, Blair and Conquest are listed players, also eligible. Sawyer, last year's substitute, is promising material for the varsity. Princeton's team won every game of the intercollegiate last season, and but two goals were made against the Tigers.

The hockey management has announced Princeton's schedule. All of the games will be played in New York. The first follows—Columbia-Barnard—Cornell, Jan. 14; Dartmouth, Jan. 18; Harvard, Jan. 21; Yale, Jan. 28.

Eddie Collins in Every Game.

Eddie Collins, the star second baseman of the Philadelphia world's champions, is just a sample of the new players to make up the pennant winning team. He started in every game played by the Athletics during the last two seasons.

When the 1906 race had been decided Manager Clark suggested that he take a rest, as he had a youngster he wanted to look over at second base.

Eddie told Connie that he wanted to play in every game of the season, but said he would concede a point by playing four or five innings and then going to make up the Connie laughed good naturedly and assented to Collins' program.

Cornell Develops a Star.

One of the features of the football practice at Cornell is the candidates for end. He surprised the coaches by kicking the ball over, both from the field and drop, with surprising accuracy, and it did not matter what the angle was.

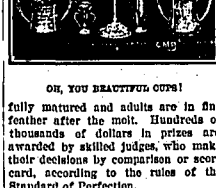

WHITE LEGHORN—COCKREIL—A PENNSYLVANIA WINKER

A breeder of hen fever microbes that catch thousands of visitors in the solar plexus.

There's where Billy looks the neatest. Pigeons bill and coo the sweetest. Cockadeoole crows his loudest. Turkey gobblers strut his proudest. All the ducks salute, "Quack, quack!" Guinea hens go, "Clack, clack, clack!" Crows and quander and the boys Make an awful jolly noise.

The august judge, the dignified lawyer, the dolorous doctor, the chicken loving preacher, thousands of men from all trades and professions, enter their birds and jots in jolly competition for cups, cash, medals, ribbons and special, and a jolliter lot of sports neer and met.

There are nearly 1,000 annual shows in the United States. They begin with fall fairs with an entry as high as $3,000 and reach the climax in December and January when young birds are fully matured and adults are in the feather after the moit. Hundreds of thousands of dollars in prizes are awarded by skilled judges, who make their decisions by comparison or score card, according to the rules of the Standard of Perfection.

Winning at such shows as Madison Square Garden, New York; Chicago and Boston often creates a national reputation and is an advertisement that brings thousands of dollars of business.

All standard breeds are shown, the simply ornamental and fowls that combine utility and the beautiful.

The letter are largely in the majority and illustrate the truth, "Pretty is as pretty does."

DON'TS.

Don't be dazzled by word dust. Gold dust and word dust may sometimes seem alike, but in the latter you no Eldorado strike.

Don't keep your poultry in such environment that your customers would not be able to see the microbial mess in which they wallow. It is spelled "heas," not hops.

Don't be a liar. Old Ananias long ago as a big liar was not thought so slow, but he's too join to the modern Ananias club they'd turn him down as an old fashioned dupe.

Don't be an alarm clock. "Twas weeping Jeremiah long ago that made the future black with woe, but we walk now where angels feared to tread, and every day sees sunabine brighter show.

Don't be vain. "Twas Haaman hung some fifty cubits high because afflicted with the great big I. We must have eyes to mind our p's and q's, and his brown eyes we cannot well refuse, but if you have the lion which foot Haaman hung the day is coming when you will get stung.

Queen Wilhelmina's Kindness.

In a little house in one of the poorer streets at The Hague there lives in retirement, according to the Figaro, General Verbeek, who once held the office of secretary of war in the royal council of Holland. A paralytic stroke robbed him of the use of one side of his body and of the power of speech. The old man's only pastime is to sit at his window and watch the few pedestrians and vehicles as they pass before him. Some time ago the general's aid condition became known to the queen, and the next day while taking her usual drive she gave orders to pass the old man's window at a slow pace. She was seen and returned the soldier's salute with a smile. Since that time the passing call has been almost a daily occurrence. Recently Wilhelmina sent word to the general, "Do not fail to be at the window tomorrow," and when the royal carriage came to the house the next day the queen saluted, as usual, and then held up the Princess Juliana, who shook her little hand in greeting to the veteran in the window.

Mr. Oils of the Los Angeles Times.

General Harrison Gray Oils, who recently came into public notice through the destruction of the Los Angeles Times printing plant, has had an interesting and varied career. He is a native of Ohio and before and succeeding the civil war worked as a journeyman printer and was at one time foreman of the government printing office at Washington, D. C. He served in the civil war as a private and was mustered out in 1865 with a brevet of lieutenant colonel for gallant and meritorious service. During the Spanish war he served in the Philippines as brigadier general of volunteers.

About thirty years ago General Oils moved from Los Angeles and acquired a part interest in a struggling weekly paper in the county of Twin Falls, has been appointed as the time and place for proving the will of said Mildred Holobon, deceased, and for granting the application of Peter J. Holobon for the insurance to him of letters of administration with the will annexed, when and where any person interested may appear and contest the same.

DRINKS OF THE FAR EAST

In Japan, and Samahu and Hocky in China Are National Beverages.

Sake is the national beverage of Japan. It has a peculiar favor not comparable to any European drink, is made from fermented rice by an intricate process in winter time and contains from eleven to fourteen per cent alcohol.

It is a necessary constituent of every ceremonial Japanese dinner, is served hot in little ampulla-like jars and drunk with much formality from stout, earless sake cups containing approximately two ounces.

To the European palate it tastes sour at first, but a preference for it is readily acquired. Curiously enough it has a more powerful effect on the Japanese than on Europeans.

The Chinese have two alcoholic drinks—samahu and hocky. Samahu is simply another name for arrack, but hocky is a much more aristocratic drink. We cannot describe it better than in the words of that infatigable old buccanor, Dampier:

"This is a strong liquor, made of wheat, as I have been told. It looks like rum in a peculiar kind of beer made from wheat malt, and tastes much like it, and is very pleasant and hearty. Our seamen love it mightily and will lick their lips with it, for scarce a ship goes to China but the men come home fat with soaking the liquor and bring stores of jars of it home with them."

It is put up in small squat white jars, sealed with a wooden plug, covered with a thick coat of grass-mat, extending half way down the neck.

In the Probate Court of the County of Twin Falls, State of Idaho.

In the Matter of the Estate of Mildred Holobon, Deceased.—Notice for Publication of Time Appointed for Proving Will, Etc.

Pursuant to an order of said court, made on the peculiar kind of beer member, 1910, notice is hereby given that Saturday, the seventh day of January, 1911, at ten o'clock a. m. of said day, at the court room of said court in the county of Twin Falls, has been appointed as the time and place for proving the will of said Mildred Holobon, deceased, and for granting the application of Peter J. Holobon for the insurance to him of letters of administration with the will annexed, when and where any person interested may appear and contest the same.

Senator Borah seems to be making good as the producer of results for Idaho. To his credit alone can be placed the recent appropriation for the irrigation work of the state. It ought to be remembered by the legislature when the time comes for electing the United States senator, Idaho has great need of strong men in the national legislature, while the resources are undeveloped, and Senator Borah has proved his right to the place.

The settlement of the threatened engineers' strike by arbitration is a happy conclusion of a situation which would have proved disastrous. The tie-up of every road west of the Mississippi, would give the western states a set-back which would take years to overcome even if the strike lasted but a short time. At no time in the history of the railroads have the demands for material and supplies been sufficient for even limited use. To tie up every road would mean actual suffering in many towns and cities for the necessities of life. The construction work on various industrial projects would have been ended, with the consequent throwing out of employment of a large number of men.

A new year is before us with great possibilities. Not any greater than in the past, however. The difference should be in the man, not the opportunity. The past year should be the lesson toward greater progress in the year to come. The opportunities that have been missed are gone, but they should have taught us a lesson. The coming year will have other opportunities possible greater, possible less, yet without opportunities. Will we make the most of them? That is what the old year should have done for us, made us greater in mind, body and soul to grasp the ideals of life. To place our lives in closer touch with God's greatest creation, mankind; to make possible greater happiness among his creation, whether it be high or low; to place our lives above selfishness, toward the essential of life; to give much and demand little. Civic relationships bring responsibilities unsought and undesired, the past year should make us stronger for the common good. If we set our faces toward the new year with only these truths learned from the past, the new year will be a happy one, not only for you and I, but for every living being in your community.

The coming election of directors of the Twain Falls Canal company, the business organization of the settlers, is causing considerable interest over the tract. In fact considerable opposition has developed to one or more of the present directors and a scrap will be made on at least one and perhaps both. The board of directors is the whole thing at present, owing to the fact that the manager and secretary are both on the board of directors. In an organization of the size of the Canal company the affairs must necessarily be placed in the hands of the directors in whom the confidence and co-operation of the rest should be centered. The business of the company demands the best business men the settlers can put up, provided that honesty is also one of the virtues. The settlers should see to it that men of integrity and ability are put into the directorate. On no other basis will the company ever succeed with its heavy load of responsibility. The conduct of the business must be along definite lines by men who are familiar with it. To put in an entirely new board would jeopardize the whole company, for changes in the board each year will undo all the labors of the past year. The Times does not wish to put into the affairs of the settlers in any way, nor has it any axe to grind with the company. Some facts, however, should be brought out at this time for the benefit of the settlers. The present board has had the brunt of a hard fight and an uphill struggle in contention with the Water company for the rights of the settlers, and in getting the details of the business into first-class condition. There has not been any change of attitude against the Water company in any way. The fact that the manager of the company, has been thorough in his work and has worked hard for the rights of the settlers. In the recent contention over the sale of more water rights it was Mr. Harlan's vigorous protest which caused the board to take action. In fact, the Times believes that antagonism to the two or three members of the present board should be lifted, down and the claims fully substantiated before given credence by any interested party. There may be but a few good business men among the settlers from which to draw members for the board, but in every case a new man would have to learn the details of the business which the outgoing board have now acquired. Changes in any business usually produce detrimental results until readjustment is over. The Canal company is a business organization and should be run like one in every respect. Politics and wire pulling should have no place in the administration of its affairs. The interest of the settlers in the past and believes that in advocating business conduct of its affairs will meet the approval of every settler who has any interest in the Canal company.

OUR DEFENSELESSNESS.

On the very day of Mr. Carnegie's $10,000,000 gift for the purpose of abolishing war, there was sent to the House of Representatives an urgent appeal from the Secretary of War for an effective army of 450,000 trained men. This document, according to the Washington correspondent, at once created no little excitement. This was "wholly unnecessary," says the Philadelphia Public Leader, and was due largely to the fact that the report was labeled "confidential," for "the Secretary can have no important facts to present that are not already sufficiently familiar through previous publications and especially through the report of the chief of staff of the army." In the mass of rumors and statements and details of rumors and statements that have been bulking so large in the Washington dispatches, two facts stand out. One is the substantial agreement of leading army officers with Secretary Dickinson's reported findings, and the other is Congressman Tawney's vigorous rejoinder that it is all nothing but "a part of a propagandist on the part of our military enthusiasts to secure support for larger appropriations," and an attempt to "Hobsonize the country."

In spite of efforts which are said to have been made to prevent the publication of the report portions of it have appeared in the daily papers. The New York Journal presents "the text of the original document prepared by the Secretary of War," which we may summarize in part as follows:

"In reply to the question as to the condition of the military forces and defenses of the nation, including the organized militia, I have the honor to state in my opinion the condition of the forces and defenses is not satisfactory. The regular army lacks reserves of field guns, ammunition, and supplies necessary to field operations and it is not organized into those higher units, brigades and divisions, which are essential for purposes of war. The militia is also defective in organization, training, and physical stamina. The country is not, so far as its land forces are concerned, in a state of readiness for defense or to repel invasion if attempted on our coasts by any first-class power. To meet this requirement there are now available only 114,500 mobile troops (regular and organized militia), whereas we need a minimum of 450,000 men and should have 500,000 in the same way, we have but 20,400 trained troops available for our Atlantic and Gulf coast defenses, where we should have 25,549.

"That the regular army should be increased and the deficiencies in our coast-defense system remedied, is admitted by the New York Times, while the New York Press thinks the army's medical department should also be thoroughly reorganized. The New York Globe, on the other hand, sees nothing but a "war scare" which Secretary Dickinson has launched to "enliven a dull session of Congress."

"To Mr. Dickinson's sensational proclamation that we are wholly unprepared to resist invasion and that we can have no security except in a great standing army" the New York World has "two conclusive answers":

"For one thing, we never have been prepared to resist invasion in the sense that he uses the term, and for another thing, if here is any virtue in a great navy we are better prepared today than ever we were before.

"We have spent $1,000,000,000 upon the navy in the last ten years. We are building two Dreadnoughts every year. For all purposes of war past and wars to come we are using each year of every $100 devoted to ordinary national expenses $75 for military ends."

"Mr. Dickinson seems to contemplate a standing army almost as large as that of Germany, fully equipped, abundantly supplied with reserve material and ready to the point of being able to march to the front. The United States army which Mr. Dickinson now desires to costing about $100,000,000 a year. How many other hundreds of millions would be needed to maintain his proposed 600,000 men while they were rotting in their barracks awaiting imaginary invaders?" Literary Digest.

IN THE PAST

Eye troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and misunderstood, hence the reason for many people have been wearing wrong glasses and their eyes have grown weaker instead of stronger. Glasses were not fitted to remove the cause of the trouble, but any glasses that apparently improved the sight were supplied irrespective of results to the life of the eye, and its reflex action on the bodily health. By modern methods we are enabled to diagnose the condition of the eyes and correct them to not only see well, but very often to assist in improving the health of the patient. There are thousands of people suffering with headaches, dizziness, stomach trouble, nervousness and a tired, worn-out feeling that is caused by unconscious eye-strain and that is sapping the body of its strength for sixteen hours every day. "Whipping" if this strength was properly conserved, would make the patient healthy and the old world a better place to live on. People of wisdom and experience see to it early that their eyes are working normally; it is usually the uneducated and ignorant that neglect such a precious organ as the eye. If you are wise you will subdue pride and have your eyes cared for properly to see that they are relieved of the strain. See

THE DAIRY COW

BY C. H. ECKLES
Professor of Dairy Husbandry
University of Missouri.

The consumption of milk as food, and the number of dairy cows kept, is a good measure of civilization in any nation. The use of milk as food is unknown among the native races of Africa and Australia and the American Indians. With the introduction of the use of milk is exceedingly small, and is confined to the wealthy classes; it is only with the intellectual nations of western Europe and America that the use of dairy products as food is general.

The use of milk and dairy products as food has in our day kept abreast of the pace with civilization. Milk, butter and cheese were used to some extent by the tribes of western Asia in the time of the Greeks and the Romans. The important articles of food in the time of Greece and Rome. During the dark ages history indicates the use of these articles of food to be limited and scanty. With the return of culture in Europe, about the sixteenth century, began a gradual increase in the use of dairy products that has continued to the present day.

The development of the dairy industry not only measures the intelligence of the nation, but their prosperity as well. If I should enumerate the states of our own land that stand at the head in dairy products it would at once be recognized that these are the most prosperous and intelligent. The most progressive cities in America also have the largest per capita consumption of milk.

The same comparison may be made of the agriculture of the nations. Ask anyone in a position to know in what countries of the world agriculture is best developed and most intelligently followed. He will name the leading dairy countries without exception. Ask him the reasons for this, and he will tell you that the soil is best conserved and the most intelligent system of farming followed. You will be given the names of the leading dairy states.

The best example of what dairy farming will do for an entire nation is that of Denmark. Forty years ago the people of that nation were poverty stricken; the fertility of the soil was depleted by long years of wheat-growing, and the people were migrating to America, as they could get the money to go. Dairy farming was introduced there largely under government direction. Now, after a number of years, it has been built up, migration has practically ceased because the conditions are improved and the soil has no object in leaving. The Danish farmers appear to be the most intelligent and most prosperous in Europe. Their soil produces more than double the crops of thirty years ago. The exports of butter alone amount to over $47,000,000 annually from an area less than one-fourth that of Iowa.

The dairy cow appeals to me especially on account of her relation to the fertility of the farm. Within the next generation the agriculture of America must be put on a permanent basis. We boast of the enormous income of our American farms, but do not stop to think that the yield is fast being reduced. It is only about half that in Europe, where grain has been grown for a thousand years. And worst of all with us, it is growing less. We leave out the new lands of the northwest, instead of better, while the reverse is true in Europe.

When we meet in hauling a load of fifty bushels of corn worth about $25, to market, it might be well to inquire him that he is hauling away fertility that would cost $2.50 to raise the corn. The farmer who has purchased the fertilizer in the form of commercial fertilizer. If the load be fifty bushels of wheat it would cost $14.90 to bring back the fertility taken from the farm. When the crumhorn men ships a ton of butter, worth about $500, he sells only 50 cents worth of fertility. When the dairy farmer sends a ton of bran, he brings fertility onto a ton that would cost $16 if purchased in the market. It is the selling of manure, and not grain, that makes it possible for the farmers of Denmark to retain and increase the fertility of their farms. The constant purchase of feed, largely in the form of manure, has constantly added to this fertility. Where feed raised on the farm is fed to live stock eighty per cent of the fertilizing value may be restored to the land.

A remarkable example of what may be done along this line is that of the Honner farm, at Miraflores, Missouri. Seventeen years ago father and son bought this farm for $10 an acre. This land was said by the neighbors to be worn-out at that time. This farm has been built up by intelligent dairy farming until the average yield of corn over the last five years has been seven bushels, and smaller fields have reached one hundred bushels. Affairs are grown with good success. Last year, after paying for labor and feed, father and son divided $5,500 for their work. The fertility of this farm has been increased by the application of barnyard manure and food management until the entire area produces more than five times what it did when they first possessed it, and it is still gaining in fertility.

One reason why the cow appeals to the farmer is the reproductive of the income she furnishes. For this reason, in one Missouri neighborhood the farmers call their cream checks their pension money. Some men object to dairy farming because there is no speculation about it; but this very fact makes the business safer, especially for the small farmer, since there is little chance for loss. It is impossible to come nearer making a correct estimate in advance of the income from dairy cows than from any other form of farming. The cow is subject to few serious diseases, she does not die of cholera, erysipelas or late frosts do not injure her, and the market price of her product is the most stable of any important farm product.

I am impressed with the influence the price of land exerts on the interest that farmers of Iowa and adjoining states are now taking in the dairy cow. Farming land worth $150 an acre is an entirely different proposition from farming land worth $450 an acre. I have observed that whenever a young man starts out to pay for a farm now-

UNCLE SAM IS NOT SLOW

It Was Another Agency That Caused This Seemingly Great Delay in Mail.

"Well," said Mr. Fotherly, beaming with his accustomed cheerfulness as he came down the apartment hall and threw down upon the library table a postal card that he had just picked up inside the hall door, under which the mail is customarily thrust by the elevator operator to leave said Mr. Fotherly, still beaming, "I didn't know that Uncle Sam could ever be as slow as that. Here's a postal card for Bolinda that was posted in California last April and has just come."

"It's a fine old Bolinda," "Why, how wonderful!" But when he had looked at the card her wonder ceased and her face was wreathed in smiles.

"Why, father," she said, "I got that card months ago when it was sent and just now it must have been put on my mail," he said, "the room directly opposite the hall door and its door now was open—to fall there on the floor just inside the hall door where you found it when you came in."

And then they all laughed merrily, but not at Uncle Sam, and Mr. Fotherly laughed with the rest for his good humor is unquenchable, even when the laugh is on him.

BRYAN NOT A CANDIDATE.

Names Four Who May Be Presidential Candidates.

It may be significant, however, that he names Joseph W. Foran of Missouri first, after which follow Mayor Gynor, Governor Harmon and Governor Woodrow Wilson. In discussing the four Democratic possibilities, Bryan refrains from drawing any distinction, but briefly gives their political records as follows:

Foran, a former U. S. senator and supporter of the Democratic national ticket in all the presidential campaigns since 1892, was supported by the Democratic national ticket in all campaigns. In 1898 he was conspicuous as a supporter of the Chicagoan platform. He was one of the few prominent Democrats of the east who stood up for the tariff and the ticket, and he has been faithful ever since.

Governor Harmon, when a member of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet, did not vote in 1896, but in 1900 presided at Mr. Bryan's meeting in Cincinnati.

Governor Woodrow Wilson and Buckner in 1896, but is supposed to have supported the Democratic national ticket in subsequent campaigns.

VALUES ARE RISING.

$500 Per Acre Paid for Orchelara Tract in Sale Last Week.

A concrete example of the rising values of land around Twin Falls is given by the record of a sale to Frank DeKloof of Kiriman, Iowa, of a fifteen-acre tract in Orchelara for the consideration of $7,500.00. The sale was made for Mr. Winger, the owner, by the Thompson Realty company. The owner has only held the property for a short time and the price of $500 represents a neat return on the investment. It is also indicative of the possible values that fruit tracts will soon to in a few years. The city residence property of Mr. Winger was also sold for a consideration of $500.00 to the same party.

VOTES BARTERED IN OHIO.

Fraudulent Finance Said to Have Controlled Franchises.

West Union, O., Dec. 25.—Two new features developed in the afternoon session of the special grand jury investigating wholesale buying of votes in Adams county. One was that of a woman selling her son's vote, and the other concerned a voter who was bought in three different ways.

"The woman lives in Peshohe. She is accused of having accepted $5 for her son's Francis vote. Both mother and son were indicted, but neither has been arrested. A farmer in Jacksonville precinct, who came in today, surrendered to the grand jury. He had been bought three times last election day. For his promise to vote the straight Republican ticket, he was paid $10, and the price for agreeing to vote for a certain Democratic candidate.

He pleaded guilty when arraigned and was disfranchised for five years, fined $5 and costs, and given six months in the work house with the prison sentence suspended.

One hundred and six indictments were returned today which brings the total up to 988. There are indications that the number will reach 1500 as predicted.

BIG DEAL AT COUNCIL.

5,000 Acres Taken Over By New York Capitalists.

Council, Dec. 28.—The famous Council-Mesa orchards, which are being developed into the planting of these trees, have been purchased outright by a company of very wealthy New Yorkers, several in the company being millionaires. Under the new and wealthy ownership the famous Council-Mesa, comprising about 5000 acres of the very choice fruit land in the state, will be developed to the very highest possible degree, making this one of the very best fruit properties, not only in the state, but in the world. The fruit trees for 1500 acres, to be set out in the spring of 1911, have already been contracted for.

The new company has secured the services of J. B. Field, the present state horticultural inspector, as consulting horticulturist of the Council-Mesa orchards. Mr. Field is considered to be one of the best and most practical horticulturists in the west. He has full charge of selecting the trees at the nursery, and has the power to accept or reject the nursery stock shipping to Council for the Mesa orchards. Mr. Field will have direct charge of the planting of these trees, which will be done under his personal supervision. After the trees are planted, Mr. Field will make frequent trips to the Mesa and will devote all the time necessary in looking after the irrigation and cultivation of the entire Mesa orchard, and to the proper pruning of the trees.

The new owners of the Council-Mesa will adopt Mr. Field's plan, called the unit system, of planting for large orchard tracts. According to this system a practical horticulturist will be secured for each 40-acre tract of orchard, and he will have full charge of the 40 acres in his care and will be held responsible therefor. A neat cottage will be built by the Council-Mesa company on each 40-acre tract, to be used as a home by the horticulturist in charge of these tracts. This practically populates the great orchard to a considerable degree. Each one of these horticulturists will be under the general supervision of Mr. Field.

One thousand acres of Council-Mesa orchards had been sold in 10-acre tracts by the former owners of the Mesa at $500 per acre. Some of the most prominent men in the United States are owners of these tracts, included among whom is one of the superintendents of the United States Steel corporation, whose annual salary is $25,000. The new owners will take care of these tracts as per former contracts. The new company will put on the market only 1000 acres more of the Mesa in 10-acre tracts, which will be sold at $600 per acre. The present owners expect to develop the balance of the great mesa and keep it for their own use.

One new owners will make some very important improvements on the Mesa in the spring of 1911. For instance, they will spend $50,000 in extending the magnificent water distribution system on the Mesa, according to which all the main ditches will be piped. Consequently there will be no large open ditches on the Mesa. The company will also greatly improve the old roads on the Mesa and make new ones wherever necessary. They will build good buildings, all of which are to be electrically lighted. The company also expects to make some important developments in Council valley proper.

CROPS HARD HIT BY HOT WEATHER

DROUGHTS IN MIDDLE WEST MAKE BIG DROP IN YIELD.

Acting Chief Murray in Department of Agriculture Reports That Supply of Feed Stuff and Potatoes Is Far Below Average—Conditions Critical.

Washington, July 12.—"Hot, dry weather—drought—has played something akin to havoc with the crop condition during the last month," was the statement made by Professor N. C. Murray, acting chief of the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture, after the announcement of the July report on grain and produce.

"The report," said Professor Murray, "reflects the rather serious effects of the drought in June, most of the important crops showing a condition which is below last year and below recent average yields."

"Feedstuffs, oats and hay seem to have been hardest hit. Less than two-thirds of a normal crop of hay is expected and the oat crop probably will be more than 25 per cent less than last year's crop and about 12 per cent less than the average for the last five years."

"The corn acreage is the largest ever recorded, but the condition of the crop is about 7 per cent below the average. That indicates a production of approximately 5 per cent less than last year's record crop, but nearly 5 per cent more than the average production in the last five years. The condition of the corn crop on July 1, however, was critical.

"The potato crop promises to be unusually short."

THOUSANDS PLEAD FOR WOMAN

Many Petitions Asking Clemency for Napolitano.

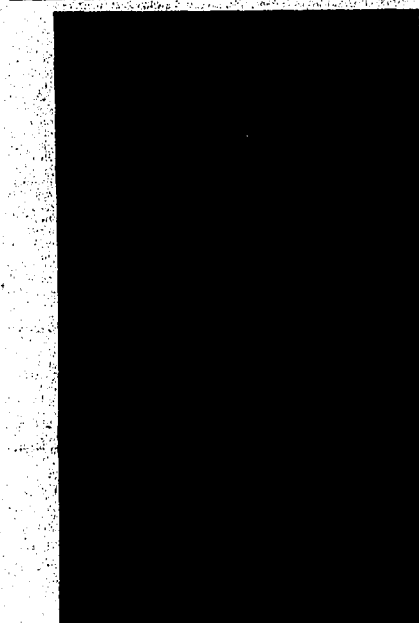

Ottawa, Ontario, July 11.—Three more sacks full of petitions praying for executive clemency in the case of Mrs. Angelina Napolitano, under sentence to be hanged at Salet Ste. Marie, Ontario, next month for the murder of her husband, were received yesterday by the justice department. The petitions now number tens of thousands, representing all parts of the world.

Because of the peculiarly distressing condition, the case has excited special interest in the United States. Petitions have been received by the hundreds from Chicago and other cities.

In only one instance has capital punishment ever been imposed on a woman in Canada. It appears to be thought here that the sentence will be commuted to life imprisonment, but the matter has not yet been considered by the cabinet council. The petitions may have some weight with the government, but the evidence will be weighed on its merits when it comes up for review some time within the next fortnight.

H. L. HOLLISTER.

The Chicago capitalist who with Archibald Miller of Salt Lake and Englebert Buck of the Rohing and Sons Company of New York will be in Twin Falls within the next few days for the purpose of investigating possibilities on the Bruneau tract, with a view to its immediate development.

one of the leading men of the national forestry department, acting for the United States, a complete agreement was reached under which this state secures undisputed title to approximately 75,000 acres of the best timber land in the Clearwater national forest in lieu of scattering section 16 and 36, which were set aside as school lands.

By this move the state of Idaho lays the foundation for the equitable exchange of approximately 400,000 acres for an equal amount of land of equal value in compact bodies, and establishes the first great state reserve in the nation.

MAIL CARRIERS GET RAISE.

40,000 Rural Men Get $100 Apiece Per Annum.

Washington, July 11.—The 40,000 rural free delivery carriers in the United States are to receive salary increases as a result of a decision reached today by Postmaster General Hitchcock. The order will provide for the "disturbance" during the current fiscal year of $4,000,000, which will mean an increase of $100 over the present salary of $900 for all carriers on standard routes. Congress provided last session for this extra $4,000,000, but left it to the discretion of the postmaster general as to how much of it should be expended. Mr. Hitchcock decided today to authorize the expenditure of the full amount.

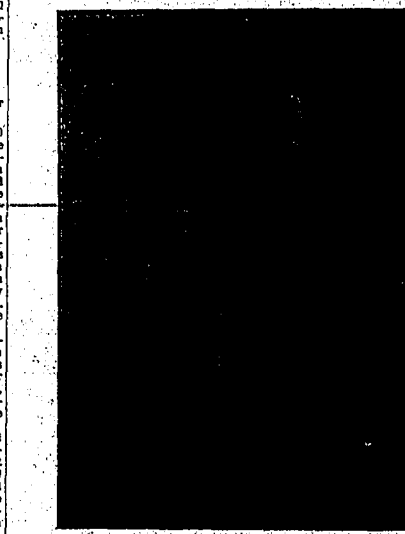

His desire to compensate the carriers for any additional burden which may be placed on them if the parcels post system he has recommended for rural routes is approved by congress, was the reason, Mr. Hitchcock declared today, which led him to make the authorization.

In the current year the routes will cost the government about $40,000,000, the estimated loss being about $25,000,000. The postmaster general expressed the belief that the parcels post system, under the maintenance and extension of the rural free delivery service as a self-supporting branch of the postal service.

The rural delivery system was started 18 years ago with 83 carriers, who were paid only $200 a year. On July 1 there were 31,562 carriers, their aggregate salaries being $25,793,000.

have met instant death. This probably completes the death list.

Forty-four injured were in hospitals and nearly a score more received minor injuries. A new "cross-over" installed on the Burr road viaduct and embankment on the western outskirts of the city was directly responsible for the accident. The train was late and the engineer was driving fast to make up time.

I. B. PERRINE.

The pioneer promoter of the Twin Falls country who is responsible for the renewal of interest in the great Bruneau project and who will pay the party of capitalists and engineers to the Magic City on a trip of investigation.

Witness that the full pardon was granted to Selma...

A full pardon was granted to Selma, who was convicted about a year ago on a charge of manslaughter for shooting to death Fred Billings at Rock Creek, by the board of pardons last Friday.

At the time of his conviction, the jury reached a compromise verdict and recommended Selma to the mercy of the court. He was given an indeterminate sentence of from two to ten years, and has already served one year. Through his attorneys, Gillette and Hudson, Selma applied for a pardon. It is said that the pardon board took into account the fact that at the trial, it was shown that Selma had been repeatedly threatened by the party he was found guilty of killing, and evidently reached the conclusion that in view of a certain amount of justification for the deed Selma had been punished sufficiently.

MOONLIGHT RAINBOW ATTRACTS

Natural Phenomenon at Shoshone Falls Witnessed by Visitors

The moonlight rainbow was the attraction that brought many evening visitors to the falls this week, a number of parties coming over from Jerome, Wendell, and other towns of the North Side to spend the night in order to witness this natural phenomenon. Those from Twin Falls came by horseback or auto and the early part of the evening before the moon was high was spent in dancing on the board veranda of the hotel or strolling down the picturesque paths of the hotel grounds.

An interesting visitor to the Falls during the week was Professor Max Meyer, of Leipzig, Germany. Professor Meyer is completing a tour of the world. He has visited practically all the countries of Europe, the West Indies, and the Philippines but expressed the opinion that of all the scenery he had seen in other parts of the world Shoshone Falls ranked among the first for grandeur and natural beauty. Professor Meyer, although a native of Germany, taught modern languages in several American colleges at one time, notably Soule's college and Dolbeer College in New Orleans and took part in the American Civil War. For thirty years he was a tutor in languages in Paris in a number of families of nobility as well as in the family of John Jacob Astor whose children he instructed at the time of the Paris exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koester and H. J. Koester of Shoshone and Miss Verma Salstrom of Salt Lake City made a motor party to Shoshone Falls on Wednesday taking dinner at the hotel. H. K. Silverman, and N. C. Villensted of Boise, Idaho, were guests of the Shoshone Falls hotel early in the week.

Mrs. J. Boland and Mrs. E. E. Dewese, of Wendell, and Miss Carey, who is a member of the Stubbins Cinderella company is taking her vacation in the West with her aunt, Mrs. Boland.

Don H. Bark of Boise and Guy Ervin of Washington, D. C. were visitors who spent part of the week at Shoshone Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Bauer, E. E. Bauer, Miss E. Corvill, H. T. Fulton, R. D. Edie, F. R. Landis, and Peter Cockburn were guests of the hotel who spent part of Sunday at the falls. Several of the crowd were members of the Milner base ball team who played Twin Falls Sunday afternoon.

Julian Tyng, of Cambridge, Massachusetts, stopped at the Shoshone Falls hotel on his way through the west. Mr. Tyng has chosen this method as the most satisfactory way in which to enjoy the rugged western scenery and travels by locomotive only when absolutely necessary and was greatly impressed with the beauty of the falls.

TWIN FALLS HOMES DEPICTED

Marian A. White Writes of Twin Falls Country in Fine Arts Journal.

There appears in the July number of the Fine Arts Journal of Chicago, an interesting article on the Twin Falls country, its picturesque home and the wonderful Snake river and the mighty Shoshone Falls, by Mrs. Marian A. White, who has made frequent visits to this part of the country and who has written on it under the caption of "The Wonderland of Irrigation."

Mrs. White at present is upon the editorial staff of the Fine Arts Journal, conducting a department of "Beautiful Homes" in which she maintains the idea of America being distinguished as a nation of "home builders." Drawing upon every region for illustrative material in support of her theory, and particularly upon the newly irrigated tracts of the West, she is an enthusiastic supporter of the Twin Falls country, and has written in the journal, which she gave the country after observation and knowledge of its conditions and environment here, the ranch lands together with the advantages as well as the Indian tradition in growth, makes the article of peculiar concern to the people of the Twin Falls country as nothing from this particular point of view, has ever been written upon it.

Hay Fever and Summer Colds Must be Relieved and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 1084 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with Hay Fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience.—Bodford Drug Co.

Nampa to Have Hospital. While after looking over the field and for a location for the general hospital that will be needed by the Utah Construction company, Dr. Mark C. Myers, Chief Surgeon, has finally decided to locate the general hospital at Nampa. The Willard Rooms have been leased for this purpose and those will be properly fitted up for general hospital. The company will doubtless have one or two temporary hospitals along the line of construction but the one at Nampa will be a permanent one and a place for more difficult cases.—Nampa Record.

AGAIN, WHY BAND CONCERTS?
 Under the caption of "Why Band Concerts?" early in June the News urged the citizens of Twin Falls not to allow a repetition of last summer's band concerts in the city park to go by default this year. It suggested that the pleasure—and even benefit—derived from the enjoyment of good music was sufficient to justify the expense. And it proposed that a fund for that purpose be raised by public subscription, families rather than merchants contributing to the cause in as much as this recreation was to be provided logically for them.

Now, about a month later, subscription lists have been started. The people of Twin Falls have had a chance to miss the music of last season. In each of the four drug stores there is such a list, and some money has been pledged but not enough to justify the band in repeating its expensive experience of last year. It is noticeable that the merchants who have borne the brunt of other subscription funds for the purpose of advancing the commerce and industry of the city have come to the rescue again in this instance. But it is still up to a majority, or, at least, a goodly number of families to shoulder their share by at least $1 donation. As previously mentioned, they will secure more than adequate returns upon their investment.

A COMPARISON OF BEAUTY.
 Salt Lake City boasts of Emigration canyon as a place of scenic beauty, and moonlight excursions are being taken to Point Lookout where it can be advantageously viewed. The craggy heights and shadowed valleys, bathed in the soft rays of the night time orb, are extolled by an appreciative press. Compare them with the magnificent Snake River canyon, especially at Shoshone Falls the most gorgeous scenic spot in America, where by the light of the full moon a rainbow adds to the grandeur, and the attraction of Twin Falls so far exceeds those of the Utah capital that it is a source of some bewilderment that they were not exploited by the Magic City long ago.

TWO MONTHS' PROGRESS.
 Just about two months ago, the mammoth earth dam which closed the gap in the reservoir for the North Side project was completed. Water was rushing through the canals with rippling assurance of an adequate supply and evidence of a new era of improvement for that part of Idaho was furnished by the settlers on the tract by their activity. Today, the progress made in comparatively a few weeks is so noticeable that it stands as a most substantial sort of advertisement of the possibilities of Southern Idaho. Shacks have been replaced by permanent homes, barns and fences have been built, and already farmers have reaped their first crop of the year.

AVIATION ADVERTISEMENT.
 There is now no question about Twin Falls' rank as a full fledged metropolis. A real aviation meet entitled it to display space in the front row. It has been a source of some speculation why the Magic City has not been accorded the same deference as other metropolitan cities such as New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Buhl, but because of the respectful attention directed to it since the announcement of the airplane flights the cause that existed until now has been exposed.

Department Store Owner a Visitor.
 R. C. Beach, proprietor of the Idaho Department Store, whose home is in Lewiston, but whose mercantile establishments are located in several cities throughout the Intermountain region, after several days spent in Twin Falls left last Monday evening for Chicago and New York. He was accompanied by his wife and son, and while on the semi-annual buying for his store, establishing at that time, the fact that the Magic City is a metropolis. The Idaho Department Store is a well known establishment in the Intermountain region.

been manifested in the property by those on the ground, was almost sold there within ten minutes after the actual incorporation of the company. The owners preferred to obtain the necessary money with which to place the property upon an operating basis in this way, rather than accept the offers of various parties who recently have been in the district to sell it.

Wingfield of the Goldfield Consolidated, it is reported, was among those who tried to buy, but, although a large money consideration was mentioned, he would not agree to a sufficiently substantial interest remaining in the first owners.

Lawson, Idaho, July 21.—Through the treasury of a banker at the lodge, J. J. Haynes, was mailed the complaint and gave this notice to the complainant, the sheriff, that he might secure entrance unannounced. Sheriff O'Neil today invaded the "smash club" over the postoffice on "Main street" contacted a small amount of money and announced that arrests would follow.

Practically all of the members in private homes, marked with the name of the owner, and a number have already instituted replevin proceedings to recover possession of their property. The lodge is private property, located in a private club, which is practically the home of the members and consequently is not subject to the provisions of a general law under which the stuff was seized.

Members Very Bitter. The local Elk lodge has 400 members composed of practically all the prominent business and professional men of the town and surrounding country, among them many ministers and members of churches, and without exception, the action of Haynes is bitterly resented.

The complaint against the lodge was filed early in June, but the charges on which the officers are to be taken into custody were instituted but a few days ago and prominent members of the club unhesitatingly state that Haynes is prompted by the business or application of Fred Ward, an Elk, manager of the Bank of Commerce, to which Haynes was heavily indebted, and that Fred Butler, city attorney, exalted ruler of the lodge, appeared as counsel for the bank.

Kidney Diseases Are Curable under certain conditions. The right medicine must be taken before the disease has progressed too far. Mr. Perry A. GENERAL NEWS OF THE WORLD

WICKERSHAM FACES SERIOUS CHARGES

STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ALLOWED AGAINST SYNDICATE
Resolution Offered, Would Require Attorney General to Furnish All Documents
 Submitted by him in connection with Matter a Year Ago

Washington, July 16.—(AP)—A serious charge made by Delegate Wickersham of Alaska that Attorney General Wickersham had permitted the statute of limitations to expire against the Alaska syndicate was defrauded of the government through perjury to the extent of $50,000, the house committee on judiciary determined to refer favorably a resolution of inquiry offered by Delegate Wickersham.

The resolution would call upon the attorney general to furnish all documents, affidavits and testimony in his possession relating to an affidavit submitted to him more than a year ago and sworn to by Douglas, former auditor of the Alaska syndicate in 1908.

Delegate Wickersham started the committee when it was in session on the proposed report of an affidavit relating to an alleged criminal act committed by Captain D. H. Jarvis of the Alaska syndicate and formerly prominent in the government revenue cut in Seattle on June 8, the day following the introduction of the Wickersham resolution on the production of the papers in the case, and by John H. Bullock of the John J. Senner Coal company of Nome.

Government Defrauded.
 Through conviction of these men, it is claimed that the government was defrauded on coal contracts and that evidence to that effect was permitted to remain unacted upon by the attorney general of the time for more than a year, so that the statute of limitations expired last May.

Delegate Wickersham furnished the committee with photographic copies of the affidavits and testimony of the Alaska syndicate to D. H. Jarvis admitting the expenditure of money to control government witnesses in the Hatcher murder trial in 1908, whereby an agent of the Alaska syndicate was accused of murdering employees employed by rival interests during the construction of the railway.

A photograph of an expense account for $113.40 of M. B. Morrisey, employed by the syndicate, it is claimed to substantiate the witness and jurymen, in that connection, also was submitted to the committee. This evidence, Delegate Wickersham declared, is in the possession of the attorney general. Delegate Wickersham urged on the judiciary committee the Douglas affidavit involving the representative of the Wickersham Commercial company, one of the Alaska syndicate concerns, and the Senner Coal company.

BOYS HORRIBLY MANGLLED

Literally Blown to Pieces While Playing with Dynamite.

Butte, July 16.—(AP)—Galgion, aged 14, is dead. Fred Galgion, aged 17, his brother, is dying, and Matthew Matter, aged 11, is seriously injured as the result of an explosion of dynamite caps today, with dynamite it is alleged the boys have been blowing on the Traway mine and exploding in the valley below Butte for the sport of the thing.

The boys had cut a fuse too short, and the detonator of the cap set off a number of others, together with a small quantity of dynamite. Willie Galgion was leaning over the powder caps at the time and his body was blown to pieces, his arms and legs being picked up apart from his torso. Fred Galgion had both his legs blown off, and his body was blown out of his head. Matthew Matter had an eye blown out and his body perforated with fire rock. It is doubtful if he will live.

DATES SET FOR VOTE

Reciprocity Matter to Come Up On July 22.

Washington, July 16.—An agreement to vote on the Canadian reciprocity bill on July 22 was reached by leaders of the factions of the senate at 1 o'clock. The agreement fixes as the hour of the vote on the bill on July 23, the free list August 1, the reappointment bill, August 3, and a reappointment on legislative day of August 7. It is expected the adjournment of congress will immediately follow the stated vote.

Senator Penrose advised Senator Kenyon during the session that because of the adjournment program that, though not included in the voting agreement, the senate would be free to take up the campaign publicity bill if it so desired.

The Parrot Optical company can replace any broken lens on very short notice.

FEARFUL LOSS OF LIFE

Over 200 Killed in East, Perished in Toronto, Report Fires—Great Financial Loss

Toronto, Ont., July 15.—(AP)—A vast billow of fire, in length, continued today to roll through the camp-woods and brush of the Porcupine mining district of this province, and the region of the north and west. Diversified reports continue to swell the number of fatalities. Some estimates are as high as 600 dead. The exact losses represent a huge sum. Only with the return of relief expeditions and the re-establishment of railroad telegraph service will the full extent of the disaster be ascertained.

More details of death and suffering with those also of numerous "miraculous" escapes, were learned today. "Fire" admits standing together for hours; communication had not been disturbed.

Many have died in isolation, miserably in their deaths, and their deaths have overwhelmed whole families and only charred ruins remain behind. Men, women and children and domestic and wild animals standing together for hours in swamps; while the flames raged over the countryside, have in some cases sunk at last to death, partly suffocated and then drowned. Others have weathered the fiery storm standing in streams and putting out into the lakes in boats and canoes.

POSTAL SAVINGS A SUCCESS

Departments Installed in Largest Cities in Country.

Washington, July 16.—Postmaster General Hitchcock today designated the main postoffices in New York, Chicago, Boston and St. Louis as postal savings depositories. They will begin to receive deposits on August 1.

Having installed successfully more than 1000 postal savings banks in second class postoffices, Mr. Hitchcock decided to extend it to some of the first class offices. The four cities were named because of their great population and consequent prominence and because in each one is located a United States sub-treasury, which will facilitate the heavy banking business that the new service entails.

As in the smaller cities, the system probably will be popular with the foreign-born residents, many of whom now send their surplus savings to their home countries. From New York city alone last year the money orders sent abroad by foreign-born residents aggregated $8,000,000.

RIGHT OF COURT QUESTIONED

Genpers Files Technical Objections to Proceedings.

Washington, July 17.—Attacking the jurisdiction of the court and the legality of the proceedings, President Stanley and Genpers President Mitchell and Secretary Frank Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, appeared in the equity branch of supreme court of the District of Columbia today to resist the latest contempt order issued against them by Justice Wright. The first moves were technical nature and were controlled by Justice Wright. The hearing today promises to be a lengthy one. If all of the various motions by the defense are dismissed, an answer to the order will be filed within the next two weeks. Should the court hold that the answer raises a question of fact, the case will go over until October. The hearing was adjourned until next Monday without action.

WOULD RUIN SUGAR INDUSTRY

Southern Men Tell Investigating Committee, a Few Things.

Washington, July 17.—Louisiana planters and producers of sugar made determined stand on the tariff before the house sugar trust committee today, declaring that a reduction of sugar duties would ruin the domestic production of cane sugar, and that free sugar would annihilate both the cane and the beet sugar industries of the country. Chairman Hardwick of Georgia, Democrat, disagreed with their tariff ideas.

"If you solemn," said Prof. W. C. Stubbs, former state chemist of Louisiana, "want to take the tariff off of sugar, you must make your minds in advance that you will kill all domestic sugar production." The big planters and refiners of Louisiana laid manning to scrape up enough to blurt over again in some foreign country, but the small growers would be ruined. When you take off the tariff, you may write our obituaries," Stubbs said. He recalled after the committee returns from New York where hearings will be held tomorrow.

MANLY WITNESSES IN LORIMER CASE

OFFICIALS OF HINES LUMBER TAKE IMPORTANT PART

Secretary Wells Said to Have Subscribed $10,000 to the Jackpot to Elect Lorimer—President of Hettler Lumber Co. Also Gives Credit

Washington, July 17.—The part of officials of the Edward Hines Lumber company took in the election of William Lorimer to the senate claimed attention today at the investigation by the Lorimer committee.

William Burgess, a principal contractor of Duluth, Minn., testified that C.F. Wells, secretary of the Edward Hines Lumber company, remarked to him in 1912 that he had subscribed $10,000 to a "jackpot" to elect Lorimer. Herman H. Hettler, president of the Herman H. Hettler Lumber Company, Chicago, a rival of the Hines Lumber company, testified that on the day of the election Hines said to him that he personally had elected Lorimer.

On the other hand, Henry Turrah, another business man of Duluth, failed to bear out the testimony of Wirt H. Cook, a business associate, to the effect that Hines said to them about the time of Lorimer's election that "old Stevenson" (meaning Senator Stevenson of Wisconsin), as Cook believed, after elected him, was working for free lumber, and that southern Democrats fluctuated in their attitude. Turrah said he remembered nothing about southern Democrats, but heard Hines say that Stevenson was undecided.

In the testimony of Mr. Burgess, the name of a priest, Father Green, was brought into the case as having received a confession from a detective, that the detective was employed by a Chicago newspaper to gather "trumped up charges against Lorimer."

Tomorrow it is expected that James Keely, editor of the Chicago Tribune will testify.

HIGH PRICE DUE TO GREED

Police Commissioners Investigate, for Situation in New York.

New York, July 17.—From the facts as they are alleged to have been found in an investigation by Police Commissioner Rheinlander, "Wald" it would appear that the high price of ice in New York is largely due to the greed of ice companies in refusing to take necessary measures to supply the city's wants.

The commissioner says that the 430 independent ice dealers interested in 229 complaints of price charged by the larger wholesalers; that the Knickerbocker Ice company raised the price from $1.25 to $2 and at one time sold house more than doubled the price to $2 a ton.

The advance was made the commissioner finds, although there was a plentiful supply in storage, along the upper Hudson and over 200,000 tons of ice barges in the river. He finds no basis for the excuse that the Knickerbocker company could not find men to handle the commodity.

New York, July 17.—The epidemic situation at quarantine is reassuring tonight to Dr. Alvah H. Doty, health officer of the port, and his assistants. In the last 24 hours there has been one death, but no new cases have been reported and several of the 18 persons in the Swinburn Island hospital are reported convalescing. Some of the men suffering from the plague are seriously ill, however, and the death list may be swollen within the next few days.

GIRLS DROWNED AT SANDPOINT

Got Over Depth in Water—Unable to Swim.

Suokane, July 17.—Elsie Bitterlich, aged 16, Lora Bitterlich, aged 15, and Goldie Robinson, aged 15, were drowned in the Peud d'Oreille river at Sandpoint, Idaho, Sunday afternoon. The girls had gone bathing, though none could swim. It is believed the Robinson girl got beyond her depth and that Elsie Bitterlich tried to save her and was herself overcome. The older sister, the girl who had been trying to save these two, it is believed, was dragged by Bonner's Ferry, Idaho, was drowned in Stroll's lake, near that town, Sunday afternoon, while bathing. The man wore a life preserver, but it turned over, and when the victim was found his head was submerged. He leaves six small children, between the ages of 2 and 12.

WINTER WHEAT SURE CROP
Cultivation Particularly Adapted to Salmon Tract First Year.
Winter wheat is a crop which should receive the attention of all farmers on the Salmon tract. Land may be advantageously cleared and seeded to wheat this fall and will yield a dependable crop of winter wheat. The earlier preparation of the land is made for this crop the better, as a good growth in the fall before it is stopped by the snow on the Salmon tract indicates the success with which it may be grown here and demonstrate its adaptability as a first year crop. Heads of grain containing 100 bushels are common, and several fields will yield a return of 50 bushels per acre.
The particular advantage which the grower will find in the culture of winter wheat on the Salmon tract is the minimum demand for irrigation water, inconsiderable time among farmers inexperienced in irrigation.
Deep plowing and shallow seeding are advised by local successful grain growers. It is possible to get a depth of seven to eight inches of soil which retain the natural moisture and a seed bed of such depth will induce longer plants and insure a consequently thrifter yield and heavier yield.

NO REASON FOR IT

You are Shown the Way Out

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the torture of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the danger of serious kidney ailments when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that these ailments can be cured. The following is containing proof.

L. C. Warner, 1205 N. Garland Ave., Pocatello, Idaho, says: "It gave me great pleasure to again recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to confirm all I said in their pills when I publicly endorsed them in October, 1907. I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for many years and sometimes in such bad shape that I was compelled to take to my bed for weeks. I passed gravel and the pain on such occasions was almost unbearable. My only relief was the only thing that relieved me until I began the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The day that I learned of this remedy was indeed a fortunate one for me. Doan's Kidney Pills caused the attack of gravel to cease and continued use removed every other symptom of kidney complaint. I took Doan's Kidney Pills off and on and they kept me in good health. I am almost seventy-five years of age and I think that my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills is the best of proof of their merit."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

VALUATION OF PROPERTY

County Commission, Tuesday, July 23, 1913, For Twin Falls Property, Not Including Buildings, Light and Power, and Telephone.

Assessment is Made on Same Basis as Last Year. Valuation of Property Under Hawley Mandate. County Officials Are Given Amount of Increase in Valuation. Promise to Be Reasonable with Valuation.

According to the figures which the commissioners of Twin Falls county have on file, the property valuation for Twin Falls city will be about $5,000,000. Wednesday night they had stated to the height of $4,537,803, and the railroad, telephone and light and power companies' holdings had not been included. It is believed that these will raise the total another $500,000.

In 1910, the valuation for the city of Twin Falls was $1,687,000, including the corporation property which have not yet been ascertained this year. If the total valuation for 1913 reaches $5,000,000, which is regarded as probable, the increase will be about $3,313,000.

Grand Total Levy is $373,000.

The city, if so desired, can levy 15 mills upon this valuation, which would be about $75,000. However, it is unlikely that it will attempt to collect all that. It is allowed under Hawley's pre-emption scheme. The limit for independent school districts is 35 mills, which would permit independent school districts No. 1 to levy a tax amounting to $165,000. For state and county purposes, the rate for 1913 is 2.57 mills. If the same basis is used this year, which probably will not be the case, the levy will amount to $128,200. The grand total is $373,000, at least, which is the limitation afforded by Hawley's mandate to the assessors of the various counties.

PIONEER DAY CELEBRATION

A Full Program of Addresses, Songs, Instrumental Music and Sports. Large Crowd Present.

Pioneer day was celebrated by the Kimbrey and Kimbrey clubs in the history of the city, and the festival commenced with a parade at 10 o'clock in the morning. The parade was headed by the Kimbrey club, followed by the various business houses and the various Sunday schools, bearing the different classes of colored white boys in the parade, showing the manner in which pioneers came across the plains were drawn by man and woman, and the various teams, horse teams and autos were in the parade. A complete representation of the attendance of the parade of instrumental music from the pioneer days to the present.

Both the Kimbrey bands were in the parade, and also furnished music for the parade. The parade was given in the hall in the evening, which acted the band a nice surprise. The band furnished music for the fans early in the afternoon, following which was a "bucking contest" in which two riders hit the dust to the great amusement and entertainment of the assembly.

Everyone, visitors and townspeople seemed to enjoy the program, fully as much as the people of the city apparently enjoy the honor of being hosts on such a pleasant occasion.

Immediately after the parade the following program was given:

Selection by Kimbrey Concert Band. Selection by Royal Blue Boy Band. Quartette by H. C. Lamerson and others of Twin Falls.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Martin Schwab, Twin Falls.

Vocal solo by Miss Maddock.

Address of Welcome by O. G. Zuck.

SENATE PASSES RECIPROcity BILL

AMENDMENTS VOTED DOWN AND MEASURE ADOPTED

Ballot stands 53 for and 27 against. Awaiting signature of President, who is greatly pleased at outcome. Knox given credit.

Washington, July 25.—The Canadian reciprocity bill passed the senate without amendment today, as were previous amendments had been previously defeated. It becomes a law on the president's signature, the senate measure being the bill that passed the house July 22.

The bill cannot be presented to the president, however, until Wednesday, the house having adjourned July 23. The house rules require that the reciprocity bill, a house measure, be engrossed by a house while the latter body is in session, and that it be done before 11:30 a. m. when the bill passes the senate. The final vote came at the close of a lively session. There were numerous amendments, but no attempt at any time to delay final action on the passage of the reciprocity bill which eluded at once the Senate House.

An analysis of the vote showed 34 Republicans voted against the bill, and 21 in favor of it, while the Democrats voted against, and 32 in favor of it.

Vote in Detail:

Taft Highly Pleased.

From the White House President Taft followed the votes on the amendments and on the final passage of the bill with the highest interest.

"I am very much gratified and delighted that the bill is passed," he said. "It indicates the increase of mutually beneficial relations between Canada and this country."

The president received many congratulations before departing for Nevada to spend the week-end. In reply to those who declared he was getting entirely too much credit out of the matter and that Secretary Knox really was entitled to the greatest praise.

MARTIN RECEIVES APPOINTMENT

Former State Engineer Made Special Deputy to Distribute Storage Waters.

Boise, Idaho, July 25.—Daniel G. Martin, former state engineer, received a neat compliment at the hands of State Engineer A. E. Robinson yesterday, when he was appointed special deputy to distribute the stored waters of the United States government to the settlers on the Minidoka tract. This position was provided for by statute, and the Martin took charge of his work at once, leaving for the tract last night. His work will continue till the stored waters are exhausted.

The government has at this time 53,000 acre feet of water stored in Lake Wolcott in Idaho. It has 150,000 acre feet additional stored in its great reservoir in the Jackson Hole country in northwestern Wyoming. It is contemplating to turn this stored water into the Snake river, let it follow the channel down to the Minidoka tract in southern Idaho, and there be distributed among the settlers. The difficulty is about the water of the government must mingle with the water of the river that is diverted at many intermediate points for irrigation purposes.

The theory is that the government will take as much water at Minidoka as it turns into the river at the Snake river reservoir. As a matter of fact there will be considerable loss by seepage and evaporation in transit, and it would not be fair to the farmers to give the water to the settlers in the river to have the government stock strictly to the theory and take from the river in southern Idaho as much water as it turned into the river in northwestern Wyoming.

There was room for all kinds of trouble at this point. It was finally disposed of by agreeing that the farmers were entitled to take out the same amount of water from the river after the government's stored water was turned into the river. This had been taking out just before. This point was settled, and it is supposed that there will be no friction.

WEST FAVORED BY RATE DECISION

IMPORTANT OPINION BY THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COM.

Railroads Compelled to Lower Freight Charges—Backhaul Wiped Out—A Strict Interpretation of Long and Short Haul Will Govern.

Washington, July 24.—In what are known as the Spokane-Reno-Pacific cases, the Interstate Commerce commission today ordered material reductions in freight rates from the east to points between Denver and the western terminals of the transcontinental railroads.

For many years the railroads have exacted from shippers to intermediate points much higher rates on eastern freights than were charged for the much longer hauls to Seattle, San Francisco and other Pacific coast points.

The theory has been the railroads must meet water competition to the Pacific coast. The high rates to intermediate points, arbitrarily fixed, have been charged for a comparison with the coast rates, plus a theoretical backhaul from the coast to the inland stations along the lines.

Rights of Railroads Recognized.

The commission recognizes the right of railroad to meet water competition to Pacific coast points, but practically wipes out the backhaul rates to inter-rocky mountain territory. It lays down what it considers would be fair and just rates to various freight zones in the west, and gives the railroads until October 15 to adjust their tariffs accordingly.

The commission also lays down the important principle that hereafter railroads will not be permitted to fix arbitrary market limits, and that hereafter commercial conditions rather than the will of railway traffic managers shall control rates on transcontinental transportation.

The decisions are of far-reaching importance. They affect directly all freight rates between the Atlantic ocean and the Pacific coast. Practically they affect rates in the territory between Denver and Seattle and other points. Hereafter the rates paid by shippers will be governed by a strict interpretation of the long and short haul clause.

ENGINEERS CHECKING SURVEYS

Party at American Falls Last Week—Recent About Giving Up Dope.

American Falls, Idaho, July 25.—E. S. Buck of New York, and an assistant were here this week, accompanied by P. S. A. Bickel, of Twin Falls, and C. J. Doyle, of Salt Lake, for the purpose of checking up former surveys and examining into the feasibility of constructing the dam at this point for the big Bruneau irrigation project.

The parties are reticent about divulging information covering the future of the project and the construction of the big dam other than to intimate that if the present examinations prove that the project and its associated requirements are feasible, as reported by former engineers, its construction is assured at an early date.

The project, if undertaken, will be the largest ever attempted in this country from the standpoint of the size of the artificial lake to be created by the construction of the dam and the acreage to be irrigated by the water so conserved. The lake would cover an area of 10 to 20 miles and be 30 to 40 miles in length, and the water thus stored would be used to irrigate 600,000 acres of land in the rich Bruneau valley. It is estimated that it is to the promoters of this great project have already expended between $100,000 and $150,000 in surveys and other preliminary work, and if the present examinations prove these surveys and other preliminaries correct it is reasonably certain that the project will be promptly financed by eastern capital.

BANK OFFICERS ROASTED

B. F. O'Neil, E. S. Wyman and Director Subject of Indignation Meeting—Wallace, July 23, 24 and 25.

Edgar S. Wyman, president and cashier of the defunct State Bank of Commerce, were grilled in a merciless fashion by a deputation of public officials in a state meeting here. They were referred to numerous times reprehensibly, and cheers greeted the statement of one speaker that they should be serving time behind the bars. A committee of five was appointed to investigate the criminal liability of bank officers and the directors of the institution and to force the receiver to divulge the details.

Adam Aulbach of Murray, a former member of the state legislature, who represented a deputation of public officials, $20,000 in deposits by power of attorney, upbraided the state officials in addition to the directors, and was cheered at each sarcastic reference to the conduct of the former officers.

There is scarcely a letter of the state banking laws that has not been broken by B. F. O'Neil and his cashier, E. S. Wyman, said Mr. Aulbach. They have virtually opened the doors of their vaults to the Lane Lumber company and have shovelled the funds out to their friends, without a vestige of security. To you fell the misfortune of having to furnish the funds for these kindly acts.

HOLLISTER RESERVOIR FINISHED

Muller Water Supply Maintained by Recently Installed Facilities.

With the completion of the reservoir at the wells-five miles south and east of Hollister, considerable progress has been made in providing Hollister's water supply.

The reservoir is a solid concrete structure 40 feet square and 10 feet deep, and at a point where the level of the reservoir will be below the level of the mouth of the well. It will contain 100,000 gallons of water and will keep instantly filled to its capacity by the use of self-governing valves and the water in storage will be used to exclude the dust and vermin.

A gasoline pump recently installed will be used to draw water from the well when the demands of other bores on the same artesian basin prevent a natural flow.

The forestment of the pipe line conveying the supply from the reservoir now being done by the operating company will permanently establish an abundant and constant provision of the purest artesian water for domestic use and fire protection in the new town.

ARBON SYNDICATE FORMED

Combination of Incendiaries Unearthed in Kansas City.

Chicago, July 22.—That there exists a gigantic, country-wide arson trust with headquarters in Kansas City and representatives in nearly all the large cities, the members of which make a business of setting fire to buildings to enable the owners to collect large sums of insurance, was the sensational charge made today by State Fire Marshal C. J. Doyle in an address delivered before the Chicago Association of Commuters.

"The country is facing one of the most gigantic organized arson conspiracies the world has ever known," said State Fire Marshal Doyle. "The state fire marshal department of Illinois has unfolded with the state fire marshals of Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio to wipe out the band of fifteen men at the head of this arson conspiracy. The head of the firebug trust is in Kansas City, from which city the operations of the entire gang are directed."

A NEW FEATURE

No argument is so convincing as that demonstrated before one's very eyes. No advertising is as valuable as material evidence of results actually accomplished. Practically every farmer in the Middle West has been the recipient of a booklet, a circular or a form letter, extolling the agricultural advantages of certain exploited parts of the country, and in view of the damaging reputations which every other section degrading more settlers is willing to accord its competitors, and which the home district is glad to give upon no pretext at all because of the drain which the war communities make upon its population, the farming folk who might be landseekers elsewhere have become skeptical.

There is one effective tactic left, however, applicable in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, and other states, as well as Missouri, and that is to show them. This, the News proposes to do in a series of illustrated articles, describing just what has been accomplished on the various farms on the Twin Falls tract. The personal experiences of real farmers will be detailed, and their achievements will be photographed and reproduced.

There will be a great deal more from the Middle West, and a still greater amount from the West through the medium of agricultural journals. It is utterly deplorable that the whims of stamphogues, and, in comparison, how they are when carried on by farmers. The fillers of the soil in the Middle West already are beginning to cast about for new homes, and the News intends to place these articles in the hands of as many as possible of them.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

A law which is not enforced is not a law. The provision for enforcement is an integral part and the vital principle of any statute and the lack of a penalty for its infringement as in the instance of the last three amendments to our federal constitution leaves the law a mere mass of words, and the hedge of the vulgar legislator, a labyrinthine maze to the common man.

Justinian's was a great work in codifying the law of the Byzantine empire, but his first step was noteworthy that of burning the thousands of law books then in existence. So much for the weakness per se of laws, but it is not here that greatest danger lurks.

A democracy such as the United States, depends solely upon its laws for its government. In the enforcement of its enacted laws only can its integrity be maintained. Its laws are as good as bad as the people who make them. It is only the absolute truth that good or bad laws once made law, should be enforced to the letter. A good law not enforced avails no more than no law.

And foolish legislation, says Emerson, is a rope of sand, which perhaps in the twisting. The most able antagonists of the prohibition law in Kansas are the judges who inflict the maximum penalty for its infringement. So every law deserves a thorough trial. Good laws must survive, but bad ones must be repealed.

It is in the attempt to evade the enforcement of the minor statutes that come most nearly to us—the direct tax collections, liquor regressive measures and Sunday closing laws—those statutes whose operations are visible to us, that greatest danger hides.

The covert, sneaking codes, promulgated by violation of an unwise law are more dangerous to citizenship and to the republic than any argument for the repeal of these laws, or their replacement by better legislation. And the most potent method of removing the defects of a particular

THE NEWS

Lieutenant V. C. Landerman returned last week from Fort Coeur, Idaho, where he had been in command of the militia. He is speaking of the work taken up at the officers' camp of instruction, which was a success in every respect. He has a number of letters from the militia members, and is glad to hear from them. He is also glad to hear from the militia members, and is glad to hear from them.

Map reading was another study taken up. Reading maps before, but all made good progress, after a few lessons. Along with this were a few lessons in military history, including the battle of Gettysburg. The interest was another of the interesting studies in which all took exceptional interest. This is the first time in the history of the militia that the field ration of a soldier now days contains but about 30 pounds when going into action. Blankets, rolls of clothing, and other articles are carried on wagons or other wise taken care of. The number of pounds of ammunition for one soldier going into action is about 100 pounds. This is a great deal more than was the case in the old days. The number of soldiers in a company is now 100, instead of 50. This is a great deal more than was the case in the old days.

Some good answers and surprises came as to what some of the officers would do in the event of a call to arms. The militia is now in a very good state of preparation. The militia is now in a very good state of preparation. The militia is now in a very good state of preparation.

RESOLUTIONS
ARRESTS
SERVICE OF EXPERT
 Matter Discussed at Meeting Held July 29—Another Called for July 29 to Perfect Plans—Professors Ellington and Blaser to be Present.

The meeting of the dairymen of the Twin Falls district, held at the Commercial club on Saturday evening, resulted in the selection of a committee to secure for this county the exclusive service of an expert.

The gathering was large and important and the majority of those present expressed the desire for an expert who could devote his entire time to the business.

Professors Ellington and Blaser explained that it would be impossible for them to act in other than a supervisory capacity, as the former is obliged to devote his time as to cover the entire state, working in co-operation with the state university, and Professor Blaser, whose headquarters are at Colorado Springs, his entire time in the supervision of the western division. He has been in the southern portion of this state since July 1.

A meeting was called for next Saturday afternoon, July 29, at 3:30, at the Commercial club rooms to determine the nature of the service to be rendered by the expert, and to provide a fund for the extension work of the state university, but it was not down to such an extent as to provide very little financial aid.

A small appropriation is made by the federal government. The matter has been presented to the board of county commissioners in order to secure the aid of the county, and if this is not sufficient it is possible that the balance may be made up by individual members of the business men, and the majority of them have endorsed the movement.

Expert Could be Secured.

Professor Ellington states that a competent man who has had a professional service examination, and is thoroughly experienced in the work, could be secured for from $1800 to $2000 per month, and that this would be one of the best investments which the people of this county could make, in which opinion Professor Blaser also concurs.

The farmers of Colorado, Professor Blaser states, "faced very much the same situation as regards a hay market as do the farmers of this county at the present time. They were compelled to accept $4 of $5 per ton until the dairy industry was developed, and thereafter receiving an average of $2 per ton for alfalfa. I consider the dairy cow the best agent for converting roughage into a product which will show a good margin of profit."

Instruction Practical.

In discussing the situation Professor Ellington said: "The value of an expert who could be on the ground during the entire year would be manifold, and a practical demonstration under actual existing circumstances will be much more valuable than any lecture which could be given at a farmers institute or dairy convention, which must necessarily be general in its nature."

"The farmer could be helped in the selection of his cattle. Many do not know what type is best adapted for the best product, and many will have the old best type in mind."

"After the foundation is laid, the next step is to make a test of the individual but for the cost of feed at market price, and therefore be able to determine the animals which are worth the best percentage of profit for the amount of feed consumed. By this method the 'boarder' or non-producer which reduces the average profit of the herd can be eliminated. The test is also valuable, as it will enable the owner to tell from which cows to select better calves to add to his dairy herd."

Co-operative Association.

"Another important feature is the selection of a sire. To become successful the dairymen must select an animal of recognized merit, and mate with a small herd cannot always afford an expensive bull, and good results have been obtained from forming what is known as co-operative bull associations, whereby a number of farmers in one locality decide upon one breed which they wish to follow, and purchase to sell for every few cows. In this way a number of farmers can share the expense and have the advantage of the services of a good animal. Where such a plan has been improved and enlarged upon by combining three associations containing 75 head of cows, considered by good bulls, and by interchanging the best cows for three years without inbreeding, and the cost to the individual will thus be reduced. Many dairymen will thus get a reputation for growing a certain breed of cattle which will induce buyers to come to that locality."

"I consider that a good thoroughbred bull can be purchased for about $1500.00."

Feeding Tests.

"In the matter of feeding an expert who could be on the ground all the time would be of great assistance as by making tests he can compute the actual cost of each pound of beef, fat produced, and can suggest changes in rations where necessary."

"The building of sties is another matter which has been neglected. A farmer is furnished with plans, specifications and bills of material or pictures which have been found most efficient. These plans give him services as superintendent of construction, and if it is to be of concrete, will go out and build the forms. This is

Four months ago we opened the New 5 and Ten Cent Store. During this time we have increased the stock to over three times the first purchase.

Next week we will increase our shelving and floor space to double the present size, and add a 75x25 foot warehouse. This will enable us to carry double the stock we do now.

Prices will be maintained along the same small profit line that we adopted at the opening of this business. And it will be our constant endeavor to maintain the position assigned to us of being the busiest store in town. All of which goes to prove the fact that goods priced right will always find buyers.

SECOND IRRIGATION AIDS CROPS
 Increased Demand for Water Still Leaves Supply in Reservoir.

Completing a very successful fifteen day run, the second delivery of irrigation water in the annual cycle of the Elmore River system is now being gradually turned off, though the flow will probably continue until Thursday or Friday of this week in many of the ditches.

Marked improvement is noted in the appearance of the several crops over the water in the annual cycle of irrigation and the delivery of the water timed to the needs of the settlers has not only saved the crops from being ruined, but has also brought about a bountiful harvest this season on the tract. Practically all of the settlers here have been able to cover their crop water during the delivery just closing, those more experienced in handling water of course covering larger areas during the period of irrigation. During the delivery just closing a total of approximately four tenths of a foot each day was recorded at the reservoir and an average of 280 second feet per day was discharged through the tunnel into the canal.

It is estimated that a mean depth of seven feet of water in the reservoir will be available for the remainder of this season. The third delivery will probably be made about the second week in August and will be of use primarily in starting the alfalfa orchard grass yet to be seeded this season and in irrigating young trees set out on the tract. Lands to be prepared for planting whatever the fall will be put in better condition by applying a preparatory irrigation at that time, and an opportunity will be afforded for the application of water to the tracts in the progress of development on the tract is to be had in record of the settlers who are securing their headgates preparatory to availing themselves of irrigation water. The number of headgates already taken out by settlers this season has considerably exceeded the expectations of the company providing them. During the past week gates were installed by W. H. Lierley, Geo. W. Isaacs, J. Johnson, Wm. H. Boone, Wm. H. Hutton, I. A. Mooney, T. J. Douglas, E. E. Morris, R. B. Hager, J. H. Nagel, Geo. G. Lyle, T. L. Haggard, W. A. Egan, Josephine Muencher.

NATIONAL PLAYERS ON OUTING
 Praised the Scenic and Natural Wonders of Blue Lakes and the Falls.

The entire Christie-Cloninger theatrical bunch, known as the "National Players," accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Strong made up a tall party that left town early Sunday morning on a pleasure trip to the Blue Lakes and Shoshone Falls. A goodly amount of picnic supplies were taken along, and a refreshing lunch was spread in the shade of the overhanging cliffs. The party returned in time for supper and were unanimous in their praise of the scenic beauties and natural wonders visited during the day.

ALDRICH DENIES STORY
 He and the President Not Anxious for Lorimer's Election.

Washington, D. C., July 30.—Former United States Senator Edward Aldrich of Rhode Island, flatly contradicted, at today's Lorimer investigation, the story given out by Edward Hines of Chicago, that Aldrich had asked him to urge Lorimer to become a senatorial candidate and had expressed a belief that Lorimer would be elected and was the most available man.

Instead of telling Edward Hines that he and the president were anxious to have Lorimer elected, Mr. Aldrich declared that he and the president's candidacy was "not objectionable." The former senator declared he had no recollection of Hines coming to the senate office building to see him in regard to Lorimer's candidacy, nor of asking Hines to go to the White House with him, nor of taking Hines to the home to wait until he saw the president. Hines had testified to all these points.

LOOKING FOR A HOUSE?

One of the first questions that the modern housekeeper asks about a house, "Is it wired for electricity?" If the house is an old one, electricity goes a long way toward making it modern—whether new or old. It lightens a great deal of the domestic labor at least cost.

Electricity does all the hard part of washing and sewing, makes ironing pleasant work and house cleaning sanitary. Before putting a house that is not wired, every housekeeper should consider of what she would be depriving herself.

RE-ORGANIZED THE DEVEL OF THE TWIN FALLS COUNTRY

The Twin Falls community, there are many who are interested in the progress of the community and upon whom its progress will largely depend. One of these is the striking example of this type of citizenship in the Twin Falls country, one is Major Fred R. Reed.

MAJOR FRED R. REED

Head of Wendell, general agent of the Kuhn companies in Idaho, and the other is Robert M. McCollum, otherwise known as "Cyclone Bob," of Twin Falls. The Major is still in the saddle and has come into prominence again in connection with the recent visit of W. E. Kohler, J. H. Purdy and H. L. Hollister to South Central Idaho. He camped on the site of the out-one mistake having been made. He is now interested in the Valler project in Montana, located 95 miles north of Great Falls and about the same distance north of the Sun River project. The enterprise embraces 355, 500 acres, upon which 1,000 men and 500 teams are now working. The Clinton-Burt company of Boise, being the sales agent.

IN POLICE COURT

C. C. Carson Arraigned for Allowing Live Stock to Run at Large.
C. C. Carson, who resides in the Golden Rule addition, was arrested Tuesday on complaint of Patrolman Graham, for allowing his livestock to run at large within the city limits. The entire day in police court Wednesday was taken up in presenting the City's side of the argument, and the case was continued pending the arrival of witnesses for the defense, whom Carson claimed to be unable to produce at this time. One of his witnesses, he says, is in Washington, and the other is his wife who was unable to appear in court owing to an indisposition. The case will be taken up on Friday, when it is thought all witnesses will be able to be present.

Subsequent to his arrest Carson moved with Street Commissioner L. E. Prothero regarding the removal of some of the planks of the bridge across the lateral in his vicinity. Carson claimed the planks were in an unsafe condition and he removed them for that reason, and upon his agreement to immediately replace them the matter was adjourned.

A Question of Assessment.
W. F. Meehan, who was arrested Monday on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, was assessed a fine of $10 which he declined to pay on the ground that he believed the court to be in cahoots with Governor Hawley's ideas on taxation. He was therefore fined two and one-half days as an alternative, which he accepted.

Court Rooms Sprung Up.
Having had a case recently in which a number of ladies were present either as defendants or witnesses, the Judge, being somewhat susceptible, had the court all "slicked up." His honor claims that the work was done by the order of the board of health, but those who know him best claim that this is merely an excuse that if any health officer had ever given such an order he would have been fined for contempt. At all events the floors, walls and windows have been scrubbed, scoured and sandpapered, and the germs, microbes, bacteria and other "critters" have been thrown out in a heap in the back yard; the walls have all been newly papered, and "Doc" sits on the bench with a fly swatter in each hand with which he emphasizes and punctuates his opinions and other remarks with vigorous swats. He claims to have recently been reading "Environnements" and its effect on the human diet, which comes before him.

Mrs. P. J. Paulson, of Twin Falls, Idaho, died at her home on Tuesday afternoon, July 27, at 8 o'clock. She was 71 years of age and had been ill for some time. Her husband, P. J. Paulson, died in 1907. She was born in Sweden and came to this country when she was 12 years of age. She was a member of the Swedish Lutheran church and was a devout worshiper. Her death came peacefully several hours after the arrival of her husband and her husband from the hospital.

The remains were brought to Rathrum Sunday afternoon and the funeral was held Monday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, large congregation. Those attending included Rev. Chas. W. Thompson, pastor of the church, and a number of the congregation. Mrs. J. Thompson delivered the sermon. The quartet, composed of Misses Lela McCollum and Willis Mitchell sang. The casket was laden with floral offerings given by the friends of the former schoolmate of the departed, and the fraternal societies of which she was a member. ELKS TEAM MEETS WATERLOO

Boles Bunch—Hand Them a Severe Drubbing—Score.
The antlered herd of Boise invaded the peace and quiet of Twin Falls on Sunday last with blood in their eyes and on the local diamond administered an overwhelming wallop to the Elks' team by a score of 15 to 4. This more than evened up for what was handed them in the Capital city, and they returned with their tails for gone satisfied.

The home team stoutly maintained that their Waterloo was due to the absence of their two star performers—E. M. Swisher and Cliff. They went to a cross-eyed man up a cottonwood, there appeared to be some faith in their assertion, as the visitors' bats "feathered" the gloves all over the diamond in the adjoining section, running up 11 scores in the first inning. A photo ensued in which Bailey was snatched, but he pivoted with him and snatched the box in the fifth and succeeded in holding things down considerably. There was much good natured laughing in to which the Twin Falls fans joined. The staff assumed the atmosphere of a farce comedy, which was greatly enjoyed by all, even including the vanquished.

The visitors played a good game and the final score stood as follows: R. E. E. Twin Falls, 1 0 0 0 2 1—4-7 6 Boise, 11 0 0 1 1 0—15-18 3 Batteries—Vining and Claycott; Featherstone, Bailey, Crippin, Kohl.
