SEVEN ARE DEAD AND 20 INJURED

MISUNDERSTANDING OF ORDERS BELIEVED CAUSE OF WRACK

Missouri Pacific Passenger Train Collides with Fast Freight with Terrible Results—Ratler Train Hurled to Scene, and Victims Given every aid.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 18.—Seven persons were killed and 21 injured, four of them seriously, in a collision between Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 105, northbound, en route for this city, and a fast freight train. The wreck, which occurred at Ft. Crook, ten miles south of here, at 1 o'clock Sunday morning, is believed to have resulted from misunderstanding of orders on the part of the freight crew.

A passenger train due to leave this city for the south about the time of the accident was converted into a freight train and sent to the scene of the accident and later returned here with the uninjured and several of those who were slightly injured. All of the dead and one of the seriously injured are being cared for at the army hospital at Ft. Crook.

Governor Uninjured
Governor Gilchrist of Florida, who was a passenger on the northbound train, was uninjured.

The dead:
F. W. Peering, Nebraska City, Kan.
W. Keeler, brakeman, Atchinson, Kan.

Mrs. Fred Rowntman, Nebraska City.
Lesterian Rowntman, eight years old, daughter of Mrs. Rowntman.

A. W. Sprague, St. Joseph, Mo.
Miss Frances Lillian Kanka, Seattle. Unidentified negroes.

The seriously injured:
Fred W. Rowntman, banker, Nebraska City, wife and child among killed.
Emma Harvey, negroes, Kansas City.

W. G. Richards, Maynard, Neb.
John Scott, passenger engineer. Among the less seriously injured are Mrs. Hope Conway, Alameda, Cal., flesh wound on leg; Miss Jean Conway, Alameda, Cal., ankle sprained; cut; Ed Conway, Alameda, Cal., cut about face.

A Fatal Mistake
Passenger train No. 105, out of Kansas City in charge of Conductor F. R. Travers, was running late. Conductor L. F. Gross of the freight passed South Omaha at 8:30. He had signed off but evidently did not check the train register, as to the whereabouts of No. 105.

At the point of collision the track makes a sharp curve, shutting off the view of Ft. Crook station. It was at this point that Engineer Crawford of the freight caught sight of No. 105, which was coming at a high speed.

Engineer Crawford, it is said, had no orders in regard to No. 105, but he whistled and stacked speed and when the passenger train did not answer, he concluded that it was a train on the adjoining Burlington tracks.

When within a few car lengths of each other both engineers realized the danger and reversed their engines. The momentum of the passenger train, however, was so great that in a moment it was piled high upon the freight engine, which had almost stopped. The crews of both engines jumped.

Dr. John Collier of Los Angeles, a passenger in the Pullman, rushed to the front and worked heroically to assist the injured.

The crew and uninjured passengers formed themselves into a band that worked under the direction of Dr. Collier until the arrival of the army medical corps from Ft. Crook, under Major Dale and Lieutenant Clark.

A call was sent to Omaha for medical assistance.

Tell Story of Wreck
John Scott, engineer of the passenger, declared that he heard no whistle from the freight train. He said he was not going over twenty-five or thirty miles an hour.

Engineer Crawford of the freight train, wandered about the wreck, pale and unnerved. With tears in his eyes

REVOLUTION THREATENS CHINA

Imperial Army Turns on Revolution and General Uprising of People Hourly Expected

Peking, Oct. 18.—The Manchus are now after more than three hundred years of misrule, appears to be tottering to its fall. Four of the richest provinces of the empire have already thrown off the imperial yoke. The imperial army has deserted, and the flames of revolt have spread to the gates of the capital, whither other day may be in the hands of the rebels.

It is a peculiar anomaly that in this hour of its extreme need, the Manchus rulers should look to a Chinese soldier to save them. Sha Kai, former grand councillor of the army and navy, was banished almost three years ago on account of his sympathy with the Chinese countrymen. Today an imperial edict recalled him, and in effect appealed to him to save the throne. The edict has been known as the strong man of China, but whether he is able or willing to save his country may now well be doubted.

Trained by Foreign Officers.
Three great cities are at present in the hands of the rebels. Hankow, Wu Chang and Han Yang, with an estimated population of more than a million and a half, have been captured and are held by a force of 25,000 troops, the majority of whom were trained by American and European officers.

Another report is reported from Nanking, the second city of the empire and an outbreak is imminent in the great port of Shanghai, a smoldering volcano which may explode any moment. The streets are being patrolled by troops of more than doubtful loyalty, the white revolutionaries are gathering in the shelter of the legations and the government officials dare not appear in the streets. It is thought that the white revolutionaries have little doubt that the people will rise here and there seems little possibility of opposition. Violence and bloodshed are in the air and at any moment the dread cry of "down with the white devils" may be heard.

Leaders are Unknown
In the meantime the identity of the men, who are organizing this tremendous revolt is veiled in mystery.

Popular rumors credit Dr. Sun Yat Sen with being the brains of the movement, but no one knows where he is at this time. At any moment Dr. Sun Yat Sen was exiled some years ago for his revolutionary opinions. Since then he has been in Europe and America, exercising to interest foreign financiers in the revolution. He is now supposed to be in America and it is impossible to gain any positive information as to his movements.

At Haucow, General Li Huang Heng is in command. The general is one of the moving spirits in the modernization of the Chinese army. He has had a European military training and is regarded as one of the ablest soldiers in the empire. According to his own account he has at present 25,000 trained soldiers under his command and is ready to march on Peking as soon as he receives his orders.

He repeated over and over his story of the collision. He blamed Gross, his conductor for the wreck, saying that he had been given no orders regarding the passenger train.

"The accident can only be attributed to the faultiness of men, as the freight crew seem to have had one of those mental lapses that sometimes occur, causing them to forget all about passenger trains, notwithstanding special notifiations was given that were due." Is the explanation in brief of the probable cause of the collision near Omaha, advanced by President Bush of the Missouri Pacific.

JUSTICE HARLAN CALLED BY DEATH

WELL-KNOWN JUDICIAL SCUMBLE AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

End Comes Suddenly in Presence of Wife and Family—Remarkable Record of One of Best-Known Judges in America.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Supreme Court Justice Harlan died at 2:15 o'clock Saturday morning following a brief illness from bronchitis, with complications. He caught cold Monday and declined rapidly. He served on the supreme bench 24 years, with one exception the longest term in the history. Last spring he opposed the majority of the court's ruling, reading the word "reasonable" into the Sherman law, the longest term in the history. The fifth appointment to the supreme bench, making a majority of the court his appointees.

Harlan's ambition was to be chief justice. When Justice White was appointed, he concealed his disappointment, but his health began to fail. Two weeks ago he returned from a vacation of his week. His first illness proved fatal. His two sons, two daughters and wife were at his bedside at the end.

"What is Worth Doing, is Worth Doing Well."

Is an old saying, and true. It applies to no profession more than ours. We have applied this rule in the building up of our splendid practice. To retain the reputation we have we must continue this splendid rule. We find there are hundreds of people in Twin Falls, who are suffering from headaches, nervousness, indigestion, and other ills, who have never been able to get relief. Our study of the nerves, and the relation of the different organs of the body through the nervous system puts us in a position to diagnose a case and give in many cases, relief to life-long sufferers. We have always tried to make people feel welcome to our office, and to talk over these matters has been our pleasure. If we can be of service to you we will demonstrate to you what it is, but if not we will tell you so quickly.

Save Time Now---Dangerous Delay

A small pain now may not seem important, but it may be a warning which nature is issuing that something serious is about to take place. Rheumatism seldom develops in a night. It might pay you to heed the warning now and thereby save much time, to say nothing of possible suffering.

THE SECOND TEMPLE'S FOUNDATION

Exra III, 14; 5-Oct 22
"Enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise."—Psalm 118.

The journey from Babylon to Jerusalem required about five months. Ezra with his smaller company subsequently made the journey in four months. We can well imagine the enthusiasm of this company of captives of all the tribes, people of all ages. A few of the very aged remembered having seen the land and the city in their childhood.

Arrived at their destination they found terrible dilapidation. The crumbling walls of the city had been destroyed. The Jews are still following the Divine arrangement for them in keeping their faith with other religions and other peoples. God has thus preserved that nation separate from all others, and He tells us why.

First, the altar was built on the Mount of Moriah, the very spot where Abraham offered his son, Isaac—the very spot which was made the site of the altar. Solomon's temple, the building which was destroyed, was built on the same spot.

However, this kind of invitation was refused with the answer, "We have nothing to do with us, to build a house unto our God; but we ourselves will build it unto the Lord our God."

Was the Proper Course Taken?
Many have said that the Jews in this matter showed wisdom. They were rewarded and dignified; that they should have been glad to have the assistance and the co-operation of their neighbors in the building of the temple.

was the only proper one when we understand the terms and conditions under which God was seeking Israel. It was not their commission to make Israelites out of all nations; they, as one nation, had been elected of God to be a people to offer the sacrifices and worship which God had ordained through Moses.

The Jews are still following the Divine arrangement for them in keeping their faith with other religions and other peoples. God has thus preserved that nation separate from all others, and He tells us why.

These two seeds are referred to in God's promise to Abraham, saying, "I will give thee them, and I will give thee the land of Canaan, and I will give thee the land of Canaan."

The same policy should be observed by Spiritual Israel—"The Temple of God is holy, which Temple ye are." No outside unconsecrated things are wanted in the Temple.

Incalculable harm has resulted from the failure to note this matter properly. The children of this world and the children of the Kingdom of God are mixed together.

The Lord's consecrated people are in training for a throne. Our Father is the Great King and He has promised that the Christ shall sit upon His throne, and we are spiritually to become parts of the Christ, the Anointed, The Messiah.

Weak Over-worked Women

Who are broken down and made invalid by the drudgery of severe cooking, household care and duties, or by the frequent bearing and nursing of children, and many other physical burdens and strains which the weaker sex have to bear, are deserving of profound sympathy.

Who so well fitted to select carefully proportioned the ingredients and compound a remedy for the cure of these distressing and often pain-racking weaknesses and derangements, as the carefully and thoroughly educated and regularly graduated physician who has had a long and successful experience in treating just this class of cases.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

THIS MEDICINE IS THE ONE REMEDY Now, and for over 40 years, used by druggists for Women's Peculiar Weaknesses, and Distressing Affections, given up by one having all of the above qualifications.

THE ONE REMEDY which absolutely contains neither alcohol (which is most Women's weak poison) nor injurious or habit-forming drugs.

THE ONE REMEDY which is so perfect in its composition and so good in its curative effects as to warrant its makers in printing its every ingredient, as they do, on its outside wrapper, verifying the same under solemn oath.

In all the above most important particulars, the "Favorite Prescription" stands absolutely alone—in a class all by itself—as woman's most reliable and trust-worthy remedy in time of sickness and distress. It is a pure glyceric extract made from American curative roots, found by long time experience most valuable in curing woman's weaknesses and derangements.

Competent authorities nearly all agree that one of the best ways to keep the family intact is to make the home so attractive and "homey" that the wife and children will have no desire to go to dance halls and saloons.

WELCOME! ODD FELLOWS!
 It is seldom that Twin Falls has had the honor to welcome an organization so important in the fraternalism of the state and the nation as the distinguished assemblage of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs who have gathered in the Magic City this week. To the hospitality extended a wholesome respect is added.

JOHN MARSHALL HARLAN.
 After a life splendidly lived, there is no sentiment except that of honor to be expressed on the passing of John Marshall Harlan, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Thirty-four years of service on the Supreme Bench made Justice Harlan one of the towering figures in the national history of the present generation, and the more emphatically so, for the reason that the service has been that of a strong, courageous man—a man of convictions and with the strength of character to announce them and defend them, though in doing so he should stand alone and fight single-handed. Justice Harlan followed his own intellectual conscience as a guide sufficient unto himself, and in that he earned the sobriquet of "The Minority Justice."

In those days of the bitter test, when the fate of the national Union hung in the balance, John Marshall Harlan stood with the minority in the community in which he lived, and solely because in conscience he could not do otherwise and be true to himself. In that crisis he was sturdy, heroic, uncompromising, the personification of a sort of Roman righteousness that he has ever been in all his judicial opinions as a member of the Nation's highest tribunal.

In the determination of trust issues that have come before the Supreme Court, Justice Harlan was at all times the champion of the people and the advocate of the exercise of the broadest power on the part of the government toward the control of trusts and the prohibition of their obnoxious practices.

Justice Harlan was a great constitutional lawyer, but he reasoned upon the theory that the Constitution was drafted to protect the liberties and the interests of the people of the country, and in that light he held that statutes against the hurtful practices of privilege should be construed.

In most of his minority opinions respecting trust issues Justice Harlan was a prophet. In the Knight sugar case he attacked the reasoning of the majority of the Supreme Bench as vigorously as he did in the recent Standard Oil and Tobacco Trust cases. He held that the National power alone was competent to deal with the trust danger, which was bound to become more onerous. He held that sooner or later that power must be exercised against the evil of trust domination, and he lived to see the practical reversal of the Knight case.

HARVESTING THE APPLE
 The inexperienced grower will have some little difficulty at first in determining just when fruit is ready to be harvested. This is especially true if several varieties are grown in the orchard. There is a tendency to allow some varieties to hang too long on the tree in the fall. The Jonathan falls under this class. The result is a water cored apple. However, just as soon as the orchardist learns his varieties no difficulty should be experienced.
 The following points will aid the grower in determining the time to pick:
 1. The ease with which the fruit departs from the fruit spur.
 2. The color of the fruit in case of the red apple.
 3. When the seed begins to turn brown around the edges.
 4. The flavor of the apple.

It's Not Idle Talk

When we tell you that "Arrow Flour will make better bread than the brands of flour being shipped into this locality by outside mills. We believe it will. And after a fair trial, if this flour does not give you satisfactory results, you can get your money back—yes, every cent of it. The grocer who sells you "Arrow" Flour will guarantee every sack. We contract all our grain from home growers, and our mill merits the support of home trade. Why not buy a HOME product when you get as good or better article?

Cottolene

A Rational National Shortening

The goods are full of imitations of Cottolene—because Cottolene has made a pronounced success as "the perfect shortening." These imitations are of inferior quality, are packed in tins with ordinary removable covers, and depend largely upon substitution methods for their sale.

When you ask for Cottolene be sure you get Cottolene. There's only one Cottolene—packed in patent air-tight tin pails, with our trademark on the face of the pail.

It pays to pay a little more for Cottolene because of its superior quality and the fact that, being richer, it will go one-third farther than lard or any of its imitations. Its use means economy in the end.

KIMBERLY

Kimberly, Idaho, Oct. 18.—Martin Sullivan, W. F. Beckton and many others from the Old-Fellow lodge of Twin Falls this week.

B. Wildins has returned from Salt Lake City and other points where he has been on business matters for some days.

Rev. Geppord, formerly from Missouri and a minister of the Church of Christ, held services here at the M. B. church Tuesday evening. A large and appreciative audience was present to hear his excellent discourse.

T. E. Hafferty has the contract for building a new blacksmith shop which will be occupied by W. F. Swearingen and R. O. Short. The building will be located on the east side of main street and will soon be completed.

At the annual election of the Farmers Warehouse Co. held Saturday afternoon, a quorum failed to attend so the old officers will hold over another year.

Many of Kimberly's citizens attended the fruit fair in Twin Falls this week. The display was excellent.

Herbert Lambing is digging his potatoes this week. From appearances this will be one of the best crops in this part of the country.

School will be dismissed next week on account of the Teachers' Institute in Pocatello.

The booth for the long distance telephone company has been moved from Zuck & Hays' office to the telephone central building where the public will be accommodated on in the past.

Swearingen & Wilson have ordered a car load of the American woven wire fencing and are getting ready for the fall rush.

Several land buyers were here Monday looking over land southeast of Kimberly.

The sale at Hansen Tuesday was well attended and brought good prices. E. A. Baruhill and others had stock in this sale.

The Denton was a Twin Falls visitor Monday afternoon.

The light elevator has been completed from Twin Falls and the current is sufficient to run the flour mill and the alfalfa mill at the same time now, as well as the other industries here. These mills have had to alternate in their running for some time, which has now been remedied.

J. F. McGrew has taken his little daughter to the hospital at Twin Falls for medical treatment.

The elevator has shipped 18 cars of wheat in the past few weeks and is still crowded for room in their building.

GOOD PROSPECTS AT JARBIDGE.

F. H. Nelson Highly Impressed With Future of Mining Camp.

F. H. Nelson of Twin Falls has returned from a protracted trip to Jarbidge, with enthusiastic accounts of the progress along mining lines in the camp.

The Fourth Crator Mining Company, of which E. C. Bradshaw is the engineer in charge, has a splendid future, according to Mr. Nelson, who declares that the showings on this property are sufficient to guarantee extensive and profitable operations for years to come.

The company, he says, has two leagues across the face of the hill, both of which are of high-grade ore, with a horse of 50 feet across which looks good for $1000 a ton. He says that the ground has been thoroughly prospected and the vein opened up along the entire length.

The property is one of the prettiest he has seen anywhere.

DAINTY

There is something dainty about cooking on the Westinghouse Electric Toaster Stove that appeals to the majority of women. Maybe it's because a woman doesn't like the kitchen—maybe it is because she likes to talk to her husband while she cooks—anyhow it appeals.

One trial makes it necessary. If you are willing to do without it, that means you haven't tried it.

WILMETHIA VISIT TO TWIN FALLS
The thousands of Iowa and Nebraska people who will attend the show, look forward with keen anticipation toward the Burbank exhibit, which will consist of processed fruits and flowers, also some of the hybrid plants created by the plant wizard. Burbank has recently grown corn that has all the colors of the rainbow in the kernels, and in addition it has red whiskers.

While products of the soil from all parts of the west will be brilliantly displayed there will be many amusement features. Ferris' band, the greatest Italian organization ever brought to this country, has been engaged. Where will be a troupe of Hawaiian musicians, also the great Land Show band. Vandeville stunts will also be included in the program daily.

In addition to the amusement engagements 15 days will be spectacular features. In fact the exposition itself will be a spectacle, the like of which has never been seen in the west. One of the features will be the great Land period down to the present time. The Willamette valley of Oregon will also have a feature which is a masterpiece of magnificent electrical effects.

Moving pictures, illustrated lectures and wax figures of famous men will keep the visitors busy. Soil, grain and trail experts will be here to give lectures on scientific agriculture and horticulture.

The primary object of the exposition is to show the wonders of the west in products of the soil and while the exposition will be instructive and highly entertaining, it will be extraordinarily entertaining.

GRAIN MARKETS
Chicago, Oct. 18.—Although today for the first time since 1901 the visitations went beyond 60,000,000 bushels supply of wheat in the United States, the prices of the cereal made a gain of 1-4c to 1-3c net. The chief reason for the advance was that world shipments for the week were much less than expected. The market fluctuated between 98 7/8c and 99 5/8c to 99 1-2c, with last sales 1-3c higher, at 99 3/4c.

Heavy weather and fear of more brought about the upturn in corn. December ranged from 61 1/4c to 61 3/4c, closing steady, up at 61 3/4c to 61 1/2c. Cash market was only in fair demand. No. 3 yellow was quoted at 73 1/2c to 73c.

Liquidation by longs carried down oats. High and low levels reached by the December option were 47 3/4c and 47 3/8c. The close was 47 1/2c to 47 5/8c, a shade net lower when compared with Saturday's market.

Liberal exports helped lift provisions. When the crowd had scattered from the pit, pork was 25c dearer, lard 1 1/2c to 1 3/4c up, and ribs 2 1/2c to 7 1/2c advance.

Wheat—December, 99 3/8c; May, 110 1/4c; July, 99 3/4c.
Corn—December, 61 3/8c; May, 61 1/4c.

CHAPTER VIII
 THE stranger went back to New York on the same train with Kelvin. As was quite natural, he took the subway when Kelvin did and followed into the same car. He also left the train at the same station, and Kelvin, noticed with a frown that he followed up the street. When Kelvin and Sam turned in at their hotel, however, the man passed on, and Mr. Phillip escorted himself and the thing had been merely a coincidence. It did seem as though wherever he went, recently he found some poorly dressed stranger with him, always a different man, but always having that indefinable air of being a workman out of a job.
 That night the train and the obscure lodging house wrote a long and laboriously scrawled letter, which he afterward translated into cipher, to George Blagg at Forest Lakes, and Kelvin in his splendidly furnished apartment at the expensive Bismarck Hotel. Mr. Blagg's report of his dog's delinquency to Henry Breed, also at Forest Lakes, Kelvin seemed to be going in rather extensively for real estate, for the morning found him pouring over an immense hand drawn map of New York City, where three large sections were blacked shaded. While he was copying some figures one Patsy McCaliken, a red faced man with a mole on his nose, was announced. To him Kelvin dispensed the bit of which he had been busy and asked pertinent questions about it.
 "It's no use, Mr. Kelvin," announced Mr. McCaliken. "I don't know who your behind you unless it's old Henry Breed, but the man don't live in an evening them proceeds away from the big chief. And you say there's a nawful dot with him."
 "But they're your proceeds," objected Kelvin. "I am told that they lie in the hollow of your hand; that they are as you tell me, that they are that they'll follow you into the street."
 Mr. McCaliken only grinned. "Anyhow, there's no chance on earth, no matter how much was no matter how strong the arguments that might be held out."
 "All right," he concluded Kelvin briskly. "If you can't swing that district to my principle I'll have to take it away from you."
 Mr. McCaliken's grin became a guffaw. "When you go to that," said he, taking his hat and coat, "you see me that Dick Croker ever was."
 "We expect to make Mr. Croker a dim and added member of Isidore's," announced Kelvin, smiling and looking at his watch.
 His next caller was a different man. "Hello, Callman," Phillip greeted, coming forward to shake hands with him. "It's as good as you as it was to hear your voice over the phone the other day. How are things coming with you?"
 "Notion, than you," confessed Callman, with a very smile. "I don't mind admitting that you broke me so completely I can't start anything big enough to inspire confidence."
 "Would it inspire any confidence if you were known to be conducting the most enormous real estate deal ever consummated in New York?"
 Callman's eyes began to brighten. "It would have to be a big one," he warned.
 "Would you call it a big one to buy these districts?" And Kelvin indicated the three shaded spots on his map.
 "Buy them?" gasped Callman. He barely glanced at the map and then surveyed Kelvin in astonishment. "Why, man!" he paused. "Words were lame things."
 "Well, I want them," declared Kelvin. "The reason I have sent for you is that I must not appear in this, even by the slightest bit, nor must Mr. Breed. Do you care to undertake the deal for immediate manipulation?"
 "Well, returning to the deal, if I don't think I could start at it in much less than thirty minutes."
 In less than an hour after Callman had gone Senator Sawyer found Kelvin busy over another large map, this time of the United States. Here in three districts were lightly shaded in other places they were cross-hatched, in others left in pure white. The senator was gravely glad to see his dear young friend, Mr. Kelvin; gravely anxious about his physical condition, and as gravely solicitous about the health of his old friend, Mr. Henry Breed.
 "As for myself," Kelvin smilingly informed him, "I shall leave you to judge. As for Mr. Breed, he is hearty enough to desire myself and Mr. Rollins nominated for the offices respective of president and vice president of the United States by your party at the convention this coming spring."
 "Am I to understand that you are in earnest about this?" the senator asked fully inquired.
 "Certainly," replied Kelvin, calmly. "As earnest as you were about breaking up Mr. Hepperson's monopoly."
 Mr. Sawyer smiled. He had once been Hepperson's chief senator and had only recently, upon the unfortunate dissolution of Mr. Hepperson's combine, associated himself with Mr. Breed.
 "What are your prospects of success," Kelvin earnestly inquired. "In the first place, as the absolute proprietor of every ounce of bread and cereal food stuff in the United States, Mr. Breed had a great many friends and useful advisers among the various legislative bodies of the country." Senator Sawyer, bowed his head. "In the second place," after he had surveyed the map, "a mile of railroad in the United States, Mr. Breed took a notion to do a little trust business which proved highly successful and the people he became possessed by reason of his immense embryonic facilities of several hundred useful addresses. Quite a little army, senator."

 "I see," slowly admitted Mr. Sawyer with great circumspection.
 The senator had been harboring quite other plans than those proposed by Kelvin, and he was anxious to be entirely confident of the possibility. Our headquarters will comprise private apartments for yourself and such others as you care to have with you, and all living expenses will, of course, go in with the other items of expenditure. These will naturally be a generous honorarium attached. I shall be highly gratified if you will take charge of the bureau, as will Mr. Breed and Mr. Rollins."
 Mr. Breed's request coming through Kelvin, was an honor. "The entire matter as a surprise to me," said the senator, "but as a very pleasant surprise. I can see a most interesting campaign stretching before us, and it will afford me great delight if I can in any way contribute to the success of our country's noble young men as yourself and Mr. Rollins."
 Herbert Reussler called, bowing the fact that his revered aunt was cheerfully sacrificing the absurdly large salary which she denied that she needed to make a dwelling out of him because a Reussler's name. "So what?" "I am supposed to reply but by marrying the aforesaid Lillian, who doesn't know it yet," he said. "Honestly, Kelvin, if something doesn't turn up upon which I may expend a little man power energy I'll explode and by."
 "Just possess your soul in patience," advised Kelvin, smiling. "Wait until I am elected president, and I'll make a cabinet officer of you."
 "Nonsense," retorted Herbert. "I have no qualifications and chance."
 "Yes, but you have," insisted Kelvin, speaking quite seriously. "You cannot be influenced, coerced or bought." Young Reussler suddenly straightened up. "You are right," said he with a smile. "I have a few ideas of my own. Your last reply upon it, that I'll carry out your orders absolutely, wherever you put me, whether in the cabinet or at the head of an army."
 "You might even have a chance at that," Kelvin said. "Reussler has departed and Rollins has in."
 "I have a brilliant solution for your Long Island transportation problem," he began with enthusiasm. "I can deliver commuter trains to your farthest point if it does not exceed the eighty-one miles run in one hour from the bridge subway station."
 Kelvin nodded in satisfaction. "I know you could work it out," he commented. "I'll have the necessary permits in two weeks, and you can begin construction at once. In the meantime let me show you a new map." And from the thick pile of red diagrams upon his desk he drew one showing the entire consolidated railroad system of the United States. Rollins, in your ownership of every mile of railroad in the United States, you have the most powerful political engine ever devised by man."
 "I don't like it to be prostituted to this use," protested Rollins.
 "The use of it," returned Kelvin, with a slightly exasperated laugh. "You ought to be satisfied. I don't know how many millions of graft you have eliminated. You've equalized freight rates so that the small shipper has an equal chance with the big one. You've been able to break up a score of top heavy monopolies and trusts. You've accomplished at least half your designs."
 "I know," granted Rollins; "but, even so, I have been compelled for political reasons to give releases which I had sworn I would never give. I have been compelled for political purposes to make concessions which I had sworn I would never make."
 "You're the most persistent chap," complained Kelvin. "When we have a congress and a senate of our own choice we can carry out all the Utopian plans of both Breed and ourselves. These concessions that you are making are only investments, as Breed would say."
 Rollins looked up cautiously. "I don't quite understand," said he. "He seems, at times, to possess all his old shrewdness, but at other times to be involved in a maze of mysticism."
 Kelvin frowned. "He's spending too much time with the Bible," he declared. "He's intemperate in his."
 Kelvin, returning shortly after midnight from his evening with Reussler, went directly to his own sleeping apartment, which was at the extreme end of his suit. Sam, crouching in the foot of the couch with pillows and cushions at his feet, opened his coal black eyes sleepily, passing instantly from profound sleep to alert wakefulness. Kelvin having by this time sat down, Sam removed his master's shoes and placed comfortable slippers on his feet. While he was at work he looked up with a sudden

PROFITABLE DAILY TITHING

"Daily Heavenly Manna."
 "This little book is having the largest circulation of any of its kind and is needed in all Christian churches to be the most helpful."
 "If Christians allow the rash and crush of selfish ambition to deprive them of their daily portion of heavenly food, they must not be surprised if they grow spiritually leaner day by day, and find the peace and joy which place in their hearts to be discontent which is growing in the world, notwithstanding the multiplication of our comforts and privileges."
 Daily Heavenly Manna contains a collection of Scripture texts with appropriate quotations for every day of the year. Surely the little title of this daily spent in partaking of its morsels of heavenly counsel cannot fail to profit all who partake. It is published to do good—not for profit.
 Your Friends Birth-Dates.
 An autograph and birthday record feature in this book. It is done up in a nice, attractive cover. Opposite each day of the year are blank lines upon which you can secure the autographs of your friends, and be reminded of their birthdays as they occur. This makes the book more valuable yearly. In ten years you would not sell it for ten dollars.
 Besides, it has a place for Birth Records, Marriage Records and Death Records. Also it has a table showing the day of the week of any date for one hundred and fifty years.

COMMERCIAL CLUB PROVIDES A SHOW

AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITS ON DISPLAY TO BE SENT TO CHICAGO.
Exhibition in Honor of Organization Proves to be Attraction for Visitors—Products Will Later Be Permanently Installed in Eastern Cities.

A magnificent exhibition of the agricultural products of the Twin Falls country, gathered for the Chicago land show, has been installed temporarily in the Twin Falls Commercial club rooms during the Odd-Fallow and Rebekah annual state meeting in the Magic City this week. The display is comprehensive and has proved to be a most interesting attraction for the visiting lodge members.

To be permanent display the exhibits will be shipped to Chicago during the next several days, where they will be installed in the space provided by the Kluksa in the Chicago land show, after which they

NEW TOWN SITE TO BE OPENED

Lot in Lovett and Oregon Streets in City of...
Agent in...
Lovett, the new town site in the Oregon Street line which is now being constructed between... City Market Saturday, October 21, at which time the formal opening of the proposed future metropolis in Cassia county will take place.

R. W. Adams of Rupert, general manager agent of the Lovett-Townsite company, accompanied by T. W. Hamilton, chief engineer, were in Twin Falls this week attending the Grand Lodge of the I. O. O. F. Mr. Adams stated that he anticipated from the present heavy demand a wide sale Saturday.

Lovett lies in the center of the Raft River project of 50,000 acres of the most fertile soil in Idaho, which recently was segregated under the C. & N. act and will be opened within the near future. It is not only well located naturally, because of the vast surrounding agricultural territory, which includes much more than the 50,000 acres under the new project, but it will also become an important station and eventually will be the main line of the O. S. L. in Idaho, according to every indication.

Only the odd numbered lots will be sold Saturday, the others being reserved for future sale. Free transportation will be provided those desiring to go to Lovett from October 21 to 31.

ARDENT SPIRITS BADLY NEEDED

"Evidence" in Bootlegging Cases Disappears.
The mystery of the Old County Fall or Who Stole the Money? would give a fitting life for the story of an occurrence which is puzzling the police and county officials and has provided a live topic of conversation on the streets of the city for the past week.

It appears that, following the preliminary hearings of the several bootlegging cases now pending in the district court, the evidence, consisting of a choice array of ardent spirits of all kinds, was left in the hands of Chief of Police G. W. Thompson and by him locked into a cell of the old county jail pending its again being brought into court in the trials. Last Friday it was discovered that the entire exhibit had been stolen, although the fact did not leak out until during the past day or two. The heavy padlocks on the front door of the building had been broken off, the lock on the cell door demolished.

A thorough investigation is being made, but so far with no results whatever. Evidently the theft was pulled off with the idea that the disappearance of the evidence would go far towards securing an acquittal in the case of the bootleggers. It is interesting to mention because in the case that the final chapter seems to have clinched the minds against the culprits in the minds of the general public.

SCHOOL BONDS ARE VOTED

Election is Decisive for Completion of School.
By a decisive vote of 217 to 56, the special election held Monday by Joint School District No. 1 to determine whether or not bonds should be issued to the amount of $70,000 for the completion of the new Twin Falls high school building now in the course of construction was carried.
There was slight opposition to the proposition, although considerable interest was manifested by those who voted in the polls. The vote was really larger than anticipated and was regarded as an indication that the residents of the district are to have the structure finished.

EVERY HOUSE HAS OWN NUMBER YARD

OSTRANDER LUMBER COMPANY INSTALLS BRANDED CLAMPS.
G. W. Graham, Jr., Twin Falls.
After Building Office, Sheds and Picking Fall Association of Stockmen, G. W. Graham to be charge.

The Jarbidge people now have a number one in their corner. G. W. Kenneth returned to Twin Falls last week after spending the days in the Nevada district, during which time he arranged for the construction of a branch of the Ostrander Lumber company there.

Substantial buildings for the office and sheds have been constructed and J. W. Graham, formerly of the Twin Falls headquarters of the concern, will be in charge as manager. Alvin H. Beck's log skidder has been shipped into Jarbidge by the Ostrander company, and four four-horse outfits are now on the road with cars equipped with an assortment of stock for dwelling houses and stores will be carried.

Bridge Across Jack Creek.
While in the district Jack Kenneth inspected the Crippen cut-off, which when entirely completed will avoid Jack Hole and place Jarbidge on an easy grade road to Twin Falls.

George Crippen was at work for the Jarbidge people on the bridge across Jack Creek which will connect the canyon with the canyon at Jarbidge. "and as soon as he finishes that piece of construction he intends to take his men and material from the Jarbidge end of the line to where he has ceased operations on the cut-off and complete it. The cut-off is undoubtedly the best grade going into Jarbidge. It is narrow and will be hard to negotiate for some of the motorists in mountain travel, but there is no question that the neighbors will use it as soon as it is ready for them, and it will make a great difference in the traffic between Twin Falls and Jarbidge."

NEW COURT HOUSE DEDICATED

munity lies, but in the men and women. There is but one fear for the future. It is our duty to preserve inviolate the institutions of government given to us by our fathers.

In this age of gold lust, to come to a place like this, upon an occasion of this kind, restores that confidence in mankind which is almost lost, for you are imbued with the same spirit which influenced the patriots of 1776. The principles upon which the American republic is based can be maintained inviolate in order that you may protect yourselves both from without and from within. I believe that patriotism should be taught in schools.
Governor Hawley then referred to Judge James F. Allibee's speech which preceded, in which the justice declared that the future of the country depended upon the preservation of respect for the judicial branch of the government.

Age of Commercialism.
"When we cease to have that respect for the judge which we will descend to the level of the republicans south of us."
"For in times past the people have come to look upon the lawyer of the community, not only for guidance in legal matters, but also in government affairs. As a result, many of our officials are members of the bar. All of our presidents, but two have belonged to that profession. A code of ethics has prevailed among lawyers, but the commercialism of the age has weakened the affection of the profession for the profession. The bar must revert to the same high plane upon which it formerly stood. I do not believe that it has been debauched by what it is animated by the same lofty ideals; I do not think it should be charged with having deteriorated, but its patriotic tension has lessened."

Courts Are Most Potent.
Judge Allibee of the supreme court devoted his theme in a large measure to the integrity of the courts.
"The courts are provided for the administration of justice for the poor man, as well as the rich man," he asserted.
"They should not be attacked or criticized unduly, for the most potent arm of government is weakened by this disrespect. The final determination of the highest court of the land has more effect upon more people than any other official act or any other sort of law."
"I am proud of the citizenship that built this new court house and an honored privilege being invited to speak upon this occasion."

Judge C. O. Stockinger presided during the ceremonies, which took place in the new district court room on the third floor of the recently completed structure. Senator M. J. Sweeley and Attorney John W. Graham and John Williams constituted the committee which presided in connection with the county commissioners, arranged for the event.

For example, we know hundreds of women who always ask for WOOLTEX GARMENTS. They are the discriminating shoppers, the women who know and appreciate values.

Here we are showing the SUPPOLD SUIT, distinctly girlish. It has the plaited and belted back, which makes the simple front all the more attractive. This is only one of many new designs we are showing, and we specially invite you to call and inspect the line.

Our new Fall line in every department is complete. DRESS GOODS, UNDERWEAR, HOBIERY, GLOVES, SKIRTS, WMBSTS, SWEATER COATS, COMFORTS, BLANKETS, all are in and ready for your approval, and PRICED RIGHT, TOO.

Ladies', Misses' and Children's Shoes

We are in receipt of all our new Fall shapes, and especially invite the ladies and misses who want STYLE and COMFORT to call and let us show you some of our new arrivals in E. P. Reed's celebrated Shoes in the new High ties, in laces, patents and plain leathers.
